WAR SHADOW REACHES ISLANDS

GERMAN SHIPS CREWS NOW ALL IN CUSTODY

Ships Seized All Badly Damaged---Fire Gutted Cruiser Geier---Boilers And Engines Ruined---Censorship Delays Big News

Attempt made to burn German cruiser Geier by her crew, followed by arrest of crew by United States soldiers; Seizing by U. S. authorities of eight interned German merchantmen in Honolulu harbor, besides also German naval collier Locksun, and the imprisonment of all their crews; Discovery that every vessel had been damaged as much as possible by crews before seizure; Closing of Honolulu waterfront and patrolling of harbor for several days; Capital grounds filled with camping soldiers who are guarding prisoners and patrolling streets; Damage to machinery of German ship O. J. D. Ahlers, in Hilo Harbor; All these exciting events occurred last Saturday and Sunday, but thanks to a cast-iron censorship clapped on wireless and cable stations in Honolulu by the naval authorities, not an inkling of any of it reached Maui until the arrival of the Claudine mail on Tuesday morning.

Rigid Censorship At First

The censorship was maintained with unremitting rigidity until Tuesday when most of it was lifted. During Sunday absolutely no press dispatches were permitted either to or from the mainland, as well as between the islands. No explanation has been made as yet for the imposing of the restrictions or for the subsequent lifting of them. Inasmuch as there are no German war craft or other vessels at large in this part of the world no one outside of naval and military authorities know why such a move was considered necessary.

The seizure of the German interned cruiser Geier and collier Locksun, and the merchant fleet which had sought refuge in the Islands at the outbreak of the European war, followed instructions from Washington. In fact soldiers and fire department stood idly by for five hours on Sunday morning while smoke rolled in volumes from the Geier, waiting for Washington to act. The fire is said to have been raging on the little cruiser for eight hours before it was finally taken in hand by the Americans and after considerable difficulty subdued.

Ships Badly Damaged

At least $500,000 worth of damage, it is estimated has been done to the various vessels, chiefly to the machinery. Fires in most cases had been burning under empty boilers since the middle of last week, while the crews wrecked engine rooms and machinery to best of their ability.

The naval vessels (Geier and Locksun) have been removed to Pearl Harbor, and their crews also closely confined there. The Geier had 280 men on board.

The crews of the merchantmen were arrested on warrants by the United States marshal on charge of wrecking machinery of ocean going vessels, contrary to law. They number in some 85 men, and are in custody of United States Immigration Inspector Richard Halsey, who is supplied with a guard of soldiers.

Ships Damaged

The ships in Island waters and their net tonnage, which were seized are as follows:

Geier (cruiser); Locksun (collier); Pommern, 4086; Prinz Waldemar, 1737; Staatssekretar Kraetke, 1208; Setos, 3084; Loongmoon, 1245; Holsatia, 3540; Gouverneur Jaeschke, 1045; Hermes, 115; O. J. D. Ahlers (at Hilo).

Almost Martial Law

The streets of Honolulu on Sunday were in the hands of soldiers who kept the crowds back, particularly along the waterfront. Military authorities have revoked all leaves of absence, and there are no soldiers in Honolulu except those on duty. The Capital grounds have been turned into a camp site for soldiers on guard, and notification served on the Carnival authorities that it will not be available for Carnival purposes this year.

Nearly Half Million For Road To Hana

Another Bond Issue Talked Of By Legislators For Road Building---Might Be Built By Territory

Word comes from Honolulu to effect that legislators there are talking of a $4,000,000 loan bill for road building in the Territory. $1,000,000 to be allotted to each county. Should such a bill go through Maui will undoubtedly realize her dream of a scenic road through to Hana, and probably also the talked-of automobile road to the top of Haleakala.

In connection with the first mentioned project, it is of interest to know that County Engineer Cox has just completed some comprehensive estimates on the cost of putting a first class macadam surfaced road through from Kailua to join the new road several miles the other side of Keanae, a distance of some 15 miles. According to his figures the work could be done for under $500,000. Without a macadam surface the cost would of course be materially lessened, but owing to the rainy character of the district it would possibly be impractical to not surface them.

Should the plan of "territorial roads" which has been talked of from time to time, be adopted, this belt road would be built at the expense of the territory and not of the county. The theory of this plan is that roads that are of general use to tourists and people of the Islands as a whole, rather than to local people only, are of territorial rather than of local value and should be maintained from the general treasury.

Much Road Work Is Being Authorized

Suporvisers Order Work Started In Various Districts---Kula And Hana Both Are Remembered---Other Sections Soon

A number of new pieces of road work were authorized by the board of supervisors at their meeting yesterday, and possibly more may be authorized before the meeting ends.

At a cost of perhaps $800 the county engineer was instructed to proceed with a new road to relieve the Keokea homesteaders of Kula, by the construction of a road from the main government road at Keokea, mauka to the Chinese Y. M. C. A. hall.

Some three or four miles of road are also to be built between Makana and Keoneole, in Ulupalakua. This will take some time and will cost a total of about $2000.

