PERFECTED BUREAU OF CONVEYANCES

Registrar Chas. Merriam Completes Quick System.

CONVENIENCE AND ORDER THOROUGHLY ESTABLISHED

PAMPHLET CIRCULATED AMONG ALL INTERESTED IN MATTERS OF PUBLIC REFERENCE. BOOKS CARED FOR.

Numerous changes have just been completed in the interior arrangement of the office of the Registrar of Conveyances, changes which will greatly aid the public in referring to the mass of public documents there recorded. A large two-tier book case has been constructed in the outer, or public reference room and here are deposited scores of books constantly searched for reference. This case is divided into numbered sections, so that it is easy to locate any given book; somewhat of an advance over the former method of piling the books upon tables and desks, thus necessitating great loss of time in finding the volume desired, to say nothing of the cramped desk space to which the public was limited. The life of the book suffered severely by the former method of handling. A twenty page pamphlet is being sent out by Registrar Chas. H. Merriam to all persons on this and the other islands who are in any way interested in business connected with the office. This pamphlet contains a schedule of the Territorial stamp duties together with an abstract of the laws which govern the assessment of stamp duty, the latter having a full marginal index. A schedule of fees for recording, searching, and for certified copies is also given in this folder, as also an abstract of the laws governing the acceptance of documents for record. A number of years ago a schedule of stamp duties was published but it has long been out of print and but few copies now remain in existence. The schedule of fees and the abstract of the laws is entirely new matter and decidedly desirable, not only from the layman's point of view. It will be of immense advantage to residents of the other islands, as it places in their hands all the data necessary for an immediate estimation of all fees required. (Continued on Page 5.)

WANT WRIT OF ERROR

Kaan, Pimoku, Kahalekai, Kane and Altiu yesterday filed a petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of error in the action of ejectment in which the petitioners were plaintiffs and the Onomea Sugar Co. a party defendant, which came up for hearing in the Circuit Court of the Fourth Circuit in the February term 1904, when final judgment was rendered in favor of defendant. MR. DOOLEY Will discuss Bishop Potter's MODEL SALOON and Simon Simple will do a lively comic stunt, in SATURDAY'S BULLETIN.

Grand Jury Begins Work With Shooting Of Harris

The new inquisition, numbering seventeen grand jurors, received its charge from Judge Gear this morning and at once proceeded to handle criminal business which has accumulated since the last investigatory body ceased its labors. Today's session was held in Judge Robinson's court room and the first case to receive the attention of the body was the Pantheon saloon shooting scrape which resulted in the death, some days later at the hospital, of Ulysses Harris, who was well known in local sporting circles. A naval seaman is alleged to have shot Harris as the result of some quarrel. On the other hand, it is claimed that the seaman was expecting trouble from a shipmate and carried a gun as a precaution, the weapon being accidentally discharged. The grand jury was occupied all the forenoon listening to the testimony of persons supposed to have seen the performance. One of these witnesses, it is said, is a Japanese and an interpreter will be required. As there is no Japanese interpreter now connected with the courts, some makeshift arrangement will probably result. Following are the men composing the grand jury: A. A. Dunn, R. H. Worrell, John Coffey, Albert Trask, Henry Cook, J. A.

Egan, A. S. Robertson, John Andrews, F. L. Dorch, J. D. Tucker, E. O. K. East, C. R. Macfarlane Jr., Fred. Turrell, E. R. Bliven, Alexander Lyle, D. H. Davis and William Dunbar. Judge Gear appointed J. D. Tucker foreman and named Eugene Bufan-deau as bailiff of the inquisition. In delivering his charge to the grand jurors Judge Gear stated that it was not his intention to present a lengthy charge; grand juries were frequent institutions here, the community was small, many of the gentlemen on the panel had served before, and all were now more or less familiar with the general duties of such bodies. The court, however, read extracts from the law touching on the rights and duties of grand juries, warning members to present no person through malice and to give their full attention to all matters that might be brought before them for investigation. "The functions of a grand jury differ somewhat in Hawaii," said the court, "from the duties of similar bodies in the States. Here all presentments must be made through a grand jury; many cases come before this body here which are ordinarily handled otherwise elsewhere. There is nothing here to provide for the presentment of matters for trial except through the" (Continued on Page 5.)

SHERMAN ARRIVES FROM THE ORIENT

Carries Large Number Of Passengers From Manila.

STRUCK BY TYPHOON WHEN NEAR NAGASAKI

VETERINARY SURGEON DIES ON BOARD JUST PRIOR TO TRANS-PORTS ARRIVAL OFF HONOLULU.

The U. S. Army transport Sherman arrived from Manila via Nagasaki this morning. She was docked at about 9 o'clock on the Walkiki side of Naval Wharf No. 2, the space usually occupied by the Iroquois. The Sherman left Manila August 12 at 3 p. m. On August 19, the day prior to her arrival at Nagasaki, the transport was struck by a typhoon which swept the full length of the Japanese coast. This was probably the same storm as that which the Korea reported struck her at about that time. The typhoon lasted from 11:30 p. m. August 19 until about 2:30 a. m. August 20. The transport made no attempt to but through the fury of the storm. She simply slowed down to half speed and had everything well secured. As a consequence she rode out the storm without suffering any damage. The Sherman left Nagasaki August 23. Early this morning before the transport had arrived off port one of the cabin passengers, W. H. Payne, died from dysentery. The deceased had been in the Philippines as a veterinary surgeon of the Quartermaster's Department. His remains will be embalmed and taken to the mainland in the transport. The Sherman has on board eighty-six first cabin passengers from Manila. Most of them are officers and their families and civil government employees. Among them are Colonel Charles Stewart of the Medical Department, Colonel J. B. Kerr of the General Staff, and Colonel Geo. LeRoy Brown of the 26th Infantry. The transport carries from Manila fifty-three intermediate passengers, among whom are three Filipino students, employees of the Quartermaster's Department and the civil government, and non-commissioned officers. In the steerage the Sherman carries from Manila 290 enlisted men, including sick and retired; eighty-seven discharged soldiers, including deported and destitute; thirty-six general prisoners and six stowaways, three of whom are Americans and three Japanese. At Nagasaki the transport took on board seven first cabin passengers, one intermediate, and five discharged soldiers and destitute seamen. The full list of passengers on board the transport is as follows: Cabin Passengers—Charles Stuart, J. B. Kerr, Geo. LeRoy Brown, D. G. Pearson, Jas. S. Rogers, F. F. Eastman, R. J. Hurst, G. P. Ahern, F. V. Krug, R. J. E. L. Mitchell, W. B. Scales, J. W. Moore, G. N. Kimball, Robert Smart (Continued on Page 8.)

ACKERMAN GOES FREE

In the Police Court this morning Akkaha, charged with larceny in the second degree, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment. Mau Wele was fined $3 and costs for assault and battery on Mow Kee. Ackerman, the pugilist, charged with assault and battery on G. Erickson, and Labus, charged with assault and battery on Manalo, both had their cases nolle pro'd. A charge against Ackerman of larceny in the second degree, was also nolle pro'd.

The case of Alfred Bond, the Rapid Transit motorman who drove the car which smashed a hearse on King street last Sunday, was not nolle pro'd. In the Police Court yesterday, as stated by the morning paper, Bond's case was continued until September 9. He is charged with heedless driving.

HOGAN RUNS INTO A LONG TEMPERANCE WITNESS

CARTER OBTAINS TODAY PROHIBITION WRIT

FIRST CRIMINAL TRIAL NOW ON

Special Officer Daniel Renear and Lieut Sam'l Leslie of the Mounted Patrol were star witnesses this afternoon in the trial before Judge Gear of P. O'Sullivan, charged with liquor selling on Sunday. J. W. Bergstrom, J. Brown, H. Carl, J. Dias, G. Dillingham, E. Kaas, J. Lane, S. D. Mahone, H. P. Both, J. Craig, J. A. M. Johnson and J. Lawson were the jurors hearing the matter. M. F. Prosser presenting the Territory's case and C. Creighton and H. Hogan defending. O'Sullivan is alleged to have caused to be passed over his bar on Sunday beer to certain marines. Renear arrested defendant, who was behind the bar at the time, wearing a white apron. The case will probably conclude this afternoon. H. Hogan is entertaining in the questions he puts to witnesses. He revealed a tendency to work along Sherlock Holmes lines in attempting to reach a desired point, starting by asking Leslie what kind of a horse he rides, how tall he is and whether or not he drinks. Leslie confessed to never having in his life tasted beer. "Then you don't know what you have missed," said Hogan with conviction. Leslie said he was 6 feet 1 1/2 inches. Hogan wanted to know how he got over the back fence to approach O'Sullivan's premises, whether he jumped or stepped over. Leslie explained that Renear jumped the fence and opened the door for him, Leslie, to enter. "Are you in the habit of doing things that way?" asked Hogan. "Yes, I go through a doorway when the door is open," said Leslie. And so the case proceeds.

