WONDERFUL Blood-Purifying Effect —OF— Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Mr. Charles Stephenson, a well-known
Railway Employee at Kalapoi, New Zealand, writes:

"About ten years ago, while engaged in shunting, my foot caught between the rails, and my leg was fractured below the knee. It healed in time, but I have been troubled ever since with swollen veins, and have been obliged, at times, to wear a bandage. About a year ago it became much worse, and I feared I should be obliged to give up my work. A friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and after taking four bottles the swelling disappeared, and I have not been troubled with it since."

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

VARIOUS REPORTS, PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS ARIED ON.

Proposal that a Congress of Leprologists be Held for the Suppression and Prevention of Leprosy.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon the following proceedings were had:

The petition of Lee Kai Fai, a Chinese from Hongkong, for a license to practice medicine, was referred to the Board of Medical Examiners.

The tender of the Hollister Drug Company for supplying drugs and medicines for the use of the Board for the ensuing year was accepted.

The request of the wife of a leper to be allowed to send her twelve-year-old girl to the Kapiolani Home for girls was denied.

Kinau, who owns three dwelling houses which were condemned as unfit for habitation during the cholera season, petitioned to be allowed to rent two of the buildings and occupy the third. Referred to the Sanitary Committee to report on next week.

The usual letters and reports from Superintendent Meyer of the Leper Settlement and Veterinary Surgeon Monsarrat were received and approved.

Dr. Hildebrand reported examining 737 female pupils in the Honolulu schools. Dr. Williams of Hilo made a similar report.

The position of Government physician for the district of Hanalei, Kauai, was offered to Dr. Brown of Kealia.

Sheriff Andrews of Maui was appointed agent of the Board to advise with the matron of the Wailuku hospital on financial and other concerns of that institution. Sheriff Andrews was granted permission to sell the old pest-house at Wailuku for $25.

A long communication from Dr. Albert S. Ashmead of New York to W. O. Smith, in relation to a proposed congress of leprologists to devise ways and means for the suppression of leprosy was read and referred to the special committee on leprosy.

A communication from Dr. Eldredge of Yokohama concerning the Kusatsu Mineral Springs in Japan was also read.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Industrial Work at the Reform School to be Inaugurated.

At the meeting of the Board of Education held yesterday afternoon Professor Alexander reported arrangements made for the selection of school sites at Hanalei, Hawaii, and Pearl City.

The blank forms for school teacher's certificates, recommended by deputy-inspector J. F. Scott, were approved and adopted.

The Board refused the request of J. Smith of Koloa, Kauai, to lease a lot of land at that place which belonged to the Board.

Minister Cooper reported on the proposition to start industrial work at the Reform School, stating that the Executive were in favor of the new departure. He recommended that $500 be expended in making necessary arrangements.

Deputy-inspector Scott was instructed to procure a list of all the scholars in the Emma street school and that conducted by Armstrong Smith, said list to show which of the pupils paid for tuition.

The petition for the release of Freitas, a Reform School boy, was granted.

Mr. Dumas appeared before the Board and explained certain recommendations in connection with the Practice School, and Mr. Scott was authorized to procure an estimate of the cost of fencing in the building occupied by that school.

Applications from Messrs Barton and C. H. White for the position of assistant at the Reform School were laid on the table.

School agent R. W. Meyer of Molokai was authorized to close one of the schools on that island until a suitable teacher could be found.

It was ordered that the Maemae school be finished up at once.

TROUBLE IN THE FAMILY.

A Wronged Husband Comes Home When Not Expected.

Last night between 10 and 11 o'clock Ben Pangelinan went home quite unexpectedly and found the door of his wife's room locked. He kicked it in and found another man occupying the place in the bed which lawfully belonged to him, which was just what he had expected and prepared for. After kicking in the door Ben drew the pistol he had provided himself with and entered the room. The guilty parties both jumped out of bed, the wife making her escape during the subsequent proceedings which interested her not. The man made a break for the door without waiting to put on his clothes but was stopped by a blow from the injured husband's fist which partly stunned him. Ben then put up his pistol and after putting the man's head "in chancery" thumped him until his head was covered with blood. He then compelled the man to sit on a chair until a policeman arrived, refusing to allow him to put on his clothes until he had been taken in charge.