Also half of the proposed relocation of the road between Hana and Kipahulu is to be undertaken now. Work is to start on the Kipahulu end and about 2000 feet of the total 4000 will be constructed at this time. The cost will be about $2000. The new location will eliminate a grade of thirteen percent and substitute one of five percent.

All of this road work is to be done by the county under its regular road overhauls.

The Supervisors also ordered work started on a new road from Honokaa Valley to Kalaulaoloa.

W. F. Pogue was instructed to construct a new road through Honopou gulch, in the Kailua district, in order to reduce the grade.

Fire Does Damage To Kuaaha Homesteader

Fire on Tuesday afternoon of this week destroyed the barn and servants quarters and threatened the main house on the George Wilbur homestead at Kuaaha. No one was about the place at the time, the Wilbur being in Wailuku and the Japanese caretaker at the place being away with his family. It is reported that two horses narrowly escaped being burned. It is not known definitely how the fire originated.

Didn't Know Case Had Been Settled

Hawaiian Litigant Wants Suit Re-opened---Says His Attorney Acted Without His Knowledge

Application for a motion to set aside a stipulation in the case of J. W. Ambrose vs. Kealakaa, was granted yesterday by Judge Edings, and the motion will be heard on Saturday, February 17.

The proceeding, which was instituted by Attorney E. R. Bevin, contemplates the re-opening of the case in question which was settled by agreement out of court some months ago. The petition alleges that the settlement was made by Eugene Murphy, then attorney for Kealakaa, without his client's knowledge or consent, and to his subsequent. The case involves a valuable piece of beach property at Lahaina claimed as a part of the Bishop Estate, and also by Kealakaa claims it by adverse possession.

Friends Of Chinese See Body Devoured

Hana Man Falls Into Sea And Sharks Take Body---Was Fishing From Rocks West Of Town

To fall from a rocky cliff into the sea and be eaten by sharks is the dreadful fate which befell Ah Tin, a kamaaina Chinaman of Hana, last Saturday morning.

The unfortunate man had gone out along the cliffs of Kaeleku, just west of Hana, with a party of Hawaiians to fish from the rocks. The party scattered and Ah Tin was left by himself with his two dogs. About noon when the Hawaiians started homeward they noticed the Chinaman's dogs by themselves, and started a hunt for the master. A few moments later they discovered the body floating at the foot of the cliff, and while they looked a large shark appeared and seized it. In a few minutes it disappeared entirely.

How the man happened to fall is not known. He was probably either killed by the fall, or so injured that he drowned for there appeared to be no life in the body when of served by the fishermen. The deceased was about 56 years of age. He was a vegetable grower, and had lived for many years in the Hana district.

Hana Magistrate On Trial For Assault

Row Over Piece Of Land Results In Arrest Of Palakiko Brothers---Mrs. Kokookalani Is Complainant

District Magistrate Howard E. Palakiko, of Hana, and his brother David Palakiko, are on trial in the Wailuku district court on charge of assault and battery committed on Mrs. Kokookalani, also of Hana. The case is the outgrowth of a dispute over the ownership of a certain piece of land at Hana, but because of the position of one of the defendants and other circumstances, all Hana seems to be divided into factions over the matter.

The row in which Mrs. Kokookalani is alleged to have been roughly handled by the district magistrate and his brother, took place when the two went to the woman's house and attempted to cut some bananas in the yard. Mrs. Kokookalani interfered and in the scuffle that followed the woman called the police and the men were arrested.

H. E. Palakiko claims to own half of the piece of land on which Mrs. Kokookalani and her mother are living, through a deed which he bought some time ago. It was in an attempt to enforce his claim to this land that the dispute arose.

Because Howard Palakiko acted as interpreter for County Attorney Bevin during the latter's campaign two years ago, the friends of Mrs. Kokookalani objected to Bevin's handling the case for the territory and they accordingly employed Enos Vincent as special prosecutor. Harry C. Moesman is defending the brothers. The case may be finished this afternoon.

McKay Requires No License Says Judge

Circuit Court Holds Requirement Simply Test Of Qualification To Be Made But Once Murphy May Appeal

In the quo warrant action brought by Eugene Murphy against District Magistrate W. A. McKay, Judge Edings yesterday morning overruled the petition. Murphy noted exceptions and may appeal to the supreme court. The case, which has attracted a good deal of attention, is one by which Attorney Murphy sought to have McKay ousted as district magistrate on the grounds that he had does not hold a license to practise law in the magistrate courts of the territory. It was shown that Judge McKay, while originally holding such license, had not kept up his license fees and consequently does not hold such license at the present time.

Judge Edings, in passing on the case, held that the law requiring a magistrate to be a licensed practitioner in the court, was intended as an educational qualification as to fitness and did not contemplate that the magistrate should continue to keep his license in working order.

Harlan M. Roberts Succeeds MacDonald

Announced From Honolulu Former Instructor Is To Be Principal At Lahainaluna

Harlan M. Roberts, for many years an instructor in Lahainaluna School, but who for the past two years has been vocational instructor at the Territorial Normal School, in Honolulu, is to return to Lahainaluna to succeed C. A. MacDonald as principal. This is the statement made by the Honolulu Advertiser on Wednesday as a fact, although it adds that the department of public instruction was non-committal in the matter.

