Maui Work Must Wait Bond Sale

Harbor Board Hogs All Money In Sight—Governor Says Maui Must Go Slow—War Scare Makes Bond Sale Uncertain.

The Maui Loan Fund Commission, under the direction of which some quarter of a million dollars of territorial loan money is to be spent, has called a meeting of the Haiku Farmers' Association and others interested for 2 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon, at the Kula school house. The commissioners will get the ideas of the people of the district as to the spending of the $35,000 appropriated for road improvements in that section, but as to when they can set down to actual work on this or any other of the number of Maui projects, the Commissioners have no idea.

What they do know is that there is not one cent at present available. Also that there will be none available until the Territory can dispose of another batch of bonds.

This knowledge came to the members of the board as a big surprise, as they had been given to understand that at least a respectable portion of the money was waiting in the treasury vaults for them to spend. Also they have just been told by Treasurer McCarthy that the sinking of the Lusitania has so upset the financial world, that it is not at all certain when the half million dollars of unsold bonds can be marketed.

Governor Says "Go Slow."

In reply to a letter of the board, Treasurer McCarthy says in part: "In the first place, the Governor wishes me to ask you to go a little slow for a while."

"We have in the treasury at the present time round figures nine hundred twenty thousand dollars ($920,000) loan funds. We have five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) of bonds unsold."

Of the money now on hand the plans and specifications are almost ready and the Board of Harbor Commissioners expect to call for tenders on propositions calling for six hundred thirty thousand dollars ($630,000). They have given out contracts amounting to one hundred sixty-five thousand dollars ($165,000) in addition to above, making a total of seven hundred ninety-five thousand dollars ($795,000). There has been allotted for territorial prison one hundred fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) making a grand total of nine hundred forty-five thousand dollars ($945,000), or twenty-five thousand ($25,000) above the amount on hand.

"Up to the time of the sinking of the Lusitania, the money market was easy, the banks all over the country having large amounts of money on hand, and interest rates were low, so we felt that it was advisable to hold the balance of our bonds a little longer, with the idea of realizing a larger premium from them. The Lusitania affair has somewhat upset our calculations, however; the banks still have an abundance of money, but very body wishes to hold on to what they have until the situation clears up somewhat."

"The Governor, before his departure for the mainland on June 2nd, will authorize me to dispose of the balance of the bonds, if I can do so, in the best interests of the Territory."

"Until these bonds are sold you will have to pursue the Governor's advice given at the commencement of this letter, i. e., "go slow."

"I am in hopes that we will be able to dispose of the bonds satisfactorily at an early date, in which event your projects can be taken up."

In case buyers can be found for the bonds at the rate of the last sale, or better (19 cents premium per $1000), the last $500,000 may be disposed of without advertising; otherwise tenders will have to be called for, with considerable delay inevitable.

ACCIDENT THEORY ACCEPTED.

The police department has practically come to the conclusion that the mysterious death of Mrs. Charles Aho, of Kula, three weeks ago, was due to accident. Lee Tuck, the old Chonaman, who has been held on suspicion, will probably be released. The theory now is that the unfortunate woman was kicked by her horse.

REHEARSING FOR OPERA.

The caste which will produce the ambitious amateur comic opera "The Mikado", at the Community House, Pala, next Saturday evening, is rehearsing diligently under the direction of Harry Washburn Baldwin, and is making great progress. The opera will be one of the features of the season.

Polo Game With Oahu Next Week

Strong Team Coming to Do Battle With Maui Four. Players To Make Ditch Trail Trip.

The first polo game of the season on Maui will be played next Thursday between the Oahu and Maui teams. The game is to be played on the Sunnyside grounds, and will begin at 4 o'clock.

Frank Baldwin and other Maui enthusiasts who have been working for some time to get a visit from the Oahu players, finally succeeded last week. The game promises to be of more than ordinary interest, moreover, for the reason that the Oahu team is stronger than it was last season by the addition of Walter Dillingham. Also the Oahu team has been having a large amount of practise this year, and their mounts are said to be in excellent condition. The team which will be made up of Walter Dillingham, Harold Castle, Sam Baldwin and Arthur Rice, will arrive by next Wednesday's Mauna Kea. Bob Shingle will also come, and may also play.

Nine Oahu ponies will be shipped up by next Tuesday's Claudine. Sam Baldwin, who is now on Maui, has his ponies here already.

On next Friday morning, the day after the game, the visiting players, accompanied by their Maui hosts, will form a "round-the-island party, going through the Crater, and returning by way of the ditch trail. Several days will be spent on this ride.

Auditor Wilcox Guilty of Contempt

Technical Violation of Court Order In Connection with Celebrated Patterson Case.

Because he had not complied with a mandamus order of Judge Edings requiring that he draw a warrant in favor of the Maui Agricultural Company's Hamakua store for $500, County Auditor Chas. Wilcox was haled before the court on Thursday morning on a citation for contempt. After a hearing he was adjudged guilty of contempt, but sentence was suspended until Friday morning to give him opportunity to purge himself of the court's displeasure by paying over the money in question. This the Auditor has done.

The matter is another phase of the much claimed account of W. R. Patterson. The County owed Patterson some $600 on a road contract. The Maui Agricultural Company hold an order on the County for $500 of this amount. The Iao Stables, First National Bank of Wailuku, and a number of other creditors also sought to get a share of the money. Following Judge Edings' mandamus order, the Auditor was restrained at first from carrying it out by an injunction issued by Judge Stuart of the Honolulu circuit court.

Eugene Murphy, who represents the Iao Stables was on Thursday denied a motion to intervene, and announced he will take the matter to the Supreme Court. E. R. Bevins represented the M. A. Co. in the matter, and D. H. Case, the county.

Management Of Iao Stables Changes Hands

Through a reorganization which took effect on the first of this month, the management of the Iao Stables Company, Limited, of Wailuku, changed hands; A. Garcia being succeeded by his brother John E. Garcia, as manager. A. Garcia, however, retains an interest in the concern, and is on the board of directors.

The new officers of the company are: J. Garcia, president; W. T. Robinson, vice-president; John E. Garcia, secretary-treasurer; A. Garcia and M. J. Moura, directors.

Changes At Police Station

Through the resignation of John Garcia on the first of the month as secretary to Sheriff Crowell, a number of changes are expected to take place shortly in the police department. Garcia's place has already been filled by the promotion of Frank Sylva, station clerk, who, however, is still filling his old job. Just who will be receiving clerk is not definitely known, though it is expected that a number of promotions will occur from the force.

Haleakala Rest House Is Finished

Splendid Structure Which Will Afford Much Comfort to Visitors—Not Yet Furnished—Transportation Made Cost High.

The new Haleakala rest house has been completed. Contractor Foss formally turned the job over to Hugh Howell, representing the rest house committee, on last Monday. As yet the house has no furnishings whatever, but the committee is planning to supply what is needed in this line, after it has cast up and finds just where it stands financially. It is stated that the work cost a good deal more than was anticipated owing chiefly to cost of getting materials to the top of the mountain.

But the rest house itself is declared to be all and more than was expected. It is a solid masonry building from floor to roof, with steel doors and window casings, and heavy observation windows protected by steel shutters. Another feature of note is a 3000-gallon concrete tank, completely covered, receiving water from the roof and carried into the house by piping. The tank is of the hy-rib base construction, of like character to the building. The actual construction was in charge of J. C. Correa, of Honolulu, an expert mason and concrete man, sent over by the Honolulu Iron Works, which is agent for the system of building. Mr. Correa returned to Honolulu this week.

The total cost of the building will probably be near $3000.

Makawao Homesteads To Be Surveyed Soon

Land Commissioner Tucker Visiting Maui This Week—Wind-Breaks and Roads Planned.

Joshua D. Tucker, Commissioner of Public Lands, arrived last Wednesday evening and has been busy ever since in looking into land matters. One of the districts of particular interest to him is the Piholo tract above Makawao, which is soon to be opened. Mr. Tucker stated that this tract will be subdivided into lots as soon as it is possible to get the public works department to put men on the job. The roads in the tract were surveyed some months ago, and the blue prints have just been completed.

Mr. Tucker visited the new tract yesterday in company with Prof. F. G. Krauss. It is proposed not only to construct the road necessary before the tract is opened, but to reserve strips along the roadways to be planted by the territory with wind-breaks, which will be almost necessary in the wind-swept region.

Mr. Tucker also visited the Kula district, the Kihel homesteads, and other parts of the island during his trip.

Board Holds Last Meeting Next Week

The old board of supervisors will hold its last meeting beginning next Wednesday. Most of the work will be of routine character, except the closing up of the affairs of the board preparatory to having the new board take hold on July 1. After that date, D. T. Fleming, Philip Pall, and J. N. Uahinu will replace Dr. J. H. Raymond, Charles Lake, and Theo. Meyer on the body.

Wailuku Bowlers Lose Another Match

Wailuku again lost in bowling, on Monday night to the Puuene twirlers—two games out of three. This is the third match that the locals have lost to one won. McLaren was high scorer in the last match with 214; while the highest average was made by Paschoal. The match next Monday night will be at the Wailuku Gym.

The score:

Handicap Bogy was False Alarm

No Discrimination Against Honolulu Horse Ever Thought of Declares Racing Committee—Outlook for Meet Good.

The Fourth of July falling on Sunday this year, Maui's big race meet and other celebrations will be held on Saturday, July 3.

Everything looks bright for the most successful day of sport that Maui has ever had, and that is saying a great deal. The executive committee reports that there are entries enough in sight to insure this right now, and a number more are expected. Unwarranted Criticism.

Although the executive committee has had no complaints from Honolulu or other parts of the Territory, except a report in a Honolulu paper to the effect that Honolulu horsemen do not understand the handicap announced in the free-for-all trotting and pacing event, it has taken the matter up with Tom Hollinger, owner of Welcome Boy, the star pacer, and believe they have cleared the misunderstanding, if such ever existed.

