Riddleberger and Wise's Duel.

Some years ago George D. Wise, now one of the Virginia representatives in the house, playfully called Riddleberger a blanked liar in the columns of a Richmond newspaper, and Riddleberger straightaway sent a challenge. To show the bloodthirstiness of the man when angered, he sent a challenge to Editor Beirne that same day, and he arranged to fight the two duels on the same afternoon. Wise chose pistols for weapons, and the meeting was at 4 o'clock p. m., in a clump of woods a few miles from Richmond, and so near the residence of the judge of the county that he could hear the shots.

At the first fire Wise's pistol did not go off, and Riddleberger's ball flew wide of the mark. Wise then handed his pistol to his second and told him there was something the matter with it. The ball was drawn, the pistols reloaded and the combatants took a second fire. At this time Wise's ball cut Riddleberger's coat tail, but Riddleberger's shot again wasted itself on the air. Riddleberger reached down his hand and looked at the place where the ball had gone through his $40 coat. He then raised his hand and scratched his head. He was evidently annoyed. He thought a moment, still scratching, and then, to Wise's surprise, he seized the pistol by the barrel and threw it as far as he could into the bushes. He then threw out both arms, and walking half ways toward Wise, held out his hand and intimated that he thought they had better settle the matter in other ways. Wise replied that he had nothing to complain of and, if Riddleberger was satisfied, he was, and so the duel ended.—Frank G. Carpenter in New York World.

A Persian Midas.

When passing an Arab's tent I met a man from Shuster, who related several anecdotes to me, among which was the following version of the story of Midas and his asses ears. King Shapur had horns, of which he was greatly ashamed. Fearing that his subjects might learn the fact and that his dignity might be compromised, he ordered every barber who shaved his head to be put to death immediately afterward, so that the secret might not transpire. At length one who was about to experience this fate succeeded in persuading the king to spare his life and to employ no one else, so that the secret, which he took a solemn oath not to reveal, might remain with him alone.

For three years he kept his oath, but at last, the secret becoming too heavy a load for him to bear, to release himself from it he went to the mouth of a well and called out: "Oh, well! Know that King Shapur has horns." Shortly afterward a shepherd passing by the well cut a reed growing at its edge to make himself a pipe to pipe his sheep. The first time he played upon it, instead of music, there only came from it the words: "Shapur has horns! Shapur has horns!" The king soon learned that his secret had been betrayed, and sent for the barber, who confessed that although he had divulged it to no one, according to his oath, he had been compelled, in consequence of the intolerable burden of keeping it, to deliver himself of it at the mouth of the well. King Shapur accepted his excuse and graciously pardoned him.—Early Adventures in Persia, Sir Henry Layard.

A Touch of Pathos.

There is a fine touch of pathos in the story of little Max Schwartz, a 10-year-old sufferer from hip disease, who, when the fire broke out recently in the Hospital for Ruptured and Crippled Children in this city, saved a bed ridden deaf and dumb boy, Johnny Burke, aged 6 years. Here is the story of brave little Max as told to a reporter, and in the reading of it one feels almost transported to the pages of Dickens: "I smelt der smoke and I seed the flames shinin', and then I looked over at Johnny and motioned to him to come along. Johnny, he's deaf and dumb, but I'm used to his ways and he knowed what I wanted. Johnny's lame, too, and I seed him sink back on his bed, which is side of mine, and when I see him kind of fall back and look as if it was all up with him, I says to myself: 'Johnny, you an' me been friends and I ain't going to leave you; it's your life or mine;' so I just seized his night gown by the collar with my teeth and dragged him along to the door. My brace broke and my leg began to hurt pretty bad, but I made motions to him to get on my back, and he did, and I crawled along with him to the door and began to go down stairs, but my brace broke again and swung round an' knocked me over, and just then as I was fallin', I seed a peeler and grabbed his club, and just saved me and Johnny from going down head first. I knowed I'd done all I could then, and the peeler he took us down."—The Epoch.

