Los Angeles Party Arrives At Hilo Today

Los Angelites To See In Crater Fiery Lava Fountains

(Special Wireless to Bulletin)

HILO, March 11.—The Ohio was met by the reception committee representing the Hilo Board of Trade, and arrangements were immediately made for excursions about Hilo. The party will leave for Honolulu on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The volcano is continuously active. Everything promises that the visitors will leave Hilo and Hawaii under most favorable conditions. In the floor of the pit a large area is covered with a mass of glowing lava and fountains are playing at regular intervals. The members of the reception committee were as follows: C. C. Kennedy, chairman; John T. Moir, John T. Baker, John Scott and several ladies. FARRINGTON.

Sail From Hilo Thursday

HILO, March 11.—Arrived safely. Two hundred and fifty aboard. Leave Thursday. WIGGINS.

The above wireless message from Secretary Wiggins of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce was received by the Promotion Committee this afternoon. As the party had been expected to arrive at Honolulu Wednesday, and according to this message, will not be able to arrive before Friday, the plans for their entertainment will have to be altered. It had been planned to have the excursionists see Honolulu from Rapid Transit cars, including a visit to the aquarium, and to have a reception with a band concert at the Hawaiian HILO, Hawaii March 11.—The steamer Ohio arrived here at 8:30 o'clock this morning. She experienced fine weather and a pleasant voyage. The members of the entire party are, with a few exceptions, going to see the volcano. About eighty of them will start this afternoon. The remainder will go in two separate parties, as there are not sufficient accommodations at the volcano house for all at once.

The luau which the Hilo citizens are to give the visitors will probably take place on Wednesday. The time of departure of the Ohio for Honolulu has not been settled upon yet. The weather here is splendid and the volcano is quite active. The fire is less than 350 feet from the rim of the pit.

MAY TAKE SUGAR

The Ohio, now in Hilo with the Chamber of Commerce excursion from Los Angeles, may take a load of sugar to the coast when she returns. Nothing definite has been settled but efforts are being made to see whether she will be able to carry sugar. When asked what was being done in this connection, E. E. Paxton of Alexander & Baldwin made the following statement: "There has been nothing done yet but we hope to be able to make satisfactory arrangements. I do not know how much sugar the Ohio can carry and at present am in the dark as to what may be done."

Roy Dwyer, 5 years old, son of Dr. William Dwyer, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who has been unable since birth to talk, was frightened into the porch of his tongue at the Wayne Hotel recently. The boy touched his finger on the bulb of an electric light and was scorched. The boy thereupon exclaimed, "Papa, I burned my finger on the light."

RECOMMEND TO KILL STANDARD OIL BILL

Senate Roasts Officials For Not Enforcing Law.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Forenoon Session. Cooch introduced a petition from Molokai asking for an appropriation of $300 for repairs to the derrick and landing at Polekunu.

Dowsett reported for the Ways and Means Committee on Senate Bill 29, authorizing the erection of private warehouses for the storage of oils and other liquid explosives, as follows:

Standard Oil Bill. Your committee on Ways and Means, to which was referred Senate Bill No. 29, entitled "An Act to Authorize any person, firm or corporation to erect and other liquid explosives in his, their, or its own warehouse in Honolulu," begs to report as follows:

The object of the bill is clearly set forth in its title, and authorizes any person, firm or corporation to erect private warehouses for the storage of kerosene and other liquid explosives, outside of the fire limits of Honolulu, subject to certain conditions of construction and inspection.

Your committee has given this bill its most earnest consideration and has invited an expression of public opinion, both oral and written, upon the merits of the bill, but must admit having thus obtained little or no material to assist the members of this committee in arriving at their verdict.

PRESENT LAW BROKEN. Your committee is satisfied that the provisions of the present laws governing the storage and sale of kerosene and other liquid explosives have not been and are not now being complied with, and the attention of the proper authorities is called to this glaring evasion of the statutes, admittedly dangerous to life and property in this Territory. The purposes of the present laws for the storage of kerosene and other liquid explosives under Government supervision are in the interest of the public welfare, and in the opinion of your committee this should have first consideration.

The law now reads, however, that all kerosene oil and other liquid explosives must be stored in Government storerooms, and although a fee for such storage is now and has always been charged to the owner of the oil by the Government, your committee finds no statute authorizing such charge to be made.

Assuming such charge to be legal, and if not legal it should be made so in the opinion of your committee—proper storage facilities should also be afforded the importer of kerosene or liquid explosives, which is not now the case, and serious complaints have been made to your committee as regards the handling and custody of kerosene now stored in Government storerooms, not to speak of the poor and dangerous construction of the storerooms themselves.

WANT BILL KILLED. The revenue to the Territory from the storage of kerosene and other liquid explosives has been such that it is the opinion of your committee that if it is to remain with the Territory, proper and suitable fire-proof storerooms should be erected on Government land, and an appropriation for their erection should be made by the present Legislature. If, on the other hand it may be found expedient to adopt the recommendation of the Superintendent of Public Works in his report to the Governor, to turn over the testing and storage of kerosene oil and other liquid explosives to the counties, as being a matter of local concern, the same to be revenue producing, proper storage facilities as suggested should be then furnished by the Counties.

Other than an amendment to the present laws for the purpose of fixing and authorizing a statutory charge by the Government for the testing and storage of kerosene oil and other liquid explosives in Government storerooms, and that an appropriation be made for the construction of proper and suitable fire-proof storerooms on Government land, your committee feels that the best interests of the public will be served by allowing the present laws to

FALSE CABLEGRAM WORRIES JAPANESE.

Said Laborers Might Be Landed In San Francisco

SIXTEENTH DAY.

The local Japanese became greatly exercised yesterday and this morning over a report which was spread that there was no hindrance to their going to San Francisco. The rumor was caused by a cable message received by one of the local hotel keepers which stated that it was all right for Japanese laborers to come aboard and that they would not be stopped when they tried to enter the port of San Francisco.

This morning before the office of Irwin & Co. opened for business a large number of Japanese were waiting to book passage on the Alameda, due to sail a week from Wednesday. Some of them could speak no English but insisted in Japanese that they be booked whether the steamship company wished to or not.

Irwin & Co., in pursuance of the course laid out to them by the officials of the Oceanic Steamship Co., refused to book any of the applicants. Not satisfied by the refusal some of the Japanese would not go away and a number hung around on Fort street in front of Irwin & Co.'s office till nearly 10 o'clock.

One of the Japanese, who could talk very good English, said: "A Japanese hotel keeper received a message in response to one which he sent which has caused this crowd waiting here to secure passage. He asked for information in regard to the application which the immigration officers were making of the law and on Saturday night received a reply which stated that Japanese laborers would have no trouble in landing and for them to come ahead."

"We thought of course that there had been some new development which had come up and that we would now be sold tickets but now we find that the steamship companies had heard of nothing of the kind and will not give passage. Some mistake has been made. I do not know where."

"We Japanese in Hawaii consider that we are being very badly treated. Take my case for instance. I have been here for four years and have worked hard and saved money to start in a little business of my own on the Coast but I am still a laborer according to the immigration officials and cannot get a ticket to go to San Francisco. Of course we have appealed to our home government but what will be done we do not know."

