HIS ANSWER NOT CLEAR

TO STOP WORK ON THE FIRE AWARDS

Secretary Carter Forwarded Long Cable to get Some Positive Information, but Does not Succeed.

Secretary Carter has taken a deep interest in the matter of getting the fire claims money here, but he has run against a great difficulty in getting positive information from Washington, and, as a result, work will be suspended upon the transcript of awards, asked for by Secretary Shaw, until certain doubtful points are cleared up. After reading J. B. Pratt's message conveying the information that the Treasury Department was arranging to send a disbursing officer with money and bonds, Mr. Carter sent the following cablegram: "Pratt, Washington. Just starting transcript awards; this will cost over $500; prefer to stop this and have Secretary Shaw send here immediately a disbursing agent who can bring Hitchcock's instructions as to regulations for bonds; such agent can investigate attorneys charges; prescribe form of surrender to be attached original certificates award; can see necessity for paying out cash, otherwise government warrants may have to be discounted. Legislature now in session; Territory can arrange for agents expenses, also cost of engraving and sale of bonds. See Shaw and Ryan if plan satisfactory to them. Wire at once and will stop work on transcript. Is not sale of bonds a condition precedent to any payment? If so, claimants may take a portion." In answer to the foregoing, Secretary Carter received the following reply this morning: "Shaw message Governor answer yours, Pratt." "Pratt's message is not satisfactory," said Mr. Carter this morning. "I communicated with Governor Dole this morning and learned that he had not received an additional message from Secretary Shaw. Until the doubtful points are cleared up, I will stop all work on the transcript. If a disbursing officer is to come, we will not need the transcript."

The Money Coming

Gov. Dole has cabled a commission to W. O. Smith as Fiscal Agent for the Territory at Washington and New York.

A TREASURY AGENT WILL SOON BE ON HIS WAY TO HONOLULU WITH A MILLION IN COIN AND THE ADDITIONAL BONDS TO SETTLE THE FIRE CLAIMS. THIS CHEERING INFORMATION WAS RECEIVED THIS MORNING BY GOVERNOR DOLE IN A MESSAGE FROM SECRETARY SHAW. THE DISPATCH WAS EVIDENTLY BROUGHT OUT BY SECRETARY CARTEER'S MESSAGE OF YESTERDAY AND READS:

"BONDS WILL BE PREPARED HERE BY TREASURY AGENT. WILL TAKE MILLION AND BONDS TO HONOLULU AND DISBURSE AT TERRITORY'S EXPENSE. TERRITORY SHOULD APPOINT AGENT HERE TO ACT NOW IN DETAIL AND ARRANGE WITH AGENCY IN NEW YORK. SUSPEND PREPARING TRANSCRIPT."

HIS MURDER MANIA

JOHN COLLINS, WHO MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED FROM THE STEAMER W. G. HALL YESTERDAY, TURNS UP WITH AN AXE IN MAKIKI THIS MORNING AND SERIOUSLY WOUNDS THREE AND IS HIMSELF PROBABLY FATALY SHOT.

The insanity of John Collins, for whom the police were hunting last night, took the form of a bloodthirsty mania this morning and as a result of his murderous activity himself and two other men are in the Queen's hospital. Collins probably fatally wounded both the others seriously hurt. The maniac was shot down after a most sensational fight with him, two bullets from a revolver in the hands of Harry Glass finally putting an end to his efforts to kill both Harry and David Glass.

Collins called at the Makiki fire station at about half past five this morning and asked for some coffee. As a former employee of the department, he was well known, and Ben Foster, the cook, who was the only person out at such an early hour, readily gave him some coffee and breakfast. Though it was known that Collins had been acting strangely there was no thought that his mental derangement was likely to take the form of homicidal mania.

Collins carried a hatchet with him when he entered the fire station. He was dressed in clothes which he had secured from an acquaintance in Makiki, after coming ashore from the steamer W. G. Hall and leaving his clothes behind. When he sat down to drink the coffee given him he placed the hatchet on the floor under the table. The cook left the room while Collins sat apparently quietly enjoying the coffee, and when Foster returned it was to find Collins a murderous maniac. Collins struck Foster a frightful blow on the temple, with the blade of the hatchet. It cut into the flesh and bone and literally cut and knocked an eye out. What happened immediately after no one knows. A driver of a milk wagon soon arrived at the station and seeing Collins with the bloody hatchet in his hands asked him what he was doing with it.

"I have just done up one" was the answer, "and I would just as leave do up another." The insane man started for the milkman and the latter fled with Collins after him, leaving Foster lying where he had fallen when struck by Collins. Foster managed to arouse the other fireman at the station, and to get to their rooms, and he was at once sent to the hospital for treatment. His wound will leave a scar for life and cost him an eye but will probably not prove fatal.

Failing to catch the second man he started after Collins went to Beretania street and entered the Glass home at the corner of Beretania and Piikoi. He broke a glass door in getting into the house and once there he attacked the first inmates he saw. Henry and David Glass were there and both were severely injured before the insane man was brought down. Henry Glass received several terrible cuts on the head from the hatchet blade, and he ran to get a revolver. David Glass was also attacked and he received a gash in the back of the head.

Henry Glass fired three shots with his revolver, two of them taking effect, and Collins fell with two bullets in his abdomen. The other shot missed. In the meantime the police had been notified of the Foster incident, and the greatest efforts were being made to catch the insane man. It was impossible to get wind of him, however, in such short time and he kept his liberty long enough to get to the Glass home. His attacks in all the cases appear to have been simply the result of violent insanity and without any rational motive.

The news that Collins was at large created a good deal of alarm and excitement in Makiki. He was supposed to be in that part of the city, and the reports that he had been after weapons led to a good deal of nervousness among housekeepers.

