THE SENSATIONS OF HANGING
As Experienced by a Member of the "Suicide Club" of London.
(Max O'Rell's Letter.)
A crazy Briton belonging to the "Suicide club," of which I did not know the existence, has published in The Pall Mall Gazette the sensations of hanging. He has actually tried it before the members of the club. It will be a pity if his narrative has the effect of diminishing the wholesome terror which the rope has hitherto inspired, and I fear it may induce some silly people to try hanging as a substitute for opium. At first there was a great jerk, and he felt a violent pain in his neck; but after he lost consciousness the proceedings became quite pleasant. "He seemed to be transported into a new world, more beautiful than anything imagined by the poets. He was swimming, he thought, in a sea of oil. The feeling was exquisitely delicious. As he swam easily and without effort through the liquid mass he noticed a soft green in color. The sea kept every instant changing its hue. At one moment it was a mass of gold, as though the sun were shining brilliantly on it. The next instant it was a vivid blood red; but there was nothing terrible or disgusting in this new color. In fact, it kept changing to all the hues of the rainbow, yellow and red being the predominant tints. He got nearer and nearer to the island. As he approached it there sprang out suddenly from the ground a great number of people whose faces seemed known to him. At last he reached the land. Then a magnificent chorus of voices, human, and those of birds, burst forth. He closed his eyes in ecstasy. He floated calmly on to the shore, and lay as a child in its cradle, slightly weakened from the enervating effect of the oily matter in which he had been swimming. At last he opened his eyes. The magic charm was at once dissolved. The faces were no longer beautiful. The faces were still peering at him with an expression of eager curiosity, but he perceived that they belonged to the members of the club. The pain in his neck was great, it appeared, but he was now in entire possession of his senses. His friends cut him down, and he was able to tell them of each of his experiences. Although he drew a charming picture of the bliss which he felt, no other member would try his experiment. His look was quite ghastly. To the best of my belief this lunatic is still at large.

Attachment of Lightning Rods.
(Boston Budget.)
Professor Preece recommends as among the essentials to be observed in attaching lightning conductors to houses, that there should be no joint, unless it be a well soldered one; chain-link rods, braided rope, tubing, etc., are to be avoided; the ground connection must be sound and good, and each conductor, if there be more than one, should have a separate ground connection, but are also to be connected together, also connected with the lead roofing and all masses of metal in their neighborhood. It is, he says, not necessary to insulate these conductors, and there should be no points or acute angles in the conductor—the straighter and more direct its course to the earth the better. Telegraphic wire, one-fourth of an inch in diameter, is claimed to be superior for this purpose and is largely employed in England. It is also believed to be a safe estimate that the area protected by a conductor is equal to its height above the ground.

Grandmother Garfield.
(Washington Letter.)
Dr. Susan Edson, who attended Gen. Garfield all through his last illness and who had been for years an attendant upon the family, was in the White House for several weeks before the assassination. She was there for the purpose of looking after Mrs. Garfield, who was very ill at that time. Gen. Garfield's mother was summoned during this illness of Mrs. Garfield. When the latter began to grow better "Grandma Garfield" made ready to go home. When the time came for her to go she seemed oppressed with a great melancholy. She was so unusually sad at the prospect of parting with her son that he put his arm around her and in his most cheerful way tried to comfort her. While he was engaged in comforting her his wife began to urge him to accept an invitation he had to go down the river for a short trip. His wife insisted that he needed the rest and, as she was out of all danger, she would be better pleased to have him go than not. Grandmother Garfield here spoke up and said: "Oh, James, don't go! I'm so afraid you will be shot if you go away from here now." It was this fear that has made her so sad at the parting with her son, as it afterward appeared for the last time. The last thing she said to her son before going away was to urge upon him the necessity of using great precautions against the danger of being shot by some secret enemy. Her fears, however, made no impression on Gen. Garfield's mind.

Grandmother Garfield, since her son's death, has given herself up to brooding over his memory. She spends the entire day in reading over his letters to her, and does not appear to care to talk about anything else but her son.

TUESDAY : : : : October 18th ONE DAY'S LATER NEWS.

The Barkentine S. N. Castle Brings Dates to October 24.

The barkentine S. N. Castle arrived early Monday morning from San Francisco with one day's later news. Following is a summary:

British Affairs.