The Honolulu writer assumed to believe that Welcome Boy was to be asked to give a handicap of Denvero, and also that but one heat was to be raced. Both assumptions are wrong.

As explained by the committee, the idea of a handicap was to enable El Oro, the Hilo horse, Maui, and possibly A. L. Case's roadster, all of the 2:15 class to enter in this event, inasmuch as the 2:15 race had to be abandoned this year. There never was any idea of handicapping either Denvero or Welcome Boy against the other. Both are scratch horses in any event, and the real race is expected to be between these two.

In the second place, no one ever suggested that the free-for-all was to be a one heat race. It is in fact best 3 out of 5 heats. The purse is $500.

"I do not believe that Hollinger believed any of the stuff published about this race," declared Louis von Tempisky, chairman of the executive committee. "We have written him, however, and also have written the Advertiser for the sake of putting it straight. The record of the Maui Racing Association is the best assurance for horsemen in a thing like this."

Ambiguous Law Bothers Wine Makers

Supreme Court May Have to Decide—In Any Event License will Cost High—New Federal Tax Will Also Hurt Business.

Whether or not the Kaupakalua Wine & Liquor Company can be granted a license by which it can continue to manufacture wine, is a matter that is causing considerable concern to those interested, including the members of the Board of License Commissioners. As previously reported in the Maui News, the last legislature amended the law relating to the manufacture of wine, but adding a clause that not more than 500 gallons may be sold in any one year, under the license fee of $5 per year. However, the act has been rendered ambiguous, as some persons are inclined to believe that it will prevent manufacturers of over this amount from disposing of their product at all in excess of this amount. For this reason, it is entirely probable that the matter will be submitted to the Supreme Court for decision on an agreed statement of facts.

It is believed by some of the members of the license board, however, that the Kaupakalua wine company will be able to continue doing business upon taking out a regular wholesalers license, costing $1000 per year. This company makes between 60,000 and 80,000 gallons of wine per year.

Another cloud on the future of the wine business is found in an added federal tax on brandy used in making wine, of $1.10 a gallon, which goes into effect after this calendar year. It is claimed by some that this burden will practically put the wine business of the United States out of business.

Passenger Rates Boosted

Beginning June 1, all the passenger lines between the Islands and the mainland, have abolished the reduced round trip rate. The full one way rate now applies under all circumstances, and means that teachers and others spending their vacations on the mainland will have to pay from $15 to $30 more than heretofore for their transportation. Poor business is given as the reason for the increase in rates.

GERMANY'S ANSWER STARTS WAR TALK

Administration Will Stand Firm for American Rights—Situation Strained—Wilson is Pau Watchful Waiting in Mexico—Will Now Act.

HONOLULU, June 4.—Sugar, $99.20.

HONOLULU, June 4.—Scully jury disagreed. New trial today. Japanese bank has gone into hands of receiver. Korean wife murderer found guilty in first degree. City Engineer Whitehouse and Mayor Lane are charged with using road department for political purposes. Supervisors began war on the engineer last night.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—In order to acquaint Emperor William with the true state of American public opinion towards Germany, the German Ambassador will send an emissary to Berlin. President Wilson has arranged a safe conduct for him. Wireless communication with Berlin has been almost at a stand still for three days owing to the disturbing static conditions on Atlantic. No code messages may be sent by cable and a message could not be sent in plain language. Such news as is allowed to filter through London is censored almost beyond recognition and is not believed when received.

The publication of the President's note to Mexico, has been received with indifference in Mexico.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—Former Purser Baker of the Ventura has been convicted of smuggling precious gems into United States. BERLIN, June 4.—The Wolff news service reports a Zeppelin raid over London, as far as Finchley, a suburb at the northern edge of city. The British report of the raid is that 19 bombs were dropped, and that 4 persons were killed.

LONDON, June 4.—Germans at Arras are being slowly driven back from a number of strongly fortified positions. The French operations are continuing and advantages gained are being pressed. British are active along front from the Ypres to La Basse. Twenty-one French aviators dropped bombs in vicinity of the headquarters of the Crown Prince at the Vosges. Many found their mark but extent of damage is unknown.

BERLIN, June 4.—The quick fall of Przemysl, admitted in official dispatches sent from Petrograd, comes as no surprise to those here who had foreknowledge of preparations that had been made. The great guns of the Germans did the work. The San river line is believed to be no longer tenable to the Russians.

TOKIO, June 3.—Growing opposition to cabinet is developing from unsatisfactory settlement of Japan's demands on China. Baron Kato is under criticism.

BERKELEY, June 3.—Charles R. Bishop is seriously ill here. WASHINGTON, June 3.—Consul Carathers, at Torreon, Mexico, reports significant victory by Villa forces. His army captured Silao and routed Carranza's cavalry. Obregon is surrounded at Trinidad.

President Wilson spent most of day at work in study drafting a new note to Germany. No details have been given out regarding text of missive. It is known that government is unmoved in its intentions to determine promptly and definitely whether German submarines will hieafter respect international laws.

VIENNA, June 3.—Official—Przemysl, the stronghold taken by Russians from Austrians several months ago, has been recaptured. Austrians entered at 3 o'clock this morning.

LONDON, May 3.—British submarine torpedoed a large German transport in the sea of Marmora, according to official statements here.

GENEVA, June 3.—Two Italian torpedo boats entered Gulf of Trieste and sunk two merchant vessels, and also damaged an auxiliary cruiser.

AMSTERDAM, June 3.—Republic of San Marino, on the Adriatic, has officially approved the Italian attitude towards Austria, and declares herself in state of war. The entry of this little republic into the war, as belligerents, deprives Austria of a landing for aeroplanes in their flight to attack Italian coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—Double citizenship of Japanese born in Hawaii or America, who are American citizens by birth, but who under laws of Japan are subjects of emperor of Nippon, will be dealt with in a special bill of congress at the next session, according to Inspector General of Immigration Caminetti.

HONOLULU, June 2.—Attorney Hemenway will join A. & B. staff on retirement from his legal firm.

Ground swells prevent work on submarine. TOKIO, June 2.—Opposition today introduced want-of-confidence resolution regarding the ministry.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Cablegram from German official sources indicates Germany's confidence in outcome of war.

President Wilson and national administration has abandoned watchful waiting policy in regard to Mexico, and will take steps to enforce order. An American statement today was telegraphed to all factions and given out to press.

America's intention to insist on terms of note of protest to Germany was reiterated to the German Ambassador today when he was received in the Blue Room, at the White House. It is understood that the Ambassador's object in seeking a conference with the President, was to get idea of points of American note, which United States will insist upon, and also to give German viewpoint. The President gave views, expecting the Ambassador to enlighten Berlin through the German foreign office, as to the earnest intention of United States to obtain strict accountability for loss of Americans on Lusitania.

LONDON, June 2.—British steamer Saideh, on way from Egypt, was torpedoed without warning, by a German submarine in the North Sea. Seven drowned. Forty-one survivors have landed at Chatham.

BERLIN, June 2.—Austro-German forces have won further victories at the battle of the San, near Przemysl. Captured more Russian entrenchments. Prisoners captured in May, 300,000.

YOKOHAMA, June 2.—Former stevedore of Pacific Mail Steamship Company, ordered deported from Japan, on account of alleged pernicious activity against the welfare of Japan.

WARSAW, June 2.—German aeroplane dropped bomb on moving picture show killing six and wounding 25. Most of these were women and children.

HONOLULU, June 3.—Work indefinitely suspended on submarine salvage.

Harbor board and Inter-Island are at outs over McGregor's Landing abandonment. McLean and Church clash. Jack London favors Molokai as a national leprosarium.

Telegraph News of the Week.

BERLIN, June 3.—Officials and people are waiting expectantly for news of developments in German-American situation, which have arisen out of Germany's reply to American note, repudiating any responsibility for American losses in the sinking of the Lusitania. No trustworthy news yet received from the United States as to reception of news by United States. Censored news via British offices is not believed, and for three days foreign office has been unable to communicate with the Ambassador at Washington.

LONDON, June 3.—Greatest pitched battle in all history is taking place in a great semi-circle with Przemysl as its center. Each side is rushing great reinforcements to the conflict, with attacks and counter-attacks adding to losses of men and materials on both sides. The battlefront is swaying over a large section of country. The dead and wounded in this titanic struggle number hundreds of thousands. Reports differ as the originate in Berlin or Petrograd. It is certain neither side has yet won any distinct advantage. Russian office makes no mention of the reported capture of Stry by Austrians.

In Gallipoli peninsula yesterday, Turks rushed Allies but were repulsed by fire of machine guns. Loss of attackers heavy. Heavy fighting north of Arras, center of battle being around sugar factory at Souchez.

TOKIO, June 3.—An adjutant, commanding fortifications at Maidzuro, has been arrested as spy, charged with selling plans to Yuan Shih Kai last year. Other officers are involved with him.

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Sebastian won mayoralty race by 4000 votes.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Great Britain has announced her willingness to allow Germany to export sugar beet seed to United States through Rotterdam.

MILAN, June 3.—Isadore Wade, a Chicago singer, is held here as an accomplice of a Bavarian army officer, on charge of espionage.

HONOLULU, June 2.—The Governor made several appointments to minor commissions yesterday, mainly upon workmen's compensation board. The new license commission for Hawaii includes Easton, Sam Wood, and Moir.

LONDON, June 2.—Reports from Petrograd telling of Russian victories are discounted by those from Berlin and Vienna. Berlin claims victories from Mackensen's men north and south-east. Russian offensive east of San river repulsed on Monday. Reports from Berlin are flatly contradicted by those from Petrograd.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Hostilities are virtually suspended in the Mexican war zone pending receipt of American note.

