HOW FUJIHARA ESCAPED TO ABANDON MAIL DOCK

WHILE GUARD SLEPT MURDERER WALKED OUT.

Supposed That He Broke Shackles by a Sudden Jerk—Reward of $250 is Now Offered.

Fujihara the Hilo murderer, is still at large. High Sheriff Brown received a letter by the Kinau yesterday informing him of this fact. The following is the letter:

Hilo, H. T., July 13, 1901.

A. M. Brown, Esq., High Sheriff, Territory of Hawaii.

Dear Sir: I sent you a wireless message on the 11th inst., to send photos of Fujihara Oriemon who had escaped from prison and is still at large. He escaped between midnight and 5 o'clock a. m., of the 11th inst. He was confined in the jail here occupying a cell the door of which was open a guard was supposed to sit in a chair at the door of the cell day and night. The prisoner was shackled to the wall of the cell.

It seems the shackle was defective so that while it would stand a steady pull a strong quick jerk would open the lock. Fujihara evidently opened the shackle by such a jerk and as the guard was asleep (by his own confession) all Fujihara had to do after his shackle was off was to walk out through the cell door and out through the door of the jail which was open and climb over the fence which was not difficult.

I have offered $250 reward and have men out through the country on lookout and all steamers watched.

Sheriff Andrews has been in Kauai since Tuesday the 9th inst., investigating a murder case and will not be back before the first of the week.

I certainly expected the pictures by this Kinau. Send them by first steamer that will leave for Hamakua or Hilo before Kinau with instructions to deputy sheriff at Hamakua to forward to this office at once.

Yours respectfully,
H. S. OYEREND,
Deputy Sheriff of Hawaii.

The following appears in the Hilo Tribune of July 12, concerning the sensational escape of the condemned murderer it contains:

"It is said that Fujihara when he left his old boarding house the other night went through the pockets of his 'death watch' who seem to have been at an early rate dead to the world."

IS UNION CUTTING WAGES?

CLAIMED IT SHIPPED SAILORS FOR $35 TRIP.

Six Men Alleged to Have Been Employed to Charles E. Moody at Less Than Regular Schedule.

Sailors along the water front are considerably exercised over the report that the Sailors' Union has cut wages. It is claimed that the union which has all along been supposed to hold out for the highest prices obtainable has deliberately, with malice aforethought gone and cut wages. The cut is said to be nothing less than 25 a month.

The first time that this cut was put in effect, in fact the only instance where such a thing is claimed occurred with the American ship Charles E. Moody which sailed for San Francisco last Saturday. When Captain Raamussen began to ship his crew he first said he would let Lewis and Turk accompany him with men. Subsequently he changed his mind however and is said to have given his work to the union. On last Thursday a second mate, a cabin boy, and six sailors were shipped for the voyage to San Francisco. The sailors were shipped for $35. This is exactly $5 less than the union has always demanded. The vessel sailed away Saturday. Today the rumor got around town that the union had cut rates and a number of inquiries were made at the shipping commissioner's office for the purpose of ascertaining the whether the report were correct.

Just what effect this policy will have is not clear. The principal complaint the sailors had against Lewis and Turk the shipping masters, was that they paid them but $35 for the coastwise trip, while the union paid $40. Recently Lewis and Turk raised their scale from $35 to $40 to meet the union price. Now the union seems to have lowered to the former scale of the shipping masters.

THE HAWAIIAN CANE FIRES

STILL RAGING THOUGH CANE IS SAFE.

Now Burning in the Mountains—May Spread to Waimea—Rain Alone Can Entirely Stop It.

The big fire in Hamakua seems to be raging still, though the danger to the canefields seems to be considered at an end. The fire now is raging in the mountain forests, with some prospect of getting over into the Waimea region.

Purser George Beckley said they could see some smoke rising in the mountains as they passed along the Hamakua coast. But passengers embarking from Hamakua points seemed to think the danger to the cane was past.

Among several theories as to the origin of the fire, the one most generally believed is that a native homesteader above Ookala plantation started a fire to burn off some rubbish about two weeks before the fire broke out in the Ookala cane. He supposed his fire was out but it smoldered and spread for two weeks before making itself manifest. While this was above the cane fields it worked back against the wind to the cane fields. There has been no rain to speak of in this region since April. The plantations have not burned off their trash for fear of being unable to control a fire, if started. This adds another danger as flying sparks are liable to catch in this trash.

The tragedians from the northeast have a story to tell. They fly up into the mountains and along toward the plantations further to the west. Generally speaking there are homesteads all along this coast mauka of the canefields, and the damage to these will doubtless be considerable. Considerable coffee is grown on these homesteads and it is known that considerable coffee has been destroyed. The loss on the Horner coffee estates is known to be considerable.

People from the region say that while the fire may be kept out of the canefields nothing but a good rain will completely extinguish it.

Commissioner of Agriculture Wray Taylor has received the following letter from J. E. Carter, of Kukuihiko, under date of July 12:

"I have been during the week, twice at the scene, just came from there yesterday. The fire on lower section, after a great deal of hard work, is I may say, under control, although there is a great deal of smoke and smoldering fire all over the place, the soil burning down to a depth of 12 to 14 inches, and requires a gang constantly watching, as a second fire may now take place over the ground covered with the smoldering grass and brush which did not get entirely demolished by the first fire are now dry and in condition for burning again. The fire which went towards the forest is still raging and some 80 men were at work trying to head it off. Coffee patches, considerable of which have been burned up. It is very hard to form any approximately correct idea, although in quoting A. Horner's remarks I believe I am near the fact as to the present area which has become denuded.

"The fire started on the northeast side of Ookala plantation through a cause, to be settled today by 'Coroner's inquest.' A fierce wind blowing at the time fanned the flames which passed through a narrow belt of wild forest and on to the most fertile ground of 15 months growth inside of 1 1/2 hours. This field of some 80 to 85 acres was demolished, the fire increasing in speed traveled southwest to a small field of Horner's and cleaned it up, 40 acres of fine cane over a virgin soil. Every effort was made to keep the fire on the Hilo side of a large gulch there but of no avail, it jumped over 200 feet and caught more cane, in short it destroyed about 65 acres of Horner's cane, considerable of which is now being burned up. Besides a cost of $2,000 for extra labor used during the past week in suppressing the fire, the loss is estimated at $25,000 to the Horner. It is rather serious, and that more particularly from a 'trampfire.' There were up to yesterday approximately about 800 men, mainly gathered chiefly Oha and Koa, with a slight nixture of Sumach. I do not think that all of the trees on this area will die, as many of them are only scorched, but there are a great number of them, so sick and dead, that they are being heated to their tops, that the plantation has cord-wood for years to come. Should rain not come on at an early rate and dampen down the grass, etc., in forest, I would hesitate to say when or where the fire may stop, and do not feel at all sure it would do good if brought to Waimea, if no change takes place in the weather. Fighting a fire on top is all right but when it gets underneath it's pretty hot, and this is the roughest fire I have seen on Hawaii.

