PRACTISE ECONOMY.

On the evening of the 15th of last May, on board the steamship Australia, then lying in the port of Honolulu, and at a supper where the multifarious nationalities, interests, and enterprises of the Kingdom were represented, Colonel Claus Spreckels made a speech. It was a remarkable speech. Not remarkable for eloquence, oratorical ornamentation, or power of delivery; but remarkable for its brevity, its point, its straightforwardness, its appropriateness to the country and the times, and its much-in-litleness. The Colonel was evidently not trained in the school of Talleyrand, who taught that words are intended for concealing thoughts. Contrarywise, he employed words to reveal thoughts, and words that revealed his thoughts with unmistakable clearness and definite meaning—not words of insinuation, but of positive assertion. The diction may have been slightly Continental, but the Saxon could not have been beaten by Gladstone. The Colonel said he "liked the country, the climate, and the people. The people are mild, generous, and open. But they have one fault—they are extravagant. Take my advice—practise economy, be independent, have money in the bank, and care for nobody." This is the quintessence of brevity and clearness: everybody can understand and remember it.

Colonel Spreckels' estimate of the people of this country is pretty accurate, and his charge of extravagance has a wider application than merely to the aboriginal Hawaiians. Planters, tradesmen, mechanics, and clerks have exhibited a propensity for gold chains, gay equipages, and whiskey cocktails, which well-informed people are accustomed to regard as indicative of a leaning towards the insolvency court. To intimate that the Hawaiian Government has in any way evinced the same reckless spirit in the distribution of the public purse would be constituting this humble sheet a "chronic growler" and exposing it to the danger of being "killed" along with "the Opposition as a party!" We claim the liberty, however, to endorse and reiterate the advice to practise economy. By systematically and steadily following this advice, many people will find it easier to pay their quarterly or monthly accounts than heretofore, besides having fewer to pay. Should the Legislature and executive deem the advice of any interest whatever to them, we could indicate a line of retrenchment that would lessen expenditure without impairing the efficiency of the public service. Begin by tossing all mere figure-heads overboard. Reduce the number of employees, and make those who remain work for their pay, instead of doing no other work than drawing their pay. Ease up on gun powder, rifles, and brass buttons. Employ conscientious men who will give the public treasury the benefit of the commissions allowed by tradesmen on purchases, instead of putting them into their own pockets. And be sure to avoid sending commissions to Washington and St. Petersburg on wild goose chases, who can show nothing effected for the good of the country in return, but a bill of expenses for Mr. Dole's mud-spattered taxpayers to defray. The rigid and unremitting exercise of economy in the directions briefly outlined would leave a respectable unexpended balance of the country's revenue for the construction of roads, bridges, wharves, and other public works, for the development of our latent resources, that would bring prosperity and contentment to the people.

An American, a British, a German and a Hawaiian vessel arrived here yesterday from foreign ports.

THE LEGISLATURE.

THIRTY-EIGHTH DAY.
WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16th.
The house met at 10 A. M., the President, Hon. J. S. Walker, in the chair. After the roll-call, the minutes were read in both languages and confirmed.

COMMITTEES.
Rep. Brown presented a report from the Judiciary Committee on an act relating to vagrants, etc., recommending that the bill pass.

PETITIONS.
Rep. Kaai, on suspension of the rules, read a petition from Hana, that the lease of certain remnants of Government lands held by one Kamai be annulled, that a teacher be appointed for the English school at Kaupo, and that no charge be made for the landing at Nuu. Referred to Committee on Miscellaneous Petitions.

Rep. Keau presented a petition from Honolulu, for an appropriation of $10,000 for extending Kukui street to Liliha street. Referred to Public Lands Committee.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.
Rep. Hayselden moved the house take up unfinished business.

Rep. Kaulukou said it was necessary to suspend the rules for that purpose, and moved that such be done.

Rep. Thurston said it was clear the object was to deal with the Kaanapali election matter. He stated the position in which that was left at adjournment last evening.

The motion carried, and on motion of Rep. Hayselden, unfinished business was taken up.