ROME, June 2.—Possibility that Roumania and Bulgaria will soon enter war, overshadows most stirring news from front. One will go against Austria and the other against Turks. Thousands of priests are throwing off their vestments and joining the colors. On the plateau of Forghia fighting has settled down to a duel of heavy artillery. Along the Carinthias only minor engagements are taking place.

GLASGOW, June 2.—Allan liner Corsican arrived safely from Montreal after dodging a submarine which pursued her hotly. A wireless warning was sent to the Megantic.

TOKIO, June 2.—A German baker was detected sending letters to a prisoner in the detention camp, and has been ordered deported. Four others have received notification to get out of the country.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—It is made plain by expressions of cabinet officers that the United States holds Germany responsible for the destruction of the Lusitania, and will not recede from the position taken by administration as shown in the first note. The second note will be terse, and if the reply be unsatisfactory, the German ambassador will be handed his passports. Representative German citizens in the United States have telegraphed the President that: "There is great danger that any violation by the administration of the neutrality you enjoined on the nation will start war. We beseech you to uphold 25,000,000 loyal citizens of the United States who sympathize with Germany and Austria, and who believe they are right."

HONOLULU, June 1.—Harry Newcombe was found dazed in Makaha.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Cabinet held a long conference with President Wilson today. The subject was the note of warning to Mexico, couched in most explicit language, which was completed. Carranza reports food situation pitiable.

TOKIO, June 1.—Budget committee of house approves proposed increase of army.

ATHENS, June 1.—Reported Turkish cruiser and Fort Sultan Salim are being dismantled because of progress made by Allies in clearing way through Dardanelles. Gloom reigns in Constantinople. Many favor opening of the straits and negotiating with the Allies for peace. Turkish reinforcements to the Dardanelles are interrupted by operations of British submarine which has made its way through straits and the sea of Marmora and is operating before Constantinople.

LONDON, June 1.—A prisoner captured before Dardanelles a fortnight ago says Turkish losses in the defense of Gallipoli were 40,000. In a night attack on London by Zeppelins, 90 bombs dropped, killing four persons and wounding three.

UNDINE, June 1.—Across border the Italians are driving forward into the Trieste country. They have occupied 37 villages and are surrounding Cortina.

ROME, June 1.—Italian aeroplane, operating over Brindisi, killed one and wounded two persons.

RICHMOND, Va., June 1.—Confederate veterans uphold Wilson.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The second note to Berlin is being prepared.

HONOLULU, June 1.—Frank L. Hoogs, of the Bank of Hawaii, is defaulter of $8600. He left for the Coast after making restitution. Money is said to have been sunk in speculation.

Harry Newcombe, sales agent of the Waterhouse Trust real estate department, missing since Sunday, when he went with others goat hunting in Kalihii Valley.

Land Commissioner Tucker will subdivide big Olaa tract for homesteaders.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—President Wilson wearies of watchful waiting in Mexican situation. Warring factions will be notified today to cease strife immediately and to restore country to harmony or the United States will take hand.

Food prices advanced in instances 300 per cent. and will go higher, due to corn and wheat being neglected in many states.

Such steps as may be necessary to convince Germany that United States is deeply in earnest, President Wilson is prepared to take. President Wilson meant it when he said Germany will be held strictly responsible for every American ship lost and every American life sacrificed. Determination of administration in the present crisis is double. Government will meet Germany's technical avoidance of broad issues by prompt and positive notification that it has already been officially determined to the full of absolute satisfaction that Lusitania was unarmed. She carried ammunition, it is admitted, and it was on manifest. It has always been contraband of war and subject to confiscation. As for unwarranted claim that Canadian troops were on board, it is so wide of facts that government can receive only with astonishment Germany's assumption that American authorities could be hoodwinked into permitting such gross cheat on neutrality to slip past under search, or more incredible to connive at it.

LONDON, June 11.—Great Austrian-German drive in Galicia, with Przemysl as object, has been checked and the failure of German plans in Galician campaign is comparable with failure to pierce Allies' line to capture Calais and thence repeated effort to crush Russian defense of Warsaw.

LONDON, May 31.—Mighty battle being waged around Przemysl. Teutonic Allies making supreme efforts to isolate Russian garrison and free armies in Galicia for campaign against Italy in south and reinforcement of western line against increasing armies of British and French. North of fortress, Russians have brought up reinforcements and are holding their own against furious offensive of German-Austrian troops but meet difficulty keeping men supplied with ammunition.

Brisk fighting renewed along Yser. French assert they have stormed several hundred metres of German trenches and advanced quarter of a mile.

Four ships sunk yesterday and the White Star liner Megantic had narrow escape, being chased through St. George's channel, finally dodging the submarine and reaching Liverpool safely. Off the coast of Wales, British merchantman Tullochmoor attacked by submarine and allowed ten minutes for crew to leave vessel. British steamer Glenlee, Portuguese steamer Cysne, and Russian steamer Mars, were sunk yesterday by submarines.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Profound dissatisfaction is sentiment with which administration received German reply to Lusitania's note yesterday. Note fails to take up seriously any of the demands made made by American note and there is disappointment at temporizing, dialectical and argumentative tone of document. Within 48 hours it is expected President will send reply to Germany in view of Germany's silence on all major issues on general policy of international law and the rights of humanity raised by America. It is not felt that offers of reparation for so-called unintentional attacks on American ships will carry much weight. Note recommends attentive examination of facts before entering upon any discussion of issues they may raise when determined. No part of German program to submit neutral ships which have entered war zone around British Isles to any attack by submarines or aircraft, provided they have not been guilty of hostile acts. In spite of this declaration, facts surrounding torpedoing of Gulflight and dropping bombs on Cushing will be thoroughly investigated. Germany entertains a keen wish to cooperate with United States in frank and friendly way in clearing up any misunderstanding that may have arisen from events stated.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Distinct feeling of pessimism prevails about capital over failure of German government to respond directly to points raised in American note protest that followed promptly the sinking of the Lusitania. Gerard's summary of note handed by Berlin shows Germany has evaded main issue raised by President which was that Germany give assurances that attacks on unarmed passenger ships cease and hereafter American flag be respected. A recognized grave factor is added to situation by findings of commission investigating Nebraskan affair. It is believed no warning was given her. President says he will make no statement and all officials are reticent about expressing opinion.

LIVERPOOL, May 30.—Nebraskan docked yesterday. Ho'd on starboard side 20 feet long and 12 feet deep. Name painted on side of steamer visible a mile.

LONDON, May 30.—Great battle for possession of Przemysl continues to be principal feature of war. Definitely determined Austro-Germans had been checked in efforts to cross the San, north of the fortress. It is believed their forces have been thrown around city and portion of Russian army holding city being subjected to bombardment.

BERLIN, May 30.—Grand Lodge German Masons severed relations with Italian and French bodies yesterday.

LONDON, May 30.—Negotiations of supreme importance now in way between Bulgaria and Roumania, the outcome of which will settle whether either or both these nations will take the field. Turkey is making frantic offers of concessions to Bulgaria to induce her to remain neutral.

UNDINE, Italy, May 30.—Strong Italian army crossing Isonzo river in advance upon Trieste. Advance south expected to mark real commencement of struggle for possession of this important point. Main army for defense of Trieste entrenched along crest of rocky plateau commanding coast on both sides of city, making difficult any landing of forces by sea through Gulf Trieste.

WEST POINT, May 30.—Army defeated navy at baseball yesterday, score 6 to 5.

HONOLULU, May 29.—McBryde dividend of 50 cents payable June 25.

Mayor Lane will not accept Shingle's no.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Rumored here that Postmaster Young of Honolulu will resign.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President working on statements regarding Mexican situation. Will be significant of administration's course in future. Change must come over country and warring factions cease ravages.

Application of Southern-Pacific to run oil ships from California to Washington and Oregon denied.

LONDON, May 29.—Lloyds reports steamer Champagne broken up.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Navy department instructed Admiral Moore not to attempt recovery of bodies in submarine until vessel is brought to surface.

Partly as result of Pan-American conference two steamship lines between North and South America are proposed.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Japanese association in this city will spend $20,000 entertaining Japanese children.

SEATTLE, May 29.—Judge Humphreys, once baited by socialists, died today.

TOKIO, May 29.—Unaccounted for deficits in imperial treasury caused hot discussion in chamber of deputies today. Minister of treasury had difficulty answering questions.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Ambassador Gerard cables that while Berlin reply to note regarding Lusitania and Gulflight not yet delivered he knows it contains agreement with United States upon facts of Lusitania sinking. According to advices from Ambassador Page, result of investigations into Nebraskan affair shows vessel was torpedoed. United States station ship Scorpion at Constantinople narrowly es-

FARMING AND FARM PROGRESS

Things Being Done and Attempted in the Agricultural Field.

Vegetable Market Improving Slightly

Superintendent Longley Says Onions Are Still a Glut—Pigs for Kamehameha Day Wanted.

Eggs scarcer and price advancing slowly, demand good. Poultry plentiful this week, market inactive. Hogs are bringing slightly better prices and there is a slight increase in demand. Good fat pigs, weighing from fifty to seventy-five pounds, should bring good prices around June 11.

Tomatoes are not so plentiful as last week and good stock is selling well. Watermelons are scarcer and higher. Good island Irish potatoes are selling well. Small and poorly graded stock plentiful and cheap. Red sweet potatoes in demand.

The division has several orders for good bronze turkeys for breeding stock which it has been unable to fill. Anyone having such stock for sale should notify the division.

Island onions are plentiful and cheap. A large quantity was recently received from Kauai. There are larger quantities on Maui yet to be marketed. As the producers did not notify the division of the amount of onions still to be sold, no bid was made for the army contract. It is to be hoped that local consumers will assist the home producers to dispose of their onions.

