Wight stated this morning that the men landed by the Wilder S. S. Co. a short time ago and put aboard the W. G. Hall, were taken back aboard the Lehua, thus making it possible for that vessel to get away.

At a meeting of the Board of Health yesterday Attorney George D. Gear, representing property interests in the Pantheon block, asked permission for the New England bakery and the Club stables to put their places in a sanitary condition and open for business. Anything the Board desired would be done in the case of the Club stables. The owners would go so far as to lay a concrete floor.

Quite a lot of discussion was indulged in and then it was decided to hold a special meeting on the Pantheon block grounds to decide on various matters.

BULLER CLOSE TO LADYSMITH.

Purser Mason, of the "Aorangi," favored the Bulletin with the latest war news contained in a telegram read in the Brisbane Opera House at 10:30 on the evening of February 8th: "Monday.—Crossed the Tugela." "Tuesday.—Captured four Boer positions on the ridges, after very severe fighting." "Wednesday.—Boers tried to regain position, but failed owing to the reinforcement of the British troops, when Buller cut through the Boer forces and is now marching to Ladysmith." "Buller is close to Ladysmith."

Floods of Mud On Queen Street

Editor Evening Bulletin:—I wish to call attention, through the columns of your valuable paper, to the nuisance at the corner of Queen and Alakea streets. Since several months already Queen street has been submerged by water, pumped from building lots on Merchant street, several inches deep, and the traffic for vehicles and bicycle riders is severely inconvenienced, besides the mud and filth do not at all improve the sanitary conditions. It is indeed a crying shame, that the authorities let this nuisance go on for such a long time. Why does not the sanitary inspector report about it, and why do not the taxpayers and residents of the locality register a big kick? The Minister of the Interior and the Bureau of Public Roads should give the matter immediate attention. VICTIM.

In connection with the matter complained of above, a case came before Judge Wilcox in the District Court this morning. Two clerks of H. Hackfeld & Co. were wheeling to their duties and, coming to the bog in question, ran their bicycles upon the sidewalk to get past. They endangered nobody, but a policeman took them promptly under arrest. Judge Wilcox, when the young men were brought before him, observed that he considered them excusable under the circumstances. When one branch of the Government permitted such a vile nuisance to exist unchecked, he was not going to strictly enforce the law against a breach of the regulations of another department. He dismissed the charge.

This morning a prominent business man called the Bulletin's attention to another nuisance permitted in the near vicinity of the foregoing one. That is the boarding of new building operations at Merchant and Alakea streets. The builders have not only helped themselves liberally to street space, but have made a sharp right angle of the fence. The result is that a conveyance on one street cannot be seen approaching the crossing by a driver or bicyclist or pedestrian coming along the other street. Already two bicyclists have been ditched there from their cause. It may be mentioned also that the water making the bog at Queen and Alakea streets is also a nuisance in Merchant street. There is not fluming of sufficient capacity for carrying the flood, hence it overflows into the gutters and makes mire on the streets.

- Executions have been returned in the cases following, all as unsatisfied, with no property, real or personal, on which to levy:

Differences Between House and Senate

Hon. J. Lot Kaulukou, Speaker of the House of Representatives, was requested to state the reasons for his action in calling that branch of the Legislature to assemble this afternoon. He said that he was not refusing to give his reasons, but he preferred that the reporter get the information from Mr. Gear, who knew as much about it as himself. Representative A. V. Gear, on being questioned, said there had been no meeting of members to consider the matter. The House was called simply because the Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii required the Legislature to assemble on the third Wednesday of February every alternate year.

Hon. W. C. Wilder, President of the Senate, was asked what he was going to do about that body, since Speaker Kaulukou had called the House of Representatives to assemble. He replied: "Nothing at all. I am going to ignore the matter entirely. I have no more right to convene the Senate than you have."

"What would be the use of meeting under present circumstances? We could not get more than four or five members together, and for that number to meet and adjourn from day to day would be a farce."

Mr. Wilder, in further conversation, said he had never been too hopeful about the quick passage of the Hawaiian territorial bill. From his observation of Congressional proceedings he judged that a matter of this kind would not be hastily concluded. Referring to the necessities of government here, Mr. Wilder remarked:

"If the Council of State had the power to vote that large amount of money for sewers, it has the power to vote money for anything else. Although I am very glad we are going to have sewers, I do not think the Council of State had the power to make such an appropriation. It cannot be called an emergency, because it will take a year and a half to complete the sewers. It is not stamping out the plague. Still, as I have said, I am glad we are going to have the sewers." Mr. Wilder hopes that if the territorial bill is deferred over this session, President McKinley will take prompt action for having either the old or a new Legislature assemble to do the necessary business of the Islands.