"It is hard to estimate the damage on forest, 800 acres of trees suitable for railroad ties or fence posts or beams of any kind, trees running from two and a half diameter at 10 feet from the ground is to make least of it, valuable timber and a growth of many years. Those values apart from the climatic influence on surrounding country are considerable, and will foot up a nice round sum. Trusting you can gather from above a fair idea of the conflagration.

"I remain,
"Yours truly,
"D. FORBES."

SUIT OVER R.O. WRECK

SEEKS DAMAGES FOR A LOST TRUNK.

Claimed Baggage Lost Through Negligence of Oceanic People in Leaving it Off Mariposa.

Suit was begun today by Mrs. A. E. Augustine against the Oceanic Steamship Company to recover $1,231. The suit is the outgrowth of the loss of the steamship Rio last February, the plaintiff claiming that she lost a trunk on that vessel through the negligence of the agent of the Oceanic people. The complaint states, in effect, that the plaintiff took passage on the Mariposa for San Francisco and had her trunk checked by the Union Express Company. The express company had checked the trunk on the Oceanic Company so is claimed to be its agent. By a mistake the trunk of plaintiff was not sent on the Mariposa but was forwarded in the care of a passenger on the ill-fated Rio. The trunk and contents which are valued at $1,231 was lost when the Rio went down. F. M. Brooks is attorney for the plaintiff.

WILL ADJOURN TOMORROW

LEGISLATURE WINDING UP ITS WORK.

Four Meetings of Two Houses and the Joint Committee This Morning—Act On Bills This Afternoon.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock and after preliminary business adjourned to 2 this afternoon. Two communications from the House regarding the appropriation by that body of $50,000 for a site for the incurable hospital were read. On motion of Cecil Brown the appropriation was adopted and the joint conference committee was instructed to insert it in the current expenses bill.

The House met at 10 o'clock this morning and ran up against a peculiar snag. It was that the minutes of the clerk were not ready. A recess was taken in order that the minutes might be completed.

When business actually began Mr. Emmelhut, for the special committee, offered amendments to the two Senate resolutions, the one asking the United States government to pay the fire claims and the other to place a duty of seven cents a pound on coffee. No action was taken, it being then nearly 11 o'clock, and a recess was taken to 2 o'clock.

The second meeting of the conference committee was held at 11 o'clock. Cecil Brown reported that the Senate had adopted the House recommendation in regard to the hospital for incurables, and that the Senate had instructed the committee to insert the item. On recommendation the appropriation was ordered inserted in the bill.

A recess was then taken to 1:30 p. m. The two houses expect to pass all of the bills this afternoon and to adjourn sine die at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. There will be a fight in the House over some of the items in the current expense bill but it is believed that the friends of the straight bill will carry the day. In the Senate there is no fight.

It was 2:10 this afternoon when John Emmelhut, who had the appropriation bills in charge, showed up at the meeting of the joint conference committee. The sub-committee immediately reported on the salaries and current expenses bill. On motion of John T. Brown the report was adopted.

Mr. Emmelhut moved the clerk forthwith forward to both houses copies of the report and that the appropriation bills be referred to the committee. The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

When the Senate assembled a recess was taken in order that the assistant secretary might typewrite the report of the committee, submitting the bills.

MAKES HER OWN DRESSES

KALUA KAPUKINI NOT A SPENDTHRIFT.

Asks Judge Gear to Discharge Guardian Magoon—Says She is Wealthy But is Kept Broke.

Another petition to dissolve a spendthrift trust was filed this morning, the plaintiff being a woman named Kalua Kapukini, who was declared a spendthrift seven years ago with J. A. Magoon as guardian, and who now says she is not and never was a spendthrift and, though the owner of valuable property is not able to get enough to live on from Magoon's salary, and in 1894 was adjudged a spendthrift, Magoon again being out in charge of her affairs. She was alleged to be a hard drinker, a gambler and a general heavy spender, and the court named Magoon to see that she did not throw all her property away.

In her petition filed this morning Kalua says that there never was sufficient proof that she needed a guardian, and that she is not a drinker, never gambled and is not addicted to any vices. On the contrary, she is a good housewife, attending to the wants of her husband and she "makes all her own dresses."

Kalua avers that she is the owner of large and valuable property and a large sum of money in the hands of her guardian, but that she has not been able to get enough to support her, as he refuses to give it to her, and at times puts her off by telling her he has none and she must "wait again." She asks that the trust terminate and that Magoon be ordered to pay into court all money belonging to petitioner. W. J. Robinson is her attorney.

OBJECTED TO SUNDAY WORK

EVEN TO SAVE A VESSEL FROM BURNING.

C. D. Bryant Sailors Held by Commissioner Robinson—The First Trial of the Kind Here.

On Saturday afternoon H. Forst, R. Schroeder, Charles Reed and F. Hansen, four sailors of the bark C. D. Bryant, Captain Colly, were held by United States Commissioner Robinson for before Judge Hatee and a jury on charges of deserting the vessel in time of peril. It appeared from the evidence that objection is working on Sunday, even though the vessel was in danger of burning to the water's edge, caused them to leave the Bryant while she was afloat on the morning of July 7.

The men had been on a Saturday-night time and it was stated by witnesses that they were drunk at the time when flames were found in the hold of the vessel. The rule is no work on vessels in port on Sunday and the men were not pleased at the idea of fighting fire in the midst of the danger they were in ashore. This is referred to by pug-nacious captains as a sample of the sort of cordial relations and co-operation that exist between the cabin and the fore-cabin, which relation result in the many cruelty cases that fill the court calendars.

The men are held under section 4692 of the revised statutes of the United States, which was provided for such cases. Their trial is the first of the kind here. The statute says:

"Any master of, or any seaman or apprentice belonging to, any merchant vessel, who, by willful breach of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, does any act tending to the immediate loss or destruction of, or serious damage to such vessel, or tending immediately to the loss of the life or limb of any person belonging to or on board of such vessel; or who, by willful neglect of duty, or by reason of drunkenness, refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving such vessel from immediate loss, destruction or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of such ship from immediate danger to life or limb, shall, for every such offense, be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment for not more than twelve months."

The defendants are prisoners in Oahu jail, awaiting their turn for trial.

MAV OPEN LARGE TRACT

LAND COMMISSIONER BOYD OFF FOR HAWAII.

Is Considering Opening 2,000 Acres to Homesteaders—An Important Boundary Dispute on Hawaii.

Land Commissioner Boyd is busy carrying out the policy of opening public lands to small settlers. He will leave tomorrow on the Kinau for Hilo, to investigate the advisability of opening the tract of land between Oonani and Hanalei, Hawaii. This tract is a large one, including about 2,000 acres of desirable land. Its opening will be decided upon, attract many applicants.