More green pineapples are being offered for shipment to the mainland than it is considered safe to send at this time. Considerable work has been done looking up dealers who will probably buy pineapples from us when an agent of the division begins work on the Coast July 1.

How To Grow Spuds In This Territory

Demonstration At Kuiaha of Very Practical Value to Farmers—Eight Varieties In Test.

As an example of the practical work which is being done by the extension division of the federal experiment station for Maui and incidentally for all the rest of the territory, an experiment in growing potatoes at Kuiaha is of particular interest. Prof. Krauss, superintendent of the extension division, at the present time has growing on his homestead eight varieties of spuds. They occupy about two acres of land. The seed was secured from different sections of the mainland, ranging from far north to extreme south. Also one of the varieties is a good quality of Kula potato, such as has been grown in that district for many years.

The potatoes are planted some with fertilizer, some without; some with seed treated with formalin, some without; some on soil previously limed, some on untreated land; etc. The different varieties under the different treatments, are planted in parallel rows, and the difference in appearance of the plants at the present writing are most striking, even to the most casual observer. Some rows are almost perfect in luxuriance, while other rows show scarcely any development.

May Have "Potato Day." Prof. Krauss plans to have a "potato day" at his ranch, when the two acres of spuds will be harvested and results compared. The public will be invited to be present and draw their own conclusions. From present indications it seems very certain that good potatoes can be grown in Hawaii, and Prof. Krauss' experiments will point the way.

Fool-Proof Crops For Maui Farmers

Prof. Krauss Has Three Which He Designates Under This Head—Good Demand for Soiling Crop Seeds.

Prof. F. C. Krauss, superintendent of experiment station extension work, has growing on a field scale at his Kuiaha homestead, what he designates as three "fool-proof crops." These are the jack bean, the velvet bean, and the Maui red bean.

Because he has been able to grow these three legumes under varying conditions, without their being subject to any serious handicaps from pests or delicate cultural methods necessary Mr. Krauss is convinced that they can be profitably grown by any one willing to give them reasonably good attention.

The jack bean and velvet bean are primarily soiling crops, although they have their value as a stock food also. But it is in the production of seed that Mr. Krauss urges the farmers of Maui to grow them. The demand for this seed is already heavy from the plantations who need it in renewing depleted cane lands. The red bean is also in demand at present for export to the mainland.

Prof. Krauss states that he has orders for these several beans aggregating $12,000, which probably cannot be filled in full, while the future is bright for the disposition of practically all that can be raised at remunerative prices.

Demonstration Of Fruit Propagation

Kuiaha Farmers Enjoy A Dinner and Interesting Lecture By Experiment Station Expert.

Following a bountiful dinner prepared by the women of the Haiku Farmers' Association at the Kuiaha school house last Saturday evening, J. E. Higgins, horticulturist of the Hawaii Experiment Station, delivered a most interesting talk on the propagation of tropical fruit trees. The meeting was one of the most largely attended ever held in the community, and was an extremely valuable one.

Mr. Higgins, besides discussing the value of the various varieties of fruits adapted to local conditions, described in detail the methods of budding the avocado and various varieties of citrus trees, and illustrated his remarks by a practical demonstration on small trees which he had brought with him. The following morning he supplemented his talk with a practical field demonstration of budding in the presence of a large number of the homesteaders.

The committee which had charge of the dinner consisted of Mrs. H. L. Sauer, Miss Maud Starbuck, and E. O. Born.

Home Orchards Urged For Hawaii

Demonstration Orchard to Be Established At Kuiaha—Expert Higgins Suggests Home Half-Acre.

If the recommendation of Horticulturist J. E. Higgins, of the Experiment Station, is carried out, a demonstration "home orchard" or fruit garden, will soon be started in the Haiku district, under the direction of F. G. Krauss, in charge of extension work of the station.

"I suggested to Mr. Krauss," said Mr. Higgins, "the value from an educational standpoint, of planting, say half an acre, in various tropical and sub-tropical fruits as an illustration of what most of the farmers of the Territory might do at little expense and trouble, towards keeping their own and their neighbors' tables supplied with fruit the year around. Such an orchard will contain avocado, mango, orange, lemon, grape fruit trees, etc. of various varieties selected for their quality and time of ripening, so that the owner might have all of these fruits at practically every season of the year. There would also be a variety of the less ordinary fruit trees in the Islands. The orchard should be located so that it will be easy to care for, and between the trees a large variety of small fruits should be cultivated."

Three Acre Fruit Demonstration. Besides the home orchard idea, Prof. Krauss has already taken steps to plant three acres of his own place in fruit. One acre will be devoted to avocado, mangoes, peaches, etc., of the best established varieties; another acre to citrus fruits, and a third acre to grapes. Of these last, it is intended to try out a large number of kinds, in hope of finding others than the Isabella adapted to local conditions.

Experimental Pine Shipments Failure

The Kuiaha homesteaders lost money on both experimental shipments of fresh pineapples to the mainland, according to a report made to the Haiku Farmers' Association last Saturday night. On the first shipment about a third of the fruit went bad, and on the second the loss amounted to about 40 percent.

Although the results of these experiments are discouraging, some of the growers are still inclined to try further to solve the problem, believing that by proper selection and improved methods of curing and packing that it may yet be found possible to make the shipping of fresh pineapples from Maui profitable.

There has been some talk of introducing other varieties of pineapple into the district, with a view to securing one or more that may prove to be a better shipping pine than is the Smooth Cayenne.

Simple Truth.

Irate Editor (to reporter)—What do you mean by writing "Among the prettiest girls at the dance was Captain Fitzball?" The captain is a man, I presume.

THE ARROGANCE OF POWER.

If the wireless report from Honolulu is correct, that the naval authorities have issued orders that newspaper representatives will not be permitted to be present when the sunken submarine F4 is raised and opened, it is only what was to be expected. The people of the United States creates an army and navy for the purpose of national defense, and then permit their creatures to become their masters. This has been the rule since history began, exemplified most perfectly in the military domination of Europe, but still in evidence in our own country. Of course the excuse in the present instance will be the same old one of expediency, and the necessity of preventing possible foes from learning facts that might be turned against us. The real truth is simply in the natural arrogance of the human animal when placed in command of an engine whose only attribute is might.

Of course the submarine F4 belongs to the American people. Certainly the twenty-one poor remnants of men entombed within her are American citizens. Most assuredly they have a right to know, not simply what the naval officers choose to tell them as to the causes for the disaster, but all the facts. But they will probably have to be satisfied with the "word of an officer and a gentleman," who assumes he is better than his fellow Americans, simply because he is a part of a great machine which the nation feels it incumbent upon it to maintain. But this is all of really little moment, so long as the nation holds the purse strings, and so long as such petty bits of high-handedness serve to remind us all of the peril of military dominance.

DRIVING POWER NEEDED.

Under the caption—"Needs More Driving Power," the Star-Bulletin editorially says:

"The delay in investigating the Lahaina accident of nearly a month ago emphasizes the uselessness of the public utilities commission on its present basis."

The Star-Bulletin shouldn't have to be reminded that one of the greatest "driving powers" for public bodies is the press. Yet the Honolulu press barely mentioned the disaster which shocked all Maui, and which has put the fear of death into the minds of all of our people who are compelled to use the Lahaina landing. Most of the punch of public opinion, which might have "galvanized" the "useless" utilities body a little, was entirely lost in the colorless aftermath stories which did appear—after the danger of hurting delicate congressional feelings was past.

TIME TO STAND PAT.

If H. P. Wood does not recall any tentative suggestion he may have made to resign as secretary of the Promotion Committee, and instead demand that the terms of his contract with the Honolulu chamber of commerce be carried out in full, he will greatly disappoint his friends. As long as the attacks upon him were understood to be based on personal antagonism to him on the part of one or two members of the committee, his offer to step out in interest of harmony was to be commended. But now that his enemies (who persist in calling themselves his friends) urge as a reason for his resigning that he has not a voucher to show for the expenditure of a $225 item, it should be a cue for him to fight. Mr. Wood explained the item in question in a manner that should be more than satisfactory to anyone who knows Mr. Wood as every member of the promotion committee, and especially as President Waldron of the chamber of commerce knows him. Besides Mr. Wood, in explaining why he could not get a voucher for the amount he expended in connection with securing the cancellation of a lease (through which, incidentally he saved the organization a large sum of money) offered to allow the amount to be charged to himself personally, if there was to be any question about the matter. The whole dirty business has gotten to a point where it is nauseating to the public generally whether or not they believe Wood to be the best man to head the Territory's publicity work or not. The motives back of the attacks are too glaringly apparent not to arouse the strongest feeling of protest from all lovers of fair play.

*****

A prominent pineapple canner declares that the canners are struggling for existence, have their backs to the wall, and that it is only just that the pineapple grower should stand a small part of the losses of the packers. We know a canning company which paid about 23 percent in dividends last year, laid away a snug sum in surplus against a rainy day, and whose stock is quoted about 75 per cent above par. We also know a whole lot of the growers for whose sake the packers have their backs to the wall. Most of them are flat on their backs, their stock is worth about 75 percent below par, and it will soon be 23 for them if their packer friends don't stop trying so hard to save them.

*****

The statement telegraphed by a German-American mass meeting in New York that 25,000,000 citizens of the United States, or one-fourth of the population of the country, are pro-German in their sympathies in connection with the great war, may be true. However, the last census shows but 2,759,000 German born residents in the country, and only 8,817,000 whose "mother tongue" was German. The total foreign born population of the United States, of all nationalities, in 1910, was 13,345,000.

*****

The price of pineapples is below cost of production, a "prominent canner" is quoted as stating, because the packers have been unable to pull together for their own interests. In other words he admits that the Hawaiian canners have allowed themselves to be played for easy marks by the jobbers. This man declares that the consumer is paying as much for his tin of pines as he ever did, and that the middlemen are pocketing the extra profits. At the same time he says the growers have no kick coming, even though they are losing money on every ton they grow, because the packers are also being hurt.