At the police station he was identified as Arthur Jones, a clerk in the Manufacturers' Shoe store, and one of the prominent young half whites about town. He was charged with being found unlawfully on the premises of another at night, and later bailed out and sent home.

Ben Pangelinan is the second steward of the Hall, but left that vessel during her last trip and came home ahead of time in order to verify certain suspicions of his wife's fidelity which had been aroused in his mind.

Some accounts have it that he battered Jones over the head very severely with the butt end of his revolver, but the above will likely be found to be the truth. During the morning the wife was also arrested but afterwards allowed to go on her own recognizance.

The case against Jones was called in the Police Court today but went over.

THE PUNCHBOWL RESERVOIR.

Water Turned In Yesterday Leaks Out During the Night.

Yesterday afternoon the new Punchbowl reservoir was filled for the first time for the purpose of testing the cement work and discovering the location of any possible cracks. This morning the water was found to be running out through a small leak in the bottom. The water was turned off and a search made for the leak. It was found to be in the bottom of the reservoir, but there were only a few slight cracks in the cement to show for it. It is supposed there is a bed of black sand under that particular place which has caved slightly from the pressure above. The place will be excavated and filled with rock and cement and it is expected there will be no more trouble.

Hawaiian Hardware Co.

In a change of advertisement this morning the Hawaiian Hardware Company calls attention to a few novelties in the shape of the improved American meat and vegetable choppers, bird cages both brass and painted, Hartman's steel wire door mats, rain gauges and portable boot black stands.

A couple of drunks, male and female, were given the usual fine in the police court this morning.

IMPORTANT DECISIONS

INSTRUMENTS MADE BY SUMNER TO CRANDELL ARE VOID.

Rawlins Protected in His Rights—Trust Funds Guarded—Other Court Notes.

Judge Perry has rendered a decision on the bill in equity to cancel a deed brought by Maria K. Harbottle and William Harbottle her husband against T. W. Rawlins. The grounds stated in the bill are that the execution of the deed was procured by Rawlins through undue influence and misrepresentation, and while complainants were acting under fear and constraint caused and exercised by defendant. After reviewing the evidence the Judge finds upon it, and upon the law, that the complainants are not entitled to the relief prayed for. Hence the bill is dismissed. Magoon & Edings for complainants; Robertson for defendant. In rendering the decision, the Court quotes Story as follows: "If a person of ordinary understanding, on whom no fraud has been practiced, makes an imprudent bargain, no court of justice can release him from it. Inadequacy of consideration is not a substantial ground for setting aside a conveyance of property."

Judge Carter has rendered a decision on motion for order of publication of summons, in the case of James J. Byrne vs. John Allen, Henry Allen, Henry Rhodes, W. H. Lambert, A. Feek, B. F. Dillingham and the Oahu Railway & Land Company. The bill alleges the recovery of a judgment for $812.12 and costs against the defendants other than Dillingham and the company; that there is no property in this republic which could be attached or taken under execution; that the defendants other than those expected are non-residents; that there is an agreement between the railway company and Feek by which Feek is to receive $7000 of its bonds on the completion of its roadbed to Kaena Point, and that the right or equitable interest of Feek in said bonds cannot be taken on execution. The relief sought is an injunction addressed to the Oahu Railway & Land Company enjoining it from passing the said interest of Feek in or to said bonds to him or his assigns, and the application of the proceeds of Feek's interest therein to the judgment debt. There is no allegation that execution has issued and has been returned unsatisfied.

