

HAS WON THE RACE

SUPREME COURT AT WASHINGTON WILL ACT TOO LATE IN THE LAHAINA CASE.

Attorney C. W. Ashford is with his client Mose Meheula, probably sitting on a rail on the lot near the Pioneer Mill Company's plantation which has so long been in litigation, holding possession of the property and waiting for a proposition from the plantation. No cable was received here today from the clerk of the United States Supreme Court announcing an issuance of a writ of error, and so it is presumed that the decrees of the courts here are in effect and that Ashford has accordingly secured a writ of possession from Judge Kepoikal, and has taken possession of the property.

Judge Cooper, representing the Pioneer Mill company, went to Maui last night. Ashford went on the Kinau at noon. A cable may be received at any time from Washington and it will be sent at once by wireless to Maui, but it is probably already too late to prevent Meheula from getting possession of the lot. This turns the tables, and it is up to the plantation to oust him if it can.

Ship Stopped By Libel

THE UNITED STATES COURT STOPS THE ERNEST REYER UNDER AN ATTACHMENT.

The ship Ernest Reyer attempted to leave here this morning without making a satisfactory arrangement with the Oahu Railway company regarding wharfage charges, and as a result she was libeled just after she had cut loose from the wharf and was about to proceed through the channel. The railway company secured Attorney J. J. Dunne this morning, when it was found that the vessel was going away, and Dunne hastily prepared a libel which was ready just in time to hold the vessel. Deputy United States Marshal Winter got the papers just in time, and the captain of the vessel was duly served with the necessary documents, signed by Judge Dole.

The Reyer was leaving the harbor when she was caught by Winter in a launch. She continued through the channel and then anchored outside, where she will remain until the case is settled or a bond is put up under which she may proceed.

CHOICE NOT YET MADE

SUB-COMMITTEE HAS NOT YET SELECTED THE DELEGATES TO GO TO WASHINGTON.

Not yet is the committee of the joint mercantile associations ready to announce the result of its deliberations as to who will go to Washington. Agreeable to arrangement the committee met this morning at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. F. J. Lowrey was in the chair. Committeemen Kennedy, Macfarlane, Peck and Harris being present. The meeting was not open.

After an hour's session the committee rose to meet again tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. "There is nothing that can be said for publication at the present time," said W. W. Harris, who acts as secretary. "Things are now in an incomplete condition and definite steps have yet to be taken. I think that we will be able to close everything up at the meeting tomorrow morning."

Members of the committee who were approached thought that it would be better to withhold the names which had been discussed until final action is taken.

It is pretty well assured that there will be only three of a delegation from Honolulu and, as a member of the committee pointed out this morning, the very men who would probably be the most useful at Washington are the ones who can least spare the time to go there.

It is understood that the question of taking a press agent along has not been discussed by the sub-committee as the duties assigned merely consisted in getting the names of representative citizens who would go to place their views before Congress.

"Personally I think that a skilled newspaper man should be in the party," said Committeeman Macfarlane today, "but I imagine that the matter will be taken up by the joint bodies and, while I do not speak with authority, I should think it probable that the delegates selected will themselves choose the man to accompany them. There will be a field for most useful work for Hawaii by an active alert man on this trip."

May Stop All Land Leases

FAILURE IN THE MOLOKAN PROPOSITION WILL IMPRESS WASHINGTON VERY UNFAVORABLY.

Efforts are being made to get Castle and Spaulding into an agreement on the Molokan proposition before the Coptic leaves with the mail tomorrow. If they do not agree by then, the Molokan proposition may be regarded as a failure. An agreement was drafted this morning to be presented for signatures, and its submission to the parties will probably be the last effort to get them together.

"It is certainly not the government's fault," said Land Commissioner Pratt this morning, when his attention was called to statements by Spaulding that he was not responsible for the failure to carry out the plan. "The govern-

HOW MONEY IS USED IN PORTO RICO

THE QUESTION DISCUSSED BY THE MERCHANTS' COMMITTEE AS IT WAS SOLVED IN THE CASE OF PORTO RICAN REVENUES—A POSSIBLE PRECEDENT TO BE FOLLOWED IN THE CASE OF THIS TERRITORY.