It is proposed to open the land in small lots, under the Homestead Settlers act. Boyd stated this morning that the opening had not been decided upon, but that he would look into the matter.

The land commissioner has another important mission on Hawaii. It is to settle the question of the Kukuau boundary. This is a matter of great importance to the government, as it involves the title to 1,200 acres of land. This land is in Hilo and is valuable. The boundaries in doubt are between Kukuau and Waialeale, Kaunani and Punahoa. The issue as to ownership is between the government and private parties.

Boyd has just returned from the other side of this island, where he looked after the opening of the Haulia tract. Twenty Hawaiian settlers were given pieces of this land, and Boyd says they were delighted at the move. They are now homestead owners, with the chance to get clear titles. Other pieces of the same land are yet to be disposed of.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Makes Recommendations as to Changes in Bill.

The joint conference committee this morning had first under consideration the report of the enrollment committee on the bills already passed. It recommended numerous changes in wording, to make the bills more explicit, and also some shifting in the items to get them in proper place. There were no changes in the items. On recommendation of the Auditor a clause was inserted providing that some of the items aggregating $799,000, should lapse in case the Legislature, at a special session, should pass a loan bill. There were no changes in this point, but it finally passed. After being translated the report in its entirety was adopted. The committee thereupon adjourned referring its report to the Senate and House for final action. A recess was then taken to 11 o'clock.

Don't Give up the Ship.

When the demon of disease has perched you to the very brink of despair, don't give up the ship. When the long, sleepless nights of restless torture and the days of worry and care and pain have shut out the last ray of hope and your tired brain would welcome death as a grateful deliverer, don't give up. Others have suffered as long as you and still have found relief. Mrs. Dora Lesley, South Whitley, Indiana, writes: "I used to have numb spells that would last for hours; had pains all over my body; had no appetite and my head pained me so that I thought I would lose my mind. After suffering this way for years my health was finally restored with a few bottles of the Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerveine." Dr. Miles' Nerveine is sold at all drug stores on a positive guarantee. POLO PONIES AND PLAYERS

THE GAME AT MAKAWAO NEXT FRIDAY. Oahu Club's Mounts Excite Admiration On Maui—Line-Up of The Two Teams—The Field Improved.

PAIA, Maui, July 13.—Eleven polo ponies from the Oahu Club arrived Wednesday by the Claudine, and are now being looked after by the Makawao Polo Club. On next Friday afternoon upon the field of the Makawao Polo Club at Sunnyside, Paia, will occur the championship match between the teams from the Oahu Club and the Makawao Club. The Oahu team has sent up some star ponies, and they seem now the worse for their sea trip. A week in the cool bracing air of Makawao will put them entirely on their feet and they should come up to the mark in good condition. The Makawao team has gotten together some very good horses, but the general opinion is that they are inferior to those of the Oahu team. Two members of the Oahu team came up with the horses, Messrs. Gerrit Judd and Henry Damon, and they will have the week to rest up in, and to practice the horses in on the field, so that they will not be entirely strange to it when Friday comes. The two teams will line up as follows: For Oahu, S. E. Damon, No. 1; Henry Damon, No. 2; Charles Judd, No. 3; and Gerrit Judd, No. 4. For Makawao, D. T. Fleming, No. 1; Harry Copp, No. 2; F. F. Baldwin, No. 3; and G. H. Bailey, No. 4. Unbiased referee, and timekeepers will be chosen after the Oahu team gets here next week. The field at Sunnyside has been enlarged until it is now the regulation length, 250 yards, and 100 yards wide, 40 yards short of the regulation width. The regulation width could have been had but as it would take in some sloping ground, it was thought best to narrow it up a little. The 100 yards gives plenty of room to maneuver in however, and makes the field a very good one. The grass upon it has been well mowed, the holes filled up, and all stones and other obstructions removed, so that it is a sharp field for the contest. A neat club house has just been erected upon the ground, and adds much to the convenience of the same. The game will commence about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and parties from down Waikuku way can come up on the afternoon train in time for the game, and can return by a special train which will be run for their convenience. As the two clubs are supposed to be putting up their best teams the game will in all probability be worth seeing, and one well contested. The other two members of the Oahu team will be up by Claudine next week, and will most likely be accompanied by a number of the Oahu Polo club members.

BURNED YESTERDAY. The residence of Gus Cordes, formerly captain of the mounted patrol and later in the express business, was burned to the ground in Kathi yesterday. The alarm was turned in promptly but before the fire engine could reach the scene the building and its contents were in ashes. The loss is figured at $1,500; no insurance.

MR. WOOLLEY'S ADDRESS. Entertained Large Audience Yesterday Afternoon. John G. Woolley, leader of the Prohibition party of the United States, delivered a stirring address in Central Union church yesterday afternoon on the subject of temperance. He was listened to intently by a large congregation, and his strong arguments and apt illustrations were frequently applauded.

The subject of the address was "The sower went forth to sow." He said that the Prohibition party had little hope of success at the present time. This was largely because Christians did not live up to their Christianity, and also because many good temperance people believed that a prohibition vote was a vote thrown away. Personal political ambition affected other votes.

THE WORLD'S ENTERTAINERS have transferred their program from the Opera House to the Orpheum where they will play tonight. Two special bills have been arranged for tonight and tomorrow, the two closing nights of the season. New songs, new stories, new pictures and new impersonations. Mr. Lee is promised at both performances and crowded houses are confidently expected by the management, there having already been a large advance sale for tonight.

Should the proceeds prove satisfactory, it is the intention of Mr. Lee to make Honolulu a regular stopping over place for the vaudeville companies that he intends from time to time to take to the colonies.

Should the results of the total Hawaiian season not prove satisfactory however, another route through Mexico and South American ports will be adopted.

Saturday night at the Opera House the theater was packed to the capacity by a most appreciative audience. Miss Gassman and her pianist in the Chinese Twins came in for a liberal share of the applause, the scenic effects being particularly effective. Li Hung Chang as personified by Mr. Lee was occasion of much comment from several prominent Chinese who had presided the front row. Mr. Neistone in a recitation as eccentric as his dancing caught the fancy of the house while Miss Gwynne sang a couple of pretty little ballads with the usual illustrations.

UNLIKELY RUMOR. It is rumored that Russel Sage gave a poor boy $250 the other day with which to start in business. Joe Mulhatten was released not long ago from an asylum for the insane.—Chicago Record-Herald.

SUGAR ENTERPRISE.

It would be well if more expeditions to our various plantations were undertaken by investors, would-be investors and others, who should learn from actual examination what they are like, and what they are doing, as was the case with McBryde last week. Such an examination does away with the countless rumors which are circulated about such properties, and in an irrefragable answer to detractors which are set flying round with the distinct purpose of decrying the property so that the stock may be sold cheap.