The Honolulu paper was following up the story of the Maui News which last week announced the resignation of Principal MacDonald, who, on the first of April will take charge as director of the new citizenship work on Maui, under the Maui Aid Association.

The news that Mr. Roberts is to return to Maui will be gratifying to his many friends here. It was rumored last week that Fred. A. Clowes, agricultural expert of the school was to have the principalship.

Boy Scouts Celebrate Birthday Week

SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY OF BIG ORGANIZATION

Maui Troops Fittingly Remember Foundation Day In Common With 200,000 Other Boys—How Movement Started And Why It Has Been So Successful

By L. R. MATHEWS

Beginning February 8th, Boy Scouts to the number of more than two hundred thousands all over the United States, are celebrating the seventh birthday of the formal incorporation of the movement.

The Boy Scout Movement is based upon two well recognized laws in adolescent physiology; first, that boys congregate in gangs and that each gang has a leader who is one of their own number. We have, therefore the scout troop composed of twenty-four boys with a maximum number in special instances, of thirty-two boys. This group is sub-divided into patrols of eight boys each and each patrol has its patrol leader. These patrol leaders are responsible to the Assistant Scout Master, if there be one, and through him to the Scout Master thereby following out this principle of working with the groups through the leaders of that group. The second principle is this; simultaneously with a boys' entrance into that mysterious phase of life which we call adolescence there is an awakening of the altruistic side of his nature, the "do something for others" feeling which, if allowed to develop according to its own inclination, becomes an exceedingly uncertain factor in the life of the boy. It may assert itself intermittently or it may die out and leave the boy arrogant and selfish. The Boy Scout Movement fosters this "good will" spirit. A slogan of the organization is "Do a Good Turn Daily" for which you receive no reward, perhaps not even thanks. A Scout's day is not complete unless he has lived up to this "gospel" of Scouting. It is because of this fact that the movement has lived and flourished and received so large an amount of public commendation.

The movement was started in this country because an English Boy Scout carried out this principle to the letter. The following story is an illustration: "A gentleman from Chicago by the name of Boyce was one day crossing one of the busy streets of London. It was raining, so the story goes and he was carrying two heavy bags. A boy in a curious uniform stepped up to Mr. Boyce and saluted and asked the privilege of carrying one of the bags for him across the street. Mr. Boyce assented and upon reaching the other side reached into his pocket for some money to tip this accommodating youngster. Much to his astonishment the boy saluted and refused the tip saying that he was a Boy Scout and that he was only "doing his daily good turn." This gentleman was so impressed that he investigated the movement and left England with a determination to start a similar one in the United States which he did in Washington on February 8th, 1910.

Boy Scouts are not one whit different from other red-blooded boys except that they become possessed with an ideal. After the first enthusiasm is over and the prospect of wearing a uniform has lost something of its charm, many boys fall by the wayside and are no longer Scouts. Those who remain, providing they progress and providing they fulfill the requirements made for them, in passing their three tests, and in living up to the ideals imposed upon them by the Scout Oath and Law, become courteous and dependable and law abiding citizens. It has been said that the Boy Scout movement has succeeded in making boys do the things that parents and teachers have often failed to do. How true that is we do not know but the fact remains that on Maui our Scouts have more than once proven the value of their training.

Maui Fair Director Pleased With Boys

Splendid Endorsement Of Work Of Scouts During Trying Days Of First Big Fair—Sure They Can Be Trusted

One of the strongest endorsements of the Boy Scout work here on Maui comes from F. B. Cameron, director of the last Maui County Fair. Everybody connected with the Fair were warm in their praise of the services rendered by the Scouts, but Mr. Cameron is naturally better qualified than possibly anyone else to speak on the matter. What he thinks is embodied in the following letter:

Paia, Jan. 31st, 1917.
Mr. L. R. Mathews,
Head Worker, Alexander House Settlement,
Wailuku, Maui.

Dear Mr. Mathews:—
In acknowledgement of your letter of the 29th inst., in regard to the Boy Scouts; after my experience with them at the First Maui County Fair, I am certainly a booster for the Boy Scout movement on Maui.

The Scouts on duty at the Fair showed the result of thorough training and lots of hard work on the part of somebody; they were polite and courteous and scrupulously honest. I tried to tip some of them for extra service which they performed, but they absolutely refused to accept anything.

They were efficient and helpful to any and everyone with whom they came in contact. They were called upon in an emergency to serve food and water to about two thousand children, and the Executive Committee of the Fair cannot say too much in praise of them for the performance of that service.

Should occasion arise to call upon the Boy Scouts of Maui in case of an emergency, such as a fire, flood or epidemic of any kind, I know they would perform that duty faithfully and willingly.

I trust that every one on Maui will support the Boy Scout movement both morally and financially.

Respectfully,
F. B. CAMERON.

Henry Shim, who for the past year has been Senior Patrol Leader of Troop III, was elected assistant scout master of that troop at its meeting on January 26.