*****

The best answer to insinuations that Maui's Fourth of July racing will not be on the square this year, is a 28 years record of clean sport. If the Maui Racing Association had not always stood for clean sport, it would have gone the way of all the other associations on Hawaii and on the mainland. And it isn't beginning at this stage to introduce any crooked deals. Real sportsmen in the Islands do not have to be told this.

OUR ISLAND CONTEMPORARIES

Don't Like the Light.

It is noticeable that as soon as publicity is given the various attempts to "get" Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee his enemies, including the morning paper, immediately begin entering pious denials by the wholesale.

Why Rates Are Increased.

Increasing steamship rates between Hawaii and the mainland because travel is light appears to be a paradoxical remedy. We may be pardoned if we suspect that the increase in the rates is due to the fact that travel is on the increase, due to the San Francisco fair.

Sunday Movies.

Sunday movies appeal to some people and, if there is a distinct call for the Sabbath shows, it is hard to imagine why the popular demand should not be able to dominate all the rest.

Standing up in a man-to-man boxing match is illegal in this Territory, it appears, but drawing a gun on an unarmed opponent is both legal and ethical.

The cannery near Kapaa, which is just beginning work, means much to the success and prosperity of the new homestead region of Waipouli.

The Greatest Tailoring Snap of a Decade.

Two Suits made-to-your measure almost for the price of one

Read this important letter from the world's greatest tailoring house

To Royal Dealers,
Everywhere.
Gentlemen:--

Again the Royal Tiger has "scooped" the field. Again Royal Service has put over a "Sales Coup" that will take the nation by storm.

Enclosed, we have given you cut prices on 46 of our best selling patterns in the current Royal Spring line. But "cut price" isn't a strong enough term. The prices have literally been pounded down to the very pulp of cost.

And why?

Simply as a daring advertising plan to introduce thousand of new customers to Royal Tailoring - to induce them to try out Royal Service during the months of May and June.

In other words, we have set aside those two months for educational work - for the work of making thousands of new "rooters" and "boosters" for Royal Tailoring, by actually putting Royal clothes on their backs regardless of cost.

To accomplish this purpose we have offered 46 of our best suitings at prices that no keen value seeking man, who is in need of a suit of clothes, can afford to overlook.

We don't need to explain to you that we are taking a big loss on every one of these patterns. You know that. You can see it right in the prices. But you know - and we know - that the great Royal battle is to get a customer to make his first purchase. Once he has a taste of Royal Service, his trade is ours and yours as long as he buys clothes.

He won't need extra price inducements after his first suit sale. So we are willing to take a loss on this first order just to get him acquainted with Royal Quality, Royal Style and Workmanship.

That is the reason for this educational sale. It is timed just exactly right. It is coming when the country is right on the verge of a great prosperity era. And we want our dealers to be first in catching the momentum of the new good times. We want them to show a gait of business activity that will be inspiring to business men of all lines.

So here's to the biggest May and June trade you have ever had!

Yours very truly,
THE ROYAL TAILORS.

Wonderful! Wonderful Prices!

These 46 Reductions mean that The Royal Tailors are virtually paying you to get your first Royal order without regard to their loss.

The values are unparalleled. You can take your choice of the snappiest, classiest woolen suitings of the season at the reductions as high as $10 per suit. And you can have any of these suitings made up in any style you want; a snug fitting English suit with the roll lapels; or a conservative style. It is for you to say. Your fashion choice is unlimited. We earnestly believe that this is the best good clothes snap ever offered to the men of this town. Don't lose your share of the money saving offerings.

NANTES, Italy, May 28.—French steamer Champagne of South and Central American trade is ashore off St. Navaire. Crew and 900 passengers saved.

LONDON, May 29.—Off Stark Point, in the Orkneys, the British steamer Spennymore was sent to the bottom by a German submarine yesterday. The captain and five of crew were drowned when a small boat capsized. In the North Sea the Swedish bark Roosvall met same fate, but loss of life was smaller. Two of crew were drowned. The British steamer Argyleshire, bound to Liverpool from Sydney, was pursued by a submarine off Scilly Isles. She sent out wireless calls for help which were misunderstood. The steamer yesterday put into Havre. The same submarine attacked the British steamer Cadeby which was sunk some time ago.

GLASGOW, May 29.—Two hundred smaller butcher shops have been closed on account of the shortage of beef.

BERLIN, May 29.—The German government has no official information as to the circumstances surrounding the torpedoing of the Nebraskan.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—It is believed here that the American navy is preparing for eventualities caused by difficulty with Germany.

LONDON, May 29.—Berlin reports that the Teutons are pressing Russians back against Przemysl, with prospects that that fortress will be recaptured. Russia reports that lines at Przemysl are holding.

BERLIN, May 29.—The German chancellor declared today that Italy is a name that will be inscribed in letters of blood. He declares there was no excuse for Italy's base violation of faith. Nobody threatened her and she had nothing to fear.

LONDON, May 29.—The French have renewed the offensive in Alsace, with Muelhausen as objective, bringing pressure to bear on positions before that stronghold.

ROME, May 29.—Observers have been stationed on lofty points of vantage to watch for aircraft. A corps of Italian aviators is held in readiness to rise and give battle in the air.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Wilson veils a mailed fist in his plea for Mexican aid. He wants help for starving. The appeal forecasts a charge of policy. Conditions have so changed that the executive is now forced to open his eyes to the horrors anarchy have created.

The Man of The Merchant

He Proved His Courage and Daring.

By PETER VAUX

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

No sooner did the senior engineer hear the peremptory summons than he scurried from the crowded wardroom. "Poor devil! Did you notice his face, Bellamy?" said the second engineer, addressing the flustered paymaster. "He went as pale as death. When the doctor does Torshell eat and sleep, Naylen? He never seems to be off duty."

The surgeon twitched his spruce eyebrows. "Oh, Mebbe, our senior engineer—our man of the merchant marine!" said he in his usual flippant, exasperating tone. "He'll go the same as Chislehurst if worries don't cease. No human being, much less Torshell, can stand for any length of time the state of affairs in this boat's engine room and stokeholds. It's enough to drive any man mad!"

"Chisle is really not well, then? We all know the complaint of Pattenie of the Farin Furnace, as the fo'castle terms her." Naylen shrugged his shoulders. "Our staff engineer went into sick bay to let this R. N. R. fellow shine, did he?" was his tart rejoinder. "Too much strain and unrest have knocked him off his legs. And so Mebbe is the man we must depend on now."

Said the paymaster in his big, raucous voice: "That is what happens with these understaffed engine rooms and insufficient repairs. Here we are, the lamest of the lame ducks in the division and tallin' off the column, with a reserve chap out of an easy, oozy, ten knot merchantman handlin' our engines, and rickety old machines they are. God alone knows what'll happen with him and his untried nerve when we pick the enemy up again!"

"A jolly good thing for us the enemy are just as much worried with breakdowns," was the consoling remark from the other end of the table. "The Rurik, the Freya, the Jena and—"

"I wouldn't indict the dockyard on the insufficient repairs point, Bellamy," interrupted the second. "My lords were responsible. They wouldn't enlarge the yards, make new ones or lease out repairs, so as to have all the necessary work for mobilization coped with adequately. But it is odd how she was passed out with the stokehold cylinder cover not remedied. Of course nobody'll be held responsible, as usual!"

Bellamy nodded, turning from scolding the harassed steward. He replied slowly. "But yet when an R. N. R. fellow can pop up and take seniority over the regular service, as in this boat, you can't expect—"

"Oh, here we are again!" the second broke in with. "Jealousies as usual. Torshell is as fit as any engineer. By George," he cried, listening intently, "the engines are slowin' down!"

Torshell had approached Captain Widdrington and the "first," who lingered in the chart house discussing recent instructions. The senior engineer had coughed slightly to intimate his presence. The captain looked up, a frown sweeping his hard face on marking him.

"Sir," cried the engineer, "the port—"

"One moment, sir!" was the short answer. "This isn't a steam bus." And Torshell, again saluting, had stepped back, his pallid face blood red and his teeth hard clinched and gritting. The wary, diplomatic first just then cheerily nodded aside to him.

He let himself rock to the vessel's jiggling among the cumbrous masses of sea. Since he had joined, off the way-laid liner, his had been hard luck. He felt acutely the general sentiment against him; but, notwithstanding all, his mettle was yet strong. It was the snobbish crowd in the wardroom and the unpleasant bearing of his subordinates that caused his discomfort of mind.

Suddenly he had held in his breath and unwittingly stepped toward the bridge ladder. The first drew himself back from the chart, darting a look of surprise at Torshell. But the captain's steel blue eyes flamed with sudden anger.

"Good heavens, sir! Your engines aren't slowing down?" Torshell saluted. "Port air pump, sir."

"This drives a man mad!" cried Widdrington, crashing his big fist upon the table. "Nothing but defects, defects! Can ye drive engines at all, you miserable merchantman? What d'ye want to slacken down to? What's wrong this time? You?"

his shout from the artificers now in safety. It reached his ear as he stepped down into the uproar of smashing, clashing metal.

With heightened anxiety and fear, Widdrington stared at the steam still outpouring. The thunderous clanking of ponderous machinery galloping loose beat frightfully into his ear. With much more of it bilge plates would be started.

It was then that a bear eyed, cinder burnt signalman came hurrying along. "Flagship flingin' out 'Chase' signals, sir!" was his report.

When Torshell again dragged himself on the bridge he was a mere unshapely mass, held together by swaths of lint. Widdrington stepped hastily to him and helped him up the last rungs of the ladder. The captain looked into the seamed and scalded face, nearly hidden beneath bandages. Said he heartily: "By heavens, ye've pluck! These men owe their lives to you. Ye've pluck." And with this certificate forthcoming at last for service done he dismissed the case for heroism.

