APPROPRIATION BILL SOON PAU

Conference Committee Finds Dove Of Peace Has Settled In Its Midst --No Cut In School Funds

There is every prospect that the Conference Committee will complete its work tonight and that the Appropriation Bill, as agreed on by the conferees, may go to the House and Senate tomorrow morning.

Rather stormy sessions were prophesied for the committee but last night according to one of the members, "The dove of peace made an unexpected appearance and stayed with the deliberators throughout the session."

The simplest possible solution of the problems facing the committee has been adopted. The two bills—that passed by the House and that from the Senate—are laid side by side, and the items are considered separately. In each case the higher appropriation is taken, so that, though the sum total may not be cut down greatly, all concerned are thoroughly satisfied.

In the few instances where cuts have been made, the pruning has been done circumspectly. Schools are not to feel the knife, and the appropriation for the care and treatment of lepers will not suffer.

On the other hand, clerk-hire has been reduced in some instances, and activity of the executive beheading axe is not improbable. In fact, it is understood that most of the cuts will be felt by clerks who at present have not work enough to keep them busy.

Whether the revised appropriation bill, when it comes from the Conference Committee, will fit in with the estimated Territorial income for the next biennial period is a question that the conferees have not offered to answer. It is understood that a lot of cutting will be done this evening, however, in order to make appropriation and income fit.

EXHIBIT MAY GO ON THE ALAMEDA

When the Alameda sails for the Coast on May 1, she will probably carry Commissioner Lloyd Childs and the Hawaiian exhibit for the Alaskan-Yukon Exposition.

It was the intention to ship the exhibit on the United States Army transport Dix and arrangements were made with the War Department to make it possible. No word of the departure of the Dix from Nagasaki has been received, however, and it is feared that she may have been unaccountably detained.

As the Dix is a slow ship and requires eighteen days to make the trip here from Nagasaki, her delay in sailing has upset calculations. According to schedule, the Dix will remain here for ten days, making twenty-eight days at least before she can be expected to sail from this port.

At least eight days is required for the Dix to make the run from here to the Coast, so Childs fears that, should he wait for the transport, he will not have his exhibit on hand in time for the opening of the exposition.

Although it is not settled that the exhibit will be shipped on the Alameda, such is Childs' present intention.

The local Army officers have received no information regarding the whereabouts of the Dix.

The work of making up the exhibit has practically been completed, and Childs is only waiting for a ship to start the exhibit on its way.

MORE ALLEGED FENCES

Chief Leal is hot on the trail of alleged fences and expects to arrest four of them this afternoon. Peter Nawai has implicated several leading Chinese jewelers, and it is thought they will be under lock and key by sundown. Leal considers he has sufficient evidence to send the lot up, and it surely will go hard with the fences if convicted.

DEBATE IN HOUSE IS PATHOLOGICAL

Glanders and Farcy Greatly Interest The Members

HOUSE.

Fifty-Fourth Day—Morning Session.

Glanders and farcy in horses, mules, asses and human beings, and mumps in pigs formed the chief topic of discussion in the House this morning, and much learning was exhibited and much oratory expended over the interesting subject. The matter resolved itself into a question of whether or not the gentle art of horse trading shall be interfered with by a law which would render the sale of a glandered horse or farcy mule null and void. Kaniho was the chief protestant and seemed to take the matter much to heart.

The debate arose over the third reading of House Bill 219, Shingle, which provides that if any one knows of an animal afflicted with a contagious disease and fails to report it to a Territorial veterinarian, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of from $5 to $100. The bill also provides that the purchaser of a horse, mule or ass that shows symptoms of glanders or farcy within two weeks after purchase may recover from the seller the full amount of the purchase price.

Coney explained that the objects of the bill were to protect innocent purchasers and to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among animals.

Kaniho objected strenuously to the passage of any bill that would make it necessary for him to have his animals examined by a veterinarian before he could sell them. In a voice choked with emotion he told the members what a hardship this would be to him.

Besides, one can't always tell when an ass is sick. We are here today and tomorrow we are gone. Like the grass of the field, we wither. The ways of Providence are past finding out.

Waiwalole related the sad sale of a horse that died at Wailuku three days after it had been sold by a Japanese. He considered that this was sufficient argument for the passage of the bill.

Coney told Kaniho that even a human being is liable to contract glanders. Kaniho was willing to take the risk. And, anyway, he said, there is no veterinarian in Kohala.

Kealawa was afraid that he might have a case of glanders about his place without knowing it, and would be punished for his ignorance of the matter.

Furtado moved the previous question, but the subject of glanders was an interesting one to the House and they voted the motion down.

Kawewehi had an idea. Sometimes pigs are born with big necks, he said. "Suppose I have a litter of pigs with big necks. Would I be punished for taking care of them?"

The House didn't know but concluded let him take a chance on it, and passed the bill by a vote of 23 to 5.

SENATE PASSES SEWER TAX BILL

Moore's Measure Slides Through By Close Squeeze

TAXATION BILL IS RELEGATED TO SENATORIAL SCRAP PILE

SENATE.

Fifty-Fourth Day—Morning Session.

Senate Bill No. 141, providing that property-owners shall be taxed to pay for the sewers passing their land, passed third reading this morning by the narrowest possible margin. When the roll was first called, Palmer Woods was absent, and the vote stood 7-7.

Moore asked that Woods be sent for, and, though the President had already announced that the bill had failed to pass, the roll was called over again. Woods voted "yes," and the bill passed third reading. The vote was as follows:

Ayes—Coelho, Fairchild, Knudsen, McCarthy, Moore, Quinn and Woods. Noes—Baker, Brown, Chillingworth, Harvey, Kalama, Makekai and the President.

This bill provides that the half million dollars expended on the construction of the Honolulu sewer system shall be paid back by the persons owning land along the lines of the sewers. Ten years is allowed for the payment of the money, which will amount to about $1 a front foot, and the payments are to be made in ten annual installments.

Tax Bill Is Dead.

House Bill No. 189, the tax bill, on which the Senate spent three days in Committee of the Whole, was tabled. It should have come up for third reading but Senator Fairchild expressed a fear that it might only serve to complicate matters and perhaps result in a reduction of the taxes, a contingency which he considered dangerous considering the present status of the Territory's finances.

Kula Pipe Lines Goes.

By unanimous consent the Senate this morning concurred in the House amendments to Senate Bill No. 123, appropriating $100,000 for the Kula pipe line. The House tacked on another $100,000 for Honolulu wharf and water works.

This bill started in life with provisions totalling considerable more than a million dollars and calling for improvements in practically all of the (Continued on Page 3)

TWO INDICTMENTS BY THE GRAND JURY

Chong Ye Pak Charged With Libeling A Consul

The Territorial Grand Jury made a preliminary report this morning, returning two indictments and three no-true bills.

The indictments are against Chong Ye Pak, for libel of the Chinese Consul, and Mau Sing, for robbery.

Chong Ye Pak will be arraigned tomorrow morning. Mau Sing pleaded guilty to the charge against him and was sentenced by the Judge to six months' imprisonment.

No-true bills were returned in the case of David Manuel, who was charged with assault and battery; West and Buddha, charged with robbery; and Shikada, charged with assault.

SENATE WILL GREET EX-VICE PRESIDENT

Former Vice President Fairbanks will be received at the dock by President Smith and a delegation from the Senate when he steps down the gangplank from the Chiyu Maru tomorrow morning. It has been decided eminently proper that the ex-presiding officer of the United States Senate should receive his first official welcome at the hands of the upper chamber of the Territorial Legislature, and arrangements have been made accordingly.

Mr. Fairbanks will be invited to the Capitol, where a reception will be held, probably in the Hall of Representatives. At just what time this reception will take place will not be settled until the distinguished visitor has been seen, and his wishes in regard to the matter have been learned.

But little will be done toward making entertainment plans until Mr. Fairbanks has been consulted.

GERMAN SHIP HAS QUICK VOYAGE HERE

Rumor That Dirigo Is Aground Proves Erroneous

Having left Hamburg, Germany, one hundred and twenty days ago with a cargo of general merchandise for this port, the German ship Frieda, Captain Mark, arrived this morning, docking at the Hackfeld wharf at about 9 o'clock.

As she entered the harbor in tow of the tug Intrepid, she flew the yellow quarantine flag on her foremast to prevent shore people from rushing on board while she was docking. The Chinese laundrymen, Japanese dyers, peddlers of cakes and other waterfront frequenters kept away until they were satisfied there was no sickness aboard.