UPON APPLICATION OF A. W. CARTER, guardian of the property of Annie T. K. Parker, a writ of prohibition was issued from the Supreme Court this afternoon on the order of the Chief Justice. The writ prohibits Judge G. D. Gear from taking further cognizance of the "Amended motion and petition of Annie T. K. Parker by her next friend J. S. Low, to remove A. W. Carter as guardian," and from proceeding further therein. It also prohibits J. S. Low, next friend of Annie T. K. Parker, a minor, from proceeding further in said amended motion and petition until further order of the Supreme Court. The writ also commands Judge Gear and J. S. Low to appear before the Supreme Court Monday, October 3, to show cause, if any they have, why the said writ should not be made perpetual.

Happy Wedding Party At Koloa Homestead

[Special to The Bulletin.]
Koloa, Kauai, Sept. 6.—Miss Mary Madeira, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricardo Madeira, of Koloa, was married to W. E. Kerr at the residence of the bride's parents by the Rev. J. Lydgate last evening. After the ceremony the guests sat down at the tables on the lanai which were set with all the Hawaiian dishes in season, and nothing was left undone by the stewards to see that all had enough to eat. After the banquet dancing was indulged in and many couples were on the floor. The dance music was in the hands of Antone Perry, who provided a string band which rendered music that was much enjoyed and kept the dancers going till the midnight hour. During the evening M. A. Rego, best man, and Mrs. M. A. Rego, matron of honor, left nothing undone in their efforts to see that the numerous guests enjoyed themselves. The Koloa brass band, under the direction of I. Mitchell, played choice selections of music while the luau was going on. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr were besieged with numerous friends during the reception, extending best wishes for many happy years and prosperity. At departure of the guests the band played "Aloha Oe," bringing to a close an evening that was enjoyed to the utmost by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr will reside in Koloa, where Mr. Kerr is engaged in business as a blacksmith.

Murphy and Huihui Post Side Bet

Tim Murphy and Huihui posted a $200 side bet today with Woods & Sheldon, the sporting goods people. The articles say that Murphy must dispose of Huihui in six rounds or lose the $200 and 50 per cent. of the gross gate receipts. It will be seen that quite a little money will be lost and won in this contest, should Huihui be successful in this his most important fight.

The Honolulu Athletic Club is very lucky in securing good contests. Yesterday they signed Jackson and Castro for an eight round "go" and this in itself will be worth the price of admission.

FEAR FOR EMMA CLAUDINA.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 28.—The schooner Emma Claudina, Captain Nilsson, which sailed from this port May 10th for Baronkorf bay, Siberia, had not reached her destination up to August 16th. Fears are felt for the vessel. She was last reported from Dutch Harbor June 30th, on which date she sailed for Baronkorf.

The Claudina is a 195-ton vessel and carried a crew of ten. She is owned by Charles Nelson of San Francisco and was under charter to the Northwestern Commercial Company, carrying a cargo of general freight for Siberian ports.

SEBASTOPOL REPEATED.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—Direct news from Lieutenant General Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur, up to August 25 and of a favorable character, has been received here. The navy, as well as the army, will share in the imperial decree, published today, by which the terms of military service for soldiers of the Port Arthur garrison are reduced so that every month served from May last until the end of the year shall count for one year of the full term of service. This is a repetition of what was done at the time of the siege of Sebastopol.

County Law Makers
Patiently
Slaughter Old Bill

As the difficult work of the County Commission proceeds and the Commissioners advance step by step in the framing of a law safely covering a system of County government in these islands, incidentally going over the defunct Act for the purpose of eliminating from, correcting, improving and re-drafting, as a working basis, the cumbersome and the pitfalls of the law that was declared invalid, become more apparent. To those who watch the progress of the men who have in hand the construction of a new act, as the old work is held up for comparison with what it is desired to make the new law, the identification with county laws of California and other States becomes not only clearly, but sometimes amusingly, apparent.

For example: Subdivision 21 of Section 22, Chapter 8, of the 1903 County Act, says: (The Board of Supervisors shall have jurisdiction) "To provide for the destruction of rats, mungoes and other wild animals, noxious weeds, and insects injurious to fruit or fruit trees or vines or vegetable and plant life."

A reference to the California law reveals the source of the above. Says that law: "To provide for the destruction of gophers, squirrels and other wild animals."

Last evening, Chairman Cooper and Commissioners Stewart and Watson being present, the Commission struck out Subdivision 21.

The following subdivision, 22, of the invalid law, created some discussion: "To provide for the working of prisoners confined in the County jail, under conviction of misdemeanor, under the direction of some responsible person or persons, to be appointed by the Sheriff, whose compensation shall be fixed by the Board, upon the public grounds, roads, streets, alleys, highways, or public buildings, or in such other places as may be deemed advisable, for the benefit of the county."

This was also copied from California.

Chairman Cooper emphatically stated that he deemed the provision unlawful. Commissioner Stewart declared that it should be stricken out. Commissioner Watson held it unconstitutional and the paragraph was killed then and there.

It was realized that there is a big question whether a misdemeanant can be worked on the public roads. Watson quoted rulings of the United States Supreme Court, most emphatically against the proposition.

Subdivision 9 of Section 22 of Chapter 8 was killed as it has to do with the levying of taxes and this subject has already been passed up. Subdivision 11 went out for the same reason.

Subdivision 13 was altered. It read: "To insure county buildings in the name and for the benefit of the Territory." It was agreed that the word "Territory" was clearly an error and the word "County" was substituted.

Subdivision 14 was amended to read as follows:

"To establish and fix all salaries, and establish such other funds as they may deem necessary for the proper transaction of the business of the county and to transfer moneys from one fund to another as the public interest may require, except where funds are specifically appropriated." The paragraph originally stood without the last six words.

Subdivision 17, continuing with the duties of the Supervisors, a paragraph of which is quoted below, was considered one of the most laborious provisions in a most laborious Act:

"The Board shall annually fix the price at which the County shall be supplied with job printing and blank books, from a schedule prepared by the Clerk of the Board, showing all blanks and blank books used in the several offices and departments, and also the price of all county advertising; and each county officer shall procure such blank books, job printing and advertising required for the proper discharge of his official duties, such printing and advertising to be done by such officer or newspaper as such county officer may designate, at a price no greater than is so fixed, and certify the bill

DETAIL OF FIGHTING AROUND LIAOYANG—JAPANESE ARTILLERY MOBILE AND EFFECTIVE.

Liaoyang, Aug. 29.—(Delayed in transmission.)—Throughout August 27 and 28 the Russian eastern divisions continued to fall back in good order on Liaoyang, but the movement was slow on account of bad roads, and the difficulties of transportation, and the Japanese pressed closely several times with light batteries, dragging guns to the hills and shelling the troops whose retirement was covered by Russian guns. Consequently there were frequent artillery duels.

General Marson was wounded and there were other losses of about 250 men.

The Japanese scouts are extremely active today (Monday). Rain is falling, but the rumble of artillery can still be heard on the eastward.

The Russian retreat from Anshan-shan was ordered for strategic reasons, practically no resistance being offered. A light screen of batteries facing the Japanese guns beautifully disposed on a chain of hills masked the withdrawal of the main force. When night fell the batteries also took up the retreat, their rear guard lighting bivouac fires to conceal the movement. But the Japanese soon discovered this ruse and pressed forward, coming up with the Russian rear guard Sunday morning.

For an hour the light batteries were hotly engaged. To the lot of the Omsk, Tobolsk and Krasnovarsk regiments fell the duty of covering the retreat of General Zaroubaleff's Fourth Siberian army corps. The task was difficult, as the enemy continued to advance, deploying light mountain guns against the Russian rear and left flanks, and it was imperative that the enemy should be held back to permit the removal of the baggage and artillery trains. The rails were washed out and heavy mud produced by the deluge of rain preceding Friday. Many guns were mired and the horses exhausted. Cossacks and infantrymen were harnessed to the guns and managed to haul them along. It was slow work, but was successfully accomplished. The greatest difficulty of the retirement on the east front was experienced before Vanbantai pass, where it was necessary to hold the Japanese in check until the artillery transport passed through and also to keep in touch with the Tenth Army Corps, commanded by General Hersehelmann, to the north, as well as with the Southern division, in order to prevent a turning movement.

From dawn until dark, the Eastern troops, although fatigued by four days' fighting, sustained a rear-forward action.

therefor to the Board of Supervisors. A square of advertising shall be two hundred and thirty-four ems nonpareil. No supplies, printing, stationery or books shall be procured by any person or firm whose paper has not been published or whose place of business has not been established in the county for one year or more prior to the time of fixing said prices."

