ADAMS HAD $10,000 WHEN HE DISAPPEARED

BERKELEY, July 8.—With $10,000 in his pockets, the proceeds from the sale of bonds, which he had just disposed of, Archibald Willis Adams, a former resident of Honolulu, who has been making his home at 2400 Grove street, in this city, has mysteriously dropped from sight, and is believed to have met with foul play at the hands of gamblers, whom he met in a place on Third street, San Francisco.

In response to an appeal from Adams' wife, Mrs. Helen C. Adams, Chief of Police August Vollmer started an investigation, which resulted in his statement this afternoon that he believed Adams has been done away with.

The case presents some peculiar features and is shrouded in considerable mystery.

Adams went to Fruitvale on June 5th, from which place he telephoned his wife, the same day, that he had sold the bonds which he had in his possession for $10,000 in cash, and intended starting for San Diego, where he planned to open a rooming-house. He promised to notify her immediately on his arrival in the southern city, after she had expressed concern for his safety with so large a sum of money on his person. Later she learned that he had met a party of men in a billiard place on Third street in San Francisco and she became convinced that he had fallen victim to a plot to get his money.

Mrs. Adams made inquiry of the San Diego authorities, and, though she has continued the search for more than a month, she has not received any word as to his whereabouts.

Chief Vollmer will circulate posters broadcast along the coast giving a description of the missing man.

Adams is described as being six feet tall, weighing 205 pounds, heavy build, black hair spotted with gray, partially bald, 40 years of age, sandy mustache and blue eyes. He wore a brown suit and hat of similar color at the time of his disappearance.

One of his principal forms of recreation is pool and billiard playing, and he has considerable knowledge of cards.

He was employed for five years in the customs department at Honolulu, and is well known there and in Spokane and Seattle, where he formerly worked.

PROCLAMATIONS TURN FISHMARKET OVER TO IMMIGRATION BOARD AND ESTABLISH MAKIKI PARK

Two proclamations were prepared for publication and were signed by the Governor this morning. One of them relates to the establishment of "Makiki Park," a reserve of 500 acres embracing most of the Makiki Valley, a description of which was printed in yesterday's Star; the other turns over to the department of labor, immigration and statistics, the old Alakea street fish market property, to be used as an immigration station and as offices for the department.

Governor Frenar called attention to the fact that the old bureau of immigration has been replaced by a department, by act of the last legislature, and its importance and responsibilities increased as implied by its title of department of labor, immigration and statistics.

"The new department is responsible for a good deal broader work than was the bureau it replaces," stated the Governor. "Among other things, it will have the duty of collecting and compiling statistics on all kinds of subjects relating to the Territory. Up to this time we have had no place where such work could be done, and if certain statistics are required the person wanting them generally has to make them himself, which, more than likely, he may not be able to do.

"Then the department has to look after the matter of suitably settling up the public lands, and will also act as a go-between in the matter of subdividing for settlement private lands; all this working towards the peopling of the Territory with a desirable class of people.

"The department also has the matter of marketing crops, finding products suitable to raise, packing crops for market, etc., to look after."

Dr. V. S. Clark, who has the title of Commissioner of Immigration, is also the executive officer of the department, and as such has direct charge of carrying out all of the various objects for which the department stands.

SUPERVISORS WILL OVERRIDE VETO BY A STRICTLY PARTY DIVISION

The city and county supervisors will meet this evening, and they will override the Mayor's veto of ordinance No. 33, reorganizing the road and engineer's departments of the municipality. The vote, it is stated, will be six to one, Supervisor McClellan, Democrat, supporting the Mayor.

The division is recognized as a political one, and the real point at issue is whether there shall be a Democrat or a Republican in charge of the road department. If the majority of the supervisors carry through their plan, they will appoint Charley Wilson, Republican, road overseer in this district in place of Ellwood Wilder, Democrat, appointed by the Mayor.

There is still talk of carrying the matter into the courts on a claim that the supervisors are exceeding their authority. But the Republican supervisors say that this is all a bluff on the part of Hizzoner, the Mayor, and his Democratic advisers, and they will go ahead with their program. As stated in The Star last week, this may result in tying up the road department, if Road Supervisor Wilder refuses to vacate his job.

PLAN--AGRICULTURAL EXPOSITION HERE

It is possible that an agricultural exposition will be held in Honolulu some time next fall or winter.

Dr. Clark of the Department of Labor, Immigration and Statistics has such a project in mind, and has mentioned it to various persons, all of whom seem to be enthusiastic on the subject. Among these is J. A. Kennedy of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, who has promised to aid in the project in any manner within his power.

Dr. Clark thinks that a great deal of good could be accomplished in an educational way by getting together such products of the island as possible and to give demonstrations of the best methods of assorting, packing for shipment, labeling, etc.

If the plan can be carried out, it is probable that the old fish market building, which has just been turned over to the department as an immigration station, will be the place of holding the show. Every effort will be made to make the exhibit as comprehensive and as practical as possible, and Dr. Clark feels that he is certain of the hearty co-operation of all agriculturists of the community.

TIENTSIN LARK ASHORE HERE

The British steamer M. S. Dollar, which arrived here on Sunday morning from the Orient was responsible for the introduction of a prohibited bird into Hawaii, for a Tientsin lark escaped from captivity on board, and was never caught.

These birds are prohibited in the Territory for the reason that they are said to be a pest, but it is not anticipated that any action will be taken by the authorities over the escape of a single, or a married bird for that matter, as it is not supposed that it will do any appreciable damage.

HEALTH BOARD TO STAND NO MORE DELAY

The Board of Health this morning served notice on the Bishop Estate Trustees, Charles Aebi, Allen & Robinson, and on one of the tenants living in the property on Waipolopio lane, which has been declared to be insanitary on account of a chronically overflowing cesspool, giving twenty-four hours in which to pump out the cesspool and put the place in a sanitary condition.

All the parties are further advised of a resolution passed by the Board of Health at a recent meeting to the effect that unless the hole is kept pumped out, use of it will be stopped.

This is the place which has been causing no end of complaint for the past several months on account of its disgusting and dangerous condition, but owing to the complications of responsibility between owners, lessees, mortgagee and sub-tenant, the board up to the present time seems to have been powerless in the matter.

TOO MUCH RAIN AND NO MOVING PICTURES, SO SHE LEFT HOME

The charge of kidnapping lodged against Chang Yau and Lucy Chan, two well-known Chinese, by Annie Mendiola, petered out in the district court this morning and resulted in a dismissal.

Defendants were charged with having kidnapped Martha Kealoha, a sister of Mrs. Mendiola, and caused her to be taken to Pahala under false representations, where she was married to a Chinaman named Alima.

Evidence for the prosecution showed that Martha Kealoha was seventeen years of age and that she had lived with her sister and been supported by her for four years. Her parents only came from Maui a year ago.

Martha left her sister's house on May 25 and stayed at her mother's house till the steamer left for Pahala, two days later.

The girl stated under cross-examination of E. M. Watson, attorney for the defense, that her mother and father consented to her going away to marry the Chinaman and that her mother accompanied her to the steamer and kissed her good-bye on the wharf.

Martha stated that she was treated well by Alima and that his boss had built a nice house for them. It rained all the time at Pahala, however, and there were no moving pictures and life generally was so slow that she wanted to return to Honolulu and did so, leaving her "married husband" to console himself as best he might.

Attorney Watson, when all the evidence for the prosecution was in, moved for the dismissal of defendants and Judge Monsarrat gave a verdict accordingly, remarking that there was nothing in the evidence which called for a conviction.

Lorrin Andrews handled the case for the prosecution.

CHARTER SHIP FOR IMMIGRANTS

A. J. Campbell will leave by the Wilhelmina tomorrow on his return to Europe for the purpose of recruiting another lot of Portuguese or Spanish immigrants for the plantations.

The Department of Immigration has been carrying on negotiations with London for the past week, by cable and it is understood that a charter has virtually been completed for a ship to bring the immigrants here by way of Cape Horn. Mr. Campbell will proceed to his destination with all dispatch, as it is believed by the Board that conditions are especially propitious for the success of this mission just at present.

The steamer for which a charter is being closed is the Willesden, a British vessel. She will probably come here in the fall.

MARKET MAN OFF TO HAWAII

S. T. Starrett, the expert on fruit and vegetable packing and marketing, brought here from California to look into the possibilities of developing a system of small farming for this Territory, sailed at noon today by the Mauna Loa for Kona. He was accompanied by Dr. V. S. Clark of the Department of Labor, Immigration and Statistics, under whose auspices he is making his investigations.

After looking over the agricultural possibilities of Kona, Mr. Starrett will proceed to Hilo and take a look at the Hamakua coast region before going to Maui for a tour of investigation. Dr. Clark will make the trip also, and expects that the balance of

MUCH LAND NOT APPLIED FOR

There were but thirteen applicants for the thirty-three homestead lots in North and South Kona, when the drawing was held in the Land Office this morning. And of these, three were applicants in the drawing for the Kohala lots of the First Land Division, which was held yesterday.

The names of the thirteen, in the order in which they were drawn follows: Thos. K. Forrest, Jr., Wm. K. Forrest, Walter Thurteil, Mrs. Elena Kaomi, Daniel K. Kahaku, Loo Fat Kun, Mrs. Kealoa Kapae, Isaac K. Kaawa, Napuapalee Kailluaua, Harry O. Tiedeman, Kailluaua, Albert Kala-waumaku-Hu, Manuel Matola.

Drawing for the lands offered in the Third Land Division, comprising the Ninole-Wailua Homesteads, and the Kiolokaa Kena Tract, both in Kau, will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Visitors to Honolulu will find the Colonial on Emma street, above Vineyard, a hotel par excellence for families. The cuisine and service are superior. Tennis court and plunge on the grounds.

BIG TELESCOPE IS COMING HERE

John F. Silva, a carrier in the local postoffice, has sent East for a large telescope which he proposes to set up here in a public park, to give people a chance to peep at the moon and other heavenly bodies. It is a sixteen-inch refractor, and will make the moon look as if she were only 239 miles away. On Honolulu's clear tropical nights, it is thought, the instrument will afford some fine views of various stars. The telescope is a sixteen inch one and magnifies a thousand diameters. It will be here next month, says Silva.

LOCAL BREAD IS SHORT WEIGHT

A pound of bread may be a loaf, but a loaf of bread is not necessarily a pound—at least not in Honolulu.

Food Commissioner E. B. Blanchard says that this is so, but that he hopes to prevail upon the Board of Supervisors that it should not be so, and to get an ordinance passed accordingly.

"There is only one bakery in Honolulu, as far as I have found," said Blanchard this morning, "that makes a loaf of bread which weighs one pound. At the present time there is no law fixing the weight of a loaf, but the pound is recognized almost everywhere as the standard weight. Many cities and states have this matter covered by statute, and I hope to see an ordinance on the subject passed here. In England the law is so strictly enforced that in case a loaf is inadvertently under weight

THE CASE OF THE M. S. DOLLAR

The question of whether the M. S. Dollar has infringed the laws of the United States by coming in here with- out wireless when she has fifty-two persons on board, is still under con- sideration.

