Mauna Loa Fires Show Greater Vigor

[By Wireless Telegraph to The Bulletin.]
HILO, Nov. 14.—The Kona and Kau districts experienced an earthquake on Thursday which was followed by a marked increase in the activity of the Mauna Loa volcano.

The light on the clouds and the smoke from Mokuaweeweke makes the most striking display yet seen from Hilo and the Volcano House since the first outbreak.

DAVE FLEMING INSISTS THERE WAS LAVA FLOW

Dave F. Fleming, who made a trip to the Mokuaweeweke crater recently, has written the following to George P. Thilen, who was a member of the last party that made the ascent:

Pala, November 12, 1903.
Dear Thilen:
Am quite interested in the account of your trip to Mokuaweeweke and as to that flow you think was a get up, if you had gone along the rim to the Kau end of the active part of the crater you would certainly have seen the flow to which I had reference in my published interview in the Bulletin. It did not start from the crater but from an immense crack, fifty or a hundred yards from the rim of the crater and appeared to be connected in no way with the main crater. It is but a third of a mile or so in length, and only one or two hundred yards broad.

As to Dr. Douglas seeing it, he was within two miles of the place at any time for he was too sick to move from the tent. I can further authenticate my story with as good pictures of the flow as you wish.

Anyway, flow or no flow, we went scrap over it. You can have it as you wish for I know what I saw as well as you know what you didn't. It is a great sight and well worth the time and trouble. Your description is very good and I am to get hold of two or three copies to send away.

Yours truly,
DAVE T. FLEMING.

CARTER WILL KEEP MACHINERY GOING

Secretary Carter was asked this morning whether, on becoming acting-Governor with the retirement of Mr. Dole to take the Federal judgeship, he would immediately make his appointments of heads of departments, or whether he would defer such action until his commission as Governor of Hawaii was received from Washington.

The Secretary stated that he had not yet made up his mind on this point. One thing was certain, however, it was absolutely necessary that the machinery of the Government be continued as far as possible, uninterrupted. There are many matters more or less held up at present and it is Mr. Carter's idea to get everything going again as soon as possible.

It is understood that Mr. Carter will lose no time in making appointments when he takes charge of the administration.

The Annual Retreat of the Catholic priests from all the islands is in progress at the Catholic Mission and Cathedral. There are in the neighborhood of twenty priests in session.

NATAL DAY OF KALAKAUA I.

Ka la hanaa keia o ka Moi Kalakaua, ka mea nana i hookaulana a hoowaiwai kela mau mokupuni.

This is the birthday of the late King Kalakaua and in memory of the late Hawaiian sovereign the Kapiolani Estate today celebrated the events in its recently completed building at the corner of King and Alakea streets. In fact, it was a double celebration that took place, for the splendid luau given was also in the nature of a housewarming.

The guests were invited for 12:30 o'clock and soon after that hour, they were escorted into the office portion of the Kapiolani Estate rooms where male covered the frames in which are the pictures of the late King Kalakaua and Queen Kapiolani and where a table simply laden with all the delicacies known to the expert Hawaiian cooks was spread in honor of the occasion. Prince David and John F. Colburn were the hosts. Those present was as follows: Hon. Samuel Parker, Treasurer Kepoikai, B. F. Dillingham, Henry E. Highton, Judge George D. Gear, Attorney General Andrews, C. W. Ashford, J. T. McCrosson, W. A. Kinney, F. J. Testa, J. L. Kaulukou, Carlos A. Long, Ella Long, John H. Wise, J. L. Holt, Jesse P. Makainai, Edmund Hart, J. A. Magoon, Oliver Stillman and a Bulletin representative. Prince David occupied the head of the table while opposite him was Judge Gear.

When the luau had been in progress for some little time, Treasurer Kepoikai arose and proposed a silent toast to the late King Kalakaua which was drunk standing. Next came a silent toast to Queen Kapiolani, proposed by Hon. Samuel Parker, which was also drunk standing.

Mr. Parker, acting as toastmaster, called on B. F. Dillingham for a speech. In response, Mr. Dillingham spoke, in part, as follows:

"Speaking is a thing I never do if I can avoid it. I have never done anything to Col. Parker and cannot understand why he called on me. He spoke about a toast to those alive and kicking. I have no kick coming nor any occasion to kick. I am very glad to be alive on this occasion. It is a beautiful day and the rain of yesterday is but a repetition of the fine showers that always come at just about the time of the anniversary of King Kalakaua's birthday to beautify and freshen the country.

"I feel very hopeful for the future of this country which I have had the honor to be identified with since I was a young man. I have always tried to identify myself with the best interests of the country. Very probably I have made mistakes as everyone else has done. As I say, I am hopeful for the country and I do not believe there will be much money here unless we have sugar."

Mr. Dillingham here went on to give statistics, showing the remarkable increase in the output of the plantations of the Islands. Judge Highton and others followed Mr. Dillingham.

In the harbor this afternoon are being run the miniature yacht races which always come on the occasion of the anniversary of the birthday of the late Hawaiian sovereign.

New Federal Judge Has Immediate Problem

When recently appointed United States District Judge Sanford B. Dole takes the bench on Wednesday morning he will find confronting him an interesting and important question relative to the present status of the local Federal Judiciary which will call up an early determination.

According to the United States Revised Statutes, it is said, Judge Dole will be unable to proceed with any business pending before the District Court, all proceedings pending when the judgeship became vacant by the death of Judge Morris M. Estee, by the wording of Section 602 of the Statutes, being continued until the next term of court.

The law on the subject, which does not appear to have been amended or to be qualified in any way, and which seems to render unnecessary the haste with which Judge Dole's commission is forwarded from Washington, is as follows:

"Revised Statutes of the United States—Judiciary—Section 602 (page 105).—When the office of judge of any District Court is vacant, all process, pleadings and proceedings pending before such court shall be continued of course until the next stated term after the appointment and qualification of his successor; etc."

According to the above Judge Dole, continuing the present term of Federal court, can take up nothing that is not new business; matters, many of them, of great importance, which have been under investigation by the grand jury called by the late Judge Estee, cannot be proceeded with until the next term of court.

The Federal grand jury, which, among other things, has been investigating, with the strenuous assistance of U. S. District Attorney Breckons, the alleged existence of a secret society of Japanese and others for the prevention of prosecution in the matter of the importation of women for immoral purposes, slave dealing and prostitute protection, will be unable to even make a report at the present term, according to the law quoted.