"But about this breakdown—what can you do? Our east wing scouts are in touch with the enemy, and here am I not doing five knots. Never a shot to be fired, and ahead they've got all the work. Can you do nothing with these starboard engines?"

"They are in a pretty bad fix, but I'll do my best to work them for a time at least."

The senior engineer staggered to a deep wallow of the stricken vessel as a tumultuous swell tilted her casemated broadside. He would have fallen headlong if the officers had not sprung forward and caught him under the arms. He moaned. "My knee! My knee! It's smashed."

Half an hour later he was superintending his officers and men, who, stripped to their trousers, were clearing away the wreck. Every order that issued peremptorily from his blanched lips went full and fair to the mark and afforded succinct knowledge and confidence to the grimy, sweating workers. Theirs were unbegrudged obedience and execution, for each now understood his man. Hunched shouldered, he was through physical agonies; yet, knowing that he held the lives of 700 men and that great, glorious ship in his hand, he maintained his will indomitable. Not a detail escaped his eye or slipped his brain.

Night had long since dropped. The immense boat lay lurching from side to side, plunging wildly under the tons of green seas that thudded like battering rams against her bows and fore-castle what time the high walled swell broke roaring.

"Make for northwest trade patrol. Regain nearest port. Much regret breakdown," had been the sorely harassed vice admiral's latest message.

Captain Widdrington, a barrel swathed in shawls and many waterproofs, was with the first and third lieutenants on the afterbridge. Wearily he turned from straining his eyes over the indistinct summits of yeasty seas and cleared the brine off his face and bushy eyebrows with the flat of his left hand. He was cautiously making his way up the bridge when suddenly he stopped short. A quartermaster shouted, "D'ye hear that, sir?"

A faint boom had rung through the stormy wind, ominous, like to a dying world's last echo.

The first dodged a scattered spout of sea. "If the enemy drive down on us will you fight, sir?"

"Yes, by heavens! As well go down fightin' as not. If we can work ship it's the very weather for us. See Torshell. I must risk the port engines."

And as Wingate carefully made his way on deck "Firin' east sou'east!" was the lookout's hail.

He climbed down the thirty odd feet of slippery ladder into the maze of motionless machinery. As he touched the senior engineer on the elbow he noted his inert and quivering lips.

"Can't say," was the answer. "Mebbe we will. But every man is workin' his best. If it is in my power the starboard mills 'll run."

"If we can't steam God help us!" ejaculated the first.

As the luckless warship flung herself about the iron flooring beneath the wornout men seaweaved lather and thither, throwing them off their feet. She evened herself in a broad valley of the mountainous sea wastes.

Elephant and Tiger Enmity.

One of the most interesting employments of the elephant is in hunting tigers. From the lofty back of his elephant, at a height which, increased by the howdah, may be twelve or fourteen feet above the ground, the hunter can take his aim at a tiger with a coolness that he would not possess if facing the animal on terra firma. If, as sometimes occurs, the tiger makes a leap for the elephant he seldom succeeds in attacking the man in the howdah, although the driver in his exposed position on the elephant's neck, is in greater danger.

There seems to be a natural enmity between elephants and tigers, although an elephant will not attack a tiger unless cornered or compelled to do so by the tiger's own fault. But then a good fighting elephant will if he can once get his tusks to bear on his enemy gore him to death or literally crush him by kneeling on him. It is said that the mere presence of a dead tiger will drive some elephants to fury.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Odd Death Certificates.

Certificates of death are not documents where one usually seeks for humor, but there is frequently to be found in them much of the unconscious variety. Here, for instance, is how the cause of death is stated in the case of a laborer:

"Died from injuries received through a bull accidentally kneeling on his chest."

The consideration shown for the feelings of the bull is a fine touch and suggests grave questions on the moral responsibility of the lower animals.

Again, a man is stated to have "died from the effects of injuries received after being run over by a railway train in motion owing to a misunderstanding between deceased and an engine driver." This description of a rather ordinary railway casualty is excellent.—London Express.

The French Academy.

The French academy is one of the five academies and the most eminent constituting the Institute of France. It was founded in 1635 by Cardinal Richelieu and reorganized in 1816. It is composed of forty members, the new member elected by the remaining thirty-nine members for life after personal application and the submission of the nomination to the head of the state. It meets twice weekly and is "the highest authority on everything pertaining to the niceties of the French language—to grammar, rhetoric and poetry and the publication of the French classics." The chief officer is the secretary, who has a life tenure of his position. A chair in the academy is the highest ambition of most literary Frenchmen.

The Land of Long Words.

Humboldt once said that nothing in Mexico strikes Europeans more forcibly than the excessive length of the words. This length, moreover, does not always depend on their being compounded, as in the Greek, the German or the Sanskrit. Thus the Mexican word for that simple thing, a kiss, is tetennamiquilliztli.

But that is nothing, says Mr. Charles W. Denville-Fife in his book on Guatemala, to what the Central American can do. His best efforts eclipse even Shakespeare's often quoted "honorificabilitudinitatibus," in "Love's Labour's Lost," for if you wish to call the boy who carries newspapers, you have but to murmur "amatlacuillitcaticataxahullie," and he may possibly come.

Steam and Gas.

True dry superheated steam has every property of a true gas save one—it is not permanent. When heat disappears what appeared to be gas soon becomes water. Heat oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen as hot as possible in any expansion container and they will be come rare, occupy more space, but allow the heat to vanish and the gases will resume their original temperature volumes. Freeze these gases down to liquid or solid, when the cold is so intense that it cannot be imagined. Restore the heat and the solids or liquids will be gases again—that is, they are permanent gases at terrestrial temperatures. But steam is not permanent at these temperatures and is therefore a vapor of water.—New York American.

Built From the Coliseum.

Many of the important palaces of Rome are made from stone taken from the ruins of the Coliseum, which, in spite of the ravages of two earthquakes, remained intact until the eighth century. The Barberini, Farnese, and Cancelleria were all built from the walls of this edifice, but the spoils are not so unworthy when we realize the stone had fallen from repeated earthquakes, thus suggesting its transportation.

A Forehanded Man.

Tramp—Would you give a poor, starvin' man something to eat, mum? Lady of the House—I might, but you are not starvin'. Tramp—I know dat, lady; but an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, you know.—Boston Transcript.

The Boy and the Professor.

"I was mimicking Professor Bore yesterday, and he caught me." "What did he say?" "Told me to stop making a fool of myself."

Eye Colors.

The normal human eye is blue, say scientists, other colors being caused by the presence of different pigments in the iris.

Nature trips us up when we strut.—Emerson.

WHITNEY & MARSH

ANNOUNCE THAT THEY WILL PREPAY PARCEL POST OR FREIGHT CHARGES ON MERCHANDISE ORDERED BY CUSTOMERS ON ANY OF THE ISLANDS.

CUSTOMERS ARE EXPECTED TO STATE PREFERENCE AS TO STYLE AND MATERIAL, TO GIVE SIZE, AND TO TELL THE APPROXIMATE PRICE THEY DESIRE TO PAY.

Whitney & Marsh also send Merchandise on approval and prepay transportation charges one way.

On the Other Islands

Opera Stars to Enlist.

Four of the principals of the Bevan Grand Opera Company, Puccini, Cavadore, Bonziglia and Michela, are Italian reservists, and immediately upon their arrival at San Francisco will start for Rome to enroll for service in Italy's war with the Teutonic allies. They sail today by the Sierra from Honolulu.

Bank Teller Goes Wrong.

Detectives from the mainland uncovered the systematic thefts of Frank L. Hoogs, paying teller of the Bank of Hawaii, Honolulu, which have been going on for the past four years. Hoogs confessed. He made up part of the $10,400 he was short from various places where he had secreted the money, and by turning over to the bank his interest in an estate. He was not prosecuted and has gone to the Coast. In taking money from bags, Hoogs had been in the habit of "discovering" the shortages himself and throwing the blame on other clerks, several of whom are out several hundred dollars each on this account. Hoogs, it is claimed, was a confirmed bucket-shop dupe. He was recently married.

Iwilei Murder and Suicide.

Louis Manesis, a recent arrival at Honolulu, entered a house at Iwilei last Sunday night, and fired three shots from a revolver at a girl known in the district as Lena Brown, killing her almost instantly. Manesis then turned the weapon on himself and blew out his own brains.

Will Move Hibiscus Garden.

The hibiscus exhibit now at the federal experiment station which has been threatened with destruction because of the lack of a territorial appropriation for its upkeep, is to be removed to Kapiolani Park where there is plenty of water for irrigation, and where the city can care for the bushes with little or no expense.

Dr. Judd To War Zone.

Dr. and Mrs. James R. Judd will leave in a few days for the war-zone, where they will enter the ranks of American relief workers who are facing hardship, disease and imminent danger to nurse the wounded and the sick. Dr. Judd will employ his exceptional skill as a surgeon. Mrs. Judd will become a nurse.

Shingle Accepts Appointment.

Robert W. Shingle, who at first declined to accept the appointment of Mayor Lane of supervisor to succeed the late J. C. Quinn, reconsidered his first inclination and has accepted. He is president of the Henry Waterhouse Trust Company, has served as chairman of the Republic Territorial Committee, one term as city treasurer of Honolulu, and is one of the best business men in the Islands.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Searby Shredder Proving Big Success

The Honolulu Iron Works has ordered for Honolulu plantation a Searby shredding machine, this making the sixth machine in use in the Territory. Puuene has two and McBride, Kahuku and Makaweli plantations each one. The Hawaiian Commercial Company was the pioneer user of the shredder.

W. Searby, superintendent at Puuene, invented the shredder which bears his name and which was put to practical use for the first time beginning with the present sugar crop.

The machine shreds the cane before it is milled, thereby greatly increasing the extraction. It is said to achieve highly satisfactory results.—Advertiser.

