THE STARS WIN A GAME

GOOD UPHILL PLAYING BY THE ST. LOUIS TEAM.
The College Boys Were Short Two of Their Best Men—Kicks, Protests and Errors Galore.

At the beginning of this season Harry Whitney was made official umpire of the Baseball League with full power to appoint his assistant and substitutes. On Saturday he went off shooting without appointing a substitute, and about an hour before the time for the ball game to commence it looked very much as if there would be none. After a few tickets had been sold, Chan Wilder, who has charge of the grounds and box office, found that no umpire had been selected. He ordered the box office closed and refused to open it until the two captains had agreed to select an umpire from the audience before 3:30. After a great deal of wrangling this was finally agreed to and A. H. Moore of the Regiment team was agreed on. The box office was then opened.

The game was a good one but terribly uphill work for the college boys, who were playing with two of their best men absent, Simerson and Woods. The Stars got on to Lemon's curves in the second innings and punished him for nine runs. The St. Louis boys gradually crept up and in the first half of the ninth were two runs ahead. In the last half Aiwohi dropped an easy fly, Lemon muffed a ball at a critical stage and the Stars made the winning run. The details of the game by innings are given below: Thompson of the St. Louis was first at the bat and took first on four balls, Gleason's base hit took him to second, and Holt's single took him to third. Gleason was put out at second. Willis' two-bagger brought Thompson home. Aiwohi was caught out at center and Holt at third.

For the Stars Lishman failed to make first as quick as the ball, Hart flew out to pitcher and Wilder was put out at first.

In the second Clark was put out at first, Lemon was struck by a pitched ball and went to first and was put out at second. Crowell struck out.

Mahuka went to second on Holt's error. Pahau went to third on a two-base hit and Mahuka scored. Babbitt's single brought Pahau in. Woods got in a base hit, Koki's two-bagger made a run for Babbitt. Lishman scored on a passed ball. McNichol followed with a two-bagger and Lishman with another, Hart was put out at first but McNichol scored by the skin of his teeth. Wilder's single made a run for Lishman. Mahuka's three-bagger sent Wilder across the plate and Pahau's base hit took Mahuka home. Pahau was put out at second and Babbitt was caught out at the plate.

For the St. Louis boys Dayton was put out at first. Thompson took his base on balls and got to third on Gleason's two-bagger. Holt went to first on balls and filled the bases. Willis' single was muffed at first and Thompson and Gleason scored. Holt scored on Aiwohi's hit, but was put out at second. Clark went to third, Lemon was put out at first.

For the Stars Woods made a base hit. Koki got his first but Woods was put out at second. McNichol made his base. Loki scored on Lishman's single. Hart was put out at first and Wilder's fly was taken in by Thompson.

In the fourth Crowell flew out at center. Dayton met his fate at first. Thompson made a clean home run. Gleason followed with a base hit and Holt flew out to pitcher.

Mahuka made first and scored on Pahau's hit and overthrow to first. Babbitt was put out at first but Pahau scored. Woods flew out to Willis and Koki to Aiwohi.

In the fifth Willis was put out at first. Aiwohi made his base and scored on Clark's three-bagger. Lemon's fly was taken in by Woods but Clark scored. Crowell was put out at first.

McNichol took his base on balk. Lishman got his base, Hart hit to short, who picked up the ball and who touched McNichol, threw to second, who threw to first, three men being put out on the play.

In the sixth Dayton was too slow to beat the ball at first. Thompson made a base hit but was put out at second. Gleason was put out at third on a passed ball.

Wilder was put out at first, Mahuka was caught out by Holt and Pahau failed to make his base.

In the seventh Holt, Willis and Aiwohi flew out from the first four balls.

Babbitt and Woods were put out at first. Koki made his base but was put out at second on McNichol's single.

In the eighth Clark couldn't reach first. Lemon went to second on a fly to right field. Crowell was struck by a pitched ball. Dayton struck out. Thompson's two-bagger brought Lemon over the plate. Gleason's single took Crowell home. Thompson came home on an overthrow to second. Holt struck out.

Lishman flew out to Dayton. Hart struck out and Wilder was put out at first.

In the ninth Willis was put out at first. Aiwohi made his base on Wilder's bad throw to first. Clark went to third on a base hit and overthrow to second and Aiwohi scored. Clark scored on a passed ball. Lemon made a two-bagger and scored on Crowell's hit to right field. Dayton flew out to pitcher and Thompson struck out.

