NOTED SWINDLER IS COMING FROM SOUTH

POLICE WARNED TO BE ON THE LOOKOUT

Man Alleged to be one of the Most Wonderful Beats in Modern Times. Finally Came to Grief in Queensland.

High Sheriff Brown has received from the Commissioner of Police at Brisbane a type-written letter asking him to be on the lookout for a man who is alleged to be one of the most wonderful swindlers of modern times. His name is given as Donald McLeary with a number of aliases. His system of swindling makes victims of the government owned railroads of Australia, and includes medical phenomena which have set the medical profession of the Australian colonies by the ears.

It was his last attempt to work his scheme to the detriment of Queensland, that brought him to grief. In this case he sued the railway commissioners for Queensland for 10,000 pounds damages for personal injuries alleged to have been received on one of the government owned railroads of Queensland, by reason of the negligence of one of the railway employees. The allegations upon which his suit was based were that he was traveling on the railroad, and he and another man, a stranger to himself, were the only occupants of the compartment. He got up from the seat to get something out of his traveling bag which was hanging on a hook in the compartment, when a sudden lurch of the car threw him against the door, which had been negligently left unfastened by the guard, and the door sprang open and he was thrown to the ground. When found he was conscious but paralyzed from head to foot. He was taken to a hospital where he remained six months up to the time the case came to trial, and he was brought into court on a litter, and during the whole course of his trial was never seen to move a muscle of his body. The nurses and physicians of the hospital testified that during the whole six months he was there he had not been known, sleeping or waking to move a muscle, and expert medical testimony was given to show the nature of his paralysis and the probability of its permanent. On the other side the Attorney General for the Colony presented expert testimony from equally prominent physicians to show that he was not paralyzed at all, but was simply shamming, and that there was nothing but his own will to prevent him from where he lay in the court room and walking out.

But in addition to this, the Attorney General presented evidence to show that this same man had in 1900 recovered damages from the railway commissioners of New South Wales, for exactly the same kind of injuries occurring in exactly the same kind of way; and also testimony going to show that he had worked the same kind of a game on the government railway commissioners of the Colony of Victoria and on those of the Colony of West Australia.

The jury in the Queensland case brought in a verdict against the impostor and no sooner was he out of the court-room than he proved the error of his own experts and the truth of the government's experts by getting up from his bed and fleeing from Queensland. The Queensland Government, however, began proceedings against him for fraudulently attempting to obtain money from the government, and the authorities are now searching for him. The last trace of him was in Melbourne.

The physical capacities of the man, besides his daring mental ones, which enable him to carry out for months his

BARNUM & BAILEY'S OLDEST ELEPHANT CHOKED TO DEATH

NEW YORK, November 12.—Bib Mandarin, an elephant of the Barnum & Bailey circus, was executed by strangulation Saturday night in his cage on the main deck of the steamship Minneapolis of the Atlantic Transport line, at New York. A two-inch hawser was placed in a loop around Mandarin's neck, and each end of the hawser was fastened to the drum of a "winch" engine. The engines were started at the same time, and ran slowly at first until the hawser was taut about the animal's neck, when the speed was increased and the hawser quickly tightened about the animal's neck. Just eight minutes after the engines had been started Mandarin was pronounced dead. The cage containing the body was then hoisted from the ship by a crane and loaded on a barge, in which it was towed about 20 miles out to sea and sunk the cage being weighted with about 5000 pounds of old railroad iron.

KAUAI-PORTLAND RECORD BROKEN

HIND, ROLPH & COMPANY'S LAHAINA SAILS FROM ELEELE TO OREGON CAPITAL IN 12 1/2 DAYS.

Two of Hind, Rolph & Company's new sailing vessels have just made remarkable smart voyages from Kauai to the northwest coast, if in fact they have not broken all records and set new ones.

The barkentine Lahaina, Captain Carleton, sailed from Eleele to Portland, Oregon in twelve days and a half; and the Hawaiian made the voyage from Makaweli to Astoria in fourteen days. The Hawaiian office of the firm received word of these voyages by the last mail.

Both vessels arrived here with coal from Newcastle about the end of September and were sent to Kauai to discharge. On the trip up from Australia, the Hawaii beat the Lahaina by about ten days. The Lahaina started first and made an average trip, coming in fifty-two or three days. During the trip however she had quite a good deal of calm weather, with no wind to send her along. The Hawaii sailing a little later, caught good winds all the way and made the islands in ten days and eight hours shorter time than the Lahaina. But on the trip to the northwest coast, the Lahaina proved her speed. Both sailed about the same time, the Lahaina from Eleele and the Hawaii from Makaweli.

It is believed that twelve and a half days from Eleele to Portland is the best record ever made between those ports. The time of the Hawaii, under command of Captain McLeod, fourteen days from Makaweli to Astoria is considered very good time.

The Lahaina is an American built vessel. The Hawaii is a steel hulled vessel built in Scotland, for which a special act of congress was passed to give her qualified American registry. She can trade between the Atlantic and the Pacific coasts and these islands, but not between Atlantic ports nor between Pacific coast ports. The two vessels are now loading for the orient.

SENATE MAY SETTLE THE AUDITOR'S CASE

COMMITTEE EXPECTED TO HAND IN REPORT TOMORROW MORNING—CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS.

Tomorrow may see the end of the peculiar situation that has prevailed at the Capitol building, as regards the auditor's office, for over three months. Every since last September Officer Elvin has kept guard at the office to keep Auditor Austin out. Tomorrow the senate may receive and act upon the report of its special committee on the Audit department, and that action whatever it is, will settle the matter and do away with the need of an officer on guard.

The action of the senate comes just after the efforts of Austin to get relief in the courts have come to a climax. Austin's last attempt to force his way into the office was made last Wednesday afternoon, as predicted, and the result, according to his attorneys places the high sheriff and Deputy Auditor Meyers in contempt of the first circuit court. Though served with an original copy of the writ, according to law, they refused to comply. The refusal to comply was based on the ground that an appeal had been taken from Gear's writ, but Gear had already said in court that an appeal did not operate to stay the writ.

According to the views expressed by Gear, it is now up to the court to impose punishment for contempt, and Gear stated that the high station of the defendants would not deter him from action. On the other side it is claimed that Gear's remark that the appeal did not stay the writ was not in the nature of a decision, being only an incidental remark, and that the feature of the case has yet to be gone over.

If Gear takes action, the Supreme court will be appealed to for relief, by habeas corpus proceedings or a writ of prohibition. In the meantime the senate is expected to remove Austin and then he can enter the audit office all he wants to, as a private citizen.

THE STAR'S NEWSBOY CONTEST.

Street sales of newspapers are always interesting to the public, especially where they are used, as in many towns, for a basis of advertising rates. Lately the Star and the Bulletin have had a prize competition in the sale of copies, not in rivalry with each other but between their newsboys. The results, as given out by both papers yesterday, will attract the eye of the advertising public. It appears that the boy selling the highest number of Stars in forty-two days, disposed of 6841 and the boy selling the highest number of Bulletins in forty-three days, delivered 4380. The second prize boys sold 3633 Stars and 2064 Bulletins. The third and fourth prize contests showed a slight excess in favor of the Bulletin, but the average for the first four, in daily sales, were Stars 361, Bulletins 296, giving the Star an advantage of 65 daily. Seeing that the Star has never used the black-type methods of proclaiming its superior circulation and has used no extraordinary methods other than the annual newsboy contest, of making sales, the effective showing of its relative popularity, made in the prize competition, must be very gratifying to it.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

MR. ATHERTON'S CONDITION. J. B. Atherton is reported about the same. He passed a somewhat restless night, but is not thought to be any worse.

