Notice to Employers of Laborers.

All persons desiring to employ Japanese laborers, upon the conditions hereinafter named, are requested to immediately make application to the Board of Immigration, stating the number required.

It is understood that the applicant agrees to the terms of the contract hereunder stated, and will take the number of laborers applied for, upon their arrival in Honolulu.

Arrangements have been made which will probably enable the laborers to reach Honolulu within three months of the receipt of the applications.

The terms and conditions of the labor contracts will be as follows:

- 1. The term of the contract will be three years.
2. The wages will be $15 a month to a man, and $10 a month to his wife, if he has one and she desires to work, payable in U. S. gold coin.
3. The employer will furnish to the laborer and his wife and children if he has any, free of charge: (1) Proper lodgings; (2) Fuel for cooking purposes; (3) An allowance of $1 per month for each child of such laborer not exceeding two in number; (4) Medical attendance and medicines.
4. One month's service will consist of twenty-six days of ten hours each, actual work in the field, or twelve hours each in and about the sugar mill or sugar house.
5. Over time exceeding thirty minutes to be paid for at the rate of 12 1/2 cents per hour to the laborers and 8 cents per hour to his wife.
6. The Personal Taxes of the laborer will be paid by the employer without charge to the laborer.
7. Twenty-five per cent. of the laborer's wages will be paid to the Board of Immigration to be deposited in trust for the laborer in the same manner as heretofore.
8. The employer will pay all expenses connected with transshipping the laborer from the vessel bringing him from Japan to the place of employment, including cost of food and fuel. No charge will be made for use of lodgings at the Government Immigration Depot.
9. The employer will advance the sum of $35 upon the arrival of the laborer at Honolulu, towards paying expenses of bringing the laborer. This amount to be deducted from the laborer's wages at the rate of $3 a month until paid. The employer will also deduct the sum of $35 from the laborer's wages at the rate of $3 a month and remit the same to the Board of Immigration, monthly, to be applied to the payment of the laborer's passage.

NOT IN ACCORD.

Under the regime which has just terminated, and which existed for four or five years, it was believed to have been a fixed policy not to retain in office, in any department of the public service, any longer Ministers may seem fit and necessary to administer said oaths, which persons thus commissioned shall be known as the Inspectors of Election of the Districts or Polling Precincts for which they are respectively commissioned, and by Section 14 of said Rules and Regulations said Minister is further authorized to designate one Board of Inspectors of Election for each Election District to Register Voters for Nobles.

approve the same policy under another Administration. Neither can the gentlemen composing the new Administration consistently adopt a policy which they disapproved in their predecessors. Nor do we know that they have any intention of doing so, although they may be credited in some quarters with such intention. But we do know that it is the expressed belief and ardent wish of sundry place-hunters that the Ministers should dismiss old servants, no matter how faithfully they have served the country, ostensibly because they were identified with the old Administration, and therefore supposed most to be "in accord" with the new, but really to make room for the new aspirants, who consider themselves entitled to the places. Of course, these people are "in accord" with the present Government, and will not likely continue in that state as long as they have hope of preferment, but if they fail to get billets, their "accord" will probably cease, and they will pray most devoutly for a return of the past. Their principle, patriotism, and partiality for the Administration are mainly regulated by their prospects of patronage.

It is to be hoped that the Ministers will have the courage to ignore any such pressure that may be brought to influence them, and stand or fall by the determination to establish the public service on the bases of efficiency and honesty, with no politics in the matter. To be sure, if they find a man in a position for which he is unfit, it is their duty to remove him, but not simply because of his political views; and in filling the vacancy, the candidate's politics, should be about the last consideration.

It will be seen that we are not "in accord" with those who believe in the "party in power" turning out old and faithful public servants, to give their places as a reward to the friends of the party. Neither are we "in accord" with those who think that a subordinate should shoot off his mouth in opposition to the Ministry under whom he serves, because he does not like the Ministers or approve the Ministerial policy. The man who is guilty of such proceedings does not know his place, and is sadly in need of being taught. In a country where all official positions are filled by appointment and not election, there are special reasons for the employees of the Government keeping out of politics.

