None the past month. During the past month, a series of lectures in Public Health were inaugurated. The personnel lectured to were the sanitary inspectors, the village and hospital corpsmen, the nurses' aides, the school teachers, and the district chiefs. The subject matter included general sanitation, personal hygiene, first aid, and maternal and infant welfare. Also a sample pit-latrine head of simple inexpensive design was demonstrated. Lectures are to be given for several hours a day every two weeks.