The first officer of the Frieda when asked whether he had seen any shipwreck at Molokai, stated with a smile that he first learned of such a story when the pilot boarded her this morning. "We saw no vessel aground on Molokai," said he, and he laughed at the story which appeared in this morning's paper.

A Japanese fishing sampan arriving this forenoon from Molokai reported no truth in the story that the Dirigo is aground on that island. "We saw no vessel aground on Molokai," said the skipper, "and we were fishing the whole night between Molokai and this island."

Captain Miller said this morning that the steamer James Mabee had gone to Molokai on a business trip.

"BOOSTER" DINNER IN FAIRBANKS' HONOR

The Commercial Club will give a "booster" dinner a week from tonight, at which former Vice-President Fairbanks will be the guest of honor. Other entertainment for the distinguished guest is also being planned, but the arrangements are, as yet, in an embryonic stage.

President Morgan of the Chamber of Commerce will be down at the wharf tomorrow to welcome Mr. Fairbanks on behalf of the Chamber, and Chairman L. Tenney Peck of the entertainment committee will also be on hand.

THANKED HIM BY HIT

C. Benson has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Henry Hottendorf on a charge of assault. It appears that both men are employes of Catton & Neill, and during the lunch hour Henry after lighting a cigarette from Benson's pipe, thanked him by punching him in the eye. Benson, who was wearing glasses, was badly cut, and one eye is in a bad way. There does not seem to have been any ill-feeling between the pair prior to the assault, but a considerable coolness at present exists.

PIANO BARGAINS

A large shipment of new pianos is being unloaded by the Thayer Piano Company, and will fill their salesroom to overflowing. To make room for this new stock, a big reduction has been made on their pianos, and while this sale lasts great bargains can be found in pianos of standard makes. Now is the time to get in and purchase a piano for your home at a remarkably low price and of an excellent quality. A house that handles pianos of the standing of the "Steinway" cannot afford to carry a poor piano among their lower-priced pianos, and you can

SENATE

(Continued from Page 1) counties of the Territory. In the Senate it was pruned down so that only the Kula pipe line remained.

Insanity Bill Through.
 The insanity bill, House Bill No. 164, then came up for final action. During the reading of the bill many of the Senators wandered out into the halls and there was little more than a quorum when the roll was called. Only Brown voted "no," however, so the bill passed its third reading, though with a decidedly weak vote.

Depository Bill.
 The report of the conference committee, appointed to reach an agreement with the House Committee on the amendments to House Bill No. 91, the depository bill, was adopted, the Senate thereby placing its approval on the bill as it stands.

The report of the conference committee goes farther in its amendments than did the original action of the Senate, placing the maximum interest to be received on Territorial funds deposited in banks at 3 per cent.

As the bill originally came up from the House, it fixed the minimum rate at 2 per cent, but left the maximum a sky limit. On motion of Senator Fairchild a limit of 4 per cent was placed on the allowable interest, lest the Territory become an unwilling party to a hold-up in case of financial stringency. Now that maximum has been reduced to 3 per cent.

Supervisors Left.
 House Bill No. 122, raising the salary of the Supervisors of City and County of Honolulu from $600 to $900 a year, died suddenly. It was up for third reading, but a motion to table carried overwhelmingly.

Railway Franchise.
 House Bill No. 191, granting to W. A. Wall et al, the right to construct and operate a railway on the island of Hawaii, amended by the Judiciary Committee, came up for second reading. As the report of the committee was a long one, in order to avoid a second reading thereof, the rules were suspended and the bill was taken up on second reading.

There was some discussion, but with a few minor changes, the bill passed second reading.

Automobile Tax.
 Senate Bill No. 112, fixing the tax on automobiles at 1 cent a pound on the weight of each machine, was brought up on Kalama's motion. An effort was made to table the bill, but the motion was voted down.

Kalama tried to have the bill passed on second reading, but a motion to take a recess carried and shut off his talk.

Fees to Officials.
 Senate Bill No. 146, providing that all legal fees received by any official of the City and County of Honolulu, for the conveyance of property, shall be the property of the officer in question, passed second reading, the favorable report of the Judiciary Committee being adopted. The bill provides that no fee retained by any officers under the provisions of the law shall exceed $50.

There was no opposition to the bill, not even Makokau moving to defer.

Filing of Records.
 Senate Bill No. 147, calling for the filing of the records of births, marriages and deaths, was favorably reported by the Judiciary Committee and passed second reading by the adoption of the committee's report.

Honokaa Out.
 Senate Bill No. 148, eliminating Honokaa from the court circuit, was brought up on motion of Senator Makokau and passed second reading.

Santa Rosa Bond Election.—Santa Rosa, April 7.—The city council voted last night to call an election on $50,000 in 20 year bonds, $40,000 for a new city hall to replace the one destroyed in 1906 and $10,000 for a new bridge across Santa Rosa creek at Davis street.

The Weekly Edition of the Evening Bulletin gives a complete summary of the news of the day.

FREE OIL IS ON TAFT'S LIST

He Says "Must" When Talking of No Duty on This Necessity of Life—Startling Comparison

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Taft has told several of his callers in the last two or three days, in the most positive terms, "Must" is the word he has used several times.

Some of the persons who have received inspiration at the White House have been looking into the workings of the petroleum duty, and have discovered some interesting things. Back in 1907 the Bureau of Corporations made an investigation of the petroleum business in this and other countries, which resulted in the production of an immense volume that nobody appears to have taken the trouble to read. But just now it is developing interest for statesmen.

Poring over its pages, they learn that Russian oils sell in England and Germany at two and three cents per gallon wholesale less, than American oils command in the wholesale markets of this country. There are about 1,500,000,000 gallons of illuminating oil sold annually in this country.

At two cents the gallon, this means that $30,000,000 more is paid for oil by the American consumer under present conditions than would be paid by him if he got the benefit of the European price. American oil goes to the European markets and sells at the prevailing prices, less than those charged in the United States, because it is compelled there to meet Russian competition.

Russian oil can't get into the United States because of the countervailing duty. The American customs officers impose, under this provision, the same duty against Russian oil that Russia charges against American oil. As the countervailing duty works, the Treasury experts figure it out that the tax on Russian oil coming to this country would be—if any came—19.2 cents per gallon, which is away above 100 per cent, and utterly prohibitive. The first inquirer who went to the Treasury to ask about the matter discovered that the customs officers didn't know what the duty was; they had to get together a lot of statisticians, data, copies of the law, opinions and rulings and figure for an hour before they could announce that if anybody should do anything so senseless as to import Russian petroleum he would have to pay 19.2 cents duty on it.

The argument in favor of the retention of the countervailing duty is that it protects the American producer of crude oil. To this the reply is made that the Standard pays as little now for crude oil as it can

No Butting In Wanted.
 There was a short debate on House Bill 230, amending the Municipal Act, so as to authorize the City and County Clerk of Honolulu to appoint his own assistants.

And, anyhow, it didn't have to pay the $29,000,000 fine, and something ought to be done to it, they always add.

JAPAN'S BUSINESS MEN TO MAKE TOUR

Northern Chambers of Commerce Extend Invitation
 SEATTLE, Wash., March 27.—At the instance of the Chambers of Commerce of Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, and Portland, the Japanese Consuls of Seattle and Portland today extended, by cable, an invitation for the five Chambers of Commerce of Japan to send a delegation of fifteen leading businessmen of the empire and fifteen trade experts on a visit to the United States in September next.

Arrangements have been perfected whereby the party will visit all the leading manufacturing and trade centers of the United States in the belief that such an inspection will result in a great stimulus to the interchange of trade between Japan and the United States.

The party will be handled from the northwest cities on a special train and probably will proceed over the Northern Pacific to St. Paul and thence to Chicago, visiting en route the chief trade and manufacturing centers of the west. They will spend not less than 90 days in the United States as the guests of the northwestern chambers of commerce and will arrive in Seattle in time to participate in Japan day at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

DOG DERBY WAS BIG BETTING EVENT

Nome's classic dog race, the Derby of the North, on which $100,000 changed hands on the result, is over. Berger's teams, Nos. 1 and 2, driven by Scotty Allen and Percy Blatchford respectively, have pulled down the $11,000 in gold and will hold for a year the Suter trophy hung up for the all-Alaska sweepstakes. The winners' time was 82 hours 2 minutes. The distance was 412 miles, from Nome to Candie and return.

