THE FIRES WERE INCENDIARY TO ENLARGE AALA PARK

LOSS OF FROM TWENTY-FIVE TO THIRTY-THOUSAND DOLLARS CAUSED BY CONFLAGRATION AT AALA EARLY THIS MORNING—AN ABORTIVE ATTEMPT AT ARSON EARLY IN THE EVENING FOLLOWED BY SUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT THIS MORNING

The police are investigating a fire which appears to have been of incendiary origin. Whatever the origin the fire did its work well for half of a block on King street and half of a block on Aala Lane were razed to the ground, only a few partitions being left standing by the flames.

The fire which occurred about 2 o'clock this morning started in one of the two story buildings on the Walkiki-mauka corner of King street and Aala Lane. Nearly a score of Chinese stores of various description, butcher shops, shoe stores, merchandise stores, and drug stores occupied the ground floor on both streets, while up stairs there was a Japanese photograph establishment. Other portions of the upper floor were used for lodging quarters. There were three separate buildings covering the burned district and they had been erected by the various owners who had leased the ground from Chief Justice Frear. Every building was of wood and was easy food for the flames.

Circumstances during the early part of the evening, have caused the police to strongly suspect that the last fire was of incendiary origin as an earlier one certainly appears to have been. About 7 o'clock the fire department was summoned to Aala and King streets. In a vacant room in the building over Lee Chong Company's store on Aala street there was a small fire which had started under a piece of matting. The floor under this matting had been saturated with oil. The blaze was soon extinguished.

About 8 o'clock this morning, the department was again summoned by an alarm of fire to the same corner. By the time the department reached the scene of the fire, Chief Thurston saw at once that the buildings were past being saved. The fire is thought to have started some where in the rear of Lee Chong's store. The fire had gained such headway that there was no chance to save the corner and the department was kept busy trying to save adjoining buildings. Practically every thing in the burning buildings was destroyed. The buildings on the Ewa side of Aala Lane, were badly scorched by the heat, which was terrific. Even the Oahu Railway depot which was about 100 yards distant from the fire, was scorched. A Japanese woman was reported to have been badly burned but beyond this accident no one appears to have been hurt.

It was impossible this morning to ascertain the detailed loss of the various tenants. In round figures the fire entailed a loss of about $25,000 to $30,000, scarcely a third of which was covered by insurance. There was $1750 insurance on the building of Lee Chong Company, another $1500 on Lee Chong's building and $1,000 on Wo Chan's building. Among the stores burned out were Sun Wing Tai shoe store, insurance $1,000, on King street; Chee Hoo Tong drug store King street $600 insurance; Tong Kee shoe store on King street, insurance $1,100; Tong Lee Yuen shoe store on King street, insurance $1,000; Yee Wo was the butcher at the corner. His place along with the others was completely destroyed. There were a number of other stores which, with their contents destroyed but A. R. Gurey of the Underwriters had not received a complete list of them or of the losses and amounts of the insurance. It is very probable that arrests will be made in the progress of the investigation by the police, of the cause of the fire.

On January 27, 1900, the same site was the scene of a disastrous fire that destroyed practically the same number of buildings that the blaze this morning did.

PLAN TO ACQUIRE LAND MADE BARE BY THE FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING AND ADD IT TO THE AREA OF AALA PARK—A PROJECT WHICH WOULD GREATLY IMPROVE THE SMALL PARK.

A suggestion has been made that the burned district at Aala be added to Aala Park, greatly enlarging the park area and providing a good-sized park for that part of the city. The present bit of park area is a great addition to the attractiveness of Aala district and it is thought that if the land now laid bare could be secured, the enlargement of the park would be a public benefit.

"I think the opportunity to get a better park for Aala should not be lost," said F. S. Dodge of the Bishop Estate, who visited the section this morning after the fire. "The Territory should acquire the title to the land where the burned buildings stood, and add it to the park. The little park there now is a fine thing for that section, but it is not big enough. The land where the buildings were, adjoins the park, and it seems to me that it would be the most natural and proper thing for the authorities to do, to go ahead and acquire title and make a park out of the whole block. It will be a splendid thing for the people of Aala if this is done."

Events Of The War As Seen In Japan

THE MIKADO SENDS A PROCLAMATION TO HIS TROOPS, INSTRUCTING THEM TO BE COURTEOUS IN TREATMENT OF FOREIGNERS—A FLEET OF CAPTURED JUNKS IN DALNY—INCIDENTS AT THE FRONT.

The following war news is from Japanese papers received by the America Maru:

An English war correspondent, who arrived at Chefoo from Simintun on the 15th inst says that General Kuropatkin seems to have hoped for a Russian victory at Liaoyang, for in the early stages of operations he, most unusually for him, allowed war correspondents to approach the fighting line during three days. Three of the foreign correspondents with the Russian forces were then permitted to observe the fighting in a military balloon. Mr. Francis McCullagh, of the New York Herald, was among the

KAUAI'S TICKET

JOHN GANDALL IS PUT UP FOR SENATOR FROM THE GARDEN ISLAND, DEFEATING NAKAPAAHU FOR THE NOMINATION—VICE-SPEAKER KNUDSEN IS NOMINATED FOR ANOTHER TERM, WITH MAHIKOA, CHARLES RICE AND M. A. REGO.