Auditor Fisher has received a Bulletin of the Department of Commerce and Labor which describes a financial system which may be the one under which the United States will handle the Hawaiian fund about to be asked for at Washington. If the Porto Rican policy is to be regarded as a precedent, the money, if it is allowed at all, will be paid into the treasury of Hawaii, to be expended by the governor and heads of departments. The following are extracts from the Bulletin:

"In fixing the financial relations that should exist between Porto Rico and the United States Congress treated the island with great liberality. During the military occupation, up to the passage of the organic act of April 12, 1899, Porto Rico was treated as a foreign government in so far as the imposition and collection of customs duties upon articles coming into the island from either foreign countries or the United States, or into the United States from Porto Rico, were concerned. All of the revenues collected in Porto Rico accrued to the benefit of the island, but all collections made in the United States on importations from Porto Rico were carried into the Federal treasury. On March 24, 1900, however, Congress passed an act providing collected on goods coming into the island that all the money that had thus United States from Porto Rico, or might thereafter be collected under existing law, should be placed at the disposal of the President, to be used by him for the benefit of the education of Porto Rico and for public education and public works in the island.

"The organic act provided that on and after its passage the general customs laws of the United States should continue to apply to Porto Rico in re-

ANOTHER KIND OF DELEGATE

WHO WANTS TO GO TO THE DIVORCE CONGRESS IN WASHINGTON?

Hawaii is invited to send some broad minded women to a Washington convention for discussion of the divorce problem. The invitation came in a letter to Governor Carter, from the Equal Suffrage Association of California in the following form:

"Dear Sir: In February next a convention will meet in Washington D. C., to discuss the various laws bearing on divorce which obtain in the different States of our Union, and to endeavor to fix a uniform divorce law which shall be in operation in all states alike. One or more delegates from each state will be appointed.

"This question is one which will vitally affect the moral, physical, mental and social status of women and children, and in a matter of such moment, will it not be wise, as well as just, to send as delegates some of our broad-minded, educated women, whose training has fitted them for clear thinking along sociological lines?"

"We appeal to your sense of justice and fair play for consideration of this subject, when you make your appointment of delegates to this convention. Very respectfully,
"NELLIE L. SCOVILLE,
"Corresponding Secretary."
"MARY S. SPEAR,
"President California Equal Suffrage Association."

The proposition is open to anyone who is fit to go and wants to put up her own expenses. Mrs. Scoville has been notified that while Hawaii likes to be represented in such affairs, there is no fund available with which to pay the expenses of delegates.

Who wants to go to the divorce convention?

TROUBLE ABOARD COLLIER SATURN

TWO FIREMEN SAID TO HAVE REFUSED DUTY AND ABUSED THE OFFICERS OF THE CRAFT.

There has been trouble among the firemen of the Naval Collier Saturn. Two of the men refused duty this morning and became quite abusive. It is stated, to the officers of the craft. ## BIG RISE IN VALUE OF LAND

A WAHIAWA TRACT WHICH HAS GONE FROM ONE TO FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

On February 1, 1899, L. G. Kellogg purchased from the government 299 acres of land at Wahiawa for $1,000. It is now announced that he is disposing of 150 acres thereof for $30,000. "That shows," said Land Commissioner Pratt this morning, "whether there is any chance for settlers on land in Hawaii."

Kellogg's sale is not complete, but he has given an option to the Tropic Fruit Company, which intends to acquire the 150 acres, for $30,000. It is now fine pineapple land and is bringing in a good income. When he took it up it was comparatively valueless. He paid the government a thousand dollars for it, and is understood to have made a good income from it. Its value now, six and a half years after he took it for $1,000, appears to be $40,000.

CONGRESS ACTED HASTILY

CARTER SEVERELY CRITICIZES SNAPSHOT AMENDING OF THE ORGANIC ACT.

The Governor in his annual report under the subject of judiciary has very severe criticisms for the snapshot amending of the Organic Act to allow appeals from the Supreme Court of Hawaii.

