THWING EXPLODES ON SUBJECT OF BRECKONS MR. FAIRBANKS PRAISES LEGISLATORS

FAIRBANKS TALKS TO LEGISLATORS

Says People of Hawaii Have Proved Themselves Capable of Self-Government, and He Has Confidence in Future of Territory—Expresses Appreciation of Welcome Given Him—May Return

The prosperity of Hawaii is the prosperity of the United States; the honor of the Territory is the honor of the Republic. And for that reason the people of the United States take a friendly interest in the development of the Hawaiian Islands.

Along this line did Charles Warren Fairbanks, ex-Vice-President of the United States, address the members of the Legislature this morning in the Throne Room, used as the legislative chamber of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Fairbanks in his address was highly complimentary to the people of Hawaii for the progress they have made since the islands became a part of the United States, and for their eager grasp of the principles of American government. They have had problems to meet, but they have met them well and efficiently.

The Federal Government, he said, reserved to itself the right to revise and amend the laws passed by the Hawaiian Legislature, but it has never been necessary to wipe off the statute books a single law enacted by the local lawmakers.

Mr. Fairbanks addressed an audience that filled the legislative hall and overflowed into the lanais. In addition to the members of the House and Senate, who occupied the floor of the House, the galleries were filled with a large and enthusiastic audience, many of whom were women.

On the platform with Mr. Fairbanks were Governor Frear, President Smith of the Senate, and Speaker Holstein of the House. Secretary Mott-Smith, Judge Dole and Captain Ives occupied chairs near the dais on one side, while Mrs. Fairbanks and her daughter sat on the other side. The heads of departments and other Territorial officials were also present.

Mr. Fairbanks' address, which voiced a sincere appreciation of the hearty welcome extended to him by the people of Hawaii, was frequently applauded, and if any trace of his reported frigidity remained when he entered the door, it was melted by the warmth of the welcome given him by the Legislators and the others who gathered to listen to him.

Mr. Fairbanks was introduced by President W. O. Smith of the Senate, who took occasion to relate some of the difficulties in legislation which have confronted the Territory since its organization.

Our Citizenship
Senator Fairchild was called upon to extend the greeting of the Senate to the distinguished visitor. He said

LINK M'CANLESS LOSES DECISION
Law of Landlord And Tenant Expounded By Court

The Supreme Court sustained the exceptions in the case of The Dowsett Company, Ltd., vs. L. L. McCandless in a decision handed down this morning. The scyllabus says: "Estoppel; judgment against tenant, effect on landlord.—A judgment in ejectment in favor of M. against a tenant does not estop his landlord from subsequently bringing an action to quiet title to the same land against M. even though the landlord openly, avowedly and to the knowledge of plaintiff defended the ejectment action in the tenant's name."

Justice Wilder in opening his decision says: This is an action to quiet title to two small pieces of land at Halawa, Oahu. Defendant filed a plea in bar claiming that plaintiff was concluded by a former judgment against the Honolulu Plantation Co. and Woodlawn Fruit Co., Ltd., in an action of ejectment for the same pieces of land brought by him, the present defendant, as plaintiff, de-

Breckons Case Rotten---Thwing

Radical Reformer Roasts U.S. Attorney and Declares Senator Warran Is Crooked--Will Again Go After Scalp of Officer If Opportunity Offers--Thinks Taft Was Misled

"Should I have a chance, I shall certainly follow up the investigation of Breckons' affair,"—Rev. E. W. Thwing.

One of the passengers who arrived this morning in the Tenyo Maru was Rev. E. W. Thwing, who has been in China on business connected with opium reform work. He looked well and talked freely with the representatives of the press, who surrounded him on the dock.

In speaking of the Breckons affair, he stated that he (Breckons) was reinstated on account of the political influence of Senator Warren. "Senator Warren himself is one of the shady members of the Senate," said Thwing. "His character is not of the best. From what I have heard, I judge that he was connected in some way with the land scandal."

"As to Breckons," continued he, "it is a disgrace for the United States government to have such a man here in Hawaii. It is a disgrace to the United States citizens here to be represented by Breckons. President Roosevelt and former Attorney-General Bonaparte were certainly aware of the conduct of Mr. Breckons, otherwise they would not have removed him from office."

"As for President Taft, he is a good man, but I am afraid he does not know much about Breckons. Mr. Taft must have taken the advice of the present Attorney-General, and accordingly, reinstated him in office. Should I have a chance, I shall certainly follow up the investigation of Breckons' affairs. I am certain that Bishop Starbuck and the other members of the Ministerial Union do not think favorably of Breckons."

Thwing will remain here about six weeks and then return to China to carry on reformation work, having been appointed secretary of the International Reform Bureau with headquarters in Peking and Shanghai.

Governor and Mrs. Frear, ex-Vice-President Fairbanks, Mrs. Fairbanks and Mrs. Timmons, who went on an automobile trip around this island Saturday, returned at about 6 o'clock. The distinguished malihinis enjoyed the trip very much. A stop was made at Haleiwa, where luncheon was waiting.

Sheldon, chairman of the Rules Committee, protested. It was pretty late in the session to bring in such a resolution, unless the House wanted a whitewash. Furtado moved to table the resolution, declaring that this House has no business to make rules to govern the next House. Kalelopi moved the resolution be referred to the Rules Committee, and, ignoring the motion to table, the Speaker so referred it.

The Committee on Public Expenditures and Accounts reported on the resolution to pay D. L. Conkling $250 for his services to the Legislature, and recommended that on account of the "conscientious and faithful services of D. L. Conkling as clerk to the Federal disbursing officer of the appropriation for the Legislature of 1909 deserving of recognition at the hands of the House of Representatives," it recommended the adoption of the resolution. The report was approved.

Two hundred and thirty-five bills have been introduced in the House during the session, which is what the figure will be when the House adjourns sine die, it being too late to get any more through. All of these bills are out of the hands of committees and, with one exception, finally disposed of, so far as the House is concerned. One House Bill was on the order of the day for third reading this morning.

Eighty-seven bills have been tabled, 15 indefinitely postponed. Thirty-seven House bills have as yet failed to get past the Senate; 93 have been sent to the Governor, 66 of which have been signed and seven vetoed, the vetoes all being sustained. Two House bills were still this morning in Conference Committee hands. The Governor had 20 House Bills which he had neither signed nor vetoed. Some of these will probably be pocket vetoed.

Moore took the floor in opposition to the resolution as it then stood, calling attention to the great cost of cutting a street through from Hotel to Beretania, and expressing the belief that Fort street furnished ample means of communication.

The amendment found favor with the Senate, and the resolution passed. The first vote was objected to by Makekai, on the ground that he was on his feet trying to speak against the resolution when the vote was taken. He was afraid that, by passing the resolution, the Senate would be saddling the Territory with the expense of cutting the street through.