John Collins was a man about thirty-five years old, according to Chief Thurston of the Fire Department, and came here four or five years ago from San Francisco, which is supposed to have been his home. He was not married and so far as is known has no relatives here.

He was a member of the department, a hoseman, for about a year, about eight or nine months of that time being employed at the Makiki station. He was dismissed from the department on account of his drinking habits about a year ago, or perhaps a little longer. From that time on he seems to have had no regular employment. He went from here to Hilo some time ago and his acquaintances of the Fire Department were not aware that he had drifted to Kauai until they heard about him yesterday and today.

Ben Foster, the first victim of Collins' murderous axe, is a Guam man who has lived here a number of years and has been a hoseman in the Fire Department for about four years. The men of the Makiki station have a mess and board themselves. Foster acts as a cook. The cook house is about fifty feet in the rear of the fire station. Foster knew Collins well from his previous connection with the department and when he asked for a cup of coffee, Foster unhesitatingly gave it, having just come out to the cook house a few minutes before to prepare breakfast for the men of the station, none of whom were up except the drivers who were up and about looking after their horses. Foster was married about a month ago. His wife is a young Portuguese woman.

NO MORE SINGING AT "RETREAT". IT WAS TOO MUCH

They don't sing the "Star Spangled Banner" at "Retreat" out at Camp McKinley any more.

When Major McClellan, the new commandant came here and took command of the post, following Captain Pierce who had been in command since Major Davis was relieved for service in the Philippines, he listened to the Artilleryists singing for a few times, and then without making any comments to the men he announced that hereafter the singing would be discontinued. It is said he would have discontinued the practice immediately after hearing the men sing once, but he didn't want to be rash or precipitate. He didn't know but on the first occasion in the presence of a new commandant the boys might have been a little nervous, or perhaps not in good voice.

After hearing them a few more times he came to the conclusion that that was just what was the matter, the men were not in good voice the first time he heard them.

In place of singing the "Star Spangled Banner" Major McClellan has reinstated the practice of dress parade with the men in full uniform and under arms, with drill in battalion formation; all the officers on the field, reports from non-commissioned officers up, the bugle blowing, the flag lowering and all the petty military effects of the ceremony of dress parade.

The men at Camp McKinley are not sorry that the singing at "Retreat" has been abolished. It never was popular. In the first place the average soldier like the average man in other walks of life is not a singer, and if he is he likes to sing for his own pleasure, or amusement, and not at the command of someone else. Then a great many can't sing anyway, and they all looked on the ceremony as a sort of "stiff" affair, a schoolboy function, and it is said by those who have heard the 55th and 67th Companies of Coast Artillery sing the "Star Spangled Banner" that they have heard it better sung.

HOBSON THREATENED WITH BLINDNESS

NEW YORK, February 5.—Asserting that he will go blind unless he leaves the service, Naval Constructor Richmond Pearson Hobson, the hero of the Merrimac, today bitterly criticized Representative Bankhead of Alabama, who has introduced a bill to retire him from the navy on a pension.

"I have been told," he said, "that unless I give up the trying work of my department I must go totally blind. My eyes have been a source of trouble to me since the Spanish war. When I went before the retiring board I was asked if I was then incapacitated and I answered no. Such a board can take no account of the future and so nothing was left for me but a special act of congress, which could retire me on a pension. That is where I first encountered Bankhead. He is from my own district and naturally I went to him with a request that he introduce a bill for my relief. Then politics developed for the first time in my eighteen years' service in the navy.

"Bankhead started me by not only refusing to introduce the measure, but to have anything to do with it. Not only that, but I have absolute proof that his secretary, who is a correspondent for several Alabama papers, sent forth stories calculated to reflect on my desire to get out and intimating that I was only anxious to get free to run for Congress and go into politics. I also knew that it was Bankhead who organized the opposition to and caused the defeat of my bill."

Secretary Moody has decided in view of Captain Hobson's declination to reconsider his proffered resignation, to accept the same. He will take occasion formally to record the navy's high appreciation of the officer's worth.

COMES WITH STARVING CREW

AMERICAN SCHOONER FOREST HOME FROM HAKODATE TO YOKOHAMA IS DRIVEN BY CONTINUOUS GALES OUT OF HER COURSE AND ACROSS THE PACIFIC—THE CREW ON AN ALLOWANCE OF A FEW GRAINS OF RICE A DAY.

With starvation staring the crew in the face since January 8, the American schooner Forest Home came to an anchor off the port last night. Within sight of land, Captain Everson and his crew were powerless to relieve their suffering and had to go to their bunks suffering the pangs of hunger. For the last 36 days the crew of the schooner have been living on barely enough food to sustain life. One cup of rice has been the daily ration during most of that time; and it was with devout thanks that land was sighted yesterday for with the appearance of the Hawaiian islands, the crew realized that they had escaped from a horrible death.

The Forest Home left Hakodate Japan on an December 17 to go to Yokohama. The vessel had 1100 tons of sulphur aboard and was to load some general cargo at Yokohama for San Francisco. Ordinarily the trip from Hakodate to Yokohama does not occupy more than a week. The former port is on the southern coast of Ezo one of the islands of the Japanese group lying directly north of the island of Nippon. Yokohama is situated on the south easterly coast of the latter island. Captain Everson did not lay in a very extensive amount of provisions for that trip as he did not expect that it would require any unusual length of time in which to make the passage.