NAHIKU PEARS FOR KINNEY.

Two dozen large alligator pears were received today by Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction, from the teachers and pupils of the Nahiku school. The pears were grown in the school yard.—Star-Bulletin.

Mann on Haleakala

Because Representative James H. Mann, seemed a trifle bored and expressed himself in what some of his local hearers thought was a caustic and cynical manner; this particular gentleman from Illinois did not make a decided hit with his Big Island hosts, during the recent congressional visit.

However, much of this idea may be due to the well-known Hilo supersensitiveness, the honorable member from Chicago does not seem to have carried away any grouch concerning Maui, as witness the following eulogy to Haleakala delivered at a Honolulu chamber of commerce luncheon a week later:

"The other day I witnessed the greatest sight which I ever expect to see. With others of our party I climbed Haleakala and saw the sun rising over the clouds.

"As we glanced around from the mountain top down below us all around lay the clouds like glaciers and frozen snow, midnight at the North Pole, with domes, with buildings, with river and lakes on the plains around us, the most intensely beautiful scene which could be imagined.

"As the sun came nearer to the horizon and the clouds above were painted with all the rays and colors of the rainbow, that was grand; but when the sun rose above the horizon and glanced down with its sheening brightness upon this mass of frozen snow and glaciers, and you saw the greens and the blues and the yellows and violets reflecting from the snow and gradually the clouds of snow disappeared and we saw the sun shining there with brightness here and shadow there upon the green around us, we had witnessed what I would have traveled around the world to see and which I never expect to see the equal of anywhere else than within the islands of Hawaii."

CHICKEN CHOLERA ON MAUI.

Because Maui is particularly free from serious poultry pests is no reason for relaxing vigilance. This is illustrated by an epidemic of chicken cholera reported recently from Ha makuapoko, the origin of which is a mystery. E. E. Boyum, in whose flock the disease appeared, lost a large number of valuable birds. No new birds should ever be brought into a clean flock without undergoing a rigid period of quarantine, unless the antecedents of the new stock is positively known.

ROME, May 28.—Italian aeroplanes have bombarded Trieste doing much damage to city. At Mabrinsina railroad was assaulted by Italian air raiders and damage done to station and roadbed. Italian army occupies additional territory along Tyrol border. Italian-Austrian artillerists enjoyed a brisk battle along Trentino front.

BERLIN, May 28.—Victory for Russians in battle near Sciniawa is conceded. Elsewhere fighting is favorable to the Germans. 9000 Russians have been captured.

LONDON, May 28.—Evening News declares answer to American note will be temporizing nature. Reply presented tomorrow and will ask United States to affirm or deny that Lusitania carried munitions of war for Allies.

AMSTERDAM, May 28.—Chemical factory at Ludwigschafen was raided by Allies aviators, is again working today. Bombs killed 11 and wounded 24.

PETROGRAD, May 28.—Russian army corps drove Turks from Uruniah, Persia, and occupy position.

COPENHAGEN, May 28.—Danish steamer Ely struck mine off Stockholm and sunk. Crew saved.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Mabel Boardman, chairman American Red Cross National Relief board, appeals to Americans through President Wilson, for funds to relieve starving Mexicans. She says need is tremendous.

LONDON, May 28.—Accomplishments of Submarine No. 11 operating in Dardanelles feature of yesterday's developments from British standpoint. She penetrated to the Constantinople arsenal and torpedoed transport. She made cruise of 200 miles through Narrows and sea of Marmora. Sank supply ship Robosto and an ammunition ship in the sea of Marmora.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Cruiser South Carolina is ashore off Alexandria, Egypt. Will be floated soon.

HONOLULU, May 29.—Through a hole punched in her side by storm and contact with coral hopes are held out that bodies of crew in submarine will be brought to the surface today.

Promotion Committee is still at loggerheads over the resignation of Secretary Wood. One item of expense in connection with the San Francisco office is the cause of friction.

GREEN CHAUFFEUR GETS FINED.

S. Sulki, a Waialuku Japanese, was fined $10 on Tuesday for driving an automobile without a chauffeur's license. Sulki might have escaped had he not unfortunately driven his machine backwards when he expected to go forwards, and by a narrow margin escaped a serious wreck with a team of horses on Market street.

Packers At Mercy Of Middlemen

Can't Pull Together So Whole Pineapple Industry Totters—Serious Admission of Poor Business Sense—Grower Suffers Most.

A. T. Longley, superintendent of the Territorial Marketing Division, declares that the pineapple canning companies are not giving the small growers a fair deal in the prices which they are offering for the fruit. Various representatives of the canners have come forward with statements denying this. Mr. Longley points out that the packers are paying Oahu growers by $7 per ton for first-class fruit, or about half of what it costs to produce it, while at the same time they themselves are planting large acreages of new fruit.

"The biggest sufferers at present are the homesteaders at Aiea. The best price offered so far, they tell me, is $7 a ton, which is conceded by all the canners to be far below the cost of production," Mr. Longley is quoted as saying. "I have also heard that on Maui some of the homesteaders are getting $11.25 a ton for No. 1 fruit, and $8 a ton for No. 2. Others are getting as high as $13 a ton for No. 1. I have been told.

"If the pineapple canners really have an over-supply, as they claim, it is not likely that they themselves would be planning an additional 1000 acres at Waialuku this year at a cost of at least $10 per ton." Packers Say "Overproduction." The packers declare that it is simply a question of supply and demand, and that there is a large overproduction to account for the low prices offered. Japanese on Oahu are said to have 18,000 tons of fruit coming off this season, equivalent to nearly a half million cases, none of which has been contracted for.

One canner interviewed on the subject, while denying that there is any desire to hurt the small grower, admitted that the packers have been led into a system of throat-cutting among themselves by the mainland jobbers. He stated that for a number of years the Hawaiian canners have been slashing prices in order to move their packs, regardless of the industry in general. At present they cannot get together on any basis for advertising or protection. The price cutting has not helped greatly, because the consumer has not profited by the slashing.

One canner stated that the very best grade of Hawaiian canned pines are now selling at the factory at eleven cents per tin, or less than half the price at which it sold eighteen months ago. The consumer still has to pay thirty-five cents for this grade. Some retailers charged forty cents two years ago and these have cut their shelf prices five cents per tin, but if retailers had met the canners' cut by a proportionate reduction this grade would be moving at twenty or twenty-five cents instead of stagnating at the same old thirty-five cent price. Have Their Backs to the Wall.

It is claimed that the Hawaiian packers have now reached a point where they can no longer recede; that their backs are to the wall, and that they must henceforth fight for their existence. If they are to survive, it is declared that they must get together and fight to control their own business.

LUMBER SLUMPS AGAIN.

Effective June 1, the Kahului rail road has issued a new lumber price list announcing another cut of 25 cents per M. on north-west lumber of all grades. The base rate is now $24 per thousand feet, which is lower than it has been in a number of years.

WILL ELIMINATE GUESS WORK IN TAXING AUTOS.

Construction was begun this week of the new scale-house recently ordered by the board of supervisors. The building is located at the rear of the county clerk's office, and besides the big wagon scales will contain space for the county's auto truck.

When installed the scales will be used for determining the weights of automobiles for purposes of taxation. A charge of $1 is to be made for the use of the scales, and then one cent per pound on each machine. It is believed that the revenue of the county will be materially augmented from auto taxes when the guess system is discarded.

Colts Lose Their First Game To Paia

Snappy Ball Pleases Fans—Rumor That Puenene May Quit—Players Want to Meet Stanford.

Table with columns: Sunday's Results, Pains, 5; Hawaii, 3. STANDING OF TEAMS. W. L. Pct. Paia, 5; Hawaii, 3. Puenene, 0.

Last Sunday's ball game resulted in favor of the Paia team to the tune of 5 to 3; the Colts meeting their first defeat this season. It was a lively game from start to finish and at times the excitement was intense.

Cummings' boys were first to tally, scoring a single in the second. The Paia's in the third inning scored three, after a two-bagger by C. Robinson and a homer by brother Foster Robinson. They also scored two in the sixth while the Hawaii scored one each in the sixth and eighth.

Little "Gink" Cummings, perhaps the smallest big league player in the Territory, made a great hit with the fans, being credited with two put outs and four assists, and a stolen base. He was certainly the idol of the fans, who cheered him with every play. Wm. Cockett, the Hawaii catcher, showed some remarkable pegging, catching no less than four attempts to steal second.

As was pointed out in our last issue, this gives Paia the lead, they having played one game less. Tomorrow's game will be between the Puenenes and Hawaii, and should the latter win they will tie the Paia's for first place. Paschoal's bunch is confident of putting it over the Colts and will play to win. It remains to be seen whether they have improved any during their two weeks rest.

Want to Play Stanford. There is a very strong desire on the part of local players to see the Stanford team, now in Honolulu, on the local diamond.

LADY POSTMASTER GETS COMMISSION. Mrs. H. Lee Sauer, recently appointed postmaster of Haiku, has received her commission, and will assume charge of the office July 1.

No War History In Public Schools

Debate On Subject Thus Decided By Teachers—Interesting Program—Paia Girls Win Basket Ball Game.

There was a very full attendance at the regular meeting of the Teachers of Makawao and Waialuku Districts at Paia on Friday, the 25th of May, as there were about 75 present. The meeting was called to order by the president Miss Crickard, at 9.15 o'clock, and after a brief address of welcome there was a very interesting talk by Rev. A. Craig Bowdish on "Hobbies and Fads."

A debate followed. The question was: "Resolved, that the details of war should be taught in the schools (as history)." Affirmative: Mr. Brown, Miss Hillmer; Negative: Mr. Hinckley, Miss Starbuck. The judges were Rev. Mr. Bowdish, Mr. H. W. Wells, Mrs. W. S. Deeman. The decision was in favor of the negative. Before and after the debate there was music by the Paia School Orchestra, led by Mr. Gonsalves.

