

THREE NAMES ARE NOW MENTIONED

ROBERTSON, PARKER AND CUPID

Second Territorial Convention Meets This Morning To Select Standard Bearer of Republican Party—Robertson Has Good Chance For Nomination

At 10:20 this morning the second Republican Territorial convention in Hawaii was called to order in Progress hall, by Chairman A. G. M. Robertson...

Hon. Samuel Parker was present, steadily declining to be a candidate. Hon. A. G. M. Robertson, who appeared to be the choice of the "straight out" Republicans...

Parker's refusal to run was positive, in spite of many friends having urged him to take the nomination, which he could certainly have had by asking for it. "He can beat Wilcox this year..."

In spite of this there were those in the convention who wanted to nominate Parker. They thought that if the convention paid no attention to his refusals but proceeded to nominate him and send a committee to him telling him that the people demanded that he run...

Yesterday afternoon the delegates held a caucus that lasted a long time. The nomination of Cupid was discussed at length, and the Prince was consulted. The stumbling block even with those who wanted to nominate him, was the fact that he refused to declare himself a Republican...

The hitch with Cupid was on the issue of naming a man who was not in advance an avowed Republican. Cupid's strength as a candidate was recognized, but the "died in the will" Republicans strenuously objected to putting up a man who was not an out and out member of the party...

As far as the ultimate adoption of city and county government is concerned, the convention is unanimous, but the line of difference is as to whether the legislature should be instructed to forthwith put such a system in operation, or should leave the matter to a commission which may study out the proper form of law...

At nine o'clock this morning the Maui and Hawaiian delegates met in caucus in the Judd building and the Kauai delegates met in the Progress hall at the same hour. There was a full attendance at both gatherings but the delegates did not seem to leave the meetings any more settled on the delegateship question...

The issue remained an open one when the convention met, with a chance that the convention might nominate Parker and insist upon his running or definitely declining a nomination, or might adopt a platform and give Cupid a chance to accept it. On the other hand Robertson's friends are strong on the floor of the house and his nomination is a practical certainty unless it is decided to put up a native...

On other matters than the delegateship there are chances of spirited debates. Some of the "Hilo" members came to Honolulu with blood in their eyes, longing for a chance to fight for city and county government. Col. C. P. Laukaea of Waialua was in the same class. This question is not unlikely to occupy much more time in the convention than the nomination of a delegate...

The demand for a strong plank in the platform, declaring for city and county government throughout the Territory, is strong among a considerable portion of the membership of the convention, and this element will make itself heard. On the other hand, among the Republicans of Oahu specially, there is an element which does not want to put in a plank calling for a summary and hasty enactment of legislation of this sort, and would rather leave it to a commission, for careful preparation of the necessary laws, to be ratified by the people...

The lobby was well filled when the convention came to order and most of the well known politicians were on hand. T. McCants Stewart and Home Rule Representative J. K. Prendergast were observed riding in a buggy along Fort street, near the convention hall. "A convert," said Stewart, referring to Home Rule Prendergast, seated by his side, "Another Home Ruler," said Prendergast, and the buggy drove on, leaving it to the hearers to decide which of the men in the buggy had made a convert...

The little contest that took place over the naming of the committee on platform was a forerunner of a struggle over the city and county government proposition. The committee finally named is divided on this issue, but it is to report a platform, and the greatest struggle of the convention seems likely to come over the report which this committee will present...

Col. C. P. Laukaea was after a place on the committee on platform, but did not get it. He is one of the most radical city and county government men in the convention, and will leave no stone unturned to carry the convention for an immediate introduction of the municipal government system in Hawaii. With a considerable element of the Republican organization on Oahu favoring this policy and a lot of Hiloites and men from Maui favoring the same plan the prospects are that those who oppose it will have a lively fight to carry their idea of more moderate action...

As far as the ultimate adoption of city and county government is concerned, the convention is unanimous, but the line of difference is as to whether the legislature should be instructed to forthwith put such a system in operation, or should leave the matter to a commission which may study out the proper form of law, and make other preparations for the great change that must occur before the system is adopted, without tackling the proposition under a short time limit. There will undoubtedly be a good deal of debate on this question. "I shall favor city and county government at once, as long as I have a voice," said Col. Laukaea. "I think there should be a platform declaring for city and county government as soon as it can be introduced, and am prepared to put up a fight for the proposition as best I can..."

morning session, there were more informal caucuses on the delegateship question. Robertson stock appeared to be on the rise. There is a strong Oahu faction at least, and some of the men from the other islands are in line, which objects to nominating anyone but a straight out and out Republican. These men are opposed to Cupid, in view of the stand he has taken. In the Fourth District it is proposed to put up Cupid as a candidate for the senate if he is willing to run on the party ticket, after he sees the platform. "I will never vote for any man to run on the Republican ticket who is not a Republican," said three or four members of the convention this morning, and this sentiment undoubtedly is the feeling of many in the convention...

In both the Fourth and Fifth Districts, Oahu, Robertson has many of the delegates pledged to his support to the end. They go into the convention as Robertson men, and will stand by him. The members of the convention hope to complete their work today, but all depends on how soon an agreement is reached on the municipal government proposition. A long debate on this question may carry the business of the convention to tomorrow evening...

By 10 o'clock most of the delegates had convened and were grouped about the hall. Everything was arranged in business fashion, the platform reserved for the chairman of the various committees, the table being draped with the Stars and Stripes. Facing this ran three aisles from which showed the standard of the districts. The center aisle showed the legends, "West Oahu, West Honolulu, Ewa, Waialua, Koolauloa, With District;" and "East Oahu, East Honolulu and Waianai, IV District." To the right showed the first and second districts of East and West Hawaii with their particularized precincts and to the left the third district of Maui and Molokai in front of Kauai and Niihau or the Sixth District...

A. G. M. Robertson called the meeting to order at ten thirty as chairman of Territorial Central Convention committee, reading the notice of the call for the convention. W. J. Coelho acted as interpreter. Mr. Robertson on behalf of the retiring committee expressed his appreciation of the support. He believed that a first class organization, in good working order was being handed over, ready to render a good report in November, on election day. He thanked the county districts for their full attendance, showing that the country was awake and full interest being taken by the party throughout the country. He then proceeded to the order of business starting with the nomination for temporary chairman...