Mahuka got first by an error of Aiwohi. Pahau made his first and Mahuka got to third on a muffed ball by pitcher. Babbitt struck out. Mahuka scored on Woods single. Koki flew out to Aiwohi but Pahau scored. McNichol brought Woods in.

Inquiry here confirms the story coming from Lima to the effect that the State Department has lodged a demand with the United States charge of legation at Lima for the release of the mate of the American bark "Uncle John." He was ashore on December 19 last at Callao, and was arrested because of his constant demand for "Rainier Beer." On tap or in bottles at the Criterion Saloon.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

TWO POLICEMEN ACCUSED OF ROBBERING A JAPANESE.

Wrongfully Arrested for Drunkenness and Robbed While Being Taken to the Station.

That the present police force needs considerable overhauling and weeding out is apparent from the following:

On Saturday night, June 5, the eve of the Feast of Pentecost, a Japanese named Ota left the Criterion saloon, where he is employed as porter, at 11:45 p. m., having just been paid his week's wages. He was accompanied by a fellow employe, also a Japanese, who roomed with him in a house near Kaunakapili church. On arriving there they found a disturbance was in progress in the yard. A Portuguese living upstairs was drunk and with several of his friends was making quite a row. Ota asked them to desist, and the Portuguese then pitched into him. In the melee the police entered the yard and arrested Ota for being drunk. On the way to the station house the Japanese claims that policemen 33 and 35, who had him in charge, went through his pockets and took therefrom $7, the wages he had just received for his week's work. He was locked up on a charge of drunkenness but later on bailed out by his employer.

Chas. J. McCarthy, the proprietor of the Criterion saloon, was seen by a BULLETIN reporter this morning in relation to the above. He said:

"I will tell you what I know of the affair. The two Japanese are employed by me as porters and are good faithful men. I have never seen Ota take a drink while in my employ, although he has the privilege of taking anything he likes. On the Saturday night in question after closing up the saloon the men were paid off in my presence. Ota received $7. He was perfectly sober at the time. I left shortly afterward and had been home but a few minutes when the telephone rang. I answered and was told by a Japanese, the man who left the saloon with him, that Ota had been arrested for being drunk. Knowing that there must be some mistake, as I had seen the man perfectly sober about half an hour before, I went down to the police station and asked to see him. I was refused permission, the clerk stating that he was too drunk. I insisted that there must be a mistake and was finally allowed to go below and see the man. I found him perfectly sober but considerably excited. I furnished bail for him and sent him home. It being very late and Ota not speaking much English I did not question him that night, but on the Monday morning following he told me his story, mentioning for the first time that he had been robbed of his wages while on the way to the station by the two policemen whom he identified as Numbers 33 and 35. I then questioned the other Japanese, who speaks good English, and became fully satisfied they were telling the truth. I went to the Deputy Marshal and reported what I believed to be the facts of the case. He said he would investigate. The Japanese was charged in court with being drunk but after two continuances his case was nolle pros'd. Since that time, it is now going on six weeks, I have heard nothing more about it, but I intend to see the Marshal himself.

Inquiry at the police station shows that the policeman who wears star 33 is named Peahi. Star 35 was worn last by Kaikaikaula, who left the force some weeks ago of his own volition, having come into a steady income from some property.

CUSTOM HOUSE MATTERS.

Trouble With Guards Over a Temporary Appointment.

On Saturday afternoon Deputy Collector McStocker issued an order temporarily detaching Port Surveyor Stratemeyer from his duties and detailing him to attend to the office of gauger until such time as the government should make an appointment to fill the vacancy caused by Dr. Lyons' resignation. This action was rendered almost imperative, as there are several large invoices of liquors on hand to be tested and consignees were clamoring for their goods. Mr. Stratemeyer having previously filled the office and being familiar with its duties was the only man immediately available, as the position is a difficult one to fill. At the same time that Mr. Stratemeyer was put in the gauger's office H. C. Norton was taken from the appraiser's department and temporarily assigned to duty as port surveyor. This latter action is said to have given umbrage to the guards and some of them are making a big kick about it.