IN THE NATION'S CAPITAL. Owing to the Polo Ball, one or two weddings and other social festivities announced for Monday night next, the announcement of J. W. Erwin's stereopticon lecture at the Hawaiian Hotel for that evening is withdrawn. Mr. Erwin will give his lecture, "A Day in the Nation's Capital," this evening at St. Clement's Parish House. This will be the only occasion on which Mr. Erwin will give this or any of his stereopticon lectures during his visit to Honolulu.

AFTER THE CONSUL. On the 22nd inst. in an account of a Chinese court case, the Star stated that the Acting Chinese Consul did not know the Chinese marriage customs. It was the Secretary of the Chinese consulate who gave the testimony and not Goo Kim. The latter states that a Chinese newspaper has given him a "ham-basting" on account of statement made in the Star. Goo Kim did not appear as a witness in the case.

STAR NEWSBOYS AND THEIR DINNER

THE YOUNGSTERS HAD A GOOD TIME—WITNESSED THE FOOTBALL AND POLO GAMES.

No one in Honolulu had a better Thanksgiving than the newsboys. In accordance with the custom inaugurated years ago by The Star, they were given the feast of turkey and other good things to which they have learned to look forward. The Star newsboys were the guests of the paper for the day and a joyous day it was for all of them. Shortly after one o'clock the youngsters started from the Star office for Love's bakery. They made a noisy procession along Fort and King streets and up Nuuanu, but the noise on the street was nothing compared to the yells that filled the eating house when the turkeys loomed in sight. Each youngster grabbed a knife and fork and proceeded to pound the table while he yelled. There were boys of all races, white, Hawaian, Chinese and mixtures of all three. They were also of all sizes, from tiny young rustlers who had got a single past Thanksgiving in their memories to boys who have several occasions of glee stored up in their recollections. Probably some had never tasted turkey before and evidently all had appetites in good working order.

The noise gradually lessened while plates of turkey were being handed round, and by the time the last youngster got his supply, the room was quite silent. Every boy was busy. Members of the staff and other employees of the paper waited on the boys. The wonder to the spectators was where the boys put all they disposed of. No one who has not seen a newsboy's Thanksgiving banquet can appreciate how much the human stomach is capable of distention.

After the turkey came cranberry pie and soda water, ginger ale, root beer, etc. No one thought of giving a boy less than half a pie. The pies were only cut into halves, in fact. The boys tackled the pie just as if there had never been any turkey, but there is a

THE GOVERNOR AND SENATE AT OUTS

FRANK DEERING AND MABEL CLARE CRAFT BOTH SUFFRAGISTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—Francis P. Deering, Jurisconsult and President of the Bohemian Club is become an honorary life member of the Woman's National Suffrage Association, and bears his blushing honors meekly. Mr. Deering is not or at least in the past has not been a convinced suffragist. Possibly in his new enlistment for the war he figures as a non-scrip rather than a volunteer, but he is a brave man and will not desert the colors.

Mr. Deering is shortly to be married to Miss Mabel Clare Craft. Miss Craft entertains advanced opinions on woman suffrage and in the promotion of that cause has cultivated a warm friendship with Mrs. Charles Webb Howard, who is an enthusiast on the same subject. Naturally Mrs. Howard wrote Mr. Deering and Miss Craft certificates of life membership in the National Woman's Suffrage Association.

THE GOVERNOR AND SENATE AT OUTS

Talk of Possible Deadlock Between Executive and Confirming Body. Senators to Meet This Afternoon to Confer.

A meeting of the Republican members of the Senate and the Republican Executive committee has been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Republican headquarters. The matter to be discussed is appointments to the vacant Territorial offices for which the Senate expects nominations from the governor next week. The session will end next week if all goes well, but so far there is no agreement upon appointments and there is talk of a deadlock between the governor and the senate.

According to the plans of the senators, the nominees will be agreed upon in caucus, and the senate is disposed to stand firm by its choices. The executive, on the other hand, is reported to disagree with the legislators regarding some of the offices. It is not known which offices are the subject of a possible deadlock, but that of auditor is reported to be one of them, while there are members of the senate who are opposed to Cooper for Superintendent of Public Works.

The Republicans are expected to vote solidly in the senate. They will decide between rival candidates in caucus and the man who gets a majority of the nine Republican senators is expected according to rule, to command nine votes in the Senate. At the meeting this afternoon, the senators will consult with the executive committee of the party, regarding the plan of action to be followed.

Tomorrow morning, the senate will probably be ready to take action on the long list of nominations submitted by the governor on the first day of the session. These are the nominations of election officers and others who were given commissions by the governor during the past two years. Those in the various departments were referred to the committees having those departments in charge and some of them are ready to report. The election officers will be confirmed in a bunch, as the matter of their confirmation is only a formality and is of no importance. They have already done the work for which they were appointed.

Senator Achi's resolution regarding city and county government has caused much discussion as having been apparently offered against the wishes of the party, and reports had it that the senator was training with the Home Rulers and was about to appear in the role of a Senate boss, with six Home Rule votes and his own to swing the balance of power. These reports are denied, however, and it is said that Achi will vote his party caucus. His resolution was brought forward to forestall a similar move by a Home Ruler. It was thought best to pass such a resolution before the Home Rulers introduced one and had it voted down by Republicans. On the other hand a majority of the Republicans wanted to leave the whole subject to the regular session, and therefore voted against the resolution.

PRESENTATION TO SENATOR CRABBE

HIS COMMITTEE ASSOCIATES GIVE HIM A HANDSOME GAVEL FOR USE IN THE SENATE.

When President Crabbe calls the senate to order tomorrow morning it will be with a handsome new gavel which was presented to him last night by the Republican Territorial Executive Committee. The presentation was made at a Thanksgiving dinner given to the members of the committee last night by George K. Carter. The gavel was presented to Senator Crabbe, who is chairman of the committee by Secretary A. L. C. Atkinson, who made a happy address complimenting the senator on his work during the campaign and expressing the appreciation of his associates. Senator Crabbe was taken by surprise, but responded appropriately. The gavel is silver mounted and bears the inscription, "Presented to the Hon. C. L. Crabbe, by the Republican Executive Committee, 1902."

There is talk of securing a fine gavel for Prince Cupid to take to Washington as a present for the Speaker of the House. It is thought that a handsome, gold-mounted gavel, made from Hawaiian wood and suitably inscribed would be a gift which the Speaker would much appreciate, from the only outside Territory in the union.

VERY FEW ARRESTS. There was no session of the police court either yesterday or today. But there have been very few arrests, and these mostly for drunkenness. Joe Botelho was arrested not for drunkenness but for "rough" a drunk. Three prisoners were brought in from Wailua. There was one arrest for profanity and one for vagrancy.