This was also found to have been copied from the California law, even to the "square of advertising shall be two hundred and thirty-four ems nonpareil."

Watson thought that the above provision opened up pretty good opportunities for graft and Cooper said it decidedly left the Supervisors to do exactly as they might happen to wish. Stewart suggested that the division be turned over to Watson for redraft. Watson gracefully accepted the task.

Noting a recommendation that the Territorial Government retain jurisdiction of such matters, the Commission struck out the following supervising power:

"To adopt such rules and regulations within the county with regard to the keeping and storing of gun powder, Hercules powder, giant powder, kerosene or coal oil, benzoin, naphtha or other explosive or combustible material, as the safety and protection of the lives and property of individuals may require."

While it is not to come in the order of the old arrangement, Section 21, relating to powers of the Board of Supervisors to summon persons as witnesses and to cause them to be punished for contempt by reference to a Circuit Judge, was allowed to remain although there was some little discussion as to what might constitute contempt in such a case and whether there could be contempt.

Commissioner T. McCants Stewart informed the Commission last evening of his approaching departure for the mainland for a while. He asked as to when the Commission would be likely to go over its final draft of the contemplated act. He asked for the reason that he expected to be able to gather considerable data and information during his traveling in the Western States relative to county governments and would like the opportunity and privilege of bringing back, perhaps, any suggestions that might be of value, possibly contributing ideas so gained to the work in hand.

Chairman Cooper believed there was no rush; the Legislature does not sit until February and the final handling of the new act would not be necessary until, say, January.

Commissioner Watson remarked that the Commission would miss Commissioner Stewart. Chairman Cooper seconded the sentiment.

Senator Achi was present but, when invited, said he came to listen, not to express his view on county government.

GROSSMAN AT THE FAIR

Dr. M. E. Grossman, writing to a friend from St. Louis, where he stopped to see the Fair and attend the International Dental Congress as the representative from Hawaii, says:

"The Fair is magnificent and worth a visit from anyone who can afford the price. One can get robbed if he wants to, but if he is not a hobo or a farmer and uses horse sense he can see the Fair and live as inexpensively as in any city of the mainland."

"The weather has been a bit trying and, to say the least, varied. Several days hotter than the limit, then days of sunshine in the morning, rain in the afternoon such as it can only do in this part of the world—drops as big as buckets—and then top off with a thunder and lightning storm with a cyclone as a finale. Oh, this is a fine climate!"

Dr. Grossman will be home in the Sierra on the 14th.

Madame Griselda presented herself last evening in song at the Young Hotel. This was the first public appearance here of this songstress and from the initial number to the close the lady proved herself to be perfect as a vocalist. Her rendition of the numbers on the program was enthusiastically received. Those who accepted the opportunity were well pleased with the artistic performance.

Madame Griselda is a vocalist; runs the gamut with but little effort, her style is natural and unaffected, her technique surpasses all songsters who have hitherto presented themselves to public favor. The appreciative audience present were all in touch with the artistic vocalist from the first number, but "Annie Laurie" capped the climax. It is to be hoped that Madame Griselda will present herself to public notice in a more public place and that in the near future.

Many of those who attended the recital were very enthusiastic in their praises of the artist and it is anticipated that a strong movement will be made among the music-lovers of the city to have Madame Griselda appear in the Opera House.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The long expected battle at Liaoyang has begun, and the two armies are now fighting what probably will prove to be the decisive battle of the campaign. The Japanese armies are attacking General Kuropatkin's forces upon his chosen ground and his friends and admirers here are confident that, having accepted a general engagement, he will defeat the Japanese.

In a brief telegram received this morning, Kuropatkin says the general advance of the Japanese began yesterday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the mainland. The heaviest fighting was taking place, when his dispatch was sent, from a point ten miles southeast of Liaoyang, where the Japanese seemed to be concentrating for their main battle. The Russians suffered principally from the shrapnel fire of the Japanese artillery.

The Japanese selected the Mikado's birthday for the decisive battle, and it will not be surprising if today is also signaled by a grand assault on Port Arthur.

The Russian forces are disposed at Liaoyang to meet the onslaught of these Japanese armies described in these dispatches yesterday. A telegram from Kuropatkin, which gives this information, together with the details of the retirement of the Russian troops upon Liaoyang, has not been out for strategic reasons. The combined armies of Generals Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu probably exceed 200,000 men. Their forces are considerably superior in numbers to General Kuropatkin's, but the Russian commander-in-chief probably relies upon the strength and character of his position to overcome the disparity in numbers.

The War Office is waiting with breathless anxiety for news of the progress and issue of the battle on which so much depends.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—General Dragomiroff, the former Governor General of Keif, and authority on military matters, devotes a long article published in a military magazine today to the exaggerations of the war, ridiculing the marvelous tales of Japanese exploits, in scaling precipitous heights, and saying that the imagination of some of the Russian correspondents is apparently running riot. He refers to one correspondent, who described the Cossacks' lances and swords as being blunted on shirts of mail worn by Japanese officers and quotes another who described the Japanese as transporting dummies which were used to distract the Russian fire. The General mentions a third correspondent who said the Japanese gunners carried a map of the whole of Manchuria with every range marked on it.

General Dragomiroff, who himself is a partisan of the bayonet, takes issue with the assertions that the Japanese have a distance for this weapon, declaring that the Japanese evidently understood its use better than the Russians, knowing the folly of rushing at an enemy from a long distance without preliminary fire. He says the Japanese of the past were accustomed to cold steel and produced some famous swordsmen and sword-makers.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The last issue received here of the Novokrai, the official organ at Port Arthur, contains an account warmly praising the conduct of Captain Lebedieff, commanding the batteries at Zaredoutai, who stood on top of a wall, his revolver in one hand and his sword in the other, and killed or wounded twenty odd Japanese, who, mounting on the shoulders of their comrades, attempted to scale the wall. When the Japanese were repulsed Captain Lebedieff sat down and was wiping the perspiration from his face when a shrapnel shell tore his body to pieces.

"Drink More" And What To Drink.

Dr. Titus Munson Coan, in Harper's Magazine, declares in favor of "Soda Water" for table use. "Soda Water" (more properly called Carbonated Water) whether manufactured or natural is a POWERFUL AID TO DIGESTION, by stimulating the stomach and also probably aiding to dissolve the mineral ingredients of the food. It is very appetizing, it corrects acidity in the stomach, checks the disposition to nausea and cools the system in febrile complaints and is indeed the ideal beverage for the water drinker."

DELEGATE TO CONGRESS

Jonah K. Kalaniana'ole

Late Pugilist Monroe has gone back to his element—the mines.

There's no doubt about it that Kuro patkin would make a good meal for Oyama if he could only catch him.

Our Haku correspondent believes in small farming but wants to know how to make a living at it. That's the rub.

Maul has come to the front with its young men for the Legislature and they are of the caliber that appeals to the people because they accomplish results.

Delegate Kulo's initial speech shows that he has no intention of giving laukia any openings to discuss the proposition of who is the Delegate when Kulo is in Washington.

The man who can find little in the Japanese or Russians to inspire partisan favor for either side has at least the satisfaction that each is doing its utmost to reduce the population.

Voters will not fail to note that J. P. Morgan and Rockefeller were considered pretty good fellows by the Democratic organs till they announced their final determination to vote the Republican ticket and allow Parker to go his own way with Belmont.

The Advertiser says more Antonio Ferrys are needed. There is opportunity for wide difference of opinion on this point and it was only a short time ago that the Thurston organ announced that while it was opposed to county government it bowed to the inevitable.

The Industrial Liberty party has been organized in Chicago, its promoters deciding, however, not to put National candidates in the field this year. Labor men have better use for their votes than throwing them into impossible propositions just because the title of the organization is attractive.

Citizens of Maui will doubtless be willing to call off some of the luans when they learn that the Governor wants to occupy his time finding out what Maui needs that he may assist in obtaining it. If the Governor is ready to accept the will for the deed, the people can afford to take the time of luans in presenting their wishes.

Though robbed of Santos Dumont's presence the World's Fair succeeded in starting a cross continent balloon race. Should the contestants cover half the ground scheduled and get off with their lives the people will look up when some one talks seriously of navigating the air with some assurance of where you will land.

As the new Commission goes over the old county law the people are inclined to wonder that it lasted as long as it did. The experience of the past with the painstaking care of the present will unquestionably produce a document that will establish the principle of local self-government and run the gauntlet of legal technicalities. This Commission is at work on a law that will stick.