Rep. Kaulukou appealed from the decision of the chair last evening, allowing Rep. Thurston the right to delegate his privilege, of closing the debate on the Kaanapali election, to Rep. Dole.

The President cited the American practice as authority for his decision, that practice being a legitimate guide under a rule of this house.

A discussion of the point ensued, ending in the chair being not sustained, the vote being a tie of 16 to 16.

Rep. Thurston said: It would be impossible for me to express my utter disgust for the action of this house on this matter. The question is not one that excites party feeling. It is one involving a principle that every member of this house should sustain. That principle has been trampled upon. It is that questions of preventing fraud in elections should be discussed in a fair and judicial spirit. If it was simply a matter of courtesy to the hon. member for Lihue or myself I would not say one word, but it is an attempt to trample out free speech. The time has been in this country when it would have been a matter of astonishment to have this question raised. That time seems to have passed. Since I have been old enough to know what a Legislature was, I have never known such a thing as this, shutting off debate by moving the previous question. I know that it is not the individual wish of members. At least one member of the Cabinet has expressed to me his disgust with this practice.

Minister Neumann raised the point of order that the member was not speaking to the question before the house. The house had a right to deny the privilege to the member for Lihue.

The President sustained the point. Rep. Thurston—I expected that when it began to rain the Attorney-General would put up his umbrella. I will mention names. The Attorney-General yesterday said he was disgusted with the action of the house.

Minister Neumann renewed his point of order and denied that he had said what was attributed to him. He had expressed himself as sorry that no opportunity was given for a reply to his argument. He would advise members of the Opposition that if they did not obstruct business they would not be deprived of their privileges.

Rep. Thurston repeated his statement.

Minister Neumann again raised the point of order, which was sustained.

Rep. Thurston said he accepted the ruling, as the Attorney-General did not appear to like the truth, and proceeded: I will confine myself to the matter before the house. The question is, Shall the majority report or shall the minority report of the Judiciary Committee be adopted? In that connection it is simply impossible for one man to cover the whole ground in a matter involving so many principles as that did. It covered so many principles that we of the Opposition agreed to divide up the work, Messrs. Dole, Castle, Brown, and myself. The member for Lahaina (Kalua) also had taken a great interest in the matter and was going to speak on it. Yesterday I covered the portion that was set apart for me, and now I am expected to cover the portions set apart for those gentlemen. Seeing this is the sense of fairness of this house, I shall do my best, and if I fail to answer the arguments of the Attorney-General the house may accept that as the reason why. The Attorney-General and the hon. members for Hilo and Lahaina all spoke on legal points, and I did not take any notes because I did not expect to be called on to speak. Last evening the President ruled that I had the right to delegate my privilege to Mr. Dole and he has his desk all piled up with authorities. My recollection of one point made by the Attorney-General and the hon. member for Lahaina is this, that the wording of the Constitution prescribes that a man must vote in his district, and it is the definition of what "his district" means on which this bears. The great point is that because these persons did not bring their tax receipts, that was not their district. I defy them to bring one line to show that a person must bring his tax receipt to prove that he has a right to vote in that district. The law is so general that it covers any man in any part of the country so long as he has the qualifications to vote. The speaker quoted the law to prove that a man's district might be one thing and his home another. If he was up in Makawao, for instance, and paid his taxes there, he might come back to Honolulu, where he lived, to vote. He held that the only law to the contrary was the opinion sent up by the Attorney-General to those inspectors. Is this house going to sit quietly down and see the rights of voters swept away by the opinion of the Attorney-General? Is he to be a legislator and pass laws? That is precisely what he has done. The law says these are the qualifications of voters. If they have paid their taxes they have a right to vote. If not they cannot: that is all there is about it. It looks as if the Attorney-General wanted to carry that election, and that is why he wrote that opinion.

Minister Neumann asked if the minority report did not say that his opinion was correct but not carried out.

Rep. Thurston said the report stated that if the Attorney-General's instructions about challenging had been carried out this point would not have arisen. The sole idea left on the minds of the inspectors, after reading the Attorney-General's opinion, was that if they did not carry it out they would go to prison.

Minister Neumann submitted the minority report.