Poison of Human Teeth.

"The poison conveyed by human teeth is one of the most annoying that a physician ever has to deal with," writes Dr. A. C. Robinson. "A bitten ear or nose is months in healing, where a more important wound inflicted by an instrument would readily yield to simple remedies. I have under my attention severe and most complicated cases of blood poisoning, in which the patient had but slightly abraided the hand in the course of a fight by striking the knuckles against the teeth of his opponent. I have known hands thus poisoned only saved from amputation by the application of all the resources of science. Tobacco or whisky, or disarrangement of the stomach from many other causes, may be responsible for this poisonous condition of the teeth, and I am not prepared to say that a man with good health and a clean, sweet mouth would convey the poison, but I can only speak of the frequency of this class of cases and the difficulty of attending them successfully."—Chicago News.

The Old Adam.

Our little 5-year-old Sheila is very fond of animal stories, and her "Papa Howard" has drawn freely upon natural history and his imagination in trying to show her how other little animals behaved and what happened to them when they were good or naughty. A few nights ago she checked him with: "Oh, I'm sick and tired of these good bunnies. Tell me about the bad ones. They have lots more fun!"—Idaho Democrat.

CULTIVATE BUHACH.

A California exchange says:

The Dalmatian insect powder, being the California preparation of a plant known as buhach, retails at $1 per pound. It seems to be rising continually in price, and its cultivation is giving large returns to those engaged therein. The process of curing and powdering is comparatively inexpensive, and we wonder that our farmers have allowed this paying industry to escape their notice so long. At Stockton most of the buhach grown in California has been prepared for market, and its production and preparation appears to have been in the hands of a few people. The plant is said to thrive well in nearly all parts of California, in any soil that brings vegetables to perfection.

The demand for this insect powder is increasing, and if the plant will grow in California, it certainly will here. Let some one try its cultivation, and test its quality.

AN INCOMPETENT CRITIC.

We think the anonymous communication criticising the Board of Health, which appeared in Saturday's Bulletin, might have had more weight with intelligent and sensible people if it had not been prefaced with an unnecessary and entirely undeserved endorsement of the way in which Mr. Gibson conducted the affairs of the same bureau. A person who, in view of Mr. Gibson's record as President of the Board of Health, can say, "I believe he did his duty in this department well, and was always ready to take the advice of our best medical men," shows either an ignorance of, or a disregard for facts of common notoriety, which goes far towards proving him an incompetent critic. There are no facts connected with the late administration more fully proven and generally known than Mr. Gibson's unwillingness to be guided by the advice of competent medical opinion, and the condemnation of him and his doings by every physician in Honolulu except one or two—probably only one—whose support was well paid for in official emoluments. If we were in the position of the Board, we should consider the disapproval of those who endorse its management under Mr. Gibson, as one of the highest compliments we could receive. As nothing definite is advanced against the personal character, or the official and professional qualifications of the Board or its appointees, the communication in question requires very little further notice. It may be well enough, perhaps, to correct one inaccuracy which we assume to be unintentional. The physicians to the Insane Asylum and the Jail are not appointed by the Board of Health, and are in no way under their jurisdiction.

VITAL STATISTICS.

Our correspondent "Vita," and the Bulletin as well, appear to be altogether unaware of the fact that a record of births, not only for Honolulu but also for the whole Kingdom, has been kept for many years back. This work is in charge of the Board of Education, and the school teachers throughout the country are constituted the agents of the Board for the purpose of collecting the information required. As a slight stimulus to their exertions they receive a small fee—we believe either five or ten cents—for each case reported. Mr. W. J. Smith, the secretary of the Board, will, we presume, be glad to give any desired information regarding the details of this work. Another fact not generally known, is that the same Board collects, through the same agency, statistics of deaths as well as births for the whole Kingdom. The biennial summary of births and deaths for the entire country, which may be found in the ministerial reports prepared for successive legislatures, are generally, if not always, made up from these figures of the Board of Education, and not from the figures of the Board of Health. The latter body keeps no record at all of births, and no record of deaths outside of Honolulu. At least such was the case not long ago. The statistics collected in this way are confessedly imperfect, and, so far as the births are concerned, have, for reasons which need not be here specified, become within the last few years much more imperfect than formerly. In the matter of the Honolulu mortality, the discrepancy between the figures of the two Boards is sometimes most extraordinary. The whole question of our sanitary statistics is in a very unsatisfactory state and deserves intelligent and thorough discussion.