CATTLE STEALING CASE ON MAUI

Territory Gets Verdict in Long-Fought Case

(Special to the Bulletin) WAILUKU, Maui, April 24.—The last jury case of the March term of the Second Circuit Court was heard last Thursday, when they gave a verdict against the defendants in the case of the Territory vs. Robello, Pires, Kealoha, and Ma Fong of Omaopio, Makawao, for larceny of cattle from the Halekaka Ranch Co. C. W. Ashford aided the prosecution, while Judge Quarles championed the cause of the defendants. This was the same case that resulted in a mistrial during this term owing to one jurymen remaining until the end for the defendants. At this second hearing the case was a hard-fought legal battle between both attorneys, the case lasting several days, and the arguments put up will long be remembered by those who heard them. Judge Kingsbury sentenced the defendants as follows: Frank Robello to one year's imprisonment at hard labor, Frank Pires, ten months, Solomon Kealoha sentence suspended for thirteen months, while Ma Fong will be sent to the Reformatory School. The defendants will appeal to the Supreme Court on exceptions.

FAIRBANKS TALKS

(Continued from Page 1) The Territory has had many problems to contend with, and the fact that they have been worked out as they have is largely due to the fact that for 50 years the people of Hawaii have been fitting themselves for American citizenship. So when annexation came the Hawaiians were fairly well fitted for American citizenship. This is demonstrated, he said, by the fact that the Legislature, composed almost entirely of Hawaiians, compares favorably with the Legislatures of other States and Territories. Mr. Fairchild said the Territory owes much to the missionaries. "One thing that has been charged against us is that we are a one-crop country. That is true, but we have been trying to introduce other crops. But the planters have allowed themselves to be taxed to bring in other industries and to bring in people who may become American citizens. And in two years we will be on practically the same basis as the people on the mainland. We believe in home government. We believe each county and each municipality should choose its own officers. And we believe the Territory should be allowed to work out its own destiny." Representative Sheldon on behalf of the House extended the aloha nui of the members to Mr. Fairbanks. He said: "The honor has been conferred upon me to accord you, Mr. Fairbanks, a hearty welcome to our shores, or, as we Hawaiians are in the habit of saying, 'Aloha Nui.' "We feel that we have been particularly fortunate in having such a great and strong friend as yourself to help us. "The first matter of importance here was the establishment of popular government; placing the voting strength of the Territory in the hands of the Hawaiian-Americans. This showed us that the American people had such confidence in us that they thought it safe to trust local affairs to us. You will find that this trust has not been abused, and that our disposition is still, as it has always been on the part of Hawaiians, to welcome the traveler in our midst. "We of Hawaii have our problems to solve—problems which, to the men who guide the Nation's destiny, may seem insignificant, but to us they are real and serious. "A little more than ten years have passed since these islands were adopted by the United States, but already many changes have been made which tend to bring our life, social as well as political, in harmony with conditions on the mainland. Our aim is, through our own endeavors and with the assistance of our great and experienced friends, to so hasten progress that Hawaii in due time may reach her ultimate political goal—Statehood. "Being a Hawaiian-American myself, I can assure you, sir, that from the earliest civilization of the people of these islands, and right down through the changing periods of our government, a warm heart and a glad hand have always been extended to the people of the mainland. "On behalf of the members of this House, and as a Representative elected by the people, I extend to you our most hearty welcome, and hope that your stay with us will be most enjoyable and beneficial to yourself and to the members of your family, feeling assured, as I do, that every one in Hawaii will stand ready to do what he can to welcome you. Aloha."

"Since I came to Hawaii I have been more and more confirmed in the wisdom and far-sightedness of our judgment. "Your prosperity is our prosperity. Your honor our honor. Therefore we look upon your development with a friendly interest. "One of our speakers welcomed me as a stranger within your gates. That is true only figuratively, for under American institutions I am a member of your family. And if we tarry here too long I am afraid I shall lose some members of my family. "I not only congratulate Hawaii upon the excellence of her legislative department, but upon her other departments. I have studied the history of Hawaii during the ten years of your dwelling under the American flag with very great interest. I have observed that the people have chosen wisely in respect to those who make the laws. I have observed broad-minded statesmanship in the administration of the laws. I wish I could express my appreciation of each, but time forbids. But I am glad to be able to meet here your Executive, Governor Frear. "I am glad to observe that the laws are justly interpreted and that justice is accorded to all. "The Hawaiian Islands rest here in their majesty and their beauty. I will long remember my visit because of the sweet fragrance of the flowers, but above and beyond that by the inexpressibly sweet fragrance of your hospitality. "Some people get impatient with the members of the Legislature, and some members get impatient with themselves. They think they are slow; that they do not get on fast enough. The fact is that the Legislature is a deliberative body. The danger is not that we'll have too few laws; the danger is that we'll have too many laws. (Of course I do not refer to the Hawaiian Legislature.) The value of a legislator's service depends upon the value of the laws he enacts and the poor laws he does not enact. A member who at the end of the session does not find upon the statute books any laws with his own name need not feel disappointed if he has stopped the enactment of poor laws. "One of the faults of Legislatures is extravagance. This evil has insinuated itself in public concerns, even outside the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii. It is a difficult matter for a legislator to draw the line between necessary and unnecessary expenditures. They are sent by voters who demand that they bring back with them some measure of the public budget. So they sometimes advocate measures which are unwarranted. "It is important to understand that everything can't be accomplished in a day, or in a single legislative session. I was glad to hear the President of the Senate say that this Legislature has confined its expenditures nearly within the income. How nearly, he did not say, but it is something to have it approximately within. But it is better to have the expenditures entirely within the income.

"That people make the greatest progress who always listen to the wise voice of conservatism. "I find I am elaborating a mere word of courtesy into a speech. I don't know why it should be so. "I want in conclusion to thank you for your unbounded hospitality. I know not whether good fortune shall bring me here again. I hope it may. "I hope all good may come to the people of Hawaii, that their most optimistic dreams may be realized. It is the home of your birth. It is a splendid thing to owe allegiance to any State or Territory of the United States. Proud as you are of being Hawaiians, I am glad to see that you are prouder of the fact that you are American citizens. "Speaker Holstein made an address in which he stated that this was the proudest day of the session of 1909. He concluded by thanking the ex-Vice President for his presence.

"I am glad to observe that the laws are justly interpreted and that justice is accorded to all. "The Hawaiian Islands rest here in their majesty and their beauty. I will long remember my visit because of the sweet fragrance of the flowers, but above and beyond that by the inexpressibly sweet fragrance of your hospitality. ## ENTERTAINED ON MAUI

(Special to the Bulletin) WAILUKU, Maui, April 24.—Miss Louisa Harrison and five other lady friends from Honolulu have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Dutro at their Kalua home in Wailuku for the past two weeks. Last Monday evening the host and some of the gentlemen friends of the young ladies had a luau in honor of the thirty-second birthday of Miss Harrison. The affair was a very enjoyable one and the luau was interspersed with beautiful Hawaiian singing by the visitors until after midnight. Miss Harrison and her friends all left for home by last Wednesday's Claudine.

MEMBERS OF HOUSE RESURRECTED BILL

Change Their Minds And Pass Loan Measure Saturday

HOUSE

57th Day—Afternoon Session For the first time during the session the House had so much work on hand Saturday that it was necessary to hold a Saturday afternoon session to clear up the calendar.

