COMMERCIAL.

January 27, 1883.

Business matters for the week have not assumed any remarkable degree of activity, save perhaps in the forwarding of goods to windward ports, the early part of the week. Owing to the large amount of freight which the Leleka has been unable to take while occupying the Leleka's route, the Leleka was laid on the coast for the Kahala, and loaded rapidly. In fact the Leleka was active to convey goods to the coast on Tuesday had begun before daylight. The amount of merchandise sent out indicated quite a movement in trade goods, produce and supplies.

Imports for the week have been much larger than in the preceding week, for variety of goods and consignments. Imports by the Leleka are deferred till next week.

Our exports for the week per Leleka to Port Townsend and Leleka and H. G. Franks to San Francisco are valued at $1,147,476. The Leleka on route to Port Townsend took yesterday with a good cargo and owing to the non-arrival of the Leleka the sailing prospects will be rapid.

Considerable anxiety prevails in the community owing to the non-arrival of the Leleka and the delay in the route of the Leleka with a large passenger list and full cargo. It is now generally believed that she has put back and off from injury to machinery she can not readily make the port, so the Leleka will be in the route of passing vessels as to about August.

Advisors by the Leleka do not show treaty matters as favorably as formerly, full particulars of which are embodied in our correspondence. Recently, it is stated that the Leleka is not to be sent to the coast, but that the Leleka will not do more than the N. Y. Herald editorial of the 24th, on—advisors say, as from the weight which is given, we may safely consider that the chances of any portion of the Leleka being taken up in the United States are now entirely out of the question. In this we feel that it has done us an exceptionally kind action.

The non-arrival of the Leleka will be the U. S. S. Albatross with advice to the 28th inst.

We give herewith our regular San Francisco Commercial letter.

San Francisco, Jan. 26, 1883.

With the opening of the new year the commercial and industrial prospects of the state are considered very bright. The season has been so far favorable to the agricultural, immigration continues to pour into the state, manufacturing is active and the prospects are bright. On every hand, money is cheap, taxes are being reduced, the last rail line joining the Pacific to the Atlantic by the southern route has just been driven, large ranches are being divided up into small farms, the profits of the vineyard and orchard continue to invite new as well as old settlers to engage in this industry, stock speculation, and all forms of mining stock gambling are in vogue, and the general feeling is one of optimism and more generally directed towards the masses.

Altogether the outlook is hopeful. The administration of the state government has passed from the control of officers elected by the Republican party into the hands of those elected by the Democratic party, and economy seems to be the policy of the new Governor. General Sherman. The last day of 1882 presented a most wonderful scene in this city and vicinity, nothing less than a regular fire and snow storm which lasted most of the day and covered the face of Nature with a white mantle of snow three inches deep. This was the first time since the city was founded that such a phenomenon had occurred in this city and vicinity, and the first experience of the San Francisco winter with snow-falling.

THE TREATY AND SUGAR.

The principal item of interest to our readers must be the Treaty and the attitude of the people and government towards that matter.

The Eastern papers, especially those in Chicago and New York have spoken their minds freely and candidly a variety of views, and a vast amount of information. The most sensible and apparently best informed of all the papers appears to be the Chicago Tribune. The most savage and abusive towards Hawaii is the New York Herald. San Francisco papers have generally been quite silent on the subject. A little money thrown around, and then could probably have brought out some very strong pro-treaty views. The Commercial Herald of this city in its prices current under the head of sugar says, "it will be a dark day for the United States should Congress decide to approve the treaty."

We may add it will be a "cold day" for Hawaii when the Islands get a "let" on this treaty business. It is as if a Leleka had been sent to the coast, and the treaty among the common people, and the opposition to the so-called monopolistic class. This is an age of reaction to all kinds of monopolies, and all classes tending to produce or encourage monopolies. The island is not to be a monopoly, and the money that the business of Mr. Spreckels has created.

The common people do not inform themselves fully and deeply on any such question as the treaty, and the treaty; they are swayed by their passions and prejudices. Again I find that many people have been prejudiced against the treaty on account of the apparent contradiction between the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Herald. The tendency of the treaty is to build up an extravagant monarchy in the little kingdom which is somewhat dependent on the treaty and to build up an extravagant monarchy in the little kingdom which is somewhat dependent on the treaty and to build up an extravagant monarchy in the little kingdom which is somewhat dependent on the treaty.

It is unfortunate that this corporation business comes in just at this time when the treaty is under consideration. Exaggerated accounts of the preparations for this event are telegraphed across the country, and between California and King Kalakaua, treaty prospects are suffering somewhat just now. The "Crown" and "Coronation" is a departure from the old time simple style, and if the "seven years of plenty" under the treaty lead to this, the next seven years of plenty, if continued, might lead to the government even further away from the democratic simplicity which is the basis and pride of this government. If the benefits resulting to the islands from the treaty are misused by the people and government, the United States can cut them off.