Senator Achi nominated H. L. Holstein of the second district, as a young man fully competent, and deserving of the office. Judge Kaulukou seconded. H. P. Baldwin moved the nominations closed, the secretary cast a ballot by motion of the same gentleman and W. H. Rice and Judge Kaulukou conducted Mr. Holstein to the chair on request of Mr. Robertson. Applause followed. H. L. Holstein spoke briefly. After thanking the assembly for the honor bestowed upon him he said that the first object was to expedite business. He said he was in Hawaii now at its best, young, vigorous, ready to work. What he wanted is a good legislature and that could only be gained through the Republican party (applause). "Wilcox," he claimed, "was a demagogue pure and simple, a failure who had been found out by the Home Rulers who were daily deserting the ranks. Race prejudice had been handed by him and the time had come for a change. A fusion between the Republicans, Democrats, Portuguese and Kuokos was needed in which to overcome Wilcox and his hearers..."

The speaker stated that the missionary work that he had done among the Home Rulers since his arrival in town had convinced him of a landslide to come in favor of the Republican party. The Home Rulers were understanding matters. They no longer wanted a man who could do nothing but draft liquor bills and milk bills. Out of one thousand millions appropriated by Congress all Hawaii got was one small consignment of flower seeds. "The minority," he hoped, "would stand by the will of the majority and that all would work from now to November, closing their places of business for work at the polls, so that the answer of the election might be a message to the United States and to all waiting Republicans that Hawaii had gone overwhelmingly Republican..."

On request of H. P. Baldwin Mr. Holstein briefly translated his own speech and called for the further pleasure of the meeting. H. P. Baldwin moved that a committee on credentials, consisting of one member from each district, be appointed by the chair. George Carter amended the motion by a ten minute recess. Several seconded and the following were appointed by the chair: G. F. Renton, A. C. McKinney, J. K. Nahale, J. N. K. Keola, Joe Luauhiwa and W. H. Rice. J. D. Avery was appointed temporary secretary. Sale of Seats For Frawley Performance

The sale of seats for the performance of "Secret Service" will open on Wednesday morning at Wall, Nichols and Company, at nine o'clock. Seats will be reserved without distinction on the "first come, first served" principle. As the appearance of the Frawley Company comes as a breeze after a long famine, a rush is expected for tickets and impending play-goers would do well to order early. The performance is scheduled for Friday evening at the Opera House. The play is being presented with great favor in San Francisco at the Grand Opera House where it is characteristic of the best production Frawley has brought to California.

May Cut Down Oil Output For Kern County

BAKERSFIELD, August 19.—General Manager Porter of the Associated Oil Company is in New York, and since his arrival in that center various rumors have been floating about as to the object of his trip. Yesterday there came from him an order for the superintendent to reduce production in the company's well. When it is considered that this involves the production of fifty oil companies that form the associated company the likelihood of a great falling off in the product is apparent. The association is capitalized at $40,000,000 and controls the best territory in this region. It regulates almost the entire production in these parts.

WATER FRONT QUIET

NO BUSINESS IS BEING DONE TODAY.

Men Demanded Double Pay To Work Alameda—No Island Steamers Being Worked—Sailing Postponed Today.

The water front is dead today, so far as business is concerned. Practically every wharf is deserted and none of the vessels are working cargo.

The men at the Oceanic wharf demanded double pay to work today on the Alameda. This was refused so the crowd declined to work. Both the inter-island and Wilder wharves are deserted and no attempt whatever is being made to load any of the vessels of those lines. Tomorrow is steamer day and the cargoes will have to be loaded under high pressure in order to get the vessels away on time.

The gasoline schooner Zephele discharged her cargo of fire wood this morning, but nothing further was done aboard this vessel during the day. Nearly all of the sailing vessels are decorated with many flags in honor of the day.

There will be no movement of vessels out of the harbor today. All of the sailings of the regular Monday inter-island boats have been postponed until tomorrow and the departure of the Claudine for Hilo and way ports has also been postponed from tomorrow at noon to 2 p. m. tomorrow.

KOREA WILL BE OPEN

H. Hackfeld and Company the agents of the Pacific Mail S. S. Company, have received advices from R. P. Schwerin, the general manager of the company directing them to throw the new liner Korea open to the inspection of the public on her arrival at this port. The vessel probably left San Francisco August 30 and will therefore, reach Honolulu some time next Friday, or by Saturday morning at the latest. All of the steamships in the harbor together with establishments having whistles will be requested to give the new vessel a salute as she enters the harbor. Captain Seabury the commander of the Korea probably has a siren aboard the vessel and those who know him, are confident that he can be relied upon not to keep silent during such a reception. Arrangements will be made to have the hand at the Pacific Mail wharf during the vessel's stay in port on the general public will be permitted to go aboard and inspect the new liner.

Senator Thurston here quietly entered by a side door, but was immediately noticed and greeted with a hearty demonstration. Mr. Peck stated that he did not think Hawaii should contest the chairmanship of Mr. Holstein if such was the wish of the convention. A motion of H. P. Baldwin and Judge Kaulukou a secretary's ballot was cast for Mr. Holstein who then assumed permanent charge. Judge Kaulukou proposed the name of George P. Thielon for secretary Aylett proposing J. D. Avery.

Senator Burton was then discovered and Samuel Parker and Cecil Brown appointed by the chair a committee to bring him and Senator Thurston to the platform. Applause greeted their arrival. The Hawaii delegation have brought their own page with them, a youth in neat uniform with a yellow badge bearing the word Hawaii. Some hundred visitors were gathered at the back of the hall. J. D. Avery was appointed permanent secretary.

Dr. Raymond moved that W. Coelho be appointed interpreter by acclamation. This carried. H. P. Baldwin brought up a movement of a committee on platform with members from each district to be appointed by their districts after a suitable recess for that purpose and the chairman of the convention to be chairman of the committee. G. F. Renton seconded. Cecil Brown demurred stating that it was better that the chairman of the convention should appoint the committee, otherwise adopting the plan of two being chosen from each district. "This," he said, "would save trouble and dissatisfaction."