LOVE IN ELECTION BETS.

A Wager That Ended in a Happy Marriage.

John W. Conlow, a young real estate dealer of this city, has for some time been paying court to Miss Mary Voight, a pretty young lady of American birth and French extraction. He was a Republican and she a Democrat. Last week they agreed that if Cleveland should be elected they should part company and not speak until another Presidential election had been decided. If Harrison proved a winner they were to marry before Christmas. The wedding will take place.—Minneapolis Special to Chicago Herald.

He was Excused.

We had met to determine when and where we should pitch our tent this fall. One member suggested that we start either before or after Circuit Court had met, for some of us would surely be summoned on the jury. Then H. C. S., the genial captain of our party, said: "Did you ever hear how I was excused from serving some time ago? While Judge Buckner presided over this district some time ago, I was summoned, and after Court was called I went to the Judge and asked to be excused, as I had urgent business to attend to at home which required my presence."

The Judge replied: "There are no doubt twenty-five men here who would want to be excused for similar reasons. I cannot excuse you."

"Your Honor, I have served as juror in this Court for three consecutive terms, and you ought to excuse me this time for these reasons."

"That," answered the Judge, "only proves your value to the county as a juror. I cannot excuse you."

"Your Honor, I have still others. You ought to excuse me for old acquaintance's sake. When I was quite a small boy you used to camp on my father's farm every spring to keep from serving on the jury in the adjoining county, and I used to supply you with fishing worms."

"You are excused," cried the Judge, amid the roars of laughter that followed from the officers of the Court.—[Forest and Stream.

NEWS AND NOTES.

Spoils of Scissors and Pen from Exchanges.

The Indianapolis Journal says that Civil Service Reform must move forward, not backward, and that President-elect Harrison is in full sympathy with it.

The cause of women's rights in France has progressed to the point of the introduction of a bill to grant to trades women paying licenses the right to vote at elections of Judges of the Tribunal of Commerce.

Seth B. Woolworth, who has grown gray as a reporter of the St. Paul Globe, has by a decision of the United States Supreme Court acquired undisputed possession of property in that city valued at $100,000.

An interview with Representative Oates of Alabama, wherein he proposes to disfranchise the negroes and to amend the Constitution of the United States, limiting suffrage to white men of twenty-one years of age and upward, is exciting considerable attention.

A case of leprosy exists at Harold, Hughes County, Dakota Territory. The victim is the child of a Mrs. Bausum, who was a missionary in China when the child was born. The case was examined in New York a year ago and pronounced to be one of leprosy. The afflicted family have no communication with their neighbors.

Retrenchment is the watchword of the British court. Various economic reforms are to be effected there, particularly in the Departments of the Lord Chamberlain and Master of the Horse. Prince Albert endeavored to effect this years ago, but vested interests were too great for him. The vacant office of Chief Marshal is not to be filled.

At the Baudin demonstration in Paris, Dariet, in an oration, after a vigorous attack upon Boulanger, said: "The Democracy, acquiring renewed strength in the example of the glorious dead, is prepared to face Cæsarism, which again is daring to raise its head. Comforted by the noble memories of the past, let us unite with confidence."

A curious illustration of the unwillingness which some persons of undoubted solvency show to paying small bills came to light lately in the settlement of the estate of an old bachelor named Simpson. Among the bills presented and allowed by the Court was one for 277 weeks' washing at $1.50 per week, amounting in all, with interest, to $494.45.