For the first three days good weather was experienced. Then ensued a succession of westerly and northwesterly gales that drove the schooner before them. For twenty days these gales continued, with not over 24 hours intermission at any one time. The schooner was carried miles to the eastward of her destination. Every time it was possible Captain Everson tried to get

KALAKAUA COINS

About $25,000 in Kalakaua silver coins left the Territorial treasury yesterday for the First National Bank, being the last of the Hawaiian silver in the public vaults. Registrar Henry Hapai and his assistants have sorted out $98,000 in silver since the law for redemption of Hawaiian silver passed, and they found between sixty and seventy thousand of it was Hawaiian. The sum of $40,000 was sent to the bank a few days ago.

WIFE PLAYED DETECTIVE.
Mrs. Frank de Mello told Judge Wilcox yesterday morning how she had played Sherlock Holmes on her husband and another woman and been "licked" for her pains. She had her husband arrested on a charge of assault and battery. The woman claimed that for some time past she had been suspecting that her husband was altogether too free in the bestowal of his affections. In fact she had reason to suspect that one Mary Cambra was the Vampire who had led de Mello away. Mrs. de Mello is a woman of resources so she sent a note to the other woman and signed it Frank, inviting the girl to come to the house that night. Mrs. de Mello dressed herself in her husband's clothes and when Mary appeared proceeded to give her a thrashing. De Mello then appeared and according to the testimony beat his better half. Several love letters of fervent type were read in court. Both were reputed to have been from Mary to Frank. The court sentenced de Mello to serve ten days in jail.

Important Reasons

Why Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co.'s Safes and Locks are the Best?

The concrete filling makes these safes absolutely Fire-Proof and positively Damp-Proof. The solid angle corners add greatly to their security in time of fire, and form the only solid corners made. The patent Bolt Work is superior to any in use and does not require the constant oiling, cleaning, and repairs that is acknowledged in other makes of safes. That although 600,000 of these safes are now in use and many thousands have been tested by some of the most disastrous conflagrations in the United States, THERE IS NOT A SINGLE INSTANCE ON RECORD WHEREIN ONE OF THEM EVER FAILED TO PRESERVE ITS CONTENTS PERFECTLY. They make safes for county treasurers, county recorders, county clerks, jewelers, Hotels, residences, churches and corporations. We have a large assortment of safes on hand and will be pleased to show same.

PLANS FOR SIXTY-FOUR BUILDINGS AT THE NEW MILITARY RESERVATION BEYOND KALIHI.
It is said that plans for sixty-four buildings to be constructed on the new military reservation beyond Kalihi have gone forward to Washington for approval. If this is so it is understood to mean that it is proposed by the War Department to make this a twelve company post. If it is to be manned by artillery this will mean that there will be here between twelve hundred and fifteen hundred men. If it is to be an infantry post the number of men with the same number of companies will be a great deal less as under the new army bill the strength of the army is greatly reduced from what it was, and the reduction has been largely made by reducing the strength of the companies of the infantry branch of the service, without reducing the number of companies. But in the Artillery branch and especially in the Coast Artillery branch the strength of the companies has been maintained. With a military post of twelve or fifteen hundred men near Honolulu a great deal will be added to the business of the town.

LOW RATES FOR TRANSPORTATION

HARRIMAN DETERMINED TO KEEP ORIENTAL BUSINESS AT SAN FRANCISCO—$1.54 A MAN.
WASHINGTON, January 31.—Bids were opened in Chicago this week for transporting troops from Saint Ste Marie and Detroit to San Francisco. The remarkable bid of $1.34 a man was made by the Michigan Central, which will get the contract for carrying troops from Detroit. This road is in connection with the Harriman roads, and the combination badly beat James J. Hill, whose bid of $2 a man from Chicago was considered remarkably low.
W. R. Callaway, general passenger agent of the Soo line, commenting on the Michigan Central's bid, said it was an eye-opener. It was thought that Hill's bid was a bluff, as no railroad man thought there was profit in such rates. But the Vanderbilt road, in connection with Harriman, has made a lower rate for a longer haul and thrown Hill's rate completely in the shade. This rate competition for the transportation of Philippine troops is only part of E. H. Harriman's plans to keep the Oriental business in San Francisco, according to statements he made here when the transport question was up.

Two more cases on the criminal calendar were disposed of in the circuit court yesterday. Hirose was found guilty of selling liquor without a license and was sentenced to pay a fine of $250. Officer Elvin testified that Hirose had tried to bribe him when the arrest was made, offering $20 and then $40 for liberty. Stock, Porto Rican, was found guilty of assault with a knife, and was given a sentence of six months.

HOW TO STOP A COUGH.
A simple but effective remedy is the following:
Breathing through the nostrils, inhale a full breath as slowly as is possible without causing fatigue. Expel the breath in the same manner and repeat the operation ten times. This will stop the coughing for about a quarter of an hour. Take a dose of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy during this lull and the medicine will have a better opportunity to act and will speedily effect a complete cure. It always cures and cures quickly. All dealers sell it. Benson Smith & Co., general agents.

ANOTHER CODE FOLLY PROJECT.

Another code commission project has been sprung. This time it is by a minority of a committee of the Bar Association.

This minority of the committee includes in its report the draft of a bill which appropriates $10,000 on the go-off for the salaries and expenses of the proposed code commission.

The commission when it works is to take the laws as it finds them at the end of the legislative session which is about to convene, and is to arrange them according to titles, and subject matter and divide them into chapters and sections; put in marginal notes; the bibliography of each section; references to such decisions of the supreme court as may tend to explain or construe the same; and then to index the whole thing.

And what is all this for? The minority of the committee says: "So that the laws and enactments so compiled may be enacted as the revised statutes of the Territory of Hawaii, if the legislature shall so determine."

If the legislature shall not so determine, why, so far as the minority of the committee proposes, this ten thousand dollars' worth of work will amount to nothing—except as a voucher for the ten thousand.