The Court in effect finds that it has no jurisdiction to summon Feek by publication, and such being so it cannot constitutionally sequester the property to enforce a judgment at law. It would be objectionable to enjoin the company from passing the interest of Feek, which, if the Court did not acquire jurisdiction of Feek, would tie up the bonds indefinitely. The motion is over-ruled; the cause cannot proceed in the absence of proper service on the defendant Feek.

Magoon & Edings for plaintiff; Wood for Dillingham and the Railway.

In the matter of the application of Bruce Cartwright, trustee for Susie F. Cartwright and two children, to invest $5000 in a chattel mortgage of a half interest in a collection of coins and medals, to bear nine per cent. per annum, Judge Carter has rendered a decision. He disallows the application on the ground that the proposed investment is not a proper one for trust funds. Under the terms of this particular deed, which require first-class investments, the Court considers that security should be of the first importance and the rate of interest secondary. Apart from the deed it would not be approved if the trustee made it on his own responsibility. "The property offered has no market or definite value, and, while the collection may be of greater value than ten thousand dollars to the present owners, still under a foreclosure sale of an undivided interest it is extremely doubtful if the same would bring anything like five thousand dollars from anyone in this country, and the mere fact of advertisement of such sale in a foreign country would not insure so much as investigation, not to say bidders."

The fact that the parents of the children interested have consented to the proposed investment cannot affect the requirements of the law, as the interest of the children cannot be prejudiced by any consent or act of the parents. Kinney and Ballou for trustee.

A. M. Kahananui vs. James Ashford, injunction, has been set for hearing next Monday.

Judge Perry has signed a decree affirming the bill to appoint a receiver, etc., in the case of J. K. Sumner by his next friend, Maria S. Davis, against M. F. Crandell. The decree sets out that the power of attorney alleged to have been given by J. K. Sumner to the defendant was obtained by Crandell by fraud and is a fraudulent instrument. Also that a certain instrument signed by J. K. Sumner in favor of M. F. Crandell, whereby Sumner transferred and assigned to Crandell for thirty five years one-third part of all the net income, rents, issues and profits accruing or derived from the property of Sumner after all expenditures for care and management and sale had been paid, was obtained by the defendant of Sumner by fraud and is also a fraudulent instrument.

The decree orders both the fraudulent instruments to be revoked, the property restored to Sumner, and a full accounting made by Crandell, who is also enjoined from having any more to do with the property. James A. King is decreed as appointed to be permanent receiver of the estate of J. K. Sumner, having its full management, under a bond of $25,000.

Magoon and Kinney for complainant; Castle and Dole for defendant.

Cecil Brown, administrator and trustee of the estate of W. M. Gibson, has filed his third annual account. Receipts $3390.47, payments $2860.79, balance $529.68. He also files a report, chiefly taken up with a statement of the arrangement lately made with W. G. Irwin for the relief of the estate.

Creighton & Correa have filed an appeal for Arthur Fitzgerald, sentenced to two years for shooting a police officer in the leg. The same firm, with S. K. Kane, have filed Geo. Houghtaling's appeal from conviction for unlawful liquor selling.

C. Kaiser and Chun Ming, administrators of the estate of Lam Pow, have filed their first and final account. Receipts $474.93, payments $174.93, balance to distribute among creditors $300.

Mrs. Maria J. Forbes has entered a suit of ejectment against Christian Gertz and Anna Gertz for property at Kawaiahao.

TOOK POISON BY MISTAKE.

An Electric Light Man Drinks Acid for Cold Tea.

An employee of the Electric Light Works named S. Stebbins, who was working in the new stables of W. G. Irwin at Waikiki, took some nitro-muriatic acid in mistake at noon today. He was feeling quite thirsty, so taking up the bottle which he thought contained tea, and which was labeled "Root Beer," he took a large draught of the burning acid. Available antidotes were given him, and Dr. Sloggett was telephoned for. Dr. Sloggett accompanied by Dr. Wayson drove out as quickly as possible. The suffering man was given the proper antidotes, and then removed to his home on Emma street. When seen at 2:30 this afternoon, Dr. Sloggett said the patient was resting easy.

