HAWAII Laid Out.

They Start in Well but Lag on the Way.

Wagers have been made by town sports during the week that the Kamehamehas would wipe up the diamond with the Hawaii when they met, but there were others who had confidence in the Hawaii and put their little mite on them. The champions, among their treasures, possess a crowd of kindergarten rosters, who would cheer if a Kamehameha player succeeded in expectorating over his proboscis. The Kams put Mahuka in with the stick for a starter, and was retired at first. Rewsky and Meheula concluded the inning, by being beaten in a race to first. Willis and Thompson made singles, the former coming home on a passed ball, and the latter on Pryce's swipe. Kaae was retired on strikes, and Cupid at first. Pryce was sent home by E. Holt. Holt stole second and Hart made a single. The latter stole second and rushed Holt off third, retiring the side. In the second Kauka fished one run. In the third Rewsky, Kauka, Lindsay and Kaanoi crossed the plate, partly through heavy batting assisted by errors of the Hawaii. The Hawaii failed to score in the second and third, but in the fourth Frank Woods made a clean circuit on a wild throw to first. The Kams added two ciphers to their row in the fourth and fifth innings. In the sixth Captain Thompson tried the old game and substituted Palmer in the box with the result that their opponents gathered in two runs. Cummings made a run in the seventh and Meheula one in the eighth, the side being retired in the ninth with a cipher. Total runs 9. Kaae covered the home plate in the fifth, and Pryce and Cupid performed the same feat in the seventh, the rest of the innings being witnessed with nary a run. Total runs, 7.

REMOND GROVE PICNIC.

Pacific Wheelmen Entertain Their Friends by Moonlight.

The Pacific Wheelmen's moonlight picnic at Remond Grove was attended by about 150 persons. The first train left the depot at 7 o'clock and was followed by a second at 8 o'clock. The scene at the pavilion was a pretty one, the hall being decorated with Hawaiian and American flags, and bunting loaned by Captain Winding of the bark Albert and Captain Walker. Dancing was begun early to music by the popular Quintet club. At intervals during the evening, Jack and his boys favored the picnicers with vocal selections. K. Dexter and W. M. Bush gave a neat exhibition of fancy riding on the wheels. Although a much larger crowd was expected, yet a sun was netted sufficient to continue work on the new track at Pearl City. The Wheelmen intend to give another moonlight picnic in the near future, when they hope to make enough to finish their track.

LOGIC OF EVENTS.

Among periodicals the Review of Reviews was one of the first to espouse the cause of Hawaiian annexation. In the May number this magazine says, "The Republican friends of Hawaiian annexation should be very careful not to be guilty themselves of the sort of offense which some of them sharply rebuked when committed by their opponents during the last administration." This is good advice for the annexation side in the States, but it came too late to prevent a large proportion of the Republican press from letting off all the party bile possible on the question. The savage tenor and tone of the Republican papers referred to, over the President's withdrawal of the treaty and the Commissioner's withdrawal of the protectorate, made the anti-annexationists on both sides of the water smile with grim satisfaction. They saw in this exhibition of rancorous partisan temper a certain sign that a party fight was inevitable over annexation, and such a contest meant a complete sifting of the whole scheme to the bottom. This in turn was an assurance that the United States Government should have to face and act upon the responsibility imposed upon it through the action of its representatives in Honolulu. If President Cleveland should act upon the facts that he has now had ample time to obtain, and do so in consonance with the established principles of the American Government, there will probably be no need for any polling of the Hawaiian electorate at present on annexation or no annexation, nor any use even in discussing the provisions of the treaty under consideration by the Provisional Government.