POEPOE CAPSIZING THE MOON.

Native Hawaiians are making vigorous preparations for the election of Representatives and Nobles under the New Constitution. Several meetings have been held, more or less largely attended, and the situation discussed. To say that the general feeling among Hawaiians is one of satisfaction with the improved order of things would be a perversion of the truth. Considerable numbers of them seem unwilling to admit that the new Constitution, defective as it may be, is decidedly better than the old one. A few persons are laboring strenuously to disaffect their countrymen towards the recent changes, and not without success. A young lawyer, Poepeo by name, who from his utterances appears to believe that it is right and desirable that the King should possess and exercise despotic powers, is the reputed instigator of the movement and oracle of the party. We know nothing personally of the gentleman, but are of opinion that if his reasoning is such as represented, he is no more competent to give instruction in state polity than a lame duck. Probably Mr. Poepeo thinks differently, and vainly imagines that he can capsize the moon and convert the fixed stars into gas. He may discover his mistake, however, before the operation is completed. Free discussion of the Constitution and all matters affecting the State is in order, but any proposition to return to the thralldom from which we have but recently been emancipated cannot be entertained for one moment. An advantage of late merit has been gained by the late agitation, and it will not be relinquished at any hazard. The wealth, the intelligence, and the patriotism of the country are all interested in maintaining the advance made, and behind these is the moral support of the outside world. It is not pretended that the new Constitution is a cure for all our evils; but it is a big help, and we cannot be induced by any means to abandon it for the one which existed before.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH PRESIDENT.

The close attention which Dr. Trousseau gives to the duties of the presidency of the Board of Health evinces the wisdom of having appointed that gentleman to the position. The office is no sinecure. Its duties are among the most important and responsible in the Government. Their proper fulfillment requires energy, wisdom, experience, and tact. Dr. Trousseau brings all these qualifications to the office. And notwithstanding his having a large private practice, he devotes several hours of each day strictly and solely to Board of Health matters. This is particularly noteworthy, because the position is a purely honorary one, to which neither pay nor perquisites are attached. It is pleasing to see a gentleman sufficiently interested in his adopted country, to be willing to give the benefit of his experience and a portion of his time to its service, without pecuniary emolument.

TURNING CORNERS.

Last evening, at Lele, a public hack, containing two passengers, was driven rapidly through a narrow lane into King street, turning the corner on entering the street at the same rate of speed. On turning, one of the wheels struck a small fixed stone and "dished." One of the passengers was precipitated, and did a meritorious public act by mopping the dust from the street. The horse was immediately stopped, and no damage was done beyond what happened to the wheel. This little incident is referred to here to emphasize a point which has frequently been advocated in these columns, viz., that a law should be enacted or a regulation adopted to prohibit driving around corners faster than a walk. The practice is extremely common, and very dangerous. The danger is double—of upsetting the vehicle or dishing a wheel, with consequent injury to occupants, and of colliding with vehicles or persons not seen before turning the corner. Drivers should be sufficiently careful, of their own accord, not to imperil life and property by dashing around corners; but as they are not, authority should compel them to be. Has not the Minister of Interior the power, in law, to establish and enforce a regulation of the nature indicated?

Firemen of Honolulu.

I once again appear before you as candidate for the position of Chief Engineer, in conjunction with my former associates on the ticket, Messrs. Asche and Souza. Although elected by a majority of votes and according to the usages in force for over 30 years, yet having legal advice on the subject, I have accepted the situation and therefore present myself for the coming election. Two assistant engineers duly elected declined to serve with me. A great amount of venom has been wasted on Pacific Hose Co. No. 1, as to how members had been picked up on the streets etc. Since I have had the honor of being Foreman of Pacific Hose Co. the Company has steadily increased and there has been good attendance at drills and fires. The Company consists of men of all occupations, and I fail to see any law by which the number of voting members of any Company for this election can be limited as it would be a manifest injustice debaring members who are now in good standing from voting. I will not follow the example of some and descend to personalities. My Motto is, "The good of the Department and of the Public" and on that platform I will meet my opponents and trust to your good sense and honest feeling in the coming election. M. D. MONSARRAT, Foreman Pacific Hose Co. No. 1. 99

REV. DR. BECKWITH.