IS THIS OUR OLD FRIEND?

ONE J. W. ASH WANTED FOR BEATING HOTELS.

Supposed to be W. B. Ash Who Gained Much Notoriety in This City Some Time Ago.

Many people will remember a young man who was known here as W. B. Ash, who posed as a teacher of elocution and music and appeared in several entertainments here. He was accompanied by a good-looking young woman whom he said was his wife, although he showed his affection for her by taking a shot at her with a revolver while they were residing in a cottage on Hotel street. It is more than likely that this is the same young man who is mentioned in the following clipping from a late Call:

"Detectives John Seymour and Ross Whitaker were at the Palace Hotel last night, waiting for some hours for the return of J. W. Ash, who is said to be a very smooth young man with several aliases, who has been beating several hotels of the country.

"Ash, according to the story, had a traveling partner who has been operating for a part of the time under the name of J. T. McKay. The latter stopped at the Occidental for a brief time, but appears to have grown apprehensive of arrest, for it is said he left the city Tuesday. A request has been sent here that they be arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses.

It seems that these men, both of whom are well dressed and of suave manners, were at the Antlers Hotel in Colorado Springs from September 5 to September 11. Two young women were with them, who passed as their wives. The men left the hotel and went to Denver, there appraising the women that they would return the next day.

They did not put in an appearance, and about this time it developed that they had feathered their nests in one way and another to the extent of several hundred dollars. At Colorado Springs the men were said to have registered as J. T. McKay and J. W. Ash.

Further investigation brought out the story that they had left Kansas City on September 1, and registered at the Brown Palace Hotel as A. W. Mann and wife, Boston, and H. W. Gordon and wife, Arizona. It is said they also announced at one time that they were stock men of Fort Worth, Tex.

POLICE COURT MATTERS.

Six Months on the Reef for Battering His Wife.

In the District Court this morning the case of W. Thoni, charged with malicious injury and mischief in untying a horse belonging to Carl Klemme from the wagon to which it was attached and thereby possibly causing damage to the amount of $200, was set for trial on the 6th, on a plea of not guilty.

J. Kelly was fined $2 and $3 costs for battering another.

Maria da Mello pleaded guilty of profanity. Sentence suspended.

Punkela was fined $50 for having opium in possession, and the charge of larceny against him nolle pro's'd.

Kaolelo was sentenced to six months on the reef for battering his wife, although the latter testified that he only pulled her by the hand and she fell over a trunk, inflicting a bad cut over her eye and otherwise giving her the appearance of having passed through a threshing machine. Deputy Marshal Hitchcock and others of the police told a different story and testified to statements made by both man and woman at the time of the arrest. It was also shown that the defendant had been convicted several times of a similar offense.

KILLING A BRUTAL SAVAGE

TWO MEN RIDE INTO THE HEART OF MATABELELAND.

The Wizard Shot Who Was Responsible for the Massacre of White Settlers.

(Concluded.)

It is little short of a miracle that the god hunters were not now discovered. Good luck was still with them, however. When they had arrived within 600 yards of the M'imo's cave they found their way blocked by a large party of warriors sitting in the shadow of some rocks.

Most men would have given up the expedition at this point, but both Burnham and Armstrong were made of sterner stuff. They knew that an indaba, or council, was in progress, and that the Matabele were not likely to stir for some time.

Once more they slowly retreated, and, after making a short circuit they wheeled and started again for the summit, fully realizing that unless they could get to the cave at once the opportunity might be lost forever. At any time the women might notify the Matabele of the presence of the two men.

Burnham and Armstrong now approached the three kopjes from the east instead of from the south, as they had originally intended. They saw from the clump of bushes where they had tied their horses that the face of the center kopje was covered with bushes and small trees, which practically concealed its precipitous nature.

They also saw that at the foot of the western kopje there was a large kraal of conical huts, where the Impis were "doctored" before going to war. This complicated matters still further. Between them and the foot of the hill, about 100 yards away, was an open space of grass which they must cross.

