THE MOST FAVORED NATION.

The great nations of the civilized world are the British, the French, the German, the Italian, the Austrian, the Russian, the Dutch; the Japanese are still on their promotion, and the Spaniards, Turks, and Chinese may for the moment be left out of the category. There is only one great nation to add to these, the American; and we have only to consider for a little to see in what a peculiar relation the American people stands towards all the others. Americans as individuals, and the United States as a Government, are the spoilt children of civilization. The expression is not used in any hostile sense. "Spoiling" is often very good for children; it brings them out and gives them an ease in society and a power of self-assertion which a naturally diffident girl or boy will never attain if treated on more Spartan principles. But is not the fact itself certain enough? There is no diffidence in the American, certainly. But there is a tacit sort of conspiracy among other nations to give him a licence which none of them would allow to any of the other nationalities. In conversation, in society, the American man and woman may question even our dearest beliefs, overlook our most rooted prejudices, outrage our most sacred conventions, set at naught our etiquette. Nobody is angry—when Americans do this. The grumblers in France and Germany who abuse John Bull for his bad taste and his ill-bred behavior when traveling are silent when Uncle Sam does much worse. It is not merely that they think he knows no better; they begin to doubt if he may not be in the right. At any rate it doesn't matter. The Americans are privileged.

The American Government has a similar licence. We have only to remember the way our own Government treats the United States to realize this; but if Great Britain is supposed to have a motherly regard, and therefore a specially friendly feeling towards our so-called Anglo-Saxon kinsfolk—most of whom are not Anglo-Saxons—the tendency to give the United States a position apart is to be seen just as much in its relations with other governments. The obvious reason is that America has proclaimed her abstinence from a "foreign policy," and that foreign countries do not come into collision with her in their own foreign affairs. But the fact remains that both Great Britain and Europe generally "stand" things from the United States Government which would provoke a serious rupture as between any of the European nations themselves. Take the Keiley dispute with Austria, for instance. In 1885 President Cleveland nominated to the Embassy at Rome a Mr. Keiley, whom King Humbert declined to receive, because he had been notorious for an attack upon Victor Emmanuel. Mr. Bayard, then Secretary of State, transferred Mr. Keiley to Vienna. But Count Kalnoky also had objections. Mr. Keiley's wife was a Jewess, and Jews are not appreciated in Austria. Count Kalnoky accordingly asked that Mr. Keiley might be sent somewhere else. What happened? Mr. Bayard lectured the Austrian Government as if it were a fourth-form school-boy. Mr. Keiley was an American citizen, and as such, good enough for anybody; and the United States believed in religious liberty, and if Jews were good enough for President Cleveland, they were fifty times too good for an Emperor. If Lord Salisbury had said these things, it is difficult to imagine the results. But Austria took it quite calmly from America. It only meant that for some time there was no American Minister in Vienna.

"Take another instance, which shows the United States Government doing a thing which has only just called down on ourselves the censure of the whole Continent. We have had our Jameson raid. But the United States has had its Jameson raid, and nobody has said a word about it. In what respect, except the absence of any public outcry, does the action of Mr. Stevens in Hawaii in 1893 differ from Dr. Jameson's in the Transvaal in 1895? Mr. Stevens, the American Minister at Honolulu, organized a revolution against Queen Liliuokalani, obtained marines and sailors from the American warship in harbor, occupied the town, deposed the Queen, and proclaimed a republic. It is just as if Dr. Jameson had not been stopped at Krugersdorp, but had marched into Johannesburg safely, and made a successful revolution. What has happened. Did the United States repudiate Mr. Stevens? Not at all. President Cleveland did his best to restore the Queen, but Congress defeated him; and President Dole and his friends still rule a republic in Hawaii, and by the latest accounts a pretty mess they are making of it. But the point is that this upset of a friendly Sovereign was effected by a responsible American Minister, and without a word of protest, or reproach, or hindrance from the other nations concerned in the prosperity or the status quo of Hawaii. Let us imagine, if we can, what the civilized world would have said if the English Consul at Honolulu had acted like Mr. Stevens, and his coup d'etat had been winked at by the British Cabinet and Parliament."—British Review.

COLD COMFORT.