The condition of our Island plantations which are now well established is wonderfully good. One has only to look at the stock list to see how those which have a permanent basis stand. Old plantations like Hawaiian Agricultural Honoumā, Wailuku, and others are unbuyable as far as stock goes. New plantations like Oahu, and many others are far above par. Then there are the younger investments which promise as great results and probably greater, but these are the ones which are liable to attack by the manipulators, who are willing and anxious to make a stampede and bring down the price by frightening the small investors to sell out at a loss. This plan has succeeded very well to the advantage of the manipulators and the disadvantage of the small investor, who has frequently come out shorn of his fleece. But the shearing has been due not to the possibilities of the investment, but purely to the manipulation of the stock market, which has produced cold feet.

The McBryde plantation people took the bull by the horns, organized an expedition and showed what the plantation had already done, and what it proposed to do. The result has been that people learn from many sources what the condition of the plantation is. Similar expeditions to other plantations would bring about similar results. Plantation work is steady plodding, and a person who has never seen a plantation cannot understand what the work is, but let any one see what is being done, see the land that has been put in shape for cultivation, see the elaborate water system, the pumping plants, the intricate machinery of the mill and the skill required in organizing the army of laborers and in seeing that their work is not wasted, and he or she will realize what a mighty work in a short time is being done by the new enterprises which took the older plantations a couple of decades to bring to perfection.

HOMESTEADS.

A most interesting article upon the small farmer of these Islands was published in the columns of The Star on July 12. It came from the pen of a careful observer who has lived long enough in the Territory to know what are its capabilities, who has lost the first blush of enthusiasm, who has got over the reaction of pessimism and can consider the possibilities of the country from a good practical standpoint. His observations which were dated from Waimea, Hawaii, were the result of study of this kind of progress in Hamakua and the Kohalas. Among these districts he found the small farmer doing good work, and showed how the man became a small farmer.

A very large number of these homesteaders are Portuguese, there are also many Hawaiians and part-Hawaiians, and a sprinkling of other races from among our heterogeneous population. There have been 1000 homesteads in all taken up, and though some of these have since been sold, especially in Oahu, where they have gone into the lands of the Oahu Sugar Company, yet a very large percentage remain in the hands of the small farmer. These homesteads are scattered over the Islands of Hawaii, Maui and Oahu. It is a curious fact that Kauai has no homesteads under the last land act. Besides the present homesteaders, moreover, there are many Hawaiians who own kuleanas, or practically homesteads which became their property at the great distribution of land in the forties.

To any one who wishes to study the homestead question, the homesteads above Honokaa, those in the vicinity of Hilo, and the two settlements on the slopes of Haleakala are probably the best worth visiting, as they show the progress made by the homesteaders towards comfort and ease. Of course there are many other sets of homesteads but these are the largest aggregations of homesteads, and the homesteaders have reached a satisfactory position as small farmers, being able not only to raise crops which support their families and themselves, but having a market in which to dispose of the surplus from their holdings.

About the homesteads one need not expect the neatness of small farms of older countries, nor the scrupulous order of the dwellings. But the crops are flourishing and yielding an increase from the soil far in excess of less favored lands. But there is rude comfort and there is ample food. There is no lean and hungry look about either children or parents such as is sometimes seen among the peasantry of Europe. There can be no doubt that food is abundant and nourishing.

The people, themselves, as is always the case with small land holders are orderly. They feel the responsibility of property. This is striking among the Portuguese. These people in their own land never have hoped to become small land holders. It was as hopeless to dream of a small holding in the Azores, or Madeira, as it was to dream of a mansion in Lisbon. But here it was different. A laborer could save money, and under the land law he could obtain land upon the easiest of terms, and he could and did become a small land holder. The Portuguese delights in nothing so much as owning a piece of land and he makes the very best use of every inch of it. The force of his example is felt by other homesteaders who are not naturally so industrious, and the results are good.

In a small territory such as this, the homesteader has another advantage, which is not always in the power of the small farmer elsewhere. He can always obtain work and, if he desires it, steady work throughout the year. This enables him to support his family till his crops come on and, when these have arrived and his food supply is drawn from his own land, he can use the money earned for obtaining better agricultural implements, for improvements in his cottage and for clothing his family.

Another point is of great interest about the homesteader. He becomes anxious about the education of his children. He may himself be quite unable to read or to write, but he does not intend that such should be the condition of those who come after him. He expects his children to help in the work of the little farm, but he is willing to allow them time to go to school. And through the children an elevating process goes on. The children read, and are eager to read not only from their school books, but from extraneous books and leaflets which the teacher is able to supply. The information thus obtained is told orally to the parents and eventually has its effect. Recently at one of the homestead schools nearly the whole adult population assembled to see the closing exercises. Five or six years ago it would have been the hardest work to have collected the full complement of children. Thirteen or fourteen years ago the whole of that country side, now dotted with scores of homes and requiring school accommodations for 150 children, was nothing but a waste, with some few sorry huts and a native school of a dozen children.

Just as it is necessary to become acquainted with our larger industries by actual visiting, so it is necessary to visit the homesteaders to know their progress and condition. As the correspondent of The Star said in his letter, the small farmer is already here, and he has proved that small farming is a success. But in order to make small farming pay requires untiring industry and considerable frugality. Exuberant as our soil is it will not spontaneously bring forth the kindly fruits of the earth. The person who takes up a homestead with the idea that he can loaf his life away, will go hungry and will then claim that small farming is a delusion and a snare. The primeval law of God remains true here, as it does everywhere, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread."

The Roman Catholic luau and fair was a great success. Indeed it can always be counted upon as a success. The organization is always good, the ladies who are in charge are indefatigable workers, and the cause is thoroughly popular. Of course this may be said of almost all efforts in this direction, but it is certainly undoubtedly true of the Roman Catholic fair.

The plumbers strike is still on, and not likely to be off, if the plumbers' association is to be credited. San Francisco is beginning to tell upon our market in skilled labor in spite of the two thousand miles of sea which separate us. The master plumbers are now doing their own work with what help they can get and the striking plumbers have formed a "hul" of their own, taking chances upon making profits upon jobs. Meantime plumbing prices are no cheaper to the ordinary citizen. A plumbing bill is more to be dreaded than a dentist's.

Prof. Robert H. Thurston, using Popular Science Monthly as a medium, says that in 1800 Galvani and Volta sowed the seed, and since has sprung up the whole science and art of electrical physics. Thus, ten years ago we had about 700 miles of electric railway; today about 15,000 miles are in operation in the United States alone; a thousand millions of dollars are invested in the business, and an army of 200,000 men is employed, mainly in the great cities, but with steady growth toward all sections and into all aggregations of population. Two thousand millions of dollars are reported to be now invested in apparatus for electrical distribution of energy, converted ultimately into light and power. About two-thirds of a billion of dollars are invested in the property of the electric light companies. There are between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 miles of telephone wires, and we can talk from Boston to Chicago, and from Chicago to San Francisco will soon be found an easy conversational distance. The Bell Company alone owns 1,000,000 miles of wire, has 1,500,000 instruments and receives $6,000,000 a year from its business. The world outside the United States utilizes not quite so much capital in this most wonderful of the inventions of the nineteenth century as does our own country, having about 500,000 exchanges to our 600,000 or more on the Bell system alone.