A great Liberal demonstration was held at Templecombe, Dorsetshire, England, October 1st. Twenty thousand people were present. John Morley, the chief speaker, replied to Chamberlain's recent speech at Birmingham. He said the Liberals stood with their feet upon a rock. Gladstone had announced his assent to modifications of his original home rule plan and everyone of his colleagues who were concerned in preparing the bill also cordially assented.

The great sensation of social and sporting circles is the disgrace of the Marquis of Ailesbury by a committee of the Jockey Club. He is a representative of one of the most ancient and prominent families in England. Before coming into his title he had married an actress. The "St. James Gazette" says: "This disgrace is worse than death. It says that when the committee of the Jockey Club, a body of gentlemen to whom all gentlemen in the country have intrusted the task of condemning or acquitting alleged offenders against the sporting code of honor has warned a man off Newmarket heath for life, it has sentenced him to lasting degradation. His spurs are checked off and his shield reversed. No man of honor will feel free to associate with him again. Even a mere mercenary adventurer will despise a superior who has sunk to his level. The law itself cannot condemn a man to such a punishment."

Irish Affairs.

A London dispatch of October 1st says: "Gratton Esmond, one of the Irish delegates now on his way with Arthur O'Connor to the United States, just before he sailed addressed the following letter to the 'World' correspondent describing the object of his journey: 'The purpose of our visit to the United States is to lay before the friends of the Irish cause in America a faithful account of the position it has now reached, thanks, in a large measure, to their ever-generous assistance. No doubt the daily press has enabled them to follow the recent course of events in Ireland, but we are convinced that the statements of eyewitnesses in the strife will have a new interest for friends so true and untiring that this mark of deference should be paid them by the Irish Parliamentary party. We hope, too, that our visit may, if possible, bind closer to the cause of Ireland our friends in America, without distinction of party, and by this means assure a speedier and more triumphant close of the long struggle for Irish freedom.'"

Sir Joseph Ridgeway will probably be appointed to the vacancy made by the resignation of Butler, Under Secretary for Ireland. Ridgeway conducted the Afghan frontier negotiations. He there displayed qualities of firmness and patience which promise well for his work in the trying post to which he is soon to be called. He has been in the army since he was 17 years of age.

German Affairs.

A dispatch from Berlin, October 1st, says: The coming conference between Prince Bismarck and Signor Crispi, the Italian Prime Minister, completely overshadows interest in the shooting affair on the frontier. The interview is regarded of supreme importance. It has special reference to the renewal of the military convention between Italy, Austria and Germany. An alliance of the central powers with Italy on general policy was renewed for five years, but the military convention for offensive and defensive purposes covered only six months, from March last to September. Another question of special interest to the Italian Government will be the negotiations with the Vatican on the terms of reconciliation.

The frontier affair, which has never been regarded in Berlin so seriously as in Paris, ends with the payment of an indemnity to Brignon's widow and the expression of regret by the German Government. If France insists upon the punishment of Kauffmann the demand will not be granted. A German official inquiry proved that Kauffmann acted according to the letter of his instructions. To further appease France Count Von Munster has been authorized to say that measures will be taken on the German side of the frontier to relax the severity of the regulations under which the forest rangers and other officials act. This will be the extent of the satisfaction accorded France.

Miscellaneous.

Advices from West Africa, October 1st, state that the British Consul has caused the arrest of King Jaja of Oporbo for secretly preventing the access of traders to the interior. King Jaja ordered the natives not to do any trading except through his agents, and enforced the order by beheading 150 of his subjects as a warning.

Great efforts are being made to save the Chicago Anarchists from hanging.

Mr. Muir, of Dumbarton, the owner of the yacht Mabel, has determined to build a ninety-ton cutter to compete for the America's cup in America next year, unless Mr. Bell again challenges for it. The designer will be Fife Jr. of Fairlee. Captain Robert Duncan of Gourcock, now master of the Marjorie and formerly of the Madge, will be the captain.

At Ashland, Pa., October 1st, three men and two boys were suffocated and thirteen others overcome by gas this afternoon in the Bost colliery. A pillar gave way, bringing with it the gas. The men in the neighboring breast heard a tremendous rush of air and escaped by fleeing to the bottom of the slope. It is feared that some of those overcome by the gas will die.