The next regular term of court opens early in April, 1904, over four and a half months hence, and the present Federal grand jury may not report until that time.

There is also pending, it is understood, an examination into certain alleged irregularities in connection with the House of Representatives, all members of this part of the Legislature having been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury to tell what they know concerning certain vouchers said to be missing and, perhaps, in regard to other matters.

This morning, according to their subpoenas, all the members of the House of Representatives were present in the hallway of the Judiciary building, without the entrance to the District Court where the Federal grand jury met at 10 o'clock only to adjourn until Wednesday morning when Judge Dole is expected to don the robes of office.

When court opens Wednesday all defendants will be present, together with numerous witnesses in various cases.

Japanese witnesses, and there are some seventy or eighty in the alleged crime protection matter, will not appear again until Monday next.

If the letter of the statute above quoted is carried out, defendants will be held over until the April term, witnesses will be sent about their business or, some of them, detained in custody for over four months, and the grand jury will adjourn until the opening of the new term, leaving Judge Dole with nothing to do except in connection with newly arising matters.

All pending proceedings will be continued, says the Statute, "of course"—without order.

Even should the Federal grand jury hand in to Judge Dole a report, returning indictments, and defendants should be ordered placed on trial, in all probability their counsel would raise the point of law in question, holding that their clients could not be properly placed on trial under the statute which provides that all matters of the judgeship having been rendered vacant while their cases were pending.

Ever since the death of Judge Estee the status of the local Federal court has been more or less in question and U. S. District Attorney Breckons and Assistant U. S. District Attorney Dunne have devoted some time to reference to authorities on the subject.

The question under Section 602 of the revised Statutes will probably be first awaiting Judge Dole's decision when he assumes his new duties.

If the wording of the Statute, as generally interpreted, is final, say those of legal mind who are discussing the interesting position, what was the necessity of rushing the matter of a successor to Judge Estee.

Some light will probably be thrown on the subject on Wednesday.

U. S. District Attorney Breckons stated this morning that Judge Dole would sit for the first time on Wednesday morning and that grand jurors, defendants, and witnesses would then attend.

Governor Dole stated that he looked for his commission as judge in the America Maru mail due this evening and that Secretary Carter would become Acting-Governor by virtue of his office as soon as he (Dole) took oath as Federal Judge.

Tomorrow will be Mr. Dole's last day as Governor of Hawaii. Today he is busy signing numerous documents awaiting his autograph and otherwise clearing up matters of business prior to his retirement from the Capitol to cross the street to the Judiciary building to preside in the Federal court.

There is just the possibility that the present Federal grand jury, so long engaged in important investigations, may never be able to report and that all matters examined into by it will have to be commenced all over again by a new grand jury at the April term. This is one of the questions raised by those discussing the situation, based on the section of the Revised Statutes above quoted.

LAWBREAKERS GAUGHT

David Kaapa, the detective, has returned to work after a vacation and evidence of his skill is already to be found. David today took two offenders to the station house and had them locked up. One of them was Walter Kolomoku, who is alleged to be the boy who rode over and injured an old man, named Kahalehuhio, at Waikiki last Thursday. David has been working hard on this case.

The other prisoner was a young Hawaiian, named Kahlan. This fellow was caught by Kaapa after he had terrorized the residents of Nuuanu and Wylie streets for some time by a series of petty burglaries.

Judge Gear this morning sustained demurrer in the suit (to set aside deed) of Kalua, alleging fraud on the part of Cecil Brown and the late James Campbell.

CAN STOP CANCER

London, Nov. 5.—In a lecture here Dr. Jesse Johnson gave the details of cancer treatment discovered by Dr. Otto Schmidt of Cologne, which Dr. Johnson has been investigating and proposes to try in England. Schmidt believes he has isolated the parasite, on the presence of which in the sufferer he believes cancer to depend. He says he has sterilized the parasite, and also that by injecting it into animals he has produced a serum which destroys cancer cells. One of the most impressive features of the treatment is that the presence of cancerous growths can be discovered through a reaction under infection by the serum. It appears, moreover, to reduce malignant tumors to the level of innocent growths, thereby limiting their spread and rendering their removal effective. For the complete cure Dr. Schmidt's treatment requires: First, the arrest of process; second, the removal of growth, and third, that no vital organ has been seriously injured. Johnson deprecated the acceptance of the treatment yet as a definite cure, but said he was convinced that it was worthy of experiment.

KAUAI WINS THIRD H. A. C.'S WIN OUT

Honolulu lovers of polo have no complaint to make in connection with the last of the series of three contests which was fought to a finish in the presence of nearly a thousand people on the field at Moanalua last Saturday afternoon. As was stated in the Bulletin, the Kauai men had made up their minds to win, notwithstanding the fact that they had lost the first two games and therefore the tournament. By their play Saturday and for that matter, their work in the second game on Wednesday last, they won for themselves a place by the side of Oahu at the head of the list of polo players of the islands. In doing this, they not only pleased their friends and brought satisfaction home to themselves, but they placed themselves directly before the committee in charge of the work of choosing a team to represent Hawaii at Burlingame, as eligible candidates.

Kauai's play on Saturday was superior to that displayed in the two former games, showing the advantage of gaining a more intimate knowledge of the field on the part of both horse and man. They won from Oahu as had been predicted, piling up a score of 4-1-4 to 2-3-4. The goals without penalties were 5 to 4.

The interest was intense from start to finish. People became so excited at stages that they jumped from their carriages and rushed to the sideboards, a proceeding which should be put a stop to since at one stage when there was a rush of both teams toward the town side, one or two of the ponies became frightened at the close proximity of spectators.

Oahu succeeded in making the first goal, Dillingham carrying the ball through for the blues. However, this did not frighten the Kauai team, who soon evened the score. Oahu added another goal but had a half taken off for a foul by Dillingham and a quarter for a safety, leaving the score 1-4 to 1 in favor of the blue. From this point, the Kauai men forged ahead and then kept the lead although at one stage it looked very much as if Oahu might win out after all.