It is either confirmation or repudiation of the forcible conquest of these islands which President Cleveland has now to decide. Should he decide to confirm the destruction of Hawaiian autonomy, then there will be no more to say against stern fate. But if the word is to be repudiation, it can only be put into effect in one way without being a mockery more cruel than the thing repudiated. It is impossible to see how the United States can avoid the moral responsibility, with whatever national dishonor it may involve, for the violence done in Honolulu last January, if the Government of that country once accepts the results of such violence. Even a "successful revolution," as the convenient phrase is, cannot be enough in the eyes of a high-minded and powerful Government to justify its taking possession of a civilized country, at the request of the successful revolutionists, without the consent of more than a small minority of its intelligent voting population, especially when it is a fact that the forces which made the "success" of the revolution, after the United States forces had overruled the then Government into submission, as well as the forces that sustain the revolutionary government to-day, are largely a foreign drift element of those who never cast a vote in the country, and with very few exceptions would not be eligible to vote for Nobles if an election of a new Legislature were now ordered. President Cleveland can scarcely discharge his responsibility by merely punishing a Minister with a recall that signifies condemnation of his acts. That action only makes the rest of his duty clearer. Neither would it be proper or statesmanlike to tell the different parties here to fight it out. Such a thing would be barbarous, more like the gruesome pastime of tyranny than anything else, after the United States forces had given to one side the "nine points of the law" which it is not slack in boasting of. For a great Power to help one faction in a weak country to secure all the means of warfare and positions of strength, together with all the mechanism of government to keep opposing factions from defending themselves even against possible oppression, and then say, "Fight it out!" would be the blackest outrage of the world's history. The United States is responsible for the peace of this country until she puts things here in the position her representatives found them when they first leagued themselves with the conspiracy against Hawaiian independence. Since the foregoing was written it is learned by later news from the United States, that the negotiation of a treaty to settle the relations between the two countries is to be left in the hands of Minister Blount. From that we have great hopes that justice will be done to the rights of Hawaiians in every respect.

At Chicago on a recent day the Illinois Central handled passengers at the rate of 7000 an hour.

MEMORIAL SERMON.

Dr. Beckwith Preaches Before Geo. W. De Long Post, G. A. R.

Central Union Church contained a large congregation yesterday evening, when, according to announcement, Rev. E. G. Beckwith, pastor, preached the annual memorial discourse before Geo. W. De Long Post, G. A. R. President Dole, U. S. Minister Blount and many prominent residents were present. The front section of pews was reserved for the Post and visiting comrades, and as the opening organ voluntary was playing the veterans, to the number of nineteen, led by Post Commander J. N. Wright, filed into the first two pews from either side.

There were the usual decorations—American flags on the organ loft front, the reading desk and the front of the gallery; two stacks of rifles, camp equipments, etc., in front of the desk, and large bouquets on the platform. Rev. S. E. Bishop assisted in the devotional exercises, which opened with the doxology. The national anthem "America" was sung at the close of the services. After the benediction the regular congregation kept their seats, by request of the pastor, until their guests had marched out.

Dr. Beckwith took for his text Romans 7: "How to whom honor is due." High honorists were not so common, he said, that we could afford to forget them. For our own sake as well as the sake of others we should give honor to whom honor is due. Honor was due for great feats, provided they were also worthy deeds, and always reckoning that they were in harmony with God's workings. They were now seeing an impressive illustration of honor bestowed where it was due. Four hundred years ago a humble Genoese navigator sailed over the western sea with one small flagship and two caravels and discovered the New World. To-day that western sea was crowded on the hither side with great ships of the naval Powers to do the discoverer honor, while midway between the two oceans, on the shores of an inland sea, had been reared a collection of gorgeous palaces, now filled with the products and attracting the people of all nations, in tens of thousands, all to do honor to the same renowned navigator. With this introduction the preacher went on to describe the great deeds for which the Grand Army of the Republic should be held in perpetual honor. Their cause was the saving of the imperiled Union, and 2,600,000 men engaged in the conflict, millions of treasure was expended, and 500,000 lives were laid on the altar of the country. The great despotisms of Europe had pointed to the great republic as a sand dune that the first blast of war would sweep away. But the Union came out of the trial with not a State dismembered, not a rood of its shore line disturbed, not a shred of its red, white and blue displaced. As the greatest issue of that conflict, the G. A. R. settled the question of liberty throughout all the land to all the inhabitants thereof. They may not all have meant it, but multitudes of them meant it, and God meant it. They sealed with their blood the doctrine that all men are created free and equal. The preacher cautioned his hearers not to think that his discourse was a eulogy of war. They were to honor the men who carried on the war as a dreadful necessity. It must be remembered what it cost to draw those men away from their homes and the friends they loved. They should remember the weary marches, the night bivouacs, the gallant services of the men in the ships, who, lashing themselves in the main top, resolved to conquer or go down. Remembering those things they should not think it a burden but a joy to bring each Memorial Day some beautiful token to lay on the graves of their honored dead.