PAIA CANE FIRE.

PAIA, Maui, July 13.—On Tuesday afternoon last the Paia Plantation had quite a cane fire in one of their fields at Kallua, the new branch of the plantation. The cane was matured and it was being cut for the mill at the time, so that no material loss will ensue, as the burned part will be immediately ground. About 40 acres were burned, and it will take but a day or so more before all of it is milled.

CONDITIONS STILL BAD

CAPTAIN PAUL SMITH ON THE PHILIPPINES.

Rebels Have Been Beaten But They are Still Rebels—Trouble Yet to Come in Mindanao.

Captain Paul Smith, Hawaii's hero in the Philippine war, does not think that the situation in Uncle Sam's Far East possession is satisfactory. He says that while the rebels have been soundly beaten they are not peaceable by any means and that troubles will follow.
But that there will be petty outbreaks and outrages for a long time to come.
When asked what he thought of the scheme to bring Filipino laborers to Hawaii Captain Smith said: "It will be ten years, the way things are going, before such a project could be carried out successfully. The Filipino will have to feel more friendly toward the American before he can be induced to come to Hawaii and before he will buckle down to work and become a good laborer."

Captain Smith was stationed on the Island of Mindanao. It is to that island that Prof. Townsend and other Honolulu teachers are going. The soldier says that the island is a most beautiful one but shakes his head over the prospects of order there. His idea is that there is still an incipient revolution going on and that trouble will be experienced unless the strong arm of the military is kept constantly over the situation.

The fighting commander has been away from Honolulu just twenty-two months. He has turned a little gray in that time but has taken on flesh.
He says that his extra weight was acquired after leaving Manila for San Francisco. "I am done with the army forever," added Captain Smith, "and I have enough of it. Peaceful arts in Honolulu are good enough for me."

STARTS A CIGAR FACTORY

TO USE TOBACCO SHIPPED FROM MANILA.

H. J. Nolte Going Into a Business That Has Been Much Neglected Here—A Profitable Industry.

H. J. Nolte is going into the cigar-making business, and has made application to Collector of Internal Revenue Chamberlain for registration of a cigar factory he is about to start in the basement of his restaurant premises.
The cigar-making business has been practically left alone here, but it is one in which large profits are possible, according to those who have figured it out.

Nolte has a shipment of tobacco from Manila now here in bond, and he proposes to use this Manila product in making his cigars. Tobacco is purchas-able in Manila or Havana at 35 cents a pound for filler and $1.85 for wrapper. When made into cigars it jumps to $4.50 a pound and there is an ad valorem duty of 25 per cent when it is brought into the country. This leaves a large margin of profit for the maker of American soil.

"There ought to be several large factories here," said Collector Chamberlain, "and if Hawaii has land that is good for raising tobacco, it would pay someone who knows the business to begin. The tobacco industry of Cuba is far away ahead of all we can get here in sugar here every year. If the islands had a lot of tobacco farms and Honolulu had factories for making cigars things would be much better here in many ways. There might be good profitable employment for several thousand people in the city and a number of small farms in the outside districts." In all the islands there are only two concerns that make cigars. They are two small Chinese stores, which do a small business in manufacturing cigars out of imported tobacco.

CASES BEFORE JUDGE GEAR

TWO RULINGS IN KAPOLANI- CLEGHORN MATTER.

Preparing the Long Case for the Jury.
Cross Answers the Suit of the London Marconi Company.

Judge Gear this morning denied the motion of Attorney McLanahan to instruct the jury for the plaintiff in the Kapolani-Cleghorn case, basing his ruling upon a decision given many years ago by Chief Justice Judd, when the latter was a circuit judge. The motion was based upon a section in the Hawaii constitution of 1894, declaring the King's property inviolable from any attack, and Judge Gear intimated that he had strong leanings toward a belief that the motion was good law.
He declared himself in doubt to an extent, but decided to follow the ruling of the former judge, and let the case go to the jury. As the point involves the entire case, it will be one of the plain-tiff's important contentions before the Supreme Court.

As soon as this motion had been overruled McLanahan made another. He wanted the court to instruct the jury for the plaintiff as regards the makai piece of land in dispute, basing his motion upon testimony by Cleghorn that he would have treated with Princess Ruth or King Kalakaua if they had come to him, in the matter of title. It was contended that this upset the claim of adverse possession. This motion was denied, and the attorneys proceeded to give their attention to the matter of instructions for the jury.

Robertson and McLanahan each had many instructions to offer for the court to give to the jury, and the entire morning was spent in arguing over them. McLanahan asked the court to instruct the jury that the law of the land, up to the date of the new constitution in the eighties, was that property of the Monarch was inviolate from any attack, or that the law of the land was the other way. This secures from the court a positive ruling on the question, which the Supreme Court can review. The same point is a vital one in all the recent suits brought by the Kapolani Estate involving land titles.

George R. Carter was this morning appointed administrator of the estate of the late J. W. Wulbur under $200 bonds. Wulbur was a mounted patrolman, who was killed by injury received in stopping a runaway.
In the case of J. A. Maroon trustee, vs. C. Lal Young, Judge Gear this morning issued the injunction prayed for by the plaintiff.

F. J. Cross has filed an answer to the suit brought against him by Marconi's Wireless Telegraph Company, denying all the allegations in Marconi's complaint.
The case of E. S. Taylor against M.
M. Kohn and the Oceanic Gas and Electric Company was heard by Judge Gear on Saturday and taken under advisement.

PERMISSION IS REFUSED

GRINBAUM AND COMPANY APPLI- CATION DENIED.

A Case of Glanders is Reported to the Executive Council From Waialua.
Liquor Licenses Wanted.

The Executive refused permission to the firm of S. Grinbaum and company to change its articles of incorporation so as to allow stockholders and directors' meetings to be held in San Francisco as well as in Hawaii.
The company recently filed with Treasurer Wright an application to be allowed to make such a change. It was decided that the alteration might work a hardship on some of the local stockholders, who had bought stock under the impression that the concern was a home one, and who could not be expected to go to San Francisco to attend stockholders' meetings.

Applications from the Hawaiian Sugar Company and the Honolulu Tobacco company were left in the hands of the governor. They are for permission to make a number of changes in the companies' articles of association.

It was reported in a letter to Dr.
Pratt from Dr. H. Wood of Waialua that there was a case of glanders there, and a veterinary's services were requested to attend to the matter. The council approved sending a horse doctor.