Our loud-mouthed annexationists are suffering from that "tired" feeling. The fiasco of W. O. Smith, Thurston and their crew in the United States is highly depressing. The courtesy shown to the Queen by Democratic and Republican statesmen is very offensive to our dear missionaries, but it is gall and wormwood to them to know that McKinley cannot help them even if he wanted to, and that his Secretary of State, Sherman, when interviewed simply refers to the following words, which appeared in his published memoirs:

"The events of the future are beyond the vision of mankind, but I hope that our people will be content with internal growth, and avoid the complications of foreign acquisitions. Our family of States is already large enough to create embarrassment in the Senate, and a republic should not hold dependent provinces or possessions. Every new acquisition will create embarrassments. Canada and Mexico as independent republics will be more valuable to the United States than if carved into additional States. The Union already embraces discordant elements enough without adding others. If my life is prolonged I will do all I can to add to the strength and prosperity of the United States, but nothing to extend its limits or to add new dangers by acquisition of foreign territory."

Would it not be wise to order Smith and Hatch and Thurston to the land of poi and missionaries before they succeed in covering McKinley and his crew with ridicule and contempt. Hatch, Smith & Co. cannot solve the intricate Hawaiian question, and their moral verbiage does not contain the words "cold comfort" as long as there is something in it for schemers and plotters who desire to run these islands and eventually to own all that there is to be made here.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Is Restoration at Hand?

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

In the inaugural address of President McKinley he utters the following cold storage for this Government to ponder over: "We want no wars of conquest; we must avoid the temptations of territorial aggression." This gives this very much un-American oligarchy, mis-called a Republic, to understand, that the Stevens conquest of these islands, will be annulled, and the legitimate government restored. ALBANY.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Alexander Gray Kills Himself In a Fit of Despondency.

Late last night, Alexander Gray, a young Hawaiian, aged 26 years, killed himself by the means of a pistol, at the residence of his uncle, William Auld, at Palama.

The deceased, who has been a sufferer from consumption during the past years was a clever mechanic and had worked at his trade as a machinist on several plantations.

While at Waianae a few years ago young Gray was laid up with an attack of pleurocy, which eventually developed into phthisis. He bravely battled against the dread disease but finally his sufferings got the best of him and last night he ended his misery by sending a bullet crashing through his brains.

His body was found by George Lucas in the carriage house in the rear of Mr. Auld's premises. Missing his nephew during the evening Mr. Auld telephoned to Mr. Lucas, who is a clerk in the Supreme Court, and a neighbor, and after a thorough search the remains of the unfortunate man were discovered.

The deceased leaves a father and two sisters to mourn the sad end of their relative.

A coroner's inquest was held this morning by coroner H. K. Hitchcock and a jury composed of the following gentlemen: A. H. Mossman, E. Norrie, H. S. Hagerup, J. O. Carter, Jr., F. M. McIntyre and R. W. Sharpe.

A verdict of death by suicide was rendered after the evidence in the case had been heard.

The funeral will take place this afternoon.

A VOICE FROM THE BLEACHERS. Local interest in the cricket games as reflected from the "bleachers" is increasing. During Saturday's games the "bleachers" were particularly vociferous and kept the players under a running fire of good natured banter. One small boy brought down the crowd by advising the batsman to "go buy a case of Rainier Beer and get some life in you." The crowd applauded the remark, knowing that Rainier Beer is celebrated for its invigorating and strength-giving propensities. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

As THE INDEPENDENT predicted the Kewalo track scheme, sired and damned by the hoodoo persona non grata Thurston, has fallen with a dull thud. The irrepressible Desky will now take it in hand.

The New York editor of the Advertiser is on the "anxious seat" about this "funny little republic." He has to confess that "the best government these islands ever had" has been "like wise and farseeing ostriches, we have buried our heads in the sand." Auwe!

A Japanese speaker said last evening that his friends were not at the meeting to "raise Cain" but reason. We thought it came they came to raise, but after all a letter or two make but little difference to a Cooper.

The Marshal bearing that a few Chinese were playing a game of dominoes, with a five-cent ante, sets the ponderous machinery of the police force to bag the players. He has heard that a person employed to lead young people in the straight but narrow way has been a corrupter of youth and has not taken the first step towards an investigation. "Fiat justitia ruat cælum."

We are sorry to see that Government officials are so "hard up" at the beginning of the month that one has to go to a Japanese to have his horses shod, another employs a Chinese street cobbler to repair his shoes, another frequents a Japanese bath house and several patronize Japanese barbers. There is nothing like making hay while the sun shines.

Any person desiring to know how "justice" is doing business in the very shade of the Police Station should watch the daily gathering on the Post Office verandah of Chinese gamblers and the "runners" for the police. There it is decided how many dollars each victim has to contribute to the common fund and who are to plead guilty and who to be helped out through a nolle prosequi. The members of the bar look on helplessly but the "system" works beautifully under our "best government."