Oahu played the hardest game of the season. It was an uphill fight against players who were ready to take desperate chances to win. The blues did the very finest of work but the red men stuck like leeches to their opponents and played such brilliant team work that they were unable to pile up their score. There was less individual playing on the part of the Garden Isle men than during the first two games, even Malina checking himself and allowing other players to take the ball when it was a case of better team work.

For the Oahu men, Castle and Dillingham easily carried off the honors. Castle was a perfect tower of strength when it came to getting out of the bunch and riding down the field with the ball. His mallet work was fine and he displayed head work worthy of men much more advanced in years. Dillingham was everywhere. Indeed, it was necessary for him to play harder than ever because there were periods where his team showed weakness.

Dole was not allowed to get into the game to any great extent for Spalding stuck to him for keeps and would not allow him to monopolize the field. When he did get the ball, he was not the sure hitter that the two previous games showed him to be.

Judd, who played in place of Atkinson, was always where the ball happened to be but his mallet work was faulty and he missed some fine chances. However, under the circumstances he did very well, not having had the practice necessary. His horsemanship was faultless and he did some good riding-off.

For the Kauai team, the honors were pretty evenly divided. Chas. Rice managed his men well and was always on the spot when needed. In close quarters, where both teams were missing the ball time and again, he would rush in and carry the ball toward the goal of the opposing side. He showed his usual grit and took some desperate chances.

Arthur Rice did better than on any previous occasion. His work was a little short of brilliant and his rushes down the field with the ball running freely in front of him were the cause for tremendous applause by the hundreds present. He hardly ever missed the ball.

Malina must be given great credit for keeping his natural tendency to shine in abeyance and sacrificing everything to the team work that wins games. He invariably went where he was ordered and not where his inclination dictated.

As for Spalding, he is certainly one of the cleverest players at riding off that Honolulu has ever seen and it was due to a large extent to this most important work that Kauai defeated Oahu.

During the game Malina lamed one of his horses very badly. Chas. Rice had his cheek cut open by Dillingham's mallet and Dillingham himself got a swifly flying ball in the ribs as he rode in front of Malina. When Rice was hit he reeled in his saddle and was out of the game. The ball rang, the players retired to the town side, the wound was dressed and the players started out again but the bell rang for the end of the second period. When the third period started, Rice was himself again, though blood trickled from the wound up to the end of the game.

Both teams were lacking in precision at striking in critical places. On several occasions both Oahu and Kauai had a chance to score, the ball being directly in front of the goal, but they were unable to connect.

When the ball was thrown in for the beginning of the game, A. Rice got the ball out. Dillingham then took it and despite the riding-off of Malina, scored a goal in a few seconds.

Dillingham got the ball out and made a good stroke toward goal for a return by A. Rice. A second stroke by the latter for a good gain and Castle, riding around the bunch, carried the ball in front of the goal. A. Rice got the ball out of the dangerous position and carried it toward goal to Malina, who sent it straight through the posts for Kauai's first.

Spalding rode Dole off and prevented him from getting into the game. In the next play A. Rice got the ball and took it full tilt toward goal. Dillingham got in two good strokes and Dole, getting away from Spalding, caught the ball and opened up the way for Judd. Malina came in at this point and the ball went to the side lines. Castle got in his work, Judd followed and Dole scored another goal.

In the second period the play became faster, Kauai becoming more aggressive. A. Rice and Malina both scored. The third period found the horses somewhat tired, only two animals for each player being allowed on account of Kauai having a number laid up. Each side scored a goal, the honors going to C. Rice and Dillingham.

At the beginning of the last period, the score stood 3-1-4 to 1-3-4 in favor of Oahu. Malina made a hard try for goal but was ridden off by Judd. The ball was advanced to Oahu's goal and Spalding was about to drive it through when Dole got in and took it away. Castle, by quick work, took the ball up the field. Castle finally scored after a series of good plays by Judd. Arthur Rice next got the ball and carried it toward Oahu's goal, Spalding sending it through a few more plays and the bell rang for the end of the game.

The score was as follows:

SANFORD PLAYERS SCORE BIG HIT

The Orpheum theater could not hold another spectator when the curtain rose Saturday evening on the first production of the season of the Walter Sanford Company of players, "The Power of Gold."

Every seat in the house was taken and the aisles and doorways were packed.

The initial drama was enthusiastically received and the great crowd went away well satisfied with the talent displayed by the accomplished actors in the forceful melodrama. Reverberating applause marked the climaxes and hearty laughter greeted the lighter passages of the play.

As the adventures, Ethelie Earle, displayed a splendid appreciation of the more tragic lines and an effective ability that was lightly appreciated.

The leading woman of the company, Laura Wall, as the wronged wife, caught the sympathy of the audience, holding the house by her strong and pleasing presentation.

As an Irish maid, Adelaide Smith was refreshing and clever.

William Desmond, leading man, exhibited an understanding of his art that challenged criticism. As the wronged brother, Paul Judson, he called for much appreciative manifestation.

The villain, played by Walter Sanford, was everything that could be desired of the villain and the hisses of the gallery endorsed the manner of his acting. As the Hindoo doctor, C. C. Henderson won merited attention by his clever business.

Comedian Tommy Shearer kept the house in roars of laughter.

The scenery was excellent and the whole play a great success, one of the best ever witnessed by an Orpheum audience. Saturday's crowd numbered nearly twelve hundred.

BEAT ARTILLERY MEN TO THE TUNE OF 29 TO 0

LIEUT. BEHR OUT OF GAME—QUARTER-BACK, A PART INDIAN, CARRIED OFF ON A STRETCHER.

A comparatively small crowd attended the first football game of the season between the H. A. C. and the Artillery teams at the baseball park last Saturday afternoon. The game itself was rather too one-sided to be of great interest. The overpowering weight of the H. A. C. proved too much for the soldiers. The H. A. C.'s went through their opponents' line pretty much as they pleased while at other teams such men as Heneer, Blaisdell and Fernandez made fine runs around the ends.

The Artillery team won the toss. They kicked the ball 35 yards. Fernandez caught it and carried it off. There was considerable kicking in the beginning of this half, Blaisdell making one 40 yard kick. The H. A. C. got the ball and gained in bucks through the Artillery line. The Artillery got possession of the sphere but lost it to the H. A. C.'s who took it down close to the Artillery line. Here Joy in these successive bucks carried the ball over the line and scored the first touchdown. Blaisdell made the goal.