TAKING SUGAR. The bark Andrew Welch was hauled over from the Railway wharf this morning alongside the Mauna Loa at the Oceanic wharf, and 5,000 bags of Brewer & Company's sugar is being put aboard her. The Kauai is expected to bring several thousand bags more within a day or two that will go into the Welch.

WHARF AT HONUAPO.

Captain Christian Johnson returned by the Mauna Loa this morning from Honuapo, whither he went to investigate and inspect the Hutchinson Plantation wharf at Honuapo. It is announced that the wharf will be rebuilt at once. The material will probably be taken down there by the next steamer.

ON HAWAII.

Purser W. K. Simerson of the Mauna Loa reports that there was no rain but rough seas along the Hamakua coast. The Naeau was weatherbound at Waipio. The seas are smooth and there is much rain along the Kona and Kau coasts. The schooner Serena Thayer is still discharging at Punahele. On the outward trip there was a heavy northerly swell along the Kona coast and it was impossible to land freight at Hookena, and Hoopuloa. At the latter place it was even impossible to land mail and passengers on the outward trip.

ROADS OF EMPIRE.

Fetters on Savage Land as in The Roman Days.

They are still in their places, many of them, those mighty rivets that the Romans drove aforetime wherewith to hold together the greatest empire that the world had then seen. They are wonderful things to look and tread upon wonderful as if only as indications of the dogged strength of the race that builded them, that plowed, straight as a dart, across villainous country, to bring up at last at the desired goal, defiant of obstacles; wonderful too, in the power which they have to kindle even the most sluggish imagination. For men who have themselves lived and toiled upon the outskirts in the new raw lands it is ever a fascinating task to picture Britain—today the "eye, the soul of Europe," the center of a mighty civilization, the heart of a vast empire—as it was long ago when the Romans suffered exile there with little gladness, cursing the awful climate, yet finding solace for all their privations and their griefs in the extraordinary interest of the work which lay to their hands—just as do the banished civil servants of our own time. And the principal instrument by means of which the Romans sought to open up the jungles of Britain to spread their influence, to render ubiquitous the tiny forces of the conquerors, was the same as that which we employ for like ends today—roads, the first fetters which civilization imposes upon the unrestricted freedom of a savage land.

And, indeed, if the British domination were to vanish as completely as that of the Romans has done, the roads which we have driven through countless wildernesses across wastes of forests, up and down the slopes of mountain ranges which have stood as barriers between man and man since the beginning of things, would still remain to tell the younger nations what manner of men were these English who ruled so large a fragment of the earth. For just as the dominion which we exercise over the subject peoples is wiser, more subtle, more scientific than was that of the Romans; just as it was our object to circumvent, rather than to break ruthlessly through, the obstacles that stay us, so the roads we build bear the imprint of a keener intelligence, a deeper knowledge and a higher skill than ever the Romans possessed. For with the old world-conquerors the primitive instinct still held its force—the instinct that sought men who desire to make their way from point to point, to the top of every hill and to the foot of every decline that they chance upon in their journey.

The present writer holds in his me-emory many an aching recollection of tramps undertaken along the footpaths traced through the wilderness by the natives who dwell there. One such march stands out pre-eminent—a march from the lower to the upper valley of the Palagan river, in northern Borneo. On every side wastes of rankalang grass spread away to the spurs of the foothills, the dry, crudely tinted blades receiving, refracting and multiplying the merciless heat. For ten miles at a stretch there was no drop of water to assuage our raging thirst; amid that huddle of grass-clad hills no single tree arose to give us the protection of even a few square inches of shade, and at the end of an unspokeable day's travel it was calculated that we had climbed up and down more than 5,000 feet of vertical heights, though never at any one time had we reached an elevation of more than 500 feet above the level of the valley! A modern engineer would have found little difficulty in worming his way almost on the dead level amid those countless hills, but primitive men are content to expend upon the exertion of climbing much of that energy which were better employed in evading unnecessary ascents. And the Roman who, in spite of all his attainments was still at the beginning of things, was in this respect not greatly the superior of the savages of Borneo. He drove his roads straight; he built them with solidity; but he put the most elementary rules of road-making at defiance, and he set in England an infamous example.—London Spectator.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE.

Many persons will remember a stereopticon lecture given a few months ago at the Hawaiian Hotel by J. W. Erwin, and the beauty of his pictures. That gentleman is again in town on his way to Manila and has very kindly consented to lecture once more, on this occasion at St. Clement's parish house, on the subject, "A Day in Our National Capital." Too much cannot be said of Mr. Erwin's skill as a lecturer, or his good taste in the selection of his views. The stereopticon to be used was lately imported by Mr. Rice. It has electric light, and in purity and power, perhaps is not surpassed anywhere. No doubt a very great treat is in store for those who will be present. The lecture will take place this evening, at 8 o'clock, at St. Clement's parish house, Makiki street entrance a few steps below the electric car line on Wilder avenue. Admission will be 50 cents and proceeds will be devoted to St. Clement's church.

Does that mean you? Are your nerves so irritable and restless that you cannot sleep at night? Does the morning find you weary and worn-out, without appetite for food and no energy or ambition to take up the cares of the day? Are your spirits depressed? Are you melancholy, got the blues? Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and insist on getting it. Before that bottle is gone you will find relief. It will give you new life, new ambition, new hope. Don't wait; begin today with

Dr. Miles' Nervine.
"I suffered from nervous or sick headaches for years and they continued to grow worse in spite of the efforts of our best physicians. I had no appetite, lost flesh, had no energy or ambition and could scarcely sleep at all. I was unfit for business four days out of a week and had almost lost hope when I began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills about one year ago. FORESTRY CONVENTION.

At a forestry convention at Moscow, Russia, it was stated that the results of a number of government tests showed that the best time to cut trees was near the end of June, while the bark would peel freely. Rails of young basswood, summer cut and seasoned, became nearly as hard as horn, while those which were winter cut would rot in a few years. Box elder cut in June, when peeled, dried and set as posts for fences or sheds, and lasted 16 years, while others similarly treated and used, but cut in winter and set green, rotted in four years.

SECOND GAME WON BY KAUALI PLAYERS

LARGE CROWD PRESENT TO SEE THE SECOND ROUND OF THE POLO TOURNAMENT.

A big crowd turned out to see the Thanksgiving polo and, before the second period was played, swelled into big proportions, completely eclipsing the turnout for Tuesday's game. Kauai won from Hilo, as was generally expected, with a liberal margin to spare, the score being 18-13. Hilo put up a more consistent game than the Prouty was the bright star of the Hawaiian constellation, the others got into the game to a certain extent. Dr. Irwin, in the third period particularly, mounted on a speedy black mare, did good work. Kennedy and Clark also contributing. A foul on cross riding was scored against Hilo and the Kauai men, the Malina boys particularly should have been penalized more than once for deliberate mallet interference. Two cases of reaching forward being particularly flagrant.

The play was fast but straggly the tendency throughout being to bunch. Time and time again a clear field was left by lack of judgment. There was no riding off to speak of. The interests of the Oahu and Maui men were centered on the game to see what the comparative scores would prophesy as to tomorrow's game. On the face of it matters look bright for Maui. The goals scored by Hilo against Oahu on Tuesday should neither of them have been allowed to happen. Carelessness on the Oahu side permitted Prouty to get through and it is not likely that it would happen again. The Oahu men were winning easily and were not called upon to show their form. It would not have been policy with the Mautes watching them. It may therefore be safely assumed that Oahu was not playing its best game. Those who have watched them throughout the season know this to be a fact. On the other hand Kauai was constantly urged yesterday to play their fastest for the sake of the Maui men making comparison. On the whole the matter stands pretty much in doubt for tomorrow.