Volcano Marshall writes an interesting article on William Randolph Hearst in a new weekly publication put before the Shanghai public by H. M. Ayres. Marshall notes especially that Hearst remembers his friends and remarks that possibly it was better that he did not secure the nomination because he would have been elected and named Marshall for Consul General at Shanghai.

Rudolph Spreckels is reported to be convinced that the physician charging $2000 for attendance during his recent illness at Carlsbad is holding him up. Spreckels and every other American who spends his money touring Europe when there are as good or better places for rest and refreshment nearer home ought to know by this time that all Europe looks on all Americans as good things to be charged up to the limit.

Viceroy Alexieff shows up every once in so often at some Manchurian center to view the results of his mismanagement of Russian interests there. If he had his just deserts he would be put in the fighting front to bear the responsibility for the reverses that are primarily the result of his monumental if not criminal follies. The Russian soldier is a hard fighter. Alexieff is a fraud.

The necessity for raising a rumpus over the organization of the new precincts is not apparent. To be regular the new clubs must be organized under the authority of the Republican committee and ample notice of the meeting given all the voters of the precinct. It may be probable that all the officers named in precincts before the Republican organization took action will be confirmed, but no loyal party-worker can object to maintaining strict regularity in every precinct whether it be new or old.

EARLY STATE ELECTIONS.

The splendid majority rolled up by the Vermont Republicans at their State election furnishes no grain of comfort for the Democratic reorganizers who hoped to accomplish something under the banner of sanity and safety with David Bennett Hill and Belmont on the side. Furthermore, Arkansas, which is as solidly Democratic as Vermont is Republican, has not made such a remarkable record that the Democrats have reason to put any preliminary rosters at the head of their columns. These State elections previous to the general line-up do not necessarily tell the whole story, but for years past they have looked upon as giving tone to the struggle in the larger and doubtful States. The contest is one of majorities. When the Democrats are able to reduce the Republican majority of Vermont or Maine, where the State election will be held next Monday, it serves to cheer them up and convince the Republicans that the people are inclining to false gods.

If safety and sanity programs can gain votes for the Democrats in any portion of the country Vermont should be good ground. The State is rock-ribbed in its Republicanism but has an independent vote that would readily be thrown to the other fellow should there exist a good reason for so doing. The result does not indicate that independent Vermonters see any occasion to change their allegiance.

The situation in Maine will furnish even more food for thought among politicians when the people record their decision. The Democrats of that State are making a campaign the most vigorous for years. They have first class men to the front and are mixing matters on State issues. Their candidate for Governor is the mayor of a city that is more frequently Republican, and their Congressional candidate in the district of Congressman Powers, with whom Hawaii has become acquainted through his connection with the Committee on Territories, is a prominent young attorney who sat in a recent Legislature as a Republican.

The Republicans of the State have a very strong candidate for Governor, who was nominated, however, after one of the most exciting contests in the history of the party. It is possible though not probable that the heart-burnings of that fight may have had effect on the majority. Should the Democrats of Maine, with many local conditions more favorable than for years past, be unable to materially reduce the Republican majority, they can have little hope of getting back the independent vote for President in other States.

The American people are not ultra conservative by nature, and while Roosevelt may have been ultra radical at times, the disposition seems to be preference for conservative radicalism as opposed to the inactive sanity of Parker.

LIFE-INSURANCE OUTLOOK.

[New York Commercial.]
In common with the savings banks the great life-insurance companies of the country are very accurate barometers of general business conditions. Their operations reflect, in the main, the thrift and the provident foresight that grow naturally out of a wholesome financial and industrial situation. This applies more especially to their new business, of course—for it is only in the more serious periods of commercial depression, as a general thing, that old policies are permitted to lapse.

In this barometric relation the life-insurance companies far exceed the savings banks, however; the business of each of the latter is largely local, and no one of them is in close touch with conditions at points widely separated. Any one of the larger life-insurance companies, on the other hand, has agencies and sub-agencies in many States. The death-claims record of one of them for 1903 shows payments of such claims in forty-three States, and no doubt it has policies in force in all the forty-five and in the Territories as well. They are all enabled in this way to keep a close hand on the general business situation from ocean to ocean. And just now they all report a good business doing and the prospects for the near future unusually bright. There are here and there spots, of course, that can hardly be included in the general statement, but they are not numerous enough or sufficiently important to possess significance. And with hardly an exception the reports from the populous centers of the country note that the life-insurance situation reflects very accurately the general business situation—a rather remarkable thing, with the country facing what promises to be one of the most exciting Presidential campaigns since 1860.

In no other branch of business in the United States has there been a more rapid modernizing of methods than in life insurance—not another that discloses greater results from a liberalization of its conduct. Time was—and well within the memory of men in middle life, too—when the restrictions in life policies were so numerous and the holders' interests so imperfectly safeguarded that insurer and insured stood in something of a bad relation to each other almost at the outset; and, in consequence, contesting of claims was not uncommon. But nowadays the greatest possible freedom is permitted to the insured, and there is the very sharpest competition among the companies in the matter of record-breaking for prompt payment of death claims. There is no hair-splitting on technicalities, and no doubt many a death claim is paid without protest that could be successfully resisted in the courts, were such a course deemed wholly politic in a few other fields of commercial activity can as much be said.

PERRY AND AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

Editor Evening Bulletin:—The Advertiser in this morning's issue lauds Antonio Perry for declining a nomination for Representative because he did not believe in county government.

Mr. Perry's announcement would have come with better grace and yielded him more honor had he made it prior to his appointment to the Supreme Bench. There would have been less antagonism of American institutions by that body in the past few years, as it is safe to say no American President would have given a man of such pronounced opposition to self-government, a seat on the Supreme Bench of this Territory.

Since the Advertiser finds an element of heroism in Mr. Perry's opposition to county government why not place the halo of its august hindsight on his brow and run him as an independent candidate for Legislative honors on the issue of county government. That would settle the matter for two, Perry and Popular Government. As for the Advertiser, it would not be consistent if it did not continue to kick.

F. Y. FITZPATRICK, M. C.

Hon. F. Y. Fitzpatrick, Congressman from Kentucky, writes from the National Hotel, Washington, D. C., as follows: "At the solicitation of a friend I used your Peruna and can cheerfully recommend your remedy to anyone suffering with catarrh or who needs a good tonic."

Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by heresay and thousands know it by experience. What can be cured in the beginning in a week or two by using Peruna, if allowed to become chronic, may require months of faithful treatment. You had better take Peruna now for by and by you may be obliged to take it for some time in order to get well. Now the warm, dry weather will assist in your cure. You are not liable to catch fresh cold and delay your cure.

Hundreds of men of dignity and prominence from all over the United States endorse Peruna. No other remedy receives such convincing testimonials. Send for free book of testimonials.

If you do not receive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. For special directions every one should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Peruna is for sale by all chemists and druggists at one dollar per bottle, or six bottles for five dollars.

Those wishing direct correspondence with Dr. Hartman and can wait the necessary delay in receiving a reply, should address Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, U. S. A.

Benson, Smith & Co. will supply the retail drug trade in Honolulu.

An impossibility. For my part, I do not see what small farmers could do here. I have a piece of land but I have to go out and work to get my living. If we started raising pineapples here, whenever the cannerly had enough of their own, as they will in a year or two, we would have to take their price or lose them as the smooth chyanne is only fit for canning. Again Kakuhi is a great way off from where the stuff could be raised and it is not everybody that has a car and six horses. To pay for hauling would not do. Can understand Hilo and those places as that is a free port. I thought I would write this little bit to let you know how Maui stands.

MAUI REPUBLICANS NAME THEIR TICKET FOR THE LEGISLATURE

(Special by Wireless.)

Lahaina, Maui, Sept. 7.—The Third District convention at its session here yesterday completed the work of naming the Republican ticket for the islands of Maui and Molokai.

At the morning session Hon. Sam Kalama and A. N. Hayselden were nominated for the Senate by a unanimous vote. In the afternoon the delegates took up the task of naming the Representative ticket, the selections being made from the different districts of the island as follows: Moses K. Nakulua, of Molokai; P. Pail, of Lahaina; W. J. Coeilo, of Wailuku; G. Copp, of Nakawao; J. Kalino of Hamakua and Hala, of Hana.

SP. CHILCOTT AND ARCHER TOGETHER

The American barkentine Archer arrived from San Francisco this morning and was docked at the Irgard wharf at about 8 o'clock. The Archer enjoyed a pleasant and uneventful voyage of seventeen days. Captain Lancaster reports that he sighted and passed the barkentine Fullerton, which is now nineteen days out from San Francisco with oil.

The Archer nine days ago fell in company with the ship Marion Chilcott. For seven days the two vessels were in sight of each other. Then finally the Archer crept away from the other vessel, which she beat into port by only a few hours.