The H. A. C.'s kicked off but lost five yards on an offside play. Houghtailing kicked off again. The ball was caught by Modera but as he fumbled, no gain was made. The soldiers tried a couple of plays through the line and then a kick. At this point Joy was ruled off the field for unnecessary roughness in pushing over the Artillery fullback and trying to block his kick. Kanee was put in Joy's place but was ruled off a few minutes later for a similar reason. Crook took his place. The Honolulu got the ball on the Artillery kick and bucked down the field. Blaisdell carrying the ball across the line. Houghtailing kicked goal.

The Honolulu were now paralyzed several times for offside plays. The Artillery played up well and made ground. They then turn to kick but their fullback fumbled the ball. The H. A. C.'s got the ball and carried it down across the line by a series of fine plays, Houghtailing scoring.

Houghtailing kicked the ball to within five yards of the goal line. Rogers caught it and brought it forward 20 yards. The Artillery tried two end runs and then a kick. Reuser made a fine 20-yard run around the end. The Artillery placed Nalock in Behr's place and Smithies in Rogers place. Sullivan made 20 yards in an end run. The H. A. C.'s had the ball about 8 yards from the soldiers' goal which time was called with the score being 18 to 0 in favor of the H. A. C. team.

In the second half Andrews took Jarrett's place at left end of the H. A. C.'s. The H. A. C. kicked off. Smithies bucked a couple of times failing to gain. The ball was kicked to Blaisdell who carried it nearly 30 yards. The H. A. C. carried the ball through their opponents' line for big gains several times in succession. Fernandez scoring a touchdown, Blaisdell made the goal.

The H. A. C. kicked off. The soldiers again tried to buck and had to resort to a kick. A little later Blaisdell made a beautiful 25 yard run. Fernandez fumbled the ball. The H. A. C. were fined 5 yards on Crook's being offside. The Artillery kicked the ball to Fernandez. Aided by excellent interference Sullivan made 20 yards and a touchdown. Blaisdell tried for goal but failed. This made the score 29-0 in favor of the H. A. C. and was the final result. Ellis took McDuffie's place. The Artillery was fined a couple of times on offside plays. The H. A. C. carried the ball to within four yards of the Artillery goal when time was called.

The officials deserve great credit for their work. They have demonstrated to the football players that no roughness will be permitted; any man indulging in questionable playing will be promptly ruled off the field as was the case Saturday.

A combination of South and Central American States against the United States would cause joy in Europe, to take the case of the Venezuela fracas if for no other reason.

At the rate the football leaders of Harvard, Yale and Pennsylvania fell by the wayside on Saturday it will be necessary for the athletic members of the universities to do some tall hustling in their preparation for next season.

The series of games completed Saturday by Kaula and Oahu teams gives polo an established place as a leader in inter-island sports. As long as polo players can assure the public of such contests as have been witnessed this year there is no doubt of the attendance being large enough to properly support the game in Hawaii.

According to the morning press prospective Governor Carter should accept no suggestions regarding his appointments; they should be dictated by the morning press. Unless Carter has undergone a remarkable change of character in a few short weeks, he will be his own boss, accepting suggestions from all but dictation from none.

Outside island representation is a problem that will be up to Acting Governor Carter in framing his plans for department heads under his administration. All things being equal the other islands have a right to serious consideration. The complaint has ever been that Honolulu takes everything, and while county government will largely do away with the old time feeling, it will be a gain to the Territorial administration if outside districts are made to feel that they stand on something like an equality with Oahu.

The Ohio Law Journal makes a note of a recent decision under the Chinese exclusion law which, if it is upheld, will have a far reaching effect in this Territory. The Journal says: "The Chinese exclusion law will be virtually nullified if a decision rendered by Judge Wine, in the United States court at Cleveland, Ohio, is sustained. The judge decided that before he could issue an order for the deportation of three Chinese who were before him, charged with being illegally in the United States, that the government must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused were Chinese and not natives of some other country, such as Korea, etc. The officials were not able to prove this and the Mongolians were discharged. Heretofore the courts have held that if the Chinese arrested could not prove he was lawfully in this country he was ordered deported."

VOTING BY MACHINE.

Hawaii during its elections had heard a great deal of political machinery in its relation to the vote and occasionally suggestions have been offered in favor of voting by machine. From all accounts the voting machine is subject to none of the criticism that invariably falls to the lot of the so-called political machine in its work for the public. Some years ago a sample of the voting machine was sent to Honolulu and exhibited by Mr. Carter. It attracted passing attention, but like all innovations was not seriously considered.

Events of the recent election have renewed the discussion on ways and means for handling the ballot in a manner that will accurately record the ballot of each voter and place it beyond the power of thoughtless or corrupt men to destroy.

The voting machine has been gradually working its way westward, and in the recent San Francisco election was given a test, which, though it was unofficial furnished evidence that the machine-recorded vote is more accurate and rapid than the old man-handled ballot. The machine used in San Francisco was located in one of the largest voting precincts of the city, a general invitation being extended to all voters to test it.

The Chronicle says, editorially, of the experiment:

"The experiment proved that machine voting is not only a time-saving method to the voter himself, but also to the Registrar of Voters in the compilation of the final returns. If the city's entire vote were taken through the agency of voting machines the returns would be all in the hands of the Registrar and the official count announced within less than two hours after the close of the polls. In fact, the period of suspense would be governed solely by the time consumed in conveying the record of the vote of the remotest precinct to the Registrar's office and that of the necessary tabulation for totals. While the machine vote of Tuesday was in his hands five minutes after the polls closed, it would have taken nearly twenty-four hours to have counted the same number of ballots in some precincts by the present method of voting.

"The economy of the voting machine was also exemplified in the fact that it needed no party watchers. These are now required at each polling booth. There were, consequently, 960 party watchers at the 320 precinct polling booths during Tuesday's election, whose employment represented a cost of nearly $10,000. Then, again, the voting machine dispenses with the services of election clerks, which is another big saving. It would not require many elections, therefore, to save the entire cost of the machines, if adopted. For economical reasons it is obvious that they should displace the present system of voting. Besides the public want them."

