'Tis Sweet for our Country to Die.

The following spirited lyric, is from the pen of T. B. Aldrich, the poet painter:]

The grand old earth shakes at the tread of the Norsemen, Who meet, as of old, in defense of the true; All hall to the stars that are set in their bunner. All hall to the red, and the white, and the blue ! As each column wheels by,

Hear their hearts' buttle-cry, It was Warren's, 'Tie sweet for our country to die! Engeneer and Coos; Luconia and Concord,

Old Postsmouth and Korne, send their stalwart young men They come from the plow, and the form, and the anvil, From the marge of the sea, from the hill-top and glen. As such column wheels by, Hear their hearts' battle-cry.

It was Warren's, 'Tis sweet for our country to die ! The souvers of fair women, like beginns of angels, Watch over our soldiers by day and by night; And the Klay of all Glory, the Chief of all Armies, Shall love them and lead them who dare to be right! As each column wheels by,

Hear their hearts' battle-cry. It was Warren's, 'Tis sweet for our country to die! VARIETY.

What is the oldest piece of furniture in the world? The multiplication table. Why is a horse the most miserable of animals? Because his thoughts are always on the rack. The young hady who burst into tears, has been put together again, and is now wearing boops to prevent the recurrence of the accident. How immensely would our conversation be abridged if mankind would only speak the truth. The blue of heaven refreshes the eye of the soul when it rests upon it, as much as the green of the earth does that of the body. There are many doublings in the human heart; don't think that you can find out the whole of a Dealer in Dry and Fancy Goods, Hotel Street, between Nunman's real character at once.

Those who reprove us are more valuable friends than those who flatter us. True progress acquires | Cabinet Maker and Prench Polisher, Hotel Street, opposite t either faithful friends or severe enemies. The miser lives poor to die rich, and is the jailer of his house, and the turnkey of his wealth. The gentleman who got intoxicated with delight has been turned out of the temperance society. It is not the multitude of applauses, but the good sense of the applanders, which gives value to the An important reason for benevolence is, that though you may forget your own joy from being so accustomed to it, the joy of others seems ever something He who goes through a land, and scatters blown roses, may be tracked next day by their withered petals that strew the ground; but he who goes through it, and scatters rose-seed, a hundred years after leaves behind him a land full of fragrance and beauty for his monument, and as a heritage for his daughters | Importer and Dealer in Hardware, Cuttery, Muchasics' and sons. Give a man the necessities of life, and he wants the conveniences. Give him the conveniences, and he craves for the luxuries. Grant him the luxuries, and he sighs for the elegancies. Let him have the elegancies, and he yearns for the follies. Give him altogether, and he complains that he has been cheated both in price and quality of the articles. Jon PRINTING .- "Job printing !" exclaimed old Dame Partington, the other day, as she peeped over her spectacles at the advertising page of a country paper. "Poor Job! they've kept him printing, week after week, ever since I larnt to read; and if he wasn't the patientest man that ever was, he never could have stood it so long no how !" SEASONABLE QUERIES .- The self examining society has proposed the following queries to all people about this financial period: 1. Does it cost anything to print a newspaper? 2. How long can a printer afford to furnish a paper without pay? 2. Do printers eat, drink and wear clothing? 4. If they do, how do they get them? 5. Do I owe for my paper? 6. Is not this particular period a proper time to send to the publisher or call at his office and "pay up?" In a French medical journal for February, 1858, it is stated that a man was bitten at Panama by a coral snuke, the most poisonous species on the Isthmus. During the few seconds that it took him to take the cedron from his bag, he was seized with violent pains at the heart and throat; but he had scarcely chewed and swallowed a piece of the nut about the size of a small bean, when the pains ceased as by magic. He chewed a little more, and applied it externally to the wound, when the pains disappeared, and were followed by a copious vomiting of a sub-stance like curdled milk. Many other cases are mentioned where the cedron proved an antidote. On one occasion Napoleon invited his staff of the Marshals of France to take dinner with him at two o'clock. The marshals were a few moments late. The Emperor, at the moment the clock struck, sat down to dinner alone. He was a quick eater, seldom remaining at the table more than ten minutes. At the end of this time his staff appeared, when he rose to meet them, and said, "Messieurs, it is now past dinner, and we will immediately proceed to business." Wherefore the marshals were obliged to spend the entire afternoon in planning a new campaign on

CHARCOAL FOR TURKEYS .- Four turkeys were confined in a pen, and fed on meal, boiled potatoes and oats. Four others of the same blood were also at the same time confined in another pen, and fed on the same articles, but with one pint of pulverized charcoal mixed with their meal and potatoes. They also had a plentiful supply of broken charcoal in their | SAN'L N. CASTLE. pen. The eight were killed on the same day, and there was a difference of one and a half pounds each in favor of the fowls which had been supplied with the charcoal, they being much the fattest, and the ment greatly superior in point of tenderness and

AMUSING INCIDENT .- The Cuban Messenger, the English paper at Havana, has the following: As a drayman was furiously heating his lank, half-starved mule, near Government Square, Havana, he was astounded to hear the animal exclaim :