POST OFFICE IMPROVEMENT.

Another Window Being Provided for Stamp Sales, etc.

Increased window accommodation is at last being provided at the Post Office. Work began this morning in cutting out a window for the sale of stamps between the two lock box sections around the corner from the present delivery window. The necessity for this improvement has long been evident and much felt by the business community. Frequently the window that serves the double purpose of general delivery and sale of stamps is so thronged with Portuguese and Japanese, asking for letters or mailing letters, as to seriously obstruct the access of all other people to the window. This has been a great annoyance, especially in the hours of closing foreign mails and the principal island mails. The lack of accommodation has also caused considerable loss of postal business from the sale of stamps being stopped while a foreign mail is being opened during the stay of a through steamer in port. Postmaster-General Oat is to be congratulated on having got the Government to move in the matter.

The 11th of June Races.

Owing to the small number of entries made for the 11th June races, the Hawaiian Jockey Club have reluctantly decided to give up the idea of holding races on the above date. The entries this year have not only been small, but the death of Mr. James Gay has caused all of the deceased's horses to be withdrawn.

Everything that was necessary to secure a successful meeting has been done by the Jockey Club. The track was never in better condition and the grand stand and club room have recently been overhauled and repainted. The President's and O. S. S. Co.'s cups have been ordered and are now on the way from San Francisco.

Possibly later in the year the Club may be able to arrange a series of races.

Deserters Caught.

As the U. S. S. Boston was to leave this afternoon for Lahaina, special efforts were made for the capture of deserters from the vessel. Yesterday three men were caught. They had gotten on a good time Saturday night and were sleeping it off. This morning Lieutenant Hookano caught three men in blue jackets. One was sleeping amongst some hay in the rear of the Bay Horse saloon, another had forgotten the time and was paying a visit on Maunakea street, and another ran into the officers' arms.

"August Flower"

For Dyspepsia.

A. Bellanger, Propr., Stove Foundry, Montigny, Quebec, writes: "I have used August Flower for Dyspepsia. It gave me great relief. I recommend it to all Dyspeptics as a very good remedy."

Ed. Bergeron, General Dealer, Lauzon, Levis, Quebec, writes: "I have used August Flower with the best possible results for Dyspepsia."

C. A. Barrington, Engineer and General Smith, Sydney, Australia, writes: "August Flower has effected a complete cure in my case. It acted like a miracle."

Geo. Gates, Corinth, Miss., writes: "I consider your August Flower the best remedy in the world for Dyspepsia. I was almost dead with that disease, but used several bottles of August Flower, and now consider myself a well man. I sincerely recommend this medicine to suffering humanity the world over."

Saturday, May 27, 1893.

By way of advertisement in these trying times nothing is more acceptable to the people than tableaux vivants, the enthusiasm shown by the audience as each living picture was unveiled Friday night is evidence that such exhibitions take a sort of malaria hold on the people from start to finish. At this time, with visions of the World's Fair constantly before one the representation of one of the new Columbian stamps was, perhaps, the most appropriate. The gentleman essaying the roll of Christopher made a very creditable appearance and was the picture of a man who had been successful in taking up homesteads and laying out town sites. The scene represented Columbus at the court of Isabella, in the act of unfolding a Chart of the Oceanic S. S. Co. showing the shortest route from Honolulu to Chicago. If he could visit the United States to-day and see the improvements that have been made since the first time he came over there is no doubt of his wishing he had remained and made it his home. He could have had a big pull in his ward and could have been in on the ground floor of most anything even a soap trust. In this period of progress and high grade civilization he could have taken the Chairman of the Central Committee up to the top of a high mountain and shown his railroads, his slaughter houses and his coffers filled with pure leaf lard and said "All these will I give for a seat in the Senate." Christopher made a great mistake in dying in the early days before progress got a hold on the people. If he had stayed with us he might have done well even though he should miss getting his picture on a postage stamp. The name of Christopher Columbus would no doubt now be among those who are using Hendry Breakers.

The goods received by the "Amy Turner" seem to have met with the approval of our customers, they've been going out of our store in dray loads.