ALAMEDA 24 HOURS LATE

The steamer Alameda will not reach here before next Saturday, according to advices received here by Irwin & Co., the Oceanic Steamship Co.'s local agents. The Alameda was a day late in reaching the Coast and it was impossible to get her freight on board in time to sail Saturday, so the sailing was put off till yesterday morning, when she left at 11 o'clock, 24 hours late. The time will be made up on this end and she will sail for the Coast on her regular time the following Wednesday morning.

HOUSE HOLDS 40 MINUTE SESSION

Concludes Its Work In Record-Breaking Time

SIXTEENTH DAY.

Forenoon Session. The session of the House lasted only forty minutes this morning, breaking the record for brevity. The Speaker's table was cleared of business in a rush, and none of the members seemed to have anything on his mind that he wanted to talk about. Only one bill was introduced, and one bill passed third reading, that exempting tobacco growers from having to pay the annual license fee for the sale of tobacco. Two bills passed second reading.

There was no oratory. Even the two or three irrepressible members who talk on any and all occasions, remained in their seats and showed no signs of having anything to say.

The Health and Police Committee, which last week visited the Kapiolani Girls' Home and the Kailahi receiving station, made a report highly commendatory of President Pinkham and what he has done to improve conditions, particularly at the latter place. PRaise FOR PINKHAM.

The Health and Police Committee reported that in accordance with Corcoran's resolution its members, together with a large majority of the members of the House, had visited the Kapiolani Girls' Home for non-leprosy children of leprosy parents.

With reference to the condition of the buildings there, the committee found them as clean and sanitary as conditions and circumstances would permit, but for lack of sufficient appropriation, the buildings are roughly built, unsightly in appearance and constructed with little or no provision for the comforts of the inmates. The chapel is also in a very dilapidated and unsafe condition, but the committee is informed by Mr. Pinkham that provision has already been made for the erection of new buildings and also of a new chapel in the item of $11,000, under Board of Health appropriation.

The committee recommends that this item be inserted in the Appropriation Bill.

In the treatment that is being accorded the children of the Home, the committee found every evidence of kind and considerate treatment and more particularly pleased to note the general happy and contented appearance of the inmates.

The committee also visited the Kailahi Receiving Station, which it found had been transformed from a rough and rude collection of shacks into an array of neat and handsome cottages, the walks curbed and laid out and the grounds prepared for graded lawns and flower beds. Comfortable quarters have been provided for those who wish to visit the inmates, and a glass partition runs the entire length of the room, separating visitors from suspects, thus preventing all likelihood of contamination, all calculated to alleviate the intense mental agony which must of necessity be experienced by those who are first brought face to face with their final doom.

The committee states that it would like to add a word of commendation of the able and efficient manner in which President Pinkham has effected

HOLDUP FOILED BY THICK SKULL

One of the boldest daylight robberies which has been attempted in Honolulu for years was foiled this morning through the thickness of the skull of the Japanese bartender in a saloon belonging to K. Odo and located at the corner of Nuuanu street and Beretania avenue. Two white men entered the saloon this morning and assaulted the bartender with clubs, striking him several times. The bartender still kept on fighting and calling for help and the two would-be-robbers ran away and were out of sight before the police arrived on the scene. The robbers failed to get any booty whatever.

ACT 5. AN ACT. TO ENCOURAGE DIVERSIFIED INDUSTRIES. Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii: SECTION 1. For five years from and after January 1, 1908, all property solely and actually used in the production of grapes for the manufacture of wine for commercial purposes shall be exempt from property taxes, but such exemption shall be allowed only to any person, firm or corporation in respect of land in actual vine cultivation, not exceeding twenty acres in the case of any one holding, or to the extent of twenty acres where any holding exceeds twenty acres. In order to secure such exemption the land in respect whereof such exemption is claimed, must be fenced and actually under cultivation prior to the first day of January of the year in which such exemption is claimed. SECTION 2. This Act shall take effect from and after the date of its approval. Approved this 11th day of March, A. D. 1907. G. R. CARTER, Governor of the Territory of Hawaii.

ACT 6. AN ACT. TO AMEND SECTION 27 OF THE REVISED LAWS OF HAWAII, RELATING TO ELECTIONS. Be it Enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii: SECTION 1. That Section 27 of the Revised Laws of Hawaii be amended so as to read as follows: "Section 27. Such proclamation shall be published in the Hawaiian and English languages in one or more newspapers and copies of so much of such election proclamation as relates to the respective districts shall be posted in not less than three public and frequented places in each precinct where such election is to be held." SECTION 2. This Act shall take effect from and after the date of its approval. Approved this 11th day of March, A. D. 1907. G. R. CARTER, Governor of the Territory of Hawaii.

PETITIONS PRESENTED. A petition signed by citizens and voters of Kamaekahi, Molokai, was presented, asking that the wharf and landing at that place be acquired by the government and made a public wharf and landing; that the government lands there be opened up to bona fide homesteaders; that the $25 poll, road and school taxes be repealed as to parents of five or more children, and that the tax on family vehicles in country districts be $3 on four-wheeled carriages and $1.50 on two-wheeled carriages. Referred to Public Lands Committee. A petition was presented from citizens of Molokai asking for the appropriation of $5000 for a wharf at Kaniwhi Landing, Halawa. Referred to Public Lands Committee. Another petition from Molokai asked for $5000 for breakwaters at Honouliuli and Honouliuli. SECOND READING. The Health and Police Committee reported on House Bill 112, relating to the removal of nuisances, recommending the passage of the act, with some amendments. The report was adopted, and the bill passed second reading. The same committee recommended the passage, with slight amendment, of Sheldon's House Bill 43, providing for the regulation of barber shops. Report adopted and bill passed second reading. The Land Committee, reporting on House Resolution 129, appropriating $10,000 for the purpose of opening up a road for the homestead at Kawela and the lands adjoining Kioloaka, Kau, Hawaii, stated that they find that roads have been laid out running makuu from the main government road, and

HELLOPOLIS IS DUE APRIL 25

Stackable Says Steamer Is Better Than Suveric

Although the Associated Press told about trouble with the Spanish emigrants at Malaga, who refused to sail on the Helopolis, the Board of Immigration has heard nothing whatever from Stackable about this phase of the matter. On the contrary a telegram he sent yesterday indicated that everything was successful. It read as follows: "Helopolis sailed, 2250 passengers. This shows that while there may have been some difficulty it did not prevent the ultimate success of the Helopolis shipment. A rough estimate would place the number of fall fares at about 1500. This is based on the Suveric figures, and may of course be wrong one way or the other. Under the Helopolis charter children under one year are carried free, children between one and eight years count as half fares, those between 8 and 15 as three-fourths fare, and persons above 15 as full fares. Secretary J. P. Cooke of the Board of Immigration stated this morning that Stackable had written that the Helopolis was a faster steamer than the Suveric, and that she ought to be able to make the voyage from Malaga to Honolulu in forty-five days. This would make her due here about April 25th. In one of his letters to the Board Stackable speaks of the Helopolis as follows: "I may add that the Helopolis is a better equipped steamer than the Suveric. Her piercings are better and will afford more light and ventilation, and the sanitary arrangements will be far superior and she has a better hospital and a refrigerator plant on board."

