Horner's Banking Bill—No. 17. Mr. Editor: In my last I referred to the "Interchangeable bond" recommended by Secretary Windom...

I have stated above that "this bill doubly provided for the Secretary's interchangeable bond."

Then, to prevent depreciation, should money get too plenty, this bill permits the holder to deposit it at the bank and receive for it a certificate of deposit...

And these bonds of interchangeable property, would not only supply any amount of currency, but they would prevent depreciation of the currency and financial business disaster...

This bill also makes all improved real estate in both city and country interchangeable at this bank for money in the same way that our government now borrows of our present bank and deposits its bond to secure the repayment of the money...

We think the "interchangeable bond" is thus amply provided for securing and circulating all the currency any nation may require.

A Story of a Professor. The first death in the world, so far as known, from artificially conducted electricity was that of Professor Richman, of St. Petersburg.

He devised what was practically the first lightning rod, and was killed by it. He ran an iron to the top of the house in present lightning rod manner and waited for a thunder storm. It came. There was a terrible flash of lightning.

The professor's appliance worked well, and he was found dead by the side of it.

They break up jams of logs in the Androscoggin River, Me., with dynamite. The charge is lashed to a long pole and forced through the boiling water. The jam leaves at once. Formerly men went out on the jam, but it was very dangerous work. Sometimes eight cartridges were exploded at once.

THE IRON TUG ALICE of Hilo, is offered for sale cheap. She is in good order, and will be delivered in Honolulu if necessary. Any one wanting information, inquire at the VOLCANO STABLES, Hilo, Hawaii. 2781-1m

FRIDAY, JUNE 19, 1891.

DIOCESAN MAGAZINE.

We have received the Diocesan Magazine for the quarter, and feel compelled to notice the opening paragraph under the heading "Personal."

It is there stated that "The truth of a statement that appeared in our 'Diocesan News' in our last issue having been denied by the PACIFIC COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, it is necessary to state," etc.

There appears to be a little apprehension here on the part of the writer of the above paragraph. The statement in question was to the effect that a certain clergyman of this diocese had placed his resignation in the hands of the Secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. The denial of the truthfulness of the statement was made by the clergyman and the Secretary in question themselves, and not by the P. C. ADVERTISER.

The following extract is commended to the attention of the Board of Health. It occurs in article headed "What is Electro-Homoeopathy?" and runs as follows: "With the daily spectacle before our eyes of young and old borne along in an indiscriminate stream to the bourn of incurable disease beneath the cliffs of Molokai, with the constant terror haunting the families of foreigners and natives alike that some one of its members, on the account of the muscular contraction of a finger or some parasitic skin-disease will be pronounced 'incurable,' and be hurried by the police on board the Mokoli'i or Kilanea Hou at a moment's notice, what boon to be found on earth can be compared," etc. Of the merits of "Electro-Homoeopathy" we humbly abstain from offering an opinion.

There are other articles in the Magazine which we might remark upon were it worth while, but we pass on to a funny little bit of etymology, which makes the word Lam-naas a contraction of "Sanctus Petrus ad vincula"-mas. Professor Skeat merely gives the Anglo-Saxon "hlaf-masse" or "loaf-mass," because a loaf is a first fruit of harvest was offered on that day, viz., 1st August.

LATE CHINESE NEWS.

By the Yamashiro Maru we received a file of Hongkong papers which do not however present many points of interest. The Manda Chamber of Commerce asks the inclusion of the Philippines in the treaty with the United States in order to avoid the ruin of the export of tobacco and hemp which represents $9,000,000. The Government has promised to give its attention to the matter.

A Peking correspondent says that the delay in the selection of a Minister of the United States to China is very welcome to the friends of the present Minister, Colonel Denby, as having the effect of prolonging the tenure of office of a gentleman very popular and highly esteemed by foreign residents in China as well as amongst the Chinese officials.

The Hongkong police are at work breaking up gambling houses, the Police Magistrate one morning fined nineteen men—the keepers of the houses $25 or one month hard labor and the players $5 or fourteen days.

A Japanese paper collected and forwarded to Turkey the sum of 18,907 francs for the benefit of the families of the men who lost their lives in the wreck of the Turkish frigate Erzeroum. The Sultan in acknowledgement sending as a present to the Emperor of Japan some magnificent horses.