" Enough! you brute!" The drayman looked aghast, and searched under his dray and around his mule to find the origin of this sepulchral voice, when again he was horrified to | cnas, a sister. hear from the animal to all appearances :

"You are a brute !" The drayman was dumbfounded, and trembled like an aspen leaf, and dropped his whip as if stung by an adder. He blessed himself, and was about falling on his knees when he again heard :

"I was your mother once upon a time?" This capped the climax, and a gentleman from the crowd that had gathered around, endeavored to explain to the terror stricken drayman, that sometimes disembodied spirits return to the world in the form of animals. Just at this moment, Signor Blitz, accompanied by his two friends, who had been looking on the strange scene, and enjoying the fun, adjourned to the Union Coffee House, on the neighboring corner, and left the crowd endeavoring to induce the animal to speak again, and the drayman embracing the mule in a most filial manner.

The bark Comet is new fully due, having been absent forty four days to-day, and may be looked for any hour. KEEP YOUR SHIPS WALL MANNED .- There are some ship owners who entertain the idea that if a vessei has men shough to purchase the anchor, she is fully manned; because this, they say, is the heaviest work they will be required to perform. But there is a limit to this kind of calculation which cannot be passed with safety. Admitting that a vessel has a patent windiass Cunningham's rig, and all the other labor-saving improvement of the day; yet a certain number of men are necessary to hau the wards mound in stays and to take care of the courses.

few weeks since we showed how a fine vessel and most of her crew were lost, because she had not men enough to work her mainsail in stays. While they were preparing to haul the sail up she struck bottom, and in less than an hour was a complete wreck. We allude to the Witchcraft; but she is not the only versel which has been lost under such circumstances. Again, a ship may spring a leak, even a moderate leak, which a full crew might contend against; but which would soon exhaust the energies of a half crew. We regard all improvements for lightening the labor of men, as so much added to the ship, but if the numbers of the men are diminished as patents are increased, it will be difficult to repair any heavy accident, such as the loss of a mast or a yard. It not unfrequently happens that a vessel when in with the land has her sails blown away by a squall; and that her safety depends upon having others bent as quickly as possible. This is a kind of work which patents cannot pe to do it, the sooner will the vessel be made manageable .- Hoston

judge by the fondness of our official organ to expose the poverty of the Hawaiian Government, by its quarterly exhibition of the beggarly statistics paraded before the public, the same infirmity is shared by governments. It is bad enough for a man of a weak mind to expose his failings. to the jeers of the crowd, but when a government seeks to exhibit its nakedness and poverty to the gazing world, it creates a feeling of shame in her people; not because she is poor, but because those who should endeavor to hide her nakedness have so little sympathy for her. Not content with robbing her of a goodly income and destroying in a measure, by doubling the import duties, the growing and flourishing commerce of a port, which, under proper nurture and care, was destined to hold the position of a central distributing mart, our ministry now seek to frighten away from us some who might otherwise be encouraged to emigrate hither and plant their capital and industry among us.

All who are interested in the permanency of the Hawaiian kingdom, its prosperity and growth, look with sorrow on the great fact which the statistics of each department of the public revenue must show, viz : a retrograde movement, a falling off in the income. Whatever may be the causes, the fact still appears as patent as the light of day, that the available public revenue is on the decline, and declining, too, in such a ratio that something must be immediately done to arrest it, or its effects will soon be witnessed. spreading like a plague of Egypt, and cursing all alike-government and people, rich and poor.

Our readers well know that we have attributed the first prime cause to the incompetency of the ministry, to the erroneous policy pursued by them, and their want of firmness to initiate and carry out with promptness proposed changes of acknowledged benefit. This has become so apparent, that public dissatisfaction is everywhere expressed, and public confidence in the integrity and ability of the ministry so shaken that a change is absolutely demanded. The department of Finance especially, is the main spring of the national credit and prosperity, and its position should be sacredly guarded; if it falls into discredit, the industry of the people suffers with it, and the burdens imposed on them become less easy to be borne. To regulate it, and devise ways and means to meet the public wants, requires financial ability, skill and integrity of the highest order-second to no other post in the kingdom. During the past two or three years that department has lacked the administrative ability which it should have enjoyed, and as a consequence, every "reform" emanating in it, and the principal political changes carried into effect, have unfortunately been obnoxious to the true interests of our commerce and injurious to the public revenue. The statistics which the government paper very foolishly parades before the public, [see Polynesian of July 20,] afford ample evidence to support this position.

an increase in the tax on the necessaries of life the revenue derivable therefrom, as well as from spirits. In bringing forward proofs, we can only speak from past experience; but all the statistics obtainable up to this date go to sustain the position taken by this journal, that an increase of taxes on the necessaries of life decreases the consumption of them, and consequently decreases the aggregate of industry engaged in the production and supply of them. This is an axiom of political economy so well established in old countries, that we have always believed its revenue must partake of the injury. If we refer, bria, Pease, June 25; ship Alabama, Coffin, June 28; bark | then, to the statistics of the past three years, we shall find this position sustained. We will lowing report of the ship Cambria, Pease :- June 25, 1800 bris give now the imports and duties for the first wh, 230 bris sp; whole voyage, 2,100 bris. Reports, June 5th, six months of each of the three past years, which will show the operation of the two tariffs, premising that in 1859 the old five per cent. duties were in force on merchandise, and $5 a gallon on spirits; in 1860, the same duty on merchandise, but the duty on spirits reduced to $3; in 1861, ten per cent. on merchandise, fifspirits. Let us compare the three years:

Figures are stubborn witnesses, which cannot be impeached. When urging the passage of the new tariff, the ministry predicted that the reve-Am chapter ship Raduga, Bucdett, sailed from Boston for Honolulu May 1st, with cargo assorted merchandise to C. The Ministry, and other silly theorists, reasoned that our people would just as soon pay a ten per cent. tax on the necessaries they consumed as five per cent. It was perfectly ridicu-They might as well have reasoned that for a capitalist to raise his rents five per cent, would make no difference with his tenants; or for the government to reduce five per cent, on the interest it pays for its loans, would make no difference in the facility with which it could borrow. All will see that a great mistake has been committed through nore the present state of things will never do. The people are and ought ever to be, deeply concerned in the welfare and prosperity of the government, for their interests are identical. The government can borrow money a little while, so long as its bills and interest are promptly met, or till capitalists, who provide the necessary means, begin to inquire very suspiciously how much the liabilities of government are, and whether it can really fulfill all its promises to There is a limit beyond which governnent cannot borrow its five or ten thousand a month at its option or call. ### The Marquesan Islands.

We alluded last week to the report of the Hawaiian King Street, on the premises of C. H. Lewers, Esq., Missionary Society. From that pamphlet we exwas absent at the Armory of the H. R. Co., a thief tract the following account of the group from the

THE MARQUESAS ISLANDS .- There are but six inhabited islands in the group. Three of them-Fatuiva, Tahuata and Hivaoa-lay to the south, and are called the windward islands, in relation to the so-called Southeast trades ;-the other three, Uahuna, Uapou, and Nuuhiva, are called the leeward, corollary deduced from it is, that as the indus- utes before. Mr. L. traced the man up town, took formerly the Washington Islands. All these are in try engaged in trade and commerce receives a him into custody, and marched him to the station- such relation to each other, that but little difficulty is experienced in employing the trade-winds, which here blow well from the East, in sailing from one island to the other of the whole group.

The greatest distance between any of these islands is between Hivaoa and Uapou-about fifty miles. The other channels are from 25 to 35 miles in width. The distance between Fatuiva, the most Southern. and Nuuhiva (or Nukahiva,) the most Northern, is only 110 miles, about the distance between Oahu and Hawaii ,-from which it will be seen the group covers but a small portion of our ocean.

The individual islands are also very small. There are four of them, Fatgiva, Tahuata, Uapon and Uahuna, whose long diameters are only about eight. miles,-about the size of Kahoolawe. Hivaoa and going on around town. They should count the cost, Nuuhiva are respectively 22 and 17 miles in length from East to West-about the size of Niihau and Lanai. The whole of the inhabited and the uniuhabited of the Marquesan Islands together would give but little more superficial area than Kahoolawa, has been the theme of many pens. It is certainly a rugged land, and presents as great variety of pstrous formation and arrangement as could conveniently comport with its igneous origin. But it should be borne in mind that it is principally the romance of rock and rockiness. The points, headlands, cliffs, ramparts, ridges, chasms, towers, needles, cones, turrets, and pinnacles, are nearly all bare, black, frowning, arid, rock. A short yellow grass does indeed succeed in rooting itself over cossiderable portions; but the eye wonders restlessly, and with pain, to find a little relief from some pasch of green. Such patches are indeed found in some heard the last of this plague, but it is rumored that of the valleys, and are all the more beautiful frees with the same period of the year previous.

The total population is only about 8000; Hivaoa numbering but 3500, and Nuuhiva 1600. In 1838. the Rev. Mr. Stallworth estimated Fatuiva at 3000,

THE NEW GENERALS .- Five Major Generals have now been appointed, viz: Gen. George W. McClellan of Ohio, who has charge of the troops and movement of troops at New York city; Gen. John C. Fremont, who, it is understood, will be placed in charge of the western division of the army, and operate down the Mississippi, or perhaps attack the troops in their rear through Arkansas, New Mexico and Texas; ripe judgment, and vigorous thought and action, they are well calculated to lead the people's armies, for the maintenance of "Liberty and Union." Gen. Dix is perhaps 60 years old, Gen. Butler about 43; the other three from 40 to 45 each. It is stated by "Occasional," in the Philadelphia Press, that and services may be better appreciated.

Foreign Summary.

Capt. George H. Derby, of the U. S. Army, widely known as " John Phonix," is dead. Prentiss, of the Louisville Journal, whose efforts in behalf of the Union have been so efficient and enterprising, has his arm partially paralyzed, and is obliged to use an amanuensis altogethe but the brave deserves the fair.