The pressure which is being brought to bear against the treaty is never stronger than it is today. The strongest document which has come out in favor of continuing the treaty is the Chicago Tribune. The Chicago Tribune is the strongest document which has come out in favor of continuing the treaty. The Chicago Tribune is the strongest document which has come out in favor of continuing the treaty. SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 1883.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 15, 1883.
EDITOR SATURDAY PRESS: It is generally conceded that a person whose stock conversation seems to always introduce the weather as his principal topic must have but few ideas or little else to talk or write about; but when one has for days and nights to try and solve the problem of "how to keep warm" one could well be excused for harping upon it. Our winter so far has been one of few storms or rains, but the coldest of cold nights and days, frost and ice everywhere, and no one pleased outside of dealers in fuel and warm clothing. Children sickened from exposure, physicians are more than busy, and all are wishing for lesser discomforts, even chattering rain in unlimited quantities.

RAIN.

It is much needed for crops now, and holders of stock in the Spring Valley Water Company have to take their medicine as well as others in the prospect of cessation of dividends temporarily, as the water in reservoirs is so low as to necessitate pumping from other receptacles, which means unusual expense, and in consequence the quotations of S. V. W. Co. are somewhat lower, the bears taking advantage of everything calculated to depress the stock. Talking of scarcity of water, the trouble does not seem confined to our own state but extends east and through the Middle States, telegraph news telling us that in Maine the flow has not been so low for over a century, the loss to mills being incalculable, so that water is still a necessary adjunct of man's happiness and welfare, the wily dealers to the contrary notwithstanding.

PRESS DISPATCHES.

Our dispatches from the Associated Press are full of the horrible disaster in Milwaukee by the burning of the Newhall House. This trap was capable of accommodating eight hundred people, but fortunately had not quarter that number at the time of conflagration. The structure being six stories high was nevertheless without a single interior brick partition, built entirely of light material. It was but a short time after the fire broke out before egress from the building by regular means was impossible, and at this writing fully seventy-five lives have been lost either by jumping from the windows to be dashed to death on the pavement, or burned in the building itself; the details are too awful for repetition, the daily papers furnishing every item with sufficient fullness to satisfy the most sensational reader of blood-curdling murder. Truly the greed for money passes all understanding, and in this case almost parties interested in this building admit that they thought it unsafe in case of fire, little or no means of escape were furnished, when many appliances are to be obtained for small expenditure. It is not uncharitable to wish that the owners should themselves have been first to be scorched.

OUR CONGRUOUS.

Has at last been awakened to the delay of our American shipping and the necessity for at once doing something for its relief, for look at it as one may, though benefiting a few ship-owners and builders, it must also benefit the country at large. The condition of affairs now is and has for some time been a disgrace to our great land. "God helps those who help themselves," and when we can so legislate as to drive away one of the great helps of the nation, we must expect to take the consequences. It savors too much of "saving at the pigsticker and running at the bungler." The "Shipping bill" is expected to give new life to the ship-building interest, particularly in iron, and it is believed just as good if not better iron vessels can be furnished at from ten to fifteen dollars per ton less than foreign yards, certainly a "consumption" devoutly to be wished. Another good thing Congress proposes to do is to furnish us with a new postoffice, but the sum spoken of is entirely inadequate for our requirements. What is $350,000 for such a building as this large and rapidly growing city needs, the distribution point to all parts of the globe, and in the face of such appropriations as $800,000 for a little town of 40,000 inhabitants it seems unjust to us of the Pacific slope; but the amount will be a beginning with the trusting to the generosity of another congress to make it a million. The amount of it is there are not a few people who, living in the Eastern States, caring little for interests outside their own country, reading the papers but seldom, happy in their own secluded lives, still think of and believe California to be in the same sparsely settled semi-civilized state of thirty years ago, and as they are not progressive themselves cannot realize that the world has moved on, leaving them in the background.

METROPOLITAN TEMPLE.

The evidence of Holy Writ is to the effect that our Saviour drove from the temple money-changers and others, saying: "It is written my house shall be called the house of prayer, but ye have made it a den of thieves," which saying was very forcibly brought to mind this past week, first by the announcement of a "spring match" to take place at Metropolitan Temple on Monday evening. Many of your readers probably know that where a Baptist society hold their services. The building, I believe, was dedicated as the house of God, and the pastor has always been the notorious Dr. Kalloch, but the building having reverted to the heirs of an estate, whose principal interest is to receive some returns on the investment, rent the audience-room as they do the stores underneath, which, in this case, they did without respect for the eternal fitness of things, to the intense indignation of the society and the city at large. The pulpit was removed, platform canvassed, the pugilists made their appearance from the pastor's study, disrobed in the ladies' meeting room, and made their appearance before the motley crew in full fighting costume, amid the shouts, curses, liquor and smoke-laden air of the auditorium. The crowd, made up of gentlemen (D) roughs and the raff of the lowest haunts in town, presented themselves in church for the first time probably and listened to the organ playing jigs and dance music for their delectation between the boxing matches and legalized prize fights with hard gloves. A statement of the facts is made without comment, except the question, Whether are we drifting? A church desecrated in the most disgraceful manner, a governor whose inaugural speech is against the Sunday law, and proposed reductions in tax on whiskey and intoxicating liquors, the year 1883 commencing well and bids fair to distinguish itself, and with the dominant power with the Democrats, unless they have become purified by their long retirement, we may see the air fairly blue before long.