Seventeen of the Namoa pirates have now been executed. Four were beheaded at Kowloon quite lately and thirteen were executed in April. The Hongkong daily press says: "The Chinese authorities have proved themselves very much in earnest in their pursuit of the miscreants and are deserving of all praise."

"There is no reason to doubt that all the men executed were really participants in the piracy."

The tea season at Hangchow is reported to be very brisk, and the rice merchants are enjoying an exceptionally fine season. "In Wuhu along the wharves as far as the eye can see are stored and heaped up bags of rice, while thousands upon thousands of bags are pouring in from the country. Rice being plentiful must necessarily be cheap, and rich and poor are alike happy."

The Governor of Hongkong, Sir G. W. Des Vaux, has resigned on account of ill-health.

The new steamer Empress of Japan left Hongkong for Shanghai, Yokohama and Vancouver on the 2d inst., and the Empress of China is advertised for the 28th July; these with the Empress of India make the new line in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

EXPLORATION OF GREENLAND.

Lieutenant Robert Peary of the United States navy, with the assistance of the Philadelphia Academy of Sciences, the American Geographical Society and the National Academy of Sciences, proposes to explore a part of the world which, as far as we know, has never been trodden by the foot of man—namely, the north end of Greenland. Twice within a few years Southern Greenland has been crossed by daring travelers, who marched on foot from a point near Cape Hildebrand on the east coast, to the neighborhood of Frederikshaab, on the west. They reported a sea of ice of unknown depth, which covered the face of the land and never melted. Except as records of human endurance their journeys were unfruitful of result. Southern Greenland has often been circumnavigated, and exploration of the interior aided nothing to the knowledge which had been acquired by observations from the decks of ships.

At the northern point of the island, or peninsula, or whatever it may be, is an unraveled mystery. From Cape Bismarck on the east coast, to Cape Lincoln, Josef land as one of its promontories. Or it may be an Arctic continent spreading up to and beyond the Pole. Nothing but actual observation can determine the question. To contribute his share to the extension of geographical knowledge on this subject Lieutenant Peary proposes to take passage on board a Dundee whaler that will land him at Whale Sound, a few miles south of the spot which was reached by Lockwood and Brainard of the Greely party, and to which they gave the name of Cape Lincoln. There he will winter and accumulate such stores as he may find against his long tramp into the unknown world. Early in the spring of 1892 he will start on foot, drawing a sledge after him, along the north coast of Greenland. He says himself that he does not know how or when he will return. If Greenland turns out to be an island with a north coast running along the line of 83d deg. or thereabouts, and an east coast running along the line of 20th deg. of longitude, he may find his way to some settlement in King Williams Land. But it is more likely that when he has determined the north coast line for a certain distance he will return to his base of operations.

He will have the glory of being the only man who ever willingly undertook a journey in the latitude of 83d deg. north. Dr. Kane, and many others since his day, reached the 80th deg. The north coast of Spitzbergen and the south coast of Franz Josef Land are in that meridian. The north beach of Grant Land crosses the line of 82d deg. Lockwood and Brainard just touched 83d deg. But that has been the extreme limit of Polar exploration. It evidently may fall to the lot of Lieutenant Peary to get nearer to the North Pole than any of his predecessors in Arctic adventure.

The importance of geographical exploration in Greenland arises from the fact that some men of science regard it as the last remaining vestige of the ice age. At a short distance from the shore it is one vast unbroken mass of ice, in places, according to Lieutenant Peary, a mile thick. This ice is covered in winter and spring with a coating of snow. In summer the snow melts and forms lakes, or, where the conformation of the ground favors, streams, which flow down into the fjords and assist in launching icebergs. It presents the appearance which the northern countries of the world must have presented during the last great ice drift. As the coast is reached the climate grows milder and patches of soil are exposed, on which a few vegetables are raised, and as the coast line is undergoing a process of depression—some places which were once inhabited having already sunk below the surface of the sea—the theory has been started that the whole country will some day be submerged, and so pass out of the ice age. This and other problems it will be the privilege of Lieutenant Peary to help determine. The civilized world will wish him good fortune on his daring voyage. (Cont.)

Do You Want Water?

