VENTURE.

THIS fast trotting stallion has been withdrawn from training and will now be kept for stock purposes exclusively. He has shown as much speed as ever and had it not been for an accident which befell him a few days before the race, he being dead lame on the 11th, we think that he would have given the gang a hard tussle for the money.
He is now all right again, and is being regularly jogged at the track, and can show close to a 2:30 clip at any time that he is called upon. This kind of treatment has been found by long experience to be the right plan to adopt with a stallion, as by it he is not only a surer foal-getter, but also he will transmit a greater amount of speed, energy and vigor to his offspring. This plan is now the rule in all of the large breeding establishments everywhere.
To parties owning good mares this is an opportunity that should not be neglected, for Venture, with his fine breeding and great speed, I consider the most desirable stock horse in the country.
Mr. Campbell tells me that of all of the horses that he has imported to this country, which is probably a dozen or more,
he likes his colts by Venture better than any of them, which is surely proof enough of his qualities as a stock-getter.
Mares will be taken to the Park and returned free of charge. For any additional particulars apply to corner of Punchbowl and Queen Streets.

PARTY HACKISM.

Apparently the Advertiser is so dependent itself that it cannot recognize independent opinion anywhere else. This disposition it showed, in a very unrefined manner, a short time ago, by the unwarranted and untrue reflections it cast upon this paper's discussion of municipal incorporation. The offense was repeated by that journal the other day, when it charged to partisan opposition the criticism of this paper upon the Government's action in regard to a certain foreign mission and a commission. It will be very fortunate for the kingdom if events do not prove the unwisdom of the policy pursued in those cases. There was no partisan motive in our showing the danger of the kingdom appearing in a false position from particular acts of the executive. That the kingdom has been so placed will be admitted when it is known that the policy in question has been made a matter of concern to a friendly Power. Again our contemporary flies off at a tangent over an item of news and comment in our columns yesterday, regarding the cause of the visit of a Special Commissioner from Japan to this country. In this case the Advertiser has to resort to the device of giving a gratuitous interpretation to our language, to make it bear any amount of irrelevant comment. Our paragraph did not assert that the Special Commissioner came here to "verify" anything. Neither did it imply that that official came here in anything but a friendly spirit. Our contemporary, moreover, is whacking at a man of straw of its own architecture, when it denies the charge that no one made, that either the Government or the system was blamable for an "evil" discovered by the Commissioner. Nothing is proved contradictory of the Japan news that further emigration was prohibited, by the fact that about a thousand immigrants came with the Commissioner. Not a man would have been sent to a plantation until the injurious reports had been investigated and found baseless. Had they been found otherwise, doubtless the whole lot of immigrants would have gone back on the same steamer, and there would have been a nice claim of damages against this country, on the ground of enticing Japanese from home on false pretences. We believe the news item from Japan, referred to, to be substantially correct, and published it as a hint to all concerned that the price of further supplies of labor from Japan, and of the retention of those already here, was the good treatment of laborers from that country. That the Advertiser writer believes with us regarding the origin of the Commissioner's visit is shown by his own words, namely: "He [the Commissioner] found that there was no justification whatever for the injurious reports that had been sent from this country, except in a single instance, and even there he was satisfied that steps were being taken to correct the evil." The Government might have a more discreet, if not a more zealous trumpeter of its sublime virtues. To fly to its defense when no assailant is in sight is suggestive of too great anxiety to exhibit subservience in return for sustaining favor.

"NONSENSICAL DRIVEL."