Aorangi's Report.

The purser of the Aorangi kindly furnished the Bulletin with the following report of that vessel: "The R. M. S. Aorangi, C. W. Hay commander, left Sydney at 1 p. m. Tuesday, February 6, cleared the Heads at 2 p. m. experiencing fine weather and smooth sea to Brisbane, where she arrived at 8:30 a. m. on the 8th inst. After having received passengers, mails and cargo left again at 3:45 a. m. on the 9th inst. Fine clear weather with smooth sea. Easterly and E. S. E. winds prevailed until the 11th inst., when very heavy rain was encountered. Thence until the 13th fine weather and smooth sea when the wind became variable until the 15th. The following day the equator was crossed when the wind changed to N. E. experienced a strong N. E. trades, accompanied by heavy head sea, strong adverse currents also were met with materially regarding the progress of the ship, these conditions have prevailed to port. Passed the company's R. M. S. Mowera at 3:30 p. m. on the 19th inst and exchanged signals."

Court of Claims.

Much time has been devoted in the Executive Council session today to consideration of the Court of Claims authorized by President McKinley for appointment by President Dole to adjudicate claims arising out of the sanitary fires. A draft of constitution for the court, which is to contain five members, was before the meeting. Messrs. Thurston and Hatch, who were present on other business, were taken into consultation on the matter.

Mrs. Catherin Morgan died at her home in Beretania street about 7 o'clock this morning. Although having been an invalid for several years past, she had only been ill in bed two days before the end. Her husband was a resident of Honolulu who died many years ago. Mrs. Morgan leaves surviving her family two sons and a daughter living here. One son is James F. Morgan, one of Honolulu's prosperous men of business, and the other Edward Morgan, a mechanic. The daughter is wife of Lieut. Colonel C. J. McCarthy.

Facts of the Case.

P. D. Kellett, Jr., gives the following facts of the case of a Japanese for whom a search was made in the eastern end of the district. The man was seen by a corporal of the guard at U. S. A. Camp McKinley, between 3 and 4 o'clock on Monday, being carried by his own countrymen along Kapahulu road. He was found yesterday in a house near A. Harrison's quarry at Kaimuki, and not on a pile of rocks as stated in the Advertiser. Mr. Kellett had been requested to look for the Japanese, although he did not belong to his inspection apna. The man when found proved to be a case of beriberi and not the plague.

Regular Session Opens With Speech by Speaker Kaulukou.

The Speaker Announces He Has Written to President McKinley—Attorney General Cooper Suggests a Short Adjournment.

The House of Representatives of the Legislature of the Republic of Hawaii assembled in the main hall of the Executive building at 2 p. m. this third Wednesday of February, A. D. 1900. Present: H. E. Cooper, Attorney General; J. Lot Kaulukou, Speaker; A. T. Atkinson, A. V. Gear and A. G. M. Robertson, Representatives.

Speaker Kaulukou delivered the following address:

Representatives: I understand that his excellency the President of the United States issued an order on May 13, 1899, in regard to our election. At the same time he issued orders that all elective officers should continue in office at the pleasure of the President of the United States. Here is the order: By the President of the United States. Executive Order.

In the exercise of the power conferred upon him by the Joint Resolution of Congress, approved by the President on July 7, 1898, entitled "Joint Resolution to Provide for Annexing the Hawaiian Islands to the United States," the President of the United States hereby directs that the General Election provided for by the Constitution of the Republic of Hawaii to be held on the last Wednesday of September next, shall not be held. All elective officers whose terms of office shall expire before appropriate legislation shall have been enacted by the Congress of the United States, shall be continued in their offices at the pleasure of the President of the United States.

In Witness Whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed. Washington, May 13, 1899. (Signed.) WM. McKINLEY.

As I understand it this order continues Senators and Representatives in office. For this reason I called you together. As the Cabinet members are in doubt about this order, I think we should adjourn until we hear from President McKinley. I have written to President McKinley this day for instructions.

Mr. Robertson considered the natural construction of the President's order was that the members of the Legislature should continue in office. First is the calling off of the election. Immediately after, it says that all elective officers continue in office. There seems to be nothing clearer than that President McKinley meant to include members of the Legislature among elective officers. I would suggest that we adjourn until, say, the third Wednesday in March. That would be ample time for you to get an answer from President McKinley.

