LEAGUE NOMINATION.

Having named a capable and patriotic citizen for membership in the Advisory Council, the American League has put its request for representation there into concrete form; and it remains for the Annexation party to say whether the request shall be granted or whether, at the great risk to political unity, it shall be resisted or denied. We take it that nothing can be said against Mr. Smith personally. He is in trade, he is one of the armed defenders of the Government, he is capable, honest and loyal and his obligations, as a member of the League, are to fight in season and out of season for annexation to the United States. Such a man deserves the place to which the candidacy now points. The general recognition in the party of this fact leaves it to be inferred that, if he is seriously opposed to-night, it will be on the ground that the American League has no right to ask for a voice in the Councils of the Government to which the services of all its members are devoted in either a civil or military relation.

Upon this point let there be fair treatment. As a usual thing 12000 men comprise, in Honolulu, the number of reform patriots who have, since 1887, gathered in mass meeting to work changes in, or give encouragement to, the existing Government. The American League has on its rolls nearly half of those 12000, and all of them are depended upon to protect and sustain the powers that be. As the League is devoted to annexation and to good government it surely is a proper body to be drawn upon for some legislative material. It has the right of numbers and of principles to a seat and a voice in the common Government—in fact, to many seats and voices.

The objection is made that the League is a secret body. This story the STAR unhesitatingly denies. The constitution and by-laws of the League are public property, and these contain all the "secrets" which the League has ever made, except, perhaps, the pass-words which are used to keep Royalist spies out of the League meetings. To be sure, the League holds its sessions behind closed doors; but so, a great part of the time, does the Advisory Council. So at all times does the Executive Council. So do the stockholders of our secret-fearing contemporary, the Advertiser. So does nearly every civil or political body which is in danger of being invaded by those who have no business with it or are unfriendly to its code of principles. But withal, the American League has no secrets which any patriotic American is not entitled to share; none that many of the best and safest citizens of Honolulu have not been willing to accept; none at all, of the nature of political principles which have not been given to the public time and again. It is absurd and offensive to raise something like the old anti-Masonic secret league cry, against a body which has published its constitution, by-laws and platform and has shown the faces of its people in an open meeting to which all members of the Government have been invited.

If it be conceded then that the League has a right to be represented, it follows that it would be an affront to party unity to oppose its candidate. So would it in any event. What seems desirable, therefore, from every point of view, except, perhaps, that of a small conservative group which believes that it was born to rule, is that Mr. Smith should be endorsed to-night by the Annexation party and given credentials that will entitle him to take his seat. Rival candidacies, in view of the real and valid claims of the League, would be productive of discord, confusion and bad blood. Can the party at large afford that risk when the cheerful aid of every patriot is needed to secure the common welfare?

Run but one candidate, fellow Annexationists. Run D. B. Smith.

MR. DAVIES' COMPLAINTS.

We find nothing in Mr. Davies' letters to Mr. W. O. Smith which should lead the STAR to modify its account of the now famous tripartite interview. Mr. Davies objects, apparently, to our reporter's statement that he was "summoned" to the office of the Attorney-General, that he "squirmed" during the investigation which followed, and that he went away "boiling with rage." That he was summoned, though in the polite terms with which such biddings are phrased, is shown by the text of Mr. Smith's first letter to him. That he "squirmed" under the sharp inquiry which was made is a report which finds verification in his indignant letter to the Bulletin descriptive of the occurrence; and that he was angry when he left the Executive Building is the testimony of several eye witnesses. As to Mr. Smith's part in the matter he gave the reporter no more than he was entitled to receive. An investigation into public charges of conspiracy against the Government is not a private matter between gentlemen as Mr. Davies imagines, but is a thing of the greatest public concern and interest.

Did not the editor of the Advertiser belong to a "secret" good-government league in 1887? One difference between that body and the American League is that the former proposed to get representative government by revolution and the latter proposes to get it by constitutional methods and without secret maneuvering. Our amiable friend over the way was a great believer in a secret league seven years ago, but that was because he or his was "in it."

The Coconut Club and the Schutzen Verein were not alone in the meeting business last night. The Sisters, Cousins and Aunts' Society also held a meeting and passed appropriate resolutions. These appear elsewhere.

Mr. D. B. SMITH is a business man, an American and an Annexationist. He is clean and patriotic and he deserves to be inducted and elected by the Annexation party.

WHAT could be more "secret" than the methods by which vacancies in the Council have been filled hitherto?

CLEVELAND'S FLIGHT ILLUSTRATED.