When a regular market is established in Honolulu, and the hawking of produce round town is forbidden, there will be some inducement for white men and Hawaiians to take the advice of the Advertiser and raise vegetables, eggs and poultry for local consumption. There is no "nonsensical drivell" over white labor in agricultural pursuits being driven out of the country. The cry goes up on behalf of white mechanics crowded out, and white men being denied land sufficient to enable them to live by the agricultural pursuits now monopolized by the Chinese. Does our contemporary mean to say that white men and Hawaiians can compete with the Chinese in occupations to which the latter are peculiarly adapted, while they cannot stand against mechanical skill that John borrows from them? The Chinese horticulturist and poulterer is enabled to thrive by facilities granted him by corporations of his countrymen, similar to those that the Government should, but does not, bestow upon white men and Hawaiians. No white man can live and pay the ground rent the Chinese pay. One of the first requisites to afford other people a chance of subsistence off the soil, is to open exclusively to their industry public lands, or lands of private owners obtainable upon easy terms, and so place them upon an equal footing with the Chinese, who are the only ones who can now pay the exorbitant rents asked by large holders of land for speculative purposes. The people must be sick of that nonsensical drivell, that in one line shouts against Mongolian ascendancy, and in the next taunts white men and Hawaiians with their indisposition to enter the lists of competition with cheap John in vegetable growing and peddling.

MR. SQUIRES' DISCLAIMER.

"Barbarians" was about the only word that would stand for Mr. Squires' estimate of the Japanese immigrants. Readers of his first letter will not bear him out in his disclaimer. His second letter was not published in full, because it did not touch the question on its merits till the last sentence but one, which read thus: "Inasmuch as the people of Honolulu have lately been treated to a free exhibition of these Japanese coolies, and been able to make a fair and scrutinizing examination for themselves, they are now able to judge of Japanese morals and state of civilization: therefore, I shall rest my case and abide by the public decision."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The San Francisco Merchant has doubled its circulation in the year that it has been in Mr. C. R. Buckland's hands. It bids fair to become a well established and profitable newspaper property under our friend's able management.

"There are certain features about this Chinese immigration which appear to require investigation." A letter received from Hongkong yesterday by a gentleman in this city, gives the information that Hawaiian as well as California certificates command as high as forty dollars each there. If no system of unmistakable identification of holders of certificates can be devised, the granting of certificates will have to be stopped. The civilized residents of this kingdom are beginning to feel in earnest upon this question.

On the fourth page of to-day's issue appears a detailed statement of the colonization policy adopted by the new President of Guatemala. The example, if not the particulars, of the action of President Barillas may be useful to the Hawaiian Government. If it is true, as the Gazette alleges, that this Government is putting obstacles in the way of the land settlement scheme of the Legislature, then there is something rotten in the state of Hawaii, demanding the united and patriotic attention of every citizen.

Miss Proudlesh (of N. Y.)—"Oh, dear, yes. I know all about Canada. It's a lovely country." Miss Oldfam—"You have summered there?" "Oh, we never consider one summer anything. We spent several years there. It was just after pa retired." "Retired?" "Yes. I don't remember what bank he was connected with."

BRADLEY SENTENCED.

There was quite an audience present in the Supreme Court this morning when it opened at ten o'clock. After Justice McCully had taken his seat on the bench, Henry Bradley was brought up to receive his sentence for having opium in possession. His Honor said this was the second offense. Bradley here asked if he could say a word, and explained that the former sentence he served, was not for his own wrong doings, but he went to prison for an old friend of his, who was really the guilty party. His Honor remarked that this former sentence had not deterred him from going into the business again. There were strong indications that he was in the business and carrying it on very systematically, the fact of being found in possession of so large a quantity of opium as 99 tins. It was a pretty large deal. The Justice said he felt sorry for Bradley, but still he ought not to. It was almost like making money with state prison before his eyes. He did not see any reason for reducing the sentence imposed upon Bradley in the Police Court, viz.: six months' imprisonment at hard labor and a fine of $250. The sentence would stand as it was. Mr. Hartwell then asked the Court for a respite of sentence for ten days. The defendant had been led to expect that his case would probably go over to the October term, which would give him time to fix up his business affairs. It would take him about ten days to wind them up. He thought justice would be equally satisfied. His Honor asked what bail Bradley had been out on. Bradley replied $1,000, but he could furnish three or four thousand if wanted. His Honor said he would grant a respite of ten days, but the defendant must furnish a bail bond in the sum of $5,000. The defendant must surrender himself August 8th, and good conduct while in prison would help to diminish his sentence somewhat.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, July 30.