Although there was some hope that Fink's team would pull into second place, the final course became a grueling contest and ended in the order given, with Blatchford seventeen minutes behind Allen. Much hope had been pinned to the strength and fleetness of the Siberian team, upon which $100,000 was posted to win, but the team became snowblind.

No sporting event in the history of the North or South had so much interest as that of the Nome-Candie creek dog race promoted by the Nome Kennel Club, and few events in any other sporting line have seen the changing of as much money on a single event as the all-Alaska sweepstakes.

WAIHOLE BRIDGE STILL IN PILIKIA

Supervisors Listen To Reports of Mayor On Work

The Waihole bridge is proving a fruitful source of trouble for the Supervisors. The dispute between Paolo, the local road overseer, and County Engineer Gere crops up in some form or other at every meeting of the Board, and what is really a very minor link in the road system is rapidly assuming titanic proportions.

Paolo, who is a Fern appointee, has the backing of His Honor, while the Board is standing behind County Engineer Gere. The Paolo forces are making a great talk about "practical work" as opposed to theoretical road building, but little has been accomplished so far.

The Waihole bridge cropped up last night, as was to be expected, and a lengthy argument ensued. Mayor Fern had been over the ground, and he expressed the belief that $2000 would be needed to put the bridge in repair. Supervisor Quinn, who, in his capacity as chairman of the Road Committee, has been going over the ground pretty thoroughly, had something to say on his own hook, however.

It developed that shortly after the visit of His Honor to the bridge, Quinn also descended upon the work, and he made an investigation. The result was that the executive estimate was fixed by ten, Quinn stating that the repairs could be made for $200.

County Engineer Gere, who was present, was then called on to give his views on the subject. He expressed the belief that Quinn's estimate would hold, were there no storms in the meantime.

The question of a special appropriation for the bridge was discussed, with the result that $100 was set aside to be added to the money already at hand for the work.

Bids were opened for a new engine, for a petrolite roller, and for certain other machinery needed in the Road Department. They were turned over to the County Engineer for report.

NOTHING BUT LAUGHS

"The Other Fellow," a farce comedy in three acts will be presented at the Orpheum tonight by the popular Elford's. This comedy has more than made good in the East and wherever it has been seen has scored a distinctive hit. "The Other Fellow" bubbles over with good humor, is sustained by dramatic purpose, and seasoned with spontaneous wit and enlivened with such clever players, it is sure to be a huge success. The story concerns a young "M. D." and his friend, the doctor's jealous wife, a charming young widow, and with "Father and Mother-in-law" each taking a hand in the mix-up, one can readily imagine there will be something doing. And there is something doing every minute, from the rise of the first curtain to the fall of the final one.

There are so many good points in the piece that it is impossible to enumerate them, but suffice it to say one will have an evening of solid entertainment that is hard to beat. It has been said by some clever person, that "A little touch of liver, makes the whole world blue," so if any one is suffering with that affliction, let him see "The Other Fellow" or "Doctor Bill" tonight and at once the blue devils will vanish like magic. The same bill will be played tomorrow night, and at the Saturday matinee the children will have a chance to see the beautiful costume and scenic play, "The Two Orphans."

Admission to the matinee for the children will be 25 cents to all parts of the house, and 50 cents for adults. Between acts the little Osborn children will appear in the newest songs and dances. These talented youngsters are creating an even bigger furore than they did two years ago.

Mr. Antoni Theilen, one of the head overseers for the Liliue Plantation, and his wife, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary last Thursday at their residence near the Liliue school. The happy occasion was taken advantage of by a merry party of their friends from the neighborhood who surprised them in the evening, and took possession of the home, bearing gifts and good wishes.—Garden Island.

WEDNESDAY APRIL 21, 1909

There are no points of the compass
on the chart of true patriotism.—
Robert C. Winthrop.

The best law of accommodation paper
is: Don't do it.

Every legislator loves the newspaper when he is looking for votes.

Nobody cares much what happens to the Sultan of Turkey now that James J. Jeffries, Esquire, has announced that he is ready to encounter one Johnson, in the prize-ring.

When through lines are operating between the Orient and Europe by way of Tehuantepec, it should be possible to establish a regular line of travel for European immigrants in this direction.

Japanese with an average amount of intelligence must understand that it is impossible to act on the plantation-wage question until Congress has decided what measure of protection is to be given the principal product of these islands.

When the men in charge of the sugar plantations decide on a schedule of wages based on the character of work done by employees in various branches of the business, they will come nearer an equitable solution of the wage problem than has been manifest in the last twenty years.

If the big men and the little men of Hawaii stand together in the demand that the steamship lines carrying the freight shall also provide passenger accommodations, you will hear no further complaint regarding either the quantity or quality of Honolulu's transportation offerings.

This Legislature will not gain favor with the people by a further increase in taxes. But it will gain much approval for its superior judgment by providing for a Tax Commission that will evolve a scheme of County and Territorial taxation to be presented to the next Legislature.

There should be an independent County tax and a consequent reduction of the Territorial tax. But if this is to be brought about in a sensible, businesslike manner the Legislature now sitting should provide for a Commission to study the situation and offer a practical program for the legislators two years hence.

Herbert Hadley, Missouri's new Governor, has found that Missouri
men getting their share of immigration. He had asked the railroads what can be done about it, and they have replied "advertising." Governor Hadley therefore recommended in his message to the Legislature that an advertising appropriation be made.

When the Legislature has nothing better to do, it could spend a few moments of its valuable time learning how many meetings the Board of Regents of the College of Hawaii has held since it was organized and how many called meetings failed for want of a quorum. It might also inquire under what system the purchase of the College supplies was let.

Homer Baskerville, an American school-teacher, leading the forces of revolt in Persia, proves that the American continent is too thickly populated to give full scope to the spirit that made the great frontiersmen of years gone by. The men who would have been Indian fighters had they been born fifty years back must now go to the land of the ancients
to satisfy their love for the game.

SURPLUS OF WAGES.

A very sufficient answer to the statement of the agitators who are seeking to induce the Japanese laborers on the plantations to strike
for higher wages, that such laborers
are not earning at the present rates
of wages enough to support themselves and families, is to be found in the statistics of the money order

department of the postoffice for the past three years.

These show that money orders issued from all offices in Hawaii, payable in Japan and certified by the Honolulu office, are as follows:

1906.....	$ 609,827.50
1907.....	925,522.46
1908.....	1,168,173.97

Money orders payable in Hawaii,
certified to by the Honolulu office
from Japan:

1906.....	$14,400.70
1907.....	31,835.78
1908.....	13,900.46

The difference in the amounts of the money order funds certified to,
and payable in Japan, and the amount certified from Japan payable in Hawaii, shows an excess in favor of Japan as follows:

1906.....	$ 589,684.87
1907.....	882,929.24
1908.....	1,144,949.96

It is believed a very considerable portion of this large amount of money is sent to Japan for deposit in the Postal Savings Banks of that country, with which system the Japanese are familiar.

In addition to these amounts large sums of money are being sent annually to Japan through the Japanese banks. A portion of the money sent to Japan is, of course, in payment for merchandise imported, but it is very safe to say that the postoffice money orders and a considerable part of the exchange issued by the banks represents the savings of laborers.

The Japanese laborers on the plantations as a class are easily moved and are quick to resent any grievances. That the agitation which has been continuously conducted for so long has not resulted in wide-spread strikes is due to the fact that a great majority of the laborers are earning as much or more than is being demanded by the agitators.

TAXES AND A COMMISSION.

Our business men may now appreciate the folly of merely opposing a taxation measure and offering no other avenue for the solution of the taxation problems before the Legislature.

The Senate in passing the bill to levy a special property tax of one-quarter of one per cent. for public works desired by the Counties, is groping after some means of putting the burden of taxation on those gaining the benefit of public works.

The theory is good enough but the working out under the bill just passed will be most injurious. The scheme is half-baked. It does not meet the situation.

The result will be to create the maximum amount of distrust with the minimum of practical results in the way of local control.

What the Chamber of Commerce
should have done after registering
its opposition to additional taxation
was to have called for the appointment of a Tax Commission or, what amounts to the same thing, request
the passage of the bill proposed by the Tax Commission whose report was presented to this Legislature.

Action of this character will bring results.

It will prevent ill-advised plans
of taxation during the closing hours of the present session and, what is equally important, secure to the next Legislature a carefully studied and locally applicable scheme of taxation
adapted to changing conditions.

