A BEAUTIFUL INCIDENT.

A young man who had been on a three days, debauch wandered into the reading-room of a hotel where he was well known, sat down and stared moodily into the street. Presently a little girl of about 10 years came in and looked timidly about the room. She was dressed in rags, but had a sweet, intelligent face that could scarcely fail to excite sympathy. There were five persons in the room, and she went to each begging. One gentleman gave her a five-cent piece, and she went to the gentleman spoken of and asked him for a penny, adding: "I haven't had anything to eat for a whole day." The gentleman was out of humor, and he said crossly: "Don't bother me; I haven't had anything to eat in three days." The child opened her eyes in sheer wonder and stared at him for a moment, and then walked slowly toward the door. She turned the knob, and then, after hesitating a few seconds, walked up to him, and, gently laying the five cents on his knee, said, with a tone of true girlish pity in her voice: "If you haven't had anything to eat for three days you take this and go and buy you some bread. Perhaps I can get some more somewhere." The young man blushed to the roots of his hair, lifting the child in his arms, kissed her two or three times in delight. Then he took her to the persons in the room and those in the corridor and office, asking contributions himself, giving all the money he had with him. He succeeded in raising over $40, and sent the little one on her way rejoicing.

CARVING IN AND OUT OF A CYCLONE.

A gentleman has been vaunting his great, his unparalleled skill as a carver.

"I remember once," he says, "when I was in the East Indies, I carved a duck—and a duck isn't an easy thing to carve, let me tell you—I carved a duck on ship-board during a cyclone that blew so hard, by Jove, that the people at dinner had to eat lying flat on the floor and holding on to the legs of the stationary table. That's the sort of a carver I am."

Impressed by this story, his host, the next time this expert carver was dining out, asks him to carve the fowl.

The expert carver applies himself to the task with vigor, but with a deplorable lack of success. His face grows red as any beet, and great beads of perspiration stand out upon his forehead.

"And yet there is no cyclone blowing!" remarks one of the diners, solemnly.

"By Jove, that's it!" exclaimed the carver; I never could carve when it was calm. It takes a cyclone to evoke the resources of my nature. That's the sort of a carver I am!"

Berlioz, the composer, when he was in love, said to the adored one: "Ariel, I adore you, I bless you—in a word, I love you more than the weak French tongue can say. Give me an orchestra of one hundred performers, and a chorus of one hundred and fifty voices, and I will tell you."

THE EVILS OF PAINTING

THIS DAY'S DOINGS.

OUR STREETS.

The roads of Honolulu seem to attract no attention from members of the Government. It is possible that they notice them, but they do not show it by taking any sensible action in the matter. Some months ago we were promised a road-scraper from California, and one was stated by the Minister to have been ordered. So far no sign of it has been seen.

In the meanwhile nothing of a temporary nature is being done, and the streets get dirtier and dirtier every day. We are told by the Road Supervisor that it is not worth while doing anything temporarily except filling up dangerous holes, until the streets can be made permanently.

This is very true, but a little greater expedition in making the streets permanently, would considerably lessen the just complaints which are so rife just now. Just think of the wear and tear to vehicles and the loss of time to freight and passengers which the present bad state of the roads causes. A calculation has been made that it takes something like $30,000 a year to keep the public vehicles of the town in repair. All this comes out of the pockets of the people, and at least half of it could be saved if the roads were good.

The loss to the community in both time and money which these badly conditioned roads causes is enormous, and if it could be exactly assessed would probably reach $300,000 a year. Now, if one-third of this sum were spent in keeping the streets of the town in good condition, just imagine what splendid streets we should have.

The Ministry take great credit to themselves that they don't permit transfers, but they have another duty besides preventing the misappropriation of money—they have to spend their income to the greatest advantage for the public.

VINDICATION.

We learn from Wednesday's Gazette that C. D. Hineckley who attempted to recover damages from Drs. Fitch and Rodgers for alleged improper treatment of a fractured thigh bone, has been operated upon in San Francisco and it has been found that the bone was prevented from uniting by a piece of muscle which had got between the fractured ends. It was proved by expert testimony on the trial, that this accident was one which was liable to occur and also that it was a condition for which the attending physicians were in no way responsible and which it was moreover impossible for them to discover at the time. We congratulate Drs. Fitch and Rodgers upon this vindication of their professional skill, and regret that they should have been put to great trouble and expense in a matter where it now appears they were not to blame.

LOCAL & GENERAL ITEMS.

QUERY: how much more was paid for putting up the new Palace wall than it was offered to be done for?

WHAT we want in this country is not new laws, but the more stringent enforcement of those already enacted.

THE Race programmes for the Coronation races, to take place at Kapiolani Park to-morrow, can now be had at J. W. Robertson & Co.'s.

ON Wednesday night the State dinner in Honor of the Coronation was held at the Palace. The Ministry, Supreme Court Judges, Nobles, Diplomatic Corps and a few officials were present.