Minister Cooper said: It would be unwise to adjourn so long. President Dole wrote to President McKinley on January 17. His letter has not been answered by telegram as later letters of inquiry on other subjects have been, but a letter may be on the way now. There has been barely time to receive an answer by mail. Certainly the words of the proclamation bear the construction that President McKinley meant the Legislature to continue in office. You should adjourn from day to day. Minister Mott-Smith also wrote a letter yesterday to Mr. Hartwell, to inquire about an answer from President McKinley. I hope the Senate will meet today also, so as to make the session regular. I don't know what is the intention of the President of the Senate.

Mr. Atkinson moved, seconded by Mr. Cooper, that the House adjourn for three days. Carried.

Just received the very thing to gladden the hearts of the ladies.

Timber Rafts for Japan.
Vancouver, B. C., Feb. 8.—James Robertson, proprietor of the patent timber rafts that have several times been towed from Puget sound to San Francisco, intends early next summer to send a big raft to Japan. Robertson is now in China, having been there for a couple of months, and writes to Captain Gates, a ship man of this city, that there will be a fairly good market in several Oriental ports for shipments of timber that can be sent cheaply across the Pacific. Although the tow is a very long one, he is entirely satisfied that the proposal of sending across in tow of a steamer a raft containing from twelve to twenty-five million feet is a feasible one. A sawmill will probably be built near Yokohama to cut up the logs.

Hatching Rat Blocks.

Editor Evening Bulletin:—On Saturday the 17th inst., the sub-inspector of our district left four blocks containing poison for the destruction of rats. My wife placed it under the house as a secure place until I returned to distribute it. We happen to have an old red hen which had been setting for two weeks on three telephone insulators and a cold cream bottle. Espying the four blocks, she instantly took possession of them and has kept it rigidly ever since. Last night I took her temperature and found it to be 105, as this is two degrees in excess of an ordinary setting hen I am fully convinced that she will hatch the blocks in less than the prescribed twenty-one days.

This morning I have added a tin of water so that the hatching of said blocks will not be interfered with.

LIGHT WISDOM - - -
Let us tell you something about Electric Incandescent Lamps. Perhaps you have noticed that your bill for electric lighting has varied peculiarly from month to month. When it is large you say bad words about your meter and you think that the Light Company is cheating you. The Company is not cheating you—YOU ARE CHEATING YOURSELF. A lamp which has lived its normal number of amperes hours, though it may not be dead, consumes nearly twice as much current as when it is first used. If when your lamps show signs of having burned too long you would take them out and purchase new lamps you would find that the saving in your monthly bill would more than compensate for the price of the new lamps.

NOTABLE WRECKS SAVED
 Evidence of Development in Saving Stranded Vessels.

Steamer Milwaukee Was Cut in Two—Floated and New Bow Built—How the Liner Paris Was Saved.

Probably the most remarkable achievement in the line of wrecking and rebuilding in maritime history is represented by the reconstructed steamer Milwaukee, which was turned out in the summer of 1899 at the yard of C. S. Swan & Hunter, at WallSEND-Tyne, Eng. The Milwaukee, a vessel of 483 feet length and 56 feet beam, went ashore near Aberdeen in September, 1898, a huge rock penetrating the hold for a length of thirty feet and to a height of eight feet above the tank top. When the salvage operators saw that it would be impossible to save the entire vessel, it was decided to blow her in two with dynamite. This was done successfully and 180 feet of the fore-end was left on the rocks, while the after end was towed to a dry dock.

To sever the steamer, successive charges of dynamite were applied, each charge being distributed over a length ranging from four feet to six feet, and the charges varying with allowance for the thickness of the steel plates to be severed. Such was the quality of the steel, however, that more than 520 pounds of dynamite were utilized. Despite the heavy charges exploded, however, none of the parts of the structure adjacent to the belt of cartridges was seriously damaged. The saved portion of the vessel depended for flotation, until placed in dry dock, upon a transverse watertight bulkhead at the forward end of the boiler space. The saved portion extended from just before the forward end of the navigating bridge to the stern, the engines and boilers being thus preserved. It was towed to the Tyne and moored in the river until a new bow was built, launched, and made ready for connection to it. A remarkable feature of the removal of the after end of the Milwaukee was found in the fact that it was towed with the bulkhead end foremost, and that the tugs were assisted by the ship's own engines. Her builders set about reproducing a facsimile of the lost bow; so well did they succeed that a person ignorant of the facts would never know that he was not looking at the original bow.

The success of a Hamburg salvage corporation in floating the American liner Paris, stranded on the Manacles rocks near the entrance to the English channel, after British firms had abandoned the attempt, has very naturally caused an immense amount of comment. The whole effort of the British salvors was to pull the vessel off the rocks by means of tugs assisted by the steamer's own engines. The inspection made by the divers disclosed the fact that a hole about twelve by sixteen feet in size had been made in the vessel's bottom by great pinacles of granite, which had penetrated her outer shell about midships under the first and second boiler rooms. The Germans early decided to abandon the plan of the British wreckers. Instead, they adopted the plan of blasting away the teeth of granite which held the liner.