Any bill which provides that the Supervisors of any County may levy
a tax for public works without first submitting the specific proposition to the vote of the people is an abomination. The voters should have the final determination of everything of this character.

If this Senate bill becomes a law,
it will be a constant source of trouble, although it is highly improbable
that any County will levy the tax.

It is possible for the Governor to defeat it with his veto, but even this leaves the Territory in a most unhappy position. It postpones the tax problem to another session of the Legislature when all the fads, fancies, and sensible ideas will be junc-tured in upon the Legislature, some of whom don't understand, some of whom don't want to understand, and none of whom have the time in sixty days to evolve a first-class system of taxation.

Given a Tax Commission with sufficient powers to study the taxation
problem during the next two years
and which shall report its conclusions to the Legislature, the Territory will gain great benefit and the people will have made material advance in the practice of competent self-government.

This bill in its present form might better be blocked.

But for progressive, patriotic citizens a blockade is not a desirable end to be achieved when there is work to be done for the future.

Dowie's Son Defeated.—Muskegon,

Liquor Raids Made.—Mobile, Ala.,
April 8.—Wholesale raids by detectives
in the employ of the prohibition party started the city today and resulted in the seizure of large quantities of liquors at prominent hotels and cafes.
At the new Battle house and the Castles hotel more than a carload of intoxicants were seized.

TAFT FOR CHINA IN MANCHURIA

STATE DEPARTMENT IS SILENT,
BUT ORIENTALISTS BELIEVE
JAPAN IS OPPOSED

Washington, D. C.—Diplomats in Washington are greatly interested in certain developments in the relations between China and Japan, which have not yet reached the stage of attracting general public interest.

This concern has been accentuated by the publication of two or three brief dispatches from the Orient setting forth that China is pressing To-kiyo for a settlement of some matters in Manchuria which relate to the evacuation of that province by the Mikado's forces, under the Portsmouth treaty. The most recent of these dispatches stated that China had demanded arbitration at The Hague, and intimated that the Washington Government was backing her in that demand. Japan was represented as disposed to doubt if Washington had authorized such a statement.

The State Department has had nothing to say about these matters,
for publication, at least, despite considerable inquiry about the attitude of the United States and the degree of interest it is taking or liable to take in the settlement of the acute difference between China and Japan over Manchuria. But the diplomats who make a specialty of Oriental affairs say that there is a reason to suspect that Japan is wrong, and that the United States has given some measure of moral support, at least, to China in pressing for an early settlement in Manchuria.

Long before he was President or nominee for President, Mr. Taft was accounted by Mr. Roosevelt the best Orientalist in the Administration, and his advice went far to determine the Administration's course in several important matters. On his last trip to the East, when he went around the world, Mr. Taft made a remarkable speech in Shanghai, in which he assured the Chinese that the United States was their friend and would not permit dismemberment of the empire or infringement
of the open-door rule.

It is now charged that China is being subjected to exactly this latter imposition by Japan as to Manchuria, and that China has reminded Mr.
Taft of his assurances.

Bandits Rob Gambling House.—Ogden, Utah, April 7.—About midnight tonight five robbers walked into the

der their guns, while the fifth robbed
the games of between $1500 and $2000.

--PAPER LAW

New Trial Is Ordered
In Famous Kona
Case

The Supreme Court rendered a decision this morning ordering a new trial in the case of B. F. Dillingham
vs. M. F. Scott, Kona Development
Co., and F. B. McSticker, garnishees.
The case is a very interesting one, as it involves the use of accommodation paper given by Mr. Dillingham in the winding up of the affairs of the old Kona Sugar Co.

The syllabus follows:
Bills and notes; accommodation
paper.—The payee of an accommodation note having requested its execution for the purpose of paying a debt of a third party is under no implied obligation to reimburse the accommodation maker who has paid
the note.

Bills and notes; accommodated
party.—An accommodation note having been made and endorsed for the purpose of paying the debt of a third party not named on the instrument, such third party is in contemplation of law the accommodated party to whom the credit has been loaned, and the testimony of the accommodation maker, knowing the use intended, that he signed at the request and for the accommodation of the payee cannot alter the status of the parties.

Appeal and error; decision of court jury waived.—The decision of the judge of a circuit court, jury waived, being based upon the existence of an implied promise, this court, upon finding error, will not consider whether the testimony would have sustained a finding of an express promise, but will order a new trial.

The court in closing its decision
says:

While the case appears to be a novel one, we are of the opinion that the accommodated party upon whom the law casts the implied obligation
of reimbursing the accommodation
party is the party who, in accordance with the prior understanding of the parties, receives the direct benefit from the accommodation paper or its proceeds, and that this result follows even though, as is by no means clear from the evidence in this case,
the motive actuating the accommodation maker was wholly a desire to accommodate some other party requesting the loan of credit. In the case at bar the plaintiff was not loaning his credit to the defendant to be used by the defendant for his own purposes, and if the defendant had used the paper for any other purpose than to pay a receiver's debt of the Kona Sugar Co. it would have been a fraudulent diversion of the paper. The letters in evidence show that at the outset at least plaintiff looked for repayment to the proceeds of property of the plantation. The defendant equally with the plaintiff received no value in a legal sense for the use of his name as endorser. The plaintiff and defendant were both accommodation parties and the Kona
Sugar Co., Ltd., was the accommodated party and the only party under implied obligation to reimburse the accommodation maker.

It is true that between accommodation parties, one of whom has paid
the note, parole evidence of an express contemporaneous agreement
that their liability shall be different from that expressed on the face of the paper is admissible and that plaintiff may recover on such express contract if proved, Phillips v. Preston, 5 How. 278; Mansfield v. Edwards, 136 Mass. 18. This is very different from the implied contract

NORMAL SCHOOL FLAG

Normal School, County,
April 21, 1909.

Editor Evening Bulletin:
The students of the Normal School
wish to express their hearty thanks to Mr. George Smith for his generous gift to the school of a handsome American flag.

On behalf of the students,
WM. H. MEINERKE,
Chairman Bd. of Supervisors, Normal School County.

Mr. Smith disclaims personal honor for this gift, as the flag came from the decoration committee of the Fleet Committee at Mr. Smith's suggestion.
This committee also supplied a flag
to a Hawaii school whose emblem had become dilapidated. The committee felt that the flag was better
put to good use than left to the fate
of mould and moth.

MRS. SACHS DEAD

After a long illness, which confined her to her bed, Mrs. Fannie Sachs, wife of N. S. Sachs of this city, died at the Queen's Hospital at 10 o'clock last night.

About five months ago Mrs. Sachs returned from Oakland, where she was taken sick. Ever since then she had been in the Queen's Hospital. The date of the funeral, which will be private, will be announced later. Friends are asked to omit sending flowers for the funeral.

HEALTH BOARD MEETS

There will be a meeting of the Board of Health this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when resolutions adopted by the Senate and House of Representatives will be considered. Both bodies of legislators have resolved that some seven persons who are now on Molokai shall be returned to Honolulu for re-examination, as doubt seems to exist as to whether the afflicted ones are really lepers or not.

Our society reporter, who was present on the wharf, has divulged to us a certain interesting bit of news in this same connection, which we are unable to reveal, we regret to state, because we are sworn to secrecy until a later date.

An exciting runaway of the mail wagon occurred on Tuesday afternoon, while E. Desha, the assistant postmaster, was conveying it down to the landing. Just as they were starting down the long hill, the lines broke on one side and the team plunged down the hill on a mad gallop. There being no possible chance of controlling them, the occupants of the wagon were compelled to jump, and in doing so Mr. Desha suffered quite a severe strain to one of his legs, which was later attended to by Dr. Putnam. The team rushed down to the landing and there was imminent danger that some in the large crowd of people that were down to see the steamer off, would be injured. But Sheriff Rice, with great presence of mind, sprang in front of the oncoming runaways and caused them to deflect to the right far enough so that the crowd was missed and no one was injured. The team ran down the bank past C. W. Spitz's liquor house and round the end of it into a fence, behind the house, where it was stopped.—Garden Island.

House Passes Loan Bill For Construction of Kula Pipe Line

HOUSE

53d Day—Afternoon Session

The House yesterday afternoon finished up the biggest batch of third readings of the session, running through a long list of Senate bills in record time. There were no debates, but Carley made his principal speech of the session in support of the loan bill to provide funds for the construction of the Kula pipe line and the improvement of the Honolulu harbor. The pipe line was the item of the bill which Carley was interested in, and he urged the House to provide relief for the long-suffering residents of the Kula district who live in a fertile land that needs only water to make it richly productive. His eloquence carried the day for his pet measure, and as the bill has already passed the Senate, it goes to the Governor for his signature. Governor Frenn has already expressed himself as favoring the bill, so the Kula people seem assured of their pipe line.