Rep. Thurston: I believe the house has decided not to hear Mr. Dole or the Attorney-General, but myself. If you have any questions to ask I will answer them. The Attorney-General and his supporters tried to take their rights away from the voters without any authority of law. The Attorney-General is leader of a majority in this house, and the house will likely follow him like a flock of sheep over the Pali. I believe it is no use arguing the question, but I will state what I consider right. I do not believe argument has any more effect on this house than a dose of salts on a graven image, but I am going to talk to it all the same. Mr. Thurston proceeded to argue that the board of inspectors was a judicial body, whose function it was to revise the electoral lists as they came from the tax officials. They were a portion of the judiciary as much as the judges of the Supreme Court. In the exercise of their judicial functions they had placed those names on the list. What next comes? I do not believe that anything like it was ever heard of in the world—a letter from the Attorney-General that unless they struck those names off they would be liable to imprisonment. I say that was an illegal assumption on his part. He acted contrary to the Constitution in doing so. The Constitution says that the judiciary and the executive shall be distinct. He was expressly sworn to support the Constitution when he took office. And yet against his oath he attempts to meddle and interfere with the judiciary, and threatens that if they will not do so and so they will be prosecuted. The offense is just as great in directing those natives in Kaanapali to change their votes, as if he directed a similar injunction to the Supreme Court. Those inspectors are part of the judiciary as much as judges of the Supreme Court, and an infringement of their rights is an infringement of the rights of the people of this country. I cannot but think that the Attorney-General took advantage of his high position to carry that election. The Attorney-General said their action was based on fraud, and that fraud vitiated any judgment; therefore he had a right to order their names off. When the Attorney-General stated that yesterday he did not state law or common sense, and he knows it. Fraud vitiates if it is ascertained in a judicial manner. The Attorney-General cannot set it aside except in a judicial manner. Precisely the same rules which govern the Supreme Court, govern the Board. This applies not only under the general law, but under specific statutes. He went on to quote the law to show that the names were ordered off illegally, and the Attorney-General's letter to show that he knew the course was illegal. Taking up Rep. Aholo's arguments, he contended there was no law to compel a man to go personally before the Board to be enrolled, no law that a man must vote in the district where he pays his taxes, and nothing in the qualifications of voters as given in the Constitution to support either of those arguments. A rule of construction of the Constitution that the Attorney-General knew, was that it should always be construed in favor of the liberty of the subject. It was just as reasonable for them to say that a man could not discharge a debt without going personally to hand the cash over to his creditor. The final point he considered was what a voter's "district" meant. It was just as well settled that a man had a right to vote where he lived, as the rule in Congress that a member could delegate his privilege of speaking to another, but he supposed the house would rule it down all the same. The arguments against the minority report were not only against ordinary law but against specific statutes. He noticed that whenever the Attorney-General told the worst of an argument he told a story to raise a laugh.

Minister Neumann said his story yesterday was prophetic.

Rep. Thurston: He said I was in the position of a lawyer, trying to cover up facts, and he in that of a statesman.

Minister Neumann: I will apologize for that and take it back. He does not appear as a lawyer.

Rep. Thurston: I do not appear here as a lawyer but as a legislator. I am not an advocate of anybody. He has not taken back the statement that he is a statesman. If his course is that of a statesman, heaven preserve the kingdom from such statesmen. To show the utterly childish and ridiculous nature of the majority report, he quoted from it the argument that, because the rejected voters had not complained, therefore there was nothing wrong in the action of the inspectors. It also said that the majority did not know whether those persons were "utterly" malihinis (non-residents) or not. That is to say, they were not satisfied whether they were malihinis or not, yet they were not allowed to vote. He compared the majority report with the report of the Judiciary Committee on the North Kona election case, and said it was going down all time that in one case they allowed strangers to vote and in another they did not. That, too, in spite of the evidence of three witnesses whose testimony was not disputed except by a bullock thief, that those rejected in the latter case were not strangers, and although there was only a difference of seven votes in the result of the election. The house would stultify itself by saying that malihinis could vote in one case and not in another.