On form Oahu should win, team work ought to prevail against individual play. If Maui breaks through there may be some fast scoring. Three men of the Oahu team, undoubtedly play better under pressure. At all events the affair will be a first class match and well worth watching, whatever the result.

The game tomorrow will start at three o'clock and not three thirty as previously announced. This alteration is made on account of the desirability of playing the last period before dusk. During the afternoon a match race declared off earlier in the day was not allowed to be brought off by the master of the field as the necessary arrangements had not been made to look out for the safety of the crowd.

SOME MARINE CURIOS.

Many Strange Objects To Be Seen In Unique Shop.
The love of the ocean as well as of gain is the raison d'etre of a little shop recently opened in this city. The stock in trade consists of what may be termed marine oddities of sufficient beauty to be available for domestic decoration. The proprietor is a bright-eyed woman with an extensive knowledge of the treasures of the Atlantic ocean and the Caribbean sea.

"I opened this place," she said, on account of the ever-growing interest taken by people in general in the wonderful flora and fauna of the ocean. I deal in what may be called legitimate specimens, and not freaks or monstrosities. Among monstrosities are such things as the porcupine fish, which is a mass of spines without any particular beauty. Another monstrosity is the dried devil-fish, which is hideous both in appearance and association. Among freaks are natural objects which have been changed by human workmanship. Of this a common form is the embossed sea conch. These are made in a very simple way. Slips of paper are pasted on the shells, so as to form any pattern, and the shell is then exposed to a sand blast. The paper is then softened with hot water and removed. Where it was pasted the shell is perfectly smooth, but elsewhere it has been cut and roughened, according to the sand and the force of the blast, so as to produce any desired pattern.

"The effect is pleasing enough from a geometrical point of view, but is absolutely unnatural and so inappropriate that it might be compared to a painted lily or a rosebud soaked with extract of new-mown hay. A true curio is the mermaid's lace, a living growth in the water near the Island of Burano, not far from Venice. The beautiful network of this organism is said to have been the model from which the Venetians made the lace of the early part of the century. Another interesting specimen is the pinna and its silky fibers. The pinna is an enterprising mollusk which sails the seas, and when he finds a rock which he thinks would make a comfortable headquarters he spins or secretes long fibers which contain some gluey substance with which he attaches himself to the stone. The number of fibers that he spins depends upon the force of the waves at the place he has chosen. Where he is in a calm bight protected from wind and wave, he throws out a few thin threads which hold him in place, but where his post is liable to be struck by heavy waves he fairly surrounds himself with his little fastenings. In the latter case, he looks on a small scale like the trunk of a ban-yan tree, whose roots run out over the rocky soil like the spokes of a wheel."
—N. Y. Evening Post.

CIGAR TIP.

A combustible cigar tip, which is intended to do away with the use of matches, has been invented. The tip is composed of a mixture of ground glass, salt peter, potassium chloride and gum arabic. This mass is molded into a cap on the end of a cigar and a friction lighter, such as that used on the tips of matches, is pressed on the surface of the cap. When the lighter is scratched the cap burns freely and cannot be extinguished by an ordinary wind. The combustion fuses the ground glass and renders the cap incandescent. The fused glass forms an airtight cover on the end of the cigar and prevents any of the fumes from entering the tobacco so that no unpleasant taste results.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

NEED OF CARE.

As to individuals in office neither the Senate nor the voters care so deeply, what they do care about, however, is that the chief executive offices should be filled by able and honest men, and that these men should be typical and working Republicans.

For the various vacancies there are several applicants in each case. As long as the applicants are good working Republicans, and are able, honest and trustworthy, it matters not to the general body of the voters who may be nominated.

That such a course of events will occur is by no means certain, indeed there is every hope and reasonable consideration that it will not occur. But it is always well to look possibilities in the face, and realize what would happen if a foolish course were taken and persisted in.

So is it with the Republican party upon these Islands. The party has been extraordinarily successful. But it can afford to make no mistakes. Its legislation will have to be most careful, its executive officers must be of the best.

What the voters want in the first place is a thoroughly capable set of officials. There is no use in blinking the fact that a large portion of the executive departments have been very seriously mismanaged. In the case of the Treasurer there have been confession of defalcation and flight which acknowledged defalcation.

In spite of these facts, or probably because of these facts, the hands of the Republican administration have been strengthened by the election of a majority in both Senate and House. It becomes incumbent upon the executive to nominate men of strength and men who command confidence to fill the offices vacant, and to discard any weak material or rotten planks which may rest in the ship of state.

The Star made a suggestion a few days ago which is worth deep consideration. Though the personal feelings of the Governor should have due weight, and those who will be about him should be personally agreeable to him, yet too much weight should not be given by him to this. The Governor should make himself thoroughly acquainted with the status of his nominees in the Republican party before he makes his nominations.

Hilo will have to do a good deal of practice if it is to keep up its end in Polo with the rest of the group. The Big Island ought to furnish one of the best if not the best team in the group.

The Republican luau yesterday was a great success. Some couple of thousand people were feasted and blessed the Republican victory which supplied them with such a hearty Thanksgiving.

Our cold spell still continues and every one is chasing round for blankets to keep warm at night. Blankets are a very necessary part of the household outfit, though we are supposed to have a tropical climate.

From the way the game started out yesterday, it looked as if the Maile Illias would walk away with the Punahou team in football but the latter took a brace and showed not only grit but good handling and splendid team work.

Today is the anniversary of Hawaiian Independence by the sufferance of other powers, but Hawaii's true independence came to her when she became an integral part of the United States. The Territory of Hawaii today needs no guarantee of its independence from any foreign powers. It is free and independent as Maine and California are independent and free.

Some interesting telegrams have been received from President Roosevelt and in the event of H. E. Cooper's confirmation as Superintendent of Public Works, the Secretaryship is provided for. President Roosevelt's nominee, however will not serve unless the personnel of the executive is satisfactory to him. This is a complication that should be gravely considered in making nominations and in confirming them.

There was an opportunity yesterday of testing the relative popularity of the games of Polo and Football, and the palm must decidedly be given to the latter game. A far larger and a far more enthusiastic crowd attended the latter than the former. The managers of the Polo tournament made a mistake in not putting on their championship game for Thanksgiving as it would have drawn a larger crowd than it will tomorrow.

The Star newsboys had a most enjoyable dinner and a thoroughly healthy and delightful afternoon. The result of

The selling contest, which had occupied a period of seven weeks was thoroughly satisfactory. The popularity of the Star as a paper was clearly shown, and the winners of the prizes were thoroughly happy. To have their portraits in the paper was one of the pleasures of the contest, and copies of the Star of November 26, 1902 will be preserved by many of the lads with scrupulous care.