The House used the remorseless axe on Chillingworth's bill to prohibit civilians from wearing the uniform or any part of the uniform of the United States Army, Navy or of the National Guard of Hawaii. The measure was killed on account of its comprehensiveness. The original intent of the measure appeared all right, but it had been made to go too far.

The following bills passed their third reading in the House:

Senate Bill 125, McCarthy, authorizing the Superintendent of Public Works to fix the water rates for Honolulu and to install water meters where necessary.

Senate Bill 123, Coelho, making special appropriations for the use of the Territory during the two years to end with June 30, 1911. As introduced the bill carried appropriations aggregating $1,669,492.82, but it was cut to pieces and as read in the House carried only a loan appropriation of $100,000 for the Kula pipe line and $100,000 for improvement of the Honolulu harbor.

This bill gave Carley an opportunity to make a carefully prepared speech. He had been particularly interested in the measure, nursing it carefully through first and second readings and guarding it to see that nothing happened to it.

When the bill was called up on third reading Carley took the floor, saying he wanted to tell the House why Maui asked the passage of the measure. He painted a picture of the people of the Kula district, having to depend upon the water that trickles down a three-quarter inch pipe so slowly that it takes them three days to collect ten gallons, which they have to carry ten miles and can use only for drinking purposes. They have for two years, he said, been giving their cattle and hogs brackish water from the seashore because there was nothing else for them to give. He thought Maui entitled to the consideration asked in the bill.

Afonso offered an amendment, to insert an item of $10,000 for the Honolulu water works. At Rice's suggestion he promised to draw a bill to reimburse the Territory for the $10,000 outlay asked.

Cohen said the House was a unit so far as the item for the Kula pipe line was concerned, but it was an imposition for Hawaii to hang back until near the end of the session and then try to endanger Maui's bill by tacking on a bunch of amendments. The amendment was tabled.

Furtado tried to hang a few amendments onto the bill, but they were thrown out and the bill passed unamended.

Senate Bill 140, to provide for the reimbursement of the Territory for the cost of the Kula pipe line provided for in Senate Bill 123.

Senate Bill 19, Coelho, which, as amended in Committee in the House, makes the license fee for hotels, boarding houses and restaurants $50 in Honolulu and $25 in the other districts.

Senate Bill 114, Harvey, providing that physicians employed in the examination of leper suspects shall be paid not less than $5 nor more than $10 per examination.

Senate Bill 25, Coelho, the effect of which is to make hasty marriages difficult of consummation.

Senate Bill 86, Coelho's medical bill, which allows anybody to treat lepers, asthmatics, and consumptives, didn't please Furtado. "It seems the doctors want to have a real good clinic on everything," he said. "I move to postpone indefinitely." Coney pointed out that the effect of the bill would be just the reverse. He thought it a good bill. The bill passed by a vote of 20 to 6.

Senate Bill 131, setting out the qualifications necessary in applicants to enable them to obtain licenses as pharmacists.

Senate Bill 56, Chillingworth, to prohibit persons from associating them-

Senate Bill 63, amending Section 14 of Act 119 of the Session Laws of 1907.

Senate Bill 111, an Act to provide for the payment of commutation due the Territory.

Senate Bill 124, Act 91, entitled "An Act relating to accounts of executors and administrators, adding a new section to be known as Section 1851A to the Revised Laws."

Senate Bill 104, Act 92, entitled "An Act to authorize the appropriation of money for the purpose of paying the unpaid claims against the County of Maui, created by virtue of Act 31 of the Session Laws of 1903."

Senate Bill 105, Act 93, entitled "An Act to appropriate money for the purpose of paying the unpaid claims against the County governments of East and West Hawaii created by virtue of Act 31 of the Session Laws of 1907."

Senate Bill No. 106, Act 94, entitled "An Act to appropriate money for the purpose of paying the unpaid claims against the Territory of Hawaii for services and materials supplied during the period from the 4th to the 14th day of January, 1904."

Chillingworth, under the suspension of rules, submitted the minority report on House Bill 180 relating to the new tax bill. The bill, however, passed second reading.

Senate Bill 147, relating to births, deaths, and marriages, came up for second reading. Baker offered an amendment making the bill read "to take effect on and after the first day of July." He stated that the courts did not recognize the records of the registrar of births, deaths, and marriages as sufficient evidence in litigation. His amendment, if adopted, would make such records official. The bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Salary District Magistrate
Makakau, in discussing the appropriations for District Magistrates, said that Judge Andrews of Hilo, who speaks English and Hawaiian fluently, need not have a clerk and interpreter for his court. "During Judge Hapai's term of office as District Magistrate of Hilo," said he, "there was a clerk and interpreter in court. This office was provided for because Hapai did not speak English."

Baker said it was unnecessary to have a clerk and interpreter for the District Court of Hilo. Brown said the Hilo District Court was always busy and the amount of work disposed of stood next to the Honolulu District Court.

The motion to strike out the item for the office of clerk and interpreter for Hilo District Court prevailed, there being seven votes for and six against.

Robinson asked that the salary of the District Magistrate of Lahaina be raised to $100. Fairchild jumped to his feet and stated that the raising of salaries of District Magistrates should be stopped. "This idea of raising salaries of District Magistrates," said he, "is ridiculous. We ought to stop it. We are not financially able to allow these District Magistrates such salaries as are being asked for." He thought the matter could be taken up by the respective Counties. After much wrangling, the salary was left unchanged.

Robinson made another attempt to raise the salary of the District Magistrate of Wailuku from $100 to $125 a month, but failed to convince the Senate.

Third Reading
Senate Bill 139, an act to provide for public improvements in the several Counties by authorizing the assessment and collection of an additional property tax and the expenditure of the proceeds thereof for that purpose, came up for third reading. Knudsen moved the passage of the bill as amended.

Chillingworth regretted that he had signed the committee's report. He stated that the present Legislature had turned over enough new work to the Counties, which he thought was sufficient for the present.

Smith-Kalama Change Seats
Smith, speaking from the floor, stated that he was opposed to the passage of the bill at present. He said that the taxation was high enough at present and that the proper time to pass the bill had not arrived. He advised the members to go slow in following out the American system of government. House Bill 132 came up for second reading. "This is a one-sided bill," said the Speaker. He said the bill was a "pu-pule" (crazy) bill. (Laughter.) "This proposition of improvement in the several Counties is a good one," said Coelho. "The people here, especially the poor, want public improvements in their Counties, while the planters do not favor this." He moved the passage of the bill. Chillingworth once more took the floor and stated that he was opposed to the passage of the bill. The motion to pass the bill as amended by the committee prevailed and on a vote being taken the bill passed third reading.

Gone Forever

Ten years ago an Allen County, Kansas, farmer put his initials on a dollar bill. The next day he went to the nearest town and spent it with a merchant. Before the year was out he got the dollar back. Four times in six years the dollar came back to him for produce, and three times he heard of it in the pockets of his neighbors. The last time he got it back was four years ago. He sent it to a mail order house. He has never seen that dollar since, and never will. That dollar bill will never pay any more school or road tax for him, will never build or brighten any of the homes of the community. He sent it entirely out of the usefulness to himself and his neighbors.

MORAL: Trade at your home hardware store, where your dollar buys most anyway, and where you may get it back again.

Military Ball League Fix Opening

For the first time in the Hawaiian Islands a Military Baseball League has been organized and next Sunday, April 25, there will be a big time at the League grounds, when the grand opening of this unique league is to take place. Lieutenant A. W. Chilton is the sponsor of this league and he is to be congratulated for the efforts he has spent in organizing it.

Following the usual ceremonies as is the custom with other leagues on the day of opening, the Military League will have the Hawaiian band in attendance and it is also expected that the famous band of the 5th Cavalry will participate in the grand affair. The first ball to pass over the home plate is to be pitched by Colonel Schuyler, and President A. K. Vierra will attempt to meet the horsehide sphere with the best bat selected from the A. J. Reach & Co. output. This will start the Military League here, and in the first contest for the day's honors the 5th Cavalry nine and that of the 20th Infantry will cross bats. The second game will be fought out between the National Guard of Hawaii and the United States Marine team. There is lots of good baseball material in these four teams and some real classy ball is expected.