Rep. Aholo claimed the right of speaking on the same ground as Rep. Thurston, as he had moved that the majority report should be adopted.

Rep. Thurston opposed the claim, as Rep. Aholo's motion was only an amendment to the main motion.

Rep. Aholo said he merely submitted the point for a ruling.

Rep. Dole joking the hon. member was only joking.

The President ruled against Rep. Aholo's claim.

Rep. Dole moved the house adjourn. Lost.

On motion of Rep. Kalua, the ayes and noes were called, which resulted in the majority report being adopted on the following division:—
Ayes—Messrs. Gibson, Gulick and Neumann; Nobles Kuhlalani and Kaee; Reps. Hayselden, Keau, Lilikalani, Baker, Amara, Kaula, Kaulukou, Pahia, Kaunamano, Nahinu, Kekoa, Aholo, Castle, Kaai, Kaula and Palohau—21.

Noes—Nobles Bishop and Judd; Reps. Kaui, Brown, Wight, Kalua, Dickey, Thurston, Paehaole and Dole—10.

Minister Neumann moved that the vote be reconsidered.

Rep. Castle seconded the motion, saying he had voted Aye in order to move for reconsideration. The previous question had cut off discussion, and of course the only chance to discuss the question was on a motion to reconsider it. He moved the house adjourn till half-past one, on condition that he should have the floor at that hour. This being put and lost, he proceeded to discuss the merits of the question.

Rep. Aholo raised the point of order that the hon. member could not discuss the merits on such a motion, but the President over-ruled the objection, holding that the speaker had a perfect right to go into the merits to show why the vote should be reconsidered.

Reps. Dole and Brown followed at length in favor of reconsideration and of the minority report, after which the motion was put and lost.

At 1:40 the house adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow.

THIRTY-NINTH DAY.
THURSDAY, JUNE 17th.
The Assembly was opened with prayer by the Chaplain at 10 A. M. Present: Hon. J. S. Walker, President; Nobles Dowsett, Kaee and Kuhlalani; Reps. Hayselden, Keau, Lilikalani, Baker, Kaula, Amara, Brown, Kaula, Kaulukou, Pahia, Kaunamano, Wight, Nahale, Nahinu, Kekoa, Kalua, Aholo, Kaula, Richardson, Kaai, Thurston, Paehaole, Kaula and Palohau. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

PETITIONS.
Rep. Keau, on suspension of the rules, presented two petitions from Honolulu. The first, with 100 signatures, prayed that the sale of opium be licensed, because it was being sold now illegally and the use of it was increasing. The second, with 120 signatures, asked for a law to prohibit foreign laborers from being employed on the wharves. On motion of the introducer, the first was laid on the table to be considered with a bill given notice of, and the second likewise to be considered with a bill to be introduced by him.

Rep. Brown, on suspension of the rules, presented a petition with 73 signatures, from Koolauloa, with ten prayers: 1st, that no increase be made in the salaries of Government officials; 2nd, that no person holding a Government office be allowed to run as a representative of the people; 3rd, that persons running for representative have real estate of the value of $100, or be in receipt of an annual income of $200; 4th, that an opium license at the rate of $100,000 a year be granted; 5th, that a loan of $50,000,000 for 280 years be made; 6th, that no permanent settlement be granted to Hon. W. C. Parke; 7th, that $10,000 be inserted in the Appropriation Bill to increase the manufacture of woollen cloths, etc., in the islands; 8th, that $5,000 be inserted in the Appropriation Bill for a breakwater from Makana to Punaluu, Oahu; 9th, that the segregation of lepers be abolished; 10th, that the Reformatory School be abolished. Referred to Committee on Miscellaneous Petitions.

REPORTS.
Minister Gulick, from the Printing Committee, reported several bills printed and ready for distribution.

Minister Gibson submitted a revised version of the Foreign Office report in Hawaiian.

Minister Gulick intimated that members who had not been supplied with the Interior Department report, could be supplied at the window of the Department or on application to himself.

Rep. Amara read for the first time an act to provide for the appointment of Hawaiian youth in the bureau of the Government Survey. On motion of Rep. Castle, the rules were suspended, and the bill read a second time by title and referred to the Education Committee.