Before this could be undertaken it was necessary to do an immense amount of patching from the bow aft to the midship section, and the steamer's bow was lifted out of the water by adding weight to her stern and filling her after compartments with water. The danger of injuring the vessel restricted the size of the blasts, but in all more than 15,000 cubic feet of rock was removed; moreover, this was all done under water. As rapidly as the boulders were detached, hawsers were made fast to them and they were dragged out of the way by the wrecking steamers.

Difficulties of the greatest magnitude presented themselves when the work had advanced to the point at which it became necessary to blast away the last pillar of granite holding the Paris. The steamer had been filled with water flush to her depth of fifty feet, in order to raise her bow, and, inasmuch as her own pumps could not cope with this, holes had to be cut in her decks and sides in order that a powerful wrecking steamer might lie alongside and suck out the water ballast. As the vessel righted, the rush of water tore out some of the compartments and the engine rooms were inundated and the furnaces submerged. Scarcely had she been righted and her engine rooms pumped out when a gale sprang up which opened her seams and allowed her to fill again. To steady her during the storm and prevent her being driven farther on the rocks, anchors were carried out from the bow and stern on both sides, and the chain of the anchors kept taut by means of steam winches on the deck of the vessel. When the gale subsided, the boat had to be pumped out again and considerable additional patching done. The patches utilized were formed of shields of wood, fitted over the breaks and padded around with canvas and rubber. Some of the shields were as large as the door of a house. The actual releasing of the vessel was accomplished by setting in motion the steam winches connected with the chains of the stern anchors while the three wrecking steamers united simultaneously in a long, steady pull.—Engineering Magazine.

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1900.

As stated in yesterday's Bulletin, the advantage of the meeting of Representatives this afternoon is to divert the public mind from the dubious outlook that the plague offers.

The Legislative session this afternoon will neither make us break us nor set us up in business. If anything is gained, so much the better, if not, there is no serious loss.

The complaints made of the nuisance created by flooding Queen street, warrant the Board of Health in calling the attention of the Citizens' Committee to the matter for investigation.

The Bulletin greets Road Supervisor Campbell, but it would be interesting to learn how the Dole government overcame its natural aversion to the "newcomer." It makes a difference whether the newcomer is "for or against" the government doesn't it?

Mr. Dole can accomplish not a little towards lessening the troubles of the Chinese merchants by making haste in the appointment of the Court of Claims. This body has an immense amount of work to do before the question of providing money to pay the claims will be reached.

If the Board of Health considers the Hotel stables infected premises, there is only one thing to do in disposing of the buildings. The Bulletin is not disposed to believe that President Wood and his advisers stand in fear of property owners or the chairman of the Citizens' Committee. Both have strong claims to recognition, but we see no reason at this time for declaring a lack of confidence in the members of the Board.

First catch the rats. This an axiom resulting from the poisoning campaign of the Citizens' Committee. That the work failed through insufficient poison in the compound distributed has yet to be proved. No one has seen fit to eat a platter of the prepared lard to prove that it is not fit to kill. On the other hand the fumigating operations have proved that by this means the rats can be caught and killed in goodly numbers. Fumigation of the house on Queen street yesterday afternoon resulted in the destruction of more rats than have been killed throughout the whole city by the poisoning process.

At last Gen. Buller has succeeded in making sufficiently marked progress to warrant the hope that the next important news from the front will be the relief of the Ladysmith garrison. Reinforcements and constant hammering at the enemy's lines have made the result inevitable, and at no distant day the Boers will be forced back to defend their own territory. The war is by no means ended when Ladysmith is reached. The Boers will make good the assertion of President Kruger that the submission of the Transvaal will be secured only at the greatest cost of blood and treasure Great Britain has ever known.

The questions which residents of Punchbowl propound are timely topics in connection with New Honolulu. As regards probable action by the government, however, Punchbowl is in much the same position as residents of Kalihi, who recently presented a statement to the Minister of the Interior. There can be no question of the necessities of their district. The streets are in a miserable condition and if numbers counts for anything, the residents have a right to demand that free garbage collection shall be granted them. Lack of funds will probably be the response made to the plea by government officials, and, under present conditions, the refusal by the Executive to spend money puts an end to all progressive measures. To ask the Executive to make an effort to make funds available is like howling at the wind. The only suggestion that counts during these days is, make the best of it and don't forget to make your influence felt when finally an opportunity is given to speak at the polls.