The report of the Grand jury was one of the most important ever presented to a local judge. There were not only the ordinary cases which come up for consideration, but there were cases of the very highest importance to the body politic. The Grand jury very justly called attention to the fact that a good deal of its time is taken up by the consideration of small cases which never should have come before it. This is a matter for the consideration of the Legislature, and undoubtedly the law will be altered so as to relieve the Grand jury of some very unnecessary work.

TOUCHING VARIED TOPICS. The Prince asks us to accept him 'just as Siam, without one plea.'—St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Carrie Nation was in a railroad smash-up in New Jersey. JEALOUS FLINGS AT CHICAGO.

Dr. Lorenz says there are more cases of hip disease in Chicago than in any other city he knows of. Chicago is always ahead.—Milwaukee Sentinel. Chicago people are drawing snakes from their hydrants. But Chicago people know what to do in case of snake bites, and are not worrying.—Kansas City Journal. A vigilance committee has been formed in Chicago to keep burglars in abeyance, and particular care has been taken not to allow any policemen on the committee.—Washington Times. WHERE GERMAN STEAMERS EXCEL

PASSENGERS ARE TREATED AS GUESTS—SHIPS ARE MANAGED LIKE GOOD HOTELS.

The management of the German shipping business has been admirably. The companies have had the courage to build vessels of the highest speed, and they have run them with punctuality not second to that observed on British lines. By attention to passengers' needs, by the politeness of their servants, they have gained the goodwill of even those belonging to the nationality they have supplanted. Their ships are managed like a good hotel in which the comfort and happiness of the passengers is considered as well as their safety. In fact, each person who travels recognizes that he is looked on not simply as a unit of passenger complement, but as a part of the crew—but a guest whose pleasure is worthy of consideration. Old voyagers, says Engineering will remember, in the days gone by, how a trip across the Atlantic by the then paramount line was like going back to school, with the purser as head master and the stewards as usher. There were regulations at every turn, and they were enforced with a severity that was more than Draconian, for it was Scotch. Grown people object to this kind of thing, and when the White Star arose and offered a gentler rule, its future success was assured. The feeding department, too, fell very short of perfection. There was a rough plenty, but the sweet things were sweet, the stodge things very stodge, and tough things very tough. It was little consolation to have turtle soup on Sunday, and to be told that we were better off than our grandfathers, who lived before the uses of ice and tinned provisions were recognized. These things may appear trivial, but on a voyage one has time to notice trifles. It was attention to them that laid the foundation of success for the foreign vessels. Having made a start, the Germans urged the pace, spending money freely and building finer, larger, and faster ships, so that they now have a secure hold upon trade in which at one time the majority of our shipowners would have laughed at the idea of them gaining a footing.—Kuhlow's Trade Review.

simulated paralysis have made his case one of the most celebrated in the criminal history of Australia. The letter from the Commissioner of Police to High Sheriff Brown is as follows:

Commissioner's Office, Brisbane, August 23, 1902. It is requested that close inquiries be made with a view of ascertaining the present whereabouts of a man named J. W. Henderson, alias Donald McLean, alias J. A. Cameron, alias James Williams, whose description is as follows: About 37 years of age, about 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, stout build, florid complexion, heavy reddish moustache, side-locks in level with lobes of ears, almost bald on front of head, slightly Roman nose, dressed in dark coat and vest, and grey tweed trousers, and a hard black hat, also a brown Chesterfield overcoat. Under the name of Donald McLean, this man is believed to have received compensation from the New South Wales Government for injuries received by him through falling from a train in the year 1900, and to have previously received under the name of J. A. Cameron compensation from the Australian Government under similar circumstances. He is believed to have left Brisbane for the South at the latter end of July, 1902.

MAY BE A DEADLOCK

Secretary Cooper is favored for the Attorney Generalship by some of those who want to make a change in that office. Governor Dole has not suggested any change as yet, and his action would be necessary, but efforts are being made to convince him that there ought to be a change in that office as well as the others in the capitol building. The Attorney Generalship question is one of the matters to be settled between the Senate and the Governor, and it will probably be discussed in the Republican caucus this afternoon. For the office of Superintendent of Public Works E. C. Winston is thought to have a good chance before the Senate. He has the endorsement of the various political committees, being the only applicant who secured such endorsement. Fisher still leads in the committee for Auditor, though Riggs has secured some strong endorsements and is making a strong fight. Since the retirement of Mark P. Robinson as a candidate for the Treasurer'ship, A. J. Campbell is much talked of. C. Boite is a new candidate. George R. Carter is the man talked of for Secretary of the Territory in the event of Cooper's taking a Territorial office and giving up the Secretaryship. Carter is reported to have the support of the President and when he was in Washington some months ago, when changes in the Territorial Government were talked of, Carter was understood to be Roosevelt's choice for Secretary.

MAKIKIS WIN CUP.

The Makikis won the championship of the "Out of Season" Baseball League in a game on the Makiki diamond yesterday morning. The score was one-sided, the Makikis compiling 14 to 3 of the Young Portuguese, the play of the latter being marked by deep chrome-yellow. The Makikis, besides the honor and the glory, also get a cup presented by C. F. Chillingworth, president of the baseball league.

LACK OF PERSIAN RUGS. An Importer Gives Reasons For The Scarcity of Superior Weaves.

A well-known importer of this city, recently returned from the orient, talks interestingly to every woman able to own a Persian rug. He says: "The Persian government is soon to pass a law imposing a heavy duty on all rugs exported from Persia which are colored with aniline dyes has seriously injured the rug trade in Persia, and as this is the chief industry of a poor country the government has at last awakened to the fact that it must be protected.

"There is soon to be a considerable advance in price of nearly all varieties of Persian and Turkish rugs, to last for a year or two at least. For this there are several reasons. The output of the Persian looms has been very small the last year, and in some cases the entire supply has been exhausted without in the least satisfying the American demand. Unusually rainy weather has caused deep floods in Persia. The rug weavers there set up their looms and work in the open air. When it rains work is impossible, and when the floods come the looms cannot even be set up. Also, it has been almost impossible to transport rugs from sections of the country where the roads have been washed away and made impassable for the caravans.

"Furthermore, the market is seeking a healthier price level. For several years the prices have been unreasonably low. Rugs which were bought in Constantinople ten years ago for $15 to $18 within the last two or three years have been selling for $45 of $50. Turkish exporting houses have many of them failed, and the rest have been getting on the anxious seat. In Persia the loom operatives have lost heavily through unscrupulous speculators. The fact that many retail buyers for department stores, etc., are now purchasing abroad has also helped to raise the price, since the orientals can comprehend no difference between the wholesale importer and the retail importer.

"Fine Kermans have jumped 60 per cent, and the supply is almost exhausted. Bokharas are almost entirely out of the market. The best Afghans are 25 per cent higher. The higher grade rugs of almost all varieties are getting rare. Antiques have gone up, and there is hardly a fine rug to be found in Constantinople. As soon as good things appear in the market they are gobbled up, though there is plenty of rubbish to be found at cheap prices.

"In the past the foreign buyers and the Turkish exporting houses have beaten down the native loom weavers in their prices. The natural result has been that the native produced an inferior rug for the smaller payment, and a large portion of the rugs manufactured steadily deteriorated in quality. Recently, however, certain European and American business men have gained control of a large number of looms in Persia. These are strictly native looms, with native workmen, with European and American business and financial supervision. As a result of this movement the Tabriz rugs are improving wonderfully. The designs are bold, the colors are bright. Reds have been left out, curling up at the corners has been done away with; only vegetable dyes are used, and the rugs are much finer and softer.