While Washington Richards and a man named Snyder were cutting timber on the farm of John Warner, at Newportage, Summit county, O., October 1st, they chopped down a tree, in the hollow of which they found several thousand dollars in bank notes and gold and silver coin. A miserly farmer named Trachsbach lived on the place fifteen years ago, and it is believed that he hid the money there before his death.

ANNUAL MEETING Of the Planters' Labor and Supply Company.

The stockholders of this company assembled in annual meeting at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Hon. H. P. Baldwin presiding. Upon the roll being called, the following gentlemen, representing in the aggregate 11,629 shares, answered, viz.: Col. Z. S. Spalding, Messrs. P. C. Jones, Jona. Austin, E. M. Walsh, S. B. Dole, T. Ram Walker, C. M. Cooke, Geo. Castle, W. J. Lowrie, J. M. Lidgate, F. A. Schaefer, W. H. Rickard, W. H. Laws, J. M. Horner, W. Y. Horner, H. Morrison, J. A. Scott, H. F. Glade and J. G. Spencer.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was dispensed with, and Mr. W. O. Smith, the Secretary, read: SECRETARY'S ANNUAL REPORT. October 17, 1887. To the President and stockholders of the Planters' Labor and Supply Company: Gentlemen: Your Secretary respectfully submits this report for the year ending October 17, 1887.

TRUSTEES AND OFFICERS. At the last annual meeting, on October 19, 1886, Trustees were elected as follows: H. P. Baldwin, H. F. Glade, J. M. Lidgate, G. C. Williams, R. Halstead, P. C. Jones, G. N. Wilcox, J. B. Castle and Z. S. Spalding. The Trustees organized with the following officers: H. P. Baldwin, President; H. F. Glade, Vice President; P. C. Jones, Treasurer; Z. S. Spalding acted temporarily as Secretary, and later H. F. Glade was chosen Secretary for the term.

MEETINGS. But few regular meetings of the Board of Trustees have been held during the year. On several occasions informal meetings were held without a quorum being present, owing to the absence of Trustees from Oahu. Your Secretary would suggest the desirability of choosing a sufficient number of Trustees resident in Honolulu to form a quorum, so that meetings may be held. Whenever matters of importance require action, Trustees resident upon the other islands can be notified and a larger number called together, but when matters of less moment demand attention and preliminary steps need to be taken, there should be a quorum of local Trustees to hold meetings.

IMMIGRATION AND LABOR.

The principal matter relating to immigrants, which the Trustees have been called upon to consider during the year, has been that of the returning home of certain Gilbert Islanders and New Hebrides people.

A large number of Gilbert Islanders, whose terms of service have expired, have been returned to their homes by the Government; but there are a number of New Hebrides who are entitled to be returned, who are waiting. This subject will be presented at the meeting, for the company is under certain obligations in the matter.

There has been no serious scarcity of laborers in the country, but with the reduced prices realized for sugars much attention and thought has been given to the subject of the rate of wages demanded by Chinese day laborers. It is evident that there must be concert of action among planters upon the rates to be paid such laborers, or more laborers must be introduced before that irregular class can be properly controlled.

The members of the company are aware of the efforts being made by the Board of Immigration to encourage further immigration from Japan. The Japanese have generally proved a desirable class of laborers, coming as they have, with a fair proportion of wives and families, they form more desirable population than the Chinese, who come without families.

The importance of insisting that a reasonable proportion of immigrants, of whatever nationality, bring their wives is very great. The future welfare of the country demands this.

The Portuguese families scattered over the islands afford a marked contrast to the roving irresponsible Chinamen who have neither home nor stake in the country. In this connection your Secretary feels that he is expressing the feeling of the members of the company in approving the effort being made by the present Government to subdivide available public lands for homesteads. The prospect of being able to obtain a homestead or small farm after the expiration of the term of service will be an additional inducement to desirable immigrants to come to this country.

RUM AND OPIUM.

The licensing of the sale of opium and the retail liquor shops established in several of the country districts has proved detrimental to the planting interests as well as to the general well being of the laboring people.