"The amendment, while of little moment in itself has created in the minds of some a feeling of anxiety and distrust—a feeling of uncertainty as to what is to be expected next. Had any knowledge of such proposed action reached here, a determined effort would undoubtedly have been inaugurated to checkmate it, as it is believed that because of Hawaii's isolation the cost of an appeal to Washington is so great that it gives an undue advantage to the wealthy litigant as against those who can ill afford the expense. Evidently those urging the adoption of the measure were unwilling to come out in the open. It would appear to be unfortunate if our system of government is such that amendments not germane to the original act can be introduced in joint committee at the

PROVISIONED AN OVERDUE VESSEL

BARKENTINE SIGHTED A FRENCH SHIP BOUND TO SAN FRANCISCO FROM CARDIFF.

The barkentine Kikikat sighted an overdue vessel this month and gave her some fresh provisions. The vessel was the French ship Admiral Coubert out at that time 184 days from Cardiff for San Francisco. The Kikikat spoke the Frenchman on December 4, in Lat. 32.35 north, Long 130:44 west, about noon. The Frenchman wanted to learn the correct longitude and sent a boat to the Kikikat for the information. Captain Cutler whose kindness of heart is well known, provided also the man with a couple sacks of potatoes, and onions. The Admiral Coubert had lost her main royal mast which had been carried away.

The Kikikat arrived here yesterday morning, 25 days from Port Gamble, with a cargo of 620,000 feet of lumber for Wilder and Company. She experienced good weather during the trip.

When the S. S. Sierra passes through here on January 6 from the Orient en route to San Francisco, she will probably have aboard the remains of her former master, J. Tremaine Smith. He died suddenly of heart failure in Hong Kong on December 6. The death of Captain Smith caused a great shock in San Francisco, as well as this port, for he was well known to the travelling public. He was the master of the City of Peking while she was on the Oriental run and was made master of the Siberia when that vessel was put into commission. He was a widower and leaves a daughter, Miss Elsie Smith of San Francisco. Arthur O'Neill, the chief officer, will probably bring the Siberia home.

NATIVES ARE NOT OUTLANDERS

THE GOVERNOR SAYS THEY HAVE BEEN AMERICANIZED FOR A LONG TIME.

Under the heading of "Hawaiians not Outlanders," Governor Carter writes as follows in his annual report: "There is a prevalent impression that the Hawaiian Islands must have undergone a marked change during the five years since they became an integral part of the Union. Few people realize that before the opening of California or the discovery of gold, Honolulu was a distributing point for provisions and mail for the entire Western coast of the North American continent. Many of the hardy pioneers of that great region, then called Oregon, found it more convenient to reach the northwest via Honolulu than to undertake the tedious and dangerous pilgrimage across the continent. Throughout the broad expanse of the Pacific Ocean—one might almost say the whole Western Hemisphere—the first school to teach the English language was founded at Vancouver Barracks, in the State of Washington and the second in Honolulu, the latter being considered the more centrally located of the two. "Thus for decades past the predominant ideals of the people were American. The laws, schools, churches, and elections were modeled on American systems. The Yankee spirit dominated industrial enterprises and infused itself into everything, so that the changes brought by annexation were not abrupt or so extensive as is generally supposed."

The Electric Nursery...
Fancy a dark or dimly lighted nursery for grapes or roses or ferns. A gardener would refuse to be responsible for his plants if he could not have plenty of light. He wouldn't consider food and care enough for his fragrant children, and physicians have decided that light is just as necessary for the healthy growth of a baby, as for a rose. Sunlight, of course, in the daytime, but for use at twilight and in the early morning and nights when the little human flower is ill, there should always be at hand floods of electric light, a flowing, health giving light to be had without a second's delay.

The Interchurch Conference

In an editorial discussing the late Interchurch Conference, The Churchman describes incisively, and better than it has been often done, the scope, and attitude of the daily press, not alone in relation to that conference, but in relation to all such conferences and indeed in relation to all matters that engage public attention and so may come within the field of news-gathering. A great many very excellent people, becoming interested in some particular thing, or some particular movement, wonder why the daily newspapers do not devote more space to it, or even why they only mention the fact that such movement or gathering is in progress, and the steps accomplished, if any are, without giving the processes leading up to these steps.