In talking of the appointments this morning Mr. McStocker said they were merely temporary, awaiting the action of the Cabinet. Mr. Stratemeyer was the only man available to put in the gauger's office and for that reason he had been requested to act until the Cabinet reached a decision. With regard to Mr. Morton, he had been temporarily appointed to fill the duties of Port Surveyor because of his fitness. He was quiet, unassuming, faithful and attentive to his duties, and before going into the Appraiser's office had served several months as Inspector of Customs. Mr. McStocker had heard that some of the guards were dissatisfied with Morton's appointment and had threatened to resign. He thought those who objected to it had better do so, as the Custom House was not being run to suit the whims of the guards.

Case of Diphtheria.

A case of diphtheria was reported by Dr. C. C. Ryder to the Board of Health this morning, the patient being a two-year-old child living on Dowsett's lane, Palama. Dr. Ryder was called to attend the child yesterday afternoon. Health Officer Reynolds visited the premises at noon today and saw that the necessary precautions were being taken.

MONSTROSITY IN NATURE

REMARKABLE FREAK BORN IN A LITTER OF PIGS.

It is All Hog but the Head Which is That of a Baboon.

Last Monday a sow belonging to a native at Waialua on this island had a litter of six pigs. Five of them were as good little pigs as ever went to market, but the sixth one was a lusus naturae to the degree of being a monstrosity. There have been many cases of animals born with two heads or a surplus of legs, which showmen have been ready to buy as curiosities for attracting the pence of the multitude.

This Waialua freak, however, seems to combine two distinct species of quadruped in its formation. Its body, tail, legs and feet are honest pig, but its head and muzzle are in the perfect likeness of the baboon tribe. There is no projecting snout and no rooting cartilage to the nose. A square-cut mouth with grinning teeth appears between a monkey nose and a nicely rounded chin. Instead of the slitlike piggy eyes that should have been its birthright, the creature was favored with round and wideawake orbs. Its lower jaw is formed like that of a human being, while the skull has fontanelles—the skin bridged openings—like human infants and the young of the feline species. The ears are doubtful, though rather favoring the cat kind.

This remarkable creature lived four days. After it died Frank Halstead secured the carcass for his friend, Dr. F. L. Miner, to whom the curiosity arrived by Saturday evening's train. It was preserved in brandy, the entrails having been removed, and was in good condition excepting that the skin had peeled off in places about the head. Dr. Miner placed it in a glass jar of alcohol, where it sits one foot high and shows clearly the external peculiarities here described.

Dr. Miner is undecided whether to present the curiosity to the Bishop Museum or to a university museum abroad.

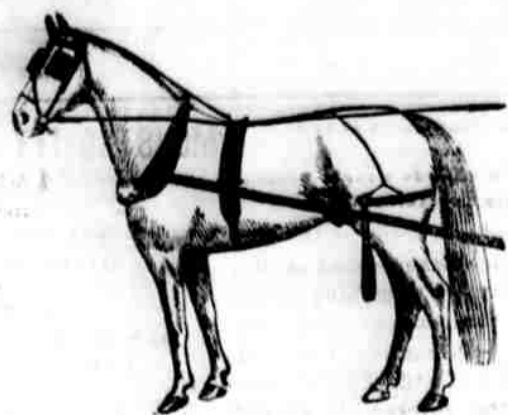

Mr. Halstead wrote a note to accompany the parcel, saying:

"I send you by White's express one jar of pickled pork, the virtue of which is more in its appearance than its taste. When I first telephoned you I had never seen the animal, but had heard of it from our men and took very little notice of what they said, as that kind of stories is always stretched a great deal. Dr. Reid first told me that he had seen it, and was trying to get it, and afterward that it could not be bought, as the native was keeping it as a mascot. "It had been dead two days and a half when I sent for the native, and much to my surprise he came over to the mill and brought it with him, saying he wished me to take it and get what it was worth, as it was useless to him and would soon go bad. "The old sow had a litter of six pigs including this one, but owing to some difficulty about breathing this one could not take its mother's milk. The native tried to feed it with a baby's bottle, and seemed to be getting on nicely, but the little thing died on the fourth day. He then took out its insides and stuffed it with salt, thinking he could dry it, but soon gave it up as he saw it was going. I hope it is not too far gone to be of any use."

Mr. Halstead tells of another pig, now ten weeks old, owned by the same native, which "is put together very strangely." It is all there, but some of the pieces are not fitted rightly. The malformation takes on a peculiarity of the kangaroo.