H. P. Baldwin stated that his method worked like a charm at the last convention. W. H. Rice supported Mr. Baldwin as each delegation knew the feeling of their district best. Philip Peck offered an amendment that the chair select members in any case where the delegations exceeded fifteen minutes in making their choice. H. P. Baldwin accepted the amendment. J. W. Jones thought that a committee on rules and general organization should be first chosen. H. P. Baldwin thought the motion could be put first. This was accordingly done, the motion carried and a recess declared. Mr. Peck's amendment was seconded by A. C. McKinney.

The recess being ended, the following nominations were declared making, with the chair, thirteen members to the committee: First District, Charles Williams, R. T. Guard; Second, J. D. Paris, S. P. Chillingworth; Third, H. P. Baldwin, Dr. J. H. Raymond; Fourth, A. V. Gear, J. H. Fisher; Fifth, G. R. Carter, W. G. Ashley; Sixth, Francis Gay, W. H. Rice. The chairman then ordered a letter read by the secretary asking that no liquor plank be inserted in the platform.

Got Into Fight With Infuriated Japanese Cook.

E. E. Hartman was painfully cut with a knife yesterday morning during a struggle with his Japanese cook. The Japanese was shot in the left shoulder by Hartman. Neither of the injured men received injuries however that are likely to prove fatal.

For some reason, Mori the Japanese cook, had been acting in rather a surly manner. Yesterday morning, Mrs. Hartman went to the kitchen and told him to let the fire die down, as it was unnecessary to waste the fuel. The Japanese had several pots of hot water on the stove. He grabbed one of these and threw the contents over Mrs. Hartman's back. The woman was badly scalded and ran screaming into the yard to where her husband was sprinkling the lawn.

As soon as Hartman heard his wife shriek he dropped the hose and ran toward the house. He met the Japanese in the door way. The Japanese held a pot of boiling water, but Hartman told him, "Pau no pikika," so the Japanese retreated to the kitchen, while Hartman went to a room and secured a revolver. When Hartman went into the yard, he saw the Japanese armed with a knife, standing by Mrs. Hartman as if to strike her. Hartman tried to shoot the fellow but several of the revolver chambers were empty so the trigger snapped. Mori turned and attacked Hartman.

The latter had been sick for some time, and was too weak to hope to successfully grapple with the advancing Japanese. Hartman received several knife cuts about the neck, several on the face and some on the left arm. He shot the Japanese in the left shoulder but the wound did not deter the infuriated Mori from continuing the attack. The men grappled and finally Hartman succeeded in choking his assailant until the Japanese let go the knife and ran away. The Japanese fell on School street weak from loss of blood and was removed to the Queen's hospital.

Hartman and his wife received painful injuries. Hartman will prefer a charge against the Japanese today. Hartman is a prominent Eik and is employed by the Union Express Company.

SOME GOOD ADVICE.

Senator Thurston's speech on Saturday night may be regarded as epoch-making. In what estimation the great Nebraska is held by the community, was shown by the crowded house which greeted him when he stepped upon the platform and how thoroughly his points went home was shown by the applause which punctuated his discourse, not applause put in at the command of a fogleman, but the spontaneous applause of listeners whose feelings and mental powers are touched by the fire of eloquence clothing in its rich garb, the soundest of political truths.

In his remarks the Senator did not mince matters, he told us just where we made mistakes and were likely to make them again. His speech was impersonal. As he said, he did not know enough of the place, and of the various leaders of the parties here, to make any personal campaign speech, but he did know the principles of the Republican party, he did know the magnificent political history of that party, and he did know the practical workings of politics at the national capital. The campaign for good government, the true Republican campaign could not have been started by a more able or more thoroughly equipped man. It at once appeared that many unnecessary issues could be cleared away, and that if the mass of the voters chose, they could be heard in Washington and obtain what they were seeking, but if they chose to throw away this chance, no one would or could help them.

Two main issues were especially touched upon. The choice of a delegate and the attitude of voters. These are our live issues as far as we are concerned with national politics. It is a pleasure to hear a man, high in the counsels of his party, of the greatest influence in his state, and of national reputation come among us and enunciate incontrovertible truths. Senator Thurston stands too high as a politician and too high as a man to make any statements which cannot be depended upon. What he says can be depended upon.

The ex-Senator is a Republican, but he told his hearers last Saturday night that unless our delegate belonged to one or other of the two great parties we need hope for nothing from Congress. Mark the fairness of the statement. He did not say that unless the delegate was a Republican nothing could be hoped for, but unless he belonged to one or other of the parties. He was then prepared to show why he should be a Republican, and could give very cogent reasons why the majority of voters should support the Republican platform. He did, however, lay down a clear cut proposition. This endorses, from the highest authority, much that has been said about the present delegate. He represents nothing, and his constituents get their return—nothing—and will continue to do so as long as they send similar unrepresentative men.

So with our parties here. Under the free government of the United States any number of parties can be and have been formed, but where are they now? Working by themselves, they can accomplish nothing either for their material good or for their ideals. They are so much drift-wood upon the sea of politics carried here today by one current, and then tomorrow by another current, having no influence upon their own fate, or upon the fate of the generality. A single vote among many thousands of votes does not count for much, if it starts to vote for itself, but if it joins one of two opposing parties it will sometimes count for a very great deal. It may help to roll up the majority which will bring victory, or it may help to strengthen the minority and give it heart to continue the fight.

This has been the position here. The absolute necessity of affiliating with the great parties has not been understood by the voters. It has been to the interest of a leader like Wilcox to keep his followers ignorant upon such a point. His aim has been clear, it has not been the good of his fellow citizens, but it has been the good of himself and a few of his friends. He would keep the mass of the people ignorant as to the path they should follow, and he has in a measure succeeded, but his success has reached the point where it is apt to recoil upon itself. And this will be the political history of the Territory until its voters learn that it is the principles of the great parties which must be learned and followed, and not their own set of principles or lack of principles which are to be maintained.