The Fort Street Church and the Bethel, acting separately and also unitedly, have taken a vote in favor of calling Rev. E. G. Beckwith to be the pastor of the united organization soon to be formed. It is earnestly to be hoped that a man of such pulpit talent, executive ability, kindly spirit, and devoted piety, will see the way clear to accept the position offered to him with such unanimity. The whole community will be the better for the presence and labors of such a Christian gentleman.

There was considerable smoke but no blaze. The damage was inconsiderable. The engines were already for action.

DEATH OF PAUL PETROVITZ.

Information was received by last mail from His Majesty's Consul General at Rome, James Clinton Hooker Esquire, of the death of Paul Petrovitz on the 14th June last. Mr. Hooker states that Mr. Petrovitz arrived in Rome last autumn with credentials authorizing him to paint portraits of the King and Queen of Italy for His Majesty King Kalakana. His credentials having been presented, Their Majesties sent their photographs to Mr. Petrovitz and arranged for a sitting. His health was failing, rheumatism being the cause. On June 13th, Mr. Hooker called upon him and found him in a very low condition. He advised medical aid which Mr. Petrovitz declined. Mr. Hooker, however, took with him Dr. Tidell a leading physician, who pronounced that Mr. Petrovitz had trouble with his heart and his blood was very weak, in fact he was reduced to a state of anemia, and that he might die at any moment. Mr. Hooker remained in attendance with a nurse, but on the following morning Mr. Petrovitz died. His remains were placed by the Consul in a zinc coffin and deposited in a temporary vault in the Roman Catholic cemetery. Mr. Petrovitz, in many conversations with Mr. Hooker, regarded Honolulu as his home and spoke of the King of Hawaii with deep affection. So far as his papers were concerned he appeared to be an American citizen. When Mr. Petrovitz left these islands he had extensive commissions from His Majesty, but his untimely death will leave them unfilled. At the time of his death Mr. Petrovitz was about 80 years of age.

GIN AND ITS USES.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—Looking into the Custom House storehouse the other day, I observed an immense pile of green cases. Feeling curious I inquired what they contained, and was politely informed—Gin. Reflecting for a moment, I considered what gin did for the country, and came to the conclusion that it was a mighty motor in the affairs of Hawaii. It swells the revenues very considerably. It pays a heavy license. It lubricates the parched throat of a kanaka at a luau, and is an important ingredient in the seductive cocktail so much called for by the haole. The fines at the Police Court would be nil without gin. It fills the gaols, carries the elections and puts a gruff policeman in a good humor. It helps to arouse a drowsy sentinel. In fact, without gin, Hawaii could scarcely be classed amongst the comity of nations. NED.

President Grevy has been presented with a loaf of bread, made of this season's flour; the wheat was grown in Algeria. This ought to console him for all the abuse he is receiving.

Paris, June 22, 1887.

Alsace not having voted solid in February last at the general elections, for Bismarck's true-blue candidates for the Reichstag, the chancellor has taken it out of a few of her French lovers, by accusing them of dabbling with high treason. That is the moral of the Leipzig political trials. The gravamen of the indictment is, that the accused were more or less affiliated to the Patriotic League, founded by Paul Deleroude; a gentleman who entertains strong ideas on the subject of Germany wrenching off one million and a half of his co-Alsatians from France, to which they are so affectionately attached since two centuries. It is well-known, that Prince Bismarck hates Deleroude as heartily as he does Boulanger. But France has never accepted Deleroude as her representative of patriotism, no more than a score of the other manly-sport Societies, whose members are not content with their country having been vanquished. If they keep alive the sacred fire, so does Germany her own Kriegerverein, for a similar end. Since 1871, France has her young men's—not Christian, but patriotic societies, and their ramifications in Alsace cannot have been very threatening for the unity of Germany, as even with the aid of detectives and their satellites, the informers, not more than half a dozen persons have been formally accused, after sixteen years, of suspected conspiracy!