A number of Senate bills were passed, and the House resurrected the Loan Appropriation bill, which it had buried in the morning, and, after saying its own conscience by cutting out Alfonso's $10,000 item for Honolulu water works, thereby reducing the total from $219,300 to $209,300, passed the bill along the Senate.

The House also took occasion to "honor" one of its own number by naming one of Alfonso's Hilo parks "Kealawa Park." What Hilo will think about this is not yet a matter of record and probably could not be published if it were.

The following bills passed their third reading:

- Senate Bill 76, relating to witnesses' fees and mileage, in criminal and grand jury cases.
- Senate Bill 148.
- Senate Bill 134, Robinson, providing that real and personal property to the value of $500 shall be exempt from the 1 per cent. tax.
- Senate Bill 147, Baker, relating to records of births, deaths, and marriages, making it the duty of the Secretary of the Board of Health to file such records received from the County Registrars.
- Senate Bill 112, the automobile tax measure, making the tax 1 cent per pound.
- Senate Bill 85, Harvey, to increase the salary of the Mayor's secretary to $1800.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH FROM BURNING

The house of Harry F. Davison, at Kapahulu, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon, and one of the children had a very narrow escape from an awful death. Mrs. Pierce, a neighbor, noticed that the house was on fire, and at once ran over to the building. She was just in time to rescue the children, the last one being taken out when the whole place was a mass of flame.

The parents were in town at the time of the fire, having left the children in charge of a Japanese servant. The Japanese, wishing to take a trip to see some friends, left the children in the servant's room, and the baby in some way got hold of a box of matches, and set fire to the house.

The fire had attained considerable headway before Mrs. Pierce noticed the blaze, and it was only with the greatest of exertion that she was able to convey the children to safety. It is owing to her prompt action that the children are alive today. The fire alarm was not turned in as there was no chance of saving the house, and there was no danger of the fire spreading as the house stands by itself and it not near any other building.

SHOOTING AT AIEA; THREE MEN INJURED

Sheriff Jarrett is down at Aiea plantation looking into the matter of three Japanese who are reported to have been shot at that place last night. It appears that Harada, who is alleged to be one of the bunch of thugs which was broken up during Sheriff Iauken's term of office, pulled a gun on some countrymen and shot down three of them. Harada then gave himself up to the police, and the facts of the matter were telephoned to Sheriff Jarrett.

One of the victims is shot in the stomach, another in the hip, and the third in the knee. The first man is reported to be in a very serious condition. The shooting seems to have been the result of a gambling dispute in which the three men became involved. Harada is said to be a real "bad man" and one who would stop at nothing.

Mr. Thwing's statement that Senator Warren is a rascal will not hurt Senator Warren.

Someone has said Roosevelt is out on an advertising campaign. If so, he is getting loads of it free.

Hawaii cannot do better than see a visitation from the Secretary of the Interior and the Commissioner of Immigration.

If Mr. Fairbanks gets away from Hawaii without being given an opportunity to take a hand in Hawaii's politics that are developing in Washington, he will be lucky.

One report has it that President Taft will make his own appointments in the Territory of Hawaii and not according to the ancient system. All those not specially interested in the maintenance of favoritism can afford to look on from the grand stand and see the fun. There is no doubt that Hawaii will be well governed while it is in the hands of American citizens.

Mr. Fairbanks' pleasant words will have a far-reaching influence in Hawaii. It is often that our people sneer at the "glittering generalities" prominent men throw out in their speeches on Hawaii's capacity for self-government. It is, nevertheless, a fact that these glittering generalities from men who have borne the burden and heat of our National government are an inspiration to the citizens of Hawaii to further improve on their already good record.

LITTLE LAND LEAGUE FARMS.

Hawaii is not the first section of the country to take up the idea that a man can make a comfortable home on an acre or two of land.

The Christian Science Monitor calls attention to the "Little Land League" that was organized with the purpose of getting small homes for the people and to which organization such men as J. Pierpont Morgan, Hamlin Garland, Booker T. Washington, Albert Shaw, and Bolton Hall lent their names, influence, and somewhat of financial assistance. The Monitor fears that the work is dropping, but it is assured that the period of quiet is being occupied with the preliminaries.

There are behind it a noble thought and a fine purpose. It is based primarily on the contention that a family of three can be maintained on a farm of two acres, and in sections of the country where the larger farm has long since been abandoned. Those who investigated the matter before the movement was organized declare that there is no dearth of such land which can be purchased in two-acre lots for from $200 to $250 and that properly conducted the Little Land League can divert from the crowded cities to these small farms a very large section of European immigrants, and especially those accustomed to farm work at home. To make these farms successful the intensive system employed in France, Belgium, Switzerland, and other countries would have to be adopted, and it would be a part of the Little Land League's undertaking to impart the necessary instruction to the small farmers.

The Little Land League has aims which extend beyond the mere settling of the poor on small holdings. It expects to win them to the land and to hold them on the land by changing other conditions, or rather by harmonizing other conditions to the new agriculture—by encouraging manufacturers to remove their works from congested centers out into the open country; by fostering the commercial and industrial upbuilding of the smaller cities, towns, and villages and by developing and establishing industries in such communities by building good roads; by improving the rural home and its environment; by broadening the practical efficiency of rural schools, and by the enlargement of home opportunities.

Nothing could be more commendable than the impulse behind such a movement. Even if it should fall short of attaining to its ideals, it must inevitably accomplish a great amount of good.

While the people of the mainland are endeavoring to open a practical plan by which the European can be drawn away from the large centers, it is certainly not chimerical for Hawaii to hope for the complete success of a movement to homestead the European, while at the same time guaranteeing him employment in adjoining fields at a good wage.

HAWAII AND MR. TAFT.

Mr. Taft is known as the "peacemaker" in Washington.

What is his position regarding the Territory of Hawaii?

One of the curiosities of the present situation in this Territory is the large amount of doubt that exists concerning the attitude of the President and the heads of Federal departments toward this Territory.

Possibly no one need worry and possibly it makes no difference with the progress of the Territory whether Mr. Taft is in sympathy with the policies over which his predecessor enthused or not. No doubt it will all work out in time, but there are some things regarding which the attitude of the Administration should be learned as soon as possible.

Within the charmed circle of the fact, the first thing wanted to know concerning Mr. Taft is, whether he will appoint the men to office in Hawaii whom the elect propose.

Let the elect settle this subject. There is much of moment outside the jobs, although it is hard for the elect to understand this—if they are not in possession of the jobs.

Mr. Taft's position on the tariff and sugar is pretty well understood, if the dispatches from Washington state the truth, and we think they do. The sugar tariff will remain at the present rate, the only change being the admission of the 300,000 tons annually from the Philippines. This is entirely satisfactory to Hawaii.

Just at the present moment there is nothing of more importance to the future of this Territory than the attitude of the Administration on European immigration.

The assumption is that Mr. Taft is as enthusiastic over European immigration as was Mr. Roosevelt. The assumption is that Mr. Sargent's successor knows all about the situation here and will do all that Mr. Sargent would do.