No definite information here from the Orient on July 7, left can be obtained regarding the matter. Should the M. S. Dollar be found to be at fault she will be liable to a fine not exceeding $5,000. When the matter was mentioned on board yesterday it was said that they knew nothing of any such act having been in force since July 1, besides it was a British ship so the United States law on the subject could not touch her.

A reading of the act, however, shows that this applies to all vessels coming within the scope of the act, irrespective of the nationality. The act was published in June of last year. The matter will be settled tonight one way or the other, as the vessel is to leave for San Pedro and San Francisco in continuation of her voyage from the Orient at five o'clock, if she can make it.

Kukui Has No Wireless Operator. R. W. Christie, who became popular as the wireless operator on the Kukui, has resigned his position, and returned to the eastern states. He left recently as the climate down here did not suit him. So far the wireless installation has not been made on the Kukui. Christie while here fixed up a temporary receiving set; the set that she is to have is still awaiting official sanction.

Kukui's Engineer on Honeymoon. Chief Engineer Fred E. Clark of the lighthouse tender Kukui is now on his honeymoon, having left this morning on the Mauna Kea for the big island. He was married to Miss Anna Minna Bertha Henrietta Klemme, on Saturday last. He has been the recipient of many congratulations ever since and left this morning amid a further shower of them.

It is popularly supposed on board that chief officer Blackston will come back a benedick from Vancouver, where he went four weeks ago on a vacation. Blackston swore so positively before he left that he did not intend to get married, that he made his friends on the Kukui suspicious that Japanese Rice Being Fumigated. The P. M. S. China when she was over 6,000 bags of Japanese rice, and all of this has to be fumigated before it can be used, as it has been found to contain worms. The Manchuria also left a large amount of rice similarly affected, and this too, is being treated, but the proportion of bags affected was not so great in the latter shipment.

Nippon Maru Has Small Passenger List. The Nippon Maru completed a fine trip this morning from the Coast. She broke all existing records, for she was sighted at half-past ten, and was tied up at the wharf a few minutes before twelve o'clock. Those who saw her coming through the channel said that she had a "bone in her teeth."

She has no cargo for this port, but she has four lay-over passengers—Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hesse, W. M. Hatch and Herman Krauss. For Yokohama she has eleven first-class passengers, one for Kobe, two for Shanghai and four for Hongkong. Her through cargo is a light one, only totalling about 1000 tons, included in which is treasure valued at $258,014. She has fifty-six steerage passengers. The Nippon will be laid up at Kobe after she has called at Hongkong and there she will be replaced by the Shinyo Maru. It is reported that everyone on board will be transferred to the new boat, excepting that Captain Smith will take charge. This, of course, it was stated on board, was not official. It was only the current report of the matter. The Nippon then will be laid up for a thorough overhauling, after which she will take the place of the America Maru, which has been sold for delivery a few months hence. When the Nippon Maru has been renovated she will resume her running here, and the staff of the America Maru will take her out, thus leveling up matters again.

The Nippon Maru leaves for the Orient at six o'clock tonight. Zealandia Leaves Tonight. The Canadian-Australian steamer Zealandia will take a big load of fresh pineapples away from here when she leaves tonight for Vancouver. She will also have a fairly big consignment of mangoes, alligator pears, and one loongnag, whatever that is. Nobody seems to know. A number guessed that it was something Chinese.

Hyades for Seattle. Nippon Maru Due Tomorrow. A wireless from the Nippon Maru has been received, and this indicates that she will in all probability arrive at about noon tomorrow from the Coast. She is bound for the Orient. Likelike a Freighter Once More. Temporarily the Likelike was raised to the dignity of a passenger ship, having relieved the Mikahala on the Maui-Molokai run. The Mikahala has been thoroughly overhauled, and tomorrow takes up her old running and the Likelike runs to Kaula today as a freighter.

A QUEER INHABITANT OF NEW GUINEA. An extraordinary-looking animal is the Pro Echidna, a species of ant-bear which is found in certain parts of New Guinea. The natives of the Arfak mountains have a very peculiar theory as to the origin of the species. They believe that a certain bird now and again lays a special sort of egg in its nest, hatching it out in the ordinary way. On discovering that something had gone wrong and that the shell contains some weird kind of animal instead of a fledgling, the mother bird, not unnaturally, gets angry, and decides to eject the little stranger. Noting that its snout is unsuitable for burrowing, she takes it down to the ground and buries it, whence it later emerges as a full-grown ant-bear. The native idea, of course, is quite wrong; but the little beastie itself, curiously enough, lays its egg and lives by burrowing in the ground for worms and insects. It likes a rocky, limestone country, and is only able to move very slowly.—Wide World Magazine.

Wherever you go, you will find her, the American leader of society. The satellites scintillating in her particular circle are emulators of her every conceit.

Her functions, elaborate or informal, are widely known and commented upon through their distinctiveness.

She, the woman herself, is a quaint conceit, and though the scalars of genealogical trees are often tempted to glance back in sympathetic scorn at her helpless inability to follow, nevertheless the sweetest plums of social elation fall at her feet for the asking.

So she discovers to her ultimate relief that after all a grandfatherless generation is not so bad, when natural substitutes of personal charm and winsome irresistibility gain recognition.

In every land you will see this type of American womanhood, sparkling, radiant, drawing herself through her own undaunted courage and finality of purpose to the topmost rung of society.

It is this effort which accomplishes her desired destiny, and develops in the process an individual type. She has extensively traveled through legendary lands, all her keen-edged curiosity has been satiated.

Nothing ever, is blase to her. But new, new, and ever new.

In her generous spontaneity, her audiences are carried enthralled through her brisk enthusiasm, each topic opens up a new vista of experiences, and they shamble down into her seeling rejuvenated scenes, at every turn.

The genuine half-marked American woman seems always particularly adaptable to whatever conditions of society of which she may happen to find herself a part, probably due to her composite personality.

It has gained for her a graceful entree into hitherto impossible realms.

It has succeeded in its buoyant persistence to tear down the oldest of old British traditions and gained for her a stalwart position in the social ranks of pre-eminence.

One of the most notable and active American women abroad today, is Madame Slacko Gronitch, formerly Mabel Garden Dunlop of Virginia, wife of the Servian Charge d'Affaires at the Court of St. James in London.

Her diplomacy, and her winsome charm have done much to establish her in the smart set of London society, and have also atoned for the lack of those larger functions at which she has found it difficult to entertain.

She has been recently decorated with the Order of St. Sara by the King of Servia for her efforts to educate her husband's countrywomen, and is highly esteemed by her British contemporaries.

In summing up the admirable features of her character, one Continental Ambassador humorously observed:

"She is altogether charming, and not in the least typically American. For her country's sake I really wish she were!"

SOCIAL NEWS OF THE DAY.

Very handsome was the pink luncheon at which Mrs. John Hamburg entertained at the Moana Hotel yesterday afternoon when, at a table with covers arranged for twenty-five, an elaborate menu was served.

A large mound, heart-shaped, fashioned solidly of blush pink Enchantress carnations and lace maldenhair, occupied the center of the table, whence radiated broad streamers of pink satin, terminating in smaller hearts, similarly constructed at each corner.

The place cards were hand-painted in shades of pink and green, depicting tropical sunset views, and each course was typified by some quaint conceit in the prevailing shades.

The bon bons were pink and the salted almonds were presented in rose cups, the ice cream being also of this delicate shade.

During luncheon Kaul's quintette played and sang in the balcony of the dining room, a delightful feature of the afternoon.

Those present at this handsome luncheon were Mrs. D. P. R. Isenberg, Mrs. Ernest Koepke, Mrs. Soper, Mrs. Gardiner Wilder, Mrs. Henry Afong, Miss Alice Macfarlane, Miss Bertha Koepke, Miss Minna Berger, Miss Blanche Soper, Mrs. T. V. King, Mrs. McGanley, Mrs. F. J. King, Mrs. F. W. Macfarlane, Mrs. Carl Du Roi, Mrs. E. Kruse, Mrs. Armin Hanberg, Mrs. Manuel Phillips, Mrs. Theodore F. Lansing, Mrs. J. Morton Riggs, Mrs. Harriet Myer, Mrs. A. Constabel, Mrs. A. Falke, Mrs. von Damm, Mrs. C. F. Eckart, Miss Louise Girard and Mrs. John Hamburg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Brown, who left for the Cornwell ranch on Maui, will be joined by Mrs. J. S. Walker and family, who left this morning, to be gone for about six weeks.

Miss Alice Cooper is entertaining at a bridge party this afternoon at her home in Manoa valley, in honor of her house guest, Miss Mary Schaefer of Dayton, Ohio. Three tables will be contested.

Miss Edith Cowles, the daughter of Admiral and Mrs. Walter Cleveland Cowles, spent the week-end as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klamp and Miss Louise Girard at Kahala.

Miss Margaret Center, who left last Tuesday in the Mauna Kea for Hilo and the volcano, returned on Sunday in the Wilhelmina after a very delightful trip.

In Hilo, Miss Margaret joined her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ellis Bodge, who for the past three weeks have been touring Hawaii in their automobile, and who also returned in the Wilhelmina.

Mrs. J. H. Soper has issued cards for a tea at which she will entertain on Thursday afternoon from four to six in honor of Mrs. Thomas Rain Walker of England.

A very handsome dinner party was that at which Mr. and Mrs. Maloy entertained last evening at the Alexander Young cafe. The centerpiece was a shining basket filled with blush pink Enchantress carnations, veiled by long, feathery tendrils of asparagus plumosis.

To the handle was attached a bow of pale pink satin, and encircling the basket were four tall, pink shaded candelabra, which were very effective.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. Menaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Scovill of Waipahu, and Mr. and Mrs. Maloy.

CLAIMS MORTGAGE IS OUTLAWED

Answering the bill in equity to foreclose a mortgage brought against him by Kipahulu Sugar Company, Jona Kanoe Nahila by his attorney, Lorrin Andrews, claims that the mortgage is of no effect, in consequence of the failure of complainant to bring an action to recover the amount of the note it secured within six years from the date when the note and interest thereon were due.

TENANT TREATED CONSIDERATELY

It is not often that a written contract is relaxed for the benefit of one of its parties, on account of his ill luck in the enterprise involved, by the voluntary action of the other party. This is what has happened in the matter of a lease by Bruce Cartwright, trustee under Queen Emma's will, to Lun Wo Sing Co., of 9.13 acres of land at Waikiki. The lease was at a rental of $600 a year, and the rent was paid up to April 1, 1911.

The trustee petitioned the court for leave to reduce the rental for this year to $350 over and above taxes. He said he had been informed by the lessees that heavy rains upon the rice field in February created a flood that covered the banana fields to a depth of four inches, so that they were com-

DRINKING BARS FOR SUFFRAGETTES

The go-ahead suffragettes of New York and Boston have caused some amusement recently by the announcement that their new headquarters in the two cities are to be provided with a smoking room and a drinking bar. "A large open-air smoking room at the back of the ground-floor assembly hall and restaurant" will be an innovation in the New York premises. This is all the more remarkable as ladies are still prohibited from smoking in New York restaurants. At Boston, the Clinton Club, the leading organization of the women in that Puritan city, has obtained a license to sell liquor. The board which granted the license says that it was given on the condition that the ladies shall take their cocktails, "sours," and "fizzes" seated at tables. It is also observed that the innovation will really be an improvement, because it will enable the ladies to entertain their husbands and brothers and keep them out of more detrimental resorts. Poor husbands and brothers in leading strings!—Exchange.