What A Boy Must Be To Be A Scout

Law Of American Scout Would Make A Changed World If Everybody Would Subscribe To And Live Up To It

The first requirement of a "Tenderfoot" Scout is that he shall know the Scout law and oath. All of Scout practice subsequent to that is bent upon instilling into the Scout, compliance with it.

THE BOY SCOUT OATH
On my honor I will do my best—
1. To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law;
2. To help other people at all times;
3. To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

THE BOY SCOUT LAW

- A Scout is Trustworthy
A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his scout badge.
- A Scout is Loyal
He is loyal to all whom loyalty is due: his scout leader, his home, and parents and country.
- A Scout is Helpful
He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.
- A Scout is Friendly
He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.
- A Scout is Courteous
He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people, and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.
- A Scout is Kind
He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.
- A Scout is Obedient
He obeys his parents, scout master, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.
- A Scout is Cheerful
He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and

Why I Want To Be A Scout

Written By A Tenderfoot Scout

Because I know that by joining the Boy Scouts organization I will sooner or later become a respectable and honorable boy in the community of Wailuku, and that I may be serviceable to my country in times of trouble.

My intention, at first, when I joined this troop, was that I may do them honor, and that the community may take an interest in this organization and so others might join and be honorable boys, too.

I know, for one reason that there is not only physical or bodily advantage in it but also your manners and behavior will be changed.

I think every boy in this town ought to join the Scouts because if he does his duty, he does not only do a credit to his troop but also to his family and himself as well.

To do a good turn daily is the beginning of a generous man, and he will surely be successful in life.

(Signed) A. Y. WONG.

Wailuku Man Tells How Scout Helped

Was In Tight Place When Two Boys Volunteered To Help—Surprised When They Refused Pay

By W. F. Crockett

Prior to the opening of the County Fair, I had been on the lookout for a man to do at least two days work in cleaning up my premises, and after a repeated search I was successful in finding one who said he would come in plenty of time to finish the task. Wednesday noon, just before the opening of the Fair, my man had not shown up. Seeing that I had but a few hours left and no one to help me I put on a pair of overalls and went to work with a determination to do the best I could, and as much out of humor over my disappointment as one could be. While deeply absorbed in my task two boys came up behind me and asked if I wanted my yard cleaned, to which I said "yes, get to work at once."

The boys tackled the job and for about two hours they made things hum, and carried away the rubbish after it was collected. One of them came up to me and said—"We have finished the work are you satisfied?" Without thanking him, I said how much I owe you?" In reply he gave me a salute, tipped his hat and said "We are Boy Scouts and do not charge for service." And before I could say thank you both had gone. I stood and looked after them as they cheerfully turned the corner. I was more than thankful, and equally ashamed of the fact that I had shown them so little consideration while at work.

The work being done so quickly, with no other reward than a mere thank you, gave me ample time to sit down and reflect on the merits of the Hawaiian born boy as a Boy Scout. And I came to the conclusion that he is in full possession of the essential qualities that are required to develop the highest type of scouts, and thereby fully exemplify the true spirit of this great movement.

The foregoing experience, has caused me to study this Boy Scout movement from a different standpoint, than I otherwise would have ever done, and I am convinced that we have in the boys of Hawaii a valuable asset, and that this mode of training is just the thing to enable us to get the best results from them in early life, and thereby reclaim an element of humanity that has been the problem of each generation.

The average boy takes to this training like a duck to water, and seems to delight in being helpful to others even in the doing of difficult tasks without being asked, and then with a delight even more cheerful, he tells you that he does not accept reward.

PRINCIPLES OF THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

By Dr. W. D. BALDWIN

I shall endeavor to set down some of the fundamental reasons for the Boy Scout Movement, the principles upon which this organization stands, and why there is good reason to believe the institution will be a permanent one and not simply a passing fad.

All other organizations for boys, as far as I know, have certain limitations, are more or less one-sided, and do not offer the all-around training for manhood that scouting offers if properly conducted.

Athletic organizations, such as base ball clubs, teach mainly the physical side of life. They develop the bodies, and add to the fun of living, and often teach good sportsmanship, which is well and good.

The schools develop mostly the intellectual side of life, and of course their teachings are essential, and cannot be displaced, but only supplemented, by what is taught the boys by their scout leaders.

Military organizations, such as the Cadets, teach manliness and discipline—very good as far as they go.

But Scouting includes a happy blending of all various means for development, and is carried out in a most practical way. Right living is taught by living right; that is, for instance, instead of simply urging a boy to be helpful to others, the matter is followed up by asking the boy to report on actual "good turns" that he has done. As far as possible precept is put into actual practise.

The physical side is well represented by all sorts of sports, by hikes to places of interest to boys, such as the mountains, the woods, and seashore. The element of fun enters very largely into the life of a scout, but not, as I take it, as a bait to attract boys into an institution in order to make them good, but simply because fun is a boy's right by nature, and it would be unnatural and wrong to leave this element out of the scout life.

The intellectual side is represented by nature study and various handicrafts. He is taught to observe and to use his brains in practical application.