The Republican party here, the Star believes, is far stronger than the generality think for. It needs, however, every vote that it can get. But it had better go down to defeat as a strong minority than sacrifice its principles and put up any one who is not pledged to its principles. The delegate, who goes from here, if the Territory is to gain anything in the way of material and political progress, must be a Republican. He might be a Democrat and do some good. But the Democrats by themselves could not elect a delegate, and to help to elect a delegate by means of being swallowed by another party, would mean nothing. A Home Ruler, and Independent or what not, though he might have the endorsement of the Democrats here, would not be a Democrat in the House, any more than he would be a Republican, if endorsed by the Republicans. The delegate from here must stand upon one or other of the great platforms. To stand upon a pin-head platform of his own means retrogression probably and most certainly stagnation. If our voters can learn this they have learned a most valuable lesson. They have been told it by their fellow citizens, they have been told it by one of the foremost political thinkers in the United States. If they will not hear, the fault lies with themselves, and they must abide by it.

For the Republicans there is but one true course, to stick to their principles. They must be Republicans first, last and every time. The members of the Republican party are not working merely for their own personal good. They are working for the good of the Territory and of every person in it. The Republican aspirations are not local, they are national. They are the aspirations of a great country, a country which is dominant in civilization, in commerce, in mental activity and in arms. These are not narrow aspirations, groveling in selfishness. We shall, by following the Republican aspirations, reach true American citizenship, and American citizenship, as Senator Thurston says, is the highest patent of nobility the world has ever seen. It is greater than Emperor, King, Queen, Earl, Baron or Count. It is the patent of nobility of the true freeman of the world.

upon the same old stand. Nothing would be more satisfactory to us than that our fires should light up again. Our volcano is a source of interest to ourselves and to people throughout the world. What other people dread, we hail with pleasure. Our volcano is one of the sights of the world, but it brings with it no baleful results. The lava spouts in fountains, the caverns of fire roar and bellow in ferocious sounds, clouds of smoke roll up from the boiling caldron, and sulphuric lights dart their green flames from the edges of the fiery lake, but one can sit at ease and see all this without the slightest uneasiness or fear. Kilauea is a safety valve for the superabundant hidden fires of Mauna Loa, and as long as it continues its duties, there is the more safety. It is when Kilauea's fires are finally extinguished that the real danger to the Islands will come. As Kilauea is now remarkably active there is nothing to fear.

With the cable promised for December, those who have the cash will be able to send a word of Christmas greeting to their friends on Christmas day. This is the aesthetic side of it. The practical side is that our business will be conducted on the same lines as that of the rest of the world, and that rises and falls in the markets will be known to us when they take place. A cable would have made hundreds of thousands of dollars difference to our merchants if we had had it during the last year or so.

"The man who stands by himself and only finds fault or votes alone, is in danger of throwing his vote away."—The American citizen. "The Territory which tries to stand by itself and ignores the great political parties is in danger of throwing its political and material prosperity away."—Common Sense.

The President gave a great speech when he emerged from his retirement at Oyster Bay. It was attended and listened to by an audience largely composed of laboring men. The popularity of the President and of the Republican party with the laboring men augers ill for the Democratic party, leaderless as it is, in the coming campaign.

Wilcoxism is by no means popular in Hawaii. The apologists for Wilcox will have to get round and pick up the pieces of the broken idol, but there will be no patching it together. Once the Wilcox boom is shattered, it will be gone for good and all. Politically Wilcox will only be allowed to die for his country once, but that will be once for all. The days for a continuous performance of that celebrated vaudeville act of "Wilcox sacrificing his life for his country many times" may be regarded as having come to an end. The continuous performance will take its place along with miracle plays, the Black Crook, Griseida, and other forgotten shows.

WILCOX NOW ON MAUI

HE HAS EFFECTED FUSION WITH DEMOCRATS.

The Makawao Home Rulers Were Shut Out and Will Put Up Their Own Candidate—Three Men Sacrificed.

WAILUKU, Maui, August 30.—Wilcox is on Maui again, and will leave for Maunaloa this afternoon. He has been courting honey-tongued Tom Clark to throw his strength on the side of the Home Rulers and he has not succeeded. It is rumored that three Home Ruler nominees will be asked to make room for three Democrats. The Democrats are after the senatorial seat, and that's where the rub comes in. Oily Bill is hard to deal with, and it is doubtful if he would consent to withdraw in favor of anybody, not even another Home Ruler, much less a Democrat. Kookoo and Makelaan will probably be sacrificed to make room for Tom Clark and John Richardson. T. B. Lyons absolutely refuses to run. W. H. Cornwell is the prospective candidate of the Fusion ticket for the upper House.

The Home Rulers of Makawao district are kicking because they are not allowed a candidate; for in the none-of-your-business-to-select-me-eligibility they were told to take the ticket selected and keep still. Now they are going to put up H. K. Forsythia.

The Home Rulers are working quietly, and the Republicans are working too. The Democrats are unorganized, but their leaders are holding daily caucuses, and the proposition to Wilcox is the outcome of their planning.

Call No. 4 of 11—Republican leaders is out for a meeting on the night of the 8th of September to receive the acceptance from candidates of their nominations and support of platform.

Hawaii Pictured

We call attention to our new line—Island views. We have half a thousand different glimpses of Hawaii, its people, public buildings, street scenes, public events of note, in fact every thing interesting for the past quarter of a century. You can obtain these pictures no where else. Some of the plates from which these photos are taken are very valuable, as the people or historic scenes are now gone.

Pictures at popular prices are what the public want. Here is where we meet your wants. A 4x5 photo, printed on non-fading paper, at 10c. each. By the dozen $1. Then we have larger ones, 5x7, at 25c. By the dozen $2.50.

These are not amateur photos but work of the best professionals. We would invite you to call and look them over.

If you are wanting anything in the photo line come and see us. We have some new goods sure to please. We have the popular Poco cameras and the wonderful little Snappa plate camera. We like to show them. May we have the opportunity?

Our developing and printing customers are increasing all the time. There's a reason for it—good, careful work that pleases.

Conventions Held in All the Different Districts—The Names of Men Selected to Stand at Election.

WAILUKU, Maui, August 30.—An enthusiastic meeting of the 6th Precinct club was held in the court house at Wailuku last Thursday night. Judge Kalua, president of the club presided. Seated with Judge Kalua were Judges Kepoikal, Judge Kahaloa, secretary Kellinot and interpreter Keola. The presiding officer stated the object of the meeting which was the recommending of candidates to the District Committee for Representatives and Senators.