The demand for our superior grade of Garden Hose has been so great lately that it has been hard work for us to keep up with it. People have learned where hose, good hose may be obtained, that probably accounts for our large sales.

If you want to make home pleasant beyond anything you have ever experienced there are two things essential, Fischer Steel Range and a set of Haviland China; there's no romance about this, it's a fact.

By the "W. G. Irwin" we received a big stock of the favorite Crank Life Lanterns, in nickle, copper and plain finish. It is a convenient lantern and one that can be handled without fear of burning one's fingers. The price is the same as the common ones but they are worth twice as much.

THE GAELIC ARRIVES.

An Indian Prince and Retinue Stay Over.

The O. & O. S. S. Gaelic, Captain Pearne, arrived off port at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

There is nothing I have ever used for muscular rheumatism that gives me as much relief as Chamberlain's Pain Balm does.

The flag on the Government building and the consular flags in town, besides the flags on several business houses, are flying at half-mast out of respect to the late Hon. J. S. Walker.

L. J. Levey will hold a special sale of dress goods, curtains, champagne, Henley regatta pleasure boat, etc., at 10 o'clock to-morrow.

His Excellency J. H. Blount, U. S. Minister, and Admiral Skerrett, witnessed the baseball game on Saturday afternoon.

The annual social of the Stranger's Friend Society will be held to-morrow evening (Tuesday), at 7:30 o'clock, at the Waikiki residence of Mrs. Robert Lewers.

It is reported that Mr. F. M. English, the musician, essayist and boniface, well known for years past in Honolulu, has been married in San Francisco to Mrs. Clara Bone.

There was to be a public meeting to discuss the proposed new treaty matter at Emma Square this evening.

The Myrtle Boat Club will meet this evening when a full attendance is requested.

The trial of the four girls who were captured by Captains Juen and Schlemmer and associates on Friday night, and charged with keeping a disorderly house, will come up in the District Court to-morrow.

The WEEKLY BULLETIN was published this morning. It is an unusually interesting number, containing as it does J. L. Stevens' San Francisco Address, T. H. Davies' article on the Hawaiian Situation, Nordhoff's interview with Claus Spreckels, the Nordhoff Citation Fiasco, etc.

Prof. Ruchwaldy will make his first appearance at the Opera House on Saturday night, June 10, in a grand magical, psychological and musical entertainment, entirely new to Honolulu.

The most painful cases of rheumatism may be relieved by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; its continued use will cure any case, no matter of how long standing.

Francis Melville Wakefield was to-day granted a license by Chief Justice Judd to practice law in all the courts of the Hawaiian Islands.

The bill to amend the Stamps Act was read by the Secretary.

Mr. Allen presented a minority report, recommending different provisions in part from those of the bill reported by a majority of the Judiciary Committee.

It was agreed to consider the minority bill with that of the majority. Also, on motion of the Attorney-General, that the original bill be considered at the same time.

Attorney-General Smith moved the adoption of the original bill. When the Stamp Act was introduced it met with a great deal of opposition.

In experience the opposition wore away, as the law was found to be a source of revenue without the burden being felt.

For the period ending March 31, 1888, the revenue thus derived amounted to $39,824.60.

Great attention was given to the amendment of the law by the late Minister of Finance, Mr. Widemann, and his successor, Mr. Macfarlane.

The rate was placed at $2 in the thousand on stock valuations. That idea of the tax being so burdensome he held to be a fallacy.

He thought the idea so strenuously urged by different members that they should not go into unnecessary legislation ought to apply in this case.

The bill originally introduced was simply to prevent evasions of the tax in the transfer of corporation stocks on the books. With $400,000 or $500,000 a year coming from this source, the speaker urged it was not right to abolish it, just because some people did not want to pay the tax.

Attorney-General Smith, in moving the acceptance of Mr. Porter's resignation, wished to place on record his appreciation of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Porter.

The finances had been brought to a good condition by the retiring Minister and his predecessor Mr. Jones.

Mr. S. M. Damon was unanimously elected Minister of Finance on the nomination of Mr. Tenney.

The Councils then went into executive session. JOHN S. WALKER.

A Veteran Public Man Gone to His Rest.