THE stern wheel steamer, "Road Supervisor," will be launched at 12 m. on Friday, the 16th inst. The public are hereby notified that this steamer will ply between Wilder's building and the Honolulu Planing Mills, and will carry freight and passengers at greatly reduced rates.

THE public were rather misled by the wording of the advertisement that appeared regarding the postponement of the illumination. The three guns which are to be fired are not to notify the postponement but to notify the evening when it will take place.

ONE of the passengers by the C. T. Hook as will be seen in our Police Court report is in jail. Another a woman so the Captain informed us, was reported to him to have been sold for $500 and over. If this is true it is a nice state of things to have occurred in a country pretending to be civilized.

THE Streets around the Palace were crowded on Wednesday night by those who were anxious to see the illuminations. After a while about 8 o'clock it began to be whispered about that there was to be no illumination that night. A number went home but the great majority stayed behind to witness some amateur hula performances in the streets. Noticeable among these were two boys under 11 in appearance. By and bye a policeman came along and told them to stop and go home. He was promptly obeyed but about a hundred lingered, and after he had gone away, started in again.

THERE has been so much rain that the greater part of Kaumana street is flooded. Yesterday about half a dozen little boys might have been seen paddling about, in the pond thus formed, on boards and using other boards as oars. This is what we will all have to come to if some means are not taken of draining storm water from the streets.

SOME Chinese merchants had ordered quantities of liquor from China before the passing of the new liquor law. As they had ordered it in ignorance of the law before it was passed they were helped out of their difficulty by others who had importing licenses. Still, however, these same Chinese merchants, since the passage of the law, have ordered more liquor, and now they have again evaded the penalties by getting others to pass their entries.

THE conduct of the Minister of Finance has been many times degrading to the high office which he holds. Especially was this the case at the luncheon after the unveiling of the statue. His fellow Ministers at last became sensible of the odium which he was bringing on them and remonstrated in such a manner that we believe we are correct in stating that his resignation or dismissal will shortly be officially announced. If this indeed be true, the Ministry are to be congratulated on having taken a manly and independent stand at last.

THE delegates from the different districts who were appointed to attend the Coronation were rather shabbily treated. They expected to be presented to His Majesty immediately after the ceremony, but were not. They were told by the official whose business it was to come next morning at 9. They came and were told to come again in the afternoon. They came again and were told to come at 1 o'clock next day. This was the day of the unveiling of the Kamehameha Statue, and of course they were not presented. They then held an indignation meeting and sharply criticized that officials action who led them such a dance. That is the story as we have heard it.

TEACHERS AND TEACHING.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Please allow me a little space in your paper to express my pleasure and satisfaction with a sentence in the Anglican Church Chronicle. The sentence to which I refer is in the "Reading Lesson," and runs thus,—"The progress of the children depends quite as much on the disposition of the teacher as upon the methods used." This is undoubtedly true, although too often ignored in considering the essential qualifications of teachers. I believe as much in teachers being qualified for their profession by regular and thorough training as in doctors, lawyers and clergymen being prepared for their respective professions by special instruction and training in the various branches of their particular lines; but I also believe that training only will not make a successful teacher. A knowledge of methods and measures does not make a man kind and sympathetic and patient and firm and enthusiastic, and these qualities are essential to the success of any and every teacher. In other words, a teacher who lacks the "disposition" which secures the affection and confidence of his pupils will never achieve great success in teaching. PATER.

COLONIAL NEWS. NEW SOUTH WALES.

When Parliament assembled after the elections, Sir Henry Parkes announced that at the close of the proceedings of that day he would, on behalf of himself and his colleagues, tender their resignations to his Excellency the Governor. This he did, and Mr. Alexander Stuart was entrusted with the task of forming an Administration. On the next day but one Mr. Stuart was able to inform the Governor that he had succeeded in forming a Government.

The lighting of the Circular Quay by the Brush arc electric light was very successfully inaugurated on January 1. At 8 o'clock the connection was made and the engine started, and in few moments all the lamps, from Fort Macquarie to the Mariners' Church, were in full swing, and sending forth such floods of light as never been seen in the vicinity after daylight before.

Disputes about the boundaries of South Australia with Queensland and Victoria are in process of adjustment.

NEW ZEALAND

Sir William Francis Drummond Jervois, the new Governor of New Zealand, received a cordial reception on his landing at Wellington on the 20th of January.

The "native difficulty" is slowly working towards a solution which will be the best for both races.

Mr. Archibald Douglas, a settler near Auckland, asserts that he has discovered diamonds in a locality at present not made known, but within, it is stated, 100 miles of Auckland. Mr. Douglas brought the crystals into Auckland, and submitted them to Mr. Courtney, a returned diamond miner from South Africa. Mr. Courtney reported that the greater number of the stones were white carbon in the process of formation into diamonds, but that some of the stones submitted were undoubtedly diamonds. Mr. Douglas stated his willingness to be one of the party to prospect the land, which is private property. The diamonds, it is stated, were found near an old volcano. No doubt the land will be prospected shortly when it will be definitely ascertained whether diamonds exist there or not.