SIEVEKING'S MODE.

An Authority Tells How He Practices Instrumental Music.

Mr. Sieveking is reported in The Musical Courier as saying:

In the practice of repertory I use the metronome for studies always. I begin practice at half tempo, playing at least four times each with right and left hands separately. By gradual degrees I raise the tempo to the proper pace, at which I play as long as I consider necessary. I always practice mezzo forte—never piano, never forte—and I make no attempt at tonal shading whatever, simply a monotonous mezzo forte repetition, whatever the spirit of the work. No matter if staccato, I practice everything legato to preserve muscular control and raise the fingers as high as possible. If you can play legato well, the staccato will be all right. I am in love with the keys and never leave them even in staccato playing—that is, I lift the fingers without the hand, you understand. I play staccato without my wrist; that is all. At no finished performance do I use more than 50 per cent of my force; so that I get tone without limit. I try not to exhaust the quality which sings.

The government under which I have my muscles enables me largely to conserve my strength. For instance, in chord playing, even when I strike chords in rapid succession, I find time between each to relax the muscles and thereby relieve the strain. I have while playing the same finger pressure four different degrees of tone. There is the lightest, from only the finger; then finger combined with hand, then arm, then shoulder. In playing a chord I can also manage to bring a full tension on one finger while the others are comparatively relaxed, should I wish, to make one tone sing longer or stronger than the rest. Each finger with me is wholly independent.

People start sometimes when they hear that I never strike a note without the pedal. I believe in constant contact between the keys and pedals, through the fingers, and even in the case of a sixteenth chord I will use the pedal, relinquishing it in the same way as I relax the muscles, with what you are pleased to call a "touch and go rapidly." I pedal on the tone, but relax instantly, no matter how brief the note, before the next is struck, so that matters are never blurred.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown? It has many rivals but no equal.

THE QUESTION.

It strikes one forcibly, upon reading differing opinions on the annexation of Hawaii in the American press, that the weight conferred by the right side of an argument is with the affirmative of the question. Advocates of the measure are able to give reasons— from history, from present conditions, from clear-headed estimates of the future—for taking that side. On the other hand, the opponents of annexation appeal to prejudice and cite doctrines that the nation has long outgrown. They take their stand on positions that have been abandoned in common by both the great political parties. For instance, it is gravely argued that the possession of the Hawaiian Islands would necessitate the construction of a large navy, where, if they reflected a moment, they would see the Republican and Democratic administrations, for many years past, vying with each other in energy to restore the United States to its former glory of being one of the greatest naval powers of the earth. They object to the annexation of outlying territory, with Alaska before their eyes having foreign territory wedged between it and the main border of the Union, so that it has to be defended from both sea and land as compared with Hawaii only open to sea attack. Liability to foreign complications from taking actual possession of Hawaii is another bogey conjured up, as if such are not infinitely more probable under the merely theoretical control assumed here by the United States, while European interests are very large here and increasing rather than diminishing, and while an Asiatic power is at this very moment claiming interests in the islands equal to those of the United States. When the United States, moreover, has been seen to have the courage of the Monroe doctrine to the extent of intervening in disputes between European powers and weak South American states—that are as apt to invite disciplining from the United States as from any other nation for their disregard of the rights of foreigners—it is humiliating to hear from Americans any expression of fear for foreign complications from the United States' placing an estoppel forever upon the chance of any other nation's securing of this important point of vantage, where it would be in a better position to threaten the Monroe doctrine, as applied to both Central and South America, than under present conditions or with Hawaii under the American flag could be possible. The objection urged on the ground of Hawaii's mixed population is as weak as any other. In many former acquisitions of territory to the Union, the majorities of population were equally alien to American institutions with the present majority in Hawaii. Indeed, America has been contending against majorities—pushing them aside or assimilating them—ever since the first white settlers landed on the Atlantic coast. Provision is made in the scheme of union for preventing increase of the alien majority here, and the civilized minority eligible for American citizenship will carry the responsibilities of free government as well, on the average at least, as the people of the existing States and Territories. The last-mentioned is, at all events, an objection that will wear off. With annexation this will become a white man's country, with the native Hawaiians in possession of larger political liberties than ever they had under their monarchy.