And why does the minority of the committee say all this should be done? Because, "the law as it exists today must be gathered from the enactments of the legislature during its several sessions held, substantially, biennially from the year 1859 to the present day, together with such interpretations, amplifications, alterations and additions as have been made from time to time by the supreme court."

If this is a sound reason, then congress has been criminally negligent, for the laws of the United States have never been codified, and "the federal law as it exists today," to paraphrase the language of the minority of the committee, "must be gathered from the enactments of congress during its several sessions held, substantially, annually, from the year 1789 to the present day, together with such interpretations amplifications, alterations, and additions as have been made from time to time by the supreme court."

The minority of the committee says there has been no authorized codification of the laws since 1859 except of the penal laws. But while this is technically true, it is hardly a fair statement of the "confusion" which the minority of the committee alleges exists. S. M. Ballou prepared an edition of the statutes both civil and penal bringing them down to 1897, in which he did exactly what the minority of the committee propose the code commission shall do. His work is a revised edition of the statutes, and is not technically a code. It has to depend for its reputation on S. M. Ballou's reputation for capacity and carefulness in doing the work. The reputation his work has enjoyed would indicate that he has the reputation for capacity and carefulness equal to that of almost any lawyers the governor could appoint on the code commission. In that case there would really be no need of the code commission going back of Ballou's work, 1897. And really, for that it seems like $10,000 was a little high.

The truth is that under our form of government the law in force at any time in any state or territory of the Union must always be exactly what the minority of the committee says the law in force here is. New editions of the statutes become necessary at frequent intervals, and in each new edition what has been repealed should be omitted, and new enactments should be published in connection with former enactments on the same subject. This is exactly what is done in every state of the Union and with regard to the federal laws, and such publications are known generally as "Revised Statutes." They are not codes, in the technical sense, but for all practical purposes they are as good as codes, and in many respects better, for a code itself would need revision in exactly the same way after every legislative session. Private enterprise elsewhere and so far here, meets the needs in this respect. Then why spend ten thousand dollars for work that is already largely done, and that wouldn't even amount to "Revised Statutes," let alone a code, unless the next legislature adopted it as its own, which, viewed in the light of the experience with legislatures throughout America, it would do once in about a thousand years.

THE SPEEDY NAG, PROGRESS.

If Marconi does not hurry up and deliver his across-the-sea messages he will be as obsolete an institution as he threatens to make the ocean cable. Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, the famous New York Reform Joshua, who bade the red lights of the tenderloin go out and they went out, predicts that within a comparatively short time wireless telegraphy will be supplanted by mental telepathy. In the course of a recent sermon Dr. Parkhurst declared his belief that the new method of communication would be developed to such an extent that telegraph wires would be used for clothes lines and the tall stations of the Marconi system be consigned to the junk heap. The sanguine divine declared that already mental telepathy was a demonstrated fact when exercised by certain individuals at short range.

What are we coming to any how—when will the wonders of the world cease? Think of it—every man his own walking telegraph office—everybody in business for themselves—Mackay gone broke and Marconi a junk dealer. But modern science is no respecter of the individual. Mechanical invention has driven hundreds of thousands of laborers out into a cold and wolf inhabited world looking for new jobs, so why in the eternal fitness of things should not a couple of millionaires go broke over this latest invention or whatever it may be called? By all means let the mental telepathy be put into operation.

Everybody will then be in one gigantic trust to do up the telegraph and cable companies. The especially gratifying feature of the new science of communication is the fact that everybody can be a party to the development. No one man can claim all of the credit—there will be no Morses or Marconis or Fields to collar all of the glory. It will be a grand progress along truly altruistic lines of development. Of course some will be more expert in the mental telepathy than others. But every one should do his or her part. Already the average man is an unconscious mental telepathy operator. The science will no doubt be extended and when it attains its higher stages will be combined with the properties of the X-ray so that the messages can penetrate buildings and thus do away with the sleepy dime novel reading messenger boy.

In the meanwhile we still continue to pay for cable messages at 50 cents per word.

No Comparison.

Among the countless and admirable works of Mark Twain there is one that will always drive away the frowns of blues. It is but a sketch but Mark Twain wrote it. That's enough. This sketch carries the title "Mr. Blake's Item." To sift it down Mr. Blake wrote an item of a "Distressing Accident" but he forgot to tell what the accident was. Mr. Blake could never be found and the public still wondered what the "distressing accident" could have been. Far be it from us to place ourselves near the abilities of Mark Twain. Comparisons in this case would truly be odious. Nor shall we follow Mr. Blake and leave no point. If there must be a comparison we desire to ask the reader to compare the DOUGLAS PATENT CLOSET with every other closet. Bath, the plumber will be pleased to hear your verdict. ### ARRIVES WITH STARVING CREWS her back toward Yokohama. Once he thought that he had successfully battled with the gales. This was on January 7, when the vessel reached a point within 14 miles of the light off Yokohama. But the gales increased and drove the vessel 200 miles off the coast. The mizzen sail, foresail, jib staysail and jib topsail were carried away. The sails did not all go however until January 8. On that day Captain Everson decided that it would be folly to attempt to battle any longer with the elements. Provisions were running low and some of the sails were gone. It was decided to make way with the fair wind and head for Honolulu for supplies.

On January 8 the course of the vessel was changed in the face of a driving gale. It was then that most of the sails were ripped loose. On the same day, every boy was put on shore allowance of food consisting of a cup of rice a day. Everybody had a biscuit every day at first but these provisions ran out leaving nothing but the rapidly decreasing supply of rice on hand a few sea birds were caught and eaten. There was plenty of water however in the tanks. The short allowance of food was felt all the more by the crew as they were constantly on deck in bad weather and at all times. The vessel was at times swept by great seas. She rode the storm safely however no damage to the hull being done. The terrific westerly weather continued until the 17th degree of east longitude. From that point to the 16th degree west calms ensued. Then fair winds were encountered, that brought the vessel in sight of land yesterday.