A. H. Haone placed J. M. K. Keola's name in nomination for representative. There was no second, and Keola refused to be a candidate. N. W. Aluli, in a lengthy speech placed the name of J. K. Kahookole in nomination. He presented a petition signed by about 40 voters who had petitioned J. K. Kahookole to place his name on the ballot for representative. There were seconds from all parts of the house. Then came a silence. Judge Kalua "spied" a little, and then N. W. Aluli moved to close the nominations. The chair would not entertain the motion.

C. D. Lufkin moved that this precinct present three names to the District Committee in the order of their choice. This precipitated a lively discussion. N. W. Aluli objected to the motion as being out of order, but he was ruled down. The motion carried, and an appeal from the decision of the chair was unheeded.

L. M. Baldwin placed the name of S. Kellinot in nomination. This was seconded by H. A. Wadsworth. Judge Robinson placed the name of A. N. Hayselden in nomination. Hayselden of Lahaina in nomination seconded. J. K. Kahookole then withdrew in favor of S. Kellinot.

On ballot, S. Kellinot received the highest number of ballots and thus became the first choice, and A. N. Hayselden became second choice. The names of A. N. Kepoikal, W. P. Fogue, C. H. Dickey and A. N. Hayselden were nominated for the Senate. A. N. Kepoikal came out victorious, and he was made the unanimous choice of the precinct.

In the Hana local convention, a meeting of local delegates from Kipahulu, Hana, Nahiku and Keamae, J. K. Josepa received 6 votes, W. P. Hala 5, E. M. Hamana 2. These three names will be presented to the District Committee, with the chances pretty even between J. K. Josepa and W. P. Hala.

In the Hamakuaapoko meeting John Kalua, one of the aspirants withdrew leaving John Kahino and John Kalama in the fight. There were 87 names present, and 87 votes cast. One was a blank and 43 were cast for each candidate. So Hamakuaapoko sends two names to the District Convention, without any other comment on the popularity of the two men. Both are good men.

Ioela Makaleka and D. H. Kahaloa are in the fight for the 1st and 2nd precincts. 1st precinct has six delegates which will throw their whole strength for Ioela Makaleka, if the prospect is bright. The four delegates of the 2nd precinct will probably vote for D. H. Kahaloa, for Dave is quite a manipulator of voters. It is expected however that Makaleka will win out.

The choice of Lahaina has fallen upon Philip Pali, an intelligent Hawaiian, who received 12 votes in the local convention to Peter Naa's 1.

At the local convention at Paunese office, there are three names being considered, Edgar Morton, Louis von Tempky and George Copp. Edgar Morton has the backing of Kihei and Kahului and Makawao is backing L. von Tempky and George Copp. Makawao did not know that E. Morton was in the field until after their precinct meeting last Saturday.

WORK OF CONVENTION

form asking for prohibition or control of the liquor traffic by the government. The communication was signed by a committee of the "Protective Association," the names being J. G. Rothwell, A. Hocking and S. I. Shaw. Such a plank would, it was claimed, mitigate against the interests of a considerable portion of the community.

The chairman stated that he would hand the letter to the committee on platform, were there no objections. It. W. Aylett asked if the communication were to be placed in the platform and objected to the letter being considered. W. C. Achi thought that the speaker was out of order and Aylett withdrew his motion.

Lorrin Andrews moved that one member of each district be appointed by the chair as a committee on rules. This was seconded, and the following nominations made: Lorrin Andrews, Walker, Lazarus, Morton, Lauka and Werner. H. P. Baldwin suggested that the two distinguished guests be invited to address the convention. Senator Burton was called for and spoke as follows:

"I did not come here to talk, but to hear you talk. I am not on a political mission except that that word should be used in its best sense. I am not a partisan but am here as a legislator. When the committee comes here we want to try and learn what you need, and use our best endeavors to give it to you. I am captivated with your climate, with your physical situation, with the splendid class of citizenship, which I was ignorant was of such a high standard. But above all I am captivated by your beautiful women. I cannot remember from boyhood to manhood when I didn't love a horse and a woman. One word to you, not as Republicans, but as American citizens. The work of saving the great government of ours is to elevate our politics and that by elevating individual citizenship. The man of means bears a great responsibility. The man who would use such means against the poor is an enemy to his country. He should ask himself how he can lift all others to a higher plane. All greed conspiracies in politics should be frowned upon by all good men and women. In your campaign as partisans, spend no time abusing your opponents, never indulge in abuse, but discuss all the time, ideas and principles, and act from principles whatever your party.

"In these gems of the Pacific as Senator Thurston calls them, you can find a citizenship the finest of the world. Visiting with Colonel Parker, I find you have no winter, no summer, this could be elegant summer weather for Kansas. Help one another in being 'ing yourself.' The man who earns his living without labor, rich or not, cannot be happy in disobeying God's command. The Almighty never made a decree that had exceptions. 'In the sweat of thy face thou shalt eat bread.' Don't read financial tariff reports, read the parable of the talents. Here lies success. Into your politics bring the message of the Bible, found your politics upon the principle upon which the Republican party was founded. Do it unto one another as ye would have it done unto you."

"Now I want you to tell me the truth about your country. Tell us what is best for the people. Hawaiians and Anglo-Saxons are alike. If you want tariffs, harbor improvements, tell us freely, we are not agents or members of any clique, we want the truth."

Senator Thurston followed, his voice proving very husky. He said in part: "Gentlemen and fellow citizens. You see what the climate has done for my voice. I would find it difficult to speak had I the desire. I sincerely hope that the action of this convention will be such as to gain the support of the people of the islands and that your nominee will come to Congress charged with what you need.

"I think I never saw such an audience as I faced Saturday. The honor was a great one and much appreciated. I don't think there are any converts could be made in this convention today, so I do not think I could talk to any effect. I tender you my thanks and my best wishes for your success at the polls.

"I heartily uphold Senator Burton in his speech. I have never known any good to come out of politics not carried on with all honesty. Unless party and men have principles underlying the people's happiness and property our government might as well dissolve.

"Harmonious action of all the parts of the organization is essential. Personal desires must be sunk and wills submitted to the will of an honest majority. No good Republican can afford to leave a convention hall without loyalty to the candidate chosen by the majority. When your convention is nominated I think I know that you will go out from this convention, rallying round your party standard and your nominee.