"Now for it!" said Burnham. Armstrong smiled grimly. Both men tightened their belts and prepared for that last dash. Around them at the foot of the kopjes were probably a thousand of as cruel barbarians as Africa can boast of.

According to the programme of the two desperate men not a shot was to be fired. It was to be a seizure. If not a seizure, the knife. If not the knife, as a last desperate resort, the rifle.

Pausing to take a long breath, the two men, crouching low, ran swiftly out in the tall grass of the open space, stumbling here and there over the hidden boulders, but keeping ever in a direct line for the summit. Just beyond the open glade they came upon a steep path which somewhat resembled a rude staircase. It was, fortunately, invisible from below, and Burnham and Armstrong passed rapidly and noiselessly along the ascent.

At the very summit were two huge blocks of stone upheaved by some prehistoric earthquake. They leaned together in the shape of an "A" tent, forming an opening about four feet in height and trending downward. The men were on their hands and knees now. They crawled cautiously across the last intervening boulder right up to the dark and foul-smelling entrance to the M'imo's cave.

Then together, like two great cats, they dropped softly into the darkness. The rocky aisle, a few paces in advance, turned sharply to the left. They cautiously peered around this "neck."

There, in the semi darkness, sat N'dubi, the M'imo of the Matabele, gaunt and savage, crouched like a spider in a noisome web.

Suddenly he began an incantation. The half-muttered words of the chant resembled the mindless ravings of a bushesh dream. With every sway of his body forward his gree-grees and armlets of dead men's bones sounded like the angry warning of a rattlesnake.

Before he had finished the chant he sprang to his feet, tall and bony, and with blazing eyes. He had seen in the gloom the white faces of Burnham and Armstrong. There was no opportunity for seizure. The long dusky arms of the Matabele god described a swift swoop toward the wall of the cave. In doing this he half turned his back. Was it assegai, gun or spear? Burnham did not know. He did not stop to guess. His rifle pitched like lightning to his shoulder and the darkness was lanced with flame.

Then M'limo, the Matabele god, threw his arms aloft, and with never a groan fell prone upon his face dead. Echoes which had slept for centuries were wakened from their hoary lairs and went rioting and bellowing abroad in the hills. Out of the cavern pell-mell came the two men, scrambling wildly for the base of the hill where their horses were tied.

Armstrong, making a short detour, set fire to the big kraal, which contained about 200 huts. In the meantime Burnham had secured the horses and led them to Armstrong. The Matabele had been aroused by the rifle shot, but as yet they had been unable to locate it. The smoke of the burning village gave them a rallying point. They came swarming out like bees from a hive. The air was filled with the shouts of men, the screams of women and the crackling of the dry and burning grass.

Already the fugitives had been perceived by the Matabele, who were trying to cut them off from the river. Away went the horses like greyhounds in the race that was to turn the scale of life or death. They rounded the flankers of the enemy and stretched away for the river.

Some time afterward two very tired horses and two more than tired men staggered and splashed across the "drift" and turned their noses for Mangwe. Away back to the north a thick black smoke was rolling over the Matopopo hills like a funeral pall.

The morning after the return of the two men from their perilous expedition Captain Van Rooyen, a noted hunter and trader, induced an indana named Sanguluba to visit the M'limo's cave and let him know what was there.

This man returned a few days later and said that he had entered the cave.

"Did you find a god?" asked Van Rooyen.

"No," replied Sanguluba, "I found a dead man. One of his ears was eaten away. He was not a god."

The successor to the late god, M'limo, who was killed in Matabeleland by the Texas cowboy, Burnham, is a woman. She has already acquired great influence with the natives and has instigated many murders of whites. The Government will offer a large reward for her capture.

THE POWDER MAGAZINE.