As the Churchman is speaking of the entire daily press of New York, and points out that they all acted on the same principle, it may be assumed that this principle was an underlying principle of newspaper craft, and not a mere coincidence of editorial policy. The Conference was of enough importance to attract attention throughout the country, and for that matter, throughout the world. So it is not likely that it would be neglected or seemingly small space be given it except in accordance with sound principles of journalism. The Churchman says:

The conference did not accomplish all that it might have done, but it accomplished, perhaps, all that could reasonably have been expected. It was the first of its kind; largely in the nature of an experiment. Caution was natural; there was an anxious, perhaps too anxious, avoiding of subjects that might provoke difference, or of words that encouraged discussion. Most of the sessions had too much the appearance of being "cut and dried." The large part of the amiable and estimable papers either had no special pertinence to the occasion or else were calculated to diffuse a general warmth of mutual congratulation leading no whither. It was curious to note how quickly the secular press recognized this. Some were surprised at the small space given to the proceedings of the conference, even by those local journals whose circulation is mainly among the thoughtful and the educated class. It was not that those newspapers were not represented at the reporters' bench; it was simply that reporters were there to report news, and finding little to report they followed their instructions. This was made doubly evident from the fact that wherever anything was said that bore, however indirectly, on any question of immediate interest, the reporters were alert to record the point. Did anyone hint what would have been his attitude toward the uninvited bodies, the Unitarians, the Universalists or the Roman Catholics, he had no need to complain of neglect. He found his words reported textually and in full. When the set speeches were, for the moment, interrupted that a committee's report might be discussed, these journals gave more space to that report and to that discussion than they had done to any preceding day's sessions. For this public interest was alert; for that it was languid. What federated ministers said about righteousness or comity in general was a matter of indifference; what they proposed to do about present-day problems was accounted news of high moment.

The Hanging Of Mrs. Rogers

The hanging of a woman as a punishment for crime is so rare an event in these days that the execution of Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers at Windsor, Vt., the other day became a matter of keen and widespread interest. Rather perhaps, the hanging of the other day was the culmination of interest that has been felt ever since she was condemned to death nearly two years ago. The date for her execution was twice postponed by executive reprieve in order that claims of newly discovered evidence might be looked into. There was besides considerable effort made to secure a commutation of the sentence to imprisonment, by some on the mere sentimental ground that she was a woman, and by others on the broader and more valid ground of objection to capital punishment especially in the case of a woman, not that the laws should not apply equally to men and women, but that the national sentiment toward women and their status and condition in our social, and national life, made the death penalty particularly repugnant.

In the early days of the last century, the execution of women was not a rare thing even in England, where the records of Newgate show many to have been hanged. But even in the early days of the last century, and the still more coarse and brutal days of the century before, there were not many hangings of women in America.

The crime for which Mrs. Rogers suffered the extreme penalty of the law was the murder of her husband Marcus Rodgers, at Bennington, August 13, 1902. At the time the crime was committed Mrs. Rogers was only 19 years old. She had been separated from her husband for some time and was desirous of marrying a young man named Maurice Knapp. On the day of the murder, Marcus Rogers went to Bennington to visit his wife, and that night she arranged to meet him in the woods near the Walloomsac river. While caressing him she induced him to allow her to bind his hands and while he was powerless, she chloroformed him. In this she was aided by Leon Perham, a half-witted boy, who was the son of the woman with whom she boarded. Another woman, Estella Bates, was present.

After chloroforming Rogers, Perham and Mrs. Rogers rolled the body into the river, where it was found the next day. In order to divert suspicion, the woman wrote a note to which she signed her husband's name, giving the impression that he had committed suicide.

Immediately after the murder Mrs. Rogers endeavored to collect her husband's life insurance, amounting to $500, and also made arrangements to purchase furniture for the house where she expected to live when she had married Knapp. A few days after the murder Mrs. Rogers, Perham and the Bates woman were arrested. Perham made a complete confession and both he and Mrs. Rogers were found guilty of murder in the first degree. Perham was sentenced to imprisonment for life, while the sentence in Mrs. Rogers' case was death on the gallows.