THE INDEPENDENT favors cordially the idea of a hospital for consumptives. May it venture to suggest that, as in England, a shilling (25c.) subscription for that purpose be initiated by our British affiliates in memory of Queen Victoria's jubilee celebration. All nationalities here resident might be invited to participate. Nothing more appropriate could be devised which would afford greater satisfaction to Britain's Queen, than to follow the suggestion which is proving so successful in Great Britain and its dependencies. Testimonials and presents perish, but to aid the sick is a monument in itself.

A Surprised Mule.

The "educated" horses arrived this morning and Honolulu will have a chance to study the eloquence of Prof. Bristol's quadrupeds.

An "educated" mule also arrived and will draw a big audience owing to his whiskey drinking proclivities. The mule which is one of the trump cards of the show landed in a cool, calm and smiling manner. The intelligent animal had met W. O. S. in San Francisco and had been told that the favorite beverage of the two braying animals was plentiful in Honolulu. If you ever saw a disappointed mule it was the one which arrived this morning. Instead of being hailed by the expected "say, your muleship, take something," the yell went forth "take the Hagey Cure." Now, if that mule wasn't under contract to the Equestre curriculum to drink whiskey once a day he might be persuaded to fall in line with our numerous two-legged mules who have seen the folly of whiskey and the wisdom of Hagey.

Bristol's Animals Landed.

Prof. Bristol's trained horses and mules arrived this morning on the Alameda. The cunning creatures were landed at the Oceanic dock at an early hour attracting a great deal of attention and exciting considerable curiosity. Clown Denver had a good roll in the coal dust on the wharf with the balance of 18 animals pleasantly following suit. The outfit appears to be in splendid condition for their opening night on Monday next.

Remnants accumulate in every dry goods store and the larger the establishment the greater the number of remnants. Such parcels sell at half their value, and less. We begin stock taking on Monday and rather than include short lengths in our stock we have started a remnant counter.

Goods that have sold for 25 cents a yard go to you now at 10 cents, the pieces ranging from four to ten yards. The assortment is large and the quality of the goods varies with the price. Every remnant is a genuine bargain.

The Australia brought us an assortment of the prettiest shirt waists ever seen in Honolulu. The collars and cuffs, as well as the material from which they are made are the latest style. Shirt waists are the most becoming articles in a ladies costume and our prices for these goods is exceedingly low.

Lamp novelties are new to Honolulu—new to the United States until a smart Frenchman employed at the factory conceived the idea of building for oil what others had done for candles.

Look at the illustrations in the accounts of swell dinners and you will find beautifully designed candelabras—a year ago they were for candles—now for lamps. You will find the same thing in our Ewa window and no other shop has them—no other dealer handles them as we do, because our buying methods are modern. So're our selling methods. You can get a banquet candelabra lamp at our store for about what you pay for a single burner in some places. That's the difference in the methods.

You are interested in those lamps even if you burn electricity—the table can be decorated with flowers and lamps—dishes come under the head of "necessities."

Half the pleasure of night wheeling is in having a good lamp. Policemen are alert to find a man taking a dark ride—sometimes the light jolts out and the rider finds himself without a match. No such trouble with the Banner bicycle lamp—it is made to burn and stand hard knocks.

Lemarchand's boneless sardines go well at lunch—we've had such a continuous run on them that we have been forced to duplicate our last large order. Our present stock may not last until the next arrives. The whole world boasts of the jams, preserves and pickles put up by Crosse & Blackwell and J. T. Morton. Our stock contains everything put up by these well-known firms. The last lot arrived by the Routenbeck and are absolutely fresh. We have goods from the French factories that commend themselves. Lemarchand's high grade mackerel in oil is one of them. These are tinned in the same manner as his famous sardines and are a rare delicacy.

The Game of Bluff.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

Notwithstanding the fact that His Excellency Sanford B. Dole is President of the Republic of Hawaii and that His Excellency W. O. Smith is his factotum and general all round man yet it is strange that the two, both boss and man, have committed the same egregious blunders that is if they wished their side to stay winner. The one endorses a document on the 17th of January, 1893, and the other declined a document on the 29th of January, 1895.

There is no politics in this game, it began with a stupendous bluff and has ended—where—nowhere.

The last document is a rather curious affair. It is something like a child's "Yes, you did" "No, I didn't." I notice it is addressed to a Mrs. Liliuokalani Dominis and the question arises, did Mrs. Liliuokalani Dominis sign the so-called abdication? If so, Mr. Julius Palmer is correct in his assertion that the Queen did not abdicate, nor does Mr. Smith's letter of non-acceptance change the status of the position.