RECOMMEND TO KILL

(Continued from Page 1) remain in force, and it therefore recommends that the bill be laid upon the table. The report was tabled to be considered with the bill. A resolution was introduced by Brown to insert an item of $1000 to reimburse Pilot Fitzgerald of Hilo for the purchase of a gasoline launch. Referred to the Ways and Means Committee. Labor Pay Bill Passed. Senate Bill 27, making the pay of Government laborers $1.50 or more, passed third reading by a vote of 12 yeas and 3 noes, Hayselden, McCarthy and Bishop voting against it. House Bill 39, relating to reports by District and Circuit Judges, passed third reading by a unanimous vote. House Bill 40, authorizing railroad companies to operate with power other than steam, was referred to the Public Lands Committee. House Bill 97, relating to fees for banking licenses, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee. Senate Bill 53, relating to the proceeds from sales and rents of public lands, was referred to the Ways and Means Committee. House Bill 34, relating to the leper settlement, was referred to the Health Committee. Senate Bill 29, commonly known as the "Standard Oil Bill," which provided for the authorization of private warehouses for the storage of oils and other liquid explosives, was on motion by Chillingworth deferred until Wednesday at 2 p. m. Brown introduced a resolution asking for a $24,000 appropriation for sewers, etc., in Hilo. Referred to the Ways and Means Committee. Coelho moved to adjourn, stating that the Ways and Means Committee needed time to work on the appropriation bill. Carried. Charles H. Tolliver of Pleasanton, California, has completed an airship of monster proportions. Mr. Tolliver, who has been assisted by his wife in the building of the 225 foot airship, claims that he will shortly fly over San Francisco, and continuing on will complete a 200-mile trip before alighting. Six propellers, which project from the airship at different points, are expected to impart all the propelling force needed. The blades of the propellers are adjustable and reversible, and are driven by four engines located in the frame work below the great pongee silk cigar-shaped bag. The airship has cost $72,000 up to date. Mr. Tolliver claims that he will be able to rise and dip like a bird and can slowly and gently alight when desired. WAILUKUANS PRESENT TWINS AND WATCH

Wailuku, March 8.—Among the passengers for Honolulu last Wednesday afternoon per steamer Claudine were two of Central Maui's leading men who are going away to each fame in their respective vocations in life in new spheres. James Scott, late manager of Kihel Sugar Plantation, went with his family to Honolulu en route to Pohnope, whither he will go on the S. S. Cople six weeks hence. Mr. Scott is not only a capable sugar planter but he is also an experienced engineer, which qualifications greatly enhance his value in his chosen line, especially in a new country where the crutest methods in the manufacture of sugar are at present employed. Mr. Scott has a great hope for Pohnope for not only the climate is favorable, being on the same parallel of latitude with Hawaii, but also any quantity of land well adapted for the cultivation of cane.

The other gentleman who left Maui amidst the many regrets of his numerous friends was R. W. Filler, late Superintendent of the Kahului Railroad Company. It was he who during his incumbency of seven and a half years with the company, should receive the credit for the present high standing of the company for which he labored almost incessantly during these long years. Last Wednesday afternoon in front of the residence of Ferd Hous at Kahului, a large number of the employees of the Kahului Railroad Company gathered there to bid adieu to their former superintendent and friend, R. W. Filler, who was here but he was not apprised of the little pleasant surprise which his men had in store for him. Ferdinand Hous, one of the oldest employees of the company, advanced towards Mr. Filler and with a few well chosen words appropriate to the occasion, presented their departing chief with a handsome monogrammed gold watch, worth nearly $200. In making the presentation Mr. Hous referred to the exceptional relations which always existed between Mr. Filler and his subordinates, and in bidding him to accept the handsome present as a slight token of the high esteem with which Mr. Filler was always held by his men, Mr. Hous expressed the hope that wherever Mr. Filler labors in the future, whether under the bright sunny climes of Hawaii or under the frigid zones far away, that he will ever remember the boys at Kahului, and that the boys will ever cherish his memory and the many kind deeds which Mr. Filler had done for them which none but the great hereafter can reveal.

Mr. Filler in accepting the handsome gift was so filled with emotion that his tongue, which was ever ready to give the word of command for the encouragement of the best interests of his company, for once went back on him, and he stood there with the simplicity of a newborn babe and his eyes showed how deeply he appreciated the gift of the donors. When he came to himself again he thanked them all and wished that they would give his successor, J. N. S. Williams, the same hearty support and willing help which they had given him in the past.

Three hearty cheers for Mr. Filler were then given by the boys.

Wailuku, March 8.—The homes of Hon. Wm. Henning of Lahaina and Assessor W. T. Robinson and D. H. Davis, both of Wailuku, were brightened this week by the arrival of new heirs in each home. The Lahaina sage was by far the happier for last Monday, March 4th, his wife presented him with twins, a boy and a girl. On Tuesday afternoon a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Robinson, and on the following evening Mrs. D. H. Davis gave birth to a boy. These newborn babes are all doing well and the happy fathers are all looking forward to the day when these heirs will reach their majority and assume the responsible affairs of life side by side with their gray-haired daddies.

ARRESTS ARE MADE BY LIEUT. LUAIHWA

Sheriff Haukea will return from his trip around the island today and has made a thorough search of the various towns for illicit liquor selling and other violations of the law. The Sheriff was then accompanied by Lieut. Josepa Luaihua, who has done some very good work. Saturday evening he arrested a Japanese in Wailuku on a charge of selling liquor without a license and it is said that he has a strong case. Yesterday he arrested a couple of Japanese gamblers, and captured their outfit. It is said that the Wailuku police who accompanied him were so slow that they allowed all the other gamblers to get away.

COLLEGE CLUB MEETS

Saturday afternoon, some forty members of the College Club sat down to the quarterly lunch and business meeting at the Dillingham residence. Under the wide spreading branches of a monkey-pod tree a delicious chowder was discussed. The principal point of interest dealt with was the inaugurating of a definite crusade against tuberculosis.

The plans of the College Club are fully endorsed by the Board of Health.

BULLFROGS USED ON HAWAII AS COW MILKERS

A well-known rancher on Hawaii writes the following interesting story of a new industry but modestly disclaims all personal credit: Very little is known on the mainland of the wonderful strides that dairying has taken in Hawaii since annexation.

Some years ago what appeared as a disastrous setback has since proven a bonanza to many of the local dairies. The high price of labor generally was the main setback to small farmers, and had it not been for the accidental discovery of a substitute for the high-priced milkman the industry would certainly not be in the high position it occupies today.

At one of the Hawaii dairies the great mortality of calves from an apparent cause whatever led to an investigation. It was discovered that the calves were starved to death. The mothers were in good condition and gave a liberal supply of milk, yet the calves did not get it.

After weeks of careful watching, the cause was at last discovered accidentally. A cowboy noticed a cow lying down and, thinking something was wrong, he investigated. He found four bullfrogs sucking the milk. He immediately reported and to prove his discovery several cows in milk were taken to the pasture and allowed to roam about. Invariably as they laid down bullfrogs would appear and suck them dry. After this the cows were kept in the stable at night and carefully watched during the day.