Experience in eastern cities where the voting machine is used officially bears out the unofficial test of San Francisco, and although the machine is making headway slowly it seems to fill a long-felt want. It is not likely Hawaii will take to the new departure more speedily than mainland communities. The project has sufficient worth, however, to warrant the advisability of preparation for an unofficial test next year, when it will be possible to make a trial which will not be forgotten before the meeting of the Legislature.

COMPLAINANT IS NOT AN ABUTTER

Difficulty Construing Legal Phrase "In Compromise."

SUPREME COURT DECISION IN SMITH VS. ROSE ET AL

EACH JUSTICE WRITES HIS OPINION — DECREE APPEALED FROM REVERSED—BILL IS DISMISSED.

The Supreme Court this morning rendered a decision in the matter of Henry Smith v. Mary A. S. Rice and Sanford B. Dale, as Governor of the Territory, appeal from first circuit court.

Says the syllabus: The complainant is not an abutter within the terms of section 354, Civil Laws, and has no right to demand that the land embraced in the abandoned street be first offered to him, at a reasonable price, prior to its sale to another. Held, that under the facts of the case the decree appealed from should be reversed and the bill dismissed.

Justice Galbraith, writing the opinion of the court, says in part: "This is a bill in equity filed by the complainant, Smith, seeking the cancellation of a deed executed by the Governor of the Territory conveying to the respondent, Rose, a part of an abandoned street or lane. The land conveyed was triangular in form and contained an area of 1930 square feet. The Circuit Judge found for the complainant and decreed cancelling the deed as prayed. The respondents appealed.

While the bill alleges fraud in the execution of the deed the complainant relies in the main on his assumed rights as an abutting owner under section 354 Civil Laws, to have the abandoned street offered to him a reasonable price prior to the sale to the respondent and the failure of the Territorial officials to make such offer. It was decided that Smith was an abutting owner.

It seems to have been conceded by all of the parties that the title to the land conveyed vested in the Territory under section 354, although the record shows that the land was not "taken for a highway or improvements under this Act" and that no proceedings were had to vacate or abandon the "highway" as provided in this act and that the "highway" or foot path of which this land formed a part was abandoned by those who were accustomed to use it prior to the passage of "this Act" in 1892. And it was also assumed that the Governor had the right to convey the land under section 354. While these assumptions are not free from doubt and may be entirely unfounded, in fact and in law, for the purposes of this case, we shall assume them to be true.

Under the issues presented there is but one difficulty in deciding this case, namely, to determine the proper construction to be placed on that part of the section providing that in case the land embraced in the abandoned highway shall be sold by the Territory "it shall be first offered to the abutters in compromise, for a reasonable price," etc. If the phrase "in compromise" were eliminated the difficulty would vanish and the meaning would be plain.

The construction adopted by the Circuit Judge treats the phrase "in compromise" as meaningless and the section as meaning exactly what it would if those words had been omitted. We cannot approve of this construction since we are bound to assume that the legislature had some purpose in inserting the words. The position of the phrase in the sentence seems to warrant the inference that it was used to express the purposes of making the offer and to limit the abutters who were given the right to demand the offer be made. All abutters on an abandoned or vacated street were not given the right by this statute to demand that the land be offered first to them, it was only such abutters as might be injured by the vacation of the highway and thus have a claim for damages against the Territory and whose claim for such damages might be settled or compromised by such offer and a sale in pursuance thereof. To the abutter who was not damaged it would be impossible to make an offer "in compromise." He would have nothing to compromise with the Territory for the reason that he was not injured by its acts.

This interpretation does not mean that the land shall be offered to the injured abutter at a reasonable price in exchange or settlement of a claim for damages that an abutter may have on account of the vacation of a street or that the amount of such claim for damages shall be estimated by the Superintendent of Public Works and credited on the price of the land. This of course would be within one meaning of the word "in compromise" but the word in this statute is undoubtedly used in another sense, namely, as "an agreement or compact adopted as a means of superceding an undetermined controversy." Cent. Dic.

The Legislature, by virtue of its general power over the highways of the state, may, as we have said, undoubtedly order the vacation of such of them as it may deem expedient to vacate, but where the vacation of a highway will cause special injury to an adjoining owner he is entitled to compensation.

Of two abutting owners on an abandoned highway, one has the same free and convenient access to his premises after as before the vacation while the access of the other to his premises is entirely cut off. No offer in compromise could be made to the first for the reason that he has sustained no injury and has nothing to compromise with the Territory but between the latter and the Territory there exists "an undetermined controversy" on account of his property taken and his right destroyed by the abandonment of the street. The latter is the abutter to whom the land must be offered before sale and the former although an abutter is not within the terms of the statute and has no right under it.

By the offer in compromise to Mrs. Rose and her acceptance she obtained an outlet to the highway and her claim for damages that would have accrued had the land been sold to complainant or any other person was "superseeded," i. e., "displaced, supplanted, set-aside, suspended, stayed." The conveyance to her may properly be called, "an agreement or compact adopted as the means of superceding an undetermined controversy." This was the direct effect of the sale to her and in this sense the land was offered to her "in compromise" and she was the only person who was entitled under the statute to such an offer.

The bill should have been dismissed for want of equity. The decree appealed from is reversed and the cause remanded to the Circuit Judge with direction to dismiss the bill and for such further proceedings as may be proper.

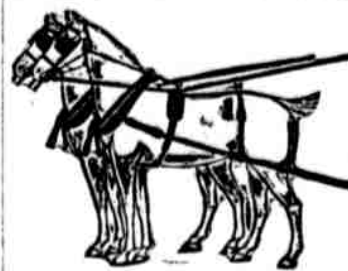

E. C. Peters for complainant.
J. W. Cathcart for the Governor.
Kinney, McClanahan and Bigelow for Mrs. Rose.
Chief Justice Frear, concurring, says, in brief:

I concur in the foregoing conclusion, but express no opinion as to the significance of the words "in compromise" in the statute, except that the construction of those words contended for by the plaintiff, to the effect that they require the entire land (e. g., a long street that is closed) to be offered as a whole to all the abutters to be divided among themselves in compromise with each other, clearly cannot be sustained. That construction would violate both the language and the spirit of the section and be unreasonable and impracticable. The words "in compromise" in this section are to say the least used somewhat loosely and their meaning is very obscure.

The whole transaction cannot be set aside merely because the Superintendent of Public Works may not have divided the land exactly as the court would. Some room must be left for the exercise of discretion in the execution of the details. No better mode of division than that made has been suggested to the court, and it is not clear that there is any better or fairer.