The officials of the League have issued invitations to all the officers and ladies of Uncle Sam's Army and Navy stationed here and, besides these, many of the public men of our Territorial and City governments have been invited. It will be a gala day and those having charge of this grand affair state that there will be more ladies at the league grounds than there ever was before.

The officers of this league are: A. K. Vierra, president; K. L. Andrews, secretary; and A. W. Chilton, treasurer. Edwin Fernandez has been selected umpire and W. Tin Chong, scorer.

Much Talk of a Big Day On Fourth

Jack Scully did not lose money on the Marathon race, but, on the other hand, he did not make much either. Still, he is satisfied with the result, and has now one or two schemes on hand that may turn out well. The Fourth of July has been mentioned as a good date on which to bring off some events, and it is probable that more will be known of the matter before long.

Scully is looking around for attractions, and will spring something good before long. Marathon running is far from dead, as some people seem to imagine, and given sufficient inducement men from the Coast will be wending their way down to these islands before long, and then what sort of a crowd would turn out to see our local champion run against the star men? And Jackson would do well, too; he was not pushed in the latter stages of the Marathon on Sunday, and could have done much better time than 3 hrs. 48 min. Of course, St. Ives & Company are running the full distance in less than three hours, but still plenty of winners in Californian events are doing just about the same time as Negel put up.

Let us hope that Hawaii will be represented in a real big event. What sort of an advertisement would it be for Hawaii if we could turn out a champion?

Carl Oes and Lawrence Cunha will swim 25 yards for the Y. M. C. A. championship next Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Baths. Other races will probably be pulled off and an interesting afternoon's sport should eventuate.

The N. G. H. are hard it work getting their baseball nine into shape for the Military League series and Sergeant Barry is coaching his men in fine style.

Varsity Club To Try Once More

The Varsity Club baseball team will try conclusions once more with the Oahu College boys tomorrow afternoon. The game will be played on the College grounds and will start at 4:30 p. m., after the dedication of the Cooke Library. The veterans feel confident that they can make the youngsters extend themselves this time, and a close game should result.

The University Club will be represented by the following players: Arnold, c; Castle, p; Kilgore, 1b; Lewis, 2b; C. Cooke, 3b; Steere, ss; Williamson, lf; Waterhouse, cf; R. Cooke, rf. The College team will be the same as for the previous game, and notwithstanding the injury to Chi Hai's thumb he probably will play.

Dick Sullivan Is Retired Boxing

Dick Sullivan has quit the boxing game—that is as far as public appearances go—and is to settle down to a business life on Oahu. Dick has been at the fight game for some years now, and is about tired of it. Whilst not regretting his venture into the mitt game, he realizes that a man cannot stick to it all his life, and has consequently decided to make good in another sphere. Sullivan, who now probably will resume his right name—"Dick Sullivan"—is only a stage cognomen—has made good in Hawaii, and has always been a pattern for other athletes to copy. "Sullivan" is a straight-going, clean-living man, and has gathered together a lot of friends who will stick to him in business. Whilst not at liberty to divulge the exact nature of Dick's new position—there are still a few details to be arranged—it may be stated that the billet carries a good salary and will be one for which Sullivan is exactly fitted. He will make a start in the new business about the end of this month and is assured of the good wishes of not only the sports of the city, but also of the business section in his enterprise.

SHORT SPORTS

School baseball will start next Saturday at the Kamehameha diamond. The first game will be between the High School and Oahu College, and should prove a very interesting match. Then the St. Louis boys will try conclusions with the Kamehamehas and another good game should result. All the schools are practicing hard in anticipation of the contests and a good class of ball should be put up.

There will be a game of baseball this afternoon between the Oahu College nine and a team of Marines. The match will be played on the Atkinson Park diamond and starts at 3 o'clock. The Marines, who were beaten by the College boys at their last meeting, are very anxious to avenge their defeat, and as Hynes will pitch for them they appear to have a good chance of turning the tables.

Big Jim To Box Black Jack Soon

And so it came to pass. Jeffries, after all his talk and notwithstanding his vows of never stepping into the ring again, is as good as matched with "Dearie" Johnson. For, if the cabled news is correct, Jeff has stated that if Johnson beats Ketchel, he—good old Jim—will fight the darky. And who can doubt Daddy's ability to knock the "block" off Stanley? Who would have given Ketchel a chance against Tommy Burns, whom Johnson made a chopping-block of? The fact of the matter is that Ketchel is not in Johnson's class, either as to weight, science, or anything else. It is the fault of present-day promoters that such unequal scraps are brought off. In the old days men fought in their own class as regards weight, and it was indeed a phenomenal fighter who took on a man in a class above him.

Years ago a man had to have a substantial backer behind him, who was ready to risk good money on his man's chances of winning. The fighters themselves or their friends put up huge side-wagers and were willing to take a fair percentage of the gate money. Nowadays a man need not have a bean of his own money at stake, and so long as his "manager" can spring the hot air in good style to some fight promoter who thinks the scrap will draw, so long will we be treated to the spectacle of a 150-pound man being matched with a fighting machine that weighs 200—and that is "Mistah" Johnson.

Well, assuming that "Dearie" puts an end to Ketchel's aspirations as regards championship honors—and sure the negro shall, unless interrupted by the act of God, the Queen's enemies, or some other insurance-saving clause—then what about Big Jim and Black Jack?

Jeffries has been out of the ring for over four years now, and by the time he fights Johnson it will be almost five years. As regards age, Jeff will be 35 years of age when the fight takes place, whilst Johnson will be almost four years younger. Big Jim must have satisfied himself that he can get it and well once more, or else he would never take on a tough contract like the negro will surely prove to be, and if Jeff is satisfied that he can get into condition, then most people will certainly look to him to win.

Although the cable announces the fact that the great fight will come off in London, it appears very improbable that that will be the case. The purse that the National Sporting Club could put up could hardly equal the amount that has already been offered by McIntosh of Australia, and several other promoters in the States. The fight in all probability will take place on the mainland, and will surely draw the largest "gate" ever heard of, and that will be going some, for the Sydney record will have to be beaten.

Dance, Tennis Ball Game By Ewa

Next Saturday night a dance will be given in the Ewa social hall by the April committee. It appears that various committees are appointed for each month in the year, and upon different dates dances, tennis-parties, and other social events are managed by these committees. The April committee consists of Mrs. Robert Laing, Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Kiesel, Miss Kopke, and Messrs. Guild, Henderson, Jenkins, Robt. and Jas. Laing, Larsen, Kiesel, and Dr. McLean.

Great preparations are being made for the dance, and the decorations promise to be unique. Ernest Kani's band of musicians will be in attendance, and the lively two-step and dreamy waltz will lure even the mormona brigade onto the dancing floor. These Ewa dances are always a great success and quite a number of Honolulu folk are going out for the April one.

On Sunday tennis will be indulged in, and some interesting matches are in prospect. The baseball nine will be away from home on Sunday, as they journey to Aiea to try conclusions with the other sugar-growers. Ewa certainly shows the way for most plantation men to travel in the sporting and social line.

QUEENS DIFFER ABOUT CORSETS

"Carmen Sylva," Alexandra, and Helena Denounce Them But the Kaiserin Demands Stays. Sartorial

BERLIN, Germany, March 10.—Germany has entered upon an active crusade against the corset. It is not a mere temporary explosion of hostility; it is an organized campaign with all sorts and conditions of scientific men and women engaged in the onslaught. The leaders have been gathering the opinions of queens and princesses, and some of these opinions are being made known.

At the head of the list is Carmen Sylva, the gifted Romanian queen. She says: "The woman who wears corsets makes a martyr of herself and does everything to hinder her natural development. All that is unnatural offends my sense of beauty and is hateful. A tight waist I resent as unesthetic."

So Carmen Sylva has printed a pamphlet on the enormity of wearing stays and has had it distributed in all the girls' schools throughout her dominions. She has also had the teachers informed that at stated times they are to instruct their girl pupils in physiology, pointing out how wearing a corset spoils certain organs and deforms others.

The queen has also had written an open letter to the parents of Romanian girls in which the same reasons are set forth and other reasons as well which cannot well be set before young girls.

The Queen of Italy is also a strong antagonist of corset-wearing. Queen Helena says that only foolish women and women who are silly imitators of others wear stays. She never will wear a garment which is ugly, deforming and painful. Queen Alexandra, it is asserted, never wore a corset. She is reported to have said that a corset should only be worn by fat men.