The Sea Invades The Desert

For weeks the California papers have had much to say about the Salton Sea, and more about the difficulty the railroad has had with its track on account of the filling up of the Salton desert. Southern California is evidently tired of its old climate and is adopting means to secure a new one. The old Salton Sea bed, close to the Colorado river and the head of the Gulf of California, has long been a mere stretch of desert through which ran the railway. Its area would be about 5000 square miles, since it is 100 miles long and about half that in width. Some little time ago,

MAY STOP ALL LAND LEASES

It stands done all that is possible, and stands ready to turn over the land at very low terms for the sake of getting desirable settlers. Wherever the hitch is, one thing is certain that the government is not responsible for it. "The effect of a failure to reach some agreement whereby these white settlers can come here might be more far reaching than is perhaps thought by some. Possibly we shall soon be running up against a law prohibiting the leasing of public lands altogether if it is found that under the present system we cannot get settlers. Washington will not be at all favorably impressed by receiving a report that a big tract in Oahu has been turned over to Japanese and second that we cannot make the arrangements for these white settlers who are anxious to come."

MORE PINEAPPLE LAND.

The Tropic Fruit Company of Wahiawa has acquired the holdings of L. G. Kellogg at Wahiawa, 150 acres, and will put it into pineapples immediately. The consideration paid was $30,000. The company expects next year to bottle 150,000 cases of pines.

A HOT TIME ON KAUAI

RIVAL LIQUOR DEALERS HAVE EMBROILED THE WAIMEA COMMUNITY IN A BUSINESS CONTROVERSY IN WHICH DEPUTY SHERIFFS AND DISTRICT MAGISTRATES ARE ALLEGED TO HAVE TAKEN SIDES, EACH SIDE ACCUSES OTHER OF VIOLATING LAW

The Garden Island of Monday has the following:

Liquor and the enforcement of the liquor laws seem to be the bane of the Waimea district. No more has the trouble, occasioned by the issuance of certain licenses, died down, than a new pillika springs up, blotting out all other interests for the time being.

A month or two ago dissatisfaction among the customers of Waimea Wine Co. culminated in the formation of a new firm in the same line under the name of Kaula Wine and Liquor Co. The capital for the new business was quickly subscribed, the firm organized, Mr. C. B. Hall, a former manager of Waimea Wine Co., appointed to a similar position with the new house and applications for licenses sent to the Treasurer of the Territory. There was, however, a faction in town opposed to the new venture, and this party immediately took steps to frustrate the hopes of the new concern. Securing the assistance of the Deputy Sheriff they had him solicit signatures to a petition to the Treasurer, asking him to refuse the licenses asked for. In this endeavor Deputy Sheriff Crowell had the assistance of Judge Kapuni, and together they succeeded in getting some eighty odd signatures on their list.

As the Treasurer found that it took about ninety signatures to constitute a majority of the Waimea voters he in time issued the licenses as applied for.

Asked by Mr. Hall why he worked against the new business, the Deputy Sheriff said that personally he had nothing against Mr. Hall, there were, however, two persons interested in the business, that he would do his utmost to get stuck.

Saturday, December 2nd, the new firm had its opening day and in order to celebrate the occasion treated its prospective customers to a glass of beer or two. As a consequence the place was soon full of people come to wish the new concern success, and in the crowd there appears to have been some persons under age. The law prohibits liquor dealers from permitting minors to loiter at the place where liquor is sold, and in the eyes of the prosecution the firm broke the law whether the employees were aware of the fact that some of the customers were under twenty years or not.

Late the same evening, when the manager was sitting in his office, Deputy Sheriff Crowell appeared and arrested Mr. Hall on the charge of allowing minors on the premises. The accused was of course taken back, and thinking that there must be a mistake wanted to telephone to Sheriff Rice about the matter. This Mr. Crowell forbade, however, telling him that as his prisoner he would not allow it until Mr. Hall had been taken to the court house. On attempting to speak to his clerk, who was in the same room he met with the same treatment, not being allowed to hold any conversation with him whatever.

Taken to the court house he was liberated after having furnished bail to the amount of $250.