An editor at Washburn, St. Paul, Minn., one day last week ornamented his house with a splendid American flag, and the same night his wife presented him with a nine pounder Jeff. Davis is reported to have said while in conversation upon political topics-"I have no doubt that the North can furnish five men to our one, and that she can whip us, but she cannot conquer us." Dr. Holmes, of New York, the celebrated embalmst, has received a commission as Surgeon in the the London Literary Gazette, are, it is said, to be put down in Paris. Col. Wilcox has many complaints from old ladies and nervous gentlemen in Alexandria about the conduct of the soldiers. One old lady convulsed those ganders were robbing her of her geese. SOUTHERN EPISCOPACY.—The Episcopal dioceses in the South are about to organize themselves under a new jurisdiction, as the Protestant Episcopal Church of the Confederate States of America The delegates were to have met at Montgomery, Alabama, on the

G. S. Bailey of Portland has invented a machine for folding newspapers, which takes the papers from the table of the press as fast as they are printed, and they come from the folder.

The passes issued by the Provost-Marshal of Alexandria have this condition: "It is understood that the within-named accepts this pass on his word of honor that he is loyal to the Union, and if hereafter

The United States steamer Brooklyn has captured and sent to Key West the barque H J. Spearing, from Rio de Janerio, bound to New Orleans with a cargo valued at $120,000. The same steamer has ordered away two Bremen ships and the steamer Miramon, and the United States steamer Powhatan has also captured a Charleston vessel bound to New Orleans with a full cargo of rice, &c.

The Calcium Light on Fortress Monroe was used on the occasion of the disembarkation of troops, with fine effect. Its rays thrown upon Sewall's Point batteries, so illuminates the point that any movements around it can be plainly seen in the darkest night.

STRATEGIC POINTS .- Monassas Gap is seventy miles from Alexandria, a strong position on the Alexandria and Strasburg (Valley) Railroad. Manassas Junetion is twenty-seven miles from Alexandria, and is the key to the principal railroads of Virginia-the line from Richmond, as well as the Tennessee and Lynchburg line to Harper's Ferry, uniting at that fine strategic point.

It is reported that five important towns in the interior of San Domingo had been fortified and assisted by Haytiens, who intend to resist the Spanish powers there. It is reported that the inhabitants of one village had been massacred by the Spanish for refusing to swear allegiance to Spain. It is also reported that the Spanish troops were defeated in a small engagement. Additional troops were being sent from Havana. Charles Lever, the novelist, died at Spezzia in the latter part of April. He was a native of Dublin, and was educated in Paris as a physician. He was the author of some twenty-five volumes, all of which are the delight of those who love adventure. He had lived at Florence most of the time since 1845. A sword is to be presented to Colonel Robert Anderson by the Union members of the Kentucky Legislature. It is on exhibition at Louisville. The scabbard bears the inscription " Presented to the gallant soldier and true patriot, Colonel Robert Anderson, by the citizens of his native state."

A merchant writes from Mobile to his friends in N. Y. city as follows: " Money is awfully stringent. Collections of all kinds, home and foreign, are pretty much suspended and business very quiet. We are pretty effectually blockaded at present, and feel quite like a rat confined in a granary." He means an empty granary, of course.

Fifty thousand dollars of the bonds of the southern confederacy, belonging to parties in New Orleans who were forced to sell them, were disposed of a fortnight ago, at the rate of ten cents on a dollar. Only five thousand dollars could be obtained in that market, for the entire lot, which within a few months cost $50,000.

Two excellent photographic likenesses of the President of the Southern Confederacy, and Ex-President Bushanan's Secretary of War, have been placed in the Rogue's Gallery at the City Hall, New York. At the bottom of the likenesses is wrilten, "Jefferson Davis, the traitor," and "John B. Floyd, the rob-

Dr Tyng, in the course of his remarks at the meeting of the American Tract Society, made the following remarks: "Slaveholding-that is, holding men and women in bondage was a crime. Hear me [added be, as the audience was uproarious with applause,] slavery ought to be abolished; slavery must be abolished; slavery can be abolished; slavery will be abolished; slavery will be abolished by this war. HAVELOCKS.-The "Havelock" is a style of head gear, so called after the late distinguished Christian soldier in India. It is a plain cap, high in the crown, made of thick white linen, and having a cape which falls to the shoulders, covering the neck and and ears, and with a visor, shading the greater part of the face. The value of this cap as a security against sunstroke was satisfactorily tested by the British troops during the Sepoy rebellion.

NEWSPAPERS AT THE EAST -The New York correspondent of the Sacramento Union writes: The newspapers are all going to the dogs. The war has knocker their pins clear from under them. In the Northern and Middle States fifty have suspended publication within the last ninety days. Even the Herald, yesterday, confesses that owing to business stagnation, failure of advertisements, and increased exsense in furnishing news, newspaper publishing on the Atlantic sea board was a losing business at present. The weeklies are all in a bad way.

The Louisville Journal of the 29th says: The exodus from the South at present is immense. No less than six hundred passengers came through last night little probability of success. over the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. Many of them had traveled as far as Memphis by the stea er Louisville, but that boat having been confiscated there by the military mob, her passengers were subjected to the necessity of coming through by rail.

