GEARY ACT GOOD LAW.

It is Sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

At Washington on May 15th the Supreme Court sustained the decision of the New York courts in favor of the constitutionality of the Geary Chinese registration act. Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Brewer and Field dissented. The opinions of all three are based upon pretty much the same lines, though each read his dissent separately. They deal largely with treaty rights.
Brewer says the Geary act is inhuman and unconstitutional.

Field's opinion was especially severe on the Geary act. He said it was barbarous to treat the Chinese in this fashion in times of peace; that a cruel and unusual punishment was imposed, and the law was unconstitutional.

Fuller's opinion says the law amounts to a bill of attainder, and that it is also ex post facto.

In the courtroom many distinguished people were present, among them Senator Dolph, who drafted the bill passed.

Justice Gray delivered the opening address to the court. He reviewed the Chinese registration act in detail. He said the whole question hinged on the sixth section.

The Chinese had been given one year in which to register. The Collectors of Internal Revenue were in places convenient to the Chinese.

The alien Chinese are not and cannot be naturalized, therefore they cannot be considered as belonging to the people of the United States.

Congress certainly has the right to legislate for her citizens as against the alien.

The latter is doubtless entitled, in a certain sense, to protection and safeguard, to be provided by Congress, but in no sense is this to impede Congress or its administrators of the law in enforcing the statutes for the welfare of the people of the United States.

Concerning the case of Lee Joe, who applied for a certificate of residence and was refused on the ground that he could not produce at least one credible white witness, the court says that Congress certainly has the right to say who shall be naturalized as a United States citizen, and there is certainly propriety in the United States Congress deciding who shall certify or testify or act as a witness for the applicant for naturalization.

There is equal propriety in the United States refusing to grant her own citizens, if need be, shall be witnesses in the case of a Chinese alien who applies for a certificate of registration under the Geary act.

Every nation has a right in time of war to keep aliens out of her territory, and that right exists equally in times of peace.

This registration act was not designed to and does not make criminals of the Chinese, nor does it seek to punish them. It merely provides that those entitled to remain in the United States shall provide themselves with means of identity, being without which they shall be taken before a United States Judge and ordered deported. "Taken before a United States Judge" are words almost exactly identical with those used in the habeas corpus act. This is not a punishment of the Chinese.

It is merely the execution of the laws of Congress enacted for the welfare of the people of the United States.

Justice Gray said that the question presented was the constitution-ality and effect of the sixth section of the act entitled "An act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States." The Justice sketched the provisions of the law rapidly and then proceeded to say it was perfectly well settled that it was one of the fundamental principles of the law of nations that every independent nation has the inherent right to keep aliens out of its territory if the exercise of that power was demanded by the public welfare.

That power exists in time of war and equally so in time of peace, and had always been recognized as belonging to independent nations. The United States, as has all of the great powers, has the power to make war, to make peace, to pass acts of naturalization and to pass all necessary and proper laws to carry out the powers reserved in Congress. On the political department of the Government devolved the care of international relations. It had been settled in two cases that the power of exclusion may be vested in executive officers, and the aid of the judiciary might be invoked. It was no new thing in public law for matters to be executive and political in the first instance and then to take judicial force as the political department might direct. The courts have no authority to revise the decisions or the action and effect in these cases, except so far as provision has been made by law. The treaties with China provided originally for very free intercourse. That was in 1868.

Then it was found that it was necessary to have more power for the convenient regulation of this matter, and subsequent treaties more distinctly recognized, as contemplated by the contracting parties, the power to regulate the entrance of Chinese in this country. If Congress makes a law inconsistent with a treaty it may deem best for its own interest, but the duty of the courts of the United States is clear and they must recognize its force.