It has been a manly thing on your part, Mr. Editor, to reproduce this letter in your issue of to-day, because, now that acrimonious friction has been to some extent alloyed, the matter can be studied far more dispassionately than at the time it was written.

As a game of chance, grant that the tails have won the toss, but that does not prove that they have won the game, and four years of minority rule has most clearly demonstrated this fact. I have not the slightest hesitancy in saying that had some more moderate plan been adopted whereby the constitutional Alii should have remained in her place we would have less troubles on our hands than we have to-day. The bringing in of overwhelming numbers of aliens would have been held in check and this very Asiatic question is going to act like a boomerang one of these fine days—and while the mental calibre of the minority in power may be able to carry on a game of bluff for a while—bluff generally gets beat at its own game. It is also peculiar that Mr. Dole's friends always speak of themselves as the people, this always seems to savour of that slang expression "the people be damned." If they are the people there is no necessity for the expense of even an awkward squad, the Citizens' Guard are enough. If they are people ask all the people who have the right to vote who the people are. But this would not do because as I said at the beginning there is no politics in this game for the reason that it is only a stupendous bluff, and Hoyle on Poker does not advise bluffing as good in the end.

W. F. REYNOLDS.

A Remarkable Dream.

Of all the stories of strange dreams that have from time to time appeared in these columns the following is perhaps the most peculiar.

Mr. T. A. Kennedy, the well known manager of the successful organization known the world over as Prof. D. M. Bristol's equestrian curriculum, or troupe of wonderful performing horses, ponies and mules, was recently filling a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, New York City. One evening towards the close of the engagement, Mr. Kennedy not feeling well, left the theatre before the performance was over and returned to his hotel and retired soon after. He lay awake for some time unable to court slumber. By-and-by he fell into a deep sleep, during which he had the following remarkable vision: He dreamed that he had been tried and convicted of a great crime, and sentenced to be hanged, the hour of execution had arrived and he was marched from the dark stone prison to the scaffold, the black cap had been pulled over his head and the noose was ready to be slipped about his neck when suddenly in the distance a horseman was seen approaching, waving high above his head a paper. A reprieve! a reprieve! was shouted by the assembled people. Nearer and nearer came the horseman, when presently he dashed into the prison yard, his steed panting desperately, and covered with foam. The rider leaped from his saddle and rushed toward Mr. Kennedy, pencil and paper in hand, exclaiming: "Thank God, I am not too late." He wanted Mr. Kennedy to write him a pass for the opening exhibition of Prof. Bristol's marvelous horses.

This successful and highly entertaining exhibition of animal intelligence will give a series of performances in this city next week.

THE MOST FAVORED NATION.

The great nations of the civilized world are the British, the French, the German, the Italian, the Austrian, the Russian, the Dutch; the Japanese are still on their promotion, and the Spaniards, Turks, and Chinese may for the moment be left out of the category. There is only one great nation to add to these, the American; and we have only to consider for a little to see in what a peculiar relation the American people stands towards all the others. Americans as individuals, and the United States as a Government, are the spoilt children of civilization. The expression is not used in any hostile sense. "Spoiling" is often very good for children; it brings them out and gives them an ease in society and a power of self-assertion which a naturally diffident girl or boy will never attain if treated on more Spartan principles. But is not the fact itself certain enough? There is no diffidence in the American, certainly. But there is a tacit sort of conspiracy among other nations to give him a licence which none of them would allow to any of the other nationalities. In conversation, in society, the American man and woman may question even our dearest beliefs, overlook our most rooted prejudices, outrage our most sacred conventions, set at naught our etiquette. Nobody is angry—when Americans do this. The grumblers in France and Germany who abuse John Bull for his bad taste and his ill-bred behavior when traveling are silent when Uncle Sam does much worse. It is not merely that they think he knows no better; they begin to doubt if he may not be in the right. At any rate it doesn't matter. The Americans are privileged.