MEETING OF THE HOUSE.

Speaker Kaulukou's call for a session of the House of Representatives brings the Legislative question to a direct issue, and the people will await with considerable interest what comes of it. The only thing the House of Representatives, or such minority as may respond to the Speaker's call, can do is to address President McKinley and learn his pleasure. Mr. Dole's efforts in this line having been unsuccessful, it is not surprising that representatives of the people have decided to take the matter in hand.

The House cannot legislate. The constitution states that a smaller number than a quorum may adjourn from day to day "and compel the attendance of such absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each House may provide." The manner in which attendance of a full quorum of the House will be secured is yet to be determined unless the members arm themselves with shot guns and proceed to the other islands to corral delinquent members. It is not likely that any effort will be made to compel the attendance of any member. Those who consider that the interests of their constituents are best served by doing nothing are free to follow the dictates of their consciences.

The legislators who gather this afternoon stand a chance of being participants in a more or less farcical proceeding. On the other hand they are taking the only course open to them to secure a positive ruling from Washington authorities to open some way to make provision for the increased expenses in various governmental departments.

When a man of W. C. Wilder's standing questions the authority of the Council of State to make appropriations, it is assured that the people will call their representatives to sharp account for the moneys appropriated and the manner in which public funds have been expended. We believe, however, that the activity of the Representatives will be more generally approved by the people than the negative attitude of the Senate. Something must be done. The Executive Council seems to be at sixes and sevens and able to accomplish nothing but a blockade. It is up to the elective officers of the islands to make a move by which positive instructions may be secured.

One week from today Minister Damon's time limit on the Custom House expenditures expires. It is impossible for custom house authorities to do the work of the office with the force at their disposal if prevented from over-drawing the appropriation. It remains to be seen whether Mr. Damon will assume the responsibility of incomplete work resulting from the discharge of many employees of this important department soon to be turned over to the United States.

While the community is not unanimous in supporting President Wilder's view of the Council of State's authority, it joins with him in expressing thanks for the continuation of the sewer system. As no Legislature of Hawaii will care to take the responsibility of stopping the work on sewers, the question of authority need hardly be argued further at this time.

Punchbowl Taxpayers' Kick.
Editor Evening Bulletin:—According to the recent census taken by the Citizens' Sanitary inspectors, it was shown that the most densely populated part of Honolulu consists of that portion of Punchbowl lying mauka of Kinau street, and bounded on the east by Alapai street, and on the west by the Pauoa stream. Taking this fact into consideration, the writer begs to ask the Minister of the Interior and the President of the Board of Health, through your columns, the following questions, viz:

1. In the proposed extension of sewerage for which money was voted by the Council of State yesterday, is the thickly populated Punchbowl district included? If not, why not?
2. Under the new Sanitary Regulations of the Board of Health, garbage, it is stated, will be carted away free of charge by the Board of Health carts "within these limits; School street mauka, Alapai street east, Liliha street west and seaward by the water front." Where is the connecting link between School street and Alapai street? If it is supposed to run along Kinau street, why is the congested district selected mauka of Kinau street excluded from such free system? Is it because it is inhabited chiefly by Portuguese? or because those living within its bounds are for the most part poor people living in small houses?
3. What streets in town are supposed to be swept, either by hand or by machine? Within the last ten days or so the writer has noticed on two different occasions the street sweeping machine's operations. It started from the corner of Beretania street went along Miller street as far as the corner of Vineyard street, but went no further mauka up the street, although Miller street further up past the Portuguese church is in a horrible condition.

4. On what principle, if any, is the street sprinkling carried on by the government? On a few favored streets, including Emma street, the dust is nicely laid, but up along Kinau street it may be safely said that a street sprinkler has never been seen. Minister Young has evidently seen the folly of trying to keep the town clean with two odorless excavators and has ordered fourteen new ones. Wouldn't it be a good thing for the government to invest in a few more street sprinkling carts, do away with the private street watering carts, and undertake the proper watering of the whole streets of the city?
5. What is the use of all this talk about extending Vineyard street and Fort street and School street when there is plenty of work to be done in fixing up the present so-called roads we have already?
What the folks living in the Punchbowl district want is a little common justice and fair play from the present government. We want some sidewalks (we don't do much carriage riding,) and also the present mud roads replaced by hard macadamized roads that do not become a slough of despond after every rain. We have waited whilst Emma street was being put in order to suit President Dole's taste, have helped to pay for opening up a nice road to the late Minister King's dwelling, have calmly looked on while the beautiful Manoa valley boulevard leading to Minister Cooper's Roman mansion was developed and have quietly stood by and seen the steep road grades made easier for Minister Damon when returning home to his lovely grounds at Moanalua, but surely to goodness, it is our turn now!