Five years ago a numerously signed petition from residents of Punchbowl slopes was presented to the then Minister of the Interior, praying for the removal of the powder magazine outside of the residence quarters of the city. Two different Legislatures have held three sessions since then, besides the permanent session for eighteen months of the Provisional Government Councils. Throughout the period thus covered a desultory agitation has been kept up by the residents of the vicinity for the removal of the menace to their lives and property. Yet there is no sign of any movement in the matter on the part of the Government. This dilatoriness is inexplicable in view of all the other improvements, some of which were not so urgently required, which have been effected since the locality in question has been built up with homes. It was the duty of the administrations that sold the land on Punchbowl for house lots to have taken the depository of explosives out of the way without waiting to be asked. The same duty has not diminished but rather the contrary in the case of succeeding administrations who have seen dwellings, some of them handsome in design, spring up on different sides of the dangerous object. Besides being a menace to life and property, and because of its being so, the magazine is an unjust detraction from the value of real estate in its neighborhood. By neglecting to remove the thing the Government itself is a loser in more than one way. Standing there the magazine prevents the improvement of lots previously sold which would increase the value of taxable property. It also seriously affects the popular demand for opening up the remaining land in the neighborhood for homesteads. Probably the difference between what that land might bring if put up at auction now and the prices that it might realize with the magazine removed would alone pay the expense of the greatly desired removal. A vessel entering port with explosives on board must display the red flag of danger. Yet here is the Government all the year round maintaining the country's entire commercial stocks of gunpowder and dynamite in the midst of a district containing many of the nicest domiciles in Honolulu. Within three or four hundred yards of the magazine there are about a score of dwelling houses each of which has cost from two to eight thousand dollars to build. There are within the same compass as many more neat cottages of probably more importance to their owners, in proportion to their circumstances, than the costlier dwellings mentioned. When there was a fire in that locality a few weeks ago, people said in husky whispers, "It's almost close to the powder magazine!" It is not the immediate vicinity of the establishment, however, which is alone menaced. Anyone who has read of powder mill explosions may easily imagine that an "accident" to the powder magazine would scatter devastation and death not only over the Punchbowl slopes, but athwart the Kulaokahua and the Makiki plains, thickly built as they are with the homes of our most thrifty people, to say nothing of the wreckage of glass that would occur throughout the entire city. Much longer delay in having this great danger abolished will compel the inhabitants to try the stimulus of a mass meeting on the subject.

REFORM ADOPTED.

As the BULLETIN was the "only" paper that "seriously" advocated an extension of industrial training at the Reform school, it can with sublime grace congratulate the Minister of Education upon having decided to effect the necessary improvement. Industrial training being one of the essential elements of a reformatory, the lateness of this reform in the local institution is all that detracts from the credit here accorded. But as Minister Cooper has only had the educational affairs under his charge a few months, there is no detraction whatever from the promptness with which he acted whenever the matter was brought vividly to his attention.

There were no roads in all the group—even Mr. Thurston's Punchbowl road was a myth—until the Hawaiian Star Association "seriously" went to work and built them. You see the subscribers to its paper were so few and far between that they could only be reached on wheels. Hence the Star stockholders put their heads together and created block pavements.

This issue contains the conclusion of the graphic account of the killing of the Matabele wizard by an American scout. Although he may have "needed killin'," the intended effect of the act seems to have been lost, for the Matabele have installed a she-devil in his stead.

Castor Oil As a Hair Tonic.

The fashionable coiffure for young women and girls is waved at the sides, where it droops a little. Small combs hold these waves in place. The coil at the back is placed rather high. Castor oil, pure and simple is said to be an excellent tonic for the hair, used once a month.

It is applied with a small, fine sponge, which is dipped in the oil and rubbed on the scalp, the hair being parted with the fingers.

MEAT CHOPPERS, BIRD CAGES AND RAIN GAUGES.

Before Whitelaw Reid became Minister to France he devoted a good deal of his time to the conduct of his paper, the Tribune. The copy editors who put up the headlines of stories of the day fell into the habit of making most of them interrogative, as, for instance, "Was it murder or suicide?" or "Did she kill him for love?" or "Will the President sign it?" etc.