The American Government has a similar licence. We have only to remember the way our own Government treats the United States to realize this; but if Great Britain is supposed to have a motherly regard, and therefore a specially friendly feeling towards our so-called Anglo-Saxon kinsfolk—most of whom are not Anglo-Saxons—the tendency to give the United States a position apart is to be seen just as much in its relations with other governments. The obvious reason is that America has proclaimed her abstention from a "foreign policy," and that foreign countries do not come into collision with her in their own foreign affairs. But the fact remains that both Great Britain and Europe generally "stand" things from the United States Government which would provoke a serious rupture as between any of the European nations themselves. Take the Keiley dispute with Austria, for instance. In 1885 President Cleveland nominated to the Embassy at Rome a Mr. Keiley, whom King Humbert declined to receive, because he had been notorious for an attack upon Victor Emmanuel. Mr. Bayard, then Secretary of State, transferred Mr. Keiley to Vienna. But Count Kalnoky also had objections. Mr. Keiley's wife was a Jewess, and Jews are not appreciated in Austria. Count Kalnoky accordingly asked that Mr. Keiley might be sent somewhere else. What happened? Mr. Bayard lectured the Austrian Government as if it were a fourth-form school-boy. Mr. Keiley was an American citizen, and as such, good enough for anybody; and the United States believed in religious liberty, and if Jews were good enough for President Cleveland, they were fifty times too good for an Emperor. If Lord Salisbury had said these things, it is difficult to imagine the results. But Austria took it quite calmly from America. It only meant that for some time there was no American Minister in Vienna.

shows the United States Government doing a thing which has only just called down on ourselves the censure of the whole Continent. We have had our Jameson raid. But the United States has had its Jameson raid, and nobody has said a word about it. In what respect, except the absence of any public outcry, does the action of Mr. Stevens in Hawaii in 1893 differ from Dr. Jameson's in the Transvaal in 1895? Mr. Stevens, the American Minister at Honolulu, organized a revolution against Queen Liliuokalani, obtained marines and sailors from the American warship in harbor, occupied the town, deposed the Queen, and proclaimed a republic. It is just as if Dr. Jameson had not been stopped at Krugersdorp, but had marched into Johannesburg safely, and made a successful revolution. What has happened. Did the United States repudiate Mr. Stevens? Not at all. President Cleveland did his best to restore the Queen, but Congress defeated him; and President Dole and his friends still rule a republic in Hawaii, and by the latest accounts a pretty mess they are making of it. But the point is that this upset of a friendly Sovereign was effected by a responsible American Minister, and without a word of protest, or reproach, or hindrance from the other nations concerned in the prosperity or the status quo of Hawaii. Let us imagine, if we can, what the civilized world would have said if the English Consul at Honolulu had acted like Mr. Stevens, and his coup d'etat had been winked at by the British Cabinet and Parliament."—British Review.

COLD COMFORT.

Our loud-mouthed annexationists are suffering from that "tired" feeling. The fiasco of W. O. Smith, Thurston and their crew in the United States is highly depressing. The courtesy shown to the Queen by Democratic and Republican statesmen is very offensive to our dear missionaries, but it is gall and wormwood to them to know that McKinley cannot help them even if he wanted to, and that his Secretary of State, Sherman, when interviewed simply refers to the following words, which appeared in his published memoirs:

"The events of the future are beyond the vision of mankind, but I hope that our people will be content with internal growth, and avoid the complications of foreign acquisitions. Our family of States is already large enough to create embarrassment in the Senate, and a republic should not hold dependent provinces or possessions. Every new acquisition will create embarrassments. Canada and Mexico as independent republics will be more valuable to the United States than if carved into additional States. The Union already embraces discordant elements enough without adding others. If my life is prolonged I will do all I can to add to the strength and prosperity of the United States, but nothing to extend its limits or to add new dangers by acquisition of foreign territory."

Would it not be wise to order Smith and Hatch and Thurston to the land of poi and missionaries before they succeed in covering McKinley and his crew with ridicule and contempt. Hatch, Smith & Co. cannot solve the intricate Hawaiian question, and their moral verbiage does not contain the words "cold comfort" as long as there is something in it for schemers and plotters who desire to run these islands and eventually to own all that there is to be made here.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Is Restoration at Hand?

ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—

In the inaugural address of President McKinley he utters the following cold storage for this Government to ponder over: "We want no wars of conquest; we must avoid the temptations of territorial aggression." This gives this very much un-American oligarchy, mis-called a Republic, to understand, that the Stevens conquest of these islands, will be annulled, and the legitimate government restored. ALBANY.

TOOK HIS OWN LIFE.

Alexander Gray Kills Himself in a Fit of Despondency.

Late last night, Alexander Gray, a young Hawaiian, aged 26 years, killed himself by the means of a parlor rifle, at the residence of his uncle, William Auld, at Palama.

The deceased, who has been a sufferer from consumption during the past years was a clever mechanic and had worked at his trade as a machinist on several plantations.

While at Waianae a few years ago young Gray was laid up with an attack of pleurosy, which eventually developed into phtisis. He bravely battled against the dread disease but finally his sufferings got the best of him and last night he ended his misery by sending a bullet crashing through his brains.