The owner, however, was of an inventive turn of mind and thought that this discovery might be made use of. After sundry experiments, several frogs were captured. Four of them would milk an ordinary cow dry in about 1 1/2 minutes. They would let go and drop in a basket placed under the cow's udder. By holding them head down and opening the jaws the milk was poured into the can.

From this small beginning milking with bullfrogs has developed into a considerable industry and the saving in labor alone represents a large profit. One man with a gang of 16 to 20 bullfrogs will milk a string of 60 cows in 1 1/2 hours.

Great care should be taken in not overfeeding the milkers or they become lazy. And it is also very important to not give a frog to a cow of too great capacity in milk, or accidents might happen. The frog milker will, as a rule, not stop sucking until the milk is finished, so there is a reason to be careful. A good bullfrog milker is worth about $7.50 on the market and his term of usefulness is about six months, after which he gets lazy and bloated. He is then fattened for market and fetches $9.50.

The industry of raising frog milkers is rapidly assuming great proportions in certain districts, and unless the milkers' unions of the States interfere there is no doubt that the exportation will prove a valuable asset to farmers in Hawaii.

From a sanitary point of view too much cannot be said in favor of the use of frog milkers. On one dairy sore cows and dirty milk was the rule until the owner purchased a dozen of the milkers.

Any further information on this subject will be gladly given gratis by the Secretary of the Bullfrog Milkers' Association.

KUHIO WINS CASE IN THE SUPREME COURT

The Supreme Court this morning handed down a decision in the case of H. G. Middlebroth, trustee in bankruptcy of Charles H. Herrick Carriage Co. Ltd., vs. J. Kalahanole and Kaplan Estate, Ltd., partially confirming the judgment of the Circuit Judge, from which appeal was taken.

The suit was brought to enforce payment of a note for $518 given to the plaintiff corporation by the defendant. The Circuit Judge, when the case came up before him, held that equity was without jurisdiction and dismissed the bill. The decree appealed from is confirmed by the Supreme Court as to the dismissal of the bill with costs and reversed as to the allowance of counsel fees as damages under the injunction bond. The syllabus of the decision is as follows:

Creditor's bill; prerequisites, judgment at law, execution unsatisfied.—It seems that a judgment at law and return of execution unsatisfied should ordinarily be shown in order to sustain a creditor's bill under our statute as well as under the general rules of equity although not under the Massachusetts statute from which ours was taken, but, if not, it is necessary to show at least that the defendant has not property within the Territory liable to execution out of which the debt may be satisfied.

Damages; injunction bond, counsel fees.—Counsel fees unreasonably incurred to obtain a dissolution of an injunction should not be allowed as damages under the injunction bond.

RAILWAYS WILL INCREASE PRODUCTION

The following paragraph appears in a recently published letter of O. P. Austin, Chief of Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, to the Hawaii Promotion Committee: "A section able to produce such a variety of tropical articles as produced in the Hawaiian Islands, and having free access to a market demanding such enormous quantities of those various articles as does the market of the United States, ought to become not merely prosperous, as it already is, but one of the most prosperous and perhaps the most prosperous of all the tropical communities of the world."

B. F. Dillingham, when spoken to on the subject, is in thorough accord with the above, but is also of the opinion that such industries will not reach their zenith until more points are pierced by railroads.

Mr. Dillingham points out many places that have become productive only through the agency of the railroad. He claims there are many more such spots that will be made to bloom only by the advent of the steel rails.

MISS CASE WILL SING AT M'GREW RESIDENCE

Miss Adele Case will give her last recital tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. J. S. McGrew, corner of Luauolu and Hackfeld streets.

The McGrew residence is especially adapted for entertaining a large crowd and it is hoped that no one will miss this last chance to hear the rich contralto voice which Miss Case so well knows how to handle.

Miss Case will leave on Wednesday for Paris.

The admission to tomorrow evening's concert is $1.

There is a wild tribe in the Philippines known as the Ilongots, who have stubbornly refused for centuries to assimilate or in any way become attached to the Christian race or even their own kind throughout the islands. This tribe is within the jurisdiction of Paganas and according to a former governor's report there is one section north of Dagan inhabited by these people where no Christian has ever penetrated and where the sovereignty of Spain or the United States has never been acknowledged. It is possible that these infidel tribes will never be molested by the United States or any other government. The country is so wild that it is almost useless to send soldiers there and besides these strange beings have a faculty of minding their own business. Spain has lost many of its soldiers in attempts to conquer these tribes but they still hold their freedom.

Perfect Womanhood

The greatest menace to woman's permanent happiness in life is the suffering that comes from some derangement of the feminine organs.

Many thousands of women have realized this too late to save their health, barely in time to save their lives. To be a successful wife, to retain the love and admiration of her husband, should be a woman's constant study. If a woman finds that her energies are flagging, that she gets easily tired, dark shadows appear under her eyes, she has backache, headache, bearing-down sensations, nervousness, irregularities or the "blues," she should start at once to build up her system by a tonic with specific powers, such as the great woman's remedy for woman's ills, made only of roots and herbs. It cures Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and all Organic Diseases, and is invaluable in the Change of Life. It dissolves and Expels Tumors at an early stage. Subdues Faintness, Nervous Prostration, Exhaustion, and strengthens and tones the Stomach. Cures Headache, General Debility, Indigestion, and invigorates the whole female system. It is an excellent remedy for derangements of the Kidneys in either sex.

PRESERVING VALUABLE DOCUMENTS.

Hawaii is something like a man who looks his college sheepskin and his grandmother's photograph in a safe and places his insurance policy and other valuable papers in the bureau drawer.

The Territory has built a fine fire-proof building for its historical documents, and suffers its court records and the papers of the Bureau of Conveyances to remain in the old and dilapidated court house, where not even proper fire-proof vaults are provided for them.

The preservation of the archives is undoubtedly a very commendable thing, but if the Territory has found it wise to expend the funds for the preservation of these historical records, why should it treat the others in such a haphazard fashion? The contents of the Archives are undoubtedly valuable, but to the vast majority of the army of taxpayers they will probably ever remain a matter of no immediate concern.

Should a fire destroy the building these documents would be lost. Should the structure fall down, a contingency which anyone who is familiar with it, and who has seen its crumbling decay like a whitened sepulchre from time to time with flimsy patchwork to prevent the multitude of sins from being too apparent, will admit is not improbable, a large part of these records would undoubtedly be lost.

A minute's reflection will show to anyone that the damage suffered in such an event would be incalculable. Not only the Territory but nearly every one of its inhabitants would suffer a direct and very serious injury. No man would know how the title to his property stood, and a legal tangle of the most appalling magnitude would be unavoidable.

The Territory has taken pains to safeguard its historical records. Why should it not do so as well with those which are of greater value, at least from a practical standpoint?

Where money is none too plentiful the measure which would do the greatest amount of good to the greatest number would seem to be the preferable one. It is not now a matter of choice, the Archives building having been established. But just because of its action in this matter, if for no other reason, the Legislature should, to be consistent, devote a little attention to the neglected records which now lie exposed to possible accidents in the old and decaying courthouse.

INCOME TAXATION

President Roosevelt, in his recent message, made strong recommendation of a graduated Federal income tax law and an inheritance tax law. Both these laws have been many times proposed, but up to the present those whom they would specially affect have succeeded in staving off any effective action.