THE U. S. FRIGATE SANTEE .- The frigate Santee. and the sloop-of-war Marion, are at Portsmouth Navy Yard, and nearly ready for sea. The keel of this frigate was laid at the Portsmouth Navy Yard in 1821, and she was fitted for lounching soon after. There she laid housed until 1855, when she was overhauled and remodelled, her prow made sharper, and otherwise improved, and was then launched. Again she was left to rest at the wharf until the present crisis. She is now one of the handsomest and best ships in the navy. Her tonnage is 1,726. She mounts 48 guns. THE GREAT BETHEL BLUNDER .- A dispatch from Fortress Monroe, of the 9th, via Baltimore, states that Gen. Butler sent a detachment to dislodge a force of rebels encamped 9 miles from Hampton. The force Itook two routes to form a junction at Little Bethel. At that point, it being dark, the German regiment mistook friends for foes, and fired upon them, killing one and wounding others. After the error was discovered, they murched on the Confederate encampment, which failing to take they retreated in good order, after losing 80 killed and 100 wounded

THE WHITWORTH GUN ON EXHIBITION .- One of the selebrated Whitworth guns, presented by Americans in Europe to the American government, and which arrived in the British steamship Persia, was on exhibition in New Y rk. The exhibition attracted a large number of citizens, who manifested much satisfaction at the arrival of this serviceable piece of ord-

John Merriman, President of the Maryland Agricultural Society, has been arrested on a charge of burning the bridge at Cockeysville. He admits the charge, and says he has a written order from the authorities directing the destruction of the bridges. He has been taken to Fort McHenry.

At a council of war held in Washington on the 25th of June, the plans of the campaign were fully developed and discussed; but all that had transpired in relation to them was, that the Union forces were ready, and that a blow would soon be struck. It is delivers them ready for direction. Mr. Bailey is now probable, however, that no important movement of at work on a machine to direct the papers as fast as the Federal troops was intended until after the meeting of Congress on the 4th of July, when that body will doubtless fully sanction the measures adopted by the President.

EFFECTS OF THE BLOCKADE ON MISSOURI.—The producers, commission merchants, and grain and provifound in arms against the Union, the penalty will be sion dealers of Missouri generally will suffer very little in the long run from the blockade, as long as the the shell is so completely enveloped with flame that State continues loyal. The change will be one rather the fuse is nearly always fired. The fuse is made by in the direction than in the quantity or profit of Western commerce. A Dhalthe Atlantic seaboard, and to the great military depots of the United States.

RUSSELL OF THE LONDON "TIMES."-Having got through with his toadying of the Southern rebels, and planted his feet once more upon free soil, Mr. Russell of the London Times, has now set himself to the task of propitiating the wrath which he fears of the North for his Secession-sympathizing letters to his employers. Russell complains that his letters to the Times were tampered with by his Southern friends, intimating thereby that he has not been writing so strongly in the interest of the rebels as his productions show upon their face. That dodge will

Words in Use -While there are nearly 100,000 words in the English language, scarcely any one writer uses more than 10,000, and few people use in point, which commands them all. It is said to be a conversation more than 3,000. Shakespeare has not more than 15,000 and Milton but 8,000. The wants of the world require but few words for their expression. The Egyptians had but 800 hieroglyphics, in which their history for successive ages was written.

A typographical fighter has screwed his courage up to the stick-ing point, and enlisted in the Warren Artillery, Fall River, Mass., which leaves soon for the seat of conflict. Armed with the shooting-stick, and the t, he will press his way through the rebelious hosts to Washington, unless the chivalry unlock his form and knock him into "pi," in which case he declares the bed of glory preferrable to a "sit." From his well known bravery, we doubt not be will give the enemy an abundance of leaded matter.

A grumbling Southern editor writes: It is impossible to collect anything, and, unless times get better shortly, I fear we newspaper men will have to "cave The additional postage and tariff on the white paper we use will kill off at least half the papers in the Southern Confederacy. The Montgomery Convention, instead of adopting some measures to stop the circulation of abolition papers and build up our home papers, have adopted measures to build up Northern and break down Southern papers. "DOESTICKS" MARRIED .- Mr. Mortimer Thompson, petter known as "Doesticks," was married recently by the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, to Miss Grace Eldredge, eldest daughter of "Fanny Fern." The smony took place at the residence of James Parton, Esq., the celebrated biographer. The patriotic mother of the bride had an elegant American flag arranged as a caropy, beneath which the happy ouple were united.