About the first thing that Captain Everson did after his vessel was towed into the harbor was to take a boat and come ashore and proceed to buy in a stock of provisions. There was absolutely nothing in the way of food aboard the vessel. Provisions gave out yesterday at dinner time.

The last grain of rice was eagerly counted out then devoured. The last morsel was also consumed. To the men aboard the vessel it seemed an interminable time before food was sent out to them, the vessel was anchored in the stream. The crew were kept busy this morning mooring the vessel.

Captain Everson will probably wait at this port for orders. It is not likely that he will try to return to Yokohama, he will no doubt secure new sails and provisions and then continue to San Francisco.

LOST TWO MEN OVERBOARD

SCHOONER CARRIER DOVE PUT INTO PORT SHORTHANDED AND IN DISTRESS.

Short handed with three men ill in their bunks and the story of two men lost at sea, the American schooner Carrier Dove put into port this morning in distress. Unlike the schooner Forest Home she was not short of provisions. Her ladder was well stocked but she was sadly short of sailors to man her.

The Carrier Dove left Beira, South Africa in ballast for Port Townsend on November 18. Her crew consisted of Captain C. Jensen, Mate C. Carson, Second Mate Matson a stewardess and six sailors. Almost from the outset of the voyage she encountered bad weather and worse luck. On November 29, at Macara a Scotchman one of the sailors, suddenly went insane. He had been drinking heavily before he boarded the vessel. Without any warning he gave a wild whoop and sprang overboard and started swimming away from the vessel as fast as he could.

The mate, however, did not start after the frenzied man. The crazed sailor had close onto a hundred yards start over the rescuers and it was some minutes before the boat caught up with him. It was well that the mate's crew reached the man when it did, or else the sailor would have been devoured by a shark. Just as the boat drew alongside Carson the mate saw a shark turn on its back to seize the helpless sailor and drag him beneath the water. Macara was dragged into the boat just as the jaws of the shark snapped over the spot where the man had been but the instant he had been rescued. The practical good that was accomplished by the rescue of the man the boat might as well not have been launched. Macara grew more violent after being put back on the schooner and died within an hour after returning to the vessel. His body was buried at sea.

Bad luck seemed to follow the vessel. Terrific gales struck the vessel, sails were ripped loose as if they had been paper, the rigging was more or less strained. First the foremast broke, then the mainmast gaff. Two more gaffs were broken during the succession of gales. The vessel was in ballast and very light. Weathering the gales was very difficult.

On January 15 worse luck came to the schooner. M. S. Anderson, the carpenter, was aloft making the topsail fast. A sudden lurch of the vessel threw him out of the rigging. He pitched headlong into a raging sea. Again did Mate Carson start to lower a boat. The mate realized that no boat could live in such a sea, it seemed nothing short of suicide for anyone to venture from the vessel into that waters. Fortunately the loss of life was probably saved by the very violence that seemed to pause and wait for the men to venture into the boat. Just as the small boat was launched a big sea higher than all of the rest, caught up the boat, dashed it against the side of the schooner and stove in two of the planks. The small boat immediately filled. Before anything else could be done, Carson saw the carpenter sink beneath the dark seas.

The second mate and two of the sailors became sick during the voyage and had to take to their bunks, unable to help man the vessel. The captain and mate had to act as sailors to aid the two men who were left. Numerous sails were also lost. Shorthanded and unable to handle the vessel, Captain Jensen put the Carrier Dove into port this morning. The Carrier Dove is leaking and will have to go on the marine railway. As soon as she can be outfitted with new sails and necessary repairs be made, she will resume her voyage to Port Townsend. A new crew will probably have to be shipped as all of the sick men will be removed to the hospital.

On the outward trip the vessel had terrible weather. One terrific sea carried away the out water, figure head and otherwise damaged the vessel. The cargo shifted causing her to list heavily to port. She had to put into the Falkland Islands for repairs. She struck bad weather on the rest of the trip but finally arrived in Beira in October from Aberdeen.

DISCUSS LAWS THIS AFTERNOON

LEGISLATORS AND MERCHANTS MEET IN CONFERENCE FOR CONSIDERATION OF MATTERS.

At two o'clock this afternoon the members of the legislature and the publican Executive committee are to have a meeting at the party headquarters with the committees of the Merchants' Exchange, the Chamber of Commerce and other interested in proposed legislation, to discuss the county bill and other matters. This is the last Saturday before the opening of the session and only three more days elapse before the legislature will be called to order, and the various bodies which have been preparing laws have most of their work complete.

The license and taxation features of the county bill will probably be the main subjects of discussion this afternoon. Some of the merchants have objections to special license taxes and others oppose the income tax. The result will be considerable discussion. It is understood that the associations will present reports, and drafts of some acts proposed for enactment may be submitted.

The Builders' and Traders' Exchange has an act providing building regulations, which will probably be submitted this afternoon. The exchange may also ask for a plumbing law, though action on this matter has not been carried out by the legislature. The liquor men will submit their proposals in the form of a report, and will not attend the discussions. J. G. Rothwell, chairman of the committee having the matter in hand, stated this morning that he understood that this was to be the program. "We have drawn up an act which we believe meets the requirements of the situation," he said "and we shall offer it to the members of the legislature for such action as they see fit to take, in the hope that they will agree with our opinion of it. There may be some slight details on which we have not entirely come to a decision yet, but in the main the members agree upon the sort of law Hawaii should have."

