

lack of genuine patriotism on the part of the Nobility... was ended by the fall of that city, he succeeded with many of his compeers in escaping into Prussia...

The revolution of 1815 found Bern ready to engage in the cause for which he had already given his blood. He appeared at Vienna soon after the breaking out of the insurrection...

His defence of that barricade, the artillery of which was loaded with grape, will long be remembered by the Jagers who attacked it. A thick column once came up to the charge...

Ben's name was prominent on the list of men for whom Windischgrätz offered a reward after the city had fallen into his power...

Noble by birth, he shared the prejudices and weakness of his class, which as is known were the great cause of the fall of his country.

There seems reason for the belief that the experiences of exile have corrected these errors in Bern, and that he now understands that liberty and national independence can be established only on the basis of equal rights for all.

SIR JOHN FRANKLIN'S EXPEDITION.—Capt. Wilkes, of the Navy, publishes a letter in the National Intelligencer in relation to the contemplated expedition in search of Sir John Franklin, the British navigator.

Such being the fact, we should have greater hope of seeing a young man wealthy at 40, who commenced with no other capital than his land, his tools, and his brawny arm...

Begin with 40 or 40 acres, and don't enlarge your farm, or plantation till you can do it without running in debt, and you will get along well enough.

From a work recently published in New York, by Edward Kellogg, entitled "Labor and other Capital," we derive the following, through the New York Tribune.

Mr. Kellogg regards Usury—by which term we mean the taking of undue (not necessarily illegal) interest—as the all-devouring cancer of civilized society, dooming the many to toil hopelessly and interminably for the profit and aggrandizement of the few.

Let us have it averduopis, the world over, and a great deal of vexation will be prevented.

THE POLYNESIAN.

HONOLULU, SATURDAY, AUGUST 18.

HAWAIIAN AGRICULTURE.

There are some subjects that cannot be exhausted, even by the most frequent repetition; and whose intrinsic importance is such that they demand the best thoughts and the most thorough investigation of all interested in them.

At present, our exports are of the most insignificant description, and are almost unworthy to be enumerated. The markets are but partially supplied with the veriest trash, at a most extravagant price, and that price is constantly increasing.

We are glad to see that the subject of "Agriculture" is occupying the thoughts of our correspondents. It ought to be the absorbing topic with His Majesty's Government, the Land Commission, and with all the friends of the Hawaiian race.

It is the important subject at this moment, and must be attended to, or all will be lost. Unless the markets are better supplied, and at cheaper rates, we feel sure that the whaling fleet will be compelled to seek refreshments somewhere else.

While on the subject, we have a word to say about plantations. The question has often been asked, why do not plantations thrive better at the Sandwich Islands? We believe for the simple reason that most of the plantations have begun on borrowed capital, and that it is demonstrable that, under ordinary circumstances, no business can prosper that borrows capital at 12 per cent.

It may possibly be safe for a man to raise a small sum, for an emergency, and pay such a rate of interest; but ruin, we greatly fear, will almost always attend an enterprise, based upon capital borrowed at such a rate, or even at half that rate.

Unusual and favorable markets for a particular manufacture or production may have increased the wealth of a particular town or section five per cent. in a given year; but taken together, we doubt if ten consecutive years of ordinary prosperity have shown a greater ratio of increase than from one to three per cent.

Hence we argue, that if a prosperous community is not able to accumulate capital faster than about two or three per cent. per annum, individuals are not able, in ordinary cases, to pay a higher rate of interest, for capital on which to do business, than two or three per cent.

Such being the fact, we should have greater hope of seeing a young man wealthy at 40, who commenced with no other capital than his land, his tools, and his brawny arm, than one who had a borrowed capital of $10,000, at 7 per cent., and in the same circumstances, otherwise, at starting.

Hence, we greatly desire to see the young men who are growing up on these islands taking hold of the plough. If you do so, and persevere, you will succeed. It is much surer than merchandizing, or any of the professions, as the are technically called.

Ten-fold surer than political preferment, or the "bread and butter of the state," and vastly more independent and desirable. And don't make the common mistake, and try and do too much; or rather, spread yourselves out over too much ground.

We were struck with the remark of a practical coffee grower the other day, who said that he would sooner have fifty thousand trees, well cultivated, than a hundred thousand with the grass growing all among them.

Right; but people sometimes think that it is in the number of trees, and not in their productiveness, that the value of their plantations consist.

From a work recently published in New York, by Edward Kellogg, entitled "Labor and other Capital," we derive the following, through the New York Tribune.

Mr. Kellogg regards Usury—by which term we mean the taking of undue (not necessarily illegal) interest—as the all-devouring cancer of civilized society, dooming the many to toil hopelessly and interminably for the profit and aggrandizement of the few.

afforded by the rapid progress of invention, the growth of Manufactures, &c.