But how much do the officials and large interests of the Territory know of the opinions and purposes of these men?

Have any steps been taken to learn the exact situation?

Is there anyone in the Cabinet to take up the cause of Hawaii with the aggressive enthusiasm, say, of Mr. Garfield?

And if there is not, what steps if any have been taken to enlist the personal interest of the new Cabinet officers in securing exact and first-hand information of the situation in the islands?

Are the people of Hawaii being silenced into a passive position by assuming that President Taft is "all wrapped up" in the Philippines and therefore does not care for Hawaii?

Have the reports of President Taft's one-time antagonism for Mr. F. M. Hatch made our people unconsciously take a defensive position, and, instead of asking questions in Washington, wait for someone there to throw a brickbat?

Whether the people here are afraid of Mr. Taft and his advisers or are simply asleep, there is not the slightest doubt that it is about time for a move to be made to get at the facts. To learn, for instance, whether in asking the immigrants under the new Territorial law, the Territory is safe to proceed under the rulings of the former Administration.

This Territory is so subject to the Executive opinions and sometimes of Executive whims that it is quite necessary to know the opinions and the whims before proceeding.

Now that the Legislature is about to adjourn, it will be of advantage to the Territory to gain more information concerning the status of our affairs in Washington.

POLITICAL VIEWS.

It is to be hoped that no one has kidnaped the Vice-President of the United States.—Scranton Tribune.

All that any friend of direct nominations asks of any voter is to inform himself fully on the facts and give them and the arguments based thereon careful and honest consideration. It is to be hoped that the Governor will make it convenient to speak in various places in the State and, going straight to the people, tell them what he thinks and why.—Utica Press.

The party leader who is not in the game for purely selfish reasons must accept the Governor's view. The party leader who does not accept the direct nomination is apt to be looked upon as one who places his personal ambition above his service to the party and the rights of the individual voter. He is, therefore, not a leader, but a driver—a boss.—Buffalo Times.

It will be noticed that President Taft is making many changes in the diplomatic service of the country. Owing to his close connection with the Roosevelt administration, the President is in a position to know who will suit him as minister or ambassador and who will not. Many expected that the Roosevelt selections would be acceptable to him. It is possible that some of them were as unsatisfactory to the former President as to the man now in office and that Mr. Roosevelt would himself have changed them had he been re-elected.—Scranton Republican.

LEGISLATORS HAVE VERY FINE LUAU

The members of the Legislature, on pretence of inspecting the Boys' Industrial Home, went on a picnic to Waialeale yesterday and report having had a very enjoyable time. A perfunctory inspection of the school was made, but as the appropriation bill has already been passed, the inspection could do no good.

The real event of the trip was the luau, at which many of the lawmakers distinguished themselves and were strictly in their element.

PROPOSES BY CABLE; "YES" ANSWERS GIRL

And Now Honolulu Lass Is On Her Way To Wed Her Choice

San Jose, April 13.—Pretty Edna Gorman, the 18-year-old daughter of H. A. Gorman, prominent in social and financial circles in Honolulu, is speeding across 2100 miles of ocean in answer to a proposal of marriage received by cable. On her arrival here she will wed Gerald P. Beaumont.

The romance which will culminate in the ceremony which is to take place immediately after the arrival of the steamer Hilonian, April 28th of this month, began in the spring of 1907, when Beaumont, writing to a mutual friend in Honolulu, enclosed a note to Miss Gorman, whom he had never seen but of whom his friends had written. The correspondence continued for several months, when Miss Gorman came to San Jose.

At that time Beaumont was playing in the Passion Play at Santa Clara College, and her first view of her future husband was from the audience. After the performance a relative of Miss Gorman introduced the young couple over the telephone. A meeting was arranged for the following day and the unusual romance was on in earnest.

The courtship progressed to the point of a tacit understanding when Miss Gorman was obliged to return to Honolulu last fall.

"PEACEMAKER" IS TAFT'S TITLE President Is At Work On This Line Constantly

HARMONY DINNER THAT MAY GET SOME RESULTS

Democrats Making Friends — Hard To Reach President But He Is Very Cordial—Our "Bill"

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 1.—President Taft's attempts to keep all the official folks around Washington on amicable terms are becoming the topic of the city and of the country. Lately they have been reviving his old-time title of "Secretary of Peace." He has been giving a dinner at which warring political notables were bidden to break bread around the same festive board. He has been making up to Senators of all parties and factions; likewise to Representatives of all factions and parties. He has made the members of the old Ananias Club feel at home when they came around the White House offices. He has been making a real chum of the Vice President—a very unusual thing for a President to do; and he has been getting on swimmingly with the members of his Cabinet. Peace and harmony are everywhere.

Some say the harmony dinner at the White House the other evening did not avail anything, that Floor Leader Payne and Representative "Gus" Gardner of Massachusetts, the latter the leader of the Republican insurgents, shook hands only in a most formal way as they entered the President's presence as fellow-guests. Some say as much of Representative Champ Clark, the minority leader, and the leader of the Democratic insurgents, Representative John Joseph Fitzgerald, of Brooklyn. But then, there is no doubt these gentlemen all felt better because the President had invited them and their wives around to the first of the formal White House banquets. It will be easier now for them one of these days to agree to let bygones be bygones and to shake hands across the bloody chasms.

But the way the President and the Vice President are chumming it has set all the oldest inhabitants to reviewing similar cases of Presidents and Vice Presidents in the days past and gone. There have not been many such instances. President Roosevelt, of course, never had but one Vice President to get along with and it is a matter of common knowledge in Washington that President Roosevelt did not like Vice President Fairbanks and allowed no opportunity to pass without giving Mr. Fairbanks a good, stiff dig. President McKinley used to be real friendly with Vice President Hobart and folks here are recalling that as a parallel between the friendly relations of President Taft and Vice President Sherman. It is well known that President Cleveland had little use for Vice President Stevenson, Harrison and Morton used to drive their horses together pretty well, but Mr. Harrison was not very cordial in any of his official relations. His great worth as a President, however, has come to be recognized, and in Washington many think they see that President Taft is building his administration along about the same lines that Harrison built. The people are now in a mood to appreciate that kind of a President more than they were in Harrison's time.

It is not so easy to get inside the White House offices now as it was prior to the Fourth of March, perhaps, but it is very noticeable that the era of good-will which has been growing has brought a great many people there who had not been going theretofore. A great many visitors of prominence used to come to Washington and depart therefrom, without going near the White House; now nearly all of them find time to go up the Avenue and at least call in to pay their respects. The difficulty in seeing Mr. Taft is due solely to the pressure upon his time. Once one gets within, he is sure of a cordial welcome.

The Democrats swarm the anteroom almost daily. They have erands there and are made to feel that Mr. Taft is the President of all parties. And much as they may declaim politically against the Administration there is a very kindly feeling among the Democrats of Senate and House for President Taft. That is a very notable evidence of the era of peace which the President is personifying in his administration.