That it will be fought hard by the rich men of the country stands to reason. Imagine John D. Rockefeller, Andrew Carnegie, the Goulds, Astors and our many other multimillionaires having to go down in their pockets every year for a percentage of their income for the support of the Government. Most of them would probably drop dead of apoplexy. And it wouldn't be half so easy for them to escape as it is now for them to swear off their personal taxes.

The income tax idea is liable to receive another impetus by the action of France on the matter. A similar measure has been proposed in that country by Minister of Finance Caillaux, being introduced into the Chamber of Deputies as a government measure on February 7. It is a reform to which the Clemenceau ministry pledged itself on assuming office.

Such a system of taxation is a radical departure from the old methods. The French people thought they had solved the problem of taxation back in 1789, when the revolution overturned the power of the court and the nobles and to a great extent shifted the burden of taxation from the shoulders of the poor. But that was only a beginning, and for a hundred years there has been a gradual change going on.

But at the same time the rich have been getting richer, though so far as France is concerned, it cannot be said that the poor have been getting poorer. The poor are certainly infinitely better off now than they were in the time of Louis XIV. But still the burden of taxation has not been equably adjusted, and in that country, as in most others, the poor man pays more than his just proportion of the expenses of running the government.

Nevertheless, in France there is by often stops short off when the breadwinner dies. And unless there is a little life insurance to fall back on, the beloved wife and dear children become the poor widow and the helpless orphans. The husband who fails to insure his life when he is strong and well, commits an act of negligence from the results of which those he loves best in the world have to suffer after he is gone. The Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York issues protection policies to avert just such unhappy conditions. They don't cost much. Trent & Co. are the local agents, and will be pleased at any time to discuss the subject confidentially with any who may feel like providing for the future of their families.

no means so large a proportion of very rich, though there is a greater proportion of very poor, than in the United States. In this country are the greatest fortunes of the world, and many more of them than in any other country. All the more reason, it would seem, why the United States should follow the lead of France in the matter of tax revision.

The bill introduced into the French Chamber of Deputies provides that incomes of $1,000, or less per annum shall be exempt from taxation. Incomes above that maximum are taxed according to a sliding scale, increasing in proportion as the incomes increase. The minimum is one-fifth of one per cent. upon employment incomes, increasing to a maximum of three per cent. A distinction is made between employment incomes and commercial and property investment incomes, in favor of the first named. The maximum upon commercial incomes is placed at 3.1-2 per cent., and upon property investment incomes at 4 per cent.

This means that day laborers are practically exempt, and the richest will be obliged to pay not only the largest actual amount but the largest proportion of taxation. Heretofore "rentes," or government bonds, have been exempt from taxation. According to the new law proposed they will no longer be exempt, except in the case of those held abroad. The coupons themselves are exempt, but the revenue derived from them, when it exceeds the minimum, is taxable.

SUIT AGAINST THE DREDGER PACIFIC

The Lumber Trust case has for the present given place to the damage suit of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co. vs. the dredger Pacific in the Federal District Court. The latter case was taken this morning before Judge Dole and will probably take four or five days to finish.

The suit is the one brought by the Pacific Mail on account of the fouling of the propeller of the liner Siberia with a wire cable and anchor-chain belonging to the dredger. The accident occurred November 10, 1905, when the Siberia was steaming out of the harbor on her way to Yokohama. The Pacific Mail claims that it sustained damages amounting to $30,000, and is suing for such compensation as the court may allow.

On motion of McClanahan, Nathan Frank, senior counsel for the libellee, was admitted to practice before the court. He is a prominent attorney from the Coast.

United States Marshal Hendry has returned from Kauai, where he went to subpoena James Morse, the diver, who made the examination of the Siberia's propeller when it was fouled with the cable. The Marshal reports that there was much rain on Kauai, and that the bus in which he was riding got stalled in the mud. He and the rest of the passengers were there for an hour, when they were finally taken off two or three at a time in lighter rigs.

It cost in the neighborhood of $20 to serve the subpoena and the Government gets four-bits for it.

BARETE CASE FINALLY DECIDED BY DE BOLT

The case of Maria Barete vs. William Savidge, trustee, et al., which has been hanging fire in the courts for years, has finally been decided by Judge De Bolt, and the decree was filed this morning.

The matter was a petition for admeasurement of dower. The court orders and adjudges that the plaintiff is entitled to her right of dower in the half-interest of Agnes Soares, Francisca Guerrero and Amalia Barete in the premises in dispute; also in the interests of the same defendants, said interest being one-sixth interest in the land, the same to be set aside for herself, if such a division is practicable, and if it is not, then she is to get from the defendants mentioned above the sum of $1,250. J. P. Brown is appointed commissioner to determine whether or not the division is practicable.

LOCAL NOTICE TO MARINERS

Honolulu, T. H., 9 March, 1907. The following affects the list of lights, buoys and daymarks in the 12th light-house subdistrict, 1907. HAWAII.

Popeo Point Light-Station, page 9.—Located on Popeo Point, about 1/2 mile southerly of Ala Point and 4 miles northerly of Hilo Bay, on the easterly shore of the Island of Hawaii.

On March 1 the wooden trestle tower, 36 feet high, at this station, was removed, and the lens-lantern was established 124 feet above the water, and 61 feet above the ground, on a white mast having at its base a single white house with red roof and lead-colored trimmings.

The location and the characteristic of the light remain unchanged. By order of the Light-House Board, J. F. CARTER, Lieutenant-Commander, U. S. N., Assistant to the Inspector of the 12th Light-House District.

During a panic in the auditorium Opera House in Chicago recently, which was caused by a lot of smoke coming in through the stage ventilators from the kitchen of the Auditorium hotel, made Miss Alice Neilson, the American prima donna, a heroine. At the cry of "fire" fully 2000 dissolved into a panic. The steel curtain was dropped but Miss Neilson ran out in front of the drop and began singing the "Star Spangled Banner." For a moment the cries of the frightened, fighting noise drowned her voice, but making a trumpet of her hands, she got the orchestra started on the familiar tune. In a moment the crowd hesitated, then returned to their seats.

If the Government investigation of the Cotton Exchange throws any light on speculation the committee will receive some warm commendatory resolutions from the speculators.

HAVE APPEARED IN MANY CIVIL CASES

The report submitted to the Legislature last week concerning the work done by the Attorney General's Department was so worded as to give a very erroneous idea as to what the members of that department are really doing. The cases enumerated in the report, which were extremely few in number, were the civil cases in which members of the department have appeared during the past two years in their private capacity, but there was nothing in the report to indicate that. As a consequence the Attorney General and his deputies have been the victims of many inquiries as to what they do with their time.

As a matter of fact, the department is doing plenty of work. During the period from July 1, 1905, to December 31, 1906, the Attorney General and his deputies appeared for the Territory in 242 civil cases. They appeared before the Supreme Court in 89 cases and personally wrote and submitted briefs in one case before the United States Supreme Court and the Federal District Court.

In addition to the above mentioned civil cases, they appeared in 113 criminal cases, most of them felony and murder cases.