Justice Gray here dwelt at length upon the objection that had been

In this issue is presented a synopsis of the majority decision of the United States Supreme Court on the Geary Act for the exclusion of Chinese. The Act is sustained. It is anticipated that the measure will be difficult of enforcement until Congress makes an appropriation for expenses. In the meantime a motion pending for a new hearing will suspend operations for part of the interval before the assembling of Congress. For the present the anti-Chinese press of the Pacific Coast is satisfied with the decision of the highest court in the land, which, as the Call says, "is a declaration of the right of the nation to exclude aliens and to enact such laws as may be necessary to exclusion."

Hawaiian fruit growers have had a new market suddenly opened to them by the new line of steamers from Australia to the northwest parts of the American continent. Results of the trial shipments of bananas and pineapples by the initial steamer will be eagerly awaited. It is possible that a demand will spring up at the outset which will tax the utmost energies of the producers for several years to supply. Should such prove the case it would convey a late lesson to many of our people, namely, that the reward generally awaits those who have plucked to go ahead and risk something on productive enterprise without waiting for a market to present itself. Supply often discovers demand just as truly as demand creates supply.

AMERICAN INTEREST IN A CABLE.

While people were wondering whether the occasional talk, wafted up on southern breezes, about a new Australian-American steam line would materialize, the line flashed into sight on the horizon with scarcely a moon's definite notice. It may be the same way with the Pacific cable matter. Last March the Intercolonial Postal Conference passed a resolution in favor of a cable from Australia to British Columbia. Unless the United States look alive she will lose the prestige that ought to belong to her of taking the initiative in establishing telegraphic communication, if not beyond, at least as far as these islands, after all her preliminary expense of getting satisfactory surveys—just as she has persistently neglected to earn any credit, outside of incidental encouragement through the reciprocity treaty, for either the local line of steamers to these islands or the through line to the Colonies. She has been content to accept all the benefits that accrued to her from those powerful auxiliaries to her trade, while the Australasian and Hawaiian treasuries yielded all the specific encouragement thereto. According to late accounts the British sympathy with the cable scheme has not abated a bit on account of the prospect of Hawaii's becoming American territory, which the people of the Colonies as well as of the United Kingdom seem to have accepted as a prospect imminent as well as certain. But if the United States trade on this cosmopolitan manifestation of British interest in a cable, to the extent of allowing British capital and push the glory of the achievement and then chuckle over her smartness, she may find in the end that she has made a great mistake—or, in other and less refined words, that "manifest destiny" has received a black eye in this quarter. National actions speak louder than national doctrines, however time-honored the traditions may be that bear the doctrines down the stream of history. What if the United States should wake up some fine morning to the discovery that in the possession of actual interest in these islands she stood only second in pre-eminence? As the latest attempt to rush the annexation of Hawaii has proved, or in all likelihood is about to prove, abortive, the question of securing the legitimate maintenance of supremacy among the Powers in relations with this group becomes a living and serious one for United States statesmanship. In this regard, it is doubtful if a more effective and finer stroke could be made at the outset than the hurrying through of an American telegraph cable to the Hawaiian Islands from the Pacific coast of the United States.

A Visit From Royalty.

Oakland had the distinguished honor of entertaining royalty yesterday. A native princess of Samoa and a retinue of ladies in waiting were shown the sights of the city. The Princess is the wife of H. J. Moors, a Samoan merchant, and the party was in charge of J. D. Strong, a brother of Dwight Strong, curator of the Central reading-room—San Francisco Call.

Postal Savings Bank memo: Due depositors P. S. B. this date, $502,363.69; notices maturing this date, $2380; cash on hand, P. S. B., $7450.00.

Provisional Government memo: Expenses to date, $73,744.38; expenses for week, $1273.25. Memo. cash in treasury: Outstanding certificates, $238,200; cash on hand to redeem certificates, $238,000; certificates withdrawn from circulation, $71,000; Road Board fund in treasury, $29,853.77; School Board fund, $725.15; available cash as above, $29,853.74; total cash in treasury, $28,128.26.