THE SUPERVISORS AND PUBLIC DUTY.

"Who serves his country best serves his party best," is a truth that has not borne upon the boards of supervisors, especially the board in the City and County of Honolulu.

When we began "local self-government" we reverted. We hurried back in search of the worst features of the old spoils system and have been clinging to them ever since at vast cost to the taxpayers.

There has not been a single board of supervisors in Oahu or Hawaii, so far as we have heard, which has run the county on business principles; which has made a point of getting full value for the public money paid, especially for labor; which has tried to see how many employes it could do without and keep to a high standard of duty, and which has conserved the public finances as a private business man would. Only about ten per cent. of the members of the whole body of supervisors throughout the Territory would be consulted about private business matters or entrusted with powers of attorney. Generally they are mere politicians and job-chasers, whose whole idea is to spend public money in return for votes in the next election, a system of constructive bribery which is excused on the ground that this is the only way to "strengthen the party." But who cares for a party which is merely the means of poor and expensive roads, badly cleaned streets, extravagant appropriations, negligent administration and high taxes; a sort of eleemosynary institution for the support of suspected politicians and known dead beats?

We have a clear example of this sort of thing in the row between the Honolulu supervisors and the mayor over the road supervisor, Mr. Wilder. The latter is supposed to be a Democrat but he is not a politician. In building roads he has reduced the price of construction per square foot by compelling the laborers to do a full day's work and by other economies, and his road work will not require quick repairs, those devices of graft propagated by every board to "strengthen the party" by making it a good thing for every loafer and scalawag to join. Wilder is an economy in himself and he sets the best kind of an official example, and it is on that account that the supervisors want to take his duties over to themselves, and this in spite of campaign pledges which the choice of Wilder for road supervisor afforded the best means of carrying out. The plan is to make Wilder a mere attache of the board, with some semblance otherwise, but to control the road work directly from the road committee. An ordinance to that effect has been passed and vetoed by the mayor in the interest of efficiency, economy and a business-like method.

Tonight the board will consider this message, which it has power to override. If it insists on having its way, the taxpayers, sitting as a jury, will have two questions before them: First, whether they can afford to support the offending supervisors for re-election; second, whether they cannot be of best service to good government in the next election by uniting with the Democrats on a citizens' ticket.

THE CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY BILL.

The amended campaign publicity bill, which is sure to become a law, will clear the way to the Senate for men of moderate means, at least for those who aspire through the direct primary.

It is prohibited, in such an election, that the candidate shall spend more than $5000 and required that there shall be full publicity for all pre-election expenses including promises.

Last year Senator Flint of California refused to run for a second term because of the cost. He only knew the old method and expected that assessments would be too large for him. A law like the one which has now passed both Houses, would have let Flint into the fight. His competitor, Judge Works, however, spent nothing and won; but nobody expected anything from Works while, if Flint had been in the field, he would have been attacked by every political highwayman on the supposition that he carried the S. P. sack.

This publicity bill will help do away with Lorimer scandals and to change the Senate from its status as a club of millionaires.

The Department of Agriculture includes this paragraph among its recent bulletins:

Two mongoose from Habana, intended for Norumbega Park, at Auburndale, Mass., were denied admission. While the law prohibiting the importation of mongoose, flying fox, and starling is well understood and respected among importers generally, every year witnesses one or more attempts to introduce these injurious species into the United States by persons who are ignorant of the law and of the disastrous results which have followed acclimatization in other countries. The United States is thus constantly threatened with the evils that have been experienced by other countries where these pests have become established.

The remarkable thing is that the United States has been able to keep such things out, especially when one thinks of the ease with which they might be brought into Mexico.

Mayor Gaynor cannot remember the time when the Knickerbocker Ice Company did not double prices in hot weather. It has to, or pass dividends. The loss by melting is at least fifty per cent, and the call for ice is enormous. There is nothing in the law of supply and demand or in the law of New York to keep the Knickerbocker Ice Company from having a special summer scale of prices. Nobody questions the right of the anthracite coal companies of the East to charge more for their product in winter than in dog days.

In the London Daily Mail's account of the coronation we hear again of the guard of yeomen:

His Majesty's Marshalsmen.—25 Yeomen of the Guard (to walk to the Abbey only, in ranks of four, and be relieved by 25 more for the return route.)
If this was not a "guard of Yeomen" what was it?

No Italians for Hawaii! The lazzaroni can never keep the peace and woe to the planter or the luna that incurs their ill will. Wherever South Italians settle they plant the Mafia or the Camorra before they do crops.

With the California Congressmen busy against our Coastwise relief bill who have we in Washington to offset their work? At present and for much of all the time, Hawaii is not officially represented there.

Beverly, Mass., doesn't figure in the dispatches this summer and the boarding house keepers there use language, even at family prayers, that wouldn't look well in print.

Chicago's chief of police now supplies escorts for ladies who are out nights, and the prospect is that the force will have to be doubled.

The fact that the Queen is snubbing the American duchesses won't interfere with the peace programme. Americans are glad of it.

If the remnant of the mobilized army stays in Texas much longer it will need an issue of straw hats and fans.

Chicago brags that it has twice as many telephones as London. It also wears twice as much shoe-leather.

The party will wag its own tail, Kuhio. The tail won't be able to wag the party.

The tourist begins to show up again and looks as much as ever like ready money.

Uncle Walt The Poet Philosopher

The grocer said: "I have some good and satisfying breakfast food." I viewed with scorn and said: "Tut, tut! Your breakfast food is nothing but—excelsior! Men had more sense when I was young." I said, when I had oiled my tongue: "they lived on bread and wholesome meat, and never asked themselves to eat excelsior. Their grists they carried to the mill and had them ground and paid the bill; and they were men of brawn and pith; they never filled their stomachs with excelsior. Then men got value for their seeds; they reared up healthy girls and lads; but now we feed them, day by day, on shredded thistles, toasted hay, excelsior. We toddle to the mill no more; we buy kids fodder at the store—the stuff put up by health food cranks; they carry in their little tanks excelsior. We're guilty of these measly crimes, and then we talk of stringent times, and at the county farm we die because, like clumps, we always buy excelsior. For good old meal I'll pay my rocks; I want no sawdust in a box; to old time ways I stick like glue, and you won't see your uncle chew excelsior."

WALT MASON.

LITTLE INTERVIEWS

PRESIDENT MOTT-SMITH (Board of Health)—The worst way to abate a nuisance is through the courts. I am trying to save expensive lawsuits and consequent hard feelings by avoiding this method as much as possible.

W. E. ROWELL—I am preparing a new pocket map of Honolulu. The present maps are pretty much out of date, and I think a new one will be appreciated. My map will have a complete index of all public institutions and points of interest.

SUPERINTENDENT McVEIGH—Things are running smoothly at the Settlement, and there is a great measure of content. The baseball fever is as bad over there as it is here. We have four teams, and they put up surprisingly good ball.

CHARLEY WILSON—There ought to be a consulting engineer for the belt road proposition, but there is no need to send away for one. We have plenty here. No more competent, honest or impartial man than W. E. Rowell could be got by sending away.

L. L. McCANDLESS—If the next Democratic convention wants some one else to run for delegate to Congress, let it nominate him. If it sees fit to nominate me, I will run. That is a straight statement of my position. I am not running the party and don't think any one man is big enough to run it.

ACTING SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS GIBSON—The work of the Promotion Committee is very evident in the dozens of applications for positions from teachers on the mainland. It gives us a good deal of work in explaining that we can't avail ourselves of their services, but I suppose the advertisement of the Territory is good.

P. C. JONES—If you want to see some evidences of incompetency in road work go to the Punahou-Manoa road. Oil has been poured all over till one can't get from one car to another. Ladies' shoes are being spoiled and their dresses also. It is an outrage and roused much angry comment. There wasn't any need for any oil at all at that point.

FOOD COMMISSIONER BLANCHARD—A considerable quantity of fresh cream is now being brought from the Coast and placed on the market in competition with the locally produced product. I have been unable to find anything the matter with this imported cream although local dairymen would probably be glad if I could.

EBEN LOW—I was misquoted in the Advertiser yesterday morning. I did not say as quoted that Mr. Cathcart got up and said that it was none of the supervisors' business what he or his deputies did. What I did say was that Cathcart might just as well have told us to mind our own business and I used the expression not literally but as a slangism common in the western states.

"Under The Coconut Tree"

By H. M. Ayres.

The Tiser yesterday morning published a photograph of W. H. Rice, with the statement that the Kauai might make one of the polo team which may go from here to take part in a tournament in Manila. The photo was a striking one and the only thing the matter with the comment was that W. H. Rice doesn't play polo and, on account of his weight, isn't likely ever to.

The death of young Correa has, it is devoutly to be hoped, sounded the knell of the wretched "popularity" contests with which the city has recently been afflicted. Such contests appeal only to the weak-minded and are as pernicious as a lottery. A concern which has to resort to such childish and meretricious devices to bolster up its business had better sink back into the slough of financial despond which is destined to be its ultimate resting-place.

WHEREABOUTS OF THE FLY.

Honolulu, T. H., July 18, 1911.

Editor Star: Referring to the discussion in the columns of the Star as to whether the proper expression is "A fly in the ointment" or "A fly in the amber," the writer takes the liberty to point out that these expressions are entirely distinct and dissimilar, and do not attempt to convey the same idea.

The one is used to imply a feeling of disgust or disappointment in present conditions, and the other is used to imply the holding up of a fault or defect for the observation of posterity.

The expression, "A fly in the ointment," is used to denote some present or immediate abhorrence, or revulsion of feeling. It is used to express an interference, at the particular time, with the pleasures, desires or ambitions of some party who is under discussion.

The expression, "A fly in the amber," is used to denote a permanent flaw in an otherwise perfect object. It is used to intimate that a certain action is so glaringly at fault that it becomes a perpetual blot, "a fly in the amber."

For instance, it certainly was "a fly in the ointment" of the president of the Board of Health when the Star pointed out so emphatically the errors and shortcomings in the administration of this department.

It will be "a fly in the amber" in the annals of the Board of Health if they prove unequal to the task they have in hand.

Certain prominent people on the Pacific Coast were made to realize what the expression, "A fly in the amber," meant when Ambrose Bierce wrote under the title, "Black Beetles in Amber."

Some of the recent editorials in the Star make one believe that Bierce has a desk in the Star office. Yours truly, C. F.

Since we began selling lots in this land we have learned a thing or two: First: That the real demand is for moderate size house lots—and in accordance with our suggestion the owner has sub-divided; the two large lots into twelve smaller ones containing from 18,000 to 20,000 square feet. Still good sized lots!

Second that the lots in this land come pretty near selling themselves: The reason? Because the lots are not remnants nor undesirables left over after the pick, but are the real choice locations. This is easily proved by a visit to the land. Let us show you.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

A recent cablegram to Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., from its New York branch office says that the reports of damage to the European beet crops were exaggerated. The estimated damage in the convention countries so far was about 400,000 long tons.