The following Monday the case was brought up before the District Magistrate, when the Deputy Sheriff moved that Judge Hofgaard rule himself disqualified, as his brother-in-law was interested in the Kaula Wine & Liquor Co. The Judge sustained this motion. Mr. Crowell immediately swore out another warrant before the Second Magistrate, Judge Kapuni, charging Mr. Hall with selling liquor to minors. In the meantime Sheriff Rice had been informed of the state of affairs and had ordered his deputy to proceed with the case but to release the prisoner on his own recognizance.

When the case came up before Judge Kapuni, the attorney for the defense moved that the Judge rule himself disqualified as being biased, he having been one of those who had solicited signatures to the protest against the granting of the license to the Kaula Wine & Liquor Co. This motion was supported by affidavit of one Ishimaru, setting out that the Judge in circulating the petition had represented it to be in favor of Mr. Hall, not against him.

The Judge took the motion under advisement until the following Saturday, when he overruled it.

The case was tried Saturday and Monday the defendant was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

That ended the first act of the opera bouffe. The balance of the play is not yet on the boards, but is likely to be produced within short time, complaints have been lodged with the authorities at Lihue against the Waimea Wine Co., S. Ozaki and K. Odo, all liquor dealers at Waimea, charging them with selling liquors to minors, not only for cash but also on credit, and one of the concerns with allowing gambling with dice on their premises for drinks, a practice in which the barkeeper is alleged to have joined.

The complaints name a number of witnesses and give specific data. These complaints were forwarded to Deputy Sheriff Crowell with order for him to proceed to investigate them and to prosecute the several parties, if he found the facts warranted it.

Meanwhile Mr. Hall has noted an appeal from the decision of Judge Kapuni and the matter will in time reach the higher court and the jury.

OAHU SUPERVISORS WERE IN SESSION

CHAIRMAN SMITH VOICES HIS VIEW OF THE CLUMSY PAY SYSTEM NOW IN VOGUE—PLANNING TO GET RID OF THE OVER SIGNING OF WARRANTS—A SHORT SESSION LAST NIGHT AT WHICH THERE WAS LITTLE TO DO.

The absolute idiocy of the present system of payment of County employees was illustrated at last night's meeting of the Supervisors.

Practically all of the time was spent in the signing of pay warrants for the Road and Garbage Departments. There were three hundred and twenty-three of these in all and each had to be signed by Road Supervisor Sam Johnson, Supervisors Adams and Lucas, Clerk Kalamakani and finally by Chairman Smith. Five times 223 makes 1115—or it used to—and it seemed rather stupid that so many signatures should be required for the expenditure of $423.26.

"It's the most foolish system I ever heard of," sighed Chairman Smith, as his right hand mechanically wrote his own name, "but we have a hope of getting over the difficulty soon."

Meanwhile the County of Oahu may reasonably expect a suit from different supervisors for sufferings from writer's cramp.

There was a full attendance of the members of the Board. After the reading of the minutes which is always a serious matter, the formal introduction of the pay rolls referred to above was made and passed.

Supervisor Lucas asked that as the merry Yuletide approached there were many men in the departments who could not collect until the end of the month and suggested that the Board might authorize the payment of $100 for payment of these men.

"Bad precedent!" said the chair. "Bad precedent!" echoed Lucas. "All right. Good bye! I'll find the money somewhere else."

Acting Chief Deering of the Fire Department reported that to establish a fire station with buildings, horses, hose wagons, chemical engines and maintenance—apart altogether from the cost of the land—would amount to $210 per annum and the payment of men $460 would bring up the amount to $15,670 per annum.

Supervisor Lucas thought that the insurance companies should be expected to contribute to this expenditure. "Anyway," he said, "if we cannot get all three of the needed stations at once, let us have one to start with anyhow."

"Let's make it a jack-pot," said Lucas, upon which the Board adjourned until the 27th.

"Well when we have got through with this," remarked a supervisor sententiously, "let's have some time to figure on the land sites."

He followed this by a motion that the committee should investigate the matter of the price of lots. "We've got lots of hydrants," broke in the chief, "but after receiving the alarm in certain places in the suburbs the fire department could not possibly get to the scene in time to save the place from total destruction."

In answer to a question by Chairman Smith, Acting Chief Deering said that it would be possible to have emergency hose carts in different parts of the city to be used by citizens until the arrival of the regular department. "A fine idea," said Supervisor Adams, "set of first aid in case of a fire."