The recommendation made by the finance committee and approved by the Council that the Road Board draw in payment of pay rolls and expenses, from their special deposit in the treasury; that the special guards at the Aliiolani and Kapuwa buildings be paid off and discharged; that the assistant storekeeper at the Custom House be dropped after June 30, 1893; that one clerk at a salary of $100 per month instead of two at $250, in the Bureau of Public Works, be retained; that the appropriation for the Paradise of the Pacific be discontinued after June 30, 1893; that the office of the Deputy Registrar of Conveyances remain unfilled, and that the position of clerk to the Board of Education remain unfilled—have all been carried into effect. This will effect a monthly saving to the general treasury of over $5,000.

The removal of the Tax Office from the Kapuwa building to the Judiciary building, in the room formerly occupied by the Registrar of Public Accounts, has been accomplished, and all taxes hereafter will be paid at that office.

The Minister of Finance acknowledges with pleasure the cheerful return of reports from the different departments and a readiness to assist in reducing expenses wherever practicable.

On concluding the reading of the report, Minister Damon remarked that he and the finance committee had decided to avoid too much abruptness in reducing expenses by dismissing employees. In answer to a question from the President, he explained his separation of silver and certificates. An amount of $74,000 had been received in certificates from persons who wanted to take out silver therefor. It would not be correct to report this $74,000 as available cash. Certificates that were used in paying salaries, he further answered, were of course treated as cash.

Mr. Waterhouse, in moving the acceptance of the report, said the Minister deserved great credit for the care he had exhibited in preparing so full and clear a statement.

Secretary Rodgers read the bill to amend the Savings Bank law. Passed to second reading.

The bill to amend the law relating to possession of explosives came up on second reading, and on motion was considered section by section.

Minister Smith offered three sections in place of one in the bill, to meet the views brought out at previous sessions.

Minister Damon, after some discussion, moved that the bill be laid on the table. Its object required more consideration than they had received, to have them attained without inflicting hardship on legitimate users of explosives. Carried.

The bill to amend the law relating to brands, etc., on second reading was deferred owing to lack of the required number of members to pass a bill.

President Dole read a letter from Col. Soper, commanding the forces, reporting the election in Co. B of L. T. Kenake as first lieutenant in place of A. M. Brown, resigned; and of Thos. B. Wall, as second lieutenant in place of Kenake, resigned. The commander made a requisition for $30 a month as salary of a drum major instructing and drilling the drum corps. Referred to military committee.

The Councils then went into executive session.

Hood's Cures.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. Statements from thousands of reliable people of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them, conclusively prove the fact—Hood's Sarsaparilla Cures.

SECOND CIRCUIT COURT.

Proceedings of the June Term Now Being Held at Waiuku.

The June term of the Circuit Court of the Second Circuit opened at Waiuku last Wednesday before Judge A. N. Kopoikai. It had got through a good deal of work up till 2 o'clock Saturday, when it adjourned till Tuesday (to-day).

Kuakohala pleading guilty to housebreaking was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at hard labor. John Richardson was his counsel.

You Sung was tried for the murder of a Japanese woman at Maliko gulch and acquitted, the evidence being only strong enough to direct suspicion against him. He was defended by J. A. Magoon.

Al See's fine of $100 in the District Court for opium selling was affirmed. Magoon for defendant.

Kihara Yozi forfeited $125 bail for distilling liquor, and E. Foran $10 for assault and battery.

Sakamoto and Sumitori were found guilty of conspiracy, in having another Japanese arrested and tried for the alleged larceny of a pig. They were fined $200 each.

Several cases were nolle prosequi and a number of appeals were dismissed owing to failure of appellants to comply with the requirements of the new law.

The jury disagreed in the case of a man charged with assault with intent to commit an offense, V. V. Ashford appearing for the defense. Manuel C. Ross was granted a divorce from his wife on the ground of desertion. Richardson for plaintiff.

Geo. Kalilikane's appeal from conviction of malicious injury was withdrawn. At the Court's rising on Saturday there remained seven criminal, eleven civil and two divorce suits to be tried.

COURT CHRONICLE.