The only thing the government appears to do for us is to send round a squad of tax assessors once a year, who levy taxes to the top notch on the little properties belonging to the laboring population of the district.
Mr. Editor, if you have a little time to spare from discussing who is to be our next governor, kindly put in a good word for us. We need it badly.

ON AGUINALDO'S TRAIL.

San Francisco, Feb. 8.—The transport St. Paul arrived this morning from Manila and was ordered into quarantine, from which she is to be released some time tomorrow. The vessel brought five passengers, among them being Captain George F. Chase, who was one of General Young's aids and who for three months trailed Aguinaldo through the swamps and brush and over the mountains of Luzon. Captain Chase never paused in his pursuit until his health gave out and he had to return to Manila.

The officer followed the elusive chief through all sorts of country, every step of which was as familiar to Aguinaldo and his men as were the streets of Manila. Through hostile territory and fever infested districts went the chase, and nearly every day marked a skirmish with some of Aguinaldo's soldiers. Band after band was broken up by the intrepid Americans, but the Filipino chief kept out of their reach. Every night for three months Captain Chase slept within from three to five miles of Aguinaldo's hiding place, but, although he pursued him from one end of Luzon to the other, he could not capture him. Captain Chase, completely worn out from his work, has been ordered home.

"The Hawaiian Scene Calendar" for 1900, published only by the Golden Rule Bazaar, 316 Fort street, is a beautiful work of art. It eclipses all previous efforts in this line and nothing would be more appropriate at this time than to mail one of these to the "oika at home." Price 50 cents.

INVERNESS-SHIRE.

Eleven men of the Inverness-shire were arrested last evening by order of Marshal Brown. Judge Wilcox will not try the cases as the offense with which the men are charged, mutiny, does not come within the jurisdiction of the courts here, the vessel being British.

A court made up of captains of various British vessels in port will meet aboard the Inverness-shire tomorrow morning and the men will be produced there by Marshal Brown at that time.

OUR POLICY WITH CHINA

Interesting Speech by Minister Wu to New York Merchants.

Expansion of American Trade Welcomed by Chinese—Chance to Give and Take—Remarks on Land Grabbing.

New York, Feb. 9.—Speaking at the dinner of the Silk Association of America at Delmonico's last night, the Chinese Minister, Wu Ting Fang, said:
"When any disturbance or trouble has occurred in China or elsewhere in the East, not only did the government aggrieved demand compensation for the outrage, but beyond that they demand and obtain concessions not pertaining to the matter in hand. In fact, they often make a pretext of a trouble, such as a missionary trouble, to exact advantages and concessions, which may have no reference to the matter in point. In saying this I do not condemn the missionaries as a class in China.
There are a good many pious and noble missionaries in China, and they have been and are still doing good work in every country in the East, but there is a black sheep in every flock, you know.
" So, if a disturbance should occur to them, if a riot should happen, what is the consequence? Their government will demand justice and not only that, but in addition to that, they obtain something else. That being the case, gentlemen, can you wonder that the Chinese and other Asiatic people are at a loss to understand our policy and the policy of the nations in Europe?
" Therefore, if those nations want to solve this Asiatic question one of the solutions is to make an open declaration of their policy. They should declare to China and the other Asiatic countries what their policy is, what they mean; they should tell them that if anything befall any of the missionaries or merchants they will demand this or that. Then if this is the all explained to them openly why, we can understand what you mean. But if, instead of doing that, under the cloak of sending missionaries to preach the gospel, and if anything should happen to the missionaries (which in any nation you cannot help; sometimes my countrymen here have been murdered or assaulted by a low class of people) what can we do? What can you do?
So, if anything should happen in China or Japan of that sort, is it very strange for the rabble to do something without the knowledge of the authorities? All we want is an open declaration of your policy, fairness and justice.
" I am glad to find that it is not the policy of this great Republic to depart from your traditional policy and go in for acquisitions for grabbing or—I should be more careful in saying this—that you are not going to adopt territorial aggrandizement, but that you are going in for expansion of trade. I am not surprised. We don't quarrel with you for that. We don't blame you. In fact, we welcome you. Do you know why? Because in trade it is a barter; it is for the benefit of both sides; it is to give and take. We give you the equivalent; you give us something back in return.
" If you go in on this Pacific policy of commerce and trade you will be welcomed everywhere, not only in China, but also in Japan as well. We welcome you. We will do everything to please you, but, in return, gentlemen, we want to be treated in like manner.
Now, on this point, I cannot do better than quote a principle enunciated by our great saint, Confucius, twenty-five centuries ago. He was one day asked what should a man do, what should be the rule of conduct in house, in business and in government. He was asked to give one word to convey this principle. In answer he said: "Is not this reciprocity?
" It was to the same effect, said by Him, whom shall I say, your prophet, your savior, who said: "What you would have others do to you, do the same to them." But whether it is a merchant, whether it is a tradesman, whether it is a benefactor or whether it be a nation, if we follow this sound principle we shall have no quarrel, no dispute and no cause for war."