The report was referred back. Acting Chief Deering, as a regular, wagged his head. "Volunteer fire departments are all right," he said, "but the trouble is that fires might break out in certain localities when the men might be away from home."

Nevertheless the report went back for further information. The salary roll of the Sanitation and Health Department of $388 was presented by Supervisor Moore and passed.

C. M. Robinson, the Park system expert, of Rochester, N. Y., wrote acknowledging the Board's communication of November 9.

Supervisor Peale asked, through Supervisor Lucas, that Road Overseer Peck should be better reimbursed. This he wanted in the form of a horse, cart and feed as he had so long a distance to cover. His motion to the effect that Peck's salary be increased by $25 per month carried unanimously.

Supervisor Peale also wanted the reconstruction of the breakwater at Heaia. At Supervisor Lucas' suggestion the matter was left over for the consideration of an engineer.

The matter of $11.25 which Auditor Bicknell paid to Mike in order to save trouble with the Territorial officials was brought up but no action was taken.

"Let's make it a jack-pot," said Lucas, upon which the Board adjourned until the 27th.

BERTELMAN IS CONVICTED

JURY FINDS THAT HE WAS GUILTY OF IMPERSONATING A FEDERAL OFFICER.

F. C. Bertelman was found guilty yesterday afternoon, of impersonating a federal officer. The jury was out only a short time. A recommendation for mercy was included in the verdict. The case was set for next Tuesday for sentence.

Bertelman's offense grew out of an alleged directory scheme, in which he solicited advertisements for a directory which the prosecution claimed was a fake. He represented himself as a federal officer, it was claimed, and collected small sums from ignorant Chinese and Japanese for federal license fees for keeping pigs, etc. The trial which ended yesterday was his fourth. There were two last term, ending in acquittal, and a former jury disagreed in the case in which he was yesterday convicted. It is said that the case will be appealed.

HOW MONEY IS USED IN PORTO RICO

(Continued from page one.) spect to all merchandise entering it from foreign countries, and the duties collected in Porto Rico, less the cost of collection, should accrue to the benefit of the insular treasury as ordinary income, but in respect to merchandise imported into the United States from Porto Rico, or shipped into Porto Rico from the United States, duties of only 15 per cent of those paid on similar articles imported from foreign countries should be paid; and that, as soon as the insular government had notified the President that the island had a revenue system sufficient to satisfy its needs, complete free trade should be declared between the two countries, and that at any rate such declaration should be made not later than March 1, 1902. Furthermore, it provided that the gross collections made in the United States, and the net collections made in Porto Rico (after the expense of making such latter collections had been deducted) an amount of such trade, should likewise be placed at the disposal of the President, to be used by him for the benefit of the island until the civil government, the organization of which was provided for by the act, had been established, after which all future collections in Porto Rico should be carried into the insular treasury as ordinary income. In virtue of these two acts there was refunded to the island from customs collections on Porto Rican products entering the United States a total of $2,714,239.19. This money constitutes what is known as the "trust fund" from which, up to the present time, all of the expenditures for the construction of new roads and schoolhouses have been made. The regime under which duties of 15 per cent of the regular rates were collected on dutiable merchandise passing between the United States and Porto Rico continued until July 25, 1901, the date on which the President was notified that the island had established an adequate revenue system of its own. In the meantime and thereafter the Federal Government continued to collect and still collects the regular customs duties upon goods entering Porto Rico from foreign countries, and pays over to the insular government the money so received, less the actual loss of collection."

At the special Christmas Day matinee which will be given by the Buhler Company at the Orpheum, every child attending will be given a Christmas present.

Manager Cohen has been at work all day selecting and buying the Christmas presents. He has bought toys, and candy and all manner of things to delight the juvenile fancy, and the Orpheum looked like a department store with its variety of merchandise delivered and being made up into packages for distribution.

"I have spent more for presents than we expect to take in for the performance," said Manager Cohen, "but the children are our best advertisers, and they deserve it, and besides I like them."

The play for the special matinee on Christmas day will be "The Hencheta," a play made famous by Robson and Crane, in which Robson took the part of "Bertie the Lamb."