T. Short, on a charge of disorderly conduct, was remanded until to-morrow. Kaolala was charged with violating rule No. 25 of express rules by being in an intoxicated condition while in charge of his wagon. He pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and $3 costs.

SUPREME COURT.

WEDNESDAY, July 29th.

Before the full bench. M. S. Gribbaum & Co. vs. Heeia Sugar Co., et al., in re petition of J. Fowler et al., on appeal in equity. Ordered that the decision of the Court below be reversed and petition denied with costs.

A DENIAL.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—You certainly do me an injustice in your issue of this date, where you state that I rest my whole argument that "the Japanese are barbarians upon the appearance they make in our streets." In no part of my letter did I allude to them as "barbarians" nor did I intend to do so, and I cannot conceive how you could so have misconstrued any sentence. Inasmuch as you allowed "Kamaaina" the use of your columns to make what may be considered an unfair comment upon me, I certainly expected the right of reply through your columns. Also, if my views did not meet with your approbation, you could have returned my letter without misrepresentation or comment. Z. Y. SQUIRES. Honolulu, 28th July, 1885.

NOT HIS OBJECT.

There was an empty box in front of a house on Catherine street the other day, and a parcel-boy stopped and picked up a club and began to beat on the box. The noise soon roused a resident, who leaned over his gate and inquired: "Boy, vhas dot you?" "Of course it's me." "What object you haf in sooch poundings?" "To make a noise." "Oh—ah! Vhell, go sheadt. I tink maype your object vhas to disturb me."—Detroit Free Press.

SHE HELD HER GROUND.

At a provincial theatre, shortly after the Glasgow calamity, just before the performance began, a fine-looking woman forced herself past the ticket-taker and planted herself firmly in an unoccupied stall. Presently the manager appeared and politely requested the lady to vacate. She declined.

"You cannot be allowed to remain madame." "I will." "If you do not leave I must have you removed," urged the manager. "Touch me if you dare!" challenged the woman, glaring. "Lay a finger on me and I'll halloo 'Fire!'"

The manager looked around the packed house and the woman remained.—Chicago Tribune.

PRINCESS BEATRICE.

I observe in an American journal that the Princess Beatrice is a tall, slender young lady, with fair hair. I was not aware of it. Had I been called upon to describe her I should have said a fine woman, of the middle height for a woman, and inclined to be stout. Slim! None of the female members of the royal family are that; or, to be more precise, none of the blood relations of Queen Victoria. The Princess Christian is the stoutest of the Queen's daughters, but after her I should decidedly place Princess Beatrice. Vulgarly fat she is not, but she is blessed with a generous figure. She is built, if I may borrow the least sensation of a nautical figure of speech, on pleasantly rounded lines. There is nothing angular about her comeliness, as there was, before her marriage, about that of the late Princess Alice, and also about the contour (contour is a good word, I hope) of the Princess Louise.—London Corr. Philadelphia Bulletin.

WATER AND EARTHQUAKES.

Prof. Proctor says that in considering the earth's subterranean activities we have to look outside for a part at least of the causes of disturbance. The air perhaps may in this respect be neglected, but the water is all important. It has been said, indeed, and probably with a nearer approach to truth than usual in the case of generalization of the sort, "Without water there can be no volcano," and a similar rule (not quite so general) applies to earthquakes; few probably occur, possibly none, save through the action of water in some way or other. All active volcanoes except one (in mid Asia) are by the seashore. Nearly all the great earthquakes recorded by history have taken place, and have apparently had their centre of disturbance near the sea. There can be very little doubt, indeed, that the direct cause of every great subterranean disturbance is water in the form of steam—steam superheated.

WHAT WEBSTER EXPECTED OF NEWS-PAPER MEN.