PRODUCTIVE OIL REGION.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—About two miles south of Maricopa the Union Oil Company has a group of wells to the first sand which have been on the pump for more than ten years and are still producing. The real work of developing this field has only been in progress since 1908. An irregular line of derricks trailing off to the southeast across this flat from the Lakeview marks the course of development. This is the productive anticline. The new territory has developed many gushers of the 5,000-barrel class. No well has been brought in that is producing less than 250 barrels per day.

LAKEVIEW STILL FLOWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The Lakeview is still flowing 2,500 barrels per day of good commercial oil and shows no immediate signs of further decline.

BIG ENGLISH MONEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—The report persists that English interests are after the Palmer and Palmer Union oil properties, and expect to get them for $7,500,000. The latest reports are that Baron Hirsch, who is close to the Rothschilds and associates, wants to buy.

NORRIS-MIDWAY OIL

Word has been received by local shareholders of the Norris-Midway Oil Co. that the company's well was down 1500 feet some time ago. As the well is in a proved oil district and surrounded by good producing wells the prospects of Norris-Midway are considered bright.

STOCKS QUIET; EWA DECLINES

Sugar stocks are exceedingly quiet, with weakening tendencies. There was no business at this morning's session of the Honolulu exchange, barring reports of sales after yesterday's board. Ewa sold down a quarter point, 105 shares in lots of 15, 10, 25, 30 and 25 going at $31.75. H. C. & S. shows no change in a sale of 50 shares at $38.37 1/2, but Honokaa has fallen off a quarter point in a sale of 50 shares at $11.25. Brewery, in 25 shares at $21, is unchanged.

HAWAIIAN STOCKS IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Sugar stocks show a strong undertone. Three hundred shares Hutchinson sold yesterday at $16.50. Following were closing quotations for Hawaiian stocks and bonds: Hawaiian Commercial 58, 102 bid, 103 asked; Honolulu R. T. & L. Co. 6s, 102 and 105; H. C. & S. TRADE OF HAWAII FOR TEN MONTHS

Hawaii's aggregate commerce for the ten months ending April 30 declined $853,447 as compared with the same period last year.

This is a smaller decline than might have been expected in view of the fact that shipments of merchandise to the United States mainland fell off nearly four million dollars. The decrease in value of sugar exports was more than four and a quarter millions. This result is partly on account of later marketing of the sugar crop this year, and partly of lower prices, as may be calculated from the figures given below.

Imports from the United States in the ten months considered were this year $18,456,810, as compared with $16,946,926 last year, or an increase for 1911 of $1,509,884. Foreign goods included in the foregoing amounted to $220,656 this year against $234,957 last year, a decrease of $13,491. The increase in American products was therefore $1,523,285.

Hawaii shipped to the United States in the ten months of this year $30,864,166 worth, of which $30,150,546 was in Hawaiian products. In the same period last year the total shipments were $34,137,876, of which $33,525,783 represented Hawaiian products. There was therefore a decrease of $3,273,710 in Hawaiian products and of $3,973,710 in total.

Hawaii's trade with foreign countries shows an increase of over nine hundred thousand dollars net, nearly three-fourths of which was made in imports, imports from foreign countries to this Territory for the ten months ending with April last were $4,558,236, as compared with $3,819,096 last year, an increase of $739,140.

Shipments of domestic products to foreign countries in the same period were $451,901, being $174,177 more than last year, and of foreign merchandise $2560, being $2938 less than last year, all which shows a net increase of $171,239 in exports for the ten months compared.

The grand total of imports for the ten months ending with April 1911 was $23,015,946, and of exports $31,319,627, making the aggregate commerce of Hawaii for period $54,334,673. For the corresponding period ending in 1910 the grand total of imports was $20,766,022, and of exports $34,422,098, making an aggregate commerce of $55,188,120, which shows a decline for 1911 of $853,447. This may be mostly or altogether overtaken by the figures for the whole fiscal year ending June 30.

Sugar shipments to the States for the ten months ending April 30 this year amounted to $36,487,794 pounds valued at $26,801,238, against $20,793,461 pounds valued at $31,171,426 for the corresponding period ending last year. Unrefined sugar shipped in the 1911 period was 720,299,894 pounds valued at $26,016,993, against 790,295,161 valued at $29,511,508 in the 1910 period. Refined sugar in 1911 amounted to 16,387,900 pounds valued at $784,216, against 30,297,300 pounds valued at $1,659,928 in 1910. The sugar deficiency all told for the ten months consisted of 84,305,667 pounds and $4,370,198 value; in unrefined 79,096,267 pounds and $3,494,515; and in refined 14,209,400 pounds and $875,683.

CHINESE AMBITIOUS TO BEAT KEIOS TOMORROW

The All-Chinese ball artists will take another crack at the Keios tomorrow afternoon at the athletic park and this time they expect to reverse the verdict in the last game.

That the Chinese are sore at their defeat by the Japanese is an open secret. In the first place they dislike playing second fiddle to their oriental neighbors, and in the second they think that the luck of the last game was against them.

Be this as it may tomorrow's game will certainly provide a great struggle and the "Chinks" will have many more supporters than they had a week ago.

The game will start at 4:30 p. m. and it is to be hoped that the teams will play ball on time and by so doing give the spectators a chance of getting home in time for dinner. Last week's delay was vexatious and inexcusable.

The teams for tomorrow's game will be as follows:

Chinese—Ah Toon, c; Asam, p; Apan, lb; Kan Yen, 2b; Ah Tin, 3b; V. Ayan, ss; Hong Chack, lf; En Sue, cf; Kut Fa, rf.

Keios—Fukuda, c; Sugase, p; Goto lb; Kanki, 2b; Kirotsuki, 3b; Sasaki, ss; Koyama, rf; Takahama, cf; Ishi kawa, lf.

TO THE TOP OF TANTALUS—A WALK WELL WORTH WHILE

There isn't a more enjoyable stroll around Honolulu than to the top of Tantalus.

Take the road running round Punchbowl and when you are face to face with the great mountain look up and follow the trail revealing itself on its face. Leave the road for those who ride in vehicles. The trail is for walkers on the trail.

The road zigzags marvelously and several miles are saved on the journey to the top by following the trail, or one of the several trails, all of which lead to the summit.

Go lightly clad, for the ascent draws the perspiration out like water. Take a sandwich along, for the upper air is a famous hunger-provoker. Drink you can obtain at a little Japanese house half way to the top.

Walk until you come to a point where the trail divides, then take the right-hand branch. This is the new Pauoa trail, and is pleasant to follow.

Up and up you go, and looking back every now and again, the panorama of sea, earth and sky grows ever more beautiful.

If you are winded, there are groves of trees and under them cool grass on which you may stretch your tired limbs or lie on your back listening to the sigh of the wind among the trees on the further ridge and perhaps detecting a joyous bird note heretofore unknown to you.

The Tantalus violets.
After a while your nostrils will catch the breath of violets borne to you on the freshening wind and you will wonder where it comes from. Presently you will find out, for you will come to a shaded garden in which are thousands of the sweetest violets that ever bloomed—the famed Tantalus violets.

Passing the beautiful Schaefer place with its lawn of velvet grass set on the edge of slope and on which a rustic bench has been placed which beckons alluringly to the wayfarer, you cross a well-kept cinder path, and taking to the trail again, come in a short time to the mountain home of W. R. Castle.

A little past the Castle place there is a Japanese house, where a stop may be made for a bottle of pop or a fresh cigar.

Thereafter the trail runs for a short way through a pleasantly wooded tract and then over the coarse grass of the local hillsides, every now and then intersecting the road so that one is likely to pass the same horse and wagon half a dozen times on the way up.

Up to the Top.
There is a dip in the ridge and then the ascent of the summit proper is commenced. If it has been raining, as is so often the case on Tantalus, the footing will be very muddy and perplexingly slippery.

Once on the very top of the mountain, the wind is so strong as almost to take the breath away. Your reward is ready and waiting for you, however, and the finest scene your eyes have ever enjoyed lies spread out for your enjoyment.

The Landscape.
Looking in the direction where the trail leads still further on, one sees peaks and ridges over which the clouds, like steam, drift and scatter. In the gray distance can be traced the cloud-draped outline of valley-dividing ridges, clothed with pale-follied kukui trees and others of a darker leaf.

From round about comes the smell of the bracken, calling to mind mountain-sides in the highlands of Scotland, where the deer love to roam and over which the eagle and the peregrine falcon soar all day long.

Below is a painted picture. The town with its white buildings set mid the greenery of a wide-spreading forest. Its streets, white and regular, looking for all the world like scars on the city's face rather than the highways of a mighty traffic.

The coast, as far as the eye can reach, is splashed with greens and blues of every shade, and mingling with the white of the surf, makes a combination of color which makes one think of fair sea gardens set all along the line of the coast.

The face of the Waianae range is lit up and its myriad beauties revealed by the afternoon sun. Inland Pearl Lechs lie still and blue, mirroring the azure sky.

The tide is creeping over the Kalihii flats, dimming the glistening gold and silver of the sand, but every now and again reflecting the sun with dazzling sheen.

The harbor looks very peaceful and secure and Sand Island appears to be diamond-shaped, the two sides fronting on the harbor looking painfully and geometrically regular. A great steamer is leaving port and will soon become a mere speck and then be lost to sight where the clouds kiss the water of a veritable sea of dreams.

A couple of wind-jammers lie at anchor in the roadstead, their masts looking as thin as pencils in the distance. Between Diamond Head and the harbor a ship with all sail spread looks like a great white bird skimming to port over the watery waste. Presently a tiny tug goes out to her and then her sails droop and drop like wounded things and her strange, almost mystic beauty departs.

One can look right down into the crater of Punchbowl from the top of Tantalus, and he who does so will certainly appreciate the fitness of the great mound's name.

A glimpse may also be had into the interior of old brown Leahi at whose base the Kapiolani Park enclosure looks like a clearing on account of the parched condition of the infield of the old race track.

Kaimuki looks red and dry and dusty, but each house is surrounded by an oasis of greenery which offsets the parched appearance of the district as a whole.

The algaroba-covered acres of Waialae make a goodly sight, and down by the shore a speck of white tells the tale of someone's home nestling among a grove of palms.

The day is wearing on and it is a long way back to town, albeit that the trail is down hill. Retracing your steps, you make a leisurely descent, stopping now and again to gather a tempting looking strawberry guava or to admire a lantana bush, gay with parti-colored blossoms of every hue. Some day, it is safe to say, you will make the ascent again.

SPORTDRIFT

Jack Scully has undertaken to manage Aviator Masson for a period of six months, and he expects Masson to make a series of flights from Los Angeles to San Diego, a distance of 120 miles.

Jack Scully will leave for the Coast by the next Sierra and will meet Masson in Los Angeles.

The black bass placed in the dam at Waiawa some time ago are doing well, having attained a length of six inches. They should provide good sport for anglers in a year or so.

It is probable that other dammed waters in the Territory will be stocked with black bass. These dammed waters have in the past been freely dammed because there were no fish in them.

Meanwhile Kaoo is getting older every day. If Fitzgerald delays making that match for a marathon with the Hawaiian veteran much longer the S. P. C. A. will step in and prevent ancient Anton from running.

The Keios are billed to play six more games in Honolulu. It is understood that an effort is being made to have the Japanese nine visit Hilo.

After the baseball season, water sports will enjoy an inning. The swimming carnival of August 12 will usher in the aquatic season and Regatta Day will fittingly bow it out.