His body was found by George Lucas in the carriage house in the rear of Mr. Auld's premises. Missing his nephew during the evening Mr. Auld telephoned to Mr. Lucas, who is a clerk in the Supreme Court, and a neighbor, and after a thorough search the remains of the unfortunate man were discovered.

The deceased leaves a father and two sisters to mourn the sad end of their relative.

A coroner's inquest was held this morning by coroner H. R. Hitchcock and a jury composed of the following gentlemen: A. H. Mossman, E. Norrie, H. S. Hagerup, J. O. Carter, Jr., F. M. McIntyre and R. W. Sharpe.

A verdict of death by suicide was rendered after the evidence in the case had been heard.

The funeral will take place this afternoon.

The great International Football match, England versus Ireland, under Rugby Union rules, was played at Dublin on February 6th. The Irishmen battered the stuffing out of Johnny Bull's representatives, scoring 15 points to the Englishmen's 10. Ireland suffered defeat at the hands of England in '95; but in the years '94, '96 and '97 they have carried the game. Hurrah! for the sons of Saint Patrick.

A member of the Vancouver, B. C. World staff has received a letter from M. R. Counter, now of Honolulu, but formerly of Nausaimo. He expresses himself as very much pleased with his new home, where he finds the climate delightful. He is also getting along very well. He says that they have band concerts every Sunday and five nights a week by a band that he thinks has no equal in Canada, unless it be the famous 13th, of Hamilton, Ont.

A good one for Berger and our boys.

WATERFRONT WHISPERINGS.

The R. M. S. Alameda, Captain Van Oterendorp, arrived early this morning, 6 days 13 hours from San Francisco. She brought 29 cabin passengers for Honolulu, with 17 in the steerage. This whisky will be served exclusively at the Royal Annex and connoisseurs will do well to step in and taste the T. V. F.

A VOICE FROM THE BLEACHERS.

Local interest in the cricket games as reflected from the "bleachers" is increasing. During Saturday's games the "bleachers" were particularly vociferous and kept the players under a running fire of good natured banter. One small boy brought down the crowd by advising the batsman to "go buy a case of Rainier Beer and get some life in you." The crowd applauded the remark, knowing that Rainier Beer is celebrated for its invigorating and strength-giving propensities. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

The steamer Alameda will be delayed two hours beyond the advertised sailing of time. She leaves at 5 p. m.

Our sympathies are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Place on the loss of their infant daughter who was laid at rest this morning.

At yesterday's meeting of the Hawaiian Tennis Association, the Valley and Kamehameha Tennis Clubs were admitted to membership.

Thomas Mackenna, steerage passenger on the Alameda, died at sea on March 9th, and was buried same day. The deceased was 72 years of age.

Among the Alameda passengers arriving from the Coast to-day are Professor D. M. Bristol, Dr. T. T. French and Mrs. French, and C. M. White.

J. Batchelor, sealer of weights and measures, has gone to Hawaii to-day on official business. He will also look after the interests of the Citizens' Guard.

It is whispered that an unpleasant scandal will be ended to-day by the departure of one of the parties alleged to be implicated therein. So mote it be.

All interested in the inaugural ceremonies and President McKinley's speech may read all about them in the Frisco journals, but not in THE INDEPENDENT.

The band concert at Thomas Square last night was well attended, and the moonlight and breeze were delicious. Kreuter's solo was excellent but that is all.

Mrs. E. G. Hitchcock, wife of the Circuit Judge of Hawaii returned this morning much improved in health. Mrs. Hitchcock will leave for her home in Hilo by the Kinau next Tuesday.

All should be present at the Japanese Bazaar and fancy fair at Queen Emma Hall to-morrow. Minister Cooper has kindly loaned the band from 3 to 5:30. There will be no concert at Emma Square.

We are informed that Bluxome of the Sailors' Home had a lively time with a Chinaman at that place, in which a carving knife and a broomstick played important and interesting parts in the bloodless drama.

Where's invincible Capt. Bowers? The early morning raiders are regularly gobbling up the 'Tisers. Having lost our copies three mornings in succession we have rigged up a man trap with a spring gun attached. No inquest.

Frederick C. Rooke is a through passenger by the steamer Alameda to-day, on his way to Australia. Mr. Rooke who is Chief Clerk of the Supreme Court of Australia was not to be April-fooled out of not getting to Melbourne "on time."

Mr. C. M. White of Macfarlane & Co. returned to Hawaii by the Alameda this morning. Mr. White has recovered his health in a miraculous manner, and he entertains no doubt now that the prospects of annexation are assured to be "nit."