Representative Stone of Kentucky has introduced a joint resolution in Congress proposing an amendment to the Constitution providing that the President and Vice-President be chosen every fourth year by the direct votes of the people. One section of the bill forbids the holding of any local or State elections, except for members of Congress, on the day set apart for the election of President and Vice-President.

The Philadelphia Record, in an article of hope in the ultimate success of the Panama Canal, says: "It is true that an American company is about to undertake the construction of the Nicaragua Canal, but that is no reason why there should be any national jealousy of the older enterprise. Two canals uniting the great oceans would be better than one. In the frequent convulsions of nature in the tropics one of these means of intercourse might be rendered unfit for navigation, and it would be exceedingly desirable to have the other open to commerce."

Editor Joel of the Grand Army Gazette confirms the story of the movement toward organizing Democratic Grand Army posts. Joel says the movement will be national in extent. Major William Warren, Commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, at a reception by Lafayette Post, No. 40, New York, said: "The Grand Army of the Republic guarantees to each of its members the fullest rights as regards political and religious opinions. Its platform is so broad and its principles so noble that there is only room in the United States and never will be room for more than one Grand Army of the Republic." The statement brought forth the heartiest applause.

Two men named Greer and Crouse made a unique bet on the Presidential election. Greer was a Democrat and had a good-looking wife, while Crouse was a Republican and a bachelor. The bet was $100 of the latter's money against Greer's wife, that Harrison would be elected. The first difficulty arose about who should hold the stakes. Crouse was willing to put his money into the hands of a mutual friend, but Greer said there wasn't a man in the United States honest enough to hold his wife, so it was decided that each man would retain his stakes and settle up after election. The time for a settlement has now come, but Crouse seems disposed to back out of his bargain and decline to accept the woman, on the ground that he will have to take her two children with her. The prospect of possessing a ready made family fails to fascinate the bachelor breast.

Senator Ingalls, president of the U. S. Senate, having been publicly charged with having circulated reports in Washington, reflecting on President Cleveland's domestic life, flatly denied the truth of the charges, in language which could not be misunderstood, and toward the close of his statement pays the following beautiful tribute to "the first lady of the American Republic:" "President Cleveland's marriage was the most popular act of his administration. The mistress of the White House has no enemy and no rival in the affectionate admiration of the American people. Amid many temptations to levity and many opportunities for frivolity she has borne herself with unexampled grace, dignity and composure. Adulation has not disturbed the charming and unaffected simplicity of her character. She will carry with her into retirement the unabated honor and regard of all who have been so fortunate as to know her. She will remain among the noblest illustrations of American womanhood so long as virtue has a votary or beauty a champion."

POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

For quick raising, the Royal Baking Powder is superior to all other leavening agents. It is absolutely pure and wholesome and of the highest leavening power. It is always uniform in strength and quality and never fails to make light, sweet, most palatable and nutritive food. Bread, biscuits, muffins, cake, etc., raised with Royal Baking Powder may be eaten hot without distressing results to the most delicate digestive organs. It will keep in any climate without deterioration.

Prof. H. A. Mott, U. S. Government Chemist, after examining officially the principal baking powders of the country, reported:

"The Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure, for I have so found it in many tests made both for that company and the United States Government.

"Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the proper proportions of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public.

COMMERCIAL.

HONOLULU, Jan. 7, 1889.

Arrivals from foreign ports during the past week have been the U. S. S. Adams, from Samoa en route to San Francisco; bark Forest Queen and brigantine J. D. Spreckels, San Francisco; bark James A. King, Port Townsend; British yacht Nyanza, South Seas.

The only departure from this port has been the S. S. Takasago Maru for Japan.

Receipts of produce from the outports have comprised 24,782 bags sugar and 4,411 bags rice.

A heavy windstorm on the first two days of the month must have done some damage to both sugar and rice crops. In the case of the sugar the effect will be less severe than it would have been when the cane was younger than most of it is now. The storm affected receipts, as the steamer Kinau, having touched the reef at Maalaea, came in empty and another vessel had to be sent for her load.