HEALTH BOARD MEETING

At a meeting of the Board of Health yesterday afternoon there were present the following: President Wood, Dr. Day, F. M. Hatch, Geo. W. Smith, Minister Cooper, F. J. Lowrey and Dr. Emerson.

It was voted that Dr. Grace of Hilo be paid at the rate of $250 a month and passage money, from the time he left Hilo until his return.

President Wood read the following report from Dr. Hoffman: "The post mortem examination of the woman, Mary Kaahue, who died in a house in the rear of the coal sheds, showed a very large bubo in the left axillary gland and a very small bubo in the right femoral region.

Besides these bubonic indications pronounced symptoms of bronchial pneumonia were evident.

"In the case of Ah Chong, the Chinaman who died in a house adjoining a Chinese general store on King street, near the Walkiki turn, I found a most pronounced bubo on the right side of the neck. Small bubos were evident in both the femoral and inguinal regions and also in the left axillary glands.

"In the case of Ah Hung, Hotel stables victim, I found a pronounced bubo on the left side of the neck and small bubos in the inguinal glands. Pronounced bronchial pneumonia was also indicated."

President Wood gave it as his opinion that the Hawaiian-Chinese woman had taken the disease by means of her hands or fingers. The two Chinamen had very likely contracted the disease by means of something they had eaten.

Ah Hung was in the habit of going about barefooted and may have become infected in that way.

President Wood told of his visit to the Ah Hung premises. The whole locality of the Chinese houses on the makai street was in a filthy condition. Gambling was carried on at the place and an opium smoking den was found back of the first building.

From thirty-five to forty Chinamen were in the habit of collecting there and either sleeping on the place or remaining until a late hour. It was Dr. Wood's idea that the inspectors of the district had not done all that was necessary in the work of inspecting. The rooms of such places should be looked into.

President Wood next took up the case of Ah Hung, the Hotel stables man, and stated the particulars as given in yesterday's Bulletin. The Hotel stables case of January 22 was also referred to. The Board visited the stables later on but came to no decision in regard to the premises.

Dr. Wood reported that the disinfecting corps had visited Mary Kaahue's place after her death and, closing all doors, windows and cracks, had set sulphur fumes going. When the place was opened up for the fire department's work, almost fifty rats were found in the rooms. Some were dead but the majority were stippled by the fumes. The doors were quickly closed and all the rodents burned with the house.

After the meeting of the Board visited the stables and then went out to the King street premises. It was unanimously voted there that the Ah Chong store and all shacks and outhouses adjoining be destroyed by fire.

COMMISSIONER TAFT'S CAREER

William Howard Taft, chairman of the new Philippine Commission, though but 43 years old, is regarded as one of the ablest jurists in the United States. He is a son of the late Alphonso Taft, who was Attorney General and Secretary of War in President Grant's Cabinet and Minister to Austria and to Russia under President Arthur.

William H. Taft was born September 15, 1857, and graduated from Yale in 1878. As second in his class he delivered the Latin oration. He studied law at the Cincinnati Law School and divided the first prize on graduation. In January, 1881, he was appointed assistant prosecuting attorney of Hamilton county, Ohio. He resigned this office in March, 1882, to become Internal Revenue Collector of the First District of Ohio. In January, 1883, he resigned the Collectorship to resume the practice of law. In March, 1887, he was appointed by Governor Foraker to be a Judge of the Superior Court of Cincinnati, and a year later he was elected by the people for a full term of five years to the same bench.

In 1890 Judge Taft resigned to become Solicitor General of the United States in the Administration of President Harrison. As Solicitor General he appeared on behalf of the Government in quite a number of important cases in the Supreme Court of the United States, among those worthy of note being the Behring sea case, the case involving the validity of the action of Speaker Reed in counting a quorum in the House of Representatives. On March 17, 1892, by appointment of President Harrison, he was commissioned United States Circuit Judge of the Sixth Circuit. In 1893 his alma mater, Yale University, on the occasion of the fifteenth reunion of his class, conferred upon him the degree of LL. D. In 1896 he was elected dean of the law department of the University of Cincinnati. He is a man of family.