Nearly six months since rain has fallen in sufficient quantity to be of any benefit to the crops, or to even supply the citizens with enough water for day uses. Cattle men are complaining, and ranchmen have almost given up in despair.

The situation is serious, and before your cattle die through want of water, and your vegetables and grass are burned up by the rays of the sun, do something to prevent it. Save your money, your cattle, and your crops by buying an Aermotor. With it, and a suction force pump, the water will be taken anywhere.

Dr. Trousseau placed one on his ostrich farm, and it forces water six hundred feet, and raises it sixty-seven. With it the different paddocks are irrigated, the grass has grown the color of the emerald and the young ostriches are getting fat in consequence.

Another gentleman who has been waiting for the rain to come along and help him out of his difficulty gave it up the other day and bought an Aermotor. He don't care now, so far as he is personally concerned, whether it rains or not; the grass on his lawn is like a velvet carpet, his roses bloom and everything is fresh and bright, while his neighbors' are burnt up and fading. You want one, but you can't make up your mind to get it; let these two instances help you along, and once you have the Aermotor you will have more comfort and less worry than you experience now. Read what Mr. Wright says.

MAHUKONA, H. I., June 10, 1891. MESSRS. THE HAWAIIAN HARDWARE CO., HONOLULU.

DEAR SIRS—The Aermotor was received O. K. and has been set up. It is of course rather early for an opinion, but I will say this that it pumped some 600 gallons last night when the old mill would not have moved, and that was the first day that it had been used. After the journals are worn smooth it will still run easier. It saves a man's labor by the work it did last night. We have had no wind for two weeks, to speak of, and as the old mill would not run for 24 hours.

Yours truly, L. WRIGHT, President H. R. R. Co.

VARIETY.

A little shop in a Yorkshire (Eng.) town is said to be kept by a young American, son of an abnormally rich man, and his wife, whose society is not desired in the family circle.

A Nelson, Neb., druggist has been convicted of manslaughter for substituting corrosive sublimate for calomel in a prescription. The mistake caused the death of a young woman.

A middle-aged Russian, who arrived the other day from Europe on the steamer Elbe, wore a long beard, one-half of which was pure white and the other half brown. It was a strikingly curious sight.

Friend: I understand your wife's family trace their lineage back to William the Conqueror? Mr. Meek: I guess that's so. Old William was a terrible fighter, wasn't he?—N. Y. Weekly.

Taking No Risks—Mrs. Gadsby: Is it true, as I've been told, that your husband proposed by telephone? Mrs. de Schriet: Why, no, that's a silly story; he only asked papa's consent that way.

Not Necessary for Publication—Lifewayte—"Know thyself," as the old Greek proverb said. Bronson—But don't tell anybody unless you want to ruin your reputation.

A resident of Minneapolis has fallen heir to three big fortunes, all within the last fifteen days. The smallest of the three is more than $75,000, and all are from relatives totally unknown to the lucky man.

Swiss soldiers are hereafter to be provided with a pocket-knife with four blades, which, besides rendering ordinary service, is to do occasional duty as a ramrod to the new rifle, and as an opener to tinned provisions.

On the arrival of women convicts at the island of Saghalien, Russia, they are drawn up in line, and the unmarried male prisoners ordered to point out those they wish as wives. If the choice is mutually satisfactory, they are married on the spot.

A Howell (Mich.) jury values a husband at $18,143.50, and this is the verdict it gives against the Detroit, Lansing and Northern Railroad for killing August Grotstic. The trial lasted four days and the case will go up. Mrs. Grotstic sued for $25,000.

It is asserted that the idea of the slot machines is very old. In an inn in one of the rural districts of England the tobacco for the guests was kept in a box which was opened by an English penny. This box was certainly, so the landlord averred, 150 years old.

Here is a queer advertisement which appeared in a Liverpool newspaper: "Wanted—Immediately, in country, a Christian home (clergyman or doctor preferred) for a lady (Protestant), baby and child; lady of intemperate habits. Address, stating terms (moderate), C 106."

The wealth of rich men is very apt to be over-estimated. John Plankington, who died recently in Milwaukee, was supposed, during his life, to be worth at least $10,000,000, but an inventory of his property foots up only $1,600,000.