No particular form of religion is taught, and the word is probably seldom used, but if the essence of Christianity may be defined as good-will towards our fellow men, then, in this sense, the Boy Scout is taught religion. He is usually advised to attend whatever church he would naturally go to, but in his training as a Scout he is taught good-will and brotherhood, which may be called religion without its theories and controversies.

One of the most marked features of Scouting is its emphasis on discipline. The idea in America of freedom is too often confused with license and lawlessness; there is too little respect for law and order. The true Scout learns the great lesson of obedience to and respect for his superiors, which, when not carried to the extreme of militarism, is very wholesome indeed. Discipline breeds loyalty and the "get together" spirit, and leads not only to greater respect for law and order, but to greater efficiency in later life.

In these times we are all thinking of war. Conflict in life is inevitable and good, for, by this way, the world advances but there are right and wrong methods of conflict. As the world goes, very serious disputes must be settled, and if not by peaceful means then by resort to force. If the disputants have a sense of justice and fair play, are good sports, and have good-will, there is little danger of resorting to force; but if both, or even one, of the disputants, have not these qualities, then there is war. This sort of conflict, based on the idea that "might makes right" is abhorrent to the true sport, because it settles nothing as between right and wrong, and is contrary to all his training in sports which is to abide by the decision of the referee or judges. And yet, if the matter in dispute is a very vital one, both parties in the dispute must have this spirit of sportsmanship and good-will, or the result is war. It often taken only one to make a quarrel. The spirit in our country for settling disputes by force is too prevalent and is a constant menace to peace, so that many thinking people have thought that we are in grave danger of a French Revolution. Capital tries to force Labor; Labor tries to force Capital; lynch-law and the spirit of slavery is still very prevalent in the South; etc. Arbitration agreements, and peace alliances between nations, are all well enough, but they cannot remove the danger of resorting to "might makes right" until the majority of individuals are controlled by the spirit of fairness, of sportsmanship, and good-will.

Now it is hard to conceive of any single institution that could be better adapted to bring about this end than the Boy Scouts. It gets the young before their habits and ideas are formed; it takes in all races; all religions; includes the rich and the poor; it is not confined to the cities but goes to the towns and the country places; and it is not confined to one country but is rapidly spreading to all civilized lands.

The institution is based on a most sympathetic and intimate knowledge of boys, and it certainly shows every evidence of being destined to be a world-wide and permanent institution.

He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. 10. A Scout Is Brave
He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear, and has to stand up for the right against the coaxings of friends or the jeers of threats of enemies, and defeat does not down him.

He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd.

12. A Scout Is Reverent
He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.

for he is simply doing his duty.

Without further comment I leave the reader to decide for himself whether or not it is worth his while to lend a hand in helping to develop this spirit of helpfulness, manliness, and unselfishness in the boys of each and every community throughout Hawaii.

I am not the only one who had an opportunity of seeing what the well trained Boy Scout can do in time of great hurry when quick errands are required, and many other things to be done in the nick of time. On such occasions it is the trained Scout, who will not only volunteer to help you, but also do it cheerfully, and then with a smile tell you that he does not accept reward. In this respect he is destined to be a teacher of men, at no distant day.

FORWARD—NOT BACKWARD

The proposition of having county supervisors elected by districts instead of at large, as at present; and also suggestion of giving the appointing of district magistrates to the supervisors, are both reactionary rather than progressive, and should be dropped.

The election of supervisors by districts is essentially the old, worn out ward plan of American cities, under which boss rule gained its highest supremacy, and municipal graft flourished. Instead of a supervisor being responsible to the whole people, under the old district plan he is responsible to but his own constituents. He is supposed to "bring home the bacon," he is to make good, and to do that he must do log rolling and back scratching with his fellow servants, the best man at this game carrying off the biggest share.

The ward, or district system was one of the first things to go by the board when the big reformation of cities began some fifteen or twenty years ago, and it was very wisely left out when county government was established in Hawaii.

In the matter of appointing district magistrates, it doesn't take much thought to see that no one would be responsible under such a plan. One of the big troubles with American government has always been the difficulty of fixing responsibility, and to cure that, the so-called commission forms and city manager plans have been devised. All of these aim to center authority, not to scatter it.

The last legislature saw fit to take the appointing power of district court magistrates out of the hands of the supreme court and give it to the governor. There may have been dissatisfaction as a result of some of these appointments, but the fact remains that only one man is responsible. There isn't any question about it. It forms a part of the record for or against the governor. But if five men had made an appointment that was unsatisfactory? Can't you imagine it?

There is no need to go outside of the Islands to see the evils of a divided authority. Let us therefore go slow on making any recommendations that will surely mark Maui as on the back track.

OUR GERMAN-AMERICAN FRIENDS

A characteristic feature of a quarrel is that the quarrelers generally lose sight of each others good qualities. And this is true be the controversy across a back yard fence or between nations. Already since the break in relations between America and Germany indications of this human trait are observable here in Hawaii.

It might help some to remember that no nation has a monopoly on good qualities. It might be well to remember also that some of your best and truest friends may at this moment be suffering as you have never suffered, because of ties of blood to a nation that they do not own.