Justice Perry, concurring, says, among other things: I concur in the conclusion that the bill should be dismissed. In my opinion the offer contemplated in Section 354 is to be made to all of the abutters whoever the class so designated may include, that is to say, to each of the abutters the portion on which his land abuts. The words "in compromise" do not, as I think, limit the class of abutters to whom the offer is to be made, but are to be read and understood as though inserted immediately after the word offered, i. e., they were intended to show the nature or the object of the offer and not to describe the permitted purchasers at private sale.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Wilder Steamship Company was held this morning at 10 o'clock. Reports were read and the officers of the past year re-elected to serve for the ensuing year.

SHORT STORY FOR EVENING HOURS

AN OCEAN LOVE AFFAIR

"It isn't really necessary," said King Mark to the handsome young scapegrace before him. "She could get back all right alone, or they could, rather, for, of course, she has a relative with her. Still, if you're coming anyway about that time, I'd take it very kindly of you if you'd manage to join them and relieve the monotony of the voyage."
 "All right," said Tristan. "You give me their rank address and I'll look them up as soon as I get anywhere in their neighborhood."
 "No, you can't do that, because they are planning Norway, Sweden, the midnight sun, et cetera, while you are in for Athens and southern Europe. But if you don't get potted in the Balkans you may find out their plans any time during August through Bear Bros. in London, and the same steamer can gather you all in between Hamburg and Land's End."
 "How long has she been over?"
 "For two years." Then King Mark divined what his friends was probably thinking and laughed a little awkwardly. "I dare say your impatience would never have stood it, but she's a young, I'm busy, and the months have stretched into years almost without our knowing it. However, if you bring her safely home, the wedding will follow in short order."
 Tristan laughed. He liked King Mark, but he couldn't imagine what manner of girl could be wildly impatient to marry him, and on second thought it appeared that no girl had been wildly impatient to marry him.
 Mark King—his real name had been transposed into King Mark because of his royal manner of ruling the ups and downs of certain stocks—was big of heart, broad of mind, and admired in many ways, but to Tristan, unaccountable and often boring.
 Tristan was blonde, blue-eyed, smooth-shaven, adorable, irresistible, a jolly boon companion for men, and as a female pastime, beyond compare. Men less wise in the markets, and more wise as to other things, would never have sent such a one to bring home a prospective bride, but it was quite like King Mark. It was also like him that he never gave a thought to the result, not even as the summer months wore away and August's end drew nigh.
 The end of August brought Tristan to Bremen for embarkation. His one trunk had become five, and the five were hardly aboard when their owner retired to his cabin with a precipitancy dictated by feelings over which the Channel's chopiness had more control than himself.
 He stayed there until after the English port had been made and left. He might have felt badly over his derelict behavior in regard to those who had been entrusted to his care, but he felt infinitely worse over something else, and cared not whether King Mark's bride was alive or dead until after the Lizard had been left well behind, and the slow steady roll of the ocean had relieved the horror of his internal volcano.

 Then he went on deck. He had engaged three chairs together and hoped that they had been able to occupy theirs that morning. But the chairs were empty; so he read the cards and got the names into his slightly dizzy brain, and then stretched himself out, smelt the salt air for half an hour, drank some beef tea, and began to feel fairly fit once more.
 "I ought to find out where they're located," he said, when returning strength made the idea of moving appear pleasurable.
 He got the number from the head steward and went to the passageway. The first officer had moved out for their accommodation, and as Tristan went along the corridor, the first officer's door suddenly opened and a very lovely, brown-eyed girl came out with a hot-water bag in her hand.
 "I've been ringing and ringing," she began furiously; then saw that he was not a steward, stopped and altered her speech.
 "Do get this filled as quick as you can," she said, commanding, handing him the bag. "I don't know how to ask for hot water in German. Don't let them wet the case—and hurry!"
 He gasped—then obeyed. The hot water bureau was having its capacity taxed to the utmost. Everyone who did not want a trunk that was in the hold was perishing for hot water that instant. Tristan managed to secure his quota, but it took time, and when he returned and tapped at the door, he heard the girl exclaim:
 "There—he hasn't gone overboard, after all!"
 She opened a crack and took in the bag.
 "Thank you a million times," she said, without showing anything but her hand. "You are Tristan, I know! I'm Isolde! Go on deck and I'll be up presently. Auntie's awfully ill and I must fix her first."
 He went up, feeling a little stunned. After a while she appeared, wrapped in a long blue cloak and followed by a steward overloaded with things for making her comfortable. He jumped up and assisted in establishing her. When she was enthroned he took his station at her side and felt a deep content for himself and a pity for poor old King Mark, probably the first compassion ever vouchsafed to that character.
 "This is jolly," the girl said. "I feel I'm going to enjoy this trip immensely. I always have a good time aboard ship, though, because Auntie's always ill. You see, it's perfectly respectable, because she's a chaperon just the same if she can't leave her berth. And when she can't leave her berth she doesn't bother me a little bit."
 "I see," said Tristan. "If she appears to gain at any time we'll give her a dose of lobster or some such daintiness."
 "Oh, that isn't necessary," laughed Isolde, "just the smell of coffee will do for her. She is the sickest mortal on the water that you ever saw. I've been sick myself, but never like that. I don't believe she'll ever cross again, if she gets home alive this time."
 "And you?" he asked.
 "Oh, I'll be willing to settle down, too, for a while." Her face fell slightly. "I'll have to settle down whether