No Hearing To-day—Sundry Matters Pending.

Judge Whiting presides at Circuit Court Chambers this week. Henry Smith, master, has filed an elaborate report on the accounts of F. A. Schaefer, guardian of the minor children of the late Chas. A. Long. The accounts come up next Friday.

Hearing of Reciprocity Sugar Co. vs. G. Trousseau, administrator with the will annexed of D. Kalakaua, appointed for to-day, has gone over one week.

On to-morrow's diary appear the following cases for hearing: Mary B. Silva vs. F. Silva, motion to dissolve injunction; Mary Kaleiali vs. M. S. Grinbaum & Co.; Estate of J. F. O. Banning, filing of amended complaint.

This afternoon Judge Cooper filed a decision on the demurrer to five indictments of H. F. Poor. The original indictments were quashed under a decision of the Supreme Court that they were irregular in being signed by H. A. Widemann as "Attorney General ad interim," a position held to have no existence under the present demurrer are that defendant had been put in jeopardy by the indictments presented by Widemann, and that there had been a failure to prosecute.

The Judge decides as follows: "It seems to me that the demurrer does not raise the points contended for on the part of the defendant, it being the province of a demurrer to raise points of law upon the pleadings and not upon the record. And for that reason the demurrer must be overruled.

"If the points contended for by the defendant were properly before the Court, it does not seem to me that the records show such a state of facts as to sustain the defendant's contention."

F. M. Hatch for the prosecution; A. P. Peterson and A. Rosa for defendant.

"August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out of Constipation of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two tea-spoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

A year ago the attention of a great many people here was riveted on two things: the formation of a cabinet and the Maui mule. This year events have so shaped themselves that there is no necessity for the friends of the present ministers to give luau or lie awake nights to devise means of persuading the 25th man to vote their way, or of the sporting fraternity running in a "dark horse" to beat a mule. And the attention of the people, where is it?

We imagine from the way our business has kept up during the dark days of '93 that we have had some of it. We imagine that the Hendry Breaker has drawn the attention of the plantation man to an implement that has saved him more time, more money and vexation than he ever dreamed of. The certificates we have, from time to time, published as to the superiority of this plow have attracted notice from people who plow now or who may some day give up politics and go back to tilling the soil. Nor has the Fischer Steel Range been overlooked by people who enjoy food properly cooked. It is probable that some of the best lunches given by the lady friends of the Masonic fraternity were prepared on a Fischer Range, we say "probable" because the sale of this article has been such during the past two years that nearly every one is the happy owner of a Fischer, and we mention the Masonic lunch because the four or five days when the lunch was given were just so many days of good feeling for the business men who patronised the affair, it was a change, so to speak in the regular orders of things; one gentleman remarked that he was "having Sunday dinners every day without the thought of "hash" for the next."

The rat season appears to be on again and people are looking around for a way to get rid of the pests. We can prescribe no better remedy than the French Trap. We sold one on Thursday to a store keeper and the next day he telephoned us that he had caught eight the first time.

There is no better or cheaper trap than this because it requires no setting, it is ready at all times and it catches the rats alive and provides amusement for your terriers.

Rather more than the usual methods are being adopted by the Board of Health to keep smallpox from our midst, the Board might go a step farther and investigate the stench that exists on the lower part of Fort street near the lumber piles, whether it is a broken sewer pipe or a hidden duck pond deponent saith not but the smell is great. Perhaps the cheapest way to remedy the evil is to put in two or three Ozonators. It is for such purposes this little contrivance was invented; it may be used in the sick room or closets with beneficial results as it effectually kills the germs of disease that lurk in the air. They are of a rather serious nature but the germs and bacilli that mingle with your drinking water are infinitely more dangerous, they are taken into the stomach, the seat of nearly all ailments, the object, then of every one should be to keep them out of that important organ. The best means so far discovered is by using a filter. When we say filter we do not mean one-half the things that people inveigle you into buying as filters but an Improved National Stone Filter without any charcoal or other mixtures that collect and retain the dirt. These that we have, and they are without exception the best filter ever shown here are made simply of a porous stone that collects all the dirt and disease germs as the water passes through the stone.