Wm. D. Gallagher, of Kentucky, lately confidential Clerk of the Secretary of the Treasury, has been appointed Collector of the Port of New Orleans, and leaves Washington for Cairo to-morrow. He will accompany the United States troops on their progress. down the Mississippi, and there can be no doubt that his appointment and departure for that point indicate an advance, at the earliest practicable moment, upon Memphis. This will not be for some weeks, ut will move Southwardly with the Flag, restoring the commercial relations of the Union, and sealing up all lines of transportation for the rebels, as he proceeds. It may not be generally known that the Collection District of New Orleans embraces the valleys of the Mississippi and Ohio, including their tributaries, and reaching as far east as Pittsburg. The so-called Collector of Louisville, and other towns within the District are only Surveyors, agents of the

New Orleans Collector. PHRASES IN PRESENT USE IN ENGLAND .- Such elegancies of language as "Let on," "Lather," "Larrup," "Mizzle," &c. &c., are not in the least peculiar to our kinsmen over the water. "Let be" is a good old formula, common, we believe, to this day in every county in England. "He ain't" and " he don't" are vile modern Anglicisms, which were used not very long ago by those who ought to have known better. "You should ha' went" is good Cockney-English still; " seen" does duty as a preterite for "saw" in rustic conversation everywhere; "stop" for "stay," and "lay" for "lie," you may hear continually, not only from illiterate people, but from those who would be very angry indeed if they were considered so. "Your'n," "her'n" and "his'n." (and even shis'n.) are as good Berkshire as

New York, any day .- Blackwood's Magazine. ORIGIN OF THE TERM WILD-GOOSE CHASE .- Wildgoose chase was a term used to express a sort of rang on horseback, formerly practised, resembling the flying of wild geese: those birds generally go in train one after another, not in confused flocks as other birds do. In this sort of race the two horses, after running twelve score yards, had liberty, which horse seever could get the lead, to take what ground the juckey pleased, the hindermost horse being bound to follow him within a certain distance agreed on by the articles, or else to be whipped in by the triars and judges who rode by; and whichever horse could distance the other won the race. This sort of racing was not long in common use, for it was found inhuman, and destructive of good horses, when two such were matched together ; for in this case neither was able to distance the other till they were both ready to sink under their riders; and often two very good horses were both spoiled, and the wagers forced to be drawn at last. The mischief of this sort of racing soon brought in the method now in use, of only running over a certain quantity of ground, and determining the plate or wager by coming in first at the winning-post. The phrase "wild-goose chase" is now employed to denote a fruitless attempt or an enterprise undertaken with

-New York Commercial Advertiser. WAR TERMS .- The Columbiad or Paixhan (pronounced payzan) is a large gun, designed principally for firing shells-it being far more accurate than the ordinary short mortar. A mortar is a very short cannon with a large bore, some of them thirteen inches in diameter, for firing shells. Those in use in our army are set at an angle of forty-five degrees, and the range of the shell is changed by altering the charge of powder. The shell is caused to explode at just about the time that it strikes, by means of a fuse, the length of which is adjusted to the time of flight to be occupied by the ball, which of course, corresponds with the range. The accuracy with which the time of burning of a fuse can be adjusted by varying its length is surprising. Good artillerists generally succeed in having their shells explode almost at the exact instant of striking. In loading a mortar, the shell is carefully placed with the fuse directly forward and when the piece is discharged. filling a wooden cylinder with fase powder, the cylingreen gun is an ordinary cannon, except that it is very thick at the breach for some three or four feet, when it tapers down sharply to less than the usual size. This form was adopted in consequence of the experiments of Capt. Dhalgreen, of the United States Navy, having shown that when a gun bursts, it usually gives way at the breach. The Niagura is armed with these guns, and at the Brooklyn Navy Yard there are sixty, weighing about 9000 pounds each, and six of 12,000 pounds weight each, the former of which are capable of carrying a nine-inch, and the latter a ten-inch shell, a distance of two or three miles; and there is one gun of this pattern which weighs 15,916 pounds, and is warranted to send an eleven-inch shell four miles. A casement is a stone roof to a fort, made sufficiently thick to resist the force of cannon balls, and a casement gun is one which is placed upon a casement. A barbette gun is one which is placed on the top of the fortification. An embrasure is a hole or opening through which guns are fired from fortifications. Loop-holes are openings in walls to fire musketry through .- Scien-

AKAROA, New ZEALAND, Lat. (Middle Head), 43° 48' 34" S., long 172° 59' 47" E. THIS EXCELLENT HARBOR IS SITUATED at the S.E. end of Banks' Peninsula. Latitude (Middle Head) 43° 49° 34° S., long. 172° 59° 47° E. High water F. and c. 3 hours 24 minutes.

The heads are remarkably bold and high. The S. head is much the higher, with a reef running off a short distance; off the N. head is a large flat rock, called the longboat. The breadth of the entrance is about three-quarters of a mile; the course in is N.W. at first, and then the harbor turns nearly due N. Great caution must be observed in entering with a S.W. wind, as it rushes in building and heavy squalls over the land above the S. head, which rises to a height between 1500 and 2000 feet. Depth of water, 14 fathoms inside the heads. The usual anchorage is on the E. shore, about 5 miles up, in the first bay, with a row of houses on the beach, in 5 to 8 fathoms. Give a good berth to Green's Point before entering this bay, as a reef extends about one-eighth of a mile off it. The shores are bold to throughout. If a hot wind is blowing from N.W., do not attempt to enter, as it is dead out and very puffy off the land. Running in with a strong S.W. wind (by which the hot wind is always followed,) keep under low canvas, lower lifts well taut, and fore topmast staysail up. Willie-waws are sometimes to be experienced when between the highest lands, about 1 mile to 15 miles inside. When you have alt the town open you are abreast of Green's Point. The best and most convenient berth is Green's Point on, with the next point of a little bay S, of it, and the southernmost house on the beach, with three dormer windows on the roof, (Bruce's Hotel,) on with the low building to the westward of it, i mile off shore, in 3 fathoms. Hold ground stiff, retentive clay, covered with blue mud. If any ships are in the road, the only consideration is to give them a clear berth, to weigh with the wind from the westward. The clear berth, to weigh with the Harbor Master will always board you.