We do not believe that a very large proportion of even the German-born residents of the United States will prove untrue to the land of their adoption in case, as now seems most probable, the two nations come to blows. But because some of them will adhere to the fatherland, and some others may prove false to their naturalization oath, all persons of German blood in the United States are bound to be more or less under suspicion. The way will not be easy for any of them. We, here in Hawaii, should remember that it will not hurt our cause to be considerate in our daily walks of life, of the feelings of these friends—friends until they prove themselves otherwise.

THE NEW ARISTOCRACY

Will Irwin, the well-known American journalist, in an article captioned "The New Aristocracy," in the Saturday Evening Post, of January 27, sees a new significance in the great struggle in Europe. He points out that in all neutral countries in Europe with exception of Switzerland, which is divided along racial lines, sentiment on the war is divided pretty evenly along social lines. In Spain, Holland, and Scandinavia he asserts, the aristocratic classes lean strongly towards the Germans, while the democratic part of the population lines up with the Entente allies.

Mr. Irwin sees an analogy to this peculiarity among the peoples of France, England, Italy, and Russia, and also in America. The oligarchic element invariably believes in war as a "purifier of nations," while the democrats are the real pacifists, even though they may be doing some of the hardest and most valorous fighting ever recorded. They are not fighting because they believe that war is beneficial, but in the hope that they may help to make war in the future impossible.

The article is well worth reading. Also it is safe to say that Mr. Irwin's arguments will strike a responsive chord in a very great number of Americans.

THE BOY SCOUT IDEA

Why does a real boy want to be a Boy Scout? In the answer to this question educators may find the real solution for some of their problems. The enthusiasm with which a boy will work on scout business, and the facility which supposedly dull boys often show in absorbing the educational work prescribed by the organization, are certainly matter pregnant with deep significance.

Why cannot we have in our public schools this enthusiasm, this esprit de corps, this receptive state of mind that we find in the Scout troop councils? The fact that we do not have is pretty good evidence that something is basically wrong with the schools. When you get right down to it we haven't made a startling amount of progress in educational ideas in a good many hundred years. The same general idea that a child's mind is a sort of grab-bag to be filled with a hit-and-miss collection of things that may or may not sometime prove useful, still prevails.

The man who inaugurated the Scout movement was inspired probably greater than he knew. Certainly he hit upon a real idea. That the idea has developed and will continue to do so is a matter of course. But that we as yet appreciate the real possibilities of that idea, we do not believe.

A MATTER FOR REGRET

The census of 1910 shows a total German population in the United States of 8,817,271. This included not only those born in Germany, of which there were 2,759,032, but their children as well. The total population of the United States in 1910 was 92,000,000.

In view of such figures as these, indicating at very highest less than ten percent of "mother-tongue" Germans in the United States, and remembering that a very large number of these must be considered as absolutely loyal Americans, the talk of the German-American Alliance of starting a civil war, in case the United States becomes involved with Germany, is not only in bad taste but sounds extremely foolish. The action of the Hawaii branch of the Alliance, in presumably endorsing the attitude of the national body in this connection, is disappointing.

The suggestion made to the sugar planters' association that steps should be taken to bring laborers from the Danish West Indies, recently acquired by purchased from Denmark, should not be seriously considered even were it feasible. Hawaii is having about all it can do right now to assimilate its heterogeneous population without complicating matters further with still another race. We need labor, but we need to consider our Islands' future more.

Our Island Contemporaries

Kings and Things By Will Sabin

Not till the world is cleansed of its kings, Swept of such foolish, dangerous things, Will Peace and Progress and Brotherhood Govern the earth for the people's good.

Whence come the rulers who cry "Obey"? Out of the dark of a dreadful day! Out of the ages of crime and blood, Their thrones afloat on a crimson flood!

The son of a king is hailed as king, No matter what evil he may bring; If he is claimed as his father's son, He rules as his subjects' "Chosen One."

He may be a knave, a dunce, or fool; An ass, or idiot; beast, or tool A rich, demented aristocrat, Or something wickedly worse than that.

With kings before and monarchs to come, (With warring roll of the royal drum), His people will eat, and breed, and sleep, Like silly and shameless human sheep.

Except for the few live souls who dare To venture their protests here and there, Who champion Right, and Truth proclaim, Then die like moths in the royal flame.

And, if, by chance, a ruler is wise, And glorious in his people's eyes, What benefit have they, even then, Except that they are a good king's men?

The world is struggling for better things Than war and wickedness, waste and kings, And Peace and Progress and Brotherhood Shall reign in place of the royal brood!—The Service.

The Country Store

The country store, especially in the plantation districts, renders the community it serves high-grade, up-to-date service, a service always a little better than the patronage it receives warrants. This development is one of the surprises that greets the casual stranger, for it will be found that goods of the latest design are offered in many of these out-of-the-way establishments at prices which cannot be duplicated by any city merchant.

