SATURDAY, MAY 9.
LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.
Session of 1874.

From Wailuku, that parents of five or more children be exempted from personal tax.

From Wailuku, that the traffic in spirits be prohibited.

From Wailuku, that contract servants be allowed to go to vote on election days.

From Wailuku, that the national flag be changed.

From Wailuku, that the horse tax be reduced to 50 cents a head.

From Wailuku, that the expense of deputies be discharged.

From Wailuku, that the expense of the House be paid for by the people.

His Majesty the Minister of the Interior explained how the expense of the Legislature would be increased by the proposed amendments.

Hon. Mr. Nawaiwa was in favor of the amendment.

Hon. Mr. Bishop said that the question was, what was the object of amending the laws as they are, one by one.

fully devised measures of sound economy, and to that end that power may be vested in the Governor under the law to merge two or more offices in one, when it may be found expedient to do so, as a measure of economy.

The Assembly receives with profound gratification the assurance of Your Majesty's solicitude for the increase of your people—that people who have indeed increased with rapidity, and whose extinction has frequently been prophesied.

The subject of the water supply for the city of Honolulu will receive our attention, with a disregard to the rights of suburban proprietors.

The appointment of a commission to report a codification of our laws, for the next session of the Legislature, will, in our opinion, be a wise measure.

We are happy to be informed that our relations with foreign countries having treaties with us, are in a most satisfactory condition.

The turning of facilities for the steamship line between San Francisco and Australia; the opening of the entrance of the harbor of Honolulu; the erection of suitable warehouses; these are subjects which will engage our serious attention.

We pray that the prosperity of your Kingdom may be perpetuated and increased.