He has gotten upon especially friendly terms with the Judiciary in and about Washington. The Justices of the Supreme Court, the Judges of the District of Columbia courts and the Judges of the Court of Claims have nearly all been around to the White House offices to call upon the new President. In former times quite a number of these judges were at outs for one cause or another with the Executive. President Taft used to be a United States Circuit Judge himself and knows something of the way judges are accustomed to looking at affairs. He tells his best stories when the brethren of the bench come to see him.

The members of the new Cabinet are growing in favor in Washington even as the new President is growing in favor. They are all developing like big, brainy men and Washington is inferring that the new President is to prove himself a good judge of his fellow citizens. There is a great difference in Presidents in that regard. The town is talking much about the big things that Knox and Wickersham and Meyer and Dickinson and MacVeagh are doing. They are the kind of Cabinet officers who "take" with the discriminating Washington public and large things are expected of them as the Administration progresses. Nowhere else in the country is so little attention paid to mere office as in Washington, but probably nowhere else in the country is there so much real appreciation of official greatness and of the man in office who makes good.

Merchants Moving To Wipe Out An Evil

BENEFIT IN JAPAN IT IS USURY HIRE

What System Is and How it Operates. General Cooperation Is Sought to Prevent Its Continuance

The Japanese Merchants Association is calling on all its members and asking the cooperation of all the business people of Hawaii to put a stop to the pernicious "Tanomoshi" system, by which a great number of the poorer Japanese are being practically robbed of their earnings.

Attorneys have been consulted and there was at one time a move on foot to bring a bill before the Legislature in order to regulate the "business" by law. This was deemed inadvisable, consequently the movement to bring all the influences possible to bear through the various avenues open to the plantation managements and the business men of the Territory.

A description of what "Tanomoshi" is and how it operates has been furnished by the Japanese merchants and follows:

A given number of persons, say ten, form an association and each contribute to a common fund, a certain sum, say ten dollars. Each of these ten persons, or as many of them as may desire to borrow the fund, thus accumulated, amounting to the sum of one hundred dollars, make a sealed bid for the loan, stating the premium he is willing to pay therefor, and that bidder who has offered a highest premium for the loan, is awarded the same. Assuming that A has offered a premium of twenty-five dollars for the loan, and he being highest bidder, is awarded the same. He is paid in cash, the sum of seventy-five dollars, his premium of twenty-five dollars being deducted from the sum borrowed, and he then executes to each of his nine co-partners, a promissory note for the sum of ten dollars, payable in ten months. The note is generally indorsed by two persons. The premium paid by A for the loan is equally divided among the parties, other than A, who receives no part thereof.

In second month, the remaining nine persons, excepting A, make a sealed bid for the loan, stating the premium he is willing to pay therefor. A having borrowed the fund in first month already, he has no more right to make bid, but he must have to pay ten dollars at this time. Assuming that B has offered a premium of thirty dollars for the loan and he as being highest bidder, is awarded the same, he is paid in cash, the sum of seventy dollars, his premium of thirty dollars being deducted from the sum borrowed.

TANAMOSHI.

Of sixty dollars together with Ten Dollars which is paid by A, his premium of thirty dollars being deducted from the sum borrowed, and he then executes to each of his eight co-partners, a promissory note for the sum of the ten dollars, payable in nine months. The premium paid by B for the loan, is equally divided among the parties, other than A and B, who receive no part thereof. B gives back to A the promissory note which is given by A to him in the previous month, as A paid Ten Dollars.

The foregoing procedure will be continued the third month, fourth month and etc—until the expiration of the tenth month, that is until last person, receives money in the last month. In the last month, there being no bidder, one who remains until the last month, receives whole sum of one hundred dollars.

In some Tanomoshi, promissory notes are used not in regular legal form, but use a simple form written by Japanese characters.

HISTORY OF TANAMOSHI.

The original purpose of Tanomoshi was very good, and it was practiced in Japan since olden times, especially in the country districts where means of money circulation were deficient.

Supposing a man was suffering from poverty or met some calamity or misfortune, his friends or neighbors, with idea to help him, put up some money, so much each, and helped him from his sufferings temporarily, and according to a certain agreement made by and between him and the helpers at that time, he paid back to all of his helpers one after another every month, without interest, until all of the helpers were fully paid. As to the order of the helpers to whom money to be paid monthly, was decided by "lot" every month.

All tanomoshi which are now practiced to a considerable extent by the Japanese in Hawaii, was, perhaps, originated with good idea as above mentioned; but the nature of tanomoshi in Hawaii at present is entirely changed. Most of tanomoshi which are so extensively practiced by Japanese all over the Territory, are formed simply for the purpose of money-making schemes for getting very high interest. There is being no friend or neighbor who needs any help, they form tanomoshi and begin to make bid from first starting, and for Ten-dollars-payment-tanomoshi, there is premium of three or four dollars for each person every month. So the consequence will be, while creditors are enjoying a big premium, debtors are suffering more and more. Some persons who are earning even very small wages join three or four of Ten-dollars-payment-tanomoshi, and as soon as one of them expires, join some new tanomoshi again and so there is no time to get free from tanomoshi all around the year. Some persons are taking tanomoshi as their regular business, join thirty or forty tanomoshi and are getting very high interest.

New comers of the Japanese immigrants, soon after their arrival will be easily infected by above mentioned evil habit and join tanomoshi although they have no savings of money yet; and without considering carefully about the high interest of tanomoshi, they get it and either remit to Japan or spend for some other purposes. They realize, however, soon afterward, the hardness of paying back of tanomoshi monthly, they join three or four tanomoshi simply for the purpose of devising to raise money, and finally they spend all of their monthly earning for payment of tanomoshi interest. Consequently there is no means to pay store accounts which furnishes their daily necessary goods, and they finally abscond or go into bankruptcy.

This evil of tanomoshi scheme reached to its climax at present; and those who suffer mostly, either directly or indirectly, from the injurious effect of tanomoshi, are Japanese store keepers as well as other nationalities in all the plantations. As the business condition of these storekeepers become unsafe by losing so much, its result comes directly to wholesale houses of Honolulu as well as affecting the financial condition of Hawaii in general.

This tanomoshi is not a problem concerning the Japanese community alone, but an economic question of Hawaii in general. As it acts, directly or indirectly, the interest of business houses, planters and community at large, we, all of the residents in Hawaii, no matter what difference of race may be, uniting together, must endeavor to stop the pernicious results of the scheme.

We wish to call attention of Attorney-General's Department to the fact that interest of tanomoshi is at such high rate and it is clear that tanomoshi is violation of law (Act 38, Laws 1905) against usury. There-fore prosecute them criminally.

On the other hand, encourage them to save their hard earned money by depositing in saving banks or in some other safe way, instead of joining with such evil schemes as tanomoshi. And restore them from their present poor condition to more solid and firm financial state, and also encourage them to settle down and to engage with their industries earnestly and do their part for the development and benefit of Hawaii.

"THE GIRL FROM THE WEST" AT ORPHEUM

SCENE FROM "THE GIRL FROM THE WEST."