"I hope again that when I get the returns from Hawaii it will be found that the people of these islands will have allied themselves with the great Republican party. I thank you gentlemen and reiterate my desire."

Judge Kaulukou called for a rising vote of thanks and approbation for the eloquence and teachings of the speakers. A standing vote was shown and three cheers for the senators immediately given by all in the convention hall.

A recess was then taken.

The platform committee, it is reported, will not be ready to report at 3 o'clock, when the convention meets again. The committee met at 2 o'clock, and began discussion of planks to be put in the platform.

THE GALLANT PURSER

ADMIRAL BECKLEY THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

He Will Accept Nomination if Given Him—Speech on Board of the Claudine—Beckley Speaks of His Career.

Admiral George Beckley is again out for the delegateship, encouraged this time by the urging of party leaders and the present delegate himself, who was so convinced of the pull of the admiral of the Island fleet that he will make an attempt to dispute the supremacy if the gallant purser enters the field.

It happened on the trip of the Claudine bearing the Parker hunting party back from their trip. W. H. Cornwell is said to have been the first to broach the subject to the admiral. This was done after due consultation and with much tact, as befitted the occasion.

Admiral Beckley, with admirable caution, insisted on interviewing some other prominent politicians before he replied to Colonel Cornwell's approach. The latter retired to consult with Samuel Parker and they in turn broke the news to Wilcox of his possible competitor.

On approaching Samuel Parker, Beckley was strongly advised to go ahead and win, an outcome concerning which there could be no doubt with his popularity, his bonhomie and the fact that he had already been prominently mentioned for the position. Beckley admitted that he would like to go to Washington but spoke of the expenses of the campaign which would be more than he would like to shoulder without some certainty as to the issue. George Davis is said to have added his eloquence to that of Messrs. Parker and Cornwell, and finally the admiral was advised to speak to Wilcox concerning his chances, which he did.

The present delegate received the admiral with a smile and spoke candidly to him, stating that he thought so much of Beckley's chances that if the latter won he would break up the Home Rule party and retire from the field himself. Thus encouraged by three prominent members of the Republican, Democratic and Home Rule parties, Beckley could no longer resist and promised to take the nomination when offered to him.

Champagne was opened by the admiral in his usual regal fashion and the delegate-elect was toasted not once, but many times, replying in his usual happy manner with all the wealth of detail at his command. He touched on the past history of himself and Hawaii and referred modestly to the future and to prospects.

When the Claudine arrived at Honolulu the admiral was reticently modest. He murmured hints of something in the air, but was apparently awaiting the result of convention. The news had leaked out, however, being too good to keep, and congratulations have been showered on the admiral. It is not known who will nominate him today or tomorrow. Between his popularity, his position in the community, his oratory and his trusted amukua, it is thought that the admiral's chances for the delegateship are as sure as his nomination.

FIRST CAMPAIGN GUN

SENATOR THURSTON DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Strong Speech By Able Man—Advantages of the Republican Party—Delegate Should Be a Republican.

"The United States government ought not to have taken away the revenues of your ports without giving you something adequate in return. It should not have depleted your revenues unless it gave you something of equal value from which you could derive revenue to carry on your local affairs. I think it is only necessary to have that question brought to Congress and the proper appeal made through the proper representative to have this matter straightened out, and this imposition will cease." In the above language ex-Senator John M. Thurston, during his address at the Orpheum on Saturday night, held out hopes of an amendment of the Organic Act whereby Hawaii will no longer lose the millions of dollars taken out of the islands in customs revenue since annexation. "Whatever Congress has done inadvertently," said Thurston, "will be righted as soon as it is brought to the attention and sense of justice of Congress." He stated that the Organic Act of Hawaii had been passed during the crisis of a war with Spain, and that it naturally contained some imperfections.

In an eloquent address of an hour and a half Senator Thurston emphasized over and over again the fact that the United States government is one controlled by parties and impressed upon his audience the need of sending a delegate to Washington who can work with Republicans or Democrats, in committee and in Congress, in order that Hawaii's needs might have the proper hearing.

The speaker was introduced by Loren Andrews, president of the Young Men's Republican Club. He began by referring to the past that Hawaii was now a part of the Great Republic. "You have come under its flag, and it is a change in your political history," he said. "Many of you, perhaps, came under it more or less unwillingly; but you have submitted to the inevitable destiny of this twentieth century. For it is inevitable to the progress of the great nations of the world, that the weaker peoples, who in the rush and strife may not be able to protect and care for themselves, must come under the protection and guidance of some one of the great nations. I say to you that you will live to acknowledge that I am right in declaring that it was well for you that one of the great, progressive, liberty-loving nations of the world brought you in, and gave you a place in the destinies of the American people."

"In coming to the United States for action in your behalf you must not forget what I have already said, that progress in a nation is through political parties. To achieve something in the United States in the way of your material advancement, you cannot expect to receive a proper hearing or to secure adequate legislation unless your needs and necessities and demands are brought to the attention of one of the two great political parties of the United States."

"In the United States there are but two great political parties. Either one or the other of these parties for three-quarters of a century has held the destinies of the United States in its grasp. What has been accomplished has been through the instrumentality of these great parties."

"You might as well send a frog to chipper at the doors of the Court of St. James for what you want as to send to Washington a delegate who is not one of or in harmony with either of the two great political parties. This is not a political theory—it is a political fact."

"The United States in expanding is being brought into contact with other races, and there is the utmost danger that in some of our new possessions race prejudices may arise. Nothing could be so unfortunate for the destiny of a people such as are in these islands as to have the least possibility of danger or argument of any kind, or prejudice among our common citizenship. If race prejudice should arise, if those natives into the manor born should see fit to raise the question among themselves and those who are citizens by adoption, evil results must be born. The Republican party has settled that great question."

"There is not an honorable wish of the people of these islands, there is not an aspiration of an honorable kind, that you can possibly form, there is not an act of justice that you can reasonably ask, that the American people, in and out of Congress, are not willing to advocate for you."

"Today you are most important to the United States, because you are the outpost of our Pacific sea commerce. You are most valuable to us, because you stand here, as I might say, the gateway to the Orient. I don't believe you fully understand it. I don't believe that we on the mainland yet know how important a feature in the increasing and expanding commerce will become the islands of Hawaii and the city of Honolulu."