"The importer believes that the native workmen were never more capable or had better facilities, and that if they were sold sufficiently could make as beautiful rugs as were made in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries."—The Upholsterer.

VISITOR FROM SIAM.

The Siamese Crown Prince seems to be tracking the route of his Korean predecessor in the tenderloin gayeties of New York. Pretty soon he will be hunching for money from home.—Atlanta Constitution.

His royal highness, the Crown Prince of Siam should not feel offended if the American people are too busy with home politics to pay more than perfunctory attention to foreign potentates.—Anaconda Standard.

Grand Duke Boris ran behind the scenes whenever he visited a burlesque show, while the Prince of Siam remains in front. Which illustrates the difference between a monogamic and a polygamic imagination.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Crown Prince of Siam now visiting this country must feel that the wild weird, unpronounceable name he bears is a heavy burden, but no doubt gleans a great deal of consolation from the fact that when he becomes King he will be entitled to 300 wives to share the burden with him.—Denver Post.

Chicago will probably claim that its record-breaking array of persons with dislocated hips, as discovered by the Austrian surgeon, Professor Lorenz is due to the fact that Chicagoans are such hustlers.—Washington Times.

BUILDERS AND TRADERS.

Will Meet This Evening To Discuss Chinese Question.

There will be a meeting of the Builders and Traders' Exchange this evening when the committee on the Restricted Chinese Immigration matter will finally report. The committee have many statistics to present of general conditions of Oriental labor and the effect likely to be produced by Chinese immigration. They will also hand in certain recommendations in the shape of a letter to be sent to the Merchants' Association, stating exactly upon what terms the Exchange is willing to endorse the circular. A lively discussion is expected, many of the Exchange members not wishing the Association to take the initial step in the matter.

The quid pro quo demanded by the Exchange from the Planters' stands in line with what the Labor Council will want, so that if the endorsement of the Exchange is satisfactory to the Planters the latter may be reasonably certain of all the trades' union following suit.

The principal question hinges on the employment by the plantations of non-citizen labor outside of mere field work as far as the trades are concerned. The Labor Council raises no point as to clerical or expert employment, but states that the carpenters, engineers and mill hands must all be citizens. If the support of union men is wanted for restricted Chinese immigration for Hawaii.

POLO TOMORROW.

No Football or Other Events To Interfere.

There will be no football game tomorrow afternoon. It was originally arranged in the start of the season that the teams should be given a chance to rest after the Thanksgiving game. The Punahou would hardly be in condition to play with only a day's rest between. Everyone will go out to the polo game at 3 o'clock that being the only athletic attraction.

The officials will be slightly changed for tomorrow's game. Charles Rice and C. N. Prouty will act as field umpires with Allan Dunn as referee. It was planned from the beginning by the Oahu men to have field umpires selected from the two teams not playing so as to place in the championship game with Oahu defending. The names necessarily could not be given out until the preliminary games were played.

Arrangements are completed for the ball. The cotton will start at ten-thirty, after five dances. An intermission for supper will then take place, followed by dances until all are tired. A special program card will be arranged as a souvenir while the favors in the German will be numerous and original, and the decorations, combining the colors of the various teams, unique.

CURTIS J. LYONS, Observer.

PROF. LYONS' KONA.

During the heavy storms of about two weeks ago Prof. Curtis J. Lyons, the territorial meteorologist, predicted that it would be followed by a Kona. He says that this prediction came true in its scientific aspect. The latter storm, the one generally thought of and spoken of as the second storm, was in its meteorological aspects the Kona he had predicted. It was a storm passing between here and the coast, but Hawaii got only the western edge of it which made it appear as a northerly storm, storms in this hemisphere revolving from right to left. Prof. Lyons is not certain whether the storm passed to the north of us or to the south, but he thinks to the south. Further east the storm had the appearance of a Southerly storm and was in reality a Kona.

THE NORMA.

The British bark Norma has finished discharging her nitrates at the Itail-road wharf, and will haul over this afternoon to the Old Fish Market wharf to discharge her coke. She will then sail for Portland, Oregon, with the remainder of her cargo, consisting largely of cement.

CABLE LAYING CONDITIONS

There seems to be no logical reason why cables cannot be laid across any section of the ocean of the world, no matter how great the depth. Some portions of the Atlantic cables are over three miles below the surface, and this is not necessarily the extreme depth, for the cable may, and probably does, pass from the top of one submarine hill to another without dropping materially into the deep valleys between. The greatest known depth of the sea is 40,236 feet, or seven and three-fifths miles, found in the South Atlantic about midway between the Island of Tristan d'Acunha and the mouth of the Rio de la Plata.

Soundings have been made to the depth of 27,480 feet in the North Atlantic south of Newfoundland, and about 34,000 feet, or nearly six and a half miles, is reported south of the Bermudas. Even such enormous depths as these need not hinder cable-laying so far as the theory is concerned, but in practice, for reasons of economy and otherwise, it is found best to take advantage of favoring conditions in the ocean's bed. To illustrate, all of the cables between the United States and Europe run up along our coast until they reach the neighborhood of Newfoundland before starting across to their destination in Ireland and France. The reason for this is found in the range of submarine table lands, forming an ideal cable bed, which lies between the three latter countries.

In past years immense portions of this submerged territory have been plotted and mapped by various governmental and private expeditions, and this knowledge is constantly being added to. It becomes particularly valuable in economic cable-laying. Except in extreme cases the electric conductor is not dropped overboard haphazard. On the contrary, the submarine mountains, valleys and plains over which it is to take its sinuous course are accurately selected beforehand, and their general configuration, soil covering (if any) and other peculiarities properly taken into consideration. Special varieties of cable are manufactured to meet certain conditions known to exist where they are to go. Like men in all trades, the cable-layers must adhere closely to specifications given them in starting in order to perform the right kind of work.

The steamship therefore, while going ahead and paying out the cable over the stern pulley, is under the guidance of skilled hands, following a certain path, which has been pointed out for her by sages on the mainland as being the best adapted for the comfort and ease of the electrical conductor she is depositing.—Lippincott's Magazine.

SOCIAL LIFE.

It is said of Lord Kitchener that three months of social lionizing, country-house visiting and fulsome adulation from English society have marked a baneful transformation in this erstwhile stoic. He has lost much of his sternness has stopped refusing invitations for teas, dinners and luncheons, and indeed, has surrendered completely to social influences.

THE SOLDIER BOY WON THE MATCH

KENNARD WENT OUT AS THE GALLERY YELLED—JOE COHEN AS THE REFEREE.

There was first class boxing at the Orpheum last night. The go between Kennard and DeLisle was good enough to please everyone. Kennard's star dimmed as he used tricky ring tactics while the crowd hooted, paled continually as despite his gallery attitudes, DeLisle's right was jabbed into his anatomy and finally went out with the decision of the referee.