43 LETTERS IN THIS NAME

A name that is as long as the postscript to a woman's letter has cropped up in a probate case at Hilo. The man who has to stagger under the load is one of the witnesses in the case, and the writing of his cognomen has increased the Territory's typewriting bill to a very material extent. The name has only 43 letters in it. It looks like a German chemical compound and sounds like a debating society or a session of the House of Representatives when the member from Kohala has the floor. It is rumored that the Attorney General's Department contemplates offering a prize to any one who can pronounce the name without stopping more than twice to take breath.

How would you like to have this on your calling card? Kailimainoikeaolohokamakakikikapukalani.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE PLANNING REVENGE

The killing by the Senate of the House bill which provided for the raising of the income tax exemption from $1000 to $1500, has provoked considerable ire among the kicking element of that body. As a matter of fact it is expected that this element is contemplating a dire scheme of revenge on the Senate by working to kill all the Senate bills which are introduced by the Senators who voted to kill the income tax bill, and are passed down to the House.

Another, a more conservative element, is still hoping to pass the income tax bill, or rather a bill very similar to it. The plan is to place the exemption at $1400 or $1600, so as to make the measure technically a new one, and thus permissible under the rules.

SUGAR

Under date of February 21 Willett & Gray's statistical circular has the following to say regarding the sugar situation:

RAWS.—Interest centres in the Cuba market and the point at which the continued decline will end and the improving side of prices begin.

Europe offers no obstacle to an advance in Cuba, the parity of beet values continuing abnormally above the Cuban parity and with indications that Europe has entirely cut loose from Cuba and is advancing on its own merits. Europe after touching 88.75d. at the end of January on its decline has during February gained in strength, moving up slowly but steadily to 88.11 1/2d., while on the other hand Cuba centrifugals which were selling at 2 1/2c. c. and f. (3.48c. per lb.), at the close of January, are now valued at 2 1/2-32c. c. and f., equal to 2.28c. landed for net test, based on sales of nearby Porto Rico thus widening the parity between centrifugals and beet sugar to 49c. per 100 lbs. or 15c. per 100 lbs. more than the 34c. per 100 lbs. granted Cuba by reciprocity. Of course, such a condition could only result from the continued pressure of twice the amount of sugar on the market that our refiners can use or take care of.

That the Cuban planter is beginning to realize somewhat of the abnormal condition under which he is forcing his sugars to a sale is a little in evidence, at the close of the markets here this week, when it appears evident that the 2c. per lb. c. and f. point at which buyers are aiming is to be contested by the planter, the first sign of a little bit of independence on his part.

We feel compelled to say, therefore, that the tide of decline has already turned, or is about to turn in favor of the seller from the present low level, and that the improvement, once begun, will go on more or less steadily until the parity of beet sugar is reached in our market.

The Cuba planter can rest assured that beet sugar is not coming down to his level, but that he can go up to the best sugar level whenever he is disposed to do so, or is in a position to do so.

Speculators this week have begun to see the advisability of taking some centrifugals for an advance. More of this special business would be done if they could be assured that Cuba centrifugals were made so as to retain their tests through the summer months, if necessary to hold them that length of time for satisfactory profits.

In hazy weather the French cruiser Kiebert, in making a sharp turn in the Mississippi, rammed and sank the small fruit steamer Hugana, cutting her nearly in two. The Hugana went to the bottom within five minutes after the accident. Seven are missing from the crew of the frigate.

Drinking Beer

is not an expensive luxury nor a diseased appetite. It is simply a healthy desire to repair the waste of the body. And this is accomplished every day by many men who drink the pure beer—

PRIMO

HINTS FOR OCEAN TRAVEL

On the North Pacific voyage it is consistently cold, but on the southern trip, even in mid-winter, there are usually days so warm as to make a wrap hardly necessary. I have paraded the deck all day with out a coat. So don't unduly burden yourself with heavy things for the southern trip.

Don't Drink Water at Sea. A girl, traveling alone, was lying in a deck chair in a most unhappy condition when I made her acquaintance. I offered my assistance, and won from her the remark that she had been trying to cure her seasickness after the fashion of women on shore by eating nothing and drinking hot water! Even in her misery she laughed at the horror of my face when I heard of these heroic measures. She was, perhaps, unusually young and foolish, but there may be others who, when troubled during the first few days of a voyage, make more or less the same mistake. It is impossible to give advice that will suit everybody, but as a general rule it is safe to say that if you are not feeling well you must eat and you must not drink. Wine with meals is permissible, even beneficial. It is the general custom of travelers to drink it, but water is fatal. If you are very thirsty, try a little tea or an orange, never ice water. Most travelers by sea know this principle, but it is just as well to give it prominence, for it is certainly useful.

Another British Antarctic Expedition will start some time during October under the command of Lieutenant Shackleton of the "Discovery" expedition. Among the equipment will be an automobile and a number of Siberian ponies, besides a large number of dogs from Northern Siberia. At an opportune time a dash will be made over the frozen wastes for the South Pole.

ATKINSON ORDER'D BECKLEY TO RECEIVE

Members of the Hilo reception committee who went to meet the Japanese squadron last week are still talking over their experience with Admiral Tomioka. They were "passed up like white chips" aboard the flagship and had to wait about half an hour while Admiral George C. Beekley enjoyed some cold tots with the Japanese admiral.

The launch which bore the Hilo committee also took Beekley, resplendent in admiral's uniform and carrying his various hard-earned medals. Naturally the Japanese were impressed by the uniform, and hastily ushered Beekley into the presence.

"Admiral United States navy?" asked one of the Japs. "No, admiral fleet 24," was the reply and it seemed to be satisfactory.

When the Hilo committee finally got into the Japanese admiral's cabin they found that Beekley had got quite chummy, and was enjoying admiral's side glasses of champagne. The committee was given some small slips such as are proper for ordinary citizens and after proper greeting and welcomes, silently returned to town, wrapped in deep meditation.

Beekley has the following wireless from Secretary Atkinson, showing his authority to act for the Territory in the matter: "Admiral Beekley, Hilo. "Admiral Tomioka and squadron will arrive Hilo next Wednesday p. m. Please call. Any courtesies you may be able to show will be greatly appreciated."

The Marathon Mystery
A Story of Manhattan
By BURTON E. STEVENSON
Author of "The Holiday Case"
Copyright, 1904, by Henry Holt and Company

"Well," remarked Godfrey, "while we can't, of course, give its actual text, I don't think it very difficult to guess its general tenor. We know what Tremaine came here to do—he came to blackmail Mrs. Delroy. It's pretty safe, then, to suppose that the message told him that she was blackmailable—in other words, that she had married a rich man. No doubt Tremaine's money was running low, and he jumped at this chance of replenishing his purse. Thompson was working his way toward St. Pierre to join him, and actually reached there on the Parima just as Tremaine was leaving. Perhaps Tremaine had tried to play Thompson false a second time.

"Now," he continued, "let us see how nearly we can reconstruct the scene which occurred in this room. Tremaine supplies Thompson on the voyage up with whisky and agrees to keep him supplied, believing that he may be useful—not daring, at any rate, to make an open enemy of him lest he spoil his game here. Thompson had only to speak a word to the police to put Tremaine back in Sing Sing to serve out his unexpired term. Arrived at New York, he establishes himself in that suit across the hall and spends a week or two in looking over the ground, ostensibly boosting his railroad scheme. Thompson, who has been in jail, joins him and takes these rooms.