Notice to Shippers.

In the matter of disinfection or fumigation of freight, shippers will make no distinction between that destined for points on the Island of Oahu and that destined to points on other islands.

The original cases must be opened and the straw or loose paper wrapper or sawdust, or other packing material, removed from each bottle or tin; each bottle or tin is then to be dipped in an approved disinfecting solution; the interior of the original case is then to be washed out with disinfectant; in repacking the already disinfected bottle or tin, no wrapper may be used unless same has first been fumigated or disinfected; the filled case is to be closed up and the entire exterior is to be disinfected.

In cases where the tinned or bottled goods have no loose paper or straw wrapping, or where they are not packed in sawdust or any similar substance, the entire original package, after two or more large openings have been made in it, may be dipped in a disinfecting solution; but great care must be exercised to insure the thorough disinfection of each tin or bottle, and the whole interior of the original package as well as the whole exterior surface of such original package.

Shippers having the interests of the entire island community at heart will exercise very carefully every precaution, and assist rather than impede the efforts of the Board of Health in preventing a further spread of Bubonic Plague in these Hawaiian Islands.

Wilful infringement or careless disregard of these or other regulations of the Board of Health on the part of shippers, will be followed by the immediate withdrawal of privilege of shipment of any goods whatever by those engaging in such infringement or carelessness.

PASSENGERS ARRIVED.

From the Colonies, per C-A. S. S. Aorangi, Feb. 21.—Walter Maxwell, John McInness and Esther Hines.

AUSTRALIA'S DEPARTURE.

There were hundreds of people on the inter-island wharf yesterday watching the Australia passengers as they left for the steamer, anchored in the stream.

One of the lady passengers had paper henna lei on her hat and came near losing it on account of the mistake a guard made who thought the thing real. After a series of explanations the lady finally pocketed the lei.

There was one man who went aboard the Australia a much wiser man than when he first stepped on the wharf. He received at the hands of someone outside the Oceanic wharf fence, a small package, after he had been fumigated. Dr. Carmichael saw the transaction and at once told the man he could not go on the Australia. He then had him put outside the gate where he was forced to remain for about ten minutes. Then he was allowed to enter the wharf again and undergo another fumigation before going aboard the Australia.

Other people were seen to do the same thing although they had been particularly warned not to. However, Dr. Carmichael and Consul Haywood could not be everywhere. It was noticed, however, that this passing of small bundles through the fence was stopped when the man, spoken of above, was made an example of.

Miss Ione Beresford, late of the Orpheum, was refused passage on the Australia on the ground that she had only been under observation twelve days, whereas fifteen are required.

EVIDENCE TRAVERSED.

T. Masuda, agent of the Futayama S. Co. of Yokohama, operating the Nanyo, Goyo, Toyo and Dankokumaru, desires to contradict at least part of the circumstantial evidence given by the Advertiser to convict the last-named steamer of bringing the plague to Honolulu.

"The long box supposed to have contained a corpse," Mr. Masuda says, "was probably the case of a large screen I have imported for a certain gentleman here. Certainly no dead body was handled aboard the ship at this port. We kept the steamer clean and nice.

"Then the steamer was never intended to be sent to the Coast. She was chartered by our company to bring immigrants and return to Japan. The freight consisted of Japanese provisions, chiefly sake and soy in tubs.

"The Dankoku-maru was quarantined in Yokohama on account of a sick man, who was put ashore and the vessel then cleared by the American consul. The sick man came on here quite well in the next steamer.

"There were 699 emigrants left Kobe in the steamer, but four of them having made trouble were put ashore. The remaining 695 people arrived here without any sickness among them, and being all contract laborers were distributed among the plantations, the doctors there passing them on examination.

"The freight was not fumigated because there was no fear of plague here when the steamer arrived here in September. It is going too far to single out this steamer as the scapegoat of the plague upon such flimsy evidence as the Advertiser produces.

Lady War Correspondent.

Lady Sarah Wilson is said to be the first woman war correspondent on record. She is the sister of the late Duke of Marlborough and of the late Lord Randolph Churchill, and therefore an aunt of Mr. Winston Churchill, who was last reported as having escaped from Pretoria. A few weeks ago Lady Wilson was taken prisoner, but shortly afterwards exchanged for a Boer horse thief at Mafeking. This English woman's remarkable bravery in taking the ride from Mafeking two hundred miles across the veldt, her untiring efforts not only in giving the Daily Mail of London some of the best reports from the Transvaal, but in her capacity as a Red Cross nurse, make her an admirable and interesting figure in the campaign.—Leslie's Weekly.