A program had been arranged for the primary teachers and a separate one for those teaching the higher grades. The program in the Grammar grade was as follows: Method of teaching geography in the 5th grade, Mrs. Hill. Explanation of the test chart for writing, Mr. Case. Class demonstration, fractions, 5th grade, Miss Mary Couch. Paper on the method of teaching decimals, Miss Fleming. There was free discussion of the papers by those present.

The primary room program was as follows: Class demonstration in reading, 2nd grade, Miss Roe. Class demonstration in reading, 2nd grade, Miss Tam Yau. Class demonstration in nature study stories, Miss Ting. First grade arithmetic, Miss Florence Wood. Third grade arithmetic, method of teaching long division, Miss Narene Elliott. Paia Wins Basket Ball.

At one o'clock a bountiful lunch was served at the residence of Mr. D. C. Lindsay, and after the lunch there was a basket-ball game on the Paia court between the teams representing the Maui High School and the Paia School.

The game was won by the Paia team by the score of 9 to 6 and was very interesting throughout, although the court was much smaller than the one to which the visiting team was accustomed, and, according to their statements, the baskets were too far from the backstops. Apart from this unfamiliarity of the visiting team with the court the game was exceedingly well played.

The line-up was as follows: Maui High School Paia School. Forward. Lily Makia, Dorothy Hair, Lillian Tavares, Ida Medeiros.

Centers. Dorothy Foster, Margaret Williams, Constance Rose, Guards. Abbie Tilton, Alice Walker, Margaret Hair, Isabel Silva, Irene Wells.

Goals: Maui High, Boyum 1, Tavares 1, Hair 1, Paia, Makia 2, Medeiros 1. Total points, Maui High, 6. Paia, 9. Fouls, Paia 3.

Valley Isle Has Strong Plays Coming

In addition to the regular Saturday night offering of the latest episode of the Million Dollar Mystery (seventeenth), the great mystery drama, "Lola" in five acts, featuring Clary Kimball Young, will be seen. In this picture there are many questions for the patrons to answer as to whether the professor was justified in bringing Lola back to life, or not, etc.

Tuesday night, one of America's latest idols, Marguerite Clark will be presented in "The Crucible." Marguerite taking the part of the artist's model, a stronger play than "The Common Law."

Wednesday night, the picture that everyone is talking about, William Farnum, in "The Sign of the Cross," will be shown for one night only, as this picture must be rushed back to the coast. The intense sufferings of the early Christian martyrs is ably pictured in this film and William Farnum is even seen to better advantage than in his previous success, "The Spoilers."

Thursday night a new actress will be featured, Cecil Spooner, in "The Dancer and the King," a picture play that has created a storm of enthusiasm wherever it has been screened.

The Wednesday after, the comedy success of the year, Marie Dressler, Charles Chaplin, and Mabel Normand, in "Tillie's Punctured Romance" will be shown. This play will probably never be equalled in the comedy line. Six thousand feet, produced by Max Sennett, the Keystone man, with a laugh in every foot. This picture is now playing to capacity houses, and achieving another Kellerman success in Honolulu.

Exploits of Elaine For Valley Isle. Within the next week the first episode will be presented at the Valley Isle Theatre. The story is now running in the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and the San Francisco Examiner. Arnold Daly as the great scientific detective, Craig Kennedy, and Pearl White as the heroine, in this great serial of the "Clutching Hand."

CLOSING EXERCISES AT LAHAIALUNA. The closing exercises of the Lahai-aluna school will be held at 10 a. m. on the 11th of June. All friends of the school are cordially invited.

Kills Woman Blows Out Own Brains

Unable to Win Mrs. Sumi Manta, Gensaku Koido Shoots Her and Then Turns Shotgun On Himself—A Sickening Tragedy.

Because Sumi Manta, a young married woman persistently declined to favor his amorous advances, Gensaku Koido, a well known Waialuku Japanese, killed the woman and then blew out his own brains with a shot gun. The double tragedy occurred about 9 o'clock last Tuesday morning at the camp of a tunnel gang working on a water project above Waieco. The murdered woman was the wife of Mansukichi Manta, one of the laborers on the tunnel job, who was cooking for the gang, and the murderer was boss of the contract.

On plea of illness, Koido did not go out with the other four men on Tuesday. Some time later a number of shots were heard from the direction of the camp, but no attention was paid to them as it was presumed that Koido was shooting birds, as he was in the habit of doing. About 10 o'clock Joaquin Sanko, a water tender of the Waialuku plantation, in passing the camp, called to the woman, whom he knew, and receiving no reply, approached and was horrified to find the bodies of both Mrs. Manta and Koido lying near together on the ground, both in terribly mutilated condition.

Koido had evidently shot the woman several times at close range, powder burns showing on her clothing, while the heavy charge of shot had torn gaping holes almost through her body. The murderer had then deliberately lain upon the ground, cocked both barrels of his gun, and, with the muzzle at his mouth had discharged one barrel with his toe. The entire top of his head was torn off, presenting a sickening spectacle.

The dead woman had lived in Waialuku for the past five or ten years and was well liked by those who knew her. She had complained on several occasions to friends of Koido's unwelcome attentions, but as the job on which her husband was working was nearing completion, she had decided to remain until it was finished. She was 30 years of age. Koido was about 38, and unmarried.

Seminary Operetta Is Artistic Success

Large Audience Delighted By Pretty Pastoral—Production Given in the Open Air.

Last Saturday evening, May 29th, the girls of Maunaloa gave their annual concert on the seminary grounds at Paia. Perfect weather conditions, the large attendance of central Maui people, and the artistic rendering of the pretty, quaint Indian music, all contributed toward making the entertainment a great success.

The program consisted of the production of "The Feast of the Red Corn," an American Indian operetta in two acts, by Paul Bliss.

The maidens of the Wanta tribe of Indians once every year used to resort to a secluded spot to celebrate the Feast of the Red Corn. The one who during the feast finds the first red ear expresses the dearest wish to the sorceress (an old squaw of the tribe) who then calls upon the gods of the Four Winds to give a sign that the wish will be granted.

This year Queen Weeda Wanta joins the maidens, finds the lucky red ear, and has her dearest wish, that of bearing that her husband who is fighting in the north is still alive—granted.

The play was given in the open directly in front of the Seminary building with the beautiful West Maui mountains in the distance forming a most striking and romantic background for the little wooded glen in which the drama took place.

The scene was framed by a high crescent-shaped hedge inside of which were placed two wigwags, stacks of corn, and a camp-fire—a row of electric lights directly above the hedge furnished the light except during the moonlight scenes.

The characters of the operetta were the Queen, the old squaw, Impee Light (the queen's sister), and a chorus of thirty or more Indian maidens, all attired in pretty Indian costumes. Two of the most attractive dances were entitled: "Dance of the Ghosts of Dead Trees" and "The Flaming Arrow Dance."

The voices of the girls seemed especially sweet and adapted to express the harmony of the weird Indian music. Miss Alice Bond, the music teacher of the school, received many compliments for her training of the girl students as evidenced by the musical performance of the evening.

Kula Water Wasted

(Communicated.) On Memorial Day, the near the Sanitarium in Keokea, a fountain of water about fifteen feet high was observed steadily playing from a break in the Kula pipe line. This during the time of a three-weeks drought with a very meager water supply.

The pipe line should be put under ground as soon as possible now that the money to pay for it is available.

Prisoner Suicides In County Jail

Mentally Deranged and Thought Police Intend to Kill Him—Had But Six Days to Serve.

Tormented by the idea that the police were planning to kill him, Phillip Torres, a Porto Rican prisoner in the county jail, committed suicide on Wednesday night by hanging himself by means of a piece of cord to the bars of his cell. His cold body was found about one o'clock Thursday morning by a fellow prisoner. The unfortunate man had made use of a piece of cord he had worn as a belt, and although his cell was occupied by two other prisoners, he succeeded in carrying out his design without arousing them.

The dead man was serving a three-months sentence for vagrancy and had but six days remaining to serve. He was about 35 years of age, and has lived on Maui for many years. He was known to be mentally deficient and lately the conviction that the officers intended to kill him has been persistent. For this reason he escaped from the Makawao jail some weeks ago, and about a week ago he again escaped while up Ino Valley with a gang sent out to search for a dead horse. When captured a short time later, he begged the officers to shoot him instead of hanging or drowning him, which he seemed certain they intended doing. The deceased has a brother living at Waieco.

Lyceum Offerings For Coming Week

Tonight the Lyceum will present the seventeenth episode of The Million Dollar Mystery with four other exceptionally good reels. The intense interest aroused by this stirring serial is continually growing and many a moving picture fan will be sorry to see the close, in the 2nd episode, but some time next week the first episode of the "Exploits of Elaine" will arrive and it carries the reputation of being even a bigger drawing card than the Million Dollar Mystery. Monday night, the irresistible Marguerite Clark will be seen in one of the greatest dramatic successes of the year, "The Crucible" in five acts. Wednesday night, Cecil Spooner will make her debut in "The Dancer and the King," another story of love behind a throne, and Thursday night the second of the greatest features will arrive, Wilson Barrett's "The Sign of the Cross," featuring William Farnum, the well-known hero of The Spoilers, whose name will long be remembered as one of the greatest actors before the screen. This subject portrays the early struggles of the Christians in Rome and their intense persecution by Nero, the Roman Emperor. This film is another of the Cahiria class.

The Tuesday following this great hit of the moving picture season will be presented, Marie Dressler, the inimitable comedienne, will be seen in "Tillie's Punctured Romance," six reels of Keystone comedy, ably supported by Charlie Chaplin and Mabel Normand. This picture is at present being shown in Honolulu with the "Standing room only" sign displayed every night.