Judge Wilcox makes a material sacrifice, not only in his private business but in his official emoluments, in taking the active judgeship of the District Court. While nobody is available who can fill his shoes as English-Hawaiian interpreter, it is a subject of public congratulation that a kamaaina of his extensive local knowledge, unsurpassed familiarity with the Hawaiian language and good acquaintance with law—he is an honorary member of the bar—should have consented to administer justice in the most important District Court of the Republic.

A Poet Physician.

Hearing of Dr. Goldsmith's great humanity, a poor woman, who believed him to be a physician, once wrote to him begging him to prescribe for her husband, who had lost his appetite and was altogether in a very sad state. The kind hearted poet immediately went to see her, and after some talk with the man found him almost overwhelmed with sickness and poverty. "You shall hear from me in an hour," said the doctor on leaving, "and I shall send you some pills which I am sure will do you good." Before the time was up Goldsmith's servant brought the poor woman a small box, which, on being opened, was found to contain 10 guineas, with the following directions: "To be used as necessities require. Be patient and of good heart."—Rain's Horn.

A Characteristic Reply.

The incorruptibility of General Walker, late president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was above all suspicion. A characteristic anecdote is told of him by J. J. Spencer in The Review of Reviews: At one time, when General Walker held a government position, a place shared in a measure by another, he was approached with the suggestion that, since the whole department was under their control, by working in harmony they could have whatever they desired. "I have no desires," said General Walker. "But, general," said his coadjutor, "do you not see that we can push forward our friends and relatives into good places?" "I have no friends," was the reply.

The Juvenile Witness.

The late Mr. Isaac Butt, Q. C. M. P., was fond of relating two answers which he himself heard given to the late Chief Justice Lefroy, lord chief justice of Ireland, by children. In the first instance a little boy, whose testimony was of importance in a case of riot between Protestants and Catholics, was asked what would happen to him if he did not tell the truth. "When I die, sir," was the reply, "I should go where the Catholics go." On a similar question being put to an intelligent little girl, she replied, after a pause, "I suppose I should not get my expenses."—Westminster Gazette.

It is not widely known that Queen Victoria rules over more Mohammedans than the sultan of Turkey, over more Jews than there are in Palestine and over more negroes than any other sovereign who is not a native of their country.

If you are interested in the subject of enlarged portraits, it would be worth your while to see the samples at King Bros. at prices ranging from $5.00 to $10.00 frames and all. They can't be beat.*

Timely Topics

July 7, 1897.

The holidays are over and the community is settling down to business again. The three hottest months of the year are at hand and many people are thinking of discarding the use of coal and wood stoves for the summer. To all such we can recommend the well-known and justly popular BLUE FLAME OIL STOVES, of which we have just received a fresh supply. We can furnish these in three sizes now, the new size being a smaller and cheaper edition of the others.

The Dietz Stove Company—the largest oil stove manufacturers in the United States—are now turning out a beautiful stove for burning kerosene. Complete with oven and pots, etc., with one, two or three burners.

In wood or coal burning stoves we have the celebrated FISHER STEEL RANGES. The PANSY, sizes 6, 7 and 8. The COLUMBUS, sizes 7 and 8. The OLIVE and BONO. For hotels or restaurants we have a specially suitable one—The EMPIRE CITY. In this the oven is very large, the heating surface exceptionally so, and the price very low indeed.

Hawaiian Interpreter.

By the acceptance of the active and regular duties of District Magistrate by Judge Wilcox, the position of Hawaiian interpreter in the courts, so ably performed for many years by that gentleman, has become vacant. The Executive is considering the question of whether to have the office filled permanently or simply to employ a Hawaiian interpreter when the services of one is actually required. When Chief Justice Judd returns from the United States, and not before, the question will be decided. John E. Bush is a candidate for the position and is probably the most competent man available.

Bay Horse License.

Whatever question there may have been as to who should get the liquor saloon license for the old Bay Horse premises is decided. SKETCHES BY M. QUAD

The Colonel's Drink.

As four or five of us sat talking and smoking Colonel Basil came up the steps and joined us and introduced himself. After some general talk he said: "Gentlemen, I am rather absent-minded at times, and I beg to be excused if I have met any of you before and failed to remember it."

We assured him in chorus that it was our first meeting, and he continued: "I had an indistinct idea that I had been asked to drink with you, but I am not sure about it. If so, I probably accepted. If not, then I beg to be excused."