The Archer brings a full cargo of general merchandise, including a large shipment of feed stuffs. She brought as passengers Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Barton, who have made a short trip to the coast. The Chilcott brings a cargo of fuel oil consigned to the Pacific Oil Transportation Company.

FOLK HAS TROUBLES

SENATOR STONE RAISING RUMPUS IN MISSOURI

MAKES CHARGES AGAINST CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR TO BEFOG THE MAIN ISSUES.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 15.—As a result of the publication in Republican papers of Missouri this morning of a vicious attack on Joseph W. Folk, Democratic nominee for Governor, by United States Senator William J. Stone, the fight between Folk and the old machine, which up to the time of the last State convention had completely dominated Missouri politics and Missouri offices, seems to be reopened.

Senator Stone charged that Folk had sought an alliance with Sam B. Cook and Albert G. Allen, representing the machine, months ago, that at the recent meeting of the State Committee, when Stone demanded that Folk place himself on record for or against Cook and Allen, who are nominees on the ticket with him, Folk refused to do so; that Folk promised him to give out an interview the following Monday defining his position and establishing his loyalty to the balance of the ticket, but failed to keep his promise.

Mr. Folk replied this evening in a caustic statement, which opens by declaring "Senator Stone seems to be supporting the ticket with a knife."

Denies Stone's Charges.
Stone has been gliding around trying to create trouble. I most emphatically deny that I asked either Mr. Cook or Mr. Allen to go on the ticket, or that I proposed any alliance, directly or indirectly, with either of them, or that there was any alliance. I opposed their nomination, as I preferred the nomination of men who had been identified with this movement.

When the convention named the ticket I gave an interview, which was published in all the papers, accepting the situation, as all the nominees had pledged themselves to the platform and agreed to loyally support me in carrying out the policies I had advanced. I said that if I found that any of them were not acting in good faith, I would unhesitatingly say so.

A week or so after the convention articles appeared in the various papers, saying Senator Stone and others proposed to force me before the State Committee to make a statement there. I was asked in to a conference at the Southern Hotel, there being present Senator Cockrell, Senator Stone, Judge Evans, Mr. Vandiver, Mr. Seibert, Mr. McLeod, Mr. Cook and myself.

After discussing other things, Mr. Stone arrogantly demanded that I go before the committee and say that I would support the ticket. I told him I would do nothing of the kind, that I had already expressed my views on the ticket and would do so again in my own way and in my own time.

He then said he was going before the committee and demand that I be called in. I told him to go ahead and do as he pleased, that I would not be bulldozed by him. He then had some hot words with Senator Cockrell, and they went out together.

No Promise Made.
In a short while they came back and Senator Stone said he understood I had an interview which it was my intention to give out the following week. I told him I had, and expected to give it out on Monday. There was no promise to him as to what I should do.

I have been told that Senator Stone was inciting this man and that to question my loyalty to the ticket and to demand that I say something, the evident purpose being to embarrass me as much as possible and keep me from repeating my attitude on the ticket, so as to make Mr. Cook the issue and not the principles of the platform.

All of these controversies are plainly intended to divert the public mind from the main issue on which the campaign for the nomination was carried on to collateral disputes. I propose to keep up the fight just as I have from the beginning. While the governorship is a great honor, if I find in achieving it that I must forfeit my self-respect, I will keep my self-respect.

Another statement was issued to-night by H. W. McLeod, who was Folk's campaign manager, corroborating all of Folk's assertions and declaring Stone's charges to be untrue. McLeod says that Stone appeared to be greatly excited in the State committee meeting, and Senator Cockrell rose, and pointing his finger at Stone, said: "You're making an ass out of yourself."

Men's Fatal Railroad Accident On Ma

High Sheriff Brown has received from Sheriff Saffery the report of the death of Sing Kong, a Chinese laborer who was killed at Camp 3, Punene, Maui, on August 30, by being run over by a railroad car.

The report gives the following details of the accident:
"At about 5 o'clock August 30 while the laborers were on their way home from work on the trains, said Sing Kong got on the wrong train and jumped off to go to another train. In doing so he fell and was run over by three cars before the train stopped. His right leg was broken in two places, one of which is right close to the hip joint, and the flesh or beef was lacerated. There were also wounds on the right temple of the head. The man was taken to the Spreckelsville hospital, which is about two miles from the place where the accident took place, and about half an hour afterwards he died."

The deceased was about sixty years of age.

Accident Delayed Alameda Sailing

The old reliable Alameda sailed for San Francisco this morning, departing from her usual berth at the Oceanic wharf. She carried away a larger list of passengers than usual and as a consequence a large gathering of people had congregated on the wharf. The band was in attendance and leis and flowers were as usual greatly in evidence.

Among the passengers was the party of Shriners which, under their Pontate, Dr. P. H. Keese, have spent a few weeks in Hawaii.

Among the other well-known passengers were Professor J. E. Duerdon, who has spent some time here with scientific investigations, R. G. Lydecker, the meteorologist; E. G. Winston, Dr. Mays, Mrs. Captain Olson, and many others.

The Alameda was delayed about half an hour in sailing by a minor accident. At 9 o'clock as she was preparing to swing off from the wharf the tow line which was attached from the steamship's stern to the tug Fearless, which was to turn the Alameda in the stream, in some way became entangled in the steamship's propeller, preventing her from moving. The damage, was, however, soon fixed and at about 10:20 o'clock the steamship started on her voyage.

GRAND JURY

(Continued from Page 1.) grand jury. For this reason you, gentlemen, may have brought to your attention matters apparently trivial, but you must give to them your earnest attention; under our system they cannot otherwise be disposed of.

"In the past some lengthy charges have been given the grand jury. On this occasion I have no lengthy charge to give you.

"Not only are you to examine such cases as may be brought to your attention by the prosecuting officer, but you are an inquisitorial body and can, as you see fit or occasion demands, investigate any public office or institution or any person or corporation. If any individual of the grand jury knows of any thing which calls for investigation, let him bring the matter to the attention of the jury. I have nothing special in mind to which your attention should be drawn.

"It has been said that a grand jury must be convinced of the guilt of a person before presenting him for trial. I do not know that I altogether agree with that proposition; if you are reasonably assured that the person examined is guilty it is your duty to return an indictment against him."

The court then pointed out that the grand jury must not consist of less than thirteen or more than twenty-three men; twelve votes were required to indict.

After appointing the foreman and bailiff and saying that the inquisition should name a clerk to keep account of its proceedings, the court sent the grand jury about its business and turned his attention to the trial of criminal matters.

Deputy Attorney General Emil C. Peters accompanied the grand jurors to their room to handle the presentment of pending matters.

Criminalist Chester Doyle was observed within call, taking charge of witnesses.

City of Mexico, Aug. 28.—The sugar trust has received over 6500 tons of sugar intended for shipment to London, and trust officials made overtures to sugar planters to pay nearly one cent a pound to aid in getting the sugar out of the country, so as to make better prices in the home markets for the new crop. It is now said that the trust interests will not agree to this proposal. The matter is an embarrassing one for planters.

Why Hill Will Go Out of Politics

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28.—David B. Hill, in conversation with friends here today, announced that he intends to retire from politics January 1st next and that no matter what the result of the coming campaign may be in State or Nation he will relinquish the leadership of the Democratic party in New York.

He added that in the event of Democratic success this fall he would not accept any position under the National or State Democratic administrations or again become a candidate for election to any office whatever.

Former Senator Hill made these statements on the eve of his birthday anniversary, which comes tomorrow. He was born August 29, 1843.

In partial explanation he said that he had intended to take such action a year ago today, but was persuaded by some close personal friends to defer going so until after the Presidential election this year. Having been engaged in active politics since his youth and having served as city attorney, alderman and mayor of Elmira, N. Y.; member of the Legislature, Lieutenant Governor, Governor for seven years and United States Senator for six years, he feels that he has been sufficiently honored by his party and that he has rendered political service during a period of years sufficient to entitle him to be relieved of further active political effort. He desires to devote more time to his personal affairs and professional duties.

Mr. Hill continues his work in the present campaign and to his friends said that he would always maintain his interest in Democratic success, but only as a private citizen.

Mr. Hill will speak for the Democracy at the county fair to be held at Whitney's Point, in this State, on Wednesday next, to be followed by Senator Dewey the next day for the Republicans.

Cannon Says Fences Are All Right

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Speaker Cannon was in consultation with the leaders at Republican headquarters today. Speaking of the political outlook, he said: "I have just spent two weeks in the Eastern states, and while I would not assume to pass upon the situation there as I would in a Congressional district, I will say that so far as I could gather from my conversations with leading men of both parties, the trend of feeling since Parker's nomination, and especially since his speech of acceptance, is toward the Republican ticket. Our main effort will be to get the vote out in Vermont, for instance, the only question is whether the majority will be 20,000 or 25,000."