The whole paper was speckled with interrogative points. The thing had been going for weeks, till one day a postal arrived, addressed to Mr. Reid, and marked personal. It read as follows:

"I'm getting awful tired of your questions. Why don't you find out something? A great newspaper is supposed to know everything, and ought not to annoy its readers with needless inquiries. This morning you asked: "Will Mr. Platt consent?" How the h—l do I know?"

That night an order came that the Tribune must ask fewer questions.

In spite of Whitelaw Reid's experience we are tempted to ask the people of Hawaii a few leading questions, just an even half a dozen of them.

QUESTION 1—Have you seen the new improved American MEAT and VEGETABLE CHOPPER? If you haven't it will pay you to call and take a look at it. It has an automatic rotary movement as well as the up and down chopping motion. They are simply and cheap and a child can operate them.

QUESTION 2—Have you seen the new BRASS BIRD CAGES we have just received? They are beauties and they only cost from $2.50 to $4.50 according to style.

QUESTION 3—Have you seen the PAINTED Bird Cages we are offering at $1.25 to $2.00?

QUESTION 4—Have you seen the HARTMAN STEEL WIRE MATS we are offering? The rainy season is coming on and they are just what you want. They are cheap, cleanly and indestructible.

QUESTION 5—Have you seen the RAIN GAUGES we have lately imported? With one of these little instruments you can laugh at the Clerk of the Weather and give him a pointer after every storm.

QUESTION 6—Have you seen the latest thing out? It is a portable bootblack stand, made of iron, which can be screwed to a post anywhere and moved in any direction. Must be seen to be appreciated. Complete with brushes, two kinds of blacking, etc., only $2.50.

CUSTOM HOUSE CHANGES.

List of Inspectors and Guards—Lots of Work.

Inspector Hitchcock and guard Enos having resigned, some necessary changes have been made on the customs force. After today, the discharging inspectors will be Scott, Schmedon, Bicknell, Dowsett and Groves.

Groves was promoted from the guards today. The day guards will be Clark, Houghtailing, Nunes and Wallace. W. W. Needham will be district inspector, having charge of the night watch. The night inspectors will be Kanuha and Manoha, assisted by eight native guards.

Owing to the increasing tonnage calling at this port, the customs force has more work than formerly. Port Surveyor Stratemeyer has his hands full. In addition to his regular duties, he has to look after all the Asiatic immigrants, which former surveyors were not required to do, the duty being performed by a Custom House clerk employed for that purpose.

Chinese contract laborers arriving from the Orient give the Port Surveyor and his men much trouble. Their friends from uptown go down to the wharf, and jabber away to them before they are removed to Quarantine Station. This is where the trouble comes in, as it is thought the friends give them bad advice about different matters. When asked to sign before going to a plantation, some of them refuse, and then there is a rumpus. To prevent this as far as possible, no Chinese, except those having government passes, are allowed on the dock, but still it is hard work watching them.

Trouble at Quarantine Station.

The 114 Amoy Chinese who are in quarantine on the island are giving the authorities lots of trouble. Three days ago six of them escaped and agent McVeigh was compelled to ask for six extra guards, who were sent over. One of those who escaped surrendered today and is now in the police station. The other five are still at large.

This morning those at the quarantine station refused to sign their contracts. Ministers Cooper and King, with Major Potter, made two trips to the island today to try and straighten out matters.

The World's Richest Woman.

One hundred and thirty million dollars is the colossal fortune which Lucienne Premelic Hirsch, granddaughter of the late Baron Hirsch, will eventually inherit, and it will make her the richest woman in the world. She is 14 years old, and lives in Brussels, where she is being educated. In her features she resembles her mother, who was a Frenchwoman. In her expression and the general contour of her face the likeness to her father, who died some years ago, is striking.

Home-Made Cologne.