We assured him that none of us had ever asked him to drink, he having been a stranger to us until a few minutes before, nor did we invite him then to go in and take a nip. He seemed cast down for a moment, but finally rallied and said:

"Absentmindedness is a great failing of mine, and I really must try to overcome it. Now, that I look at you more closely, it seems to me that I was here this afternoon and introduced myself, and that the gentleman on the right rose up and asked us all in to take something. I say it seems so, but I can't be sure. If so—"

The "gentleman on the right" interrupted him to say that he arrived at the hotel at noon, and the colonel must therefore be mistaken.

"Then I beg your pardon," said our caller. "As a general rule, when I am invited to drink I remember the incident very clearly for several days afterward, but it seems that I am off in this instance. Memory is a treacherous thing when one gets to be my age."

Something was said about politics, but before the talk had gone far the colonel rose up and said:

"Gentlemen, I beg your pardon, but a thought has struck me. Did I ask any one in this crowd to change a $5 bill?" He was assured that he had asked nothing of the sort, and, feeling about in his pockets, he continued:

"It somehow seemed to me that I had and that none of you could do it and that the gentleman on the left handed me a quarter to get a drink with and said I could hand it in this evening. If I am in error—"

He was in error. The "gentleman on

Our I's and Other Eyes.

Our I's are just as strong as they were fifty years ago, when we have cause to use them. But we have less and less cause to praise ourselves, since others do the praising, and we are more than willing for you to see us through other eyes. This is how we look to S. F. Boyce, wholesale and retail druggist, Duluth, Minn., who after a quarter of a century of observation writes:

"I have sold Ayer's Sarsaparilla for more than 25 years, both at wholesale and retail, and have never heard anything but words of praise from my customers; not a single complaint has ever reached me. I believe Ayer's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier that has been introduced to the general public." This, from a man who has sold thousands of dozens of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, is strong testimony. But it only echoes popular sentiment the world over, which has "Nothing but words of praise for Ayer's Sarsaparilla."

Any doubt about it? Send for the "Curebook." It kills doubts and cures doubters. Address: J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

 Mr. C. W. MACFARLANE:—It affords me pleasure to recommend, to any one whose hair is falling out, the use of DR. you was, I was going to say a few words." "As to her?" "As to that 'ere dog o' mine. I hev never put him up ag'in a b'ar as yet, but I think he could hold his own." "You must be crazy," exclaimed the owner of the bear. "Why, he'd chaw your dog up at one gulp!" "Mebbe he would, stranger, mebbe he would, but somehow or t'other I can't believe that he would. I've know-

ed that dog fur three y'ars, and I don't believe your b'ar could chaw him up." "Well, it stands to reason that he could. From the looks o' him I should say that almost any sort of dog could roll that dog o' yours over. He's ready to run now."

"Yes, he looks that way," slowly remarked the old man, "but that's his deceivin' p'int. What's the value of your b'ar?" "Fifty dollars."

"Waal, I've got $50 in gold which says he can't chaw my dog up in no one minit, nor five nor ten minutes." "What's that? You want to put your dog ag'in my bear?" "I do, stranger, and my money is ready. We'll turn 'em loose on the platform, and if your b'ar chaws up my dog the cash is yours."

The owner of the bear had but $20, but he put up his winchester for the balance, and as soon as the stakes were up we got into the station and left the dog and the bear man to arrange things. Some of the s'ats to the cage were loosened, and after a few minutes all was ready and the two men joined us inside. The dog scratched at the door and whined to get in, and after a look about him the bear left the cage and started for the canine.

"One gulp and your dog is gone!" shouted the bear man. But he wasn't out of the woods yet. The dog was off the platform and up the trail in a flash, while the bear followed at a slower gait. They had been out of sight five minutes when the bear man suddenly exclaimed: "Why—why—that bear won't come back!"

"No, I reckon not," replied the old man. "But—but—" "But the bet was that he'd chaw up my dog, and he hasn't done it."

The bear man looked up and down and around, and the situation finally dawned upon him and he said to the old man: "Stranger, did you ever strike a full blown idiot before?" "Yes; two or three."

"And did you leave 'em dead broke and far from home?" "Oh, no! I allus felt sorry fur 'em and left 'em sunthin fur railroad fare." And he handed the bear man $10 of the $20, took the rifle on his arm and rode away down the trail without looking back. M. QUAD.