Rep. Baker gave notice of an act to provide for lighting Honolulu by means of the electric light.

Minister Neumann introduced an act to provide for the measurement of vessels according to the register at the Custom House. Under the old law, he said, Hawaiian vessels were at a disadvantage in all ports of the world. The act was designed to subject them to no larger measurement than was now in use in the United States and other countries. As the bill was lengthy, he moved that the rules be suspended and the bill read a first time by title and referred to the Printing Committee.

Rep. Amara read a first time an act to require that after a law has been approved by His Majesty, the name of the member who introduced it be attached to the act in its publication. The rules were suspended and the bill read a second time by title and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Minister Gulick presented the following reply to a resolution of the house:—
"Hall of the Legislative Assembly, June 16th, 1886.
"HON. JOHN S. WALKER,
"President of the Legislative Assembly of 1886.
"Sir: In reply to the resolution introduced yesterday, by the hon. member for Lahaina—Mr. Kalua—asking when Mr. Z. K. Meyers, Clerk of the Honolulu Water Works, received his appointment, also the date of his taking the oath of allegiance, I would respectfully beg leave to say that Mr. Meyers was appointed to his present position on the tenth day of March, 1886. Letters of denization were graciously granted to him by His Majesty the King, the record of which is kept in the office of His Excellency the Minister for Foreign Affairs, and I do not know the date of issuance.
"Respectfully submitted
"CHAS. T. GULICK,
"Minister of Interior."

Rep. Kalua moved that the Minister's reply be received and laid on the table. There was no documentary evidence that Meyers was a Hawaiian subject, or that he had taken the oath of allegiance.

Rep. Kaulukou moved in amendment that the report be adopted. The Minister of Interior had no right to go to the Foreign Office for information. The Minister had complied with the resolution as far as it was possible for him to do so. If any further information was desired, a new resolution, addressed to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, would have to be introduced.

Rep. Palohau supported the motion to lay on the table. He understood that the resolution requested the Minister to state the date when he became a Hawaiian subject, according to the laws of this Kingdom requiring that any person holding office must be a subject. The Minister believed this officer was a subject, but did not know the exact date when he became one. He did not believe it was necessary for him to go to the Foreign Office for information.

Rep. Aholo did not think it made any difference whether the report was adopted or laid on the table. When a man takes the oath of allegiance he goes before the Minister of Interior, but when letters of denization are granted the matter pertains to the Foreign Office. He believed it was better to lay on the table, and the information desired could be asked from the Minister of Foreign Affairs.

The motion was carried.

Rep. Kaulukou objected that the amendment should have been put first, but the President overruled him.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

On motion of Minister Neumann the house proceeded to the Order of the day.

Third reading of an act to amend the law relating to appeals from Public and District Justices' Courts. Amendments were made to the bill, and on the motion of Rep. Richardson, it was referred to the Revision Committee to be revised and re-engrossed, as the Hawaiian version was found to be very defective.

Third reading of an act to amend sec. 847, Civil Code, relating to the Chancellor and Vice-Chancellors of the Kingdom. On motion of Minister Neumann the bill was made a special order of the day for Thursday next. The house adjourned at 12 till 1:30.

BATTALION DRILL.

All the volunteer military companies assembled at the Armory last evening for a battalion drill under command of Major Baker. After luncheon was formed on Queen street they marched to the Palace Square, headed by the drum corps of the King's Own. At the square the companies, after marching up and down several times, were brought in line and put through the manual of arms. Then the companies were drilled by their respective captains, marching forward and to the rear, oblique and by the flank, forming platoons and wheeling, then double time and open order before His Majesty the King. At 10 o'clock the parade was formed and band played. Marching was again ordered and continued until 11 o'clock, at which time the band escorted the battalion back to the Armory. The soldiers were exhausted, sore and covered with dust, and they were glad when the drill was over.

O LUSO HAWAIIANO.