"There is one thought to be borne in mind. We cannot make these islands as important as we would; we cannot do for you all that your conditions may require, without your energetic co-operation and assistance; and do you know, my fellow citizens, the legislation in the Congress of the United States comes only in one way? The

THE POLO PLAYERS

The second game of the preliminary season was played on Saturday afternoon resulting in a victory for the Blues, the goals being 10-3.

The match was a much more even affair than appears from the score, very good polo being played in spots during the second half of the game. Judd played with Irvine, McAdory and Erdmann on his side, H. F. Damon changing to the Blues for the afternoon. He leaves for college shortly and this was his last game. He played in much better form than on the Saturday before. Judd played first class polo throughout the match but had little support. Erdmann played an aggressive game if somewhat erratic. Irvine turned up missing at the critical moments and McAdory who scored one goal with a near side stroke that was brilliantly above his usual form, did nothing else of moment. S. E. Damon captain of the Blues had his men working in good shape and a characteristic of their play was the way in which they stuck to their men. Young Harold Castle played very well indeed and H. F. Damon was in his old Moanahua form. H. A. Baldwin of Maui played for a while and showed his complete intimacy with the stick. Prince Cupid came on later and despite some wayward ponies, played a very handy game of polo. He is a formidable opponent when he is on his feet. His mounts were new to the game and were slow on the start spoiling Judd's right of way more than once, as the latter rider had to fall off rather than chance an impact with the heavy weight of Cupid and his pony. As the game was a practice one and the occasion more the fault of a new pony than the intention of the rider, no fouls were declared. Cupid will make one of the best players of the league. He is fast with the stick and sure though somewhat disposed to individualize his game. S. E. Damon played his usually good game. Attention of the league is likely to be devoted for the few weeks entirely towards shaping up for the Maui team which arrives in November. A meeting of the Mokuawao club was held on September 23 at which L. von Tempisky, D. A. Lindsay and D. V. Fleming were chosen a committee to select a Maui team. A special effort will also be made to get the Kapiolani ground in shape for that match. There are still a good many had spots in which a ball will be dead and a player driving fast up the field, lose it. The dust is very free also.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says E. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford Co., Pa., U. S. A. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." ## THE VOLCANO IS STILL BURNING

HILO, August 29.—The volcano at Kilauea is in the most violent state of eruption that has occurred since 1892. An earthquake shook Hilo last Monday night and within a few minutes thereafter a telephone message from Manager Waldron at the Volcano House, thirty miles away, stated that the pit of Halemauau was reflecting a light plainly visible on the clouds. The message also stated that Waldron would go at once to the crater's edge three miles away and see what had happened.

Tuesday morning Waldron was able to report that he had looked into the pit and seen a boiling, tempest-tossed lake of molten lava, 400 feet in diameter and probably 800 to 1000 feet below the rim of the great cauldron. The face of the lake of liquid fire would alternately be black and white like the gushing fluid that leaps from the furnaces of a steel plant. The oxidation and cooling of the fiery fluid would blacken the surface with a pall that would clothe the vast inverted cathedral in darkest gloom. A quiver caused by further subterranean upheavals would break this oxide into a fretwork of a thousand incandescent cracks, lighting up the smoke-charged pit with a fierce glare.

Here and there over the surface of the lake, columns of white hot lava would shoot upwards like the harmless fountains in the public gardens. The great forbidding walls of the "House of Everlasting Fire" would shimmer a while in amazement with this unaccustomed light, and as the geysers of fire would die away, and the surface again turn black, the whole pit once more would be hidden in darkness and smoke.

All day Tuesday the same conditions prevailed. Tuesday night the light on the clouds. The same conditions from the red hot furnace was reflected held through Wednesday, and Thursday Mr. Waldron reported the volcano as "simply magnificent." Wednesday night people living near Hilo could see the vivid reflection on the clouds.

The present upheaval of lava seems to be from the very bottom of the crater and not from a wound in the side as appeared in June. The liquid lava is troubled and convulsed as from powerful activity of forces below.—Hilo Tribune.

LEGISLATION FOR ISLAND OF GUAM

WASHINGTON, August 22.—The Navy Department will recommend that Congress enact some legislation which will clear up the anomalous situation which exists on the island of Guam. The administration of justice is one of the things which call most urgently for action. It is possible that a way out of the difficulty might be found by extending over the island the provisions of the act which extends the Federal Statutes over the guano islands and gives the United States Court into whose jurisdiction an offender from those islands is first brought, jurisdiction of his case. If the provisions of the statute were extended to Guam, petty offenses could be tried there in the existing court, and graver crimes, including those for which capital punishment is prescribed, could be tried in any United States Court into the jurisdiction of which an offender was brought.

Legislative action is also urged to insure the stability of the tariff laws now in force on the island. The tariff was created by an executive order of President McKinley and according to the decision on insular cases is unconstitutional. The receipts from customs duties have made the island self-supporting, but unless legislation is enacted by Congress a test case could be brought in a United States Court which would nullify the present tariff and thus destroy the revenues of the island.

NO JURISDICTION.

Effinger's Protest Over Customs Duties Dismissed.

The Board of General Appraisers has dismissed the protest of John Effinger against the imposition of duties on goods from Tutuila for lack of jurisdiction. The U. S. Attorney General has held that goods coming to United States territory from Tutuila after that island was annexed to the United States are not subject to duty. Mr. Effinger imported some curios from Tutuila and was charged duty by the local custom authorities.

The Board of General Appraisers takes the ground that in view of the ruling by the Attorney General it has no authority or jurisdiction over such protests.

This action of the Board does not put an end to the matter, however, for it will be brought to the attention of the Treasury Department by the local customs authorities and the duties will, no doubt, be remitted.

COLUMBIA NOT WINNER.

The official time keeper of the Hawaiian Yacht Club contradicts the statement in the morning paper that the Columbia had made such a fine showing at the Pearl Lochs regatta, winning the third class trophy. The Columbia won one heat of the Roth trophy but after her first victory has never won anything. She has shown considerable speed as a drifter before the wind, but has made such a poor start to the start with a parted stay soon after the beginning of the race. Since then, the Walker Brothers have altered her sail area and rig but she has been unfortunate in breaking things, and has proved very liable to upset in any wind. The regatta was won by the Princess with the Pirates and Myrtle lighting for second. The last race was won by the Malihini and Wikikiki with the Princess third. The race previous to the regatta was won by the Princess with the Myrtle second, the race before that also by the Princess.