Why Panama Was Recognized

Washington, Nov. 6.—The United States Government today formally recognized the new Republic of Panama. The State Department announced that instructions had been sent to United States Minister Beupre, at Bogota, and to Mr. Ehrman, the United States Vice-Consul at Panama and now acting Consul there, to inform the governments of Colombia and Panama, respectively, that the de facto government is recognized.
 The decision to recognize the de facto Government of Panama was arrived at after a protracted session of the Cabinet, at which every member was present except Secretaries Root and Wilson. The President emphasized the importance of the recognition of the de facto Government. With the withdrawal of the Colombian officials the isthmus was left entirely without a government unless that established by the revolutionists should be recognized, and this step seemed necessary for the transaction of the routine business of the United States on the isthmus.
 The following telegram was sent by the State Department today to Ehrman, the acting Consul of the United States at Panama:
 "The people of Panama have, by an apparently unanimous movement, dissolved their political relations with the Republic of Colombia and assumed their independence. When you are satisfied that a de facto government, republican in form and without substantial opposition from its own people, has been established in the State of Panama, you will enter into relations with it as responsible government of the territory and look to it for all due action to protect the persons and property of the citizens of the United States and to keep open the Isthmian transit in accordance with the obligations of existing treaties governing the relations of the United States to that territory."
 Immediately afterward an instruction was sent by telegram to Mr. Beupre, the United States Minister at Bogota, in the following terms:
 "The people of Panama having by an apparently unanimous movement, dissolved their political connection with the Republic of Colombia and having adopted a government of their own, republican in form, with which the Government of the United States has entered into relations, the President of the United States, in accordance with the ties of friendship which have so long and so happily existed between the respective nations, most earnestly commends to the governments of Colombia and of Panama the peaceful and equitable settlement of all questions at issue between them. He holds that he is bound not merely by treaty obligation, but by the interests of civilization to see that the peaceful traffic of the world across the Isthmus of Panama shall not longer be disturbed by a constant succession of unnecessary and wasteful civil wars."
 A copy of the cablegram sent by the State Department to Minister Beupre regarding the recognition of the de facto Government of Panama was transmitted to Dr. Herran, the Colombian Charge, this afternoon by Secretary Hay. It was accompanied simply by a brief, polite note, announcing that it was a copy of the communication to the United States Minister at Bogota.
 Among the arrivals from Maui in the regular boat Sunday were the following: H. C. Meyers, J. W. Robertson, F. J. Cross, J. M. Coulson, Mrs. M. K. Keohokalohe and C. W. Dickey.

The principal features of the month were the eruption of Mauna Loa, the heavy electric storm on Maui and Lanai and the low average temperature. Smoke was first observed issuing from the crater of Mauna Loa (Mokuaweewe) at 12:45 p. m. on the 6th, and activity has continued up to the present time. At the close of the month the lava lake was reported to have risen to within 700 feet of the crater's rim, but as this is an eye estimate due allowance must be made; the best authority gives an estimated rise of the lava as from 25 to 30 feet above the floor of the crater, which, when the volcano was not in an active state, was 800 feet below the crater's summit. This crater is oblong in shape, being 1.7 miles long and 1.47 miles in width. The mountain has thus far withstood the pressure from within, and no outbreak from its sides has occurred, hence no flow of lava. In connection with this eruption the report of Captain Coath of the British Ship Ormsby is of more than passing interest. Captain Coath reports having experienced a remarkable disturbance of the sea lasting from the afternoon of the 5th to the morning of the 6th, currents and high cross seas in every direction, the vessel making no headway and unmanageable. Mauna Loa bearing E.S.E. distant about 80 miles, on the afternoon of the 6th the activity of the volcano was noticed from the ship. There are no reports of earthquakes previous to the outbreak which occurred without warning and an interesting question arises as to whether this disturbed condition of the sea was the result of a cause, or an effect of volcanic activity.

The electric storm on Maui began on the afternoon of the 14th, and lasted until morning of the 15th, being most severe during the night, considerable damage was done by lightning both on this island and Lanai which also experienced the same storm.

The mean temperature for the month, 75.1 degrees is the lowest October mean, with one exception (74.7 in 1894) on record during twenty-one years observations at the Weather Bureau, and is 1.1 degrees below the normal for that month. The mean relative humidity was 73.9 above the normal. Dew eight mornings. Heavy gale on the morning of the 11th. Smoke on S.E. horizon 16th. Distant thunder from E.E. a. m. and p. m. 15th, and lightning during the night, the latter also reported from Hilo to the N.W. (electric storm of 14th and 15th on Maui and Lanai). Thunder morning of the 15th.

Reports from other stations: Hilo, earthquake 6.05 a. m. on the 2d; lightning to N.W. on the evening of the 14th; heavy thunder shower on the 16th Kohala, Hawaii "Kona" (wind from S.S.W.) 14th to 16th inclusive, trade winds on all other days of the month. Pepeekeo, Hawaii, winds east and east-northeast 19 days, other days from north to northeast; average force 1.3; heavy surf 4th to 7th inclusive, also 25th and 29th; distant lightning 15th; lunar halo same date, volcanic

White Girl Elopes To Marry Chinese

Chicago, Nov. 5.—While her uncle was searching every nook and corner of San Francisco for her, Miss Bobi Clark Hoyt of Bozeman, Mont., outwitted her relative by coming east instead of going west when she put her plans for an elopement into effect. She is now the wife of John Wing Lee, a naturalized Chinese, who was formerly an employe of her uncle, Benjamin D. Hoyt, owner of the "Har II" ranch. They were married by Justice Cochran to-day. They are now on their way to Niagara Falls for their honeymoon trip. The young woman is also related to the family of Senator Clark of Montana.

The father of the groom was at one time a cook in the Hoyt household, and it was while the son was on a visit to his father from Stanford University, which he was attending, that he met Miss Hoyt. When Lee was graduated he visited Bozeman and was made private secretary to the ranch owner. Soon an attachment sprang up between the Chinese and the girl. When the ranch owner learned of it there was a scene, and Lee came to Chicago. Lee remained in the East until about a month ago, when he returned to Bozeman. His meeting with Miss Hoyt resulted in an understanding, and the couple finally came East.

As soon as Hoyt learned of the disappearance of his niece, he went to San Francisco, believing she and Lee had gone to the Coast.

D. B. HILL'S DOWNFALL

New York, Nov. 2.—Tammany's triumph, it was said on high Democratic authority to-night, will mean a delegation from New York to the Democratic National Convention pledged to Grover Cleveland. Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, for some time has been in a plot with other Democratic leaders throughout the State to overthrow David B. Hill and establish an old-line Cleveland Democrat in his place as State leader. D. Cady Herriek of Albany, Judge of the Supreme Court, is the man chosen for the place.

AUSTRALIA'S POLICY.