In reply to a question as to the reason for his reference to Judge Parker's speech, Cannon said: "It was intended to be all things to all men, and like all efforts of that kind it proved to be nothing to any man."

"Yes," he added, "the outlook is favorable; the Republican fences are all in good order; there are no rails down, and the fences are staked and ridged and in shape to add a couple of barbed wires if necessary."

"How about the outlook for the House of Representatives?"

"The indications are for a closer vote there than on the electoral ticket, but there is no danger there if we only get the vote out."

He expressed the opinion that the labor complications would not affect the situation. "It is only a question of a division of the profits," he said, "and everybody knows that no such question could possibly have arisen under the last Democratic administration, for there were no profits."

First Trial Now On

"How is this," asked the court, addressing Mr. Prosser, "does a special police commission exempt a man from jury duty?"

"If he claims exemption," was the reply.

"What is the process of issuing these special commissions?"

"They are issued by the High Sheriff with the approval of the Attorney General," said Prosser.

"It seems a very easy way of avoiding jury duty," remarked his Honor.

Carter was excused as exempt though not disqualified.

Winifred H. Habbitt appeared in open court to have his name put straight on the jury list. For three terms he has been down as "Winifred" and naturally objects to being thus misrepresented.

It will be remembered that at a former term this misspelling of the name of one who was then a grand juror was used as ground for motions to quash indictments.

By order of the court Clerk W. H. Sims changed Winifred to Winfred.

BUREAU OF CONVEYANCES

Two new index cases have been constructed which accommodate all the indices since the establishment of the office in 1845, and these are placed on a separate table, apart from the regular reference tables, thereby causing as little confusion as possible in the work of searching and that of abstracting. Since 1896 eight of these index books have not been supplied with a case, but have simply been placed on a table and they show the effects of this lack of care. A new case has also been made for the current year's index books.

A change is being made in the use of the two vaults which will result in a large saving of time and at the same time improve the efficiency of the service. The vault which is nearer the public reference room will hereafter be used for the record books, and the mahai vault will be used for storage. This will obviate the necessity for passing through the copyists' room for a record book as was formerly the case, and will, at the same time, provide for a quicker service to the public.

All the furniture has been repaired and varnished; new pieces having been secured to replace worn-out material, and a general cleaning-up process has been completed. Incandescent lights have also been installed. Most of the work has been performed by men from the Public Works Department.

Registrar Merriam has spared no pains to make the bureau as nearly perfect as possible in its system. He has aimed to combine convenience with efficiency of service and has succeeded to an extent that makes happy those whose business takes them to his department for reference. For months the Registrar has worked to reach the present condition, devoting many an extra hour to the completion of his task. This is an important bureau and is constantly busy and under improved conditions works like clockwork.

New York, Aug. 17.—With a sharp reduction in the prices of wire products the United States Steel Corporation today, at one blow, nullified the effect of the bargain by the Republic Iron and Steel Company with the Pittsburgh Steel companies in selling billets at $19 a ton.

While rails and billets were not affected by today's cut, it was realized that a great price war is imminent, and this in spite of the fact that the heads of the big iron and steel companies in this city and Pittsburgh would not admit that they had reduced the prices of structural steel.

According to T. H. Taylor, assistant general sales agent of the company, the reductions amounted to $4 a ton on wire nails, $7 a ton on barbed wire and

Books, Bookish People and Things

We get no good by being ungenerous even to a book. E. B. Browning.

In the Century's "Western Number" Joaquin Miller has a poem on the Japanese entitled "The Fisher of Nippon."

It is poetry and reads well, but like all of Miller's writing it is full of things that "ain't so."

The child verses of Riley, Field and Stevenson are deservedly popular, yet they cannot be classed together by any means, and differ as greatly in sentiment as they do in literary form.

Who gets hold of one's heart more absolutely than "Little Mistress Merciless"? One falls on one's knees to pray the sweet prayer over the sleeping child.

The Bulletin Bookman received from the son of a former Governor of Florida an original letter written by Horace Greeley just after his nomination by the Democratic party.

The following is received from John Uri Lloyd, author of "Stringtown on the Pike," etc.:

THE KING MEMORIAL CONTRIBUTORS. Simultaneously with the mailing of the portrait of Prof. King is sent from Cincinnati. Let me hope that both may reach you safely and that while the portrait may prove a pleasant reminder of our genial friend of other days, the booklet may be no less a welcome accompaniment.

Neither the Author's edition nor the portrait of Prof. King, can be supplied by the general book trade, for as you are aware, these were made specially for subscribers to the King Memorial Fund, and not for general sale.

"Our Own and Other Worlds." By Joseph Hamilton, author of "The Starry Hosts." With an introduction by Rev. W. H. Withrow, D.D. Illustrated; cloth; crown; 8vo; 200 pp.; index. Eaton & Mains, New York; $1.

A well-printed and bound, simply written, unpretentious "story" of the stars. Any ordinary boy of ten will readily understand all except perhaps one or two references to undemonstrable hypothesis. There is nothing new advanced, but all the most modern astronomical discoveries and theories are discussed, even Dr. Wallace's recent theory that the solar system is the center of the universe, a theory which Mr. Hamilton (I think fairly) terms "startling because of its utter unreasonableness and unscientific character."

The article and chart by Mr. Servas, "How to Know the Stars and Constellations," with a chart of the heavens, is worth the price of the book.

One might find fault with the repetitions which are rather frequent, and the author's evident determination to make the science he loves agree with a literal interpretation of Scripture.

Mr. Miller's writing it is full of things that "ain't so." The tallest, smallest of all men. The trained in tongue, the trained in truth.

Mr. Miller evidently considers the beginning of the war prophetic of its close. "It strikes but once, then on, right on: The sword is gone—the Russ is gone."

HOW TO OPEN A NEW BOOK. (From "Modern Bookbinding Practically Considered," by Wm. Matthews.)

"Hold the book with its back on a smooth or covered table; let the front board down, then the other, holding the leaves in one hand while you open a few leaves at the back, then a few at the front, and so go on, alternately opening back and front, gently pressing open the sections till you reach the center of the volume. Do this two or three times, and you will obtain the best results."

A connoisseur, many years ago, an excellent customer of mine, who thought he knew perfectly how to handle books, came into my office when I had an expensive binding just brought from the bindery, ready to be sent home; he, before my eyes, took hold of the volume, and, tightly holding the leaves in each hand, instead of allowing them free play, violently opened it in the center and exclaimed, "How beautifully your bindings open!" I almost fainted. He had broken the back of the volume and it had to be rebound.

In a note from Fannie A. Charles, author of "In the Country God Forgot," "The Awakening of the Duchess" she says: "Frances is my non-deplorable. I think it is quite imaginative. . . I hope you will look with kindly eyes on . . ."

Mr. R. J. Burdette (father) sends us a copy of a poem by his boy Robert J. Burdette "Jr." entitled "Invalided." On reading it, a friend remarked: "It sounds like the old man." And why not? It couldn't sound much better, could it? Young Burdette is now on a Philadelphia daily.

"Oh! you talk about your tackles, and you praise your plucky ends, But forgot the lad who's laid up with a knee that never bends; Just a line will do for cripples when the season's at its height, But a 'football knee's' my 'steady' every morning, noon and night."

REFRAIN.

"So don't put on your sweater, And don't put on your pad; But sit in tubs of water till the Mustard

Makes You Mad! "Just hear the crowd a-cheerin' An' figure up the score, An' listen to the quarter—Singin'—

"All the crowd was on the side lines, and the ropes were straining hard, And the megaphones were grunting 'to the tackle, back and guard; When I heard the number rattle, and I knew that that meant me—So I ran—got thrown—disabled—now I sing in minor key—

"So don't put on your sweater, And don't put on your pad; But sit in tubs of water till the Mustard Makes You Mad! "For they crushed our interference— I was tired and streaked with lime, And the wind I had at kickoff wasn't doing record time; And he came a flying tackle—Low?—he hit the shoe-lace fine; So I warned the sub and umpire as I limped back to the line.

"So don't put on your sweater, And don't put on your pad; But sit in tubs of water till the Mustard Drives You Mad! "Say! Olympic shades of athletes! Oh, ye ghosts of former stars! What balm can soothe the spirit of the guard a lame knee bars? For I never played as 'ringer,' I was never 'boxed' or 'dodged,' Yet I camp at training quarters, where the other 'stuff' is lodged!