Hon. John S. Walker died at 8 o'clock this morning after a long and painful illness, at the age of about 75 years.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, Nuuanu avenue, at 2 o'clock, p. m., to-morrow.

Mr. Walker's career has been noteworthy as well as long. His death removes one of the most familiar figures from the public and private life of the Hawaiian Islands.

Some of the leading particulars of his career are given below. The departed gentleman was universally respected for his qualities of head and heart and will be generally lamented.

John Smith Walker was born in Aberdeen, Scotland, July 10, 1820. From this fact it goes without assertion that he received a good education.

At the age of 17 he emigrated to Canada, landing at Quebec, from whence he proceeded to Wisconsin. Whilst there, he scored as a member of the Wisconsin Legislature in 1846 and 1847.

He spent nine years prospecting in the lead mines of that State and at Galena, Illinois. Mr. Walker crossed the plains to California in 1851, and, after a short stay at Sacramento, went to Marysville and took up storekeeping.

The climate not suiting him he took the advice of friends to come to the Hawaiian Islands. He arrived at Honolulu on the 13th of November, 1854, being a fellow passenger on the same vessel with the late Father Hermann who died Bishop of Oahu, and Father Leo and Mr. Geo. Galbraith.

It took some time for his health to come up to a tolerable standard even in this climate, and in the meantime he got acquainted with business people and became attached to the country.

His first employment here was as a book-keeper with H. Hackfeld & Co., and next in the same capacity with Thos. Spencer. Between both firms, back and forth, he put in his time until 1861, when Mr. Walker started business for himself as an importer and ship broker.

In 1874 he became Minister of Finance in King Kalakaua's Cabinet, and on leaving the Ministry in 1876 he entered the firm of W. G. Irwin & Co., remaining as one of the partners until 1880, when he again became Minister of Finance as well as Attorney-General ad interim.

This time he held ministerial office two years, and was afterward appointed Auditor-General. Mr. Walker was a member of the House of Nobles under the old Constitution, when the position was given by the Crown for life.

Nobles being made elective by the Constitution of 1887, Mr. Walker was elected for the six-year term in 1890. He was President of the Legislature for the sessions of 1886, 1890 and 1892, in which position he evinced a thorough knowledge of parliamentary practice and the strictest impartiality.

Mr. Walker was a member of the Privy Council of State from the accession of Kalakaua to the deposition of Liholioli, and held positions on the various Boards subordinate to the Government—Education, Health, Immigration. Mr. Walker was regarded as the head of the National Reform party from its organization in the election campaign of 1890.

His counsel was always sought in important public matters by his political associates. For many years past Mr. Walker's private business has been that of an insurance agent, representing several strong British companies. He also did considerable in the ship broker line.

In 1866 Mr. Walker married Miss Jane McIntyre, sister of Mr. H. E. McIntyre and born in Honolulu, whom he leaves with a family of five sons and five daughters. His eldest son named after him has been conducting the business of the office since the father's health broke down shortly after the close of last Legislature.

Mr. Walker had to absent himself from the President's chair different times in the latter part of the session owing to illness. One of the daughters of the lamented gentleman is the wife of Mr. E. Faxon Bishop, of the firm of C. Brewer & Co.

Mr. Walker was a member of Lodge Le Progres de l'Oceanie, A. F. & A. M. He wore several Hawaiian and Japanese decorations.

DEATH OF JAMES GAY. An Old Kamaaina Passes Away After a Short Illness.

James Gay, the well-known ranchman of Waialua, died in Honolulu at 12 o'clock noon yesterday, after an illness of about four weeks.

Mr. Gay was suffering from lung complaint and a severe cough, but the immediate cause of his death was the kick by a young colt at his ranch at Waialua.

The deceased was very anxious about the three-year-old Kaulani—as he expected her to do good work in the race on the 14th, and went down to his country residence to personally look after her training, when he met with the accident.

Dr. Trousseau attended him to the last. Sunday morning, Mr. Gay called his wife and daughter to his bedside and told them that he felt a change. "Twelve o'clock will be my time," were his last words, and as the clock struck the hour he expired.

Attorney-General Smith, in moving the acceptance of Mr. Porter's resignation, wished to place on record his appreciation of the excellent services rendered by Mr. Porter.