THE TRAVELER WHO LOST HIS WIFE

SOME INCIDENTS IN THE LIFE OF HENRY NORMAN, EDITOR OF THE WORLD'S WORK.

The divorce granted in London to Henry Norman, M. S. editor of the World's Work and celebrated as the mountain climber, newspaper correspondent, traveler and author, from his wife, Menie Muriel Dowle Norman, recalls his visit to this city a number of years ago. Norman was then on his way to China to act as correspondent for the London Chronicle and he spent several weeks in San Francisco, where he was extensively entertained. During his stay he was the hero of a sensational episode, which was widely commented on at the time, and in which Mrs. Porter Ashe, formerly Miss Amy Carter, and later Mrs. Harry Gillig, was the heroine. Porter Ashe is a brother of Mrs. Harold M. Sewall, Norman and Mrs. Ashe were members of a gay party who enjoyed an excursion around the bay, which was given in honor of the eminent visitor. After luncheon there was a discussion of the facts of the case in which Mrs. Ashe declared that chivalry and gallantry were things unknown to modern men. Norman disputed the statement, whereupon Mrs. Ashe challenged him and threw her handkerchief overboard. Norman immediately jumped into the water, secured the floating muslin, and paddled about until he was fished out by those on board the tug.

The following day an extended account of the affair appeared in the Examiner, much to the disgust of the gallant Norman, whose journalistic instinct rebelled at being converted into a hero. He dispatched a letter of dignified protest to the proprietor, William R. Hearst, who returned an equally dignified letter of apology, stating that he deeply regretted the publication of the story and had discharged his managing editor as a consequence.

This was where the enterprising Norman scored against the Examiner. Copies of both letters were given to the Chronicle, which published in connection with them a full account of the affair and the romance of Hearst. The situation was Norman's and the journalistic instinct had won.

Henry Norman was born in England and for a time attended Harvard College. In London he has been connected with the Pall Mall Gazette and the Daily Chronicle. A year ago he founded the World's Work.

In 1891 Norman was married to Menie Muriel Dowle, author of "A Girl in the Carpathians" and a number of other strikingly original works. In the divorce suit the husband named as co-respondent Lieutenant Edward Arthur Fitz Gerald of the Fifth Dragoon Guards, private secretary to the Governor of the Gold Coast, and of considerable renown as a mountain climber and explorer. The case was not contested by either Mrs. Norman or Lieutenant Fitz Gerald. Mr. Norman testified that in 1899 he was accompanied upon a literary expedition into Russia by his wife and by Fitz Gerald, then his close friend. From Russia he went to Central Asia a trip that he did not care to have Mrs. Norman make, so he sent her back to England under escort of the Lieutenant. When he returned to London he found that his wife repudiated him, and later she confessed that she loved Fitz Gerald.

Lieutenant Fitz Gerald's mother was Miss Mary White, of New York, daughter of Eli White, who married a British

THE BRIGHT SIDE OF LIFE.

It is a feeling common to the majority of us that we do not get quite the amount of happiness we are entitled to. Among the countless things which tend to make us more or less miserable ill health takes first place. Hannah More said that sin was generally to be attributed to biliousness. No doubt a crippled liver with the resulting impure blood, is the cause of more mental gloom than any other single thing. A chronic dyspeptic, says an eminent English physician, is always on the verge of a mental upset. And who can reckon up the fearful aggregate of pain, loss and fear arising from the many ailments and diseases which are familiar to mankind. Like a vast cloud it hangs over a multitude no one can number. You can see these people everywhere. For them life can scarcely be said to have any "bright side" at all. Hence the eagerness with which they search for relief and cure. Remedies like WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION have not attained their high position in the confidence of the people by bald assertions and boasting advertisements. They are obliged to win it by doing actually what is claimed for them. That this remedy deserves its reputation is conceded. It is palatable as honey and contains the nutritive and curative properties of Pure Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, Extracts of Malt and Wild Cherry. Nothing has such a record of success in Anemia, Nervous Debility, Scrofula, Throat and Lung Troubles, and all emaciating complaints and disorders. It's use helps to show life's brighter side. Dr. W. H. B. Aikins, of Canada, says: "I am pleased to state that the results from using it have been uniformly satisfactory." Every dose effective. "It cannot disappoint." At chemists.

subject. He is the author of several books of travel.

PEARL FISHERY. The pearl fishery season this year in the Persian gulf has been a most successful one, the divers having obtained more jewels than in the last two years. Nearly all the pearls were purchased by an Arab merchant named Sheikh Mohamed bin Abdul-Wahab, of Darfien. All will be sent to the Bombay market, where they are expected to realize more than £300,000.

TIME TO CALL A HALT. The Monroe doctrine does not say that European nations shall not violate international law in the western hemisphere, but the highest considerations of American self-respect do say it and say it plainly. It is high time for a 20th century declaration to the effect that European nations having bills to collect "peacefully" on this continent shall not begin proceedings under a flag of trade with a broadside. If anybody is to make war on this hemisphere it is of the utmost importance to the United States that the laws of war shall be observed. France under the standards of England and Germany is no more to be tolerated in American waters than any other kind.—Chicago Chronicle.

A NEW BILL. The Italian Chamber has passed a bill for the municipalization of the public services.

HIGHER EDUCATION OF CHILDREN

By an Easy Method.

How often does the thought flash through a fond mother's or father's mind, what will be the future of my children, supposing they should be suddenly left either motherless or fatherless, or both? The grim reaper knows no distinction of age, class or nationality, and is sure to come. When, we cannot tell! What shall I do to protect them in such a case? or what can I do to place them in a position when they attain their majority for facing a cold, hard world whose selfish aims and plans they must accustom themselves to earlier or later. There is one easy way and that is to save a small stated sum each month, place it safely at interest, and if commenced at a reasonably early age, in a few years more they can be given a practical education in some special line to fit them for battling with the world in future years. The Phoenix offers a specialty in this line not obtainable from any other source, and what is more, absolutely guarantees the amount you will receive at a stated time and further guarantees to give you all the profits made besides and at given periods.