The Elfeldt company opens their third week at the Orpheum tonight, presenting "The Girl From the West," one of the sweetest and truest stories of mining camp and early days that has ever been offered to American theatre goers. Every character is true in its sketching and the heart interest is exquisite. There is much that is new in the play, but there is no bit of obvious theatricalism for applause or emotion, no highly colored romances which has put on Americanism like a false face, but just a plain story of a woman wronged and her faithful friends fight to see her righted. It is a story for men and women to know and applaud. Tender old-fashioned love is the essence of the play, and where there is no love story there is nothing to interest. There is a lot of crisp comedy furnished by the various followers of a western mining camp, a crazy Chinaman, an old Judge that has been a Justice of the Peace before he came west, but with his small knowledge of the law he has arisen to be the Blackstone of the county. There is a virility and an appeal to the interest of every man, woman and child in this true picture of life in a mining town which not only delights while witnessing the performance, but sends every one away enthusiastic. The scenes of the play are laid in northern California and one of the beautiful stage pleasures fight to see her righted. It is true is Mr. Shasta by moonlight. The play is case with the full strength of and applaud. Tender old-fashioned love is the essence of the play, and where there is no love story there is nothing to interest. There is a lot of

FIFTH CAVALRY BEAT FORT SHAFTER AFTER HARD GAME—NATIONAL GUARDS TOO GOOD FOR MARINES—FINE BASEBALL AND ROOTING

How did the grandstand tremble from the impact of many feet, and how did the old shack vibrate with the cheers that went up when the N. G. H. team scored four—yes, four—runs in the second inning of their game against the Marines! The fans simply acted as if all Hawaii had just beaten a first-class team from the Coast. Hats went up in the air, and the yells must have been heard at Ewa.

The start of the Guards had been so miserable that people were wondering what was going to happen next. Bushnell was the first man up to bat, and Hines, for the Marines, quickly sent him to the right-about without his making connection with the sphere; then Kaal faced the deadly twirler, and it was one, two, three for him, too; Lota followed and Hines, tying himself in a knot, passed the Guardsman three that he never saw, much less hit. Then the Marine bunch of fans went up in the air; yells of, "What about not getting to second base! Wow!"

"Who is it now?" "You would put it in the paper, would you?" "Do the bunch of you think you can score once today?" It was certainly a merry party for about five minutes, and the Guardsmen's rooters could only say, "Wait a bit; we will make you do the balloon act before we are through with your bunch." And, say! how they did astonish the Marines when they came up for their second! Why, the men were coming in over the home-plate so often that it was hard to keep track of them, and doubts were expressed as to the correctness of the tally when four runs were put up on the board. But there was no mistake; Lemon hit a dandy two-bagger; Sumner got to first on center field's error; Soares made first, and Lemon got to third; Kaal made first on a good hit to left field; Lemon died at the home-plate; Sumner to third, and then Burns up to bat. Burns got to first safe and Sumner came home, Soares advancing to third. Marcellino came up to bat with the bases full, and takes base on a free pas, forcing Soares home. Kaal to third and Bushnell took strike, making a two-bagger, bringing home Burns and Kaal. Four runs was the tale of joy, and then the circus started in the grandstand.

The Guards kept things going from that on, and after scoring two in the third and one in the fourth, rested in the fifth and sixth, and then, waking up once more, made four in the seventh. The Marines scored one run in the first, and that was their limit.

The first game between the Fort Shafter lads and the "Fighting Fifth" from Lilehua was also an exciting event, and kept the fans going all the time. The Shafter bunch scored two in the first, and led by that score up till the third, when the Fifth made no less than five runs; after that it was all over with the infantry, and the Cavalry boys, hitting up one more in both the fifth and sixth, romped home winners to the tune of seven to two. Moran pitched good ball for the Shafter team, and has a trick something like "Our Bill Burns"—of throwing to first without changing his style or showing any symptoms of a balk. Talking of balks reminds that in the seventh inning of the N. G. H.-Marine game Kaal, who was on third, was allowed to walk home on a balk by Pitcher Ramsey.

In the Guardsmen's second inning Burns in trying to get home in a hurry collided with Catcher Anderson of the Marines, and laid him out cold. It took some hard massaging and plenty of cold water to bring the injured man to his senses once more. Anderson had to retire and George Davis took his place for the rest of the game. Butler and Hartley formed the battery for the Cavalry boys, and did real good work; Shephard on first also played dandy ball.

The Hawaiian band played right through the afternoon, and their music was much appreciated by everyone. The first ball of the Military League games was pitched by Major Long, and A. K. Vierra made a noble effort to hit it; his attempt resulted in a foul. About fifteen hundred people attended the game, and the enthusiasm ran high all the time; in fact it is a long time since such fine rooting has been heard at the baseball grounds. The whole layout was a huge success, and too much credit cannot be given to the military men who have done so much to wake up the baseball public of Honolulu, and one thing is certain, and that is that as long as Uncle Sam's boys are in Hawaii—and that will be always—so long will baseball flourish as it has never done before.

Judging from the opening games of the series, all the teams will show up well in the competition, and although the Marines got their good and hard yesterday, they were laboring under a handicap after losing Anderson, their catcher. The Marines will do much better at their next attempt, and as they are not easily dismayed, may be depended on to put up a great fight at their next game.

Kahului Beats Healanl At Walluku

(Special to the Bulletin)

WAILUKU, Maui, April 24. —

There was a goodly number of baseball enthusiasts present at the baseball game between the Kahuluis and the Healanis at Wells Park last Sunday afternoon, the score being 11 to 5 in favor of the Kahuluis. Ah Lo and Clement were the battery for the victorious team, while Bento and H. Meyer pitched for the Healanis. It was evident that the team from Pao-pohaku needed a little more finishing touches, which its president, Dr. St. Sure, admits, but the young fellows from the old depot, having lots of vim and stamina, will yet surprise the baseball fans of Walluku. Ah Lo of Kahului, a new wonder, struck out nine, while Bento struck out one and Meyer 3. Joaquin Garcia umpired the game, while G. B. Schraeder acted as scorer. The game tomorrow, at Wells Park, will be between the Stars and Healanis. Surveyor J. K. Kahookole has been surveying Wells ground this week per order of the County Supervisors to find out the exact area needed for park-site purposes. Wells Park proper is about four and one-quarter acres, down to the Spreckels ditch, but the Supervisors would like to secure ten more acres on the Wahee side of the plantation irrigating ditch, if possible.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

Lee was helped back to his stand and called for order, but the crowd poked fun at him and began moving about restlessly till some one shouted a motion to adjourn and there arose a chorus of seconders.
As Poleon and Gale walked home the Frenchman said, "Dat was nerry t'ing to do."
"It's a cinch," agreed Gale, "unless somebody gets Stark first."
When they were come to his door the trader paused and, looking back over the glowing tents and up at the star sprinkled heavens, remarked, as if concluding some train of thought, "If that boy has got the nerve to take a nigger thief out of a mine's meeting and hold him against this whole town he wouldn't hesitate much at taking a white man, would he?"
"Waal," hesitated the other, "mebbe dat would depend on de crime."
"Suppose it was—murder?"
"Ha! We ain't got no men lak dat in Flambeau."
"They said good night, and the old man entered his house to find Aluna waiting for him.