On the other hand, the pro-corset people have the German Empress on their side. She not only wears a very stiff corset herself but more than once has let her maids of honor understand that they must not appear in her presence without this garment. But her daughter-in-law, the Crown Princess, objects to corsets and save on the rarest occasions never wears one.

Neither does the Grand Duchess of Hesse-Darmstadt nor the Grand Duchess of Baden. The World correspondent hears from a feminine friend that Berlin women are rapidly leaving the corset and taking to wearing a firm band around their waists instead, a band which does not press unduly and leaves to the body its full freedom and sinuosity. At all big social gatherings in aristocratic Berlin circles the majority of the women present are innocent of corsets.

"POLLARDS TONIGHT"

Alfred Goulding will be the genial, irrepressible young American sport again tonight at the Opera House. In other words, he will again play the part of the intangible "Checkers," in which he made such a great hit last week. This play, full of humor and clever situations, has pleased Honolulu theatergoers very much and its reproduction is to be done by request. There will be the usual specialties in the way of clever songs and dances by the members of the company and something new in this line has been arranged for tonight. Tomorrow night there will be more vaudeville and so much of a success was the show last Monday night that the management has decided to keep it on the boards for Saturday matinee and evening performance. There will be changes in the program every performance and one could see each of the Pollard vaudeville performance and believe that he was seeing a different company each time.

(Synopsis of Previous Chapters.)

CHAPTER I—John Gale is a trader at Flambeau, a rough outpost of civilization in Alaska. His daughter, Neela, is a beautiful young girl, generally believed to be a half breed, daughter of Gale and the Indian squaw Alluna, with whom he lives. Some hidden burden weighs continually on the trader's mind, and he views with apprehension the arrival of a squad of soldiers at Flambeau. "That means the law," he says unasily to Nevia, who has become acquainted with and admired by Lieutenant Burrell, commander of the soldiers. It becomes known that Napoleon Doret, an honest, faithful French Canadian employed by Gale, is deeply in love with Neela. One Runnion, a dissolute gambler and "bad man," arrives at Flambeau with steamer and in a fight with Burrell is wounded, and forced to leave the town. On the departing steamer's deck he menacingly says, "I will return to take a hand in the game." III—Doret gives Neela a handsome silk gown brought by him from Dawson City for her. Arrayed in this, she meets Lieutenant Burrell, who falls madly in love with her, and he wonders if her blood is really tainted. Gale reassures that she is the illegitimate daughter of himself and the squaw. IV—Runnion returns with Ben Stark, a professional gambler and man-killer with plenty of money. Stark builds a saloon and dance hall at Flambeau. "No Creek" Lee discovers gold in a valley some miles distant, and Neela persuades Burrell to take her there and locate a claim for her, their trip requiring a day and a night in the forest.

Stark exclaimed angrily, but the other gave him no time to break in. "Now, don't get rough, because that is my game, and I'd be pleased enough to take you back a prisoner." Then, turning to Lee, he said: "Don't make me force you to record my locations. I staked those claims for Miss Gale, and I'll deed them to her when she turns eighteen."

Poleon Doret called to Runnion: "M'sieu, you 'member w'at I tol' you yesterday? I'm begin for 'tink it's goin' to be you."

Seeing that the game had gone against him, Stark got his feelings under control quickly and shrugged his shoulders as he turned away. "You're in the wrong, lieutenant," he remarked, "but I don't want any trouble. You've got the law with you." Then to Runnion and the others he said, "Well, I'm ready to hit the trail."

When they had shouldered their packs and disappeared down the valley Gale held out his hand to the soldier. "Young man, I reckon you and I will be friends."

"Thank you," said Burrell, taking the offer of friendship, which he knew was genuine at last.

"I'm in on that," said "No Creek" Lee. "You're all right."

Poleon had been watching Stark's party disappear, but now he turned and addressed the young soldier. "You mak' some enemies today, m'sieu."

"That's right," agreed Lee. "Ben Stark will never let up on you now." "Very well. That is his privilege." "You don't savvy what it means to get him down on you," insisted Lee. "He'll frame things up to suit himself, then pick a row with you. He's the quickest man on a trigger in the west, but he won't never make no open play, only just devil the life out of you with little things till you flare up; then he'll down you. That's how he killed the gold commissioner back in British Columbia."

Neela had said little so far, but the look in her eyes repaid the soldier for his undertaking in her behalf and for any mischief that might come from it. She came forward and laid her hands upon his.

"Don't worry, daughter," reassured Gale. "There's nothing Stark can do, and whatever happens we're with the lieutenant. He's our kind of people."

Gale slid the case from the long blade.

Burrell lifted this grizzled old fellow with the watchful eyes and was glad now that he could grip his hand and face him squarely with no guilt upon his conscience. "By this time Doret had finished with their blankets, and the four set out for town, but instead of following the others they accepted Neela as guide and chose the trail to Black Bear creek."

The party reached Flambeau on the following day, sufficiently ahead of Stark and his men for Lee to make known his find to his friends, and by sunset the place was depopulated, while a line of men could be seen creeping slowly up the valley. Gale found Alluna in charge of the store, but no opportunity of talking alone with her occurred until late in the evening, after Neela had put the two little ones to bed and had followed them wearily. Then he told his squaw. She took the news better than he expected and showed no emotion such as other women would have displayed, even when he told her of the gunshot. Instead she inquired:

"Why did you try it there before all those others?"

"Well, when I heard him talking the wish to kill him was more than I could stand, and it came on me all at once, so that I was mad, I suppose."

"Does this man suspect?"

"No."

"Then it is child's play. We will lay a trap."

him staring into the flames, to return a moment later bearing something in her hands, which she placed in his. It was a knife in a scabbard old and worn.

"There is no magic that can turn bright steel," she said, then squatted again in the dimness outside of the freight. Gale slid the case from the long blade and held it in his palm, letting the firelight flicker on it. He balanced it and tested the feel of its handle against his palm, then tried the edge of it with his thumb nail and found it honed like a razor.

The glancing, glittering light flashing from the deadly thing seemed to fascinate the man, for he held it a long while silently. The he spoke:

"For fifteen years I've been a haunted man, with a soul like a dark and dismal garret peopled with bats and vermin that flap and flutter all the time. I used to figure that if I killed this man I'd kill that memory, too, and those fitting, noiseless things would leave me, but the thought of doing it made me afraid every time, so I ran away, which never did no good—you can't outfoot a memory—and I knew not all the while that we'd meet sooner or later. Now that the day is here at last I'm not ready for it. I'd like to run away again if there was any place to run to, but I've followed frontiers till I've seen them disappear one by one. I've retreated till my back is against the circle, and there isn't any further land to go to. All the time I've prayed and planned for this meeting, and yet—I'm undecided."

"Kill him!" said Alluna.

"No! I don't think I can do it—not in cold blood, anyhow. Good night! I'm going to sleep on it." He crossed to the door of his room, but as he went she noted that he slipped the knife and scabbard inside the bosom of his shirt.

CHAPTER IX.

THE AWAKENING.

EARLY the next morning Corporal Thomas came into the store and found Neela tending it while Gale was out. Ever since the day she had questioned him about Burrell this old man had taken every occasion to talk with the girl, and when he asked her this morning about the reports concerning Lee's strike she told him of her trip and all that had occurred.

"You see, I'm a mine owner now," she concluded. "If it hadn't been a secret I would have told you before I went, so you could have been one of the first."

"I'm gold's anyhow," he said, "if the lieutenant will let me and if it's not too late."

Then she told him of the trail by Black Bear creek which would save him several hours.

"So that's how you and he made it?" he observed, gazing at her shrewdly. "I supposed you went with your father?"

"Oh, no! We beat him in," she said and fell to musing at the memory of those hours passed alone with Meade, while her eyes alone and her cheeks glowed. The corporal saw the look, and it bore out a theory he had formed during the past month, so he lingered he set about a task that had lain in his mind for some time. As a rule, he was not a careful man in his speech, and the delicacy of this maneuver taxed his ingenuity to the utmost, for he loved the girl and feared to say too much.

"The lieutenant is a smart young fellow," he began, "and it was sick work jumpin' all those claims. It's just like him to befriend a girl like you. I've seen him do it before—"

"What?" exclaimed Neela. "Befriend other girls?"

"Or things just like it. He's always doin' favors that get him into trouble."

"This couldn't cause him trouble, could it, outside of Stark's and Runnion's grudge?"