The Hagey Social Club entertainment at the Club rooms to-morrow evening promises to be a most enjoyable one full of music and surprises. Several distinguished amateurs will be on hand to entertain. The new piano will be tested and the amusement committee, of Kirkpatrick, Mehrtens and Yardley invite all friends to participate. W(h)ining experiences must be bottled up in bond and not retailed. Wit alone will be free on draught, and pleasure will bubble over Sham pain.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

As THE INDEPENDENT predicted the Kewalo track scheme, sired and damned by the hoodoo persona non grata Thurston, has fallen with a dull thud. The irrepressible Desky will now take it in hand.

The New York editor of the Advertiser is on the "anxious seat" about this "funny little republic." He has to confess that "the best government these islands ever had" has been "like wise and farseeing ostriches, we have buried our heads in the sand." Auwe!

A Japanese speaker said last evening that his friends were not at the meeting to "raise Caiu" but reason. We thought it Cene they came to raise, but after all a letter or two make but little difference to a Cooper.

The Marshal bearing that a few Chinese were playing a game of dominoes, with a five-cent ante, sets the ponderous machinery of the police force to bag the players. He has heard that a person employed to lead young people in the straight but barrow way has been a corrupter of youth and has not taken the first step towards an investigation. "Fiat justitia ruat cælum."

We are sorry to see that Government officials are so "hard up" at the beginning of the month that one has to go to a Japanese to have his horses shod, another employs a Chinese street cobbler to repair his shoes, another frequents a Japanese bath house and several patronize Japanese barbers. There is nothing like making hay while the sun shines.

Any person desiring to know how "justice" is doing business in the very shade of the Police Station should watch the daily gathering on the Post Office verandah of Chinese gamblers and the "runners" for the police. There it is decided how many dollars each victim has to contribute to the common fund and who are to plead guilty and who to be helped out through a nolle prosequi. The members of the bar look on helplessly but the "system" works beautifully under our "best government."

THE INDEPENDENT favors cordially the idea of a hospital for consumptives. May it venture to suggest that, as in England, a shilling (25c.) subscription for that purpose be initiated by our British affiliates in memory of Queen Victoria's jubilee celebration. All nationalities here resident might be invited to participate. Nothing more appropriate could be devised which would afford greater satisfaction to Britain's Queen, than to follow the suggestion which is proving so successful in Great Britain and its dependencies. Testimonials and presents perish, but to aid the sick is a monument in itself.

A Surprised Mule.

The "educated" horses arrived this morning and Honolulu will have a chance to study the eloquence of Prof. Bristol's quadrupeds.

An "educated" mule also arrived and will draw a big audience owing to his whiskey drinking proclivities. The mule which is one of the trump cards of the show landed in a cool, calm and smiling manner. The intelligent animal had met W. O. S. in San Francisco and had been told that the favorite beverage of the two braying animals was plentiful in Honolulu. If you ever saw a disappointed mule it was the one which arrived this morning. Instead of being hailed by the expected "say, your muleship, take something," the yell went forth "take the Hagey Cure." Now, if that mule wasn't under contract to the Equescurriculum to drink whiskey once a day he might be persuaded to fall in line with our numerous two-legged mules who have seen the folly of whiskey and the wisdom of Hagey.

Bristol's Animals Landed.
Prof. Bristol's trained horses and mules arrived this morning on the Alameda. The cunning creatures were landed at the Oceanic dock at an early hour attracting a great deal of attention and exciting considerable curiosity. Clown Denver had a good roll in the coal dust on the wharf with the balance of 18 animals pleasantly following suit. The outfit appears to be in splendid condition for their opening night on Monday next.

Board of Education.

In the absence of President Cooper Prof. W. D. Alexander presided over yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education.

Mrs. Amala was appointed assistant school teacher at Hookena. Director Bowen made a most complimentary report of a visit to Armstrong Smith's school.

Remnants accumulate in every dry goods store and the larger the establishment the greater the number of remnants. Such parcels sell at half their value, and less. We begin stock taking on Monday and rather than include short lengths in our stock we have started a remnant counter.

Goods that have sold for 25 cents a yard go to you now at 10 cents, the pieces ranging from four to ten yards. The assortment is large and the quality of the goods varies with the price. Every remnant is a genuine bargain.

The Australia brought us an assortment of the prettiest shirt waists ever seen in Honolulu. The collars and cuffs, as well as the material from which they are made are the latest style. Lamp novelties are new to Honolulu—new to the United States until a smart Frenchman employed at the factory conceived the idea of building for oil what others had done for candles.