Realizing the importance of this question for the future of the present generation, and having had a number of well known educators suggest to us the advisability of some plan by which it could be achieved the Phoenix Savings Building and Loan Association, always to the front with modern and up-to-date ideas, is prepared to issue a limited amount of its Guaranteed Installment Bonds or certificates especially adapted for the purpose of establishing a fund by parents or guardians for children. Cost per $1000 $7.00 per month; $50.00 per year; $6.50 semi-annually, or $20.50 quarterly, or $550 cash down, will guarantee you $1,000, besides all surplus profits, which are estimated at $383.10 at 10th year.

Besides you may take advantage of 16 different options. It is absolutely non-forfeitable and should payments be stopped after one year you are not losing any of the options or privileges, except amount by not carrying it through.

ESTIMATED OPTIONS.

Cash at maturity, end of 8 years	$1,000.00
Cash at end of 10 years	1,295.10
Cash settlement 5 years after maturity	1,964.96
Cash settlement 10 years after maturity	2,771.73
Annual Annuity for 5 years after maturity	312.19
Annual Annuity for 10 years after maturity	171.38

GUARANTEED EXTENSION VALUES.

Besides Surplus Profits, Cash settlement 5 years after maturity $1,246.20. Cash settlement 10 years after maturity 1,555.30. Annuity after 5 years' payments for each succeeding year as follows: $88.84; $112.30; $135.88; $161.71; $190.91; $224.60. Annuity also for ten years if desired.

Guaranteed options at tenth year according to number of years paid besides all surplus profits as follows:

If Payment is Stopped.	Amount paid in.	Amount Received.
1st year	$ 50.00	$100.00
3rd year	240.00	350.00
5th year	400.00	500.00
7th year	560.00	745.00
9th year	720.00	915.00
10th year	800.00	1000.00

The years not listed above here guaranteed values in proportion.

FURTHER GUARANTEED VALUES.

Cash settlement five years after maturity $1,246.20. Cash settlement ten years after maturity 1,555.30.

Absolutely non-forfeitable, also automatic after one year. Think of the opportunity of earning not only the profits guaranteed, but surplus profits also when such able men as the directors of the Phoenix are handling your money with their own to make as much for all concerned as possible.

Think of your children having any time from 1 to 20 years any of the above safeguards thrown around them by such a safe company, with the following men handling it side by side with their own:

Directors.—A. A. Watkins, vice-president W. W. Montague & Co., and president Board of Trade, S. F.; Chas. R. Bishop, (date of Honolulu), vice-president Bank of California, S. we would. No wonder our blood gets out of order, becomes thin and impure.
This produces boils, eruptions, nervousness, indigestion, and great weakness.

We have this photograph and letter from
Mr. John Hafner, of Wagga Wagga, New South Wales. Read carefully what he says:
"I have roughed it a great deal, mining, working in starns, exposed to the heat, and have often had poor food. My blood frequently becomes impure and I have eruptions, boils, and become generally run down. But Ayer's Sarsaparilla takes hold of me every time, makes my blood pure and builds me right up."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

There are many imitation "Sarsaparillas."
Be sure you get Ayer's.
Take Ayer's Pills with the Sarsaparilla.
They aid in purifying the blood; and they cure constipation and biliousness.

THE NEW STEAMSHIP COMPANY

SAN FRANCISCO, February 6.—J. S. Van Buren, the general manager of the China Commercial Steamship Company, who will return to China in about ten days on the steamship China, is another graduate from the Mail Company, which also furnished to the local shipping world W. H. Avery, agent for the Toyo Kisen Kaisha.

General Lowell J. Bullard of the City of Mexico has been appointed Government representative at that place and Elliott &
Lange have been installed as agents at Manzanillo. Lyman I.
Mowry of this city is general counsel for the steamship company in the United States and Mexico.

The line will be inaugurated with chartered steamships, each with a carrying capacity of from 7,000 to 9,000 tons. Those so far chartered are the Lothaire, Atholl, Ching Wo and Clavering.
The first steamship leaves Hongkong March 27. She will call at Japanese ports, Manzanillo and San Francisco, returning direct to the other side of the Pacific. There will be a steamer every twenty-eight days. The vessels will have accommodations for a large number of steerage passengers, but for the present the company will make no attempt to enter the regular passenger trade.

The opening of this line will revive the commerce which for more than 200 years existed between Spanish Mexico and China.
Up to the time that Mexico gained her independence a line of ships plied between the two countries, and Eng Hok Fong and Leong Kam Ming in their recent visit to Mexico found in that country many traces of the once intimate relations with Asia.
These relations, they said yesterday, the China Commercial Steamship Company expects to restore.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 13.—Pat Crowe, the famous pugilist who is alleged to have been the kidnapper of young Edward Cudahy who was abducted, ransomed, and returned to his father, the millionaire pork packer of Omaha, has been located in Liverpool, England, after a search that has extended over the whole world.
The young son of Omaha Millionaire Cudahy was kidnapped three years ago. His abductors demanded $25,000 from Cudahy before they would give up the youth and promised to do all sorts of dire things to the boy if this was not forthcoming. Cudahy drove into the country, handed over the coin to agents of the kidnappers, and on the day following the boy was returned home.
Since that time no expense has been spared in an effort to capture the kidnappers.

WIELDS AN AXE

(From This Morning's Extra Edition).