The Population of our State increased from 1830 to 1840 at the rate of two per cent. per annum very nearly. The increase of Property, we have seen, was considerably less.

One thousand dollars loaned at six per cent. payable half-yearly in one hundred and twenty years becomes $1,924,000; in two hundred and fifty years $1,648,576,000.

We cannot further pursue these illustrations of the rapacity with which interest pursues and devours the products of Labor, but few persons have any idea of it. Let three thousand capitalists own half the property in a State or Province containing a population of One Million (this is about an average proportion), and it is hardly a chance that Wealth and Poverty, Luxury and Misery, should not both increase with fearful rapidity.

THE FIRST WHALER OF THE SEASON.—On the 13th inst. the whale-ship Washington arrived, being the first this season at the port of Honolulu. Last year the first ship arrived on the 8th of Aug., five days earlier than the present year.

We welcome the whaling fleet to our ports, and hope they will find the means and facilities for recruiting, ample and satisfactory. Mutual benefit should characterize the intercourse between the ship and shore; and while the seafaring man recruits his health and strength, and procures the fruits and vegetables that shall invigorate and re-instate his wasted energies, the cultivator of those articles will also receive his equivalent, and business of every kind receive a spur and impulse.

We have no later European dates than those published last week, but as events in that quarter of the world are regarded with the most intense interest, we give further extracts from our files, and believe our space cannot be better occupied.

We are assured that intelligence has been received by private letters from Paris, that 3,000 troops were at once despatched from France for Civita Vecchia, as soon as the news from Rome was received, and thus the anomaly presented of a Republic, during its first Presidency, attempting to force a continuance of monarchy upon a people struggling for their liberties.

This bodes nothing but evil and continued bloodshed, both to Italy and France; and however much the pride of the French may have been wounded by the repulse of her arms in Rome, we do not believe the calm and sober judgment of the French nation will long sustain the attempt to thrust back upon the Italians a monarchy when they have already organized a Republic.

The state of Europe is now like that of an active volcano, and it is impossible to predict what the next three months may eject from the agitated mass of discordant elements in such violent commotion.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—Mr. W. Sisson, a native of Stonington, Ct., was drowned on the morning of the 9th inst. attempting to ride across the stream (Oheo) in Kipahulu, Maui. He had reached the middle of the stream, and on being spurred, his horse sprang and losing his foothold was carried down the rapids.

NEW GOLD COIN.—The Gold Dollar.—The Philadelphia Bulletin says that nearly one hundred thousand of the new one dollar pieces have been already coined at the mint.

CONTINUED DEFEAT OF THE IMPERIALISTS.—The Austrians have been again defeated in a great battle, and Welden, "the best general in the Austrian service," as he has been called, has not been more successful against the Magyars than was his predecessor.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY.—Yesterday was in commemoration, and troops commenced pouring in from all quarters toward the Place de la Concorde and Champs Elysees.

discharged at Prague. The Austrian Commander-in-chief's headquarters were at Raab, but beyond this nothing was known at Vienna of the respective positions of the contending armies.

ENTRANCE OF DEMBRINSKI INTO PESTH.—We have also a few additional particulars about the entrance of the Hungarians into Pesth. Dembrinski, at the head of 15,000 Magyars and Poles, marched into the city on the afternoon of the 24th, amid the most extravagant demonstrations of joy on the part of the inhabitants.

DEMANDS OF THE HUNGARIANS.—The following are the demands of the Hungarians, as agreed upon by Kossuth, Georgey, Bem and Dembrinski: 1. The recognition of the kingdom of Hungary in its ancient limits, including Croatia, Slavonia, and the military boundaries.

ARRIVAL OF THE RUSSIANS.—By accounts from Vienna to the 25th ult. it seems certain that in a day or two more there will be a Russian army of 60,000 men on the Wang. The line by which the Russian succors will be poured in is the railroad between Warsaw and Vienna.

VENICE UNOCCUPIED.—Letters from Venice of the 15th ult. state that the Sarlinian squadron had sailed off, notwithstanding the promise made by Albinetti to the Governor of Ancona.

Original Correspondence. For the Polynesian. MR. EDITOR:—I am glad for one, and doubtless sympathize with me, to see in you an editor of the Polynesian, so much of the genuine Yankee spirit in regard to the Hawaiian nation.

In this field of toil and self-denying effort in behalf of a small and wasting nation, we all need the sympathy and co-operation of our fellow citizens.

It is up hill work, Mr. editor, to elevate a state of christian civilization any degraded nation, especially a nation like the Hawaiian, segregated from the great world of commerce and civilization; scattered on several distinct islands; in a climate though salubrious, yet enervating; a nation long subject to the influence of a debasing superstition; the people from time immemorial oppressed by their chiefs, whom they worshipped as a sort of demi-gods, the slaves, all chiefs, and people, of their impious and base passions, and contaminated by their conduct with unprincipled men from foreign lands.