At the outset there was trouble as to a referee and Joe Cohen finally officiated. DeLisle's hand had found its way to Jimmy Fox's head in preliminary training and his knuckles were in bad shape. Six rounds were therefore agreed upon for the bout. At the outset the soldier led and caught Kennard napping. The latter smiled confidently and ducked a little quicker for the rest of the bout. He had too clever a man after him this time, however, and DeLisle finding his swings were going over Kennard's head used his right with telling effect. At the end of the first round Kennard got in one smashing blow that reached the side of DeLisle's jaw. Afterwards it was all the soldier's battle.

Kennard posed and smiled and handed himself cleverly, but the crowd was with the soldier who had sized up the situation so handily. After one sharp exchange Kennard proffered his hand and as DeLisle, less used to ring trickery, started to take it, Kennard smashed him. The crowd hooted and DeLisle hit a little harder for the rest of the fight. In all the mix-ups he was the stronger and got to his man twice to Kennard's once. The decision was received with disfavor by Kennard's backers, but there was no doubt about it and every rindside man in the house unhesitatingly declared it fair and clean.

Harris made an aggregated ass of himself and lost his chances of a fight with Weday for keeps. Riley, the man up against the lengthy coon, was out of any kind of condition, and started in too fast. The punishment on both sides was severe and both men found the floor. While he lasted Riley had the fight. Harris floored him at the end of the second round, but the gong saved him in two seconds. The referee did not hear the gong through the shouting and Harris seemed to think he had won the fight. Nothing in the world would persuade him to go back into the ring again, though with all his wind left ought to have won. Riley was ready but Harris, with a puffed up face, was fighting and swearing with his seconds and assistants, and finally got out of the ropes. The decision had to go to Riley and did. If the latter trains for a month he could beat Harris easily. Harris fouled in a break-away in the first round and was warned by the referees.

The preliminaries were interesting if not scientific. Anderson put out a plucky Portuguese named Vierra in three rounds, the Punchbowl lad's face looking very nasty at the end. Two Australian kangaroo performed antics that could not be dignified by the name of boxing and a native lad and another gave the best go of all the preliminaries.

CHEMISTS' ASSOCIATION.

An organization of chemists under the name of the "Hawaiian Sugar Chemists Association" has been formed for the purpose of making a study of sugar chemistry. The officers are C. Eckert, president; J. C. Penny, vice-president; and E. C. Shorey, secretary and treasurer. These and the following constitute the executive committee. P. A. G. Messchaert, W. McQuaid, George H. Baldwin, A. Fries.

BARONET.

Sir William Gordon MacGregor, fourth baronet of his line, is an inmate of the workhouse at Leytonstone, a London suburb. The first baronet was sergeant surgeon to George IV. The fourth is suffering from locomotor ataxia.

THE MISSING YACHT.

No Signs of the Canary at Pearl Harbor.

The Canary, which was reported missing on Wednesday was the smallest craft in the fleet of the Hawaii Yacht Club. She was brought here some three years ago in the interior of the fine Keel Malolo, bought at Yokohama by Henry Waterhouse. Stowed away inside was the Canary, a perfect miniature of the Malolo and little larger than some of the toy yachts of the princes' miniature fleet. Curtis Iaukea bought her next and she finally came into the hands of Prince David Kawanakoa who is the present mourner.

The prince seldom sailed her, leaving it to the pleasure of his younger friends. Two constituted a crew and whenever the Canary went into stays one man nearly went out. She was a staunch little craft although perhaps the smallest practical yacht in the country sailed outside the reef down to Pearl Harbor from Honolulu and participated in the fourth class races on more than one occasion.

A north wind has been blowing at the lochs and it is thought that the Canary must have parted from her moorings in the night when the wind and current may have taken her out to sea. Had she filled and sunk at her moorings her mast would have shown above water unless broken off as she was in shallow water close to the mud flats on the western side of the Peninsula.

A PATENT SYSTEM.

The Chinese government has taken the first steps toward the organization of a patent system: Lieuts. Tseng and this country to make an exhaustive inventory of the imperial army are now in vestigation of the methods pursued at Washington and a few days ago they made their first trip through the patent office, in charge of the commissioner and Chief Clerk Ireland. These oriental gentlemen will spend the entire winter here, acquainting themselves with the details of the operation of this department of the government, and on them will devolve the responsibilities of organizing the new feature of the imperial government.

BISHOP MUSEUM.

The annual report of the trustees of the Bishop Museum has been filed in the Circuit Court and shows the museum trust to have had a prosperous year. The receipts were $168,421, while the expenditures were $144,858, leaving a balance of $23,563. The trust fund now amounts to $43,337 altogether. During the year 8,610 visitors went to the museum, 4,671 of them being whites.

ART LEAGUE OPENS.

The fall exhibition of the Kiloheha Art League will open with a first view tomorrow evening. The rooms will also be thrown open on Monday evening while the polo ball is in progress. Howard Hitchcock has a number of interesting canvases from Hawaii, painted during the present activity and also from the other side of the island, painted this summer. There are no new exhibitors beyond Mr. Gurrey but the walls will warrant inspection with an interesting display.

COULD NOT TELL.

"It gets me!" confided the intoxicated individual who was gazing into the florist's window. "It gets me, I'd know weezer a chr-chr-zannemum looks like a Skye terrier or weezer a Sky terrier looks like a chr-chr-lizianium." But the policeman got him just then, and the problem ceased to get him for the time being.—Baltimore American.

MODERN AMAZON.

Princess Mathilde of Saxony is described as a modern Amazon. She is tall and of a masculine appearance and gait. She spends most of her time on horseback or driving. In the evening at the king's summer resort she usually takes him out for a drive, holding the reins herself. She is highly educated, and most men in her circle hate her because one of her favorite amusements is to engage them in conversation on some subject on which she knows they are not informed, and then make them feel their ignorance in a humiliating way.

THE BEET SUGAR SHORTAGE

Nature performs some feats of statesmanship which are the despair of statesmen. For example, a shortage in the beet-sugar crop in Europe has caused a rise in the price of sugar which promises to make Cuba, for a time at least, independent of the American market for her principal product. The European shortage and consequent rise in the price of sugar will more than compensate Cuban sugar growers for the refusal of Congress to make a 20 per cent reduction in tariff rates. The action of the International Sugar Conference at Brussels last year, which promises the abolition of bounties on exports of sugar, is another cause of the rise in the price of sugar. Although the principal bounty-paying nations have not yet ratified the Brussels agreement, the fact that it is clearly their interest to do so leaves little doubt of final action. The bounty-paying European countries have nearly ruined the sugar industries in countries that do not pay bounties on sugar exports, at considerable loss to the several governments. By paying a part of the cost of producing sugar, an immense surplus has been accumulated which can only be worked off by a considerable reduction in the supply. Great Britain is the only nation that has profited largely by the policy adopted by other European nations. The United States has protected its sugar industry by imposing a countervailing duty on sugar equal to the bounty paid on exports, but Great Britain, having no sugar industry to protect, has for some years been supplied with sugar at less than the cost of production. The reported shortage in the European beet-sugar crop, combined with the abolition of export bounties on sugar, will do more for Cuba than Congress was asked to do. If the European shortage proves to be as great as is now estimated, the effect will be to add about one-half a cent a pound to the price of raw sugar in the United States. The American sugar product is not yet sufficient to materially affect the home price of sugar. That price will be fixed by foreign producers of sugar. With the abolition of bounties on exports of European sugar the American countervailing duties will be abolished, but American sugar producers will still be protected by the regular duty of 40 per cent, equivalent to about 1 1/2 cents a pound.—San Francisco Bulletin.