Interest in mountain climbing has grown wonderfully of late and every Sunday sees many of both sexes hiking up the peaks and along the ridges of the local range.

The Marathon at Hilo.
The following appears in a recent issue of the Box of Curios, a well-known weekly published in Yokohama:

A former Kobe resident, who is now in Hawaii, writing on March 9, says: "Yesterday afternoon I went down to Hilo and watched a marathon race around the track there between an old Hawaiian, aged 52, and a young American professional from San Francisco, aged 25. The old native is a great runner, being the late king's chief messenger in the days of the monarchy, when he was younger; he is now a fisherman along the coast, living just on what he catches, and from his every day work seems to be able to go on to the track with no training at all. I thought the marathon race throughout the globe had died a natural death, but it does not

A YACHTSMAN IS A YACHTSMAN IF HE SAILS IN 'FRISCO BAY

By Jack Densham in the Examiner.
The winds swoops down through Hurricane Gulch
And hurls itself out on the bay;
The water is fleck'd where the tides-rips meet,
But everywhere else it is gay.
The sun steers west in an azure sky—
Will you come for a sail today?

"Lay flat on the deck there, you wuthering crew,
For windage is windage, you slob; And a target I'll make for a succulent chew
Of the very first headpiece that bobs.

Aw, beef it, you lubbers—delay; One haul on the peak when we're ready to tack,
For we'll win or we'll bust her today.

seem so here. The start of the race I watched was made so that the 385 yards were run first, the total distance being twenty-six miles, 385 yards. The men got away together, Kaoo, the name of the old Hawaiian, slightly in the lead. It was a good start, and for the first few laps the men kept together, King, the name of the young American, running in the best style of any. King was ahead at the end of the first two miles and 385 yards, and at the end of the fifth mile was one round ahead of Kaoo. This lead didn't seem to worry the old Hawaiian at all, but he continued running on in the same pace, which was not slow by any means. From the end of the eighth mile up to twenty miles King held the lead, when at this point he ceased to perspire, so left the ground and went into the dressing-room for his heavy sweater. This didn't seem to do him any good, and at the end of another mile he went into his room again for a rub-down. The old Hawaiian kept steadily plugging on, and gaining the two laps back, which he had lost, by the time King came out again. The soldier made another attempt, but gave up, as he was in no condition to run, the old Hawaiian finishing in three hours and two minutes and some odd seconds."

BATHING AT HALEIWA.

One of the charms of Haleiwa is the excellent beach. Being free from coral there is no unpleasant sensation to the feet. The cuisine at the hotel is up to the highest standard and the service is on a par with it. Among the attractive features of the place are numbered golf links, tennis courts and fine boating. There are good roads leading to picturesque spots and the pineapple plantations are not so far away but what they may be driven to without tiresome results. Haleiwa is one of the most beautiful places on the island and should be visited by every tourist to Hawaii. Special inducements are offered teachers and scholars for their summer vacation.

MUNICIPAL FLAGS.

The city of Indianapolis has just adopted a municipal flag, and there are ample indications that the fad will spread until no hamlet large enough to get listed in Frank Hitchcock's steam roller index, otherwise known as the Postal Guide, will lack an ensign to fling to the breeze on festal occasions. Already Buffalo has adopted the idea, with a veritable Niagara of enthusiasm, and Pink Mink, Mich., and Yellow Dog, Ariz., will follow shortly. Just what the Buffalo design will be has not so far been announced, but Indianapolis—who for an instant would be in doubt? A lame man could guess it with his eyes shut—a bottle of ink and a pen, on a field d'or, surrounded by a flowing set of whiskers.

Now let the civic race for fame and glory proceed. Let all the artists of the land lay aside their designs for magazine covers and tooth paste ads and devote their Olympian genius for a day or two to the creation of municipal banners, so that a stranger traveling from ocean to ocean may be able to tell through what town he passes without consulting railroad folder or policeman. Just as a starter we take pleasure in suggesting a beanpot for Boston, a folding bed for Philadelphia, a dollar couchant with an outstretched hand rampant for New York, a bag of gold covered with soot on a background of stripes for Pittsburg, and a couple of bottles of beer and a bungstarter for Milwaukee—that is, unless St. Louis should file an objection.—Washington Post.

The inquest which was to have been held over the suicide of young August P. C. Correa last night had to be postponed on account of the illness of Deputy Sheriff Rose, and has been set for tonight.

CHANGING CHINA.

"One by one, slowly but none the less surely," says a letter from Russia, "things old and venerable are pushed aside, destroyed or disregarded by trade, progress and other relentless instruments of change. The latest is the attack on the Asiatic caravan, by means of which the best tea has been brought from China, packed in airtight metallic canisters, across the Great Gobi desert of Central Asia to Russia, crossing en route three ranges of high mountains. This picturesque transportation system will soon give way before the automobile. A line, running at regular intervals, has already been established and two weeks' time is cut off, while the tea is better because of the shortened time of exposure."

WANT MAILED BY AEROPLANE

NEW YORK, June 29.—Under the auspices of the Postal Progress league three hundred business men of the city met yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria to discuss proposed reforms in the postal service. Resolutions calling for the extension and the simplification of the service were unanimously adopted. The parcels post was strongly indorsed. The aeroplane was recommended for the quick transmission of mails.

In opening the conference Frederick C. Beach, editor of the Scientific American and president of the league, said: "We recommend a consolidation of third and fourth class matter into one class on the basis of eight cents a pound, with a weight limit of eleven pounds to the single parcel. We desire the simplification of the postal regulations and advise a more general use of machinery. It is desirable that Congress should make larger appropriations for the purpose of testing the feasibility of the aeroplane as a quick means of mail delivery."

Mr. Cowles, secretary of the league, said that the substitution of mechanical power in the loading and unloading of parcels freight would result in a large saving.

DECLARE WAR ON FRUIT FLY

At a meeting of the Board of Health held yesterday afternoon, it was the unanimous decision of the members that all possible support shall be given to the efforts being made to combat the Mediterranean fruit fly. To this end the inspectors of the board, including the mosquito inspectors, will be instructed to pay particular attention to prevent fallen fruit from remaining on the ground, or decayed fruits from being kept on premises where it may become the breeding place of the pest. The inspectors will have full power to enforce these precautionary measures, as in the matter of sanitary conditions generally.

Yesterday's meeting was held for the express purpose of considering the fruit fly menace. Dr. E. V. Wilcox, director of the Federal Experiment Station, E. H. Ehrhorn, Territorial Entomologist, and James D. Dole, of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company were present as a special committee of the advisory board which was appointed some time ago to devise ways and means of exterminating or controlling the pest. W. H. McClellan and Frank Kruger, of the Committee on Health and Sanitation of the Board of Supervisors were also present.

Dr. Wilcox and Mr. Ehrhorn suggested that the machinery of the Board of Health, and of the City and County garbage system could be used most effectively in the fight, and recommended that care be taken in seeing that all fallen fruit in the districts covered by these authorities be collected and disposed of in such manner as to destroy the eggs and larva that may be in such fruit.

The Board of Health will also see that refuse fruits collected by Japanese and Chinese hog raisers shall be cooked before being used, in order to effectively destroy such insects as it may contain.

Mr. McClellan and Mr. Kruger promised to bring the matter to the attention of the Board of Supervisors, with the recommendation that the garbage department co-operate fully in this work.

It was stated by Mr. Ehrhorn that already in properties where this clean culture method has been employed for a few weeks, that the fruit fly, which previously had destroyed almost the entire crop, had now almost entirely disappeared.

Householders are recommended to burn all decayed fruit at once, or to place it in receptacles containing water and kerosene oil. In any event it should not be permitted to remain on the ground, as the maggots emerging from it, burrow into the ground to complete their cycle of development, and shortly emerge as mature flies to renew their destructive course.

CAMPBELL NOT AFTER SOUTHWORTH

Superintendent of Public Works Marston Campbell denounces as false a statement to the effect that he is antagonistic to County Engineer Southworth of Hawaii, and that he had taken steps to have a federal expert sent here from the Department of Agriculture to supervise the road construction work to be taken up on the big island.

Mr. Campbell claims to have recommended Mr. Southworth for the position but a few months ago. While he believes that Mr. Southworth has worked enough to keep him busy without being burdened with this very extensive road building project, he asserts that he has not advised against the county engineer in this connection nor communicated with the department in Washington concerning the matter.

Mr. Campbell left at 10 o'clock this morning by the Mauna Kea for Hilo, where he will take up the matter of road work to be done, with the road commission of the island, which will have the expenditure of the proportion of the loan fund, soon to become available. Campbell is chairman of the board.

It is understood that A. W. Carter of the Hawaii road board is the person who wrote to Washington concerning an expert.

SUIT TO ENFORCE OPTION ON LAND

Yesterday Judge Robinson was engaged in trying the bill for specific performance of Philip F. Frear against Morris Rosenbleit. In the summons, it is set forth that the respondent need not answer under oath. Smith, Warren & Hemenway appeared for complainant, and E. C. Peters for defendant.

Frear prays that Rosenbleit be required to give him a deed to 6538.7 square feet of land on the northwest side of Punahou street and a right of way entering from that street opposite Bingham street, under the terms of a lease for ten years at $120 a year rental, with an option of purchase for $1000 within three years from that date. It is alleged by Frear that he tendered the stipulated price to Rosenbleit, both orally and in writing, within the specified time.

AVIATOR WALKER SAYS HE IS THROUGH WITH FLYING

SAN MATEO, July 7.—Clarence H. Walker, the San Mateo aviator, who has been doing some remarkable flying in the Hawaiian Islands with the Continental Aviation Company, Limited, has decided to give up flying and will sell his Curtiss biplane. On July 4th Walker made what will probably be his last flights at Hilo, where, about a month ago, he narrowly escaped death, when his engine stopped in midair.
 Walker had planned to go to Australia and tour the Far East, but Mason, who flies Bierlot monoplanes for the Continental Aviators, will fill these contracts. Walker will spend a month touring Honolulu with his young bride, where the Walkers will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Shaefer. They will return to California early in September.

THE LATE EMPRESS DOWAGER'S FORTUNE.

For some time past, rumors have been heard of the intention of the imperial family in Peking to send abroad the private fortune of the late Empress Dowager Tai Hsi, and it was even reported at one time that the money, or rather bullion (as the fortune is understood to consist chiefly of gold bars) had reached Shanghai where it was awaiting transshipment to England.
 From private information which reaches us from Peking, says the North China Daily News, there is reason to believe that the hoard has actually been dispatched to Europe. Since the death of the Empress Dowager, the treasure had been stored in the Palace under a strict guard of soldiers. A little time ago, we are told, earnest representations were made by certain influential Ministers to the Imperial Family of not only the danger but the absurdity of keeping so large a treasure in idleness, instead of putting it where it could safely earn interest.
 Insurance agents were asked to quote rates for insuring the fortune on its long journey, but finally the Imperial Family decided to carry through the matter on its own account, and, our informant goes on to state, the fortune was shipped away piecemeal, a part of it being believed to have gone on board the cruiser Achi, which is to represent the Chinese Navy at the Coronation Naval Review.
 The late Empress' hoard, however, is not destined to remain in England, but is to be sent to a bank, it is reported, in Brussels. We give this story under all possible reserve. It is obviously one that can easily be contradicted, but we believe that the source of our information is good, and it is understood that the fortune was actually seen prior to its being sent away by certain foreigners in Peking.
 The total amount of the fortune is estimated at between five and six millions sterling.