Burrell took his prisoner to the barracks, where he placed him under guard, giving instructions to hold him at any cost, not knowing what wild and reckless humor the new citizens of Flambeau might develop during the night, for it is men who have always lived with the letter of the law tight upon their necks who run without when it is removed.
After he had taken every precaution he went out into the night, again and fought with himself as he had fought all that day and all the night before—in fact, ever since old Thomas had come to him after leaving Necla and had so emphatically shaped his talk that Burrell never suspected his object until he perceived his position in such a clear light that the young man looked back upon his work with startled eyes. The corporal had spoken garrulously of his officer's family, of their pride and of their love for his profession; and dwelt enthusiastically upon the lieutenant's future and the length he was sure to go and finally drifted into the same story he had told Necla. Burrell at last sensed the meaning of the crafty old soldier's arguing, pleading, persuading. She was the equal of any woman in the world, they said, in mind; in purity and in innocence. He hated himself for hesitating, he rallied at his own indecision, and then when he had justified his love and persuaded himself that he was right in seeking this union there would rise again the picture of his people, their chagrin and what would result from such a marriage.

He had wandered far during this debate, clear past the town and out her that he had been approached by men who wished to lease the claims he held for her. It would prove an expensive way to develop her holdings, he said, and she would run no risks. Moreover, it would be rapid and insure a quick return, for a lease so near to proved territory was in great demand. After some discussion this was arranged, and Meade as trustee allotted her ground in tracts, as Lee had done. Poleon followed suit, but the trader chose to prospect his own claims and to that end called in a train of stiff backed Indian packers, moved a substantial outfit to the creek and thereafter spent much of his time in the hills, leaving the store to Dorot. He seemed anxious to get away from the camp and hide himself in the woods. Stark was almost constantly occupied at his saloon, for it was a mint and ran day and night. Runnon was busy with the erection of a substantial structure of squared logs, larger than the trading post, destined as a dance hall, theater and gambling house.
Burrell entered into a season of penance and flagellation of spirit, lightened only by the moments when he was with Necla, and when she made him forget all else. This damnable decision goaded him to self contempt. He despised himself for his weakness. His social instincts and training, his sense of duty and the amenities of life that proud men hold dear throbbed steadily, untriflingly at his reason, while the little imp of impulse sat grinning wickedly, ready to pop out and upset all his high resolutions.
It was on a heavenly day, spiced with the faintest hint of autumn, that Necla received the news of her good fortune. One of her lenders came into the post to show her and Poleon a bag of dust. He and his partner had found the pay streak finally, and he had come to notify her that it gave promise of being very rich, and now that its location was demonstrated no doubt the other "laymen" would have it within a fortnight. As all of them were ready to begin staking as soon as the ground could be stripped, undoubtedly they would be able to take out a substantial stake before winter settled and the first frost closed them down.

She took the news quietly, but with shining eyes, though her pleasure was no greater or more genuine than Poleon's, who grasped both her hands in his and shouted gleefully:
"Bliss! I'm glad! You'll be ricker gal for sure now an' wear plintee fine dress lak I fetch you. Jus' t'ink, you sh' gol' on your place more quecker dan your fader, an' he's good mine too. Ha! Dat's bully!"
"Oh, well, they will find it on your claims very soon," she replied.
He shook his head. "You better knock wood w'en you say dat. Mebbe I draw de blank again. Nobody can't tell. I've do de gam' t'ing before, an' dose men w'at been workin' my groun' doin' gettin' party blue."
"When you do become a Flambeau king," she continued, "what will you do with yourself? Surely you won't continue that search for your far country. It could never be so beautiful as this." She pointed to the river that never changed and yet was never the same and to the forests, slightly tinged with the signs of the coming season.
"It's very fine," agreed the Canadian. "I don't see w'at anybody would care for livin' on dem cities w'en dere's so much nice place outside."
"Yes," said Necla. "I've no doubt one would get tired of it soon and long for something to do and something really worth while, but I should like to try it once, and I shall as soon as I'm rich enough. Wouldn't you come along?"
"I don't know," he said thoughtfully. "Mebbe so I stay here, mebbe so I tak' my canoe an' go away. For long t'm' I 'ink dis Flambeau she's de promiss' lan' I hear callin' to me, but I don't know yet w'at to do."
"What kind of place is that land of yours, Poleon?"
"Ha! I never see 'im, but she's been cryin' to me ever since I'm little boy. It's a place w'er I don't get too hot on de summer an' too col' on de winter; it's a place w'er birds sing an' flowers blossom an' de sun shine an' w'er I can sleep widout dreamin' 'bout it all de t'm'."
"Why, it's the land of content. You'll never discover it by travel. I'll tell you a secret, Poleon. I've found it—yes, I have. It lies here." She laid her hand on her breast. "Father Barnum told me the story of your people and how it lives in your blood—that hunger to find the far places. It's what drove the voyageur and coureur du bois from Quebec to Vancouver and from the Mississippi to Hudson bay. The wanderlust was their heritage, and they pushed on and on without rest, like the salmon in the spring, but they were different in this—that they never came back to die."
There was a look of great tenderness in his eyes as he bent toward her and searched her face, but she was not thinking of him, and at length he continued:
"Fader Barnum he's got to be here nex' Sunday for cheer up dem Injun. Constantine she's got de letter."
"Do you know," said Necla wistfully, "I've always wanted him to marry me."
"You t'inkin' 'bout marry on some feller, eh?" said the other, with an odd grin. "Waal, w'y not? He'll be here all day an' night. S'pose you do it. Mos' anybody w'at ain't got some wife already will be glad for marry on you, an' mebbe some feller w'at has got wife too! If you don't lak dem an' if you're got to marry on somebody you can be wife to me."
Necla laughed lightly. "I believe you would marry me if I wanted you to. You've done everything else I've ever asked. But you needn't be afraid. I won't take you up." In all her life this man had never spoken of love to her, and she had no hint of the dream he cherished.
While they were talking a boat had drawn inshore and made fast to the bank in front of them. An Indian landed and, approaching, entered into talk with the Frenchman.
By and by Poleon turned to the girl and said:
"Here's hundred marten skin come in. You min' de store w'e'll I mak' trade w'it dis man."
Together the two went down to the boat, leaving Necla behind, and not long after Runnon sauntered up to the store and addressed her familiarly.
"Hello, Necla! I just heard about the strike on your claim. That's fine and dandy."
She acknowledged his congratulations curtly, for, although it was customary for most of the old timers to call her by her Christian name, she resented it from this man. She chose to let it pass, however.
"I had some good news last night myself," he continued. "One of my men has hit some good dirt, and we'll know what it means in a day or so. I'll gamble we're into the money big, though, for I always was a lucky cuss. Say, where's your father?"
"He's out at the mine."
"We've used up all of our bar sugar at the saloon, and I want to buy what you've got."
"Very well; I'll get it for you."
He followed her inside, watching her graceful movements and attempting, with his free and easy insolence, to make friendly advances; but, seeing that she refused to notice him, he became piqued and grew bolder.
"Look here, Necla; you're a mighty pretty girl. I've had my eye on you ever since I landed, and the more I see of you the better I like you."
"It isn't necessary to tell me that," she replied. "The price of sugar will be just the same."