Look at the illustrations in the accounts of swell dinners and you will find beautifully designed candelabras—a year ago they were for candles—now for lamps. You will find the same thing in our Ewa window and no other shop has them—no other dealer handles them as we do, because our buying methods are modern. So're our selling methods. You can get a banquet candelabra lamp at our store for about what you pay for a single burner in some places. That's the difference in the methods.

You are interested in those lamps even if you burn electricity—the table can be decorated with flowers and lamps—dishes come under the head of "necessities."

Half the pleasure of night wheeling is in having a good lamp. Policemen are alert to find a man taking a dark ride—sometimes the light jots out and the rider finds himself without a match. No such trouble with the Banner bicycle lamp—it is made to burn and stand hard knocks.

Lemarchand's boneless sardines go well at lunch—we've had such a continuous run on them that we have been forced to duplicate our last large order. Our present stock may not last until the next arrives.

The whole world boasts of the jams, preserves and pickles put up by Crosse & Blackwell and J. T. Morton. Our stock contains everything put up by these well-known firms. The last lot arrived by the Routenbeck and are absolutely fresh.

We have goods from the French factories that commend themselves. Lemarchand's high grade mackerel in oil is one of them. These are tinned in the same manner as his famous sardines and are a rare delicacy.

The Game of Bluff.
ED. THE INDEPENDENT:—
 Notwithstanding the fact that His Excellency Sanford B. Dole is President of the Republic of Hawaii and that His Excellency W. O. Smith is his factotum and general all round man yet it is strange that the two, both boss and man, have committed the same egregious blunders that is if they wished their side to stay winner. The one endorses a document on the 17th of January, 1893, and the other declined a document on the 29th of January, 1895.
 There is no politics in this game, it began with a stupendous bluff and has ended—where—nowhere.
 The last document is a rather curious affair. It is something like a child's "Yes, you did" "No, I didn't." I notice it is addressed to a Mrs. Liliuokalani Dominis and the question arises, did Mrs. Liliuokalani Dominis sign the so-called abdication? If so, Mr. Julius Palmer is correct in his assertion that the Queen did not abdicate, nor does Mr. Smith's letter of non-acceptance change the status of the position.
 It has been a manly thing on your part, Mr. Editor, to reproduce this letter in your issue of to-day, because, now that acrimonious friction has been to some extent alloyed, the matter can be studied far more dispassionately than at the time it was written.
 As a game of chance, grant that the tails have won the toss, but that does not prove that they have won the game, and four years of minority rule has most clearly demonstrated this fact. I have not the slightest hesitancy in saying that had some more moderate plan been adopted whereby the constitutional Alii should have remained in her place we would have less troubles on our hands than we have to-day. The bringing in of overwhelming numbers of aliens would have been held in check and this very Asiatic question is going to act like a boomerang one of these fine days—and while the mental calibre of the minority in power may be able to carry on a game of bluff for a while—bluff generally gets beat at its own game. It is also peculiar that Mr. Dole's friends always speak of themselves as the people, this always seems to savour of that slang expression "the people be damned." If they are the people there is no necessity for the expense of even an awkward squad, the Citizens' Guard are enough. If they are people ask all the people who have the right to vote who the people are. But this would not do because as I said at the beginning there is no politics in this game for the reason that it is only a stupendous bluff, and Hoyle on Poker does not advise bluffing as good in the end.

A Remarkable Dream.
 Of all the stories of strange dreams that have from time to time appeared in these columns the following is perhaps the most peculiar.
 Mr. T. A. Kennedy, the well known manager of the successful organization known the world over as Prof. D. M. Bristol's equestrian curriculum, or troupe of wonderful performing horses, ponies and mules, was recently filling a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, New York City. One evening towards the close of the engagement, Mr. Kennedy not feeling well, left the theatre before the performance was over and returned to his hotel and retired soon after. He lay awake for some time unable to court slumber. By-and-by he fell into a deep sleep, during which he had the following remarkable vision: He dreamed that he had been tried and convicted of a great crime, and sentenced to be hanged, the hour of execution had arrived and he was marched from the dark stone prison to the scaffold, the black cap had been pulled over his head and the noose was ready to be slipped about his neck when suddenly in the distance a horseman was seen approaching, waving high above his head a paper. A reprieve! a reprieve! was shouted by the assembled people. Nearer and nearer came the horseman, when presently he dashed into the prison yard, his steed panting desperately, and covered with foam. The rider leaped from his saddle and rushed toward Mr. Kennedy, pencil and paper in hand, exclaiming: "Thank God, I am not too late." He wanted Mr. Kennedy to write him a pass for the opening exhibition of Prof. Bristol's marvelous horses.

 This successful and highly entertaining exhibition of animal intelligence will give a series of performances in this city next week.