Dr. Pratt also notified the council that the Bishop estate had revoked permission for burning garbage on its land at Kakaako. Iwilei was suggested as a proper place, and was approved.

Land Commissioner Boyd reported his intention to go to Hawaii tomorrow to be present at the settlement of the Kukuau boundary question.

Application was received from Mr.
Brenco of Lapaohoe for a liquor dealers' license and from Levi Joseph of Hana, Maui, for a light wine and beer license.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

Chinese of Hilo Tries to Kill His Wife.

HILO, July 11.—A Chinese employed by Judge Lyman as cook and general factotum is in jail charged with the attempted murder of his wife, a young half caste Portuguese.
It seems that they were married a short time ago, the girl being under age. After the marriage a former lover of the girl who had been absent from town returned and her love went out to him. About this time a suit to annul the marriage was begun and the Chinese defended it and won her case. The girl then had a conference with her parents and under instructions from them refused to occupy the same sleeping apartments with her legs. The man brooded over it and finally decided to kill his wife and put an end to himself.

After mature deliberation and writing a letter recounting the cause which led up to the difficulty he tied up the money in his possession amounting to $250 and threw it into the river in the vicinity of Pitman street bridge.

Returning to his house on the Lyman premises he found his wife on the floor asleep. With a heavy hammer he dealt her four blows on the head. After committing the crime he was his intention to take a dose of opium and relieve himself of worldly responsibility. Then it occurred to him that in that case the circumstances might not reach the police department in correct shape so he decided to go to the jail and report the case in person and tell them how it happened. Officers were dispatched to the house and the injured girl taken to the hospital where she still lies in a precarious condition. The Chinese had been in the employ of Judge Lyman for several years and was highly trusted.— Hawaii Herald.

KILAUEA'S STATE.

Some Hope of Another Outbreak of the Volcano.

HILO, July 11.—News from the volcano is encouraging from the standpoint of those who love the lurid in nature. Returning visitors report rapidly changing conditions from day to day and the floor of the main crater in places is getting too warm to make walking on the lava comfortable.

In the vicinity of the lake at one time known as "Clemson's Delight," which broke out in 1890 the fire has risen to within a few inches of the floor of the crater. In times past one had to put a stick down in a crack in order to obtain fire. Now it is necessary only to lay the stick across the crack and in a few seconds it is ablaze.

On Sunday there was a great cave-in of the side of the small crater. It is said that the roar of the mass in falling was deafening. The smoke from this crater is growing darker in color, an indication that the fire is nearing the surface. The odor of sulphur is strong.
P. R. Heim, of Honolulu, who was down in the crater last Thursday night, reports the scene one of great magnitude; fire was visible in the cracks and the heat was intense. A large party of tourists, including Captain A.
E. Soule and wife and S. Kuley and wife, all of Honolulu, left on Monday for the crater.—Hawaii Herald.

SUMMER VISITORS.

PAIA, Maui, July 13.—Summer visitors are fast filling up the available places in Makawao district. Mrs. J. B. Castle, with a party of friends is at her mountain resort at Ohina. Mrs. Otis and Mrs. Augur and child are at James Lindsay's Haiku. Mrs. Theodore Richards and two children, Miss Mabel Barlow and Miss Kimball are at Puuamauel. Mrs. F. S. Dodge and family are expected in a week or so to go to Erethwon, Kula, and many other Honolulu people are expected to stay at Ma-kua places within a month or so. Makawao as a summer resort is becoming more popular every year, even in spite of the counter attractions and superior climate of Waialua as shown up by the Maui News. Honolulu people suffering with the heat can imagine the delight of Makawao with the thermometer down to 60 and 70, and wraps are necessary mornings and evenings.
Mr. and Mrs. William J. Forbes depart today for Honolulu to take up their residence there, after a three weeks honeymoon spent in Makawao.

THE M'BRYDE PLANTATION

LARGE PARTY ENTERTAINED BY THE COMPANY.

Surface Water Development Will Be Largely Followed by the Present Manager—Splendid Water System.

If you meet a Honolulu stock broker this week he will probably begin to talk about McBryde plantation. In all probability he was one of the party which was entertained by the McBryde Sugar Company last week on their extensive property on Kauai. In addition to members of the stock exchange, stockholders and others were invited to visit Kauai to inspect the condition of the plantation.
The following composed the party which left here on the Mikahala last Thursday: Harry Armitage, Fred Lewis, F. M. Hatch, A. W. Van Valkenberg, Isaac S. Dillingham Jr., J. H.
Parker, A. J. Campbell, Robert W.
Shingle, Charles F. Park, W. M. Graham, Clifford Kimball, L. M. Galt, George C. Potter, J. R. Galt, W.
Hoit, F. C. Howell and R. B. Kidd. The party reached Eleie, the port for the plantation, on Friday morning where they were met by W. A. Kinney and W. Stodart, the manager of the plantation and escorted to the residence of the manager, where breakfast of which the famous Kauai mullet formed a part, was served.
While the condition of the cane was naturally quite an important thing to the visitors the principal point of interest lay in the development of the water system. Under the direction of W.
Stodart the new manager the development of the water supply within the last three months has been remarkable and particular attention was devoted to this feature of the plantation. The fertility of Kauai soil is too well known to require a careful inspection of the crops it produces when an abundance of water is assured.
In the development of the water supply an entirely new policy has been adopted by the company. Instead of depending upon artesian wells for the artificial water supply, Manager Stodart has persuaded the directors of the plantation that surface water supply is by far the more satisfactory in every respect. Within the large months of his management of affairs at the plantation he has demonstrated this fact to their satisfaction and the tendency will be to depend less and less on artesian wells.

For the sake of convenience the cane fields and new mill were first visited by the party. The plantation consists of about 18,000 acres of which all but about 5,000 is owned in fee simple by the company. This leased land is situated near the middle of the plantation fronting on the sea coast and is held under a lease which has about eight years more to run. The plantation extends from Hanapepe gulch on the west to the western end of Koloa plantation a distance of fully eight miles. It extends backward from the sea to the high range of mountains, in some places five miles from the coast. Extending from Eleie across the Lawai gulch is a fine little railroad of about 15 miles in length which taps all of the various cane fields.
There is about 400 acres of good cane land below the 400 foot level and in the opinion of the manager there is a total of from 7,000 to 8,000 acres of land which is susceptible of cane production.
The balance of the land can be utilized as cattle and forest reservations.
This year's crop was estimated at 3,500 tons of sugar but all of it has not yet been milled. About 182 acres will be kept back and this will be ready at the new mill which will be ready for work in October or November. This cane was inspected by the visitors and pronounced to be in splendid condition.
In fact, the fields all appeared to be in good healthy condition and the cane, as fine a lot as one could hope to see.
Some of the cane was over ten feet in height and specimens were brought home by the party. One field which attracted special attention was of 190 acres which will be taken off next year.
Although but ten months old this cane was in perfect health and vigor one special feature about it being the long thick joints which protended a rich yield of juice.
There will be 1650 acres ready for grinding next January and the entire land under cultivation for that crop will reach close onto 2,800 acres. The output for 1905 is expected to reach close onto 30,000 tons of sugar which, together with the final assessments, and treasury stock on hand, will enable the company to pay off the existing indebtedness and be on a dividend paying basis in 1905. For 1903 about 600 acres has already been planted.