"At last Tremaine is ready—or perhaps his lack of money forces him to act. He writes a note to Mrs. Delroy telling her that he's alive and wishes to share in her prosperity. He demands that she meet him in these rooms, asking for Thompson. That leaves him free from suspicion should she show the note to her husband and ing how Thompson will always stand in his way, he draws his revolver and shoots him through the heart. That done, he walks out, closes the door, goes to his room and at a favorable moment leaves the building."

He leaned back in his chair and applied a fresh match to his cigar.

"That," he concluded, "is my idea of the story. There's one person who can fill in the details. I'm going to apply to her as soon as I get back from Boston."

"You mean Miss Croydon?"

"Yes," he nodded; "and I think Tremaine is pretty near the end of his adventurous career."

"There's one thing," I remarked after a moment—"that diamond I found on the floor here didn't come from Tremaine's pin. I tried it last night, and it didn't fit."

Godfrey smiled as he placed the clippings carefully in his pocketbook.

"I know it," he said. "I meant to tell you. It came from a ring belonging to Jimmy the Duke. I saw him tonight across the street. Simmons had him in for another sweating—Simmons isn't quite convinced yet that Jimmy's innocent—and I noticed a ring on his finger contained a cluster of little diamonds. One of them was mine, and when I questioned him he said he'd lost it somewhere the night Thompson was killed. He probably dropped it here as he was helping Thompson to bed."

"That's it, no doubt," I agreed. "But it doesn't do me any good."

"We don't need it," declared Godfrey confidently, as he arose to go. "We've got a chain about Tremaine. Lester, that he can't break, and we'll compel Miss Croydon to forge the last rivet."

But in my dreams that night I saw him breaking the chains, trampling upon them, hurrying from him. I tried to hold them fast with all my puny strength, for I fancied that once free he would sweep over the earth like a pestilence. Then, suddenly, it was not Tremaine, but Cecily, I was holding. She turned to look at me with a countenance as terrible that it paled mine. Her eyes seemed to me with a white heat, burnt me through and through. Then she raised her hand and struck me a heavy blow upon the head—again—again—til, blindly, in agony, I loosed my hold of her and fell.

"Tremaine picks up the iron pipe and knocks him down."

should he attempt to have the writer arrested for blackmail. But she isn't so sensible. Perhaps she disregards his first note; perhaps she's unable to decide what to do. She has, of course, been thrown into a panic. He writes again. In despair she seeks the advice of her sister, and Miss Croydon, who is by far the stronger of the two, offers to come here herself, see the man and find out what he proposes to do.

"Tremaine has secured Thompson's key, given him some money and sent him out to get drunk. But for Jimmy the Duke he would probably have stayed away—probably in the lock-up—but Jimmy brings him home. Tremaine has to make the best of it, since there isn't time to get Thompson out of the very again. Anyway, he's so dead drunk that Tremaine anticipates no interference from him. He shuts him in the bedroom and sits down to wait for Miss Croydon.

"She arrives promptly, despite the rain, and we can imagine that the dialogue which followed was not of a milk and water kind; both of them are full of me, and they make the sparks fly.

"Thompson is aroused by the voices or perhaps wakes naturally, comes into the outer room and interferes. He is still half drunk; perhaps he grasps Tremaine. At any rate, Tremaine picks up the iron pipe and knocks him down; then in a sudden black frenzy of anger, remembering Australia, sees partament and pointing to a photograph. "It's the same man sure, only changed a lot. It would be easy to prove it. I suppose they took his Bertillon measurements at the morgue, and we've only to compare them with ours. They'd be the same, no matter how much he'd changed."

And he had changed, indeed. The Johnson of the prison photograph was, of course, smooth shaven; his face was alert, intelligent; there was no war upon the temple, nor did the features show that subtle blotches of long continued disipation. But it was the same—undoubtedly it was the same. There was no need to apply any finer tests.

"I remember him now," said Jones, looking from one photograph to the other, "very well. He was a quiet, well behaved chap; had been captain of a little tramp steamer, I believe. He had a perfect mania for cutting pieces out of newspapers and pasting them in a scrapbook. He spent all his leisure time that way. Oh, yes; I remember, too, he tried to escape, but his pal went back on him and left him lying out yonder by the wall. His pal was a bad one, he was; he got away and I've often wondered what became of him. Here he is."

He swung open another compartment, and I found myself staring at Tremaine!

Not until I was quite near New York did I recover sufficiently from the effects of this discovery to heed the cry of the train boy as he went through the coaches with the evening papers.

"All about th' Edgemere murder!" he was crying, and the name caught my ear.

"Edgemere?" I repeated to myself. "Edgemere, I've heard that name somewhere."

Then in a flash I remembered, and in a moment more the whole story of the tragedy of the night before the murder of Graham and the theft of Mrs. Delroy's necklace—lay before me. With what intensity of interest I read it can be easily imagined. I was shaken, nervous, horror-stricken. That there was some connection between this second tragedy and the one in suit fourteen I did not doubt, and I read and reread the details with the greatest care. In the effort to find where that connection lay.

But it was impossible to see how Tremaine could be implicated in the Edgemere mystery even in the least degree—his alibi was perfect. On the other hand, the evidence against young Drysdale seemed complete in every link. Certainly none of the papers doubted his guilt, and they handled his past career and his family history with a subtlety and freedom which must have been most trying to his friends. Coroner Hofflander came to the head's chair of justice—every one agreed that he had conducted the case with rare skill and judgment. Of course the record had his wife and six children, and as I looked at his round face I fancied him strutting back and forth in his saloon, inflated with pride and listening approvingly to the constant ringing of the cash register. It's an ill wind, but certainly there was no denying that he had handled the case ably.

Drysdale, it appeared, had been led in the jail at Babylon and steadfastly refused to make any statement or to explain his absence from the house. No reporters had been admitted to Edgemere, though that fact did not prevent two or three of them from writing minute descriptions of the condition of affairs there and publishing interviews with the members of the family. Marvellous accounts were given of the exquisite beauty and immense value of the missing necklace, and the Record published a drawing of it "from a description by Tiffany."

We pulled into the station, and I took a car down to my rooms, turning this latest enigma over and over in my mind, looking at it from every angle, trying in vain to discover some fact that would implicate Tremaine. As my door I paused a moment. Then I crossed the hall and knocked at Tremaine's door. Perhaps Cecily had forgotten me, and in an evening's talk I ought surely to be able to find out something more.

But it was not Cecily. It was Tremaine himself who opened to me.

"Oh, Mr. Lester," he cried, with hand outstretched, "how are you? I wanted to see you. I've been listening for your step. You must join us here this evening."

"I shall be glad to," I said, returning his grasp, all my suspicions melting away, reduced to absurdity at sight of him. "But why so particularly this evening?"

"Because we've planned a little celebration. Cecily is going away!"

"Going away?"

"Yes—back to St. Pierre to get my money in order. But I'll tell you at dinner. It's to be served here in an hour. You will come?"

"Certainly I will," I assured him and hastened over to my room to dress.

He was awaiting me when I knocked an hour later. A table had been set with three places.

Almost Personal Serial Story No. 27

Some of our merchants are not very busy, so at such times they stand around and talk to their clerks and explain why it is.