PUNAHOU WON FROM MAILES

The Punahou won from the Mailes yesterday afternoon on their superior form. Somewhat of a surprise party was furnished in the first half by the ease with which the Mailes got round Berger on the end, but the green and yellow men played themselves out and were unable to resist the collegians in the second half.

There was a good deal of growling over the decision of the Mailes thinking they had been given the worst of it, while there is a kick coming from the other contingent to the effect that Morse's big run was not outside, though the interference went over the line.

One thing that should be recalled as soon as possible is the matter of unfairness. Red jerseys seem to be worn indiscriminately by both sides, and there is general difficulty for the public to distinguish the play readily. There was a big crowd in attendance and the football was the best played on this season's gridiron.

Mailes made the touchdown for the Punahou in the first half getting round the end and making a forty-five yard run. Judd went out of the game from a blow on the head and Marcellino was helped off with a lame ankle. Morse made a fine run and Fuller a good tackle of Johnson. Punahou got the ball on a hold by Jarrett and a mighty roar went up from the greenery yellers at the decision. The fortune of war swung back and forth until time was called with the Mailes having the best of the half.

In the second half things went wrong with the Mailes. The Punahou went round their ends without trouble. The ball was carried down the field until a final run from Morse brought a touchdown, but no goal. Morse again got the ball and made a star run of fifty yards. Maile substitutes pointed out to referee Brooks that Morse had run outside the line and he was of the same opinion, so the ball was centered once more. Rycroft made a successful run of forty yards and Morse ended the move by running through the Maile interference and scoring another touchdown. The kick failed, leaving the score 10 to 6. Morse was then relieved. To the end of the game the ball was constantly in the Maile territory and Rycroft came very close to scoring. The collegians had all the honors of the second half.

HE STRUCK A WOMAN.

The Earnest Wife and the Borrowed Dollar.

Mano, a Japanese, was fined $6 and costs by Judge Wilcox on Wednesday for assault and battery on Kio, a countrywoman. All the parties live in the tenement house on Punchbowl street opposite the Kawalaho cemetery. Mano loaned Kio a dollar. Mano's wife, it seems also, was in the habit of going to Kio's room, in fact it seemed as though she had deserted her husband. Mano went to Kio's room to urge his wife to return to him and also to collect the dollar and interest which Kio owed him. After some discussion Kio paid the dollar and twenty-five cents interest. But the quarrel went on and Mano struck the woman.

THE REPORT.

Mr. George, the new minister of railways in Westralia, began his speech at a meeting of railway hands by addressing his hearers as "fellow-employees." This was good in its way, but he had not got through his first sentence when a voice from the back of the hall called out: "Fellow-employees! Yes, an 'e makes 30 quid a week an' we get 30 blanky bob!"

SPECIAL SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

Special services were held and sermons preached in the churches of Honolulu yesterday in honor of Thanksgiving Day. At the Central Union Church the Methodist and Christian Church congregations and pastors joined in celebration. The auditorium was decorated with the typical harvest of the tropics, breadfruits, bananas, oranges and native fruits took the place of the corn, wheat and pumpkins of the mainland. The pastors of the united churches were grouped on the platform with Governor Dole and school dignitaries, the students of Kamehameha being present in a body. The sermon was preached powerfully by the Rev. E. S. Muckley, the subject being the "Philosophy and Expression of Gratitude." The special service was as follows:

Following the opening sentences, "O Lord, Open Thou Our Lips," a hymn was sung. Governor Dole was then introduced, and he read in a clear voice which penetrated to every part of the church, President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving Day proclamation. The singing of the "Doxology" was followed by responsive reading, "Thou Crownest the Year With Thy Goodness," was the first anthem, and was sung by Mrs. Otis, Mrs. Whitney and the choir. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. P. Erdman, followed by the anthem "Praise Ye the Lord," the solo parts being carried by Mrs. Otis, Mrs. Whitney, Mr. Elston and Mr. Rockwell.

At St. Andrew's Cathedral services were carried through according to the Episcopal ritual. The Canon V. H. Kiteat conducted the service which commenced at 10 o'clock. Bishop Restarick preaching for the palmists verse "Go Your Way Into His Gates With Thanksgiving and Into His Courts With Praise Speaking Extemporaneously." Special anthems were rendered by the choir. The offering, a large one, was devoted to the Cathedral Charity fund.

W. W. Dimond & Co. are busily engaged arranging their holiday display of goods. The store closed all day today in order to complete its festive appearance. The doors will not be thrown open until 7:30 tomorrow morning when it is expected that conversation into a "Crystal Palace" will be complete.

THE TAX CLERKS.

Trial Is Expected To Produce Sensational Testimony.

The trial of Alexander D. Thompson on a charge of embezzlement will be resumed tomorrow morning before Judge De Bolt. The jury has been excused to Monday, as tomorrow is a short day and there are some legal propositions to be argued. The defense on Wednesday refused to admit that Thompson was a deputy tax assessor, and the question of proof comes before the judge on a demand made in court that the defense produce his commission.

Tax Collector Pratt's testimony, dealing with the discovery that tax receipts had been wrongly used and the means of tracking them, has been practically finished. Pratt stated that when he first discovered the irregularities he confided in Thompson and discussed them with him. Thompson was deputy and the collector said he had confidence in him. Thompson, however, communicated to the suspect, Woodward, said Pratt, and warned him of what was coming. It is claimed that the two were in a conspiracy, and that Thompson's idea was to have Woodward take the blame, promising to stand by him.
"When I asked Thompson why he warned Woodward," said Pratt, "he told me it was because of his aloha for Woodward, who had been in the tax office a long time."

The presentation of the evidence for the prosecution is expected to bring forth some sensational testimony, showing the embezzlements from the tax office to have been very large. It will also expose to the jury a clever system under which the thefts are alleged to have been accomplished.

THE NAVY'S COAL

Has More Coal Here Than For a Long Time.

The Navy Department is piling up an immense quantity of coal at this port. All the sheds are already full, and the cargo of the French bark Brizeux, as that of the Vincennes was,
is being piled up on the open lot just west of the Electric Light Works. There are several cargoes of coal coming and when this open lot is filled, the Navy coal will begin to go on the fenced-in lot where the Public Works Department now has its supply of sewer pipe stored, just north of one of Davies & Company's warehouses. This property belongs to the Navy, but as it has not been needed for some time it was loaned by the Navy to the Public Works.

The Public Works Department is looking around for some suitable and permanent place for the storage of their brick, sewer pipe and that sort of thing. It is probable that they will be removed for the present at least to the Aala warehouse on King street just the other side of Nuanu stream.
It is a good while since the United States ever had as much coal here as it has now, if it ever had, though during the time that the troops were being transported to and from the Philippines there was an immense quantity piled up here. It was during this time that the extensive coal sheds were built.

ON A TRAMP.

Count de Mersay of Paris and his brother, Viscount Jacques de Mersay, have left Paris with a small party of explorers for a tramp through the Caucasus, Persia and India. All have good records as explorers and travelers of the Orient. They may be gone two years and are equipped with all scientific paraphernalia for important observations.