The finances had been brought to a good condition by the retiring Minister and his predecessor Mr. Jones.

Our Optical Department still goes along in the even tenor of its way despite all opposition. Every day we fit somebody either with a pair of Eyeglasses for 25c., and once in a while we get as high as $2.00. We can't go higher because that is the best pair of crystals you can buy and why pay more? The reason is that we do not need any special two weeks' study of the question because our instrument, the EYEMETER, is so simple that its test is absolute. Doesn't matter if your eyes are myopic, astigmatic or any other ailment, that instrument gets there every time.

That Ripe Pear.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
In the address—or what might more fitly be termed the parting kick—of J. L. Stevens which you published on Wednesday last occurs the following:

"Without the expenditure of a single American life or a dollar of American gold, they offer the rich prize, this splendid possession of the Pacific, to the American government, in trust for the American people. Never was such a prize before offered as a gift to a great nation."

It takes some hard persuading to convince one's self that a man who could write such wicked sentiment as this, should be outside the walls of a lunatic asylum or some other place of confinement.

"They offer the rich prize." Who are they? What is their title to the "splendid possession" of a kingdom? The morality of the Calabrian bandit would just about fit Stevens' ideal of common honesty. The mountain robber chief arms his band and waits in ambush for a prize, pretty much on the Stevens plan, and when his scouts scout a wealthy "ripe pear" in the form of a defenseless traveller off his guard, they simply run him in and "without the expenditure of a single bandit life or a dollar of money" they strip him and agree to parcel out the belongings of their captive. The parallel might be extended, but the Italian brigand don't appeal to the pious memory of any "Plymouth Rock" to sanctify his theft; on the contrary, he knows himself as an outlaw, an enemy to church and society, and the State has set a price on his head.

The buncomb in this address of Mr. Stevens is well balanced by his pretence of stating fact. What a perversion of truth this Plymouth Rock saint indulged in when he wrote that "seven-eighths of the property of the country" supports the Provisional Government, as he must have known that one-eighth would be nearer the mark.

The whole paper is an incoherent, illogical jumble of weak jingoism. Every line reveals the fact that Stevens came here with the fixed plan of tripping the government on every possible occasion in order to convey the "rich prize" of a nation, by conquest of his country's arms, heedless of the protests of the people.

Stevens is gone, and his valediction which he gave before him, will serve to confirm the American public in the verdict which they have already pronounced on this case; but unfortunately we are not likely soon to forget him, for his action has aroused national antipathies among the white population, such as were hitherto unknown. All Americans who are honest to their convictions and would not bow the knees to Stevens are boycotted.

Other nations are of course in the same way, and the net residue of Mr. Stevens' mission as Minister to Hawaii is that he has succeeded in dividing the whites into two hostile camps,—his pets and his "hoodlums." And what final outcome—the factional arrogance of the pet section may produce is not a matter of much doubt if the same insolent tone, which is being just now indulged in by the jingo party and their press, is going to continue.

The intention of the jingoes of ignoring the Hawaiians in the whole business may be permitted by the party of the "hoodlums," who will numerically and otherwise prove their capability of taking care of themselves without their Hawaiian allies.

As to the honor of the flag about which Stevens and his followers yell so, it became dishonored in his hands when he used it as an emblem of conquest and coercion.

The Color Line.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
I have read many erratic papers, but as a journalistic freak the Star acquires the pastry. Only a short time ago it said the idea of a "colored puss" here wanting her crown back was ridiculous to the American people, and now W. G. S. comes out in a three-star editorial and tells us that those same Americans do not draw the color line. Here is a part of the editorial in the Star that I have reference to:

"Now comes the other condition, namely that the population shall not be alien. To this it may be said that the really alien population is here merely to work and go away again and that it cannot be counted as a part of the body politic. The native race, to be sure, is not entirely of white complexion, but as the United States does not recognize the color line it surely is not politics for young or old Americans to draw it across the face of an annexation treaty. Aside from color there is very little indeed in the native Hawaiian which is alien to America. He was taught by American missionaries, he reads the Bible and as a usual thing attends a Christian church; he supports schools and a press and in all the essentials of progress he is far superior to the negro, for whom hundreds of thousands of Americans took their lives in hand to make a citizen of. Surely in the sense that Mr. Nordhoff uses the word 'alien' the Hawaiian is hardly alien at all, having learned American customs and habits, and absorbed a great variety of good American ideas."