Agents of the so-called opium company have traveled throughout the group visiting every plantation, village and hamlet carrying the deadly and demoralizing drug. Chinese who are addicted to the use of opium will obtain it more or less freely even when the sale is interdicted, but when it is prohibited and opium is contraband much less is used. Under the license the habit spreads rapidly. Evil only has resulted from the increase of establishments for selling liquor.

CROPS.

The crops during the past year have been large and were generally harvested in good season. Improved machinery and processes have tended to increase the product. Notwithstanding the low prices which have ruled, the results have not been as serious as might have been anticipated.

THE "PLANTERS' MONTHLY."

Under the arrangements entered into with Mr. H. M. Whitney at the last annual meeting the "Planters' Monthly" was increased in size and has been published regularly each month. This publication is of much value and its merits are becoming more fully recognized.

THE GOVERNMENT.

It is proper that allusion should be made to the changes in the Constitution and Government of the Kingdom. None are more deeply interested in the Government and the administration of the laws than the planters. The changes in the Constitution have been radical and promise to secure better and more stable Government. They are all in the line of modern Constitutional government. With wise administration the results must tend to strengthen the public credit at home and abroad.

The Legislature elected under the new Constitution, and which is about to convene, is more representative than any former Legislature in these Islands, and is one which will give intelligent consideration to any measures which are properly brought before it. It is an opportune time for this company to consider any subject for the public welfare to which it would call the attention of the Legislature.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Due notice has been given of the meeting and the committees have all been notified of their duties. H. F. GLADE, Secretary. Honolulu, October 15, 1887.

THE TREASURER'S REPORT

Was read by Mr. P. C. Jones, which showed that the liabilities of the company amounted to $473, against which the amount in hand was $31. The sum of $5 had been received on account of subscriptions to the "Planters' Monthly." Mr. Jones stated that a number of members had declined to pay their assessments, saying that they were no longer members, although they had not taken the steps prescribed in the by-laws in order to sever their connection. He knew of no method whereby they could be compelled to pay up. He suggested that during the present session the list be revised. It was more important now than ever before to keep up this association, because it was in a position to exert a greater influence, owing to the recent changes in the Government of the country.

Col. Spalding moved that a committee of three be appointed to examine the Treasurer's report as soon as practicable. He felt a little suspicious of that report. The Treasurer said he had only received $5 for subscription to the "Planters' Monthly," whereas he had himself paid $10. Mr. Jones—To me? (Laughter.) Col. Spalding—No; I did not say to you personally. Mr. Jones said the report had not been audited, owing to the absence of the Auditor.

A. Lydgate seconded the motion, which carried.

The Chairman nominated the following committee: Z. S. Spalding, F. A. Schaefer and A. Lydgate. The Treasurer's name was substituted for that of Mr. Schaefer.

The Chairman intimated that the next business in order would be the election of nine trustees. This gave rise to a lengthy discussion as to the desirability of doing so at this stage. Some of the members thought it better to ascertain first what support the association was likely to receive, and a motion to this effect was tabled by Colonel Spalding. An amendment was recorded that the election proceed, but that the officers postpone taking their seats till the end of the session. The motion finally prevailed.

The report of the Committee on Labor was then read. This was an exhaustive report, and dealt with every phase of the labor question, as well as many suggestions to the planters in regard to a uniform rate of wages to be paid to laborers.

The Committee on Cane reported progress. The Committee on Machinery read an elaborate report on sugar machinery, giving detailed accounts of the different parts required in the manufacture of sugar, with suggestions for improvements on the present modes of manufacture. He also referred to the diffusion process that will shortly be introduced on Col. Z. S. Spalding's plantation on Kauai. On motion the report was received, ordered printed and placed on file.

The meeting then adjourned until 2 p. m.

On reassembling, Col. Spalding reported verbally on the result of the committee's examination of the Treasurer's report. The only discrepancy revealed amounted to 63 cents. It appeared that a great many of the stockholders had failed to pay their assessments, the support of the organization consequently devolving upon a limited number. Speaking for himself, Col. Spalding failed to see what benefit had been derived from the organization beyond the publication of the "Planters' Monthly," for which he had himself paid during the year $100. The full number of copies contracted for had not been circulated, but he supposed a thousand of them were lying piled up in the printing office. The committee embodied in their report a suggestion to liquidate the debt by means of subscriptions among the members, and that those willing to subscribe for the "Monthly" during the ensuing year to signify their willingness in writing.