A partial failure of the crops in Australia has stimulated Californian exports of grain, flour and feed to that quarter. The steamer Mariposa took 235 tons of corn, 100 tons of wheat, and 225 tons of flour. The Zealandia, sailing Jan. 12th, had weeks ago engaged 250 tons each of flour, barley and corn. Steamers to sail in February and March each have engaged 250 tons of barley.

Coffee has lately gone up flying in the foreign markets, and it is a pity this country has not something worth while of this product to export, seeing that the article grown here is not excelled in quality by any producing country.

Brazil, that has been one of the United States' good customers for flour, has begun to grind wheat at home. Two flour mills are running in Rio, with a weekly production of 3,000 barrels, most of the wheat coming from the Argentine Republic, Chile, Australia and New Zealand.

The German Export Society in Berlin will devote a capital of 5,000,000 marks to the building of a large steamer which will contain a complete emporium of every species of manufacture to be sold in foreign ports. This idea of a floating exhibition seems to be original, although exhibitions on wheels for the railways are common in the United States. California is having one such talked up now, to exhibit products of that State in the East. The German exhibition steamer will be called the "Kaiser Wilhelm."

D. Spreckels only the last six months.

The American brigantine John D. Spreckels, Captain C. Christiansen, arrived in port early January 5th, 19 days from San Francisco with a full cargo of general merchandise and two new cars for the Hawaiian Tramways Company. Reported having had winds from S E to S W and W almost the entire passage, excepting the last two days, when heavy trade winds were had. Mr. Myron H. Jones has been presented with a gold scarf pin in recognition of his services as accompanist in the recent production of "Patience."

SERIOUS ASSAULT.

A Custom House Watchman Attacked at His Home.

Hakuelo, a native watchman for the Customs on the bark Forest Queen, was assailed at his house near Smith's bridge, Beretania street, after midnight of Saturday by a gang of ruffians. They pulled him out of his bed and proceeded to beat him unmercifully. One of his eyebrows was laid open, it is believed with steel knuckles. Hakuelo noticed a flash of shining metal as the blow was falling, which he at first thought was from a knife. He raised an outcry and the police responding arrested one of his assailants, who proved to be one of the Forest Queen's crew. The motive for the outrage is naturally suspected to be resentment at the watchman's faithful prevention of opium smuggling.

Wanted for Fame or Fortune.

The Philadelphia Times remarks: "If the Pacific Coast gets a representative in Harrison's Cabinet it will be in the person of John F. Smith." Who is this secret, dark and midnight Smith?—Alta California.

He's here, "if you please," but can't be spared for anything else than fame or fortune.

The New York Press on the Message.

The New York Post editorially says: The President's message of last December gave the country a surprise by its boldness, and the present will do hardly less. If that portion of the message which treats of the communism of capital gives a shock to the capitalistic class, it is precisely what they need.

The Commercial Advertiser (Independent), says editorially: The message is a notable state paper, and will profitably direct popular thought, and if Congress is not wholly given over to mere partisan wrangling, will aid in securing wise legislation in the Fifteenth Congress.

The Mail and Express editorially says: On the whole we think most Americans will be glad as they read this message that it is probably the last one which will emanate from the present Chief Magistrate.

An editorial in the Evening Sun (Dem.) says: The second session of the Fiftieth Congress met at noon to explain how it got bounced by the American people. The prisoner at the bar said that American justice was more honest than eloquent. God has given you a good Constitution and sense, instead of which you go about the country stealing ducks. Alas, for any Congress that has a good chance and wastes it, stealing ducks, or chasing rainbows, or conducting an educational campaign.

The Japan Mail learns from private advices that the prospects of the Formosa sugar crop are very unsatisfactory and that, owing to heavy rains in August, the yield is estimated at only half last season's production. In addition it is feared the standing cane will be interfered with in the fighting that is going on.