For a simple cologne, such as is useful in a large family where the children are fond of helping themselves to "mother's belongings," an excellent formula directs that sixty drops each of oil of lavender, oil of bergamot, oil of lemon and orange flower water be added to a pint of alcohol. This should be corked and well shaken. It is more fragrant but more expensive if five drops of attar of roses and five of oil of sandalwood be added.

Company A will have a business meeting at the drill shed this evening.

12 1/2 cts. Per Glass

We quote from letter of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, dated August 8th:

"Your honorable firm having represented us for so many years we believe it useless to call your attention to the merits of our article, but we should like to repeat again and call your attention to the fact that ours is THE ONLY PURE BARLEY MALT BEER MANUFACTURED, and corn cerealine and other adulterants as well as acids, for the preservation of beer, are unknown in our establishment. With the above you may go before the public in our name."

No encomium of ours can add to the high reputation of Anheuser Beer. Its introduction in any and every market makes it an immediate favorite. It stands without a peer, without a rival, without even a competitor. It received the highest awards at the Columbian Exposition. The reduction of the draught Beer to the prevailing price of places it within the reach of all, and he is a wise man who gets the best quality for the least money.

The undersigned have bought out the business of the late firm and will continue it at the old stand on Hotel street under the same name, collect all outstanding accounts and pay all bills due by the late firm. IN UNDERGROUND PARIS

Scientists to Study the Effect of Darkness on Animal Life.

Deep in the bowels of the earth a curious laboratory is about to be established in the Jardin des Plantes. Under the gardens run some old galleries of the catacombs, which have not been opened in a hundred years.

Down in the deep galleries of the catacombs it is always pitch dark and fish ponds will be dug in the solid rock and stocked with fish to study the effect of obscurity upon them and their offspring.

A good deal of trouble and some danger were experienced in opening up the galleries, which have for so long been closed. The temperature 200 feet below the surface is chill and damp, while the gases which have accumulated in 100 years made it a ticklish undertaking to descend.

Salvation Army Tea.

IMPORTANT: There are very few things more hurtful than common tea. An eminent English doctor once said: "If the public gave up drinking common tea, the occupation of one-half of our profession would be gone."

Anyone entering the Anchor saloon during business hours, or in the evening, is immediately charmed by the handsome array of game birds—teal duck, mallard, quail, grouse, etc.—which decorates the bar.

Nicely furnished rooms at the Popular House, 154 Fort street, from $1.00 per week up.

Mechanics' Home, corner Hotel and Nuuanu streets, lodging by day, week or month. Terms: 25 and 50 cents per night. $1, and $1.25 per week.

The Criterion Saloon is a pleasant place to go to and its greatest attraction is the pure, cold Seattle beer on draught there. It makes one's mustache curly and puts new life into the failing consumptive.

GREAT SWIMMING FEAT.

Charles Cavill, son of Frederick Cavill, late champion swimmer of the world, accomplished a feat of strength and endurance, by swimming across the Golden Gate on September 20th.

Two Whitehall boats accompanied Cavill to lend him assistance in case of emergency. Their services were entirely superfluous. He joked and chatted with the occupants from shore to shore.

Cavill's father swam the English Channel, in very choppy water, 17 years ago, in eleven hours, a distance of 21 miles.

A Jamaica Woman Who is White and Black by Turns.

A remarkable freak of nature is occasionally seen on the streets of Clough-Mac-Nal, Ireland, in the shape of a woman who was born black in Jamaica about forty-five years ago.

The foreign budget by the last mail is of a character that should set politicians to guessing on the result of the November election. Maine comes to the front with a big plurality for the Republican candidates.

To counteract any evil results of the election whichever way it may go the duty of the merchants of Honolulu is to provide themselves with a stock of goods that will be a guarantee of low prices to their customers.

Prices will never be lower than we sell goods for today, but they may be higher, particularly in the grocery line.

We offer you today another lot of Oak Brand Asparagus, Sugar Peas, Sugar Corn. A fresh supply of Salt Salmon in barrels and half barrels.