Melbourne (Victoria), Oct. 31.—Alfred Deakin, the new Federal Prime Minister, in announcing the Ministerial policy to a meeting at Ballarat Thursday, said that he was prepared to reciprocate the proposals of Joseph Chamberlain concerning the British fiscal policy. The adoption of this policy, he said, would require that Australia grow vast quantities of wheat and increase her daily products, thus giving employment to many. It would result in turning the tide of emigration toward the commonwealth. The Government, the Prime Minister said, would support the development of national trade. He said that the watchword should be "Fiscal peace and preferential trade for Australia."

A girl at Benton played "postoffice" at a party one night and yelled and shrieked and howled, ran behind the door and scratched a young man's face in seven places, tipped over the lamp, kicked a crack in the piano, and when at last she fainted dead away and said she would never look another man in the face again. They led the bashful, gentle, modest, sobbing thing home and put her to bed, and the next day she eloped with a lightning rod peddler, who had a hair lip and nine children.—Centerville (S. D.) SOLIDE'S ROUGH TRIP

The German bark Solide arrived from Leith this morning after an exceedingly long passage. She met hard luck, having had unusually rough weather off Cape Horn. She was further delayed by having to put into Iquique for water, as her supply had given out.

The master of the Solide, Captain Brader, a veteran of the seas who has rounded the Horn forty times as master of different vessels, said this morning that this last passage was the hardest he had ever experienced. The Solide experienced very ordinary weather until she neared the Horn. There her troubles began in earnest. It took the bark forty-six days to make the distance between the fiftieth degree in the Atlantic to the fiftieth in the Pacific.

During practically all this time the Solide had to contend with heavy gales of wind and tempestuous seas. During three days of this period the storm rose to a regular hurricane from the southwest quarters which lashed the vessel with terrible fury.

The excessive cold which accompanied this storm added materially to the dangers and hardships of the situation. The thermometer fell until it registered eight degrees below zero. Snow, hail and sleet drove over the vessel. The spars, ropes and rigging of the bark were covered with ice while the deck was continually being flooded by icy seas which swept everything movable about.

The staunch bark did not belie her name but went through the fury of the elements without being damaged to any great extent. One life boat was completely smashed by a terrific sea but beyond that little damage was done to the ship's property.

The men on board the vessel fared worse. The first officer of the vessel was ill with a complaint in his chest. Captain Brader was on deck throughout almost the entire storm and received several injuries from it. Once a big wave swept him from his feet and threw him with great force against a big spar, which was lashed to the deck. In his struggle to keep from being swept overboard, Captain Brader wrenched his right arm at the shoulder.

A short while afterwards a big wave struck the captain and as he caught the rail to save himself his arm was again wrenched badly, leaving it in still worse condition than it had been. The captain's left arm was also bruised. Several of the sailors were hurt, especially about the hands and arms, but none of the injuries proved serious.

Even after passing the fiftieth degree in the Pacific the Solide struck the same kind of bad weather as she had met off the Horn. The voyage was delayed so much by these storms that she had to run into Iquique, a Chilean port, for water. The voyage from Iquique to this port was uneventful.

The Solide brings 1200 tons of general merchandise consigned to H. Backfield & Co. She is docked at the wharf.

ITALIAN CRUISER ARRIVES IN PORT

The Italian protected cruiser Elbe arrived in port yesterday afternoon. She is on her way from Acapulco, which port she left October 29 for Yokohama where she will join the Asiatic division of the Italian fleet. The Elbe was built in 1892 and measures 2750 tons. Her speed is noted at twelve knots. The armament consists of two 6-inch, eight 4.7-inch, eight six-pounder and six 1-pounder guns and two torpedo tubes. She is furnished with two sets of horizontal triple expansion engines. The list of officers of the Elbe is as follows:

Capitano di Vascello—Cav. Raffaele Navea Ricci, Capitano di Corvetta—Cav. PACIFIC SOCIAL CLUB.

The Pacific Social Club gave a very delightful dance in San Antonio hall Saturday night last, the first in the new assembly place. There were in the neighborhood of forty couples present. The music was most excellent and everybody had a good time. There is to be a masquerade ball very soon which the club is already making preparations. It is expected that this will be a very largely attended affair.

WANT MORE POLO

Honolulu polo enthusiasts are not satisfied. They want more games and they promise attendance every bit as large as that of Saturday last. The play between Kaula and Oahu has been so even that there is great argument as to the superior four. There is only one way to settle this great question—a series of three more games. Of course, it is asking a good deal of the Kaula men, who are being kept away from their business but it should be very satisfying to them to know that there are many in Honolulu, outside of Kaula people, who believe that in a series of three more games, they could win at least two.

One of the most busily occupied business men in town said today: "I do not know of anything I have so much enjoyed as the polo game of Saturday. I should like to see three more games. I really believe I would cut business to go out to Moanalua. The play is very even and I think we ought to see how Kaula would show up in three more contests."

GERMAN CADETS

GIVEN A

FINE RECEPTION

The smoking concert given by the Symphony Orchestra last Saturday at the club house on Hackfeld street was in every way a great success. The smoke was given in honor of the officers and cadets of the German training ship Merozgin Sophie Charlotte, which arrived from Germany last week. The officers and cadets, the latter a very fine looking set of young men in natty uniforms, attended in large numbers. The members of the club were well represented, their object being to honor their guests.

The evening was spent exceedingly pleasantly. The prevalence of German songs, recitations, etc., the buzzing German conversation and lastly, the refreshments, served in German style, brought many of those present back in spirit to the scenes of the far-off Vaterland.

The musical features of the evening were of the highest degree of excellence. The orchestra rendered selections which were received with the enthusiasm they fully deserved.

Dr. Lorenz, the surgeon of the Herzogin Sophie Charlotte, rendered several piano selections, proving himself to be a performer.

A quartette of cadets from the training ship sang a couple of German songs which were really applauded. Several exceedingly funny recitations were given in German by Herr Muller, a local resident. Herr Muller showed himself a comedian of the first water and took his audience by storm by his excellent performances. He had to give quite a number of recitations before those present were satisfied.

For the benefit of the English speaking people present Mr. Kennedy recited "Spartacus to the Gladiators" in excellent style.

Mr. Wideman sang several German songs with his usual success. Towards the end of the evening the patriotism of the gathering showed itself in the singing of "Die Wacht am Rhein" in which all present joined in a swelling chorus. This was followed by the singing of "Columbia."

It was quite late before the gathering broke up, everyone having the satisfaction of having spent an exceedingly pleasant evening.
