ESPIONAGE. Complaints have been made at different times in the columns of this paper respecting a system of espionage which existed under the administration of public affairs covering a period of several years prior to the promulgation of the new Constitution. Although the spy system was maintained with more or less vigor and completeness during the whole period, there were particular stages in its history when special efforts were made to watch the movements and note the doings and utterances of members of the community. In the early part of the era referred to probably the greatest diligence was exercised in this line. Suspected Government officials were closely tracked and disaffected expressions of thought eagerly seized upon and reported at head quarters, often distorted and agitated. This the writer had occasion to know. But there probably never was a period in this country's brief history when respectable citizens felt less free to express their independent thoughts than at the present time. If a man dares utter a moderate opinion, or an opinion in any way adverse to the extreme notions of a narrow faction which is guided more by blind impulse than calculating reason, he is at once reported by some sycophantish listener, who tries to show his extraordinary devotion to the party by slurring an honest man, and the honest man is forthwith unjustly marked as an enemy to good government and an opponent of reform. The service is purely voluntary, and undertaken by its devotees of their own choice and free will. This is one of those small practices which gentlemen are never guilty of and which men of honor despise along with its contemptible perpetrators.

FREE DISCUSSION. One of the speakers in the Nominating Convention the other day said something to the effect that it was well to air thoroughly the names of the various candidates which were proposed. That opinion is concurred in by most thinking men. The same class of persons also approves of thoroughly airing all questions which affect the public, and concern the public welfare. Enlarged and correct views of any subject can scarcely be attained without an examination which embraces every aspect of the subject. Free and calm discussion of a question from different standpoints is an aid to sound conclusions. It is well that all matters which relate to the people's rights and interests should be dissected, ventilated, and exhibited fully to view. Fortunately the people of this country have this privilege secured to them by the Constitution, although it might be observed, in passing, that some people of our acquaintance, who profess to approve of and support that Constitution, seem inclined to stifle discussion at the present time. An attempt to choke discussion naturally suggests suspicion that something secret is sought to be concealed which ought to be revealed. An honest man never fears discussion; a rogue does. We have now arrived at a very critical stage of this country's existence, and its future will depend largely upon the result of an event near at hand—the election of Representatives and Nobles. It seems to us an opportune season for the ventilation and discussion of the principles and measures which the candidates who seek the people's votes are prepared to advocate and stand by. To say that they favor "good government," is not enough. This is a very indefinite term. The public are interested in knowing something more definite. The views of those gentlemen should be known to the electors, and a free discussion of them will enhance the cause of reform.

A VERY ORDERLY MEETING. The "Gazette" intimates that the statement of the BULLETIN on Saturday, touching the Kaunakapili meeting, that "the meeting was very orderly from first to last," was a misrepresentation. We deny the insinuation, and while doing so charge our contemporary with a very serious error in the following statement: "The Chairman, being of the clerical persuasion, was allowed to open the 'orderly meeting' with prayer, after which he was placed well back almost against the wall in the rear of the platform, and during the subsequent proceedings, which lasted some three hours, the Chairman's voice was not once heard." The inaccuracy is in the last sentence. The Chairman's voice was heard several times after the prayer, by the writer and by many others. It is admitted that the meeting was to a considerable extent taken out of the chairman's hands at a later period, but certainly not until after Mr. Poepeo had spoken and Mr. Rosa had read a communication from Mr. Carter. Yet this fact did not detract from the orderliness of the meeting, nor convert it into a disorderly one. Estimating by the sitting accommodation of the room, there were not less than a thousand persons present, and at times, there was considerable interchange of talk in the audience, as is usual with Hawaiians, even in their church gatherings. But there was nothing to constitute disorderliness, unless almost every Ward meeting held in the past few weeks may be termed disorderly, which we presume our contemporary would strenuously object to. Considering that it was a Hawaiian gathering and conducted by Hawaiians, whom it is not fair to expect should possess the knowledge and experience to manage such affairs as well as a company of foreigners, the meeting was highly creditable.