Son of Malty and a member of sevril other Temperance Societies, and my wife she was a Dawter of Malty an I sposed these fax would secoor me the influence and pertection of all the first famerlies. Alas! I was disappointed. State arter State seseshed and it growed hotter and hotter for the undersined. Things came to a climbmacks in a small town in Alabamy, where I was premtorally ordered to haul down the Stars and Stripes.

A deppytashun of red faced men came up to the door of my tent ware I was standin takin money (the arternoon exhibishun had commenst. and my Italyan organ grinder was jerkin his soul stirrin chimes.) "We air cum, sir," said a millingtary man in a cocked hat, "upon a hi and holey mishun,

"And that's the reason you are here!" sez I larfin one of my silvery larfs. I thawt if he wanted to goak I'd give him one of my sparklin "Sir, you're inserlent. The plain question is will you haul down the Star Spangled Banner, and hist the Southern flag?"
"Nary hist!" Those was my reply.

"Your wax works and beests is then confiscated & you are arrested as a Spy?" Sez I, "My fragrant roses of the Southern clime and blooming daffodils, what's the price of whiskey in this town, and how many cubic feet of that seductive flooid can you individuoaly

They made no reply to that, but said my wax figgers was confiscated. I axed them if that was ginerally the stile among thieves in that country, to which they also made no reply, but sed I was arrested as a Spy, and must go to Montgomery in iurns. They were by this time jined by a large crowd of other patrits, who commenst hollerin "Hang the bald headed Aberlitionist, and bust up his immoral exhibition!" I was censed and tied to a stump, and the crowd went for my tent-that water proof pavillion, wherin instruction and amooshment had been so muchly combined at 15 cent per head—and tore it all to pieces. Meanwhile dirty faced boys was throw-in stuns and empty beer bottles at my massive brow, and takin other improper liberties with my person. Resistance was useless, for a variety of reasons, as I readily observed. The Seseshers confiscated my statoots by smashin them to attums. Then they went to my money box and confiscated all the loose change therein contained. They then went and bust in my eages letten all the animiles loose, a small but healthy tiger among the rest. This tiger has a excentric way of tearing dogs to pieces and I allers sposed from his general conduct that he'd have no hesitation in servin human beins in the same way if he could git at them. Excuse me if I was crooil, but I larfed boystrously when I saw that tiger spring in among the people "Go it my sweet cuss!" I inardly exclaimed, "I forgive you for bitin off my left thum with all my heart! Rip em up like a bully tiger whose Lare has been inwaded by Seceshers: I can't say for certain that the tiger serisly injured any of them, but as he was seen a few days after sum miles distant, with a large and well selected assortment of seats of trowsers in his mouth, and as he lookt as the he'd bin havin sum vilent exercises I rayther guess he did. You will therefore perceive that they didn't confiscate him much.

I was carried to Montgomery in iurns and placed in durans vial. The jail was a ornery edifies, but the table was liberally supplied with Baking and Cabbage. This was a good variety, for when I didn't hanker after Baking I could help myself to the cabbage.

I had nobody to talk to or nothin to talk about, however, and I was very lonely specially on the first day; so when the jailer parst my lonely sell I put the few stray hairs on the back part of my hed (I'm bald now, but there was a time when I wore sweet auburn ringlets) into as dish heviled a state as possible, & rollin my eyes like a manyyuck, I cried: "Stay, jailer, stay!
I am not mad but soon shall be if you don't bring me suthin to Talk?" He brung me sum noospapers, for which I thanked him kindly. At last I got an interview with Jefferson Davis, the President of the Southern Confederacy. He was quite perlite, and axed me to sit down and state my case. I did it, when he larfed and sed his gallunt men had been a little 2 enthusiastic in confiscatin my show.

"Yes," sez 1, "they confiscated me too much-ly. I had some hosses confiscated in the same way onct, but the confiscators are now poundin "Wall, wall, Mister Ward you are at liberty

Not agin you as individools-not agin the South even-but to save the flag. We should indeed be weak in the knees, unsound in the heart, milk white in the liver, and soft in the hed, if we stood quietly by and saw this Govyment smashed to pieces, either by a furrin or a intestine foe. The gentle harted mother hates to take her naughty child across her knee, but she knows it is her duty to do it. So we shall hate to whip the naughty South, but we must do it if you don't make tracks at onct, and we shall wallup you out of your boots. J. "I'm a Dissoluter.-I'm in favor of Jeff. Davis, Buregard, Pickens, Capt. Kidd, Bloobeard, Monroe Edards, the devil, Mrs, Cunningham and all the rest of em.'