Of the four condemned, M. Koehlin is the most conspicuous sent to reside in the casemates. He is a cousin of Jules Ferry and M. Floquet, on the side of their wives. He is a French subject, authorized to reside in Alsace, where he owns important spinning mills. He is also a French militia officer. Independent of being connected in a general way with the French Kriegerverein, he was charged with the heretical doctrine, of refusing the hand of his daughter to a German—the Jew's tomb, but like to have dealings with the Samaritans. However, England was on the point of going to war with France, because the Duc de Montpensier made a Greta marriage, etc., with the queen of Spain's sister forty years ago. M. Koehlin was also culpable of the capital sin, of admiring Gambetta, and of writing an "impromptu" address, intended to be delivered over that statesman's tomb, but, which never was.

For Alsations being still on with the old love, and not preferring the new, Germany makes a Star-chamber matter of their affection. And to think there are one and a half million of individuals—not counting the four condemned, guilty of the same impalpable crime. The Chancellor ought to present a decree of clemency, the first time the Kaiser is able to appear in the hook of his favorite window of the palace, for his signature. That would be the way to heap coals of fire on the head of the Gauls, and perhaps win a few sheep's eyes from the Alsations themselves, as honey ever catches more flies than vinegar. If not, Boulanger, poetry, and imagery will go up still higher in the market. In any case, the course of true love never did run smoothly.

Here is another example of it. A joint stock company for abducting, is the latest novelty. First spot your, not prince, but heiress; next, enroll pals, giving them a written promise to pay so much out of the captured's fortune, in case the plot goes as merry as a marriage bell. According to Senhor Ruban, her notary and man of business, that's the way Mademoiselle de Campos—Madame de Santantonio—not Antonio, was whisked away from the side of her lady guardian, while driving down the Avenue in the Bois de Boulogne, in full Rotten Row hours. Mlle. de Campos had an immense fortune which yielded her the tempting revenue of two million francs yearly. Marshal de Serrano deemed her a good catch for his—well, say, son—Comte de San Antonio, to marry. The wedding came off in Paris, as the cunning old soldier knew, you might as well try to govern France with the dual control of the Comte de Paris, and the Prince Napoleon, as to obtain the annulment of a civil marriage once duly contracted. One fine morning Paris was astonished on learning that the Countesse declined to live any longer with her—husband; after three months of wedlock she demanded a divorce, alleging hers was a Sapphian, rather than a Jupiter, marriage. She was ready to swear by two-headed Janus, the Counte was one of those strange fellows that nature had framed in her time, as Shakespeare has it.

As the Counte declined to appear before an army medical board, like conscripts, "in puris naturalibus," the French judges could do nothing more than to impound the fortune. The Countesse appealed then to the Pope who decided the marriage could not be maintained. Become Mademoiselle again, she lived retiredly. M. Rubaud compelled the de Serrano family to surrender the lady's fortune. She is now of legal age. M. Mielrague is a young man, edging up to thirty; he was secretary to Duc Pasquier, and later, held a humble clerkship in the Chamber of Deputies, which he resigned three months ago. His chief trail is to cultivate a marble skin by never appearing in sunlight, and to care for his Apoll locks. He passed for a Viscount Lacour; he lives in a garret, and is penniless. That's the Lothario, who is now accused of starting a company to kidnap and sequester the Virgin-divorcee, to secure her wealth, by forcing a marriage as the price of silencing scandal—an old trick in France.

M. Rubaud is a very determined Spaniard; as notary and trustee of the lady, he offers a reward of ten thousand francs to discover her prison. He holds warrants for the arrest of all the promoters—where ladies figure of the conspiracy company. Further, in accordance with his legal powers, he now divides the abducted fair one's wealth: one-third to her brother, one-third to her sister and the remainder only to herself, if—free as she is to marry—three months after that event, she avows to be happy, and her husband has the means of supporting himself. If not he will deposit his trust fund in court for the judges to decide. The company does not appear to have struck oil, and the directors run the inevitable risk of being transported for burking millionaires. The reputation of Paris is bad enough for murders, but if kidnapping be added on, why life would not be worth living—in the capital.