Copy is the substance that gives life to advertising space. The value of the space depends in a large measure on the quality of the copy. Good copy has that intangible something about it that lifts a great picture above the level of a mere painting. The canvas of each may be alike, the colors from the same tubes, laid on by the same brushes, yet the result may have a market value of $100,000 a square foot as a Meissonier, or $5 a square foot as hack work.

We have given the same study to Advertising as the man does who studies Art, or the man who studies Law. We write copy for effect---to effect sales. During the eight years we have been engaged solely in the advertising business we have secured excellent results for many of our clients to whom we will be pleased to refer you.

SPORTS

Hilo Season Is Started Off Well

HILO, Hawaii, April 26. — The opening of the baseball season last Sunday afternoon was a gala event. The fans of both sexes turned out in great force, and Mooheau Park presented a gay scene. The players met in front of the band stand, whence they marched, headed by the band, around the field. President Fetter pitched the first ball. His arm was in fine trim, and ex-President Wise, who held the bat, was unable to find his well-delivered balls. Dick Lyman, who officiated as catcher, covered himself with glory, picking up every ball. Wise was fined a dollar for talking back to the umpire, and then the first game of the season was begun, the Mooheaus and the Hilos taking the field first. The line-up was as follows:

Mooheau—Todd, c.; Canario, p.; A. Desha, 1b.; Teves, 2b.; O'Brien, 3b.; Sheldon, ss.; A. Swanson, lf.; Morehead, cf.; Frank Dias, rf.

Hilo—H. Brown, c.; Sol. Anakelea, p.; Easton, 1b.; Riker, 2b.; De Mello, 3b.; Lyman, ss.; Bill Ah Hip, lf.; Napier, cf.; Kealoa, rf.

The game was not as interesting as it might have been owing to the way in which the Hilo team took the lead right from the beginning, opening the first inning with four runs to its credit. The Hilo boys easily found Canario's balls, and gained a lead which their opponents were unable to get up to. After a couple of innings the Mooheaus placed Sheldon in the box in Canario's place, and this resulted in a change for the better, but even then the Hilos showed their superiority all around. Solomon Anakelea pitched a nice game for them, the Mooheaus being unable to connect with his delivery, except in a few isolated cases. The game resulted in a victory by a score of eight to two in favor of the Hilos. Of the Hilo runs Kealoa gathered in three, Solomon two, while Lyman, Easton, and Ah Hip each bagged one. The two runs of the Mooheaus were made by Todd and Desha.

The score by innings was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Mooheau	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	0	— 2
Hilo	4	0	2	0	2	0	0	— 8

The most spectacular feature of the game was a double play by the Mooheaus from second base to shortstop, who covered second, to first.

The Junior game resulted in a victory for the Young Hilos, who defeated the Stars to the tune of 7 to 4. The line-up of the teams was as follows:

Stars—Ah Fook, p.; V. Carvalho, c.; F. Kaitenui, 1b.; M. Vierra, 2b.; A. Oliver, 3b.; Peter Victor, ss.; Bill Wise, lf.; Tow Kal, cf.; F. Vierra, rf. Young Hilos—Kaohai, p.; Alona, c.; Swan, 1b.; Wm. Brown, 2b.; Frenedo, 3b.; Boxer, ss.; Watson, lf.; J. Lewis, cf.; Frog, rf.

The score by innings was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Stars	0	0	0	4	0	0	0	— 4
Y. Hilos	0	1	1	0	1	0	1	— 7

The runs to the credit of the Young Hilos were made by Frog, Boxer, Alona, Brown, Swan, Frenedo, and Lewis, who bagged one each. For the Stars, Bill Wise, Carvalho, Ah Fook, and Kaitenui gathered in one each. The game was umpired by Geo. A. Cool while Maa kept the official score.

Farewells Are Too Good For Oahu

The championship game between the Marines and Kewalos did not come off yesterday owing to the Marines being otherwise engaged. The Atkinson grounds, however, were occupied by the Farewells and Oahu, and a good, close game resulted in a win for the Farewells by a score of 9 to 8. The Oahu were very strong in the first inning, making no less than four runs. The Farewells, however, came along with two in the first and again two in the second, going ahead, scored one in the third and again two in the fourth. The Oahu made two in the sixth and two in the ninth, but were just one run shy of the necessary number to win. The following is the line-up of the teams:

Farewells — Louis Rosa, cf.; M. Dias, ss.; M. Alves, lf-2b.; M. Souza, lf-2b.; J. Alves, 1b.; Ah On, p.; M. Perry, 3b.; J. Domingos, rf.; A. Souza, c.

Oahu—M. Philip, p.; Dice Box, lf-rf; Alameda, rf; M. Ferreira, p-1b.; J. Fetado, lf; A. Mendonca, c.; J. Mendonca, 3b.; M. Costa, ss-p; J. Gomes, cf.

AMUSEMENTS

ART THEATER

There will be a distinct change in the program at the Art Theater this evening and there will be pictures that will startle the audience. Manager Lawson has secured some of the best pictures that have ever been shown on the Coast, and they will be seen here this afternoon for the first time. Last week's success is worthy a repeat, but in accordance with the custom of the Art, there will be no repetitions unless there is a general demand on the part of the patrons of the house. The fact that the attendance at the Art has not diminished during the season of theatricals at the other theaters speaks well for the pictures shown.

THE PARK THEATER

There will be moonlight this week and the attendance at the Park Theater should be large, inasmuch as the program is especially selected with a view to pleasing a critical audience. Entire change of program goes on tonight. Some new films and very good ones will be shown—a Chicago baseball picture showing the New York and Chicago White Sox teams at play. The Melotte Sisters will sing "I'm the Only Star That Twinkles on Broadway." Geo. Milne has a good sentimental song.

THE SAN FRANCISCO THEATER

This pretty open-air theater with its prize nights and its amateur night, is growing in popularity. The excitement of drawing prizes on Thursday night and the funny amateur stunts on Friday night draw big crowds. New films go on this week and the music is always good at the San Francisco.

POLICE COURT JOTTINGS

Mr. Leeds, a guest at the Moana Hotel, lost his diamond cuff buttons whilst out swimming last Thursday. The articles are valued at three hundred dollars, and the police, who were informed of the theft, are very sanguine that the buttons will be recovered before long. The "fences" are becoming very scared of buying stolen goods nowadays, as Chief Leal is hot on the trail of such evildoers.

Frank Scandland, who has not been heard of for some eighteen months, is being inquired for by the Executive office of the State of Kentucky. Scandland's mother is heartbroken at her son's silence, and she fears that he is dead. District Attorney Breckons received a letter from the Governor's secretary containing the information, and he will be very pleased to get any news of the young fellow.