IN THE SUPREME COURT of the Hawaiian Islands. In the matter of EDWARD A. PIERCE of Honolulu, Oahu, by whom a petition for adjudication was filed on the 20th day of Aug. 1887, in said Court. In Bankruptcy. Before PRESTON J. The 20th day of Aug. 1887. Upon reading the said petition, and upon proof before me taken, I do find that the said EDWARD A. PIERCE has been a bankrupt within the true intent and meaning of the Act approved on the 29th day of August, 1884, entitled "An Act to regulate proceedings in Bankruptcy in the Hawaiian Islands."

The purely ornamental parts are of solid silver. The stitching is all hand work and is of silk. As the harness, with its beautiful finish, is at present extended on a frame for exhibition, it is very pretty to look at, and is apparently as strong and serviceable as pretty. POLITICS ON MAUI.

As already briefly mentioned in the BULLETIN last week, a political meeting was held at Kahului Saturday 13th inst, for the purpose of nominating Nobles for the coming Legislature. At the meeting, which was distinguished by its dignified and orderly character, about 150 persons were present, 119 of whom cast their votes at the trial ballot with the following result:

E. H. Bailey, 119, H. P. Baldwin, 118, P. N. Makee, 117, James Campbell, 108, J. Richardson, 108, H. A. Widemann, 93. Besides these, Mr. Thomas Campbell of Paia received 29 votes, Rev. W. P. Kahale 19, and W. P. A. Brewer 2, the latter gentleman declining to run. Above nominations meet with almost universal approbation and are pretty sure to do credit to the electors and the people at large. In the course of the afternoon a meeting was called for the following Monday evening, Aug. 15th, at the Wailuku Skating Rink, to ratify the nominations of Nobles, and to nominate Representatives. Accordingly, on Monday evening, a crowd gathered at that place, the Kahului R. R. conveyed the voters from Kahului and Spreckelsville to the scene of action; the Catholic Band discourse sweet music on the train and at the rink; the Waikapu band also was in attendance, and a grand bonfire was blazing at some distance from the rink. The Hon. P. N. Makee called the meeting to order about 8 o'clock, and Mr. R. D. Walbridge was elected Chairman. Hon. G. E. Richardson made the introductory speech in well chosen words, advising all to pull together, to support the new Constitution, and to put aside all race prejudice and ill-feelings, and join in the good work for the building up of the country.

Next, Mr. J. W. Kalua—"Ke Ahi o Wailuku"—stepped forth and delivered a speech in his usual eloquent oratorical "bravour", frequently interrupted by bursts of applause; expressing himself strongly in favor of the new order of things and referring to his political record as one of the strongest supporters of the Opposition in previous legislature. Being later in the evening nominated candidate for Representative he declined the nomination as an official of the government, adding, however, that "if they wished to return Representative with the view of establishing the Republic in this country, he would resign his position and run."

After some sensible and well timed remarks from Mr. G. W. R. King, the nominations of Nobles made the previous meeting were confirmed and carried by acclamation. Nominations of Representatives were next in order, and the names of W. B. Keauu, O. Nawahine, W. H. Daniels, J. W. Kalua, S. E. Kaleikau, W. H. Cornwell, and L. W. P. Kaneali were proposed, Mr. Kaneali nominating himself, and in his address thanked the gentlemen who nominated him. (sic!)

W. B. Keauu had never been imprisoned or appeared before any court of jurisdiction, and consequently considered himself a fit and proper candidate for election. Mr. Kaneali commenced with holding the Constitution on high and proposing a cheer for it; professed to be a staunch Independent, although he had been to Gibson's hash house during a former legislature and had since accepted a government position as Sheriff of Makawao, and concluded his remarks by entreating the electors "whatever they did, not to leave him out."

Messrs. W. H. Daniels and O. Nawahine were nominated by a large majority, and after a few fitting remarks from some of the Nobles nominated, notably Messrs. E. H. Bailey, P. N. Makee, and J. Richardson, the meeting adjourned about 10 o'clock. The Skating Rink was comfortably filled with people of all nationalities to an estimated number of 500.

It is stated on good authority that Mr. W. H. Cornwell does not intend to run for Wailuku. About 200 persons have registered and qualified to vote for Nobles in the district of Wailuku, and a few more will probably be added before the register is closed. 151 voters have registered for the precinct at Kahului alone, and of these 108 are qualified to vote for Nobles; of these again about 70 persons are from Spreckelsville Plantation alone. Good for the Spreckelsville boys!