Daniel Webster used to expect the unqualified support of those journalists who espoused his cause. Among them, in 1843, was Nathan Sargent, then the editor of the Philadelphia Commercial Herald, a Whig journal, regarded at that time as friendly to Mr. Webster's aspirations to the Presidential nomination. At the adjournment of Congress Mr. Webster, accompanied by his wife, came to Philadelphia and stayed over night at the Washington House. Mr. Sargent called on him the next morning as he was about to take the New York boat for Bordentown. He found the great statesman in an unamiable mood. The star of Clay was in the ascendency, and the orator of New England was gloomy and "out of sorts with fortune." As they walked down Chestnut street to the boat, Webster strode on in advance with Sargent, leaving Mrs. Webster to take care of herself, and began at once to arraign Sargent for not being more outspoken in his behalf in the Herald. Sargent defended himself with the remark that "public opinion in Pennsylvania was not ready for his nomination." "Why didn't you make public opinion?" growled Webster in reply, and here the conversation ended.—Ben. Perley Poore in Boston Budget.

WISE SAYINGS.

If the human intellect hath once taken a liking to any doctrine * * * it draws everything else into harmony with that doctrine, and to its support.—Lord Bacon.

Love is the most dunder-headed of all the passions; it will never listen to reason. The very rudiments of logic are unknown to it. "Love has no wherefore," says one of the Latin poets.—[Bulwer Lytton.

Great talents for conversation should be attended with great politeness. He who eclipses others owes them great civilities; and whatever a mistaken vanity may tell us, it is better to please in conversation than to shine in it.

Friends, let us hold by our hopes. * * * All things here pass; yet say not they are but hopes. It is because they are not the thing hoped for that they are precious—the very opals of the soul. By our hopes are we saved.—[George Macdonald.

To every man of great original power there comes, in early youth, a moment of sudden discovery—self-recognition—when his own nature is revealed to himself, when he catches for the first time a strain of that immortal song to which his own spirit answers, and which becomes thenceforth and forever the inspiration of his life, "like noble music unto noble words."—[Garfield.

Sorrow is divine. Sorrow is reigning on all the thrones of the universe, and the crown of all crowns has been one of thorns. There have been many books that treat on the sympathy of sorrow, but only one that bids us glory in tribulation, and count it all joy when we fall into divers afflictions, that so we may be associated with that great fellowship of suffering of which the incarnate Son of God is the head, and through which He is carrying a redemptive conflict to a glorious victory over evil. If we suffer with Him, we shall also reign with Him.—[Harriet Beecher Stowe.

A SAD EXPERIENCE.

When the picnic goes the dude And leaves behind the dusty tude, And on an anthill in the wood Quite unsuspectingly sits down, What artist's pencil can portray The sudden start, then frenzied mien, The speed with which he hastes away, To seek some lone, sequestered scene! —Boston Courier.

A RACE ROMANCE.

Smith Dandridge, who is one of the best known and most highly respected colored citizens of Akron, O., was born in slavery at Martinsburg, Va., in 1841. Mrs. Dandridge, whose maiden name was Margaret Kaponia Maquet, was born in the Village of Mowe, on one of the Sandwich or Hawaiian Islands, in the year 1848. The history of each prior to their meeting and marriage partakes of the nature of a romance. Mrs. Dandridge's father, Charles Maquet, was a native of the Island of St. Helena, and during his childhood days had often seen Napoleon Bonaparte during the closing days of that celebrated Corsican's banishment. Early in life Maquet grew weary of his native island, and on board a whaling vessel that touched at St. Helena he sailed away. He left the ship at Mowe, the Sandwich Islands port already named. Soon after his arrival there he married the daughter of a native mother and a Chinese father. Their only child was Margaret, and her Malay-Mongolian mother died when she was yet an infant. She was given by her father to an American lady, Mrs. Lewers, wife of a wealthy lumberman and sugar planter then residing there. Mrs. Lewers returned to the United States in 1865 and brought her Sandwich Islands protegee—then almost a woman—with her. Meanwhile Dandridge, in whose veins coursed some Caucasian blood, had worn the galling bonds of slavery until he was 21. Then, in 1862, he ran away from his master to join the Union army while it was passing Martinsburg. In that section of the Union forces was the regiment of Colonel Buckley, and to it the colored fugitive attached himself. The same year the Colonel paid a visit to his home in Akron, and brought Dandridge with him. Here he worked two years upon the farm of A. B. Mathews, who also owned another farm at West Middleton, Pa., and is now a wealthy Western cattle owner. In 1865 Dandridge was sent by Mathews to act as overseer on the Pennsylvania farm, where Mrs. Lewers, sister to Mathews, together with Margaret Kaponia Maquet, the Sandwich Islands girl, were then stopping for a time. The friendship which naturally followed the meeting of Dandridge and the latter soon ripened into love, though born at points almost antipodal upon the earth's geography. They were wedded in 1866, and soon after went to Akron. They have three children, who may justly claim to have within their veins the blood from four of the five great race divisions of mankind. Dandridge combines by the relation of consanguinity the essential element of descendancy from both Caucasian and African races—a thing not uncommon before the war—while Mrs. Dandridge has but to trace her lineage back to grandparents on her mother's side to introduce, as already stated, Malay and Mongolian stock. Could it be established—as is believed by some—that the natives of St. Helena had their origin in the Indian race, the children of Smith Dandridge and Margaret Kaponia Maquet might claim direct descent within three generations from the five great race divisions.—Chicago Herald.