GEO. W. LINCOLN,

THE WELL-KNOWN BUILDER, IS STILL IN THE FIELD AS A CONtractor, and is now better prepared to do any and all kinds of work appertaining to contracting or any other class of work belonging to his trade, in the same good and workmanlike manner as heretofore; having curtailed my shop expenses and still retain plenty of room to do any and all kinds of work appertaining to the building trade that may be entrusted to my care. I am enabled to do the same at very low rates, to suit the extremely dull times, and at the same time bearing in mind that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Thanking the public for past favors,
I remain respectfully yours,

Railroad Men's Superstitions.

"Talk about superstitions! Railroad men are as superstitious as they make them," remarked an old engineer as he was oiling his engine. "I have as much faith in my machine as I have in a human being, and she acts as crankily sometimes. Oh, yes, she has her spells. Sometimes she will make steam like a daisy. At other times she won't steam at all. I can't account for it. There's lots of superstitions among the boys, and you can bet they believe in them strongly. Take that which gives the accidents following one another, everybody believes that.

"I'll tell you a peculiar circumstance, though. On the Erie they had an old engine years ago known as the 222. She had the reputation of being the worst man-killer on the road, and hardly a week passed that she didn't have an accident to her record. The men became so much afraid of her that they refused to work on her, and the officials were in a quandary. At last in despair they sent her to the Susquehanna shops, rebuilt her, changed her number and turned her loose on the eastern end of the road. She kept up the same capers until she got as bad a reputation as she had before. Men refused to work with her, and one day it leaked out that she was the old 222. That settled it, nobody cared for a place on her. A short time afterwards she was ditched and injured so badly that she was almost in pieces. No effort was made to put her together again, and she was consigned to the scrap heap. Her brasses, etc., were gradually used up until the mere shell was left, when she was sold as old iron." —Buffalo News.

Egg Laying Extraordinary.

The turtle had ascended the beach to a point above high tide, had stirred up the sand, leaving a great heap over her eggs, and returned to the water but a short time before we landed. This was shown by the ebbing tide, which had retreated only a short distance from her last tracks. The eggs were laid in a bunch and covered with sand a foot and a half deep. There were just 139 of them. They resemble a white rubber ball, an inch and a half in diameter. The sea turtle's eggs have a peculiar flavor, but are very palatable. The glair becomes tough and leathery by boiling, and is always thrown away.

The breeding season of the loggerhead (chelonia caretta) lasts from May well into August, according to the statement of our guide, who also said that they deposited eggs several times in this period, producing as many as 180 at the first laying, and perhaps no more than two or three at the last. The natives make a business like search for these eggs each year, and sometimes surprise the female turtle on the beach. When she has once begun the egg laying process it has to be finished, even if she is turned on her back and made a prisoner immediately after. The extraordinary egg producing power of these animals is all that preserves them from immediate extinction. —Popular Science Monthly.

Just the Same as Millionaires.

A fashionable craze among men of small means is to have a bank account and to make all payments by check. The savings banks ordinarily do not permit deposits to be drawn but by checks, and when money is taken from the institution the pass book has to be presented to the cashier, and most of the national banks of this city require $500 to be placed in their hands before they will open a current account. A few of the larger institutions require a deposit of from $1,000 to $5,000. The banks stipulate that the deposit shall never be less than the sum they require to open the account, but this rule is not enforced in all banking institutions. The deposit of $500 is in some of the small institutions not enforced, and very often if the accounts could be seen the balance to the credit of the depositor is only a few dollars.

"Payments by check are the safest way of settling any account," said a cashier of a bank to a reporter. "If you give a man a check he must indorse it before he can get the money, so that you always have his receipt. Then the money is paid by the bank to some responsible person, so that the payment can always be proved by tracing how the money was paid. Should a check be lost payment can always be stopped."—New York Mail and Express.

Forcing in the Public Schools.