A stabbing affray occurred last Friday, 19th inst, at Spreckelsville Camp, No. 5, in which two Chinamen were the participants. It appears that the would-be murderer, an ugly visaged, scowling celestial, disliked even by all his countrymen, came in from the fields about noon, being sick; and while at home employed himself in stealing chickens from a neighboring coop. The cook of the camp caught him in the act, proreasted against such social-democratic appropriation of somebody else's property, and was stabbed in the abdomen and forehead by the irate culprit. Dr. Bailey and Sheriff Tredey were sent for, and the former sewing up the wounds, and the latter conveying the criminal, who hid in the fields but was caught by one of the lunas, in the course of the afternoon, to Wailuku Prison, where he is now awaiting his fate. At last accounts the wounded man had little sleep the first night, but was comfortable, and the doctor entertains hopes of his ultimate recovery, although it is of course difficult to tell at the present juncture.

MEETING AT WAIANAHA.

Last Thursday evening the residents of Waianaha held a political meeting which was addressed by several residents of the district, foremost among whom was Mr. Kanehi. He reviewed the past and present forms of Government, in a masterly manner, pointing out defects of the past, and contrasting them with the benefits that will accrue under the new regime. He laid particular emphasis upon the increased rights of the Hawaiian under the new Constitution. He compared the new government to a crop of taro, which takes some time to ripen, so also must you wait a little time for the government to raise a new crop of reforms.

The meeting was also addressed by Mr. Smith, manager of Makahala Plantation, and Messrs. Atwater, Widemann and Colburn. Mr. Smith compared Messrs. Kanehi and Colburn, (both aspirants to Legislative honors) to the Turtle and Horse, that ran a race, the Turtle won by keeping straight on, while the horse stopped to rest. He said Mr. Kanehi might not run as fast as Mr. Colburn, but "he would get there all the same."

A BAD SIGN.

"One who can write a good hand and come well recommended" was the style of advertisements for a boy in a counting-room in old-fashioned time. To-day handwriting appears of so small account as a part of education that an announcement of this kind would have but little effect.

The fact is, that careless and comparatively illegible writing has grown to be the fashion, instead of the neat chirography of former days. A great sprawling hand, with huge downward strokes and no hair lines, as though the writer had ridden upon his pen in its career over the paper, is said to denote a vigorous character. Other judges might say it denotes carelessness, not to say slovenliness, in the writer. In place of the neat and graceful Italian style of penmanship, with every word legible, and the whole note a work of calligraphic art in its way, that we were wont to receive from the gentler sex, we now have great sprawling characters covering the page and ending with a signature like a close-set picket fence in a whirlwind, which you with difficulty to decipher.

But it is not in social correspondence alone that one is thus troubled. It seem to have become the fashion among managers of great enterprises and corporations, such as presidents of banks or railroads, to make use of an illegible scrawl for a signature. These so-called signatures are often affixed to letters, requiring answers to be addressed to the signer, who thus needlessly by his outrageous act, puts the individual he addresses in what may be innocently on the latter's part—a troublesome, not to say discourteous, position.

Furthermore, many of these undecipherable signatures cost the writer more expenditure of time and labor to make them than is required to indicate one perfectly readable. The evil is a growing one, and those who inflict it upon their fellow-workers, either in social or business life, need to be forcibly reminded of it.—(Boston Commercial Bulletin.)

A couple of miners struck a vein of gas at a depth of six feet in Ohio the other day. They bored into a book-agent's grave. What is an epistle? asked a Sunday-school teacher of her class. The wife of an apostle, replied a young hopeful. Baked beans have been found in Worcester, Mass., at a depth of sixteen hundred feet, thus clearly showing that Boston culture was known in the stone age.

The Daily Bulletin.

MONDAY, AUG. 22, 1887.