A GUATEMALAN IMMIGRATION SCHEME

A DECREE ISSUED BY PRESIDENT BARILLAS—INDUCEMENTS OFFERED TO IMMIGRANTS.

CITY OF GUATEMALA, June 16, 1885. )

President Barillas has, even more so than the late Gen. Barrios, strongly advocated the continuous improvement of the country and its people, and supported his advocacy with the deeds themselves. A strong and very effective system of economical reforms prevail, and tend to make the country assume a more prosperous aspect that it has hitherto shown. The people themselves are beginning to see that Gen. Barillas means business, and is acting in the best manner possible, and the deserved encomiums which he receives in all parts of the Republic only go to further testify to his well merited popularity. As long as this state of affairs continue there is no doubt of Gen. Barillas' election for a renewed term of the Presidency in September next. Much as foreigners had to bless Gen. Barrios for his patronage, aid and support toward them, and much as they regret his untimely end, still all these blessings and regrets are buried in the joy expressed by all foreigners, especially by Americans, at the mantle of Gen. Barrios having fallen on such worthy shoulders as those of Gen. Barillas. A kind and courteous reception is accorded by the President to all. Appropos of foreigners in Guatemala it will be well to call the attention of Americans that Guatemala and her people are ever ready to receive with open arms those who come to this country having bona fide intentions either to work themselves, or to introduce their inventions into the country. The most liberal terms are offered to such for the advancement of science and progress, as well as for immigration solely.

Among one of the first measures of improvement and advancement made by President Barillas is that of the colonization scheme of some government lands situated in the Department of Alta Vera Paz. Following is a translation of Decree No. 330 relating to the scheme:—

DECREE No. 330.

MANUEL L. BARILLAS,

General of Division and in charge of the Presidency of the Republic of Guatemala.

CONSIDERING:

That, One of the propositions of the Government is to cause laborious and honorable emigrants to come to this country, in order to promote, on the grandest scale, the cultivation of our fertile and inhabited territories; the introduction, into the Republic, of new industries, and all the great benefits which nations, circumstanced like our own, derive from immigration;

That, In the departments of Izabal and Zacapa, in the zone comprised between the Motagua and Polochic rivers, there are vast and fertile lands, with excellent climate and easy means of transportation, in which a colony can be profitably established, aided by concessions and assistance which the Government concedes to those who desire to establish themselves there with the intention of devoting themselves to agricultural pursuits;

That, said colony can be formed, not alone by foreign emigrants, but as well by the sons of this country, who, lacking in their resources and desiring to devote themselves to agricultural pursuits, can profit by the advantages offered to those who wish to settle in the proposed colony.

It is therefore

DECREED:

1. In the District comprising the Government Lands which are to be found between the Polochic and Motagua rivers, and which are bounded on the east by the depressions of the Atlantic Coast, there shall be established an agricultural colony which shall be known as "Entre Rios."