I know perfectly well that I shall probably be called an old fogy, if not a crank, for presuming to think that anything in the past can be better than the present. But I insist that the forcing system, as practiced in many of our schools, is conducive neither to a good education, good health nor to beauty of face or form. To learn many things indifferently and none well is now the practice in most of our public schools, where so many of our girls spend six hours of the day trying in vain to translate some obscure passage in Virgil or to solve some difficult problem in algebra. Nor does the hard study end with the six hours' close confinement, varied only by a change from one class room to another or the climbing of stairs, which sooner or later is sure to tell upon the physical frame. Where there are so many lessons to be learned, and so long, there is scarcely any leisure for exercise in the open air or recreation of any kind, no time for home intercourse or duties and those talks with mother or grandmother which in after years will be so precious to the woman and remembered long after Cicero and Euclid are laid upon the shelf. —Mary J. Holmes in New York Mail and Express.

Going a Little Too Far.

There was a case in the paper the other day in which it appeared that a lady's maid named Vincent had been dismissed for refusing to lace her mistress' boots. Now, it seems to my unsophistocated mind that this valeting, whether male or female, and whether the valet be a prison warder or not, is a very poor business on both sides, and quite as degrading to the valeted as to the valet. I don't think that I should like to be stripped or dressed by another person. I have never known which to pity more accurately, Morgan setting up Maj. Pendennis or the major being set up by Morgan. I remember once, at a little inn in the north of Italy, I asked for a cigar, and the obliging waiter brought it to me lit. I thought this was going too far at the time. But, after all, it was only the principle of valeting carried to its logical conclusion.—London Truth.

Utilizing Ocean Wave Force.

An experiment is being made on the California coast to test the utility of ocean wave force. At an opening in some cliffs great fans are suspended, and their movement at the ebb and flow of the waves is so geared as to work immense pumps, which are designed to fill large reservoirs on elevations, these being used to supply water power to manufactories of various kinds.—Chicago Herald.

Concerning "Patent Medicines."

From 1861 up to 1883 the manufacturers of specifics had to get out patents and pay into the treasury 4 per cent. of their receipts. As there were 5,000 articles on the list, the government derived a large revenue from this source. The amount for the twenty-two years reached $36,000,000. In 1883 the tax was abolished. —New York Commercial Advertiser.

SHURMAN AT IT ACAIN.

The members of the Lynn Cycle Club took a trip down to Portland. The party comprised J. H. Young, J. H. Shurman, A. H. Carsley, E. G. Borgholtz, J. F. Allen, J. F. Dow, J. H. Littlefield, A. W. Lewis and A. Wiswell. On their arrival in Portland, and after a good breakfast at the Preble House, the Portland Wheel Club took the visitors in hand for a run to Prouts Neck, a distance of some fourteen miles. On the way out the party passed Spurwick Hill, an eminence that has never been climbed by a cyclist. To the surprise of the Down Easters, Shurman announced that he would ride up the hill if any one of the Portland men would ride down. This was very promptly agreed to, as the local men thought the hill unrideable. Some of the men rode down the hill, as also did Shurman, and then on arriving at the bottom Shurman turned round and rode to the top, to the amazement of those who had never seen Shurman ride. This was on Sunday, and the achievement of the Lynn man made the locals anxious to see what the visitor could do with the Park Street Hill, a terror to Portland wheelmen, and one that has never been climbed more than twice in succession. So on Monday the party repaired to the hill, and after Carsley, Allen and Littlefield had climbed it once and cried enough, Shurman went at it and went up and down six times without a dismount. To say that the Portland men were dumfounded is putting it mildly. Shurman rode his Springfield Roadster. [Will some Portland reader kindly give us the grades of the Spurwick and Park Street Hills, and oblige? ED. BICYCLE WORLD.]

We give you the facts. Draw your own inference. But remember our prices are moderate, our goods warranted against defective material and workmanship for one year; absolutely safe against headers, speedy and a good all around road wheel. CATALOGUE FREE.