France has muddled all through the Egyptian question, since she voluntarily backed out of the dual control some five years ago, she has been fretting, fuming and angry. The Jewish bond-holders organized the cry, for England to fix a date to quit Egypt; and when that is taken in hand by the Anglo-Turkish convention, she with the aid of Russia, works on the Sultan, not to sign, seal, and deliver the treaty, over-looking the fact, that the non-execution of the treaty, would be a trump card for England. France has shut her eyes to the A B C of the whole question, viz., that John would never quit the Nile, till having taken all his measures, to bar out any, and every foreigner, from dropping down on the country.

The Czars recent ukase, prohibiting foreigners to own real property in his empire, and to sell within three months all the land they may possess or the government will do so, does not find sympathisers here, much as the mirage of a muscovite alliance dazzles not a few. Several Austrian Poles, who reside next to permanently in Paris—the Comte de Potocki for example, find themselves reduced to beggary. The Comte possesses the most magnificent private mansion in Paris. The Duc de Nemour's son-in-law, and standing pretender for the crown of Poland—the Prince Czartaryski, is also hit. The sufferers, by the treaty of Vienna, have the right "to have and to hold," their landed estates, inherited or purchased, though their country has been partitioned between the eagles—single or double necked.

Paris still labors under the scare of the burning of the Opera Comique, as the theatres continue to be deserted. It is not the hot weather empties the houses, but positive timidity of the public to be calmed. Leading theatres which took money nightly at this season for 2,000fr. do not receive the one fourth of that sum. This tells with special hardship on the artists, just when their long vacation of two months, is at hand. It re-acts also by holding out no hope, that if they co-operated, and worked themselves the theatres—as some troupes do, during the vacation to earn a crust, they would succeed. It is not a little singular, that even the circuses and the al perco places of amusements, feel the effects of the panic. There is apprehension, that the chamber will not vote the millions for the erection of the new Opera Comique, as the country has a mercenary fit of economy on. Indeed the feeling is very general, that the waste in the finances has been unparadonable.

OUR PARIS LETTER.

The "Quotidienne Theirs" paper hoped for great things from the Duchess of Sutherland's appointment as Mistress of the Robes; she was so rich that she never carried a pocket handkerchief which cost less than 375fr.; but if her majesty indulged in innovations, the sacred name of Old England would be replaced for ever by the populace language of Young Albion. The "Debats" was measured and grave; drew attention to the trying position of the young queen, who enters on her rule, without guardian or regent. May her reign in these times so rude for sovereigns, recall to England the happiness and glory of the two last reigns of ladies who shed such honor and lustre on the British throne. Our alliance with England will suffer no change: the young queen and her mother love France, and the royal families of both nations will remain united and faithful.

The "Temps" argued all that was hopeful, because the Duchess of Kent shared the constitutional ideas of her brother the King of the Belgians, and which she has inculcated in her august daughter; hence, England can presage progress towards sagacious liberty, and France find in the new royalty a sympathetic and faithful ally.

The "Constitutionnel" felt sure, the Queen would follow the wishes of the nation and not the advice of parties; that she would fructify the reforms of her predecessor and remember that a nation cannot live always with the statues of Edward and the Conquest, but must march towards liberty and political equality. The following from the same paper though written half a century ago, reads like an actuality:
"England is pre-occupied with the progress of Russia, of that Power's unmatured ambition which is concealed under the exterior of morality and religious moderation. Her army is always magnificent on paper, but when wanted, not the moiety is forthcoming. It is by exaggerated figures of strength that Russia wishes to impose on distant cabinets. But that phantasmagoria is as well known at Paris as at London. Russia with all her alleged might, was not able to crush immortal Poland, without the aid of Prussia and Austria. The advent of Queen Victoria will be favorable to the Anti-Russian movement, for every Englishman is the enemy, not of the Russian people but of the Russian Government. No treaty alliances is required between England and France, that will be secured by sympathy in institutions and simultaneousness in mutual progress."