2. Forming part of the colony will be such natives or foreigners who may desire to settle themselves in that locality, and who solicit to have their names inscribed in the register kept for the purpose, before the Minister of Public Works (Ministro de Fomento) or before such authority of the department who shall be duly appointed by that office (Secretariat).

3. The colonists will enjoy the following privileges and exceptions: I—Immediately after locating himself in the place each head of a family will receive five cows just calved, a sufficient number of domestic fowls, agricultural implements, seeds of trees and useful plants, sixty-four manzanas (squares) of land of ten thousand square varas (Spanish yards) each, and $25 in current money.

II—The colonists shall be exempted during ten years from all military service or impressment in the time of peace, and from all those direct contributions, personal taxes or imposts which are not comprised among the imports or taxes which appertain to the immediate vicinity (local tax). The foreign colonists shall, moreover, be exempted during the same time, from all military service, according to the stipulations of the treaties and law in force at the time.

III—During the same period as stated above, there will be a rebate, which shall not exceed 25 percent, on all the duties which may be paid for the importation or exportation of merchandise which may be introduced for the exclusive consumption of the colony, or which may be exported as the produce of the industries of cultivation of those established there.

IV—The benefits which are authorized by the first clause of the preceding section can be modified in a more ample sense, at the discretion of the proper authority, in favor of such families whose members shall exceed five individuals.

V—Those who, without bringing a family, or who are unmarried, desire to inscribe their names in the register of the colony, shall receive two cows just calved, $10 and thirty-two manzanas of land, enjoying besides, the benefits conceded by Section 4.

6. There will be an alteration as well in the benefits, which are set forth in Section 5, upon the arrival of one hundred families and of a like number of colonists, of the description as expressed in the immediate preceding section, in the colony.

7. There will not be received in the colony prison convicts, unless they have been accredited with having changed their conduct after their discharge from prison; disreputable and quarrelsome persons, and those who are addicted to notoriously vicious habits.

8. The colonists will be required: I—Not to change their residence within, at least, the first five years after their settlement in the department.

II—To construct a dwelling-house within the first year, in the place designated by the authorities.

III—To immediately cultivate all or part of the land adjudicated them, planting such grain as they may think most convenient to their interests, and cultivating, as well, the seeds which they receive.

IV—Not to transfer, during ten years, the ground which they have been placed in possession of; being able to do this only when from attendant reasons, they have the permission of the authority to do so.

9. At the expiration of the five years, conditional with the stipulations of the first (I) clause of the preceding section, measurement will be made of the land of which they have been placed in possession, giving to the possessor the respective title of the property. The expenses of measurement and for the documents shall be borne by the interested parties.

10. Those who desert the colony before the expiration of the five years, shall forfeit, in addition to the land and their chattels, the benefits which this law concedes to them, and shall be compelled to return, at a just valuation, the value of the articles with which the authorities presented them.

11. As soon as twenty families shall have settled in the colony, a definite boundary of the town of "Entre Rios" will be made according to the plan and instructions furnished by the Secretary of Public Works; after which, from funds furnished by the National Treasury, an edifice shall be erected which shall serve for the public schools and for the offices of the local authorities.

12. The epoch at which the foregoing stipulations are determined shall serve as a guide to date the time of the expiration of the personal exemptions and authorized concessions to the colonists.

13. The Secretary of Public Works shall undertake:

I—That this law be made known in the exterior through the medium of consular agents.

II—That proper care be taken that the foreign colonists enjoy, above all these already set forth, all the exemptions, facilities and privileges which the laws in force allow to immigrants.

III—That the advantages of the mild climate and fertile soil, its good hydrographic conditions, its close proximity to the seaport, as well as other pertinent information, be made known.

IV—To issue, finally, all the rules and regulations necessary for the execution of this decree.

M. L. BARILLAS, By the Secretary of State in the Board of Public Works.

E. MARTINEZ SOBRAL, In addition to the above, a later supplementary decree has been issued by President Barillas, increasing the amount of money from $25 to $100, together with a free passage to the Republic.—Corres. S. P. Bulletin.