The last issue of the Portuguese paper, O Lusio Hawaiiiano, contains a pressing invitation from Professor de Freitas, to his countrymen, to take the oath of allegiance in this country, thereby enabling them to enjoy the privileges of citizens and helping in the government of the Kingdom. Another article recommends the Portuguese laborers, whose contracts are just out, not to enter into new contracts, but to preserve their freedom. The Lusio complains that, of late, a good many of its subscribers fail to receive their copies, which shows a very rotten state of things in the post-offices on the other islands.

This issue contains the usual large amount of news from Portugal, Madeira and the Azores, and an account of the late wedding of the Prince Royal of Portugal.

Among the local news, there is a complete list of the Portuguese who left by the Australia, together with their wives and families; it is a sad one and gives plenty of food for thought.

We notice that the advertising patronage continues very large, as the paper has had to be enlarged permanently to six columns instead of five, on account of the pressure of advertisements.

A RETURNED HAWAIIAN.

Peter Johnson Pahunani, a native Hawaiian arrived from Liverpool yesterday on the British bark Lapwing. Pahunani left here when about 12 years of age on the bark Chesapeake for Puget Sound. He obtained employment on the Sound traders and after visiting many places finally arrived at Liverpool, England, where he met with an accident breaking his knee cap. He was taken in charge by the Hawaiian Consul at London and when convalescent was put on board the bark Lapwing as a consul passenger. He was not a regular seaman, but did odd jobs about the ship during the voyage. Pahunani does not know exactly how old he is, but thinks about 20 years. On his arrival in port yesterday and while in the stream, the boat boys called out to him in Hawaiian, but he did not seem to understand. The boat boys said he was proud and that, because he had seen some of the world, it was beneath his dignity to recognize his native tongue. The returned native said he knew his father was dead but knew nothing of his mother. When his step-father boarded the Lapwing yesterday afternoon he fully understood the Hawaiian language, and when he went ashore he was surrounded by many admirers who thought him a big chief like Tom Sawyer after his piratical expedition. Pahunani was walking about town this morning and is already anxious to be off again.

EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

The girls in the Brooklyn public schools have to commit to memory the Constitution of the United States.

A party of professors and students have left the Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore for Abaco, one of the islands of the Bahama group, where the summer session of the Zoological Laboratory will be held.

Dr. Sophie Kawalewski, who has been appointed to a mathematical chair in the University of Stockholm, Sweden, is said to be the first woman who ever attained a recognized academic position as Professor of Mathematics in Europe.

After the 1st of July next no school teacher in Iowa can get a certificate who has not passed an examination in physiology and hygiene, with special reference to the effect of alcoholic liquors, stimulants and narcotics upon the human system.—[Iowa City Journal.]

Harvard has finally modified its rule on the Greek question, which has excited so much discussion in recent years. It is now advisable, in the judgment of the Board of Overseers, to permit a scientific substitute to be offered by applicants for admission to the college for either Greek or Latin, one of these two languages always being required, and provision being made for elementary instruction in Greek and Latin elective in the college course.

A BRITISH NAVAL DEMONSTRATION. Despatches from England convey the assurance that the movement of British men-of-war toward Halifax is neither significant nor important. The Bellerophon is said to be there in accordance with the regular course of orders issued long ago. Among other vessels soon to reach there are the Dido, Garnet, Emerald and Lily. What the others are which these are among is not stated. The Mallard has been ordered to St. John, New Brunswick. Of these ships all are unarmored corvettes except the Bellerophon, which is an ironclad cruiser of 7,550 tons, having 6-inch armor, carrying ten 12-ton and five 6 1/2-ton guns. Not a first-class ship, but capable of knocking into kindling-wood our North Atlantic Squadron, with a little assistance from her light consorts. Of course we accept the assurance that the presence of the fleet in close proximity to the scene of our fishery troubles is in accordance with routine and has no bearing upon that question, still we may be permitted to express surprise at the coincidence.

Our coasting coal schooners have lately been very successful in ramming and sinking United States despatch boats, and Cunard liners, but we fear the result of a contest between one of them and a British ironclad in case any unpleasantness should grow out of the fishing business. But it may be assumed with certainty that the mutual interests of the two nations are too great to permit a collision to arise from such a comparatively small matter as the Canadian fisheries. The beating of the tom-tom, however, on both sides is quite frequent.—S. F. Bulletin.