ACCIDENT TO SIR THOMAS.

LONDON, August 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton was in an automobile accident while coming to town today from his country house. His twelve-horsepower car, which he was driving himself, skidded on the street car rails at Woodgreen and crashed into the iron railing bordering the road. The car was wrecked and the railing was smashed for a considerable distance, but Sir Thomas escaped with shock and a few bruises.

OIL WAS TOO HEAVY.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 21.—The slow trip of the steamer Nevada from Honolulu, occupying ten days, is attributed to the failure of the burners to operate properly with the crude oil of this coast. The oil-burning plant installed in the new steamer was designed in the East where the fuel oil is more volatile and better suited to the Nevada's style of burners than the heavier oil produced in this State. The oil consequently would not vaporize, and as a result of being fed to the fire in a stream produced heavy smoke. A change in the style of burners will remedy the difficulty. No trouble was caused by the use of low-pressure air in the operation of the oil-burning plant.

CHOOSER AMERICAN ADVISER.

PEKING, August 18.—Yuan Shi Kai, Viceroy of Chi-li province, has engaged Charles Denby Jr., who was secretary of the Provisional Government and who is the son of the former United States Minister to China, to be chief foreign adviser.

DO NOT MAKE CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, August 19.—The Japanese Minister, Mr. Takahira said today, when asked as to the attitude of the Japanese Government in regard to the Midway Islands and Wake Island, which were claimed to have been written lately, that the Japanese had no intention to claim sovereignty over the islands.

SATURDAY'S BASEBALL.

Kamehamehas Win From Malles In Good Game.

The Kamehamehas neatly wiped the eye of the Malles team on Saturday afternoon with a score of three to two much to the regret of the gallery greens in general and Captain Kiley in particular. The latter indeed became temporarily estranged from his managers and his friends in his wrath at the interpolated remarks of the patrons of the game.

Little Lemon was the hero of the occasion and for the second time this season received an ovation. He struck out fourteen men. The Malles drew first blood with two in the fourth and the Kams did not find their footing until the sixth when Lemon broke the ice and led the way home, an example emulated by two more of his side. Steere umpired with general satisfaction.

The game between the H. A. C's and the Smugglers was a spiritless exhibition. Joy pitched without effort and none was needed. The Smugglers were allowed to get three runs to offset the fifteen of the H. A. C's. Cunha split his finger and Joy failed to bat in due order. Lorrin Andrews thereupon splashed into the game and declared him out.

HIT OUT OF DANGER.

CHICAGO, August 19.—Congressman R. R. Hitt, who was taken seriously ill in this city last night, is today pronounced out of danger.

HERRING IN MORE TROUBLE. C. A. Herring was arrested yesterday by Deputy High Sheriff Chillingworth to answer to a charge of carrying a deadly weapon. The Honolulu Plantation people had a two-story house erected on Ewa land from which Herring was ejected some weeks ago. A Porto Rican was left in charge. Herring went on the land Sunday and fired a revolver three times. It is charged that the Porto Rican declared that the herring was shot dangerously near him. Herring claimed that the revolver had been fired simply to frighten the Porto Rican away from the place. It certainly served its purpose.

frying pans to cook them in, barrels of rock salt, sheets of iron, currants, raisins, Epsom salts, black pepper and other articles, more or less damaged by water aboard the bark Gerda, from Bremerhaven, was offered at auction in the old Union Feed Company's warehouses on Queen street on Saturday. Schnapps, gin and rum, which were also aboard were sold at Hackfeld and Company under their license. There were a good many interested purchasers at the sale, the City Mill Company, by Pang Chong, securing a lot of the galvanized goods at small figures, averaging two cents a pound for roofing and Hackfeld and Company bidding in the larger balance. The Pacific Hardware was represented among the bidders as was May and Company and commission firms.

FULLERTON IS UNIQUE VESSEL

SAN FRANCISCO, August 19.—The new barkentine Fullerton sailed yesterday for Hawaii with a cargo of fuel oil completely filling the space below her main deck. She is the first tank sailing vessel seen in the port of San Francisco and she represents a new industry on the Pacific. The vessel cleared for Kahului.

In shipping circles especially the Fullerton excited unusual interest and comment as she sailed out of the harbor with her load of liquid fuel for steamers and steam engines in the Hawaiian Islands. As constructed she can carry nothing but petroleum, and it was for that trade exclusively that she was built at Alameda point for the Union Oil Company of California. She was constructed on the plans of Captain Metcalfe of Lloyd's Agency in this city. As a wooden tank vessel she stands alone on the seas, for all other vessels engaged in the oil business are of steel. In still another feature the Fullerton is unique among ships, being the strongest and most powerfully built vessel afloat. To withstand the strain of a liquid cargo rolling in her hull under stress of waves and wind she has 1,500,000 feet of lumber in her and 250 tons of iron fastenings. This quantity of wood and iron is said to be double the amount used in any vessel of her dimensions.

ALBERT FOR LAYSAN ISLAND. With good luck in their favor H. H. Heckfeld & Company have to send the bark Albert to Laysan Island for one trip before the heavy seas of winter storms set in. The bark arrived at San Francisco from Honolulu August 18. She was to have been dispatched by the end of the month. This will bring her into this port about September 14 provided she catches good winds. She will be given a quick discharge and be ready to sail September 18. She will get to Laysan Island about September 22 and sail on her return trip about September 26, so that she will be here about the middle of October.

HAWAIIAN SAILS WEDNESDAY. The S. S. Hawaiian, Captain Nichols, will sail Wednesday evening for Kahului to discharge the rest of her cargo and load sugar for Delaware Breakwater. She will not go to Hilo this trip.

DIRECT MAIL TO HILO. In future whenever the mail can be gotten to Hilo from San Francisco in quicker time by the S. S. Enterprise than by sending the mail first to Honolulu, the postal authorities will send the mail by the Enterprise. This order was recently made by the postal authorities on the Coast.