The merchants keep, at the planter's very door, about all the good things the season and the market affords. All everyday requirements can be taken care of at a moment's notice. Dry goods and grocery stocks are equal in point of variety to any ordinary demand. Tools and hardware are usually cheaper. These stores carry anything for which there is a demand and instead of being stocked up with thread bare, antiquated merchandise, very often unload their "dead" stock on the city buyers.

Cheaper prices for fresher, newer goods is a uniform point of difference in favor of the usual run of live country or plantation stores in Hawaii. Rents are lower than the city merchant has to pay, and running expenses, less so that these advantages more than compensate for the higher freights the country merchant has to pay—and the country consumer benefits.—Advertiser.

Our Motion Pictures

We feel it our duty to again refer to the character of some of the motion pictures being displayed in the theatres of Kaula. One of the pictures shown in theaters other than at Lihue, last week was so absolutely vulgar as to have justified police suppression. The impressions certainly left by this picture upon the minds of the young is terrifying to think about, and surely this Christian community cannot tolerate such moral monstrosities on the screen.

We wish to propose that all pictures brought to Kaula be displayed before a few people of character and judgment either in Lihue, Waimea or some other town before being exhibited to the public. This may be regarded as a strenuous measure, but many of the pictures now coming to the Islands are of such a nauseously vulgar character that some such action is necessary. We can eliminate the bad pictures and everybody will be better satisfied with shorter programs. Otherwise we had better close the theatres entirely until such time as decent pictures can be procured.—Garden Island.

Bar The Rabbits

The proposition brought forward by Mr. Moore, the agricultural expert, to the effect that the law regarding rabbits should be changed so as to allow of the rodents being kept by people for other purposes than pets, should be squelched like a snake. Australia is now paying the penalty for just such a law, which was passed thirty or more years ago. Rabbits have destroyed millions of acres of grass lands in Australia and have caused an expenditure of millions of pounds sterling in rabbits proof fencing. Hawaii would be soon in the same condition if rabbits were allowed to be bred and kept for killing purposes, as advocated by Mr. Moore. Young cane fields would be wiped out as soon as the first shoots appeared and there would be soon general ruin all around.—Hawaii Herald.

On the Other Islands

Will use Coconut Fiber

A company has been formed in Honolulu with capitalization of $100,000, which will endeavor to perfect machinery for manufacturing coconut fiber into mats and other articles. The name of the company is the Fiber & Products Company, Limited. The incorporation are—A. J. Formilyant, president; A. Z. Van Valkenburg, secretary; H. G. Dillingham, treasurer, and directors, Dr. C. B. Cooper, R. W. Atkinson, and W. F. Dillingham.

Kamaaina Returns Home

Benjamin F. Pitman, of Boston, who was born in Hilo over half a century ago, is visiting his old home which he has not seen for fifteen years. His father was the son of one of the first New England missionaries and his mother was a Hawaiian chiefess of high rank. He arrived by the Matsonia last week with a party of ten friends, and will spend some time in the Islands.

Second Regiments Great Record

Out of the 15 companies of the Second Infantry, N. G. H., inspected last week on the Island of Hawaii, 8 made 100 percent in attendance. Of the 989 officers and men constituting the regiment only fourteen men were absent from roll-call.

Hawaii Sends Girls To Reformatory

Eight girls ranging in age from 11 to 16 years of ages were taken to the Girls' Industrial School, Honolulu, last week from the Island of Hawaii. With one exception all were victims of Filipinos.

How To Get More Money For Beans

Marketing Division Urges More Care In Handling—Drying Prevents Weevils—Egg Prices Improve

The price of eggs has fluctuated considerably during the past week, but are now back to 50c a dozen. The presence of so many tourists in the city has no doubt strengthened the market.

The Division is now receiving a very good quality of butter in bulk which is selling for 35c wholesale. A better price could be received if the butter were put up in one pound cartons.

Reports from the mainland point to the fact that there would be a good market for Hawaiian grown beans if more care were used by the growers to dry their crops thoroughly, and thus prevent the losses through weevils. In order to get best results, there should be a large artificial dryer at Kahului to take care of all the beans and corn raised on Maui for export. Beans and corn that will keep several months in Kula where it is cool, will become infested with weevils within a month after reaching Honolulu or the mainland. Beans imported from the mainland to the islands can be kept in storage here many months without showing any trace of weevil. The reason the local dealers prefer the mainland beans to those grown in the island is this; but there is not one of them that would not prefer to buy homegrown beans of the same varieties which were properly cured and free from weevil. Another matter which should have the attention of growers is to cover with a film of dirt, either in which they are often sent to market. More than fifty percent of the beans coming to the Division are covered with a film of dirt, either due to carelessness in threshing or shipping in bags that are dirty. Even at the present high cost of new bags, it pays to use them. This year has been the most prosperous ever enjoyed by the bean farmers of Kula and by using improved methods in marketing their crops, even more money can be made from this crop.

Now Irish potatoes are in demand. Now is the time for producers to ship. A. T. LONGLEY, Marketing Supt.