Great Excitement in Wales about a Marvellous Cure.

Living Six Years Without Going to Bed.

Mr. EUGENE—While spending a few days at the pleasant seaside town of Aberystwith, Cardiganshire, Wales, I heard related what seemed to me either a fabulous story or a marvellous cure.

The story was that a poor sufferer who had not been able to lie down in bed for six long years, given up to be by all the Doctors, had been speedily cured by some Patent Medicine. It was related with the more implicit confidence from the circumstance, as was said, that the Vicar of Llanwrtyd was familiar with the case, and could vouch for the truth of the report.

Having a little curiosity to know how such stories grow in travelling, I took the liberty while at the village of Llanwrtyd to call upon the Vicar, the Rev. T. Evans, and to enquire about this wonderful cure. Though a total stranger to him, both he and his wife most graciously entertained me in a half hour's conversation, principally touching the case of Mr. Pugh, in which they seemed to take a deep and sympathetic interest, having been familiar with his sufferings, and now rejoiced in what seemed to them a most remarkable cure.

The Vicar remarked that he presumed Mr. Pugh's name had been connected with the report from his having mentioned the case to Mr. John Thomas, a chemist of Llanon. He said Mr. Pugh was formerly a resident of his parish, but was now living in the parish of Llanidloes.

He strongly commended Mr. Wm. Pugh's character as a respectable farmer and worthy of credit. I left the venerable Vicar with a lively sense of the happy result of a patient and people, feeling that he was one who truly sympathized with all who are afflicted in mind, body, or estate.

On my return to Aberystwith, I was impressed with a desire to see Mr. Pugh, whose reputation stood so high. His name is called Paganon Mawr, signifying "above the guggle," situated near the summit of a smooth round hill, overlooking a beautiful valley in which is situated the lovely ivy-mantled Church of Llanidloes.

I found Mr. Pugh, apparently about 40 years old, of medium height, rather slight, with a pleasant and intelligent face. I told him I had heard of his great affliction and of his remarkable and almost miraculous relief, and that I had come to learn from his own lips, what there was of truth in the reports.

WM. G. IRWIN & CO., SOLE AGENTS FOR THE KINGDOM OF The Celebrated Taro Flour

MADE BY THE Alden Fruit & Taro Co., Are prepared to offer special inducements to Plantations and Shipping Agents.

Taro Flour is packed in suitable containers for transhipment between the Islands and for foreign shipment. Special orders will be received and packed in any style required. This Taro Flour is FAR SUPERIOR to that manufactured last year.

Grand Success.

The new method of making Poi out of TARO FLOUR has reduced the time from 2 1/2 to ONLY 1 HOUR. The old method of cooking it in a bag has been discarded. There is no need of building a fire specially for the purpose, for it can be cooked at the same time that the ordinary meal is being prepared.

Take an agate iron or porcelain lined saucepan, and pour into it one part of Taro Flour to two parts of water. Mix well and be sure there are no lumps. Place the saucepan over a good fire and stir the flour and water with a wooden spoon or stick until it becomes thick, which will take from 3 to 5 minutes according to heat employed. After it is thick, occasional thorough stirring is necessary, adding a little warm water from time to time to prevent its getting too thick. Let it simmer for nearly an hour and be almost as stiff as putty—that is, quite thick. Put it into a calabash or large bowl, and let it stand from two to three days, when it will become nice and tart.

Should the Poi show a tendency to become cloggy or lumpy, strain it through a piece of netting into a pan or bowl and smooth it down with a potato masher or wooden spoon.

Persons preferring sweet Poi will find that by cooking the flour according to the above instructions while preparing their evening meal, and letting it stand overnight, it will be in proper condition for use on the following morning. [352]

Four Simple Reasons Why F. HORN Can Sell Ice Cream, Fruit and All Fancy Ices Cheaper

Than any other Establishment on the Islands, and which HE GUARANTEES to be Superior to any other.

FIRSTLY—HORN has the practical Experience himself for 45 years in all known ICECREAMS and FANCY ICES, and for that reason is not obliged to pay extravagant wages for another man's knowledge not worth 25 cents to him.