NAMES OF TOWNS AND MEN.
Occasionally the subject of names is made a study by some scholar in search of fresh literary fields and book pastures new. The venerable David Dudley Field not long since delivered an interesting lecture on the names of the towns of this State, hurling all the invectives in his opulent magazine at the half-learned individual, whoever he may have been, who strewed this goodly region with the cast-off clothing of Greece and Rome. Professor Dexter of Yale College prepared a very entertaining pamphlet on the names of the Connecticut towns, and pointed out that the absence of political color in them bore witness to the diplomatic caution which characterized the colonial history of the State, thus presenting a sharp contrast to the course of the elder colony of Massachusetts, the list of towns in which reads like a page of "Debrett." Occasionally a reporter in a dry time helps out his quota with a scintillation of wit on the never-failing theme of the names of his fellow citizens of Polish extraction, if he live in Buffalo, or of those of Welsh antecedents if Utica claims him for her own. But it must be said that the subject of names generally is far from being worked for all it is worth, as Mr. Emerson might have put it.

The names of towns are often interesting. Sometimes a story goes with them, as in the case of Horseheads or Penn Yan. Sometimes they commemorate individuals in a quaint manner, such as Wilkes-Barre, or Angelica, which bears the name of one of General Schuyler's daughters; or Marilla, in Erie county, named after one of the most respected and esteemed of the mothers in our Buffalo Israel, who is still with us. So Euclid, Ohio, which, in turn, gave a name to a famous street, was a tribute of respect from the original surveyors to their patron saint in mathematics. Again a name may illustrate a queer course of corruption, as Killingworth, which was originally Kenilworth. But the names of towns certainly do not surpass in interest as fields of study those of families. The author of one of the volumes in "American Commonwealth" series, Professor Johnston, says that the names of the union soldiers, who went from the State whose history he is telling, will almost show which town is entitled to each man. And it might be remarked that a traveler, who reads the signs of the Western cities of this country can gain a pretty good idea of the antecedents of its merchants. If a Coffin is met in Indiana the chances are strong that the roar of the surf upon Nantucket's coast is a recollection of his youth, and that he is a descendant of the original Tristram Coffin. The Balls are for the most part from Block Island. The only certain thing about a Clark is that he is from some part of New England, where the name is commoner than Smith. A L'Honniedieu, a Loper, or a Horton is from Long Island, and Horton's Point Light is there to witness if we lie. A Bachelor or a Prouty is probably from Worcester county, Mass., and a Woodruff from Litchfield county, Conn. The Bartons are Rhode Islanders, and proud of telling how one member of their family captured the British General Prescott. The Colts are neighbors of theirs, having come from Norwich, the rose of New England. If one should happen to be in Cheektowaga, and hear mentioned the name of Seldom Ely, it would be safe to call on him and inquire what sort of a run of shad they had at Lyme this year. The same information could be obtained from a Bushnell, but not from a Waite; the latter comes from farther east, from beyond the shad limit. Of course, the Depews of the whole race of Vans are descendants of Dutchmen of the Mohawk and Hudson Valleys, and every Evans or Elliott is a living record of the romantic inter-marriages of those families, and the one home that sheltered them all at Elliott Mills, Md.—[Buffalo Courier.]

CURIOUS FORMATION OF COAL.

In the mines of the Lackawanna Iron and Coal Company at Scranton, Pa., has occurred within the last thirty years a remarkable instance of the formation of mineral coal out of an abandoned wooden prop. A mine had been sealed to extinguish a fire that could not be well got at, and was not opened until about two years since, when it was found still smoldering, and the fire broke out afresh on the admission of air. By flooding, etc., extinction was accomplished, and in working through the debris a prop was found of which the lower half was well-preserved wood. Above this for some distance it had become very soft charcoal, that crumbled at the touch. This shaded off into very hard charcoal, and at the top, where great pressure had occurred, the post had changed into a substance closely resembling mineral coal, and the change was even more strongly marked in the wooden wedge that had been driven between the top of the prop and the roof rock. In this, while the fibrous structure was distinct, the cross fracture was sharp and conchoidal, like that of anthracite, the color jet black and the lustre like glass.