The Chamber of Deputies consists of 584 members; of this total, 180 are advanced republicans, it is this minority that now is resolved to fight without truce or quarter, the alliance of the moderate republicans, with the monarchists, for it appears it is only by this union the Rouvier cabinet can live. As every party, like every man, has his price, the monarchists claim for their support the postponement of the army organization bill, which intends to make all theological students, serve their three years under the staff, and then prepare for holy orders. The clergy number 36,000 in France, and the republicans who demanded equality, assert, the church is only a refuge for the timid who dislike the smell of gunpowder. This changes the axe of home politics.
The radical press is at white heat, and M. Grevy knows the severity of its lashes. How it will all end, no one knows when republicans cannot continue friends, it is difficult to see how a section of them united to royalists, can remain long in happy family relations. It is droll all the same to see the republic having to call on monarchists for assistance.
The shops and streets swarm with songs, ballads, and brochures, working up Boulanger, and political fever is so high, that the only cooling treatment appears to be, duelling.
In the mean time the Leipzig assizes, is trying a batch of accused Frenchmen, as Alsatian spies—it is hard to suffer for loving too well.

A speculator named Gabriel Levy, promoted the formation of a railway jubilee, and obtained the concession of land from the Municipal Council, at Vincennes, to carry out his rejoicing scheme. He gave the Council as security, a cheque for one million francs in a leading Paris Bank, and in the mean time, fished up gogos, to take guarantee shares in his concession. That was the trick. When the council inquired at the Bank, they learned, Levy had nothing there. He must be a clever fellow to so hoodwink 80 clever town councillors. Levy, his son, and secretary, have been locked up.
Here is a model society in its way.
An immense trade is done in Paris by old persons of both sexes, unfitted, by age and qualifications, from being chiffonniers, in gathering groundsel in the suburbs, and selling it at one sous per bundle, for cagebirds. The guild contributed bundles of the canary weed, to committee elected by themselves, who advanced cash thereon, and it is thus the members are sure of finding capital, a market, and making two francs a day. It is to be hoped they will keep clear of heavy speculations.

DRAMATIC MODE OF EXECUTION.

A Leipzig inventor has devised an extremely dramatic mode of execution for criminals, which possesses the additional advantage of being painless. The machinery consists of a platform nine meters square, approached by five steps. In the centre of the platform is a chair for the condemned man. Behind it stands a figure of Justice, holding a pair of scales in her left hand, the scales being movable. Under the platform is placed an electric battery, from which wires pass through the legs of the chair into the seat and back, terminating in platinum plates. If the patient objects to seating himself in the chair, he is simply tied in. Then, after the sentence has been read, the executioner takes a stick, breaks it, and places the pieces in one of Justice's scales. This descends, puts the battery in motion, and ends the matter. Death is instantaneous and painless. The machine has been tried on animals in the presence of a large company of invited guests, and is pronounced a success.

THE EFFECT WAS MARVELLOUS.

"Medical Hall, Bangor, Jan. 5, 1885.
"I have been constantly speaking very highly of Seigel's Syrup. There is a case of a young married lady in An-glesea who had been suffering from stomach asthma for a long period, who had consulted some of the best physicians of the day, but without deriving any benefit. She was daily getting worse, but at last a friend persuaded her to try Seigel's Syrup. She procured a bottle, and the effect was marvellous; she rapidly improved, and now she is as strong and healthy as ever she has been."
(Signed) "H. LLOYD-JONES."

WHAT IS MOTHER SEIGEL GOOD FOR?

DOES NOT RESTORE THE HEAD, BUT SAVES
THE LIVING.
Mr. J. W. SAVILL, of Dunmow, Essex, writes—September 1884:—"I introduced your medicines into Dunmow almost as soon as they were brought out in London. I sold in a short time eighteen pounds' worth. I have known many grand cases of permanent cures; and, as yet, no case of failure. Notwithstanding many competitors, Mother Seigel's Syrup holds its own ground. I believe it a good medicine—it will not restore the dead to life, but appears to save the living from dying."