"So don't put on your sweater, And don't put on your pad; But sit in tubs of water till the Mustard Drives You Mad! "Just hear the crowd a-cheerin' An' figure up the score, An' listen to the quarter—Singin'—

"Yes, 'twas I. I gloried in your bravery until I saw you lying, as I thought, dead on the deck. Oh, John, the horror of that moment! Then I called you and you did not answer. Then I wanted to die, too, but now I am alive again and so happy—but for this!" she lifted the empty sleeve to her lips. "How you must have suffered, my poor darling," she went on, her eyes filling with tears, her heart yearning over him.

"And how ill you look, and I keep you standing here—how thoughtless! Come to the bench here and sit down. I can do it." "Nay; but, Kate, you, too, have suffered. See!" He lifted her arm; the loose sleeve fell back. "Oh, how thin it is, and how smooth and round and plump it was when I kissed it last!" he said as he raised it tenderly again to his lips.

"It is nothing, John. I shall be all right now that you are here. You poor shattered lover, how you must have suffered!" she went on, with a sob in her voice.

"Oh, Katharine, this," looking down at his empty sleeve, "was nothing to what I suffered before, when I thought I had killed you!" "When you thought you had killed me!" she said in surprise. They were sitting close together now, and she had his hand in both her own. "How, when, was that?"

And then he told her rapidly about the loss of the Radnor and the idea which her note had given that she was on board of it.

"And you led that ship down to destruction, believing I was on her! How could you do it, John?" she said reproachfully.

"It was my duty, darling Kate," he said desperately.

"And did you love your duty more than me?" "Love it? I hated it! But I had to do it, dearest," he went on pleadingly. "Honor—you told me so yourself, here, in this very spot; I remember your words. Do you not recall them? 'If I stood in the pathway of liberty for a single instant I should despise the man who would not sweep me aside without a moment's hesitation.' Don't you know you said that, Katharine?" "Did I say it? Ah, but that was before I loved you so and you swept me aside. Well, I love you still, and, John, I honor you for it, too, but I could not do it. You see, I am only a woman."

"What was he doing here?" he said coldly. She smiled at him merrily. "Bidding me goodbye. He was made prisoner, of course, by the first soldier we came across after we landed and he was spending the days of his captivity with us. He was exchanged to-day and leaves tonight."

"Katharine, he was in love with you," he said, with what seemed to him marvelous perspicacity.

"Yes, John," she answered, still smiling. "Was he making love to you here?" "Yes."

"And you? You praise this man; you like him; you—"

"I think him the bravest man, the truest gentleman in the world—except this one," she said, laying her hand upon his shoulder and her head upon his breast. "No, no; she pleaded in vain. I only pitted him. I loved you. Do not be jealous, foolish boy. No one should have me. I am yours alone."

"But if I had not come back, Kate—how then?"

"It would have made no difference. I told him so."

Neither of them in their mutual absorption had noticed that a horse had stopped in the road opposite the boat-house and a horseman had walked to the door and had halted at the sight which met his eyes. Desborough recognized Seymour at once, and he had unwittingly heard the end of the conversation. He was the second. The man was back again. It was true. The gallant gentleman stood still a moment, making no sound, then turned back and mounted his horse and rode manly away with despair in his heart.

"Oh, Katharine," Seymour said at last, "do you know that I am a poor man now? I am no longer a poor man now? See, I can no longer walk straight!" He stood up. "Poor surgery after the battle did that."

"The more reason that in the future you should not go alone," she said softly, standing by his side.

FATAL SELF-CONSCIOUSNESS.

Many men who are very effective as candidates are not good speakers at all. Then again there are speakers who lose all their persuasive and stimulating power when they are pleading for votes for themselves. Seth Low, of New York, in a recent New York State campaign, showed himself capable of an exhibition of dry wit, of ridicule, and of keen argument which sent people away from meetings at which he spoke comparing him to Joseph H. Choate. But Seth Low, with his fat hands clasped over his comfortable waistcoat, favoring the audience with that which a naughty reporter characterized as his "thin October smile," discouragingly learnedly upon the quality of prunes used in the city alma house during his administration, Seth Low, the candidate, was never a stimulant nor an invigorator of his own chance of being elected Mayor of New York City for the second time. The apparent exhibition of self-consciousness was fatal. The great spell-binders are greatest in their seeming absence of self-consciousness. —Ludany Denison in Everybody's Magazine for September.

Details Of Wreck
Of Brave Novik

Tokio, Aug. 21.—After a severe engagement with the protected cruisers Chitose and Tushima, the greyhounds of the Japanese navy, the fleet Russian cruiser Novik has been vanquished.
The fight occurred today. After it the Novik, in a sinking condition, was run ashore in Korsakovsk harbor, on the island of Saghalin.

The details of this sea fight are not known here, but it is evident that the Chitose and Tushima caught up with the Novik yesterday and that a running fight ensued. The contest was resumed and terminated early this morning. Captain Suketchira Takahashi, who is in command of the Chitose, reports the engagement in a brief telegram which reached the navy department here this afternoon. He says he first attacked the Russian cruiser Saturday afternoon and that on Sunday morning he inflicted heavy damage upon her. The Novik nearly sank, but was beached at Korsakovsk. A shell from the Novik struck the Tushima in a bunker. Temporary repairs, however, rendered the Japanese cruiser seaworthy and she continued to fight.
The Japanese suffered no casualties.

The Imperial Prince Yorihito of the house of Higashi-Fushimi, is second in command on board the Chitose. Captain Sento commanded the Tushima.
The fate of the crew of the Novik is not known, but it is thought they abandoned their vessel and landed at Korsakovsk. It is generally thought here that the Chitose and Tushima steamed in close to the Novik early this morning and completed the destruction commenced yesterday. It is expected that a detailed report of the occurrence from the commander of the Chitose will be received tomorrow.
This report is anxiously awaited.

The news of the destruction of the Novik has been received in a curious manner by the Japanese public. From a practical standpoint it is highly satisfactory, for the Novik could have been most dangerous as a commerce destroyer, but, considering the matter from a sentimental standpoint, much regret is expressed at her loss. The Novik has been splendidly handled and bravely fought throughout the war, and Japanese naval officers and the public generally have frequently expressed admiration for the cruiser, her commander and her crew.

WHAT CZAR GAVE

St. Petersburg, Aug. 23.—Emperor Nicholas' manifesto on the birth of an heir to the throne, the text of which will be published tomorrow, embraces
the following authorizations:
It abolishes corporal punishment
among the rural classes and for first offenses among the sea and land forces.

It remits arrears owing to the state for purchases of land and other direct imposts.

It sets apart $1,500,000 from the state funds for the purpose of forming an inalienable fund for the benefit of landless people of Finland.

It grants amnesty to those Finland-ers who have emigrated without authorization.

It remits the fines imposed upon the rural and urban communes of Finland which refused to submit to military conscription in 1902 and 1903.

It remits the fines imposed upon the Jewish communes in cases of Jews
avoiding military service.

The manifesto provides for a general reduction in sentences for common law offenses, while a general amnesty is accorded in the case of political offenses, with the exception of those in which murder has been done.

The manifesto is introduced in the following message to the people:
"By the will of God, we, the Czar and autocrat of all the Russias, Czar
of Poland, Grand Duke of Finland, etc., announce to our faithful subjects, that on this, the christening day of our son and heir, the Grand Duke Alexis Nicholevitch, following the promptings
of our heart, turn to our great family of the empire and, with the deepest and most heartfelt pleasure, even amidst these times of national struggle and difficulty, bestow upon them some gifts of our royal favor for their great enjoyment in their daily lives."

The baptism of the heir to the throne tomorrow will take place in the palace church at Peterhof in the presence of a brilliant assemblage of diplomats, courtiers, statesmen, generals and admirals.

San Francisco, Aug. 25.—Eddie Hanlon received a telegraphic message from Philadelphia yesterday telling him that Terry McGovern has signed an agreement to meet him in a six-round battle during the last days in September. Two Philadelphia clubs are after the contest and as yet it is uncertain as to what arena the little fellows will do their clashing in. Philadelphia sports consider that the match will be a great drawing card and the transaction will doubtless be a good one financially for the contestants.

Hanlon stated yesterday afternoon that in all probability he would leave for the East some time next week, Wednesday probably. He will do his training a short distance from the scene of the fight and has every confidence that he will be able to show the way to the erstwhile Terrible Teddy over the six-round route. Philadelphia's ordinances permit of no decision being given and the contestants split the money, but each boy has every possible incentive to show the best that is in him and the battle is likely to be of the fast, scrappy order that fight followers crave.

DEAD WERE IN HEAPS

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER IN PORT ARTHUR FIGHTING

DETAILS OBTAINED FROM PORT ARTHUR PUBLICATION—AT-TACKS FIERCE—RESIST-ANCE INVINCIBLE.