"Do you think Cleveland's Hawaiian policy and its failure will hurt him politically?" asked a New York Congressman of a fellow statesman from Mississippi. "We can tell better after a while," replied the Spanish moss publicist. "Now I might tell an anecdote which expresses my belief about Mr. Cleveland's comers-out in this Queen Liliuokalani business. Once when I was about ten years old, I was visiting a boy about that age, who lived on a neighboring farm. The name of my entertainer was Sprague. It was a dirty, cold, wet day. Just as the Sprague boy and I were picking our careful way through the deep mud and mire of the barnyard, old man Sprague came out of the barn leading a four-year-old colt. The colt was full of a high, half-broken life, and seemed to be passing most of its time on its hind legs. Old Sprague wanted to water the colt. His policy in this aqueous enterprise was to enthrone himself on its back and ride it down to the neighboring branch.

"Whoa," remarked old Sprague in a tone of fury, as he jammed the headlong colt up against a haystack, preparatory to mounting. Old Sprague was a very choleric man, and his bad temper had come mighty near getting him "churched" two or three times. "Getting the colt reasonably on all four of his feet, old Sprague launched himself upon the colt's bare back. He didn't tarry there a moment. The colt arched his back until it looked like a hoop, put his nose between his forelegs, and then indulged in three stiff-legged jumps, which, as a result, sent old Sprague rolling and tumbling in the mud of the barnyard. I was awed into silence by the inhuman spectacle, but young Sprague almost burst into tears.

"Did it hurt you, paw?" he asked. "Well," replied old Sprague, picking himself out of the mud hole in which he'd lodged, his face red with wrath, "it didn't do me a blamed bit of good."—Washington Post.

WILLIS SHOULD COME HOME. It is urged in some quarters that it would be unjust in the President to recall Minister Willis, inasmuch as the Minister has simply obeyed his instructions.

But this is the very reason why he should be recalled. To follow his instructions and fail in their object—which was to overturn the Government to which he was accredited and to restore the Queen—was not only to put an end to his usefulness as an agent of our administration, but to render him irretrievably persona non grata to the Provisional Government of Hawaii.

The Minister of a foreign power who has both openly and secretly conspired against the existence of the Government to which he is accredited cannot become an acceptable representative through the failure of that conspiracy.

Minister Willis' further residence at Honolulu is an insult and a menace to the Hawaiian Government, which advises show that President Dole resents. He reproached our Minister with his unfriendly course, and on being asked by Mr. Willis to withdraw the imputation he declined to do so. The administration should not leave its Minister exposed to such just rebukes. It should not continue toward a weak nation, a course which it would not think of pursuing toward a strong one.—N. Y. World.

NEW PLAN FOR HAWAII DEPORT THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT.

There is more of a hitch than we thought in the restoration of the monarchy in Hawaii. Not only is it opposed by the American intriguers who brought about the revolution, and are now striving to front the return of Queen Liliuokalani with armed forces, but the Queen herself is in the way of her own sovereignty. President Cleveland, being very naturally desirous of a peaceful change and anxious to secure from harm American subjects, however guilty, has stipulated for a general amnesty. This the haughty Queen has refused to grant. It is not very wise on her part, for to assume such dignity one must first be a real Queen, and Queen Liliuokalani is at present no more than a name.

To a certain extent her Majesty has our sympathy in the matter; for she probably shrinks from undertaking the government with all those intriguers at hand and at liberty. Some compromise might be reached by which the leaders of the rebellion would agree to live upon their native soil and leave the Hawaiian to the providence of its own gods.—Fall Mail Gazette.

WAS IT GRESHAM'S IDEA OR WHOSE?

The Hawaiian business is the most awkward and unnecessary tangle that our Government ever got into at any time in its history. After recognizing the Provisional Government established by Americans in self defence for the protection of their interests and the interests of civilization, the Administration made the mistake of yielding to Secretary Gresham's idea of reinstating the immoral negro Queen whose oppressive conduct caused her overthrow.—Atlanta Constitution.

TRULY A PARAMOUNT MATTER.

THE "BUSY" LITTLE "BEES.

Observe these busy little bees a-laying up their honey and try to be as wise as these by saving of your money. You smoke, say, five cigars a day, and drink, say, six times daily; cards, pool, and billiards, too, you play, and treat the fellows gaily. In twenty years this fun will cost, according to good scholars, with interest, and the time that's lost just $20,000. But if you count your loss of health and self-inflicted trouble, you will find this foolish waste of wealth will figure more than double. So imitate these busy bees; store up a little treasure, and later you can take your ease, and have a lot of pleasure. The Equitable Hive is where you ought to store your money, and when you're old, you'll have laid by a lot of Tontine honey.