"Fetham, Jan. 6, 1885.
"It has always given me pleasure to recommend your medicines to my customers, and the results of their use have invariably been most satisfactory. I could furnish you many testimonials.
One case just now occurs to my mind.
A constable of the police force of Totting, S. W., where I for many years had a shop, was a patient of mine suffering from a bad attack of gravel. He was persuaded to try Mother Seigel's Syrup.
He purchased a bottle at my shop, and by the time he had taken half of it he reported himself to me as quite cured.
The effect was simply marvellous."

IS MOTHER SEIGEL RELIABLE?

Would respectable chemists write like
the following if not?
A SURGICAL OPERATION AVOIDED.
"Titchhurst, Dec. 1884.
Mr. EDWARD COCKE, Chemist, writes:
"Your medicine maintains a steady sale in this district, and is well established in general favor. I know an old man, over seventy, who some three or four years ago was advised to submit to the operation for stone. He certainly was suffering from one distressing symptom, and could scarcely walk. Instead of taking that advice he tried Siegel's Syrup, with the result that after one bottle, he could walk about fairly well, and, having taken three or four 2s. 6d. bottles, he was completely cured. He is still about, hale and hearty for his years. If any of the symptoms of the old trouble come on, he takes a few doses of the Syrup, and all is well again."

"Medical Hall, Bangor, Jan. 5, 1885.
"I have been constantly speaking
a case of a young married lady in An-
had consulted some of the best physicians of the day, but without deriving
any benefit. She was daily getting
worse, but at last a friend persuaded
her to try Seigel's Syrup. She procured
a bottle, and the effect was marvellous;
she rapidly improved, and now she is

FOR?

THE LIVING.
Mr. J. W. SAVILL, of Dunmow, Essex,
writes—September 1884:—"I introduced
your medicines into Dunmow almost
as soon as they were brought out in London. I sold in a short time eighteen
grand cases of permanent cures; and, as yet, no case of failure. Notwithstanding
many competitors, Mother Seigel's Syrup holds its own ground. I believe
it a good medicine—it will not restore
the dead to life, but appears to save
the living from dying."

"Fetham, Jan. 6, 1885.
"It has always given me pleasure to
recommend your medicines to my customers, and the results of their use have
could furnish you many testimonials.
One case just now occurs to my mind.
A constable of the police force of Totting, S. W., where I for many years had
from a bad attack of gravel. He was persuaded to try Mother Seigel's Syrup.
He purchased a bottle at my shop, and
reported himself to me as quite cured.
The effect was simply marvellous."

Would respectable chemists write like
the following if not?
A SURGICAL OPERATION AVOIDED.
"Titchhurst, Dec. 1884.
Mr. EDWARD COCKE, Chemist, writes:
"Your medicine maintains a steady sale
in this district, and is well established
in general favor. I know an old man,

WHO IS MOTHER SEIGEL?

She is a lady who, by the merest accident, has made a most valuable discovery and she is creating the wildest enthusiasm all over the country, and everybody is talking about her and asking and she tells them to read the thousands of letters, something like the following from Mr. Perkins:—

A WONDERFUL TESTIMONIAL.
"Grove Pharmacy, Ealing, W., Jan. 2, 1885.

"Your medicine must be the most wonderful for during my experience of more than twenty years I never knew any proprietary or patent medicine in such universal favor and demand. It is simply extraordinary, and if I were to send you an account of every statement made to me in its favor, you would have to publish a separate book to contain my testimonials alone.
(Signed) "THOMAS J. PERKINS"
And then people ask—

WHAT DOES MOTHER SEIGEL DO?
GIVES RELIEF A ONCE.

"59, Bloomfield road, Plumstead,
Jan. 7, 1885.

"I find the sale of your medicine increases every year, and everyone speaks well of them that let's them. I know a lady that attended the Female Hospital in Soho-square for some months, with pains in back and side and bilious, and could take no food, but got no benefit from any of the medicines they gave her. Before she had taken all the contents of one bottle of your Syrup she felt relief and is now quite well."