"No, I reckon not," assented the corporal, prying blindly for some way of expressing what he wished to say. "Except, of course, it might cause a lot of talk at headquarters when it's known what he's done for you and how he done it. I heard something about it down the street this morning, so I'm afraid it will get to St. Michael's and then to his folks."

"I don't understand," said Neela. "He hasn't done anything that any man wouldn't do under the same circumstances."

"No man's got a right to make folks talk about a nice girl," said the corporal, "and the feller that told me about it said he reckoned you two was in love." He hurried along now without offering her a chance to speak. "Of course that had to be caught up quick; you're too fine a girl for that."

"Too fine?" laughed Neela.

"I mean you're too fine and good to let him put you in wrong, just as he's too fine a fellow and got too much ahead of him to make what his people would call a messy alliance."

"Would his people object to—such a thing?" questioned the girl. They were alone in the store, and so they could talk freely. "I'm just supposing, you know."

"O Lord! Would they object?" Corporal Thomas laughed in a highly artificial manner that made Neela bridle and draw herself up indignantly.

"Go ahead and tell me; I won't be offended," insisted the girl. "You must. I don't know much about such things, for I've lived all my life with men like father and Poleon and the priests at the mission, who treat me just like one of themselves. But somebody will want to marry me some day, I suppose, so I ought to know what is wrong with me." She flushed up, darkly under her brown cheeks.

It is a beer that very seldom disagrees with one, and those who "can't drink beer at all" find that they can drink and enjoy PRIMO.

A glass with meals is the best tonic for the sick and well. Try it.

The Story of An Ad.

MANY interesting stories are told of the early days of advertising, when its possibilities were little understood. When Robert Bonnor was struggling to build up his "New York Ledger," he decided to try a little advertising. He wrote a seven-word announcement, "Read Mrs. Southworth's story in the Ledger," and marked it for "one line."

His handwriting, however, was so bad that it was read in the "Herald" office as "one page," and the line was set up and repeated so as to occupy an entire page. Bonnor was thunderstruck next morning. He had not enough money to pay for such an ad, and frantically ordered it out.

Soon the results of the ad began to be felt. Orders for the "Ledger" poured in so fast that another edition had to be printed in a few days. After that Mr. Bonnor contracted for many a page ad, and his "Ledger" was a great success.

RIGHT Advertising will help your business, too.

John And Jake Team Tourney After Many Years Plans Nearly Completed

It will be twenty years, come July, since John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain battled in the broiling sun at Richburg, Miss., for the heavyweight pugilistic championship of the world. Seventy-five rounds with bare knuckles these powerful young men fought, and when the fray was over John L. was declared the winner, but none who saw the fight could doubt that in Kilrain the popular Bostonian had met a foeman worthy of his steel.

Recently these two stepped upon the stage of the Empire Theater on Sutter street, San Francisco and sparred three short rounds for the amusement of a crowd which packed the auditorium to the doors. There is still the jaunty air to the once mighty John L., whose hair and mustache are pure white. Kilrain bears himself like an athlete, albeit his hair is streaked with gray, and the reception which was accorded the twain showed the warm spot which the public still holds in its heart for the men who used to rule the roost.

Previous to boxing with Kilrain, Sullivan came on the stage and told a few stories. John is rotund and confesses that his weight is now 275 pounds, but his heart is still light and his repertoire of stories reels from his tongue with all the vim of a youngster. Most of the yarns are about people "who lived where I come from," and every character whose quaint sayings or bright repartee form the basis of the anecdotes has a name as Irish as the big green harp flag which drapes the back of the stage. The former champion made a hit with his stories. Although it is more than likely that half the audience had not seen the fight of day when John L. was in his prime, the glamor which hangs around a conqueror made him to them as much of an idol as it did to those who could look back to the times when every movement and every battle of the Boston fighter was carefully noted and exhaustively discussed.

The sparring bout was short, but it roused the audience to some degree of excitement and fitful bursts of laughter. Sullivan was faster with his hands than would be expected from a man carrying such an excess of weight. Kilrain, whose figure is still shapely, pranced around with an amount of energy which astonished the onlookers, but there was no need for the announcement which the manager made that there would be no hard hitting. Maybe these old boys could hurt each other if they wanted to, but after that seventy-five rounds in Richburg, what's the use?

MOTOR CAR CLIPPINGS FROM COAST FILES.

A great many drivers who have not gone into the subject carefully think that the changing from smooth tread to non-skid tires makes considerable difference in the distance registered by the odometers attached to speedometers, as well as affecting the reading of the speedometer. It has been found, however, that such changes make very little difference, especially when comparatively short distances are traveled. In order to ascertain just how much difference such changes make in the reading of the odometer, some experiments were made recently by a manufacturer of these instruments, which showed the difference to be less than one hundred feet in a mile. Figures show that a difference in the diameter of half an inch in the case of a 34-inch tire should not amount to more than eighty feet for a mile.

It is a mistake for a driver ever to try to correct an apparent fault in a coil. There are no reasons for a coil to refuse to work than can be remedied by an ordinary mechanic, except it be some outside connection. If the coil is so that a current will not pass through it, either the primary or secondary part, it is always due to burning out, and calls for a new coil at once.

A Chicago motorist finds that there is a very marked tendency on the part of village blacksmiths to take up the business of making repairs to automobiles. "Garage and horse-shoeing" is a sign he encountered.

A SUSPICION

"How many servants do you keep?" "Only one servant, but she has about a dozen relatives, and I suspect that we are keeping them."—Fort Worth Record.

At a meeting of the tournament committee of the Country Club, the following arrangement was made for conducting the team tournament which is on the golf schedule for Sunday morning.

Individual entries will be received at the clubhouse up to 10 a. m. as usual. At that time the committee will divide the entrants into teams. For instance, in the event of 30 entries it would make six teams of five men each. The six men with lowest handicaps will be chosen first, each to captain a team. The balance to be assigned to teams according to handicaps. As each team will be theoretically evenly matched, play will be without handicap.

Each team will play one round with each other, match (hole) play, with captain versus captain, etc. Each individual win will count one point for the team; if each member wins the team would get five points. In this instance, there would be five matches of nine holes each, so that a team could make a possible twenty-five points.

To the team with the largest total of points at the finish will go the trophies, one for each member.

Team-play is a very popular form of tournament at the Eastern golf clubs, as it is productive of much good-natured rivalry, and everyone has an equal chance at the prizes.

McLauren has the links in good shape now, and if Sunday is fine, a record crowd is expected.

The busses will start at 8:30, and the table d'hote lunch at noon will be for all members, as well as golfers. This is a feature that other members are only beginning to appreciate—a fine place for Sunday lunch.

John L. Says McKinnon Is Coming Man

John L. Sullivan has the following to say about a new fighter named McKinnon, who appears to be a good man:

"That boy McKinnon, who is licking them all in my old town, looks pretty good to me. I am going to keep my eye on him. Any boy who gives promise coming from my birthplace will get all the encouragement I can hand him.

"I have a good chance to size up the young heavyweights in my journeys around the country, but haven't come across anything that looks to be the goods, and I guess it's up to the grand old Hub, after all, to turn out a candidate for the honors.

"McKinnon has come along by taking on all the tough game that they have sent against him and shown that he has the right stuff in him to make a champion. He cleaned up all the best ones in his class in the East and he will now begin to broaden his field, and then his real mettle will come out.

"As he is a good-living youngster and seems to have a level head on his big shoulders, I predict a bright future for him.

"Nothing would suit me better than to see the lad fighting for the big championship and coming from my old hamlet, Roxbury, too, I would derive the greatest pleasure."

And still the price for the services of James J. Jeffries goes up. If the retired champion could hold off a bit longer from announcing his return to the ring even John D. might be tempted to offer half of his fortune to see Jim don the gloves. The latest that is added to what now appears to be a huge joke is that a Seattle business man has wired the retired fighter offering him $125,000 if he will come back to the ring.

The story was sent out of Los Angeles and all the information is contained in the few words of the offer. The name of the kind-hearted person is not given and the spot where the bout is to be held seems to have slipped the mind of the one who started the story on its round. The inventor of the story—for that's about all there is to it—however, is kind enough to say that the offer is for twenty rounds.

Threats By Blackmailers.—Flint, Mich., April 7.—Anonymous blackmailers, who have written from Delavan, Wis., have threatened the lives of the mother and sister of 10-year-old Harold Moon, whose body was found last Saturday in Thread pond, unless L. N. Moon, the boy's father, turns over $3,000 to them.