TO DEDICATE BEAUTIFUL WINDOW

Reactionary Ideas To Be Considered

Some County Platform Framers Would Abolish Primary Law, Elect Supervisors By Districts, And Name Magistrates Locally

The Republican county platform convention will be held in Wailuku next Thursday, February 15, for the purpose of considering various matters of legislation which it may be thought best to bring before the legislature, when it begins its session on the 21st. Preliminary to this gathering, the various precinct clubs met last week and talked over the matter, and named representatives to the convention.

Among other things which will be thrashed out next week is that of changing the manner of electing supervisors. It is proposed that instead of electing the five supervisors of the county at large, and one as chairman, as is done at present, that each of the five districts shall elect one supervisor, the supervisors to name their own chairman. Another suggestion is that there be seven instead of five supervisors, and that two only shall be elected at large.

Another thing that some republicans would have changed, is the appointment of district court magistrates. The previous legislature took the appointing power of these officials from the supreme court and placed it in the hands of the governor. Now it is proposed to take it from the governor and give it to the supervisors.

Would Abolish Primary Law

Still another matter that doesn't please some, is the power which the governor now has of filling vacancies on the board of supervisors. Arguments will be heard next week for giving the supervisors themselves this power.

The platform may also contain a plank to do away with the present primary law, and go back to the old party convention idea.

The convention will also elect new members to form the county executive committee for the next two years.

Making Ham And Bacon At Haiku

Important Experiments Now Being Carried On—If Successful Means Much To Islands

Whether or not ham and bacon can be made on a practical basis in Hawaii without the aid of refrigeration, is the object of a series of experiments which have been started at the Haiku sub-station of the Hawaii Experiment Station, under direction of F. G. Krauss. Following up some experiments made a year ago, which were very promising, Mr. Krauss has now taken the matter up on a more extensive scale, and he is very hopeful of complete success.

Two hogs were slaughtered yesterday, and their product enters into the experiment. The meat is now in process of pickling. A special smoking device has been ordered with which it is believed a superior quality of ham and bacon can be made under ordinary farm conditions.

Work along the same lines is to be taken up shortly at Lahainaluna in co-operation with the experiment station.

Jump will have quite a party with him, according to information received here, including H. Gooding Field, the originator of game fishing in Hawaii.

The party was due to stop last night at Geo. P. Cooke's place on Molokai, and to arrive at Kihei during today some time. It is understood that a moving picture concern from the coast also has a representative along in hopes of getting some good news pictures of catching fish in Hawaii.

Governor Doesn't Like Farmer Bills

Haiku Farmers' Association Hears Curt Comment On Farm Loan Measure—Railroad May Be Extended

Despite the fact that Representative Clarence H. Cooke, has indicated that he will father such a bill, that the federal experiment station officials endorse it, that former Secretary of Hawaii Thayer expressed his belief in it, and that numerous legislators and other prominent citizens of the Islands who have had the opportunity of looking over the proposed measure are heartily in favor of it, Governor Pinkham has stamped the proposed Farm Loan Act of the Haiku Farmers' Association with his unqualified disapproval.

In a letter to E. C. Moore, which was read at a meeting of the Farmers' organization, last Saturday, the Governor wasted no words in saying that he didn't like any of the bills which have been submitted with the Haiku endorsement. He didn't go into details, but indicated plainly that he isn't in any sense in sympathy with the objects sought to be attained through the measures. No action was taken by the Association on the letter.

May Extend Railroad

Correspondence was read with the Kahului Railroad Company regarding the possibility of having the company extend its tracks several miles further across the homesteads. This will be done in case the homesteaders can show sufficient volume of tonnage likely to be available. A number of farmers are planning to plant sugar cane to rotate with pineapples, and if this class of agriculture is generally adopted the tonnage problem is likely to be solved. It was stated that C. C. James had definitely decided to plant ten acres of cane, this being the largest area yet undertaken in the district.

German-Americans Here Re-Affirm Their Loyalty

Two significant statements from prominent German-Americans come from Honolulu this week. The Advertiser says:

"Charles W. Zeigler, speaking for the German-American Alliance last night said:

"Every member of the Alliance is an American citizen, otherwise he could not have become a member. As American citizens we shall support the United States in any contingency. There can be no doubt of that fact and I am surprised that any one could question it.

"Of course every one knows where our sympathies have been in the war to date.

"At present there can be no question where we stand.

"Our duty lies with America."

J. F. C. Hagens, of H. Hackfeld & Company, was asked by the Star-Bulletin for a comment on the international situation. In reply, he made the following written statement—a notable affirmative of German American loyalty to the United States:

"Americans of German extraction or birth cannot but sincerely deprecate any break between their mother country and the United States, but are in honor bound to be loyal to the country and the United States, but are in their sympathies may have been with the Fatherland during these unfortunate years of war, I am convinced that right or wrong there is but one thing for them to do—to stand behind the administration at Washington."

Banning the Kiss

On the basis of a Huntington, W. Va. dispatch, describing Dr. E. W. Grover's recommendation of the "pat-pat" as a substitute for the unhygienic kiss Puck submits a few modifications of current literature to suit, as follows:

He planted a passionate pat-pat upon her upturned cheek.....

Gwendolyn stood demurely under the mistletoe, and in another instant Clarence had deftly pat-patted her.