"You're in favor of the war?" "Certingly, By all means. I'm in favor of this war and also of the next war. I've been in favor of the next war for over sixteen years!"

" War to the knife!" sed the man. " Blud, Eargo, blud!" sed I, the them words isn't origenal with me. Them words was rit by Shakspeare, who is dead. His Mantle fell onto the author of " The Seven Sisters," who's gone to have a Spring overcoat made out of it.

We got under way at larst, an' proceeded on our journey at about the rate of speed which is ginerally observed by properly conducted funeral purcesshuns. A hansum young gal, with a red musketer bar on the back part of her hed, and a sassy little black hat tipt over her forred, sot in the seat with me. She wore a little Secesh flag pin'd onto her hat, and she was a going for too see her troo love, who had jined the Southern army, all so bold and gay. So she told me. She was chilly and I offered her my blanket.

" Father livin?" I axed. " Yes sir,"

" Got any Uncles?" " A heep. Uncle Thomas is ded, tho." " Peace to Uncle Thomas's ashes, and success to him! I will be your Uncle Thomas! Lean on me, my pretty Secesher, and linger in Blissful repose?" She slept so secoorly as in her own housen, and didn't disturb the sollum stillness of the night with 'ary snore.

At the first stashun a troope of Sojers entered the cars and inquired if "Old Wax Works" was LINEN SHEETING! on board. That was the disrespectiv stile in which they referred to me. "Becauz if Old Wax Works is on board," sez a man with a face like a double-breasted lobster, "we're going to hang Old Wax Works!"

"My illustrious and patriotic Bummers!" sez I, a gittin up and takin orf my Shappoo, " if you allude to A. Ward, it's my pleasin dooty to inform you that he's dead. He saw the error of his ways at 12 minits past 2 yesterday, and stabbed hisself with a stuffed sledstake, dyin in five beautiful tabloos to slow music! His larst words was: 'My perfeshernal career is over! I jerk no more?'''

" And who be you?" "I'm a stoodent in Senator Benjamin's law offiss. I'm goin up North to steal sum spoons and things for the Southern Army.

This was satisfactory and the intessicated troopers went orf. At the next station the pretty little Secesher awoke and sed she must git out there. I did her a kind adoo and giv her sum provisions. "Accept my blessin and this hunk of gingerbred!" I sed. She thankt me muchly and tript galy away. There's considerable human nater in a man, and I'm fraid I shall allers give ade and comfert to the enemy if he cums to me in the shape of a nice young gal.

At the next stashun I didn't get orf so easy. I was dragged out of the car and rolled in the mud for several minits for the purpose of " taken the consect out of me," as a Secesher kindly

I was let up finally, when a powerful large Secesher came up and embraced me, and to show that he had no bard feelins agin me, put his nose into my mouth. I returned the compliment by placing my stummick suddenly again his right foot, when he kindly made a spittoon of his able-bodied face. Actooated by a desire to see whether the Secesher had bin vaxinated I then fastened my teeth onto his left coat-sleeve and tore it to the sholder. We then vilently bunted our heads together for a few minits, danced around a little, and sot down in a mud puddle. We riz to our feet again & by a sudden & adroit movement I placed my left eye again the Secesher's fist. We then rushed into each other's arms and fell under a two-hoss wagon. I was very much exhausted and didn't care about gettin up agin, but the man said he reckoned I'd better, and I concluded I would. He pulled me up but I hadn't bin on my feet more'n two seconds afore the ground flew up and hit me in the hed. The crowd sed it was high old sport, but I couldn't zakly see where the lafture came in. I riz and we embraced again. We careered madly to a steep bank, when I got the upper hands of my antaggernist and threw him into the raveen. He fell about forty feet, striking a grinstone pretty hard. I inderstood he was injured. I haven't heard from the grinstone. A man in a cockt hat cum up and sed he felt as the a apology was doo me. There was a mistake. The crowd had taken me for another man! I told him not to mention it, axed him if his wife and little ones was so as to be about, and got on board the train, which had stopped at that station " 20 minits for refreshments." I got all I wanted. It was the heartiest meal I

I was rid on a rale the next day, a bunch of blazin fire crackers being tide to my coat tales. It was a fine spectacle in a dramatic pint of vu, but I didn't enjoy it. I had other adventers of a startein kind, but why continner? Why lasserate the Public Boozum with these here things? Suffysit to say I got across Mason & Dixie's line safe at last. I made tracks for my humsted, but she with hume I'm harnist for life failed to reognize, in the emashiated bein who stood before her, the gushin youth of forty-six summers who had left her only a few months afore. But I went into the pantry, and brought out a cer-tain black bottle. Raisin it to my lips. I sed "Here's to you, old gal!" I did it so natural that she knowd me at wance, "Those form. Them voice ! That natural stile of doin things? 'Tis he!'' she cried, and rushed into my arms. It was to much for her & she fell into a swoon.