They say people are patronizing the Oriental business houses.

Then the clerks sympathize and they all talk the matter over with the next customer and deplore the fact that if the holes continue patronizing Asiatics, American business must go to smash.

I have often heard these kinds of talks taking place and while I was listening to what they had to say I looked with a good deal of interest at the linen they were wearing because the make who washed it didn't get the blueing scattered evenly and had failed to remove a laundry tape with Chinese characters on it.

At such times I would like to mention that I am in the laundry business, but I am conscious of others' feelings and reserve my say for this space, which belongs to me.

GIFFARD LOWERS MOANALUA RECORD

With the Moanalua links in almost perfect condition yesterday it was not surprising that low scores were the order of the day in the play for the White Rock Trophy. H. B. Giffard, on scratch, lowered the course record by making his second round in 35, but the fact that he made the first round in 44 kept him from being among the prize winners. The long mark men all did well and two of them, W. C. Wilder and J. A. Wilder, with handicaps of 15 and 18 respectively, carried away the two first places.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR STRANGERS

Those Los Angeles people will be treated to a rare entertainment on Thursday eve, the 14th. The committee in charge have arranged with the Hawaiian Swimming Club to give the strangers an exhibition of swimming and diving and the club is now arranging an interesting program and no doubt the strangers will remember the affair for a long time to come. These people have heard of the wonderful swimmers of Hawaii but they will be absolutely surprised when they see these lads in action.

Such lads as the Cooper boys, Kopke, Crozier, Catha, Lyle, O'Brien, Foss, Oms, Cooke, Roth, Dickson, Campbell and Woods will take part. These boys can swim some and they are sure to make a hit with the strangers. The Los Angeles people will be admitted free and the local people charged enough to cover expenses.

OAHU COLLEGE ACCEPTS

There is going to be a return match of water polo between Oahu college and the Diamond Head Athletic Club. The game will take place on the 20th of this month. After the first match, which resulted in a victory for the college boys, the D. H. Club challenged the winners to a return match and the Oahu lads were slow in accepting. The Hotel Baths have put up a cup for this game and it is now settled that the two clubs will meet.

All who saw the first game declared that it was one of the most exciting contests they had ever seen and they have been wanting to see a return match.

TO DISCUSS TRACK MEET

A meeting of the executive committee which has charge of the field and track championships, which will be held on March 23, has been called for 5 o'clock this evening. The final details of the arrangements for the games have not yet been made and the meeting is called to consider this part of the work. The members of the committee are:

- E. B. Turner, Boys' Clubs.
- C. G. Livinstone, Kamehameha School.
- E. Fernandez, Diamond Heads.
- J. S. Reed, Oahu College.
- E. S. Hand, M.D., Y. M. C. A.
- W. Brisol, Mills Institute.
- A. Pratt, Rapid Transit A. C.
- H. J. Auld, Kamehameha Alumni.
- J. A. Thompson, St. Louis College.
- En Sue Kong, Chinese Athletic Club.

VERY LITTLE WIND

A lack of wind caused the cruise of the Hawaiian Yacht Club, which was to have been made to Pearl Harbor yesterday to be rather a fluke. The Kapiolani, Malolo, Gladys, Kamehameha and Helene started on time from the Oceanic dock, escorted by the Kulanihoni, Mrs. S. C. Allen's new launch. All the boats succeeded in getting outside the harbor, but after that the wind died down and only the Malolo, Kapiolani and Helene succeeded in reaching

PEARL HARBOR, THE LATTER BEING TOWED DOWN BY THE KALEMANU.

The Helene, Commodore Cooper's flagship, had on board Vice-Commodore Arthur Thynne, Mrs. Weatherhead, Mrs. Chase, Mrs. Perkins, Miss Mackenzie, Miss Deane, Miss Johnstone, Miss Grace, Miss McLean and Miss Case besides the regular members of her crew. There was a light breeze by which the yachts were able to return to Honolulu.

The next event in the cruise line, which has been arranged by the regatta committee is a moonlight cruise to Waiananalo, not the Waiananalo where the Manchuria went ashore, but to a place of the same name below Barber's Point. The plans are to leave Honolulu Saturday afternoon and not return till Sunday night.

SWEET HOMES LOSE

A game of baseball was played at the Kapiolani Park yesterday afternoon between the Sweet Homes and the Tenth Infantry. The Tenth won by a score of 4-0.

IS JOHNSON AFRAID?

Melbourne, Jan. 31.—Bill Squires is still anxious to make a match with Johnson.

"I went to Mr. Wren this morning," he says. "He is negotiating with people in San Francisco on my behalf. There may be an answer any day which would clinch things. I am bound to him by agreement, and he tells me that I must carry out my undertaking to hold myself ready to sail in the Ventura on February 18. Meanwhile I want to meet this Mr. Johnson, and everything I can do to secure a match shall be done. I'll extend the challenge till Saturday next, February 9."

Pin-setters at a bowling alley hit more than five tons during an ordinary evening's performance. They serve at least 12 hours on duty, so it is no wonder that boys are hard to find for the job. Perhaps some of those who bowl for exercise would be money ahead if they sought positions at the other end of the alley.

The size of the score a bowler makes has very little to do with the amount of work it is for the pin boy to keep the game going. In fact, the maximum of work that is possible can be made out of a score of 138. It can be figured out with a spare in the first nine frames, in which one pin is knocked down with the first ball in each frame. Then three straight strikes in the tenth would give a total of 21 balls rolled and 120 pins knocked down.

The least amount of work that is necessary to get as large a score as possible is from a game of 259. If a bowler gets a strike he throws but one ball in that frame. For a score of 259 that will give the least work, strikes must be made in the first nine frames, one pin knocked down with the first ball in the tenth and eight with the second.

The regulation pin weighs three pounds two and one-half ounces. If lignum vitae ball weighs about 16 pounds. In the recent match between the Portlands and Oregons, two alley boys lifted 16,408 pounds, setting up pins and placing balls upon the returning track. The Oregons knocked down 1484 pins and rolled 244 balls. The Portlands floored 1503 pins with 246 shots.

As the game lasted less than two and a half hours it may be seen that the pinsetters' job is no sinecure on a busy day.

SHARKEY HARD AT WORK FOR WRESTLING

"Tom" Sharkey has gone into hard training for his mixed style wrestling match with Dennis Gallagher. It is the first public bout on the mat in which the "Sailor" has appeared in two years. Sharkey and Gallagher will wrestle for a side bet of $1000 at Maunerehor Hall on the night of February 28. Sharkey is doing light road work, and putting in several hours a day with heavyweight pupils. He will outweigh Gallagher by at least thirty pounds, but the big east side wrestler will be favored by other conditions, for the bout will be a mixture of Graeco-Roman and catch-as-catch-can styles.

SPORTING NOTES

If it is true that Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, has agreed to box Tony Sullivan, of St. Louis, at 126 pounds ringside, there appears to be no good reason why Attell should not meet Spike Robson, the English featherweight champion, who has challenged him to fight to a finish at this weight.

According to the committee in charge of the fund for Terry McGovern, after paying all expenses, there remains a balance of nearly $15,000, which will go to the stricken pugilist's family.