ROAD EXPERTS HARD TO GET

Governor Frear expressed the opinion yesterday that it may be a difficult matter to secure a road expert through the Department of Agriculture. "I am under the impression," he said, "that there is a demand for such men on the mainland far above the available supply."
 This statement is borne out by a paragraph in a recent report of the Secretary of the Department, in which it was stated that the road division had difficulty in keeping up its own force of experts, and that men trained in the division were quickly lured away by states and communities through the medium of much greater salaries than the government could afford to pay.

JUDGE WHITNEY DECIDES CASES

Judge Whitney has given judgment for defendant in the action to quiet title of the partners in Sing Chong & Co. against Peter Naahela, involving two pieces of land at Kalaheo, Koolau-poko, containing respectively 16,106 square feet and 15,370 square feet. Thompson & Wilder and Cecil Brown represented plaintiffs, and E. C. Peters defendant.
 An Old Claim. Judge Whitney has denied the motion of defendants to quash the writ of attachment in the case of Mary J. Davis against Harry T. and Mary K. Mills. The reliance of defendants was upon the statute of limitations, the claim at issue being that defendants borrowed $210 from plaintiff on July 1, 1898. Wade Warren Thayer for plaintiff, C. F. Peterson for defendant.
 Judgment of Default. Judge Whitney gave judgment for plaintiff in the suit of M. Phillips & Co. against Lum Kee for $139.51 with interest from January 1, 1911, defendant being declared in default. Thompson & Wilder for plaintiffs.
 Asks for Judgment. Thompson & Wilder for plaintiff in the foreclosure suit of Kipahulu Sugar Co. vs. John Kanaka Nakila elsewhere mentioned, have filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings, on the ground that the answer of defendant admits the material allegations of the bill and sets forth no sufficient affirmative matter of defense and denies only conclusions of law.
 Habeas Corpus Goes Over. The habeas corpus case of Suedchi Taugi, who claims he is unlawfully detained from entering the country by Immigration Inspector Raymond C. Brown, went over this morning until Friday owing to the engagement of District Attorney Breckons with the Federal grand jury.

THE THEATER

One of the most sensational and astonishing exhibitions of human flexibility was last night at the Bijou Theater where L. Petite Laurie, one of the Reece Trio, which made its opening appearance, gave an act which while showing how the human form may sometimes be tied into a knot, was as refined as most contortion acts are not. The young contortionist is a dainty miss of ten years, with a smile that is catching, but in feats of flexibility she has no peer. The exhibition is wonderful and there were choruses of "A-a-hs!" as she concluded each stunt. This is a feature of the Bijou show which should not be missed. The remaining Reeces, man and wife, are exceptional musical entertainers. Mr. Reece blows upon a trumpet of the ancient Greek kind, and does a xylophone selection which place him above par while Mrs. Reece gives a selection upon rods rubbed with resined gloves.
 Duke Johnson and Mae Williams, the colored artists, added to the fine reputation made last week, in songs and dances which sent the house wild with applause. In addition to Boardman Sisters give a Dutch singing and dancing act which also won applause.
 At the Savoy the ragtime trio is making its last appearance tonight, after a successful engagement of five weeks. They have become great favorites and will be missed. Barnes and Robinson are keeping up their reputation in a new series of piano selections and witty conversation. The entire Savoy act is exceptionally good, while the motion pictures at the Savoy, Empire and Bijou are unusually interesting. One at the Bijou shows how gold is produced, from hydraulic mountain to crucible, and another depicts the adventures of a French count among western cowboys.

MR. IRWIN'S HEALTH.

Honolulu, July 18, 1911.
 Editor Star:—I much regret that a heedless remark made by me regarding Mr. Irwin's health, which was the mere repetition of a rumor heard on the street, may have been the occasion of solicitude on the part of Mr. Irwin's friends in Honolulu, particularly as, from the form given it in print in yesterday's issue, it appeared to have been based on definite information received by me. This was a misapprehension. I have not received any news on the subject.
 Trusting that you will kindly make this explanation, I am, respectfully yours,

CENSURE OF RICHMOND UNAUTHORIZED BY LAW

It was definitely put up to the federal grand jury by Judge Gleason this morning whether it should not withdraw from its partial report on the Hilo school investigations the reflections passed upon Frank A. Richmond, the former principal.
 Following a few remarks he made to them on the subject yesterday afternoon the judge explained to them that the law did not authorize, but, on the contrary, discountenanced, any prejudicial comments on private character or reputation in the present ment of a grand jury where no indictment against the person in question was returned. He therefore left it to the grand jury to decide whether to indict Richmond or to obliterate the record of its censorious judgment concerning him.

 While thus directing the grand jurors, the court wished it understood that he was not censuring them for their action. His purpose was merely to acquaint them with the law, leaving them to act in their best judgment accordingly.

GUGGENHEIMS LOSE IN ALASKA, PINCHOT REJOICES, BALLINGER CALLS DECISION POLITICAL

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The famous Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, through which it has been alleged that the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate had planned to extend their vast interests in Alaska, and to control one of the most valuable coal fields in the world, were today formally disallowed by the department of the interior.

Secretary of the Interior Fisher having approved the department's decision as handed down by Fred Dennett, commissioner of the land office, the last door is believed to have been closed to the Cunningham claimants. Their attorneys have threatened an appeal to the United States supreme court, but such appeal can be based only on some point of law involved, and not on the findings of fact, as announced by the department.

The Cunningham claims have been in the public eye for more than two years. They brought about the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation by Congress and the dismissal from the public service of Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot, Louis R. Glavis, a chief of field division in the land office, and several other minor officials. Both Messrs. Pinchot and Glavis were dismissed for insubordination incident to their attacks on former Secretary Ballinger, whom they claimed was favorably disposed towards the claims.

New Laws Are Needed.
In announcing decision of the department today, Secretary Fisher, who succeeded Mr. Ballinger, declared that new coal land laws are needed in Alaska if that territory is to be developed properly. In a statement the secretary says:

"This is a final decision of the Cunningham claims as far as the department of the interior is concerned. Any further proceedings will be merely formal for the purpose of perfecting the record in case the claimants think there are questions of law which they desire to present to the courts. It is my understanding that it is conceded that the findings on the facts by the department are conclusive.

"It is the intention of the department to proceed to a final determination of the remaining Alaskan coal claims as far as this can properly be done, denying those that should be denied, and granting those that should be granted as rapidly as possible.

"I do not believe the present laws applicable to coal lands in Alaska are wise or practicable laws. Nevertheless, their provisions must be enforced, first, because they are the laws, and second, because they afford the only protection to the public welfare against the abuses of monopoly and unrestricted private exploitation. I sincerely trust that these laws will be modified at the next session of Congress so as to permit the development of the Alaskan coal fields under provisions that will more adequately protect and promote the public interest. If, however, there are claims now pending which, under the existing law are entitled to patent, I see no justification for not taking action upon them as promptly as the department can be assured that it is in possession of the facts upon which such connection can ultimately be taken."

Entries Improperly Allowed.
Commissioner Dennett in his decision holding the claims for cancellation on the ground of fraud, declares that each of the thirty-three entries was improperly allowed because of fatal defects apparent on their face.

He asserts that the government conclusively established the charges brought against the claimants and that there is no doubt that an agreement exists among them in violation of law.

The thirty-three claims involved an aggregate area of 5250 acres. The value of the land has been estimated high in the millions. The coal embraced in the claims is said to be among the finest in the world.

Commissioner Dennett makes frequent reference to the work of Glavis in prosecuting the Cunningham claimants. He also refers at length to the negotiations between Cunningham and representatives of the Guggenheims, who were shown at the Ballinger-Pinchot hearing to have taken an option on these coal lands, which were to be worked in connection with the other extensive Guggenheim interests in Alaska.

The government charged against Cunningham and his associates that their entries of the coal land were made in pursuance of an understanding and agreement entered into by all the claimants prior to location, to combine the several claims for the joint use and benefit of all. It was further claimed that the entry was made with the unlawful agreement that they should inure to the use and benefit of the association or corporation.

HULAHULA TO BE ALLOWED ON THE WILHELMINA HEREAFTER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Captain Peter Johnson, who on Wednesday will take the steamer Wilhelmina out on her regular trip to Honolulu, declares that so far as he is concerned there will be no ban on women, married or unmarried, dancing the hula hula or any other dance in the sanctity of their staterooms. He arrived at this decision after an interview with Captain William Matson, president of the Matson Navigation company, apropos to the sensational incident which occurred at sea the night before the arrival of the Wilhelmina from the islands a week ago, in which Captain Johnson ordered the hose played on a gay party of San Francisco society belles who were wont to dance the hula hula in true Hawaiian fashion, and whose revelry extended long after midnight.

It is reported that the incident did not close with the disembarking of the passengers at the pier, but was taken up with the officials of the company by the husbands of two of the women who were in the hula hula party on board the steamer.

The interview between Captain Matson and the captain of the Wilhelmina was a bit ruffled, it is reported. Captain Johnson explained that in ordering the hose turned in on the hula hula party he did so after numerous complaints had been brought to him by passengers who were unable to sleep through the long drawn out orgies.

ARMY AND NAVY

Artillery Equipment Coming.
Batteries D and E First Field Artillery, arrived from the coast on Thursday, traveling on the U. S. A. T. Sherman.

That is to say the men of the two batteries have arrived, but in Field Artillery the guns, gun carriages, ammunition boxes and horses form the second half of the working complement of a battery and battalion.

The file, composing the Second battalion of this artillery regiment, have taken station at the Lilehua reservation. The two new batteries numbering two hundred and twenty-six men have gone into the new barracks buildings prepared for them at the large brigade post.

But the efficiency of the batteries will be delayed until the equipment necessary for their usefulness can be brought over from California. It is unfortunate that horses, guns and men could not have come together, for practically in Field Artillery the three—horses, guns and men—are classed as a whole and without guns and horses the men can do but little.

The passenger transports can not accommodate horses and only a limited number of guns, but the U. S. A. T. Dix is a fine ship for animal transportation. The Dix however, is out of commission and will not be ready for use until August. So the military equipment of batteries D and E, consisting of their horses and guns, will have to be brought over by liners.

The M. N. S. S. Lurline which reached San Francisco from this port on the eleventh of July will bring one of the batteries' equipments over on the next trip of that ship. Dr. Lester E. Willyoung, veterinarian for the Second battalion, First Field Artillery, will have the horses in charge for one detachment, in the journey over from the coast.

The second batteries' horses and guns will be brought over on the M.

N. S. Honolulu at that ship's return voyage to this port.

It is said that the cost of horse transportation per head from San Francisco to Honolulu, of the artillery mounts and gun carriage horses is twenty-two dollars and fifty cents, about, per head. Then the guns and wagons have to be considered in the expense list.

The horseboat Dix could have been loaded and made two journeys, if necessary, at a smaller cost than will be required to land batteries D and E's horses and guns at this military district.

Honors at Army School.