SECONDLY—HORN has no extra EXPENSES such as Rent, Help, etc.

THIRDLY—HORN has no STEAM FACILITIES by which he can make in twenty minutes what will take 4 men one hour to do, and for that reason can execute orders in far shorter time than any other.

FOURTHLY—HORN is the practical Master over his journeymen. In many other establishments of this kind, the journeymen are the masters, no matter how little knowledge they are possessed of, because the employer knows nothing about the making of the article he sells.

P.S.—Although not having received the necessary appliances yet which are to arrive soon, F. HORN will execute small orders for Creams from this day on very reasonable terms. 350 2w

SINGING FOR SONG.

Mlle. Annis Montague Turner, who has been one of the sopranos of the American Opera Company, limited, is now suing the Company in the Supreme Court to recover the sum of $3,800 which she claims for salary. She states that she made a contract with Charles E. Locke, the general manager of the opera company, to sing in the leading soprano part with the company from January 4th last to June 12th, at a salary of $300 per week, her appearance to be three times weekly. She says that her salary has not been paid, and she put in the bill of $3,800, which also includes what she claims to be due for nine extra performances at the rate of $100 each. The company often promised payment, she says, but nothing has been paid. The answer interposed admits that a contract was made, but denies that payment of the bill was promised, and further states that there was no provision for extra pay for extra work. It is alleged also that Mlle. Turner was incompetent to fill the roles selected for her, and, consequently, the company sets up a counter claim for $3,000 damages.—[New York Herald, May 22nd.]

WATER ON THE DESERT.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS OF AN IRRIGATION PROJECT.

Matthew Gage of Riverside is at the Occidental Hotel in this city. Through the execution of a plan of irrigation devised by him, it is expected that within the next few months some six thousand acres of land, situated above the upper canal of the Riverside Canal Company, which land has, heretofore, been considered worthless, because of lack of water for irrigation, will be irrigated. In about two years 15,000 acres in this tract, Mr. Gage says, will be irrigated.

Mr. Gage talked freely about his plan. Something like five years ago he came from Canada with his family and settled in Riverside, investing in Riverside property and engaging in the watch and jewelry business. "East of Riverside," said Mr. Gage, "there are about 15,000 acres which have been considered worthless because it was thought impossible to get water there for irrigation. Now I am so far along in my enterprise that all I have to do is to finish my canal and deliver the commodity, water, which is already sold. When I began to solve the problem, about four years ago, I was generally looked upon as a visionary. I put in $35,000 and kept on until everything was mortgaged. My enterprise was private, and not a joint stock concern. About three years ago I located a section of land just east of Riverside, on the dry plain, under the Desert Land Act, and took this for a nucleus. I found artesian land, employed a civil engineer, ran lines, secured the right of way for my proposed canal, and contracted with persons owning land under the line of the canal to furnish them an inch of water to five acres, for which they will pay $100 per acre. On this contract I gave five years' time, at 8 per cent interest from the time the water is placed upon the land, the payments to be secured by mortgage on the lands to be irrigated. I closed a contract with J. A. Carit of San Bernardino, for $175,000 for his land, upon which there are numerous springs. Work on the canal was begun last November. About the 1st of December I secured the services of Mr. Mansen to bore wells. A well about 110 feet deep furnished a 25 inch stream of water. A second well, a little deeper, brought a great supply. From six wells I have about 500 inches of water. From other wells the supply will be increased. The work when done will cost about $450,000. The cost of the water property is $175,000; canals, flumes and tunnels, $125,000; cost of cementing the entire length of canal on bottom and sides etc., this work to be done within the next two years, during the winter months, $125,000; water developments, $25,000." Concerning his scheme, Mr. Gage says: "Never in the history of water projects in California have such results been realized as under this system. Lands which were worthless are changing hands at $200 per acre and upward."

Under the canal are tracts owned by A. S. White, W. A. Hoyt, Dr. C. W. Sylvester, and Matthew Gage own several hundred acres of fruit land there.—[S. F. Bulletin.]