Chefoo, China, Aug. 30.—The Port Arthur "Novokrai," in its issue of August 26th, speaking of the incidents of the siege occurring between August 22 and August 26, makes no mention of any general assault during that period, but records several desperate attacks on the Russian positions.

The Russian Consul at Chefoo says the "Novokrai" relates only facts, but colors them with the intention of inspiring the garrison and inspiring the troops to the emulation of heroic deeds.

Following a grand three days' assault on the defenses of Port Arthur
the Japanese rested during the daytime of August 23. At 11 o'clock that night they concentrated a strong force to attack the Zaredontoff fort, which is a strong position on the Russian right flank. The Japanese made clever use of the available cover, creeping forward in Indian fashion for one hour in spite of the Russian rifle fire. Midnight found them properly formed within striking distance of the fortifications. They then made a powerful rush, but were mowed down in all but one quarter. Here a body of Japanese succeeded in entering the fort over the dead bodies of their comrades, but nearly all were bayoneted inside the fort.

The remnant retreated, losing severely as they fled. After repulsing
the enemy the Russian troops cheered.
The Japanese searchlights showed ghostly heaps of dead, like magiclantern pictures.

The Japanese soon were reinforced and recommenced the attack furiously, but again they were repulsed. The "Novokrai" soberly asserts that the Japanese troops were forced forward
by their own shrapnel fire, the guns being placed behind them to prevent a retreat.

A third attempt to capture the position also failed, and anticipating a fourth attack the Russians were reinforced, but this fourth attack was not made.

The Zaredontoff fortification presented to the Japanese a high stone wall of Chinese construction, and the fact that one detachment succeeded in scaling it is accounted marvelous.

Daylight found the belligerents in that quarter engaged in an artillery duel. General Gorbatsowsky personally directed the Russian fire, although he had been six days and six nights without sleep. The fort suffered considerably from the Japanese artillery and General Gorbatsowsky ordered the garrison into undamaged trenches.

The next glimpse the Russians had of the Japanese was at 10 o'clock on the morning of August 24, when a mountain battery on mules was seen in motion. The Russians opened fire on this battery and dispersed it. At noon of the 24th two Japanese columns were observed, one behind Sit-garbath Hill and the other near the railroad bridge, but they retired when the Russian artillery opened on them.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 24th the Japanese began a heavy bombardment of the Russian position with their one hundred and twenty millimeter guns, and at the same time a Japanese column of infantry and cavalry appeared at Pailchuan. At 6 o'clock that afternoon the Japanese furiously attacked the entire northeastern front of the Russian defenses, but they were compelled to retire with considerable loss.

The foregoing is an account of the battle mentioned in these dispatches
yesterday as having occurred on August 26. Whether the fighting, which presumably did occur on the 26th was a separate attack or whether the Chinese who reported the occurrence were inaccurate in their dates cannot be determined.

The night of August 24 was quiet.
On the morning of the 25th the Japanese artillery opened up along the entire eastern front, but most severely on the northern section.

During the night of the 25th Captain Stempnefsky, with a small force,
made a sortie and attempted to disperse a Japanese battery located on "Corner Hill," but without success.
This sortie was made from "High Hill." The "Novokrai" adds that the Japanese were building trenches in front of the hills, from "Corner Hill"
to "High Hill," but it does not mention the retreat of the Russians from the latter place. The Japanese have about thirty guns, some of them mounted in stone Chinese houses, and others in the foothills along the beach.

In the vicinity of Louisa Bay, northwest of Port Arthur, the Japanese have two hundred guns concealed in a cornfield.

Powerful Fighters For New British Navy

London, Aug. 6.—Details given in the House of Commons this week as to the shipbuilding program of the British Government for the present year show that the two new battleships of the Lord Nelson class will be truly worthy of their great names. Their batteries are such as has never before been put into any fighting ship.

On a displacement of 16,500 tons, or 150 tons larger than the previous largest (the King Edward), they will carry fourteen big armor piercing guns. A comparison of the two types gives the following results:

The King Edward—Guns, four 12-inch, four 9.2-inch, ten 6-inch; tonnage, 16,350; speed, 18 1/2 knots.

The Lord Nelson—Guns, four 12-inch, ten 9.2-inch; tonnage, 16,500;
speed, 18 knots.

The advantage in the new ships lies in their greater number of 9.2-inch guns. This weapon is one of the most powerful in existence. Firing a 380-pound shell twice or thrice a minute and driving it through thirty-five inches of iron, it is more powerful than any gun of a similar type mounted on foreign battleships.

The four twelve-inch guns fire 850-pound shells through some four feet
of iron.

In exchange for this overwhelming superiority in heavy gun fire, the six-inch gun carried in the King Edward disappears.

The four new armored cruisers are also to be remarkable and of great size, being the largest cruisers built for the British or any other navy. They are to be known as the Minotaur class.
They will steam twenty three knots, displace 14,600 tons, or 400 more than the Drake class, and will carry four 9.2-inch guns of the same type as those on the Lord Nelson and ten of the new 7.5-inch guns, which fire four 200 pound shells a minute through more than two feet of iron.

Both the cruisers and the battleships
will represent a capital of $40,000,000.

Sinking of the Rurik Paid An Old Score

The Japan Gazette says:
The sinking of the Russian cruiser Rurik, which was caused by the Kamimura squadron on the 14th inst., is not only regarded by the Japanese as avenging the recent Vladivostok raids
but also as a venting of a ten-yearsharbored hatred. We read in a leading Tokyo journal that it is a lasting regret for the Japanese that Japan should have ceased to the combined interference by the three Powers ten years ago.

The joint interference was organized by Russia, and her chief support was the Pacific squadron, the flagship of which was the Rurik. It was this Russian ship that, arrogating the position of being the strongest ship in the Orient
at the time, made a demonstration against Japan after the war with China. If the Russian squadron was the agent which cancelled the honor and object fairly won and consecrated by the blood of the patriotic Japanese, its representative must have certainly been the Rurik. At that time the Japanese had already made up their mind to have this arrogant ship sent to the bottom ahead of all other vessels at the first opportunity. Moreover, since the opening of the present war the Rurik has offered gross violence to Japanese steamers, distinguishing herself in that way among the Vladivostok fleet. Now that this ship, however, has been sunk,
the heavy debt accumulated against her in the past ten years is liquidated.

MURDEROUS ARTILLERY.

Haoyang, Aug. 30.—From 5 o'clock this morning until 9 o'clock there has been an incessant shower of shrapnel.
The heaviest cannonading is coming from the southeast, where the Japanese evidently have numerous guns.
Deadly shells are bursting everywhere,
their white smoke being distinctly traceable against the dark foliage of the mountain sides. The Japanese are searching the whole country side with their fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments
they mass a hail of shot and shell from all their guns. Then they pass to another square, thus working the whole field, with mathematical precision, from right to left. In this way the entire Russian front has been systematically searched in the first four hours of the cannonading.

Then commenced the general Japanese advance along the whole line.
At this hour (10 a. m.) the Japanese artillery fire has somewhat slackened but their infantry is steadily pushing forward.

The Russians have been holding their ground gallantly and their losses are small, considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire.

PAINT HARMONY

If you are at all in doubt about the harmonious combination of paint for your building let us help you.

The Sherwin-Williams Co., makers of S.W.P., have a department for furnishing good combinations free of charge.

Let us send a photograph or architect's drawing to them for you. They'll send back three correct color combinations for you to choose from.

This won't bind you to use their paint and won't cost you a cent.

Pursor Wright reports as follows: Light southeast winds and smooth seas crossing channel. Fine weather on Kauai.

CORBETT AND O'BRIEN.

New York, August 16.—James J. Corbett and "Philadelphia" Jack O'Brien, two of the cleverest boxers in the ring today, have been matched. The pair signed articles today in the "American" office to fight six rounds in Philadelphia on or before September 9th. The men will split the purse. There is no weight stipulation in the articles. Soft bandages will be allowed.

It was only after a long talk that the wily ex-champion and the shrewd Philadelphia came to terms. Sharp reports were exchanged as they discussed the proposed battle and for a time it looked as if there were little chance of an agreement, but when each had made what he considered a sharp bargain signatures were affixed to the document binding them to fight. They shook hands, cautioned each other to take care of himself and departed to begin preparations for the fray. The serious hitch was the weight. O'Brien wanted 175 pounds as the limit and 10 per cent of the purse for his share. Corbett, on the other hand, thought he should get the big end of the money. After some palavering it was decided that O'Brien could fight at catch weights in consideration of Corbett accepting an even division of the purse. The bids for the fight close next Thursday with Harry Beecher, sporting editor of the New York American.