A short stop was made at the mill which is now in course of construction by Mr. Stodart. The capacity of the mill is 150 tons a day. It is a fine roller concern and is similar to several other mills in the islands. Quite an original feature has been introduced however, in the matter of the four big boilers. Instead of the pipes being curled as in an ordinary boiler they are put out in countless number over the fire. This arrangement has given it the name of the "Porcupine Boiler." It is said to be remarkably quick heating. The mill was originally intended for the American Sugar company but was never erected so is an entirely new mill.
At Lawai gulch the party was joined by Walter D. and A. M. Bryde of the company. In this narrow little gulch the regular water supply thus far comes from artesian wells. Eighteen have been sunk. A Riedler pump of 30,000,000 gallons capacity is nearing completion and will be ready to supply the fields within a couple of months.
The water from the wells is to be tapped by means of a 1,200 foot, 6 by 8 tunnel running from the pumping pump up the gulch. Tests of the water showed it to have little salt and Manager Stodart stated that it ran about 10 to 12 grains to the gallon. Estimating from the capacity of the two wells which have been tapped the supply from the entire lot will be more than ample.
To the east of Lawai gulch lies about 1,200 acres of the plantation which on the west is the Lawai district. Water will be thrown up from the gulch by the Riedler pump at 250 and 350 feet elevations onto both lands. The entire supply of water from the Lawai stream can also be appropriated by the plantation and in time of storms millions of gallons of water go to waste. The future of the water supply at this part of the plantation will depend upon the artesian wells. Should they go salty then the surface water development will be prosecuted. The long surface drift which taps the artesian wells also develops quite a supply of water but until the wells change there will be no necessity for pursuing any further surface development for the present.

On the east side of Lawai gulch there are to be built two reservoirs later on for the Koolau land. The water supply for the Lawai system comes from the Lawai and Kalahoe water sheds.
The Koloa land is further protected from lack of water by a big reservoir of about 40,000,000 gallons capacity in the Alpo gulch and in addition there are more reservoir sites selected. The Koolau stream is also the source of considerable water supply. Reservoirs for the storage of storm water in Lawai and Kalahoe gulches will also be constructed, although the pumping station at Lawai is expected to handle considerable of the freshet supply.
Excellent as is the reservoir system on the east side of the plantation the big system for the storage of waters is located about the central part of the place the reservoirs being from 600 to 700 feet above sea level. There is a chain of five in number. The largest, which is now completed, has a capacity of 15,000,000 gallons; a second can hold 75,000,000 gallons; a third 15,000,000 gallons. Two others are being built which will hold about 68,000,000 and 75-000,000 gallons respectively. This system of reservoirs gets its chief supply from the Wahiawa stream. A tunnel of 1,600 feet in length taps the stream and in addition there are four large ditches which convey the water from this stream to the reservoirs. Two ditches also catch the water lower down the stream so that there is no chance of any surplus going to waste.
In the construction of this system of reservoirs particular attention has been paid to preventing every chance of their overflowing or breaking their banks. In case No. 1 should become too heavily charged there is a natural outlet to No. 3 and from this reservoir a tunnel connecting with No. 2. Connection is also made with the other reservoirs. In addition to these there are a number of smaller reservoirs of 2,000,000 gallons capacity lower down on the plantation as well as other reservoirs for storing night water. The water from this system is taken across the Wahiawa kaula by two large ditches. Further connection has also been made with the Lawai side of the plantation in order to save the storm supply. There is a vast stream of water flowing down the Wahiawa stream during fresher months and in the dryest times the stream will readily flow at the rate of a couple of millions gallons daily.
The big tunnel which taps the Wahiawa is a splendid piece of work and can pass millions of gallons of water. The plantation people have this stream so arranged that it can be used at will and the water diverted to several different directions either on the fields direct, the reservoirs or the pumping station in the Hanapepe valley.
In Hanapepe valley are located the pumping stations. The Riedson pump has a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons daily and the Worthington, 7,000,000 gallons.
These pumps throw the water 350 feet above onto the Eleie fields. A number of artesian wells were sunk in this valley but all those formerly used to supply the Riedson pump went dry. Mr.
Stodart by surface development secured about 2,000,000 gallons for this pump and 2,000,000 gallons more for the Worthington pump. It is figured that 2,000,000 gallons can be taken from the river. The balance required is probably from the artesian wells which have not gone salty at the Worthington pump.
In drifting for surface water Mr.
Stodart goes from 15 to 20 feet below sea level. One drift goes back 80 feet and two others about 250. All of these tunnels have developed an excellent amount of good pure water and the plan is to ultimately extend them until the artesian wells can be abandoned altogether.
The particular feature about the water system of the McBryde plantation is the fact that it has been so admirably arranged to make the water from any particular source available for any section of the fields. While naturally the Hanapepe pumping stations supply the Eleie and Wahiawa districts the streams can be carried clear across to the eastern side of the plantation, and the same thing exists with the water from the other side.
The Wahiawa water shed is probably the most valuable source of water for it supplies the storage for the dry months.
The party returned with the satisfaction of having passed two delightful days visiting every place of interest on the plantation. They were most hospitably entertained by the McBryde Company and the hospitality was dispensed with true Hawaiian grace by Mr. Kinney, Mr. Stodart and the Mc-Brydes. The luau which the latter provided at their summer residence at Lawai gulch will long be remembered by those who partook of the feast and enjoyed the magnificent sea bathing at that beautiful spot.

PHILOSOPHY OF DESPAIR

ADDRESS BY DR. DAVID STARR JORDAN.

The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam Quoted From Central Union Church Pulpit—The Answer Science Gives.

President David Starr Jordan occupied the pulpit of Central Union church yesterday morning. The subject of his address was "The Philosophy of Despair," and his purpose was to show that it was unscientific, destructive, an impossible basis of human action, and therefore unworkable.

By the "Philosophy of Despair" he indicated that pessimism which finds expression in some passages of Ecclesiastes, which is the theme and burden of that most beautiful poem, the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, and in the works of Schopenhauer and Hartman. Dr. Jordan read a number of quatrains from the Rubaiyat to show what this philosophy is in perhaps its most beautiful setting, and then sought to show what answers science, which is the theme of what we know, has to give to the questions which this philosophy gives rise to.