Let me have a mild CIGAR

THE ABOVE REQUEST IS HEARD daily in cigar stores, saloons and other places where cigars are sold, for it is an undoubted fact that most smokers prefer a mild cigar and that those who have for a long time smoked strong cigars, principally imported from Manila, will, after having thoroughly injured the stomach and impaired the nervous system, surely want a mild cigar, if they could find the right kind.
How many thousands of smokers who suffer from loss of appetite, headache, nervous irritability, asthma, etc., and who have tried all possible remedies without success, might be cured if they knew that their sufferings were caused by the intemperate use of strong cigars, and that they should only smoke mild and properly prepared ones.
It is a fact that all mild cigars agree well with smokers, for in most cases there is a lack of care in the selection of the tobacco, and often the necessary experience for it is wanting, yet there is one brand which suits the most fastidious smoker, and that is so weak and languid? Why such heartburns and pains in the stomach, such acidity, and such an unpleasant taste in the mouth? Why at times such a gnawing appetite, and then again such distaste for food? Why is the mind so frequently irritable, desponding, melancholy, and dejected? Why does one often feel under the apprehension of some imaginary danger, and start at any unexpected noise, becoming agitated as though some great calamity was impending? What is the meaning of these dull, sick headaches; these violent palpitations of the heart; these violent reactions, these night sweats, this disturbed and dreamy sleep, which brings no refreshing rest, but only moanings and mutterings, and the horrors of the nightmare?
ENGELBRECHT'S "Sampler" Health Cigar
Which is made from mild, aromatic and particularly selected and prepared tobacco, and combines all the qualities which may be expected from a health cigar. It causes no bad effect of any kind, is agreeable to the taste, burns evenly to the end and possesses a fine aroma. No smoker should fail to give Engelbrecht's "Sampler" Cigars a fair trial, and benefit himself at the same time.

Why am I so Miserable?

The answer is: There are the symptoms of Indigestion or Dyspepsia—the beginning and the forerunner of almost every other human disease. Indigestion is a weakness or want of power of the digestive fluids of the stomach to convert the food into healthy matter for the proper nourishment of the body. It is caused most frequently by the irregularity of diet, or improper food, want of healthy exercise and pure outdoor air. It may be induced by mental distress—the shock of some great calamity. It may be, and often is, aggravated and intensified, if not originally brought on, by exhaustion from intense mental application, of physical overwork, domestic troubles, anxiety in business, or financial embarrassments. If the stomach could always be kept in order, death would no longer be a subject of fearful anxiety to the young and middle-aged, but what would be contemplated by all as a visit of an expected friend at the close of a peaceful and happy old age. However, the first hostile invader upon the domain of health and happiness is Indigestion.
Is there any relief, any remedy, any cure? That is the question of the suffering and unhappy dyspeptic. What is wanted is a medicine that will thoroughly renovate the stomach, bowels, liver, and kidneys, and afford speedy and effectual assistance to the digestive organs, and restore to the nervous and muscular systems their original energy.
Such a medicine is happily at hand. Never in the history of medical science, evidenced by a dozen years' thorough test, has there been found a remedy for Indigestion so speedy, so sure, and so surprising in its results, as Siegel's Curative Syrup, but today it is a standard remedy for that almost universal affliction in every civilized country in Europe, Asia, Africa and America. Public testimonials and private letters from military officers, bankers, merchants, ship captains, mechanics, farmers, and their wives and daughters, alike confirm its curative powers.

Dear Sir:—Your Siegel's Syrup I find has an increasing sale in this neighborhood, and shall always do my best to further the sale of an article that every one that purchases speaks highly in its favor. I also have great satisfaction in saying that I quite believe my wife was permanently cured of Indigestion and Wind on the stomach, from which she had suffered intensely some time previous to taking it. Faithfully yours,
A. BURN.

Dear Sir:—I hope that your Siegel's Syrup and Pills may get the sale they so well deserve. I had a very delicate child, a boy now over nine years, but being averse to taking any kind of vegetable or food from his birth, I began giving him Mother Siegel's Curative Syrup, and after a few weeks he recovered so as to be able to consume as much food as other boys of his age, and to the great astonishment of his neighbors, he is lively, getting into flesh, and thriving as well as boys of his age do. We give all the credit of his recovery to Siegel's Syrup. Yours faithfully,