ISLAND MATTERS.

Our mutual friend, the Chronicle, seems bound to hurt itself with its wretched frothing over the Hawaiian treaty, and every little thing said in Congress or the Eastern press is pounced upon, and, if opposed to the treaty, is enlarged and dilated upon to great length, but if favorable, is so distorted that the original remark is lost sight of in the new reading given by this most unprejudiced journal. But perhaps the New York  Herald has the most venomous people about your country, its sovereign and people, and as these are either written or prompted by one well posted in your political affairs, you may know who is the author.

VARIOUS ITEMS.

Railroads are constantly stretching towards the different points of the compass. The Southern Pacific have completed their route so as to furnish contiguous steel rail to New Orleans. Vanderbilt and party are to visit California, which may mean further railroad facilities, but none too many to move the enormous quantities of freight and passengers constantly increasing in advance of carrying capacity.

In August we have a grand meeting of Knights Templar, when from 30,000 to 50,000 are expected to visit this city. Arrangements are being made for their transportation, and accommodation while here, at greatly reduced rates. No doubt this gathering of people from all sections of the United States will ultimately inure to our benefit, as the trip once taken distances seem decreased, and the far off land of the Pacific close at hand.

In view of this influx of population many attractions in the way of amusements are holding off till later in the season. Patti Langtry is promised in July or thereabouts, but by that time the unprecedented run in theatricals may have abated. Every theater now has unusually interesting plays, mostly made popular by frequent representation in New York—"Emerald," "Young Mrs. Winthrop" and others, being enacted by the Madison Square Company, sent out for that purpose, and about to appear at the Baldwin.

The conservatory in Golden Gate Park, which was much damaged by fire lately, is about to be rebuilt, and funds for the purpose are now being paid by private subscription, as suggested by David Bush, whose efforts in collecting to be appreciated, his method being exceedingly practical, as he heads the list and personally solicits from citizens. The injured building was a gift originally from James Lick, and now bids fair to be made as good as new by the generous exertions of the aforesaid Bush.

In view of proposed action of Congress on what so greatly interests your people, I had hoped to give a report of the continuance of the treaty for your kingdom, but up to the hour of the steamer's departure, nothing definite will be ascertained.

The Chronicle is savage this morning and reiterates the call of the New York Herald for Queen Emma, and gives the partial history of "Kalakaua, familiarly called Dave." Possess your souls in patience, good people of Hawaii Nei; the next mail will assure you of the continued evidence of distinguished consideration with which these United States have so far favored you. So mote it be!

Yours, ADOLPHUS.

DRIVING POSSUMS LIKE HOGS.

The Charlotte, N. C. Observer is authority for the statement that E. McCard of that city left Thanksgiving day for the mountains to collect a drove of possums, and that on Saturday last he was heard from on his way back with 123 possums, which he drove along the road as if they were so many hogs. He camped out at night, securing his drove by means of poles, having ten possums to the pole. He kept three dogs barking all night, and these kept the possums so frightened that they held a firm grip to the poles with their tails, and never thought of losing their grip until sun-up. This may be regarded as the champion possum story of the season.

Has at last been awakened to the delay of our American shipping and the necessity for at once doing something for its relief, for look at it as one may, though benefiting a few ship-owners and builders, it must also benefit the country at large. The condition of affairs now is and has for some time been a disgrace to our great land. "God helps those who help themselves," and when we can so legislate as to drive away one of the great helps of the nation, we must expect to take the consequences. It savors too much of "saving at the pigsticker and running at the bungler." The "Shipping bill" is expected to give new life to the ship-building interest, particularly in iron, and it is believed just as good if not better iron vessels can be furnished at from ten to fifteen dollars per ton less than foreign yards, certainly a "consumption" devoutly to be wished. Another good thing Congress proposes to do is to furnish us with a new postoffice, but the sum spoken of is entirely inadequate for our requirements. What is $350,000 for such a building as this large and rapidly growing city needs, the distribution point to all parts of the globe, and in the face of such appropriations as $800,000 for a little town of 40,000 inhabitants it seems unjust to us of the Pacific slope; but the amount will be a beginning with the trusting to the generosity of another congress to make it a million. The amount of it is there are not a few people who, living in the Eastern States, caring little for interests outside their own country, reading the papers but seldom, happy in their own secluded lives, still think of and believe California to be in the same sparsely settled semi-civilized state of thirty years ago, and as they are not progressive themselves cannot realize that the world has moved on, leaving them in the background.