Dr. Jordan's own poem, "The Bubbles of Saki" which is given in "The Story of the Innumerable Company," while not an epitome of the address, is an epitome of his answer to the "Philosophy of Despair."

THE BUBBLES OF SAKI.

In sad, sweet cadence Persian Omar sings
"The life of man that lasts but for a day, A phantom caravan that hastes away,
On to the chaos of insensate things."

"The Eternal Saki from that bowl hath poured Millions of bubbles like us and shall pour, Thy life or mine, a half-unspoken word, A fleck of foam tossed on an unknown shore."

"When thou and I behind the veil are past, Oh, but the long, long while the world shall last!
Which of our coming and departure needs,
As the seven seas shall heed a pebble cast."

"Then, my beloved, fill the cup that clears Today of past regrets and future fears."
This is the only wisdom man can know, "I come like water, and like wind I go."

But tell me, Omar, has thou said the whole?
If such the bubbles that fill Saki's bowl, How great is Saki, whose least whisper calls Forth from the swirling mists a human soul!

Omar, one word of thine is but a breath,
A single cadence in thy perfect song;
And as its measures softly flow along,
A million cadences pass on to death.

Shall this one word withdraw itself in scorn, Because 't is not thy first, nor last, nor all—Because 't is not the sole breath thou hast drawn, Nor yet the sweetest from thy lips let fall?

I do rejoice that when "of Me and Thee" Men talk no longer, yet not less, but more,
The Eternal Saki still that bowl shall fill,
And ever stronger, purer bubbles pour.

One little note in the Eternal Song,
The Perfect Singer hath made place for me;
And not one atom in earth's wondrous throng But shall be useful to infinity.

HILO IN DARKNESS.

HILO, July 11.—For the past week the streets in Hilo have been left in darkness owing to lack of water necessary to run the machinery of the electric light plant, the water in the ditch has gradually fallen until the incandescent light service has been of no practical use.

ST. AUGUSTINE'S FAIR.

Successful Fete At Drill Shed Saturday Afternoon and Evening.

The luau and fair for the benefit of St. Augustine's chapel, which took place at the drill shed Saturday afternoon and evening, was a success from every point of view. In the first hours of the function the attendance was light, but this was amply made up in the crowds of the late afternoon and evening.

The booths for the sale of various delicacies and articles were emblems of taste and beauty. The contrast between the colors and design of each was especially striking and attractive. The luau began at noon and lasted until 6 o'clock. During this time, and at evening, the booths were doing a rushing business. After the luau table had been cleared away dancing began and was kept up to near midnight.

DAMAGED.

Morgan sold a big lot of beer and other liquors from the C. D. Bryant Saturday. Although classed as goods damaged by fire, very fair prices were realized. Following this sale was a sale of apples and other fruits.

A FRENCH EVENING.

Last evening the Murphy League celebrated the Fall of the Bastille, the Fourth-of-July of the French. An address on the French revolution was delivered by Jean Sabatier, the Men of France was sung, and there was a discourse by Franklin Austin on the subject of liberty.

MANY CHARGES.

There is something wrong about the management of Bellevue hospital in New York city; notwithstanding the failure to prove some specific cases of cruelty, the accusations of this sort continue. The latest is in the case of John Christy, a longshoreman, who died in the insane pavilion at Bellevue and was found at the coroner's inquest to have had two broken ribs, and bruises on the head, chin, chest, knees, arms and stomach. The physician, Dr. O'Hanlon, declared that the man's death was caused by violence, and said that the coroner's office would begin an investigation and the district attorney would be notified. Meantime the hospital officials and Commissioner of Charities Keller have begun to investigate. Christy was arrested by a policeman in a house where he was acting insanely; he was visited in a police station by a Roosevelt hospital physician, who found him demented enough, but not bruised or ill, except mentally, and who sent him in a Roosevelt hospital ambulance to Bellevue. The next testimony is that of a young man who went to visit Christy, and while waiting to be

IDIOM.

The Athenaeum closes a fair review of an American book by regretting that the writer "chooses the American idiom rather than the English." This is a foolish criticism; but having made it, for the thousandth time, the Athenaeum ought not to use, in respect to a noted head master of a high school, "He shows up by his conspicuous ability," etc. "Show up," "show up," "write up" and other such, are called American idioms,—though excellent English. A "good grip" on a question is also an American idiom used in the same number. The Athenaeum couldn't get along without some American enrichments, any more than it could without its awkward Britishisms, which vex the American purist.—Springfield Republican.

OFFER TO REFUND MONEY.

Many thousands have been restored to health and happiness by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. If afflicted with any throat or lung trouble, give it a trial for it is certain to prove beneficial. Coughs that have resisted all other treatment for years, have yielded to this remedy and perfect health been restored. Cases that seemed hopeless that the climate of famous health resorts failed to benefit, have been permanently cured by its use. Bear in mind that every bottle is warranted and if it does not prove beneficial the money will be refunded to you. For sale by all dealers, Benson, Smith & Company general agents, Hawaiian Islands.

PEYSER IN JAIL.

Two Other False Checks Showed up This Morning.

Albert Peyser, the young clothing salesman charged with passing false checks on Bishop & Company's bank to the Moana Hotel and to Harry Klemme, reached the city jail Saturday afternoon and has since been in custody. He has retained Leon M. Strauss as his attorney. The case has been set for hearing in police court tomorrow morning.

This morning another false check turned up. It was produced by T. Mufakama, a Japanese merchant, and was for $20. The check is drawn on Bishop & Company and was signed by Peyser himself. The bank repudiated the check. Another check out was given to Vignio Jacobsen and fell into the hands of J. W. Pratt, tax assessor. It is for $20 and is signed by Peyser himself. Like the others the spurious paper is drawn on Bishop & Company. There are reports that another check for $200 is out but it is impossible this afternoon to confirm the rumor as no complaints have been lodged with the police.

THE PACIFIC WINS.

PAIA, Maui, July 13.—The Makawao Debating Society held its regular monthly meeting last night in the parlors of the Paia Foreign Church, but owing to the stormy weather there was only a small attendance. The discussion however was very interesting and ably upheld. The question was "Resolved that the Pacific will surpass the Atlantic as a commercial thoroughfare," led by W. E. Beckwith and E. R. Carley on the affirmative, and D. T. Fleming and A. R. McLane on the negative. The vote resulted in favor of the affirmative. The question chosen for the next meeting was, "Resolved that four years of travel gives a broader education than four years of college study."

PORTO RICAN IN COURT.

HILO, July 12.—A Porto Rican tried to kill his wife at Pihonua Wednesday morning by striking her repeatedly over the head and face with a billet of wood. The wife's face presented a horrible appearance as she stood up before His Honor. Her face looked as though it had been run over by a cultivator. The brute pleaded guilty and Judge Hapai sentenced him to three months hard labor and costs.—Hilo Tribune.