After attacking three men with a hatchet this morning and very dangerously wounding two of them, John Collins, who escaped from the steamer W. G. Hall yesterday and was reported last night as an insane man in Makiki district, was shot by the fourth man he attempted to kill, and he now lies in the hospital in a dying condition. The weapon with which Collins made his attack is at the police station, covered with blood. Collins was shot in the abdomen, and received a fearful wound. The other two men were chopped in the head. All three are in the hospital.

Collins appeared at the fire station at about half past five this morning and asked for breakfast. He had his hatchet with him, and the cook, Ben Foster, gave him some food. The lunatic left the hatchet under the table while he ate.

While Collins was eating, the cook left the room for a few moments. When he returned the insane man rose from his seat, hatchet in hand, and struck him over the eye with the sharp side. The wound was a very bad one, and it laid Foster out. Collins left the room, and immediately met his second intended victim.

A milkwagon driver was the second man attacked by the now murderous maniac. The milkman was all unconscious of the fate of Foster, and seeing the blood stained hatchet in the hands of Collins asked him what he was doing with the axe.

"I've just done up one—" said Collins, "and I'd just as leave to do up another."

With this remark Collins made for the milkman, waving his weapon in the air. The milkman was too fleet for him, however. He took to his heels and lost no time in getting to the police station.

Collins appeared to have become bloodthirsty by this time. He was next heard of in an attack on another former fellow workman of the fire station, whom he severely cut. Then the madman fled, still brandishing his bloody weapon, and entered the premises at Piikoi and Beretania streets.

Collins ended his mad attacks at this place. The occupant of the house, Harry Glass, a clerk for T. H. Davies & Co., secured a gun when he saw the madman coming, hatchet in hand. Two shots in succession struck Collins in the abdomen, and he fell mortally wounded.

By this time the police had been given the alarm and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth and others were out on the hunt after the insane man. Foster had been removed to the hospital, where it was found that his wound, though dangerous, would probably not prove fatal. The call from Beretania and Piikoi was quickly responded to, and Collins was taken to the hospital where his victims were being treated. The physicians expressed little hope that he would recover, and at last accounts he was very near death.

Collins was at one time an employee of the fire department, leaving about a year ago. He worked for the Rapid Transit Company but was discharged on account of his drinking habits. He went to Hawaii and was last heard from there, until his escapade on the W. G. Hall, on the return from Kauai.

Yesterday he appeared at the fire station, with clothes secured from somewhere to take the place of those he left on the Hall. Being well known at the station he was given some breakfast and left the place quite early.

Since then Collins' movements have not been traced. He was heard from at various places in Makiki, and last night was at the fire house again.

Collins attempted to borrow a knife from a former friend in Makiki, and showed such signs of insanity that the police were notified, and men were sent out to locate him. Nothing more was heard of him, however, until he appeared at the station shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, and began the fearful work which has probably ended his own life.

In Frank Leslie's Weekly appear two pictures of the cable landing in Honolulu which are stated to have been taken by George F. Henshall. The latter states that Frank Davey was the photographer. The error was made by Leslie's in assuming that the writer of an article accompanying the pictures was also the photographer.

NEVADAN ARRIVES WITH RIGGING TO EQUIP BARK TO BE TAKEN TO SAN FRANCISCO.

The S. S. Nevadan Captain Weedon, arrived this morning from San Francisco. The vessel experienced head winds. Although she sailed February 6 she brought no mail or files of the coast papers as it was thought that the S. S. Alameda would beat her down to Honolulu. The Alameda sailed a day late however so will not reach here until later this afternoon with the mail.

The Nevadan brought about 2,000 tons of general merchandise. A portion of the cargo consists of some of the furniture for the new Alexander Young building.

A quantity of spars, a mast, sails, life boat and various rigging for the old bark Andromeda was also brought by the Nevadan. C. F. Chibgaard of the Charles Nelson Lumber Company the purchasers of the bark, will arrive it tonight, on the S. S. Alameda this afternoon to superintend refitting the Andromeda to make the trip to San Francisco. It is understood that most of the material came from the old bark Baroda which was ashore for so long in the Coquille river. The Baroda was recently refitted and converted into a coal carrier.

Quite a fine piece of seamanship was shown by Captain Weedon in docking his vessel. She had to be put at the very head of the railway slip. On the makai side were the steamer Maui, the barkentine John Palmer and the bark Clarence S. Bement while on the mauka side of the slip were the barkentine Coronado and the schooner El Dorado.

The narrowest sort of a passage was left for the Nevadan to get through to the head of the slip. There was a smart breeze blowing off shore. Captain Weedon got his vessel through the two lines of vessels there being scarcely ten feet to spare.

The Nevadan brushed against the steamer Maui but no material damage was done.

SUPREME COURT DECISION. The Supreme court this morning decided the case of the Kapiolani Estate vs. M. S. Gribbaum and Company. The Circuit Court is sustained by the decision, in refusing to reopen a default, the supreme justices holding that such a matter is discretionary with the lower court.

THE BRIGHAM MATTER. The trustees of the Bishop Estate yesterday considered the matter of the charges brought against Professor Brigham by local Catholics. The professor was offered an opportunity to reply to the statements of his accusers and the matter was referred to a committee which will take it up on Monday.

FOR HUNTERS. A story which will go straight to the hearts of shooting men is told of a clerical gentleman who was invited to join a shooting party. In the course of the day the host felt himself prodded in the back, and turning around, found the amiable cleric poking at him with the muzzle of his gun, and his look of interrogation was met with the remark, "Can you tell me how to let down these beastly things" alluding to the hammer of the gun which was at full cock and loaded.

This is a cogent reason why The Star's advertising columns are so generally used and so widely read.