The report was accepted and placed on file and the committee discharged. Mr. W. O. Smith drew attention to an additional liability not mentioned in the Treasurer's report. The faith of the company had been pledged to the Government to return certain South Sea Islanders. The arrangement was that those who employed them should return them, but one plantation which was liable had become bankrupt. The duty therefore devolved upon the company. The discussion of this was postponed.

The recommendation of the committee as to the liquidation of the debt was discussed at some length, it being elicited that a somewhat widespread objection existed among planters to the assessment principle. The discussion was brought to a climax by Colonel Spalding moving that an assessment of 5 cents per share be levied, payable at 9 o'clock the following morning. He thereupon handed to the Treasurer a $50 bill for the thousand shares represented by him, and the arrangement was ratified by the meeting.

Mr. Dole moved that the "Planters' Monthly," as a charge upon the funds of the corporation, be discontinued; that it be left to the voluntary subscription of members and others, and that it belong to the subscribers. Though very ably conducted, he did not think it as valuable since it had been taken out of the hands of those immediately connected with the company and who had a technical knowledge of the sugar interests.

An opposite opinion was expressed by some other members.

The motion was withdrawn. Colonel Spalding moved, that if it is necessary our by-laws be so changed that each member of this company pay an annual membership fee of $5. Seconded and carried.

Mr. W. O. Smith moved that the subscription to the "Planters' Monthly" be reduced from $5 to $2.50 per year. Carried.

LEGISLATION.

Mr. T. R. Walker read the report of the Committee on Legislation. It adverted to the benefits which would be likely to accrue to the planting interests consequent upon the recent constitutional and political changes, and expressed confidence in the present Ministry and the newly elected Legislature. These things would naturally have a tendency to lighten the work of the company. The report criticised at some length the existing judicial machinery of the Kingdom and put forth several important suggestions with regard thereto. The report was accepted.

CANE TRANSPORTATION.

Mr. Horner read the report of the Committee on Cane Transportation, which was accepted.

MANUFACTURE OF SUGAR.

Mr. E. M. Walsh read the report of the committee on this subject, which was accepted.

TREATMENT OF MOLASSES.

Mr. Lidgate read the report of the committee on this subject, which elicited some discussion on its technical bearing, and was accepted.

The meeting then adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning.

A nolle pros was asked for and granted. Pokai was fined $100 for selling liquor without a license.

The Margaret Heald.

The British iron bark Margaret Heald, Captain James Williams, arrived early October 17th, 145 days from Liverpool, with general merchandise consigned to Messrs. Theo. H. Davies & Co. Sailed from Liverpool May 24th. Had fine easterly winds the first five days; thence had a series of steady light northeast trades to the Equator in the Atlantic, which was crossed on the 4th of July, in longitude 24 deg. W., 41 days out; thence had fresh southeast trades to 27 deg. S.; thence moderate NE. winds to 45 deg. S.; from there experienced variable winds to Falkland Islands. On the evening of August 7th, when off Staten Island, a light was seen at the west entrance of St. John's Harbor, and the vessel was headed for the land, but the shades of night soon fell and they were obliged to lay off and on for the night. The burning light looked like a signal of distress from a shipwrecked crew. The following morning, as the vessel came closer to the land, and much to the disgust of every one on board, there wasn't a single soul to be seen, but the light was still burning. It appeared as if sealers had been on the island during the night, but had left before the dawn of day. On this account the vessel was detained 24 hours. Passed the meridian of Cape Horn August 10th, 78 days out. There snow squalls and fair weather with moderate breezes were encountered. She was 17 days from 50 deg. S. to 50 deg. S. In latitude 57 deg. S., Pacific, signaled the British bark Daphne, 42 days out from Iquique, Chile, bound for Antwerp. All well on board. Had light southerly and easterly winds to 43 deg. S.; thence experienced light winds and calms. Got the southeast trades in 16 deg. S., which carried her to 7 deg. N. Crossed the Equator in the Pacific on September 21st, a day after the German bark Peter Godeffroy, in longitude 117 deg. W., 120 days out. From 7 deg. N. to port experienced variable winds and calms. Sighted Hawaii October 16th, and made Oahu the following day. The Margaret Heald was built at Liverpool nine years ago, and is 680 tons register.