Contrast the foregoing sentiments with some of the Sunday school orations delivered by one of the pious P. G. Commissioners on his tour through the Eastern States. I also learn through the Star that the Royalists like to cheer their drooping spirits by quoting from obscure papers that are opposed to annexation. Here is a small list of the said obscure and unknown papers in New York: We have the much-abused Herald, World, Post, Nation, Harper's and Frank Leslie's Weeklies, and Judge. In Boston, the Globe and Transcript; in Chicago, the Times and Herald; in St. Louis, the Post-Dispatch and Republic; in Louisville, the Courier-Journal; in New Orleans, the Delta and Picayune; in Kansas City, the Times and Star; Denver, the Rocky Mountain News; Omaha, Bee; Salt Lake, Tribune;

Sacramento, Record-Union and Bee; and San Francisco, Post, Report, Argus, Wasp, News Letter and Argonaut.

If these papers are obscure and unknown, I should like to know where the Star gets off.

Kaunakapili Church.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
In your Saturday's issue, it is stated that several of the native Protestant congregations on other parts of the islands are disgusted with the way in which their pastors, instead of attending to their religious duties, have been preaching politics to their flocks. I wish to say that here in Honolulu there is the same trouble, and that the Kaunakapili congregation are sick and tired of their preacher, Waiamau, and have been trying for some time to give him the grand bounce. They are disgusted with the way in which he has allowed himself to be made the tool for political purposes of the Sereno Bishop—Emerson—Hyde—Waterhouse gang. Last night the Kaunakapili congregation had to listen to a political harangue from the Rev. O. P. Emerson. What right has this man to come into the house of God with his preaching? The people come to church to worship God, and not to be instructed as to how they are to vote on the annexation question. So disgusted were the congregation last night with this unwarranted intrusion of politics that a great many of those present left in the middle of the speaker's remarks.

HOOPAILUA.

Wanted! Wanted!

Some smart aleck to try and stop my passport, as I am about to leave the island for some other seaport town. Also one good collector to collect some bills. He must be honest, upright and sober; only those who can furnish first-class references to the above facts need apply. All cash security must be furnished. Please call on at address Hon. A. L. Johnson, the American Shirt Maker, corner King and Alakea streets, Honolulu, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 12 p. m., where you will always find him making all kinds of shirts to order with all the latest improvements and only for honest people who pay their honest cash, and not any bluffs. All persons having bad bills to collect give them to me and I will see to collect them. My board bill is now paid at Pahala.

And now look out for some fun all those who are interested in my welfare.

Forms of Liberty.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
In this morning's Advertiser is the following from one of the usual loose and carelessly written editorials of the above paper: "Once teach the natives the forms and safeguards of liberty and they will never rest until they grasp the substance." The substance of liberty, my gay deceiver, was first wrenched from the natives in 1887 by the same class of pious frauds and their lick-spittles, who for ways that are dark are now working tooth and nail to finish the job by robbing them of their country. The natives know ye too well, to their sorrow; and will no more think of trusting your kind again than they would of trusting a tender six months old babe in a den of rattlesnakes. Ye are leaning against the brink of shadows, and may you receive mercy although you deserve little. The natives leave you to your fate.

The Hanamaulu Festival.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—
Last Sunday, May 21, at Hanamaulu, Lihue, a great feast for the Portuguese held there. A fine decorated with flags of different nations. The Hanamaulu Portuguese Band play, and plays so many discord and with many mistakes. And the old boys from Lihue, under Professor F. Johnson four of them beat them all to nothing. They plays some nice selection, Bohemian Girl, Son from Home, etc. The Hanamaulu band 15 pieces (boys). Some boys get pay for playing but some boys got kick for playing.

KAPALA.

While Mr. T. J. Richey, of Altona, Mo., was traveling in Kansas he was taken violently ill with cholera morbus. He called at a drug store to get some medicine and the druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy so highly he concluded to try it. The result was immediate relief, and a few doses cured him completely. It is made for bowel complaint and nothing else. It never fails. For sale by all dealers.