made to the arbitrary power conferred upon executive officers in making the deportation. He said that so far as investigation is made it will be a judicial investigation. The law provided that no Chinaman should be deported if he should clearly establish certain facts to the satisfaction of a Judge. The Legislature had a right to prescribe what evidence may be demanded before our judicial tribunals, and it was within its power to provide that those aliens who have been one year within the United States without getting out certificates should be deported. It had a right to define what witnesses should be heard, and the right to protect its courts against testimony from persons who had no regard for the sanctity of an oath. He would not touch upon the wisdom, the policy, or even the justice of the act. Those questions were for the political, legislative and executive departments of the Government. If the act were within their constitutional powers it would be out of place for this court to interfere. What Congress had done had not been to provide for any definition of crime in the act, nor to provide any punishment. It had provided merely that the persons in question should be sent out of the country to the place whence they came; it had provided, not for the adjudication of crime, but simply for the removal of persons whose presence Congress considered inconsistent with the public welfare. It must be remembered that the Chinese cannot be naturalized. Doubtless they are entitled to the security and safeguard guaranteed by the constitution and laws in such measure as they are provided; but there was nothing in the constitution or the laws which impugned the power of Congress to compel them to leave the country.

The opinion of the United States Circuit Court for the Second District of New York in each of the three cases is therefore affirmed, and the three Chinese are ordered to be deported.

After the court concluded the announcement of its opinion, Ashton, of counsel for the Chinese, moved a rehearing and argument before a full bench at the next term.

At present the court stands 5 to 3 in support of the law, Justice Harlan being absent.

The court took the motion under advisement, the effect of which is to postpone the proceedings under the judgment.

In the Chinese exclusion act case Justice Gray quoted Justice Field's own decision against himself, anticipating the dissent of the California Justice. Chae Chang Ping was a Chinese laborer who left the United States armed with a certificate entitling him to return. On his return he found that by a supplementary Chinese act his certificate had been annulled and his right to land abrogated. Justice Gray quoted Justice Field's opinion upholding the constitutionality of the act, and saying: "The act is in direct contravention of treaty stipulations, but treaties are of no greater legal obligation than acts of Congress. Both are the paramount law of the land, and treaties may be repealed or modified at the pleasure of Congress. In either case the last expression of the sovereign will must govern."

Justice Fuller, in his dissenting opinion, held that Congress has no power to prescribe the banishment.

Justice Field, whose previous decision was quoted by Justice Gray, argued in dissenting now that arbitrary and tyrannical power had no place in the American system. He said: "Brutality, inhumanity and cruelty can never be recognized as elements in any form of procedure adopted in the administration of the laws of our Government. As I had once occasion to say against the cruel treatment of poor and despised Chinamen I repeat now: It is certainly something in which a citizen of the United States may feel a generous pride that the Government of his country extends protection to all persons within its jurisdiction, and that every blow aimed at any of them, however humble, come from what quarter it may, is caught upon the broad shield of our blessed constitution and our equal laws."

Justice Brewer gave a verbal opinion, promising a written one later. He said that the fourteenth amendment could not be construed as being entirely confined to the protection of citizens of the United States. Its provisions applied to all the people living in the jurisdiction of the United States. He defined the meaning of the use of the word "persons" in the fifth amendment, which, he said, must be equally comprehensive. So also must be the sixth amendment.

In his opinion there was no question regarding the general power of the Government to enact laws keeping people out of the United States or to summarily deal with persons who unlawfully came in. However, this act dealt with persons who were lawfully in the United States. It is but fair to say that deportation is a punishment. It is a deprivation of liberty and a removal from home, family, business and property. This can be considered as nothing less than a punishment of the severest nature.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this Remedy before leaving home. For sale by all dealers.