Among the names of the honor graduates at the Army School of the line officers at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for the session ending June 22, the first name given on the honor roll is Captain Wilson B. Burr, Twentieth Infantry. The Second Battalion, Twentieth Infantry, is stationed at Fort Shafter. Another officer whose regiment is represented in this military district also carried off honors in this special list, Captain James E. Hall, Second Infantry. Other officers making the staff class were Captain Robert O. Van Horn, Seventeenth Infantry; Captain Oliver S. Eskridge, Eleventh Infantry. Captain Ernest B. Gose, Twenty-fourth Infantry; Captain Joseph L. Gilbreth, Twenty-seventh Infantry; Captain Ernest E. Haskell, Twenty-second Infantry.

Captain Charles W. Exton, Twentieth Infantry, who joined this class from his station at Fort Shafter about a year ago, has many friends at the Kahanui reservation who are gratified at the high rate of standing in class work he has attained. Company G, at Fort Shafter, was commanded by Captain Exton up to the time of his departure for the mainland.

The rest of the list is: Captain

TAFT'S BEFORE-THE-FOURTH ADDRESSES, LASTING ALL DAY IN MIDST OF THE HEAT WAVE

MARION, Ind., July 3.—With the temperature in his private car above the 100 mark for hours today, President Taft hurried through Ohio and Indiana. He began speaking from the rear platform at Cleveland after breakfast and did not get through until six o'clock.

He ended with two addresses at the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers here. To the bankers and editors of the Eleventh Congressional district, he talked about the Aldrich plan of currency reform. At Indianapolis tomorrow he expects to talk of the "third most important measure" of the administration—reciprocity with Canada.

On the way over from Cleveland the President made nine rear platform talks. Sometimes he talked about the heat and others he argued for a "safe and sane Fourth," occasionally turning to Canadian reciprocity, which he said, would bring prosperity.

Wars Unnecessary.

In the speech to the old soldiers, the President declared that all of the foreign wars waged by this country, except the War of the Revolution, and possibly even the Civil War, could have been settled without bloodshed. No less than five times, said the President, has the United States intervened between South and Central American countries, and by peaceful persuasion averted war.

"I am not a wild enthusiast or a blind optimist," said the President. "I do not look forward to a complete restoration of a peace which cannot be disturbed in the world even if these treaties (on arbitration) are adopted. Morality of nations improves only step by step, and so the making and confirming of these treaties must be regarded only as a step, but a long step, toward the securing of world peace."

The speech to the bankers and editors was in the nature of a reiteration of his address to the New York state bankers at Manhattan Beach.

New System Needed.

"I do not know any function," said the President, "of greater importance exercised by the government, after the preservation of law and order and the maintenance of liberty and rights of property, than the duty of the government to furnish the people a banking and currency system which shall give them constant and unvarying medium for the measurement of values and the percentage of products that shall enable business to proceed in a normal way."

In his speech to the veterans the President said in part:

"I am far from saying that war has not in times past accomplished much in the progress of the world. Whether the same progress might have been achieved in a more peaceful way, it is unnecessary to discuss. Probably not.

"It was by war that this country gained its independence of Great Britain. If England had been better advised probably her war would not have ensued and we might now be, as is the case of Canada, cherishing attachment to the mother country without exercising complete independence. Certain it is that the lesson we taught England she took to heart, and in her colonial policy she continues to lighten the bonds which she had laid upon her colonies, until now they have no weight, and are merely nerves of affection from her mother to her children.

Arbitration Better.

"The war of 1812 might certainly have been avoided by arbitration. The questions there presented were questions all of which have been settled by the judgment of mankind in favor of our side of the controversy.

"The war with Mexico—though there is some dispute over this—was one of the questions capable of solution by an impartial tribunal.

"Whether the Civil War could have been avoided is a very difficult question to answer. When slavery has become embedded in the social fiber of a country it is possible that only an excision by a war knife can remove the cancer.

"Nor shall I attempt to answer a similar question as to the Spanish war. Yet I believe the submission of the issues to a tribunal might have affected Spain's treatment of Cuba in such a way that we could have avoided a resort to arms.

"The irresponsibility of men claiming to be patriots and desiring to overturn existing governments where law and order are not well established has led to a great deal of guerrilla warfare and to the suffering of innocent people who find no real

APPEAL BY LORD WEARDALE FOR THE RACES PEACE CONGRESS

The following is the text of an appeal, by Lord Weardale, for support of the first Universal Races Peace Congress, which is to be held in London next week:

"The East is now ranging itself with the West. For the first time in human history, therefore, there is a clear prospect of one common ideal animating all peoples, and thus the beautiful old hope of the brotherhood of nations and races is at last moving appreciably towards realization. What better means of celebrating the birth of the new era, of brushing aside prejudices and suspicions, of correcting misunderstandings, than by men and women from East and West, North and South, meeting as friends and equals in a great Congress?

"We therefore earnestly appeal to all, in all countries,—most especially to sympathizers in this Far and Near East and in America, Africa and Australia, to make the utmost effort to attend personally and convert this Congress into an imposing and world-moving demonstration in favor of inter-racial good will.

"This Congress of Races is truly what it purports to be—an assemblage of members of all races of the world. Accordingly there will be papers presented on China, Japan, Turkey, Persia, India, Egypt, Haiti, the American Negro and Indian and the Negro of West and South Africa. In every one of these cases the paper is written by a member of the people concerned, while the very first paper of the Congress is by a Hindu scholar, the Congress Executive recognizing that it might thus show its appreciation of the East. Ex oriente lux.

"It will rejoice the heart of those who believe in inter-racial harmony to know that it is not the few, the despised or the eccentric who are operating in this Congress, but the many, the honored, and the experienced. Among the supporters, very many of whom have welcomed with the greatest enthusiasm the idea of holding such a Congress, and who belong to not less than fifty countries, are over thirty Presidents of Parliament, the majority of the Permanent Court of Arbitration and of the Delegates to the Second Hague Conference, twelve British Governors and eight British Prime Ministers, many Statesmen and Ambassadors, over forty Colonial Bishops, some one-hundred-and-thirty Professors of International Law, the leading Anthropologists and Sociologists, the Officers and the majority of the Council of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, not to particularize a multitude of other distinguished personages.

"Henceforth it will be impossible to deny that there exists a solid body of opinion among the most highly placed and the most highly cultured

HOW CALIFORNIA FRUIT GROWERS COMBINE TO MARKET PRODUCT

LODI (San Joaquin Co.), June 26.—Standardization will again be in force in San Joaquin county this season, for most of the shipping companies have agreed to the inspection provision, and a great many growers have gladly promised to help defray the expenses by paying one-fifth of a cent on every crate of grapes inspected.

Those behind the movement were much gratified when the Distributors, representing all the old-line shipping companies, signed the agreement. Other shippers have signed up, and now but a few remain who have not been approached.

Policy Outlined.

The board of standardization outlines its policy for this year's work by publishing the following resolution, passed at a recent meeting:

"Resolved, That we make inspection much more rigid than last season, and that each inspector be furnished with stamp which shall designate that the fruit has been inspected and passed by the inspector, whose number shall correspond with the number which shall appear on the package, and that he shall be furnished a stamp to mark all rejected packages. This inspection will be carried out strictly, as far as the finances will permit, along these lines and that the stamp of inspection shall appear on all inspected packages."

Shippers' Agreement.
Following is the iron-clad agreement

signed by the shipping companies in this district:

"Whereas, There has been formed in the county of San Joaquin, state of California, an association for the purpose of inspecting the shipments of grapes to be shipped from the said county, and

"Whereas, it appears for the best interest of all concerned, that it will be necessary for the fruit shipping companies of the said county to enter into an agreement with the board of inspection of said organization, whereby the said grape industry of the county of San Joaquin will be regulated and put in better condition, and to so eliminate the shipping of inferior grapes for interstate shipment; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we, the undersigned fruit shipping companies, agree to pay one-fifth cent per package for all grapes packed by us, or which is shipped for growers by us, the said one-fifth cent per package to be turned over to the said board of inspection on Saturday of each week, for all grapes shipped the previous week, including Saturday of that week.

"Any part of this one-fifth cent so collected not used to defray expenses of said inspection will be turned back to the shipping companies from whom said fund has been collected; they to prorate said fund to their patrons from whom said fund has been collected."

Fisher Promptly Approves.
After reviewing all the facts brought out at the various trials and hearings in the cases extending over a period of several years and including the final hearing recently attended by Secretary Fisher himself, Commissioner Dennett reached the conclusion that the claims had not legal standing and ordered them canceled. Secretary Fisher promptly approved this finding, although to complete the record he must do so formally upon appeal to him.

Among the Cunningham claimants are a number of the prominent men of the northwest. Commissioner Dennett refers to them as having sufficient means to have carried forward extensive coal operations in Alaska. The various claimants were interested in the Alaska coal situation in 1902 by Clarence Cunningham, who made the various filings and conducted most of the negotiations. The claims once were clear listed for patent, but final action was held up at the request of Glavis.

"There seems to be no doubt," said Mr. Dennett in his decision, "that in the beginning the participants were subscribers for joint interests and not owners of separate claims, and that the substantial character of the transaction never changed. In 1905 they were still 'co-owners' of a single property, although in order to acquire it each particular claim had been allotted to a particular individual and had been entered by him in his name."

The original agreement with the Guggenheims contemplated the formation of a corporation as soon as the titles were secured. This plan gave the Guggenheims the right to mine the coal on a royalty basis. The Guggenheims were also to build a railroad from the mines to the coast. As finally entered into the agreement with the Guggenheims for a sale aroused serious objections from several claimants.

Thirty-Three Claimants.
"The fact," says Commissioner Dennett, "that it was reported to the Guggenheims that there were thirty-three independent claimants to be reckoned with in nowise strengthens the defense. It is not to be supposed that any man representing these entrymen as a committee would suggest to a prospective purchaser of the property that the claims were illegal and the several entries subject to forfeiture."

"That all the work so far done was paid for from the common fund is not denied. It is admitted by the claimants, and frankly stated in the brief of their counsel that one claim of 160 acres can not be profitably worked, that some time and somehow the claims must be operated together. Is it reasonable to suppose that business men would agree to the common investment of their moneys jointly to explore a coal field in Alaska with the understanding that the several claims should be operated separately, or with no understanding with respect thereto? Would they consent to spend money jointly where there was to be no common profit?

"Knowing that an area of 160 acres could not be successfully operated, and that the greater the area the more valuable the property, would men connected by the ties of blood have consented that their claims be scattered throughout the field? Would men who had been associated together as partners since their youth, and who had grown rich together, have agreed to the placing of their claims at remote distances from each other?"

"If each claimant was to receive a single tract and no interest in any other, would Cunningham have located the great majority of the men who first went into the scheme and made its success on the timber claims of the southern tier, claims which possessed but little value as compared with the others?"

Each Contributed the Same.

"If there was no prior agreement, would Clarence Cunningham, in April, 1907, before many of the certificates were issued, have entered into negotiations with the Guggenheims looking to the disposition of the combined properties?"

"The amounts contributed by the several entrymen were substantially the same. If it was not understood there was to be a common profit would the sixteen upon whose claims nothing whatever was done have permitted the use of their funds for the development of the other claims and would thirty-two of them have suffered their joint funds to be expended in driving the expensive tunnels on one claim?"

"A further discussion of the facts is not necessary. They speak for themselves and speak plainly."

"There was not at any time a single act performed that connected any claimant with the precise tract he claimed to locate. There was not a dollar spent by any locator individually or near agent on the land he entered, but every act done and each dollar disbursed were for the purpose of determining whether the field as a whole contained workable deposits of coal."

"Prior to the hearing, eighteen claimants admitted under the solemn sanction of an oath that they proceeded from the beginning with the understanding that when the patents were secured they would form a company for the development of the property."

At Joint Expense.

"The plan from the outset was to acquire a coal field at joint expense to be developed for the common benefit. There was not at any time a departure from this original compact, save the substitution of the salary to Cunningham for the one-eighth interest he intended to secure in the claims."

"Carrying into effect the purpose of acquiring this coal field for the common use and benefit of the members of the association, claims were located and entries made in the names of the individuals, but the making of these locations and entries in the manner indicated were means to that end, and the names of the individuals were used only to effect a colorable compliance with the law.

"They exercised no choice in the selection of their claims, manifested no interest in their individual values, and (except perhaps Baker) sought no information as to their respective locations. The field jointly acquired by all of them and explored at the common expense was the only object of their solicitude."

Pinchot Overjoyed.

NEW YORK, June 26.—Perhaps nobody in the country was better pleased with the final disposition of the Cunningham claims than Gifford Pinchot, whose own fortune had pivoted on them so critically.

"The cancellation of the claims," he said here today, "is proof given by the administration itself that the fight made against it to prevent coal monopoly in Alaska was not only successful but necessary and right. This victory insures the cancellation of multitudes of other fraudulent claims in Alaska. I have not yet seen the text of the decision, but Judge H. should result in saving the most valuable coal fields still in government ownership for the use of the people."

"Our fight, however, is not yet fully won. It is possible that a secret order of last October by which President Taft opened the harbor of Controller Bay, the natural outlet for the coal, to acquisition by special interests may result in monopoly through monopoly of transportation."

"Now that the claims are canceled, the one imperative need for Alaska is an honest coal land law, opening the coal to immediate development under lease of the government."

Decision Political.

SEATTLE, June 26.—Former Secretary of Interior Ballinger gave the following signed statement today to the Associated Press:

"Many persons seem to be laboring under the erroneous impression that the recent decision of the commissioner of the general land office in cancelling the Cunningham claims is a reversal of my official relation to these claims. Since 1907, when I was commissioner of the land office, these claims have been standing on an order of reinvestigation. As secretary of the interior I took no action respecting these claims, as they were under the control of Commissioner Dennett. As to the present decision, I am of the firm belief that there is no evidence that a court of justice would hold sufficient to warrant the denial of the patents. In other words, the decision of the commissioner is political and not judicial."

A HOME NECESSITY.

TAFT BEFORE THE FOURTH

principles involved except that of ambition for power.

Uncle Sam a Guardian.

"Much of this kind of work has occurred in South and Central America. And in the degree of guardianship which the United States must feel over the republics of this hemisphere in maintaining their integrity against European invasion, we ought to welcome every opportunity which gives us a legitimate instrument by which we can make less probable such intermeddling strife."

"In the assertion of that sort of guardianship we have to be careful to avoid the charge which is always made by the suspicious, that we are seeking our aggrandizement. It is an unfounded charge, for we envy no power its territory. We have enough. But we have been able to fend off war in five or more instances of recent date because of our attitude as an older brother of these small governments."

"Thus in Cuba, after the Platt amendment, we were able to intervene and prevent a bloody war of revolution, after 20,000 rebels were in arms outside Havana."

"We were able, by reason of the agreement we made with Santa Domingo, to help her collect her revenues and liquidate and satisfy her legitimate debts, and by putting our agents in charge at the custom house, to take away the chief motive for a revolution."

War Prevented.

"By reason of our intervention between Hayti and Santo Domingo we have been able to prevent a war between those two countries, growing out of a dispute over a boundary line. So, too, as between Peru and Ecuador, we were able, with the assistance of Brazil, Argentine and Chile, to prevent a war on the eve of breaking out."

"We have been able to bring the heads of two contending factions in the civil war in Honduras on to the deck of an American vessel and there negotiate terms which have led to permanent peace."

"Now Honduras and Nicaragua ask us to assist them in paying their debts by agreeing, in case of a default, to accept responsibility for the collection of the revenues and to make settlements in accordance with the contracts of indebtedness. These two treaties are pending in the Senate. I sincerely hope that they may be confirmed."

"For the further securing of peace, and as an example to all the world of the possibilities of arbitration, we have invited England and France and Germany to make a treaty for the arbitration of all differences of an international character that, in their nature, can be adjudicated. We have left out those exceptions which have heretofore always been excluded from arbitrate controversies, questions of a nation's honor and of its vital interests."

Hopes for Confirmation.

"Of course I cannot say with positiveness that these treaties all will be made and confirmed, but the prospect of the agreement with the executive of one of the countries is reasonably sure and we have every hope as to the other two."

"Objection has been made that an agreement to arbitrate a question of national honor ought not to be entered into, for the reason that when one's honor is affected, one will never consent to have the question arbitrated and therefore, to agree to do so in advance savors of hypocrisy and ought not to be adopted as national policy."

"I cannot concede the premises of this argument. I look upon a treaty of this sort as a self-denying ordinance, as a self-restricting obligation."

There're a lot of things need fixing

Says the Little Paint Man.

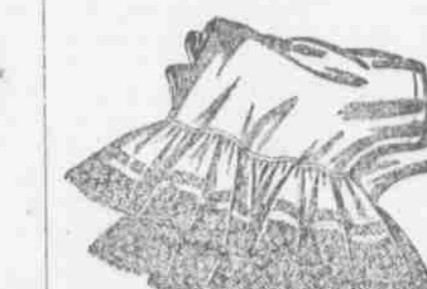

Things around the place will suffer from wear and tear. And after a while they get so shabby that we feel obliged to chuck 'em away and get something new in their place. But it's a mistake and if we only all had the "Brighten Up" habit we'd keep things spick and span all the time by having a pot of paint, a tin of varnish and a brush handy. Just read this and do some "Brightening Up" right away.

Paint your porch chairs in bright colors with S-W Porch and Lawn Furniture Enamel or S-W Buggy Paint. (S-W means Sherwin-Williams—the name that stands for good quality in Paints and Varnishes.)
The screen doors and window screens will look bright and new after a coat of S-W Screen Enamel. Makes them wear longer, keeps the screen from rusting.
Cupboards inside and out made fresh and sanitary with S-W Family Paint—21 attractive colors. Fine for touching up woodwork. Old, worn floors made clean and attractive with a coat of S-W Inside Floor Paint. Or a stained and varnished finish at one operation with S-W Floorlac.
Revarnish the front door with S-W Kopal. It stands the weather. Repaint the doors inside with S-W Family Paint.
No matter what you have to fix up, we have a Sherwin-Williams Finish that will do the job well.

There're a hundred other things that need touching up. Make a list of the dingy things and come to us and we'll tell you what to do.

APPEAL BY LORD

in favor of just, respectful, and friendly relations between the different races of the world; and the very remarkable unanimity in regard to fundamentals among the writers of papers, who belong to twenty countries, will emphasize this.

"The object of the Congress, which is to be held in the University of London, July 26-29, 1911, is to discuss in the light of modern knowledge and the modern conscience, the general relations subsisting between these various races, with a view to encouraging between them a fuller understanding, the most friendly feelings and a hearty co-operation. Political issues of the hour will be subordinated to this comprehensive end. In the firm belief that when once mutual respect is established, difficulties of every type will be sympathetically approached and readily solved.

"We call on everyone who chances to see this appeal to forward the high and holy cause of this Congress by becoming a center of propaganda, by attending the Conference, and by inducing Associations and public bodies to be represented.

"The full programme may be obtained free of charge and post free by writing to the Hon. Secretary of the Congress, Mr. G. Spiller, 83 South Hill Park, Hampstead, London, England.

"Trusting that this Appeal will be widely and warmly responded to, We beg to remain,

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

William S. Woodruff, Porto Rico regiment of infantry; Lieutenant Walter H. Johnson, Eighth Infantry; Captain Charles W. Stuart, Twenty-fifth Infantry.

The Fifth Cavalry at the Lefehua reservation also has an honor graduate in Captain Clarence R. Day, Fifth Cavalry. Captain Hamilton S. Hawkins, Fourth Cavalry; Captain Abraham G. Lott, Sixth Cavalry; Captain Henry C. Whitehead, Tenth Cavalry; Captain George W. Moss, Fifteenth Cavalry; Captain Winfred B. Carr, Sixth Field Artillery; Captain Harry G. Bishop, Third Field Artillery, and Captain Henry L. Newbold, Fourth Field Artillery, completed this list. A certain percentage in army class work has to be made in order to graduate this first year by the officers in attendance. Those failing to reach the desired heights of proficiency are allowed another year's term to catch up.

The high standing of the above-given names at the army school speaks for itself.

Major Wooten Here.

Major William P. Wooten, corps of engineers, who reached his post of duty here on Thursday last, has assumed command of Fort de Russy, relieving Captain Alfred B. Putnam, corps of engineers, who has ably discharged all duties of chief engineer officer for the military district since the departure of Major E. Eveleth Winslow. Major Wooten has moved into the commanding officers quarters, which is a comfortable old house, built before this land became a government reservation. Captain Putnam occupies the adjoining house. Company G, corps of engineers, who have had a long siege of service here, will probably be replaced by Company C, Second Battalion, corps of engineers, this fall. Major Wooten comes here direct from West Point, New York, where he completed a tour of duty as instructor on the Academy's board.

Underground Telephone Wires.

Captain Edward J. Wallace, chief signal officer on the staff of the commanding general of this military district, works quietly but most efficiently. For the past year Captain Wallace has had in charge the running of telephone and other wires between military reservations of this island. These wires will, for the most part, be subterranean, so the work under Captain Wallace's direction is scientific as well as important and laborious. The work will not be completed for several months yet.

Protecting Lawns.

Major William P. Burnham, Twentieth Infantry, has promulgated general orders No. 16, that individuals, officers or enlisted men will not be allowed to ride across the parade ground or on lawns at the Kahauliki reservation.

When the ground is so hard as not to be dug up by horses' hoofs, officers may practice polo on the parade ground. Trees on the reservation must not be used for hitching posts. Horses will not be tied to trees.

Except when especially ordered in case of emergency or urgent necessity, the riding of horses within the limits of the garrison of Fort Shafter at a faster gait than a slow trot is prohibited.

The commanding officer at Fort Shafter also asks, in order to keep up the lawns of the posts, co-operation of all officers as necessary in the observance of the following suggestions:

Officers will keep the grass cut and watered around their quarters and trimmed along their walks. This work may be done by members of the organization to which the officer belongs.

Officers not attached to organizations, such as the Hospital Corps, may make special arrangements.

Care should be taken to prevent the wastage of water and to prevent the wearing of paths on parade or lawns. Garden hose will be rolled up and stored in the shade.

PREPARE FOR EMERGENCY.

Right in your busiest season when you have the least time to spare you are most likely to take diarrhoea and lose several days' time, unless you have Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand and take a dose on the first appearance of the disease. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., agents for Hawaii.