Kauai Republicans made their nominations on Saturday and have begun the campaign with every prospect of success. John Gandall, a member of the House in the present legislature, was nominated for Senator, defeating Nakapahu by two votes. Nakapahu became a Republican some time ago but was nevertheless nominated by the Home Rulers. He has declared that he will not run as a Home Ruler, but will withdraw, as he desired the Republican nomination. After the vote was taken in convention the choice of Gandall was made unanimous, and it is understood that Nakapahu will withdraw. The vote was twelve to ten.

For Representatives the convention named Representative E. A. Knudsen, George Mahikoa, Charles Rice and M. A. Rego. There were five candidates. Twenty votes each were cast for Knudsen, Rice and Mahikoa, Rego got 16 and there were 9 for Joseph Gardner. The four nominations were immediately made unanimous, Gardner retiring.

A platform was adopted which contains among other features a declaration for county government, based largely on the ground that Kauai can get her share of money raised by taxes through becoming a county apart. The platform also declares for the encouragement of settlement of public lands, but not at the expense of the chief industry of the Territory.

BROWN'S BOLT TO THE DEMOCRATS

CANDIDATE CLAIMING REPUBLICANISM SAID TO HAVE COMMITTED A BIG POLITICAL BLUNDER.

The action of Cecil Brown in affiliating himself with the Democratic campaigners is said to have alienated a lot of his support. When Brown came out as an independent he declared that he had not left the Republican party and assumed to be still a Republican. His taking the first opportunity to join in a Democratic meeting and join with the Democrats in a general assault on the Republicans, prevents him from claiming any Republican support at all. It is now claimed. It is believed that his joining with the Democrats will have the effect of greatly weakening his position.

"Brown made a serious error in allowing the Democrats to use him," said one Republican. "I do not believe that there can be any true Republicans who will vote for him now."

SMOKE WAS IN THE COURT

RUBBISH BURNING SENDS CLOUDS INTO THE SUPREME COURT THIS MORNING.

People who had occasion to pass the Judiciary Building today could not have failed to be impressed with the energy displayed by the officials who have charge of the gathering of rubbish. A big pile of the stuff piled Walkiki of the building was set on fire sending clouds of acrid smoke which fairly choked passers-by. The Supreme Court's October term opened this morning and the court room was now and again invaded by puffs of the smoke, a slight change in the wind would have rendered the room untenable. A good deal of comment was passed on the policy which directs the building of rubbish in the immediate vicinity of the principal public buildings of the city.

ANOTHER SUGAR CARGO ARRIVES

SHIP LUZON WITH OVER 2,000 TONS OF SUGAR REPORTED OFF DELAWARE BREAKWATER SATURDAY

The Marine Exchange cable report Saturday told of the arrival of the ship Luzon off Delaware Breakwater on that date. The vessel was out 121 days, as she sailed from Honolulu June 2. She carried 2,080 tons of sugar and at the prevailing quotation of $85.10 a ton, her cargo was worth $177,008. The Luzon was one of the smallest of the vessels carrying sugar around Cape Horn.

There are now only the ships Edward Sewall and Henry Villard, barks Nuuanu and Abby Palmer and steamers American and Hawaiian bound from Hawaiian ports for the Breakwater with sugar cargoes. The arrival of several of them is likely to be reported at any time. The entire sugar crop should be marketed by the end of November at the very latest.

CHINESE JANITOR WANTED BY POLICE

ACTED SUSPICIOUSLY LAST EVENING AND WILL BE CALLED UPON TO TELL WHAT HE KNOWS.

Detective McDuffie was detailed this afternoon by Deputy High Sheriff Childingworth to locate the Chinese janitor of the Lee Chock building on Aala lane. This man is thought to know considerable of what occurred about the building previous to the fire.

When the first fire during the early part of last evening was discovered, the janitor occasioned considerable comment by his indifferent manner regarding the blaze. He made no effort, it is stated by the police, to help put out the fire or aid the people who were trying to save the building.

With regard to the arrival at San Francisco of the converted Russian cruiser Lena, a Takeshiki despatch notes that in appearing in the Pacific she must have taken a course either through the La Perouse or Saghalien Straits. The distance between Alexandrovsk in the Saghalien Straits and the entrance to Okhotsk Sea is 120 miles. Though the widest portion of the Straits is 100 miles the sea is generally shallow, leaving only a course for navigation in the middle which is from about one to three miles broad. The deepest point is about eight fathoms and the shallowest is three fathoms. The distance of 120 miles is marked by 26 buoys, but such a vessel of over 10,000 tons as the Lena would find it difficult to pass through the straits. It is supposed at Takeshiki that the Lena is likely to have taken that course as a test to provide for the future. If she has actually issued into the Pacific by the said route her voyage is well worth attention.

In this connection the Asahi says that the T. K. K. steamer America Maru, which arrived at Kobe from Hongkong on the 15th inst., was scheduled to leave Yokohama for San Francisco on the 20th, but meanwhile the steamship company received a warning from San Francisco of the arrival of the Lena from Saghalien for repairs. The company made enquiries of the Naval Department and the Mercantile Marine Bureau as to the movements of the Lena, but no definite answer being given, the departure of the America Maru was postponed.

A Japanese correspondent in the direction of Port Arthur says that "even among the Russians" humanity may be found. The other day a Japanese wounded soldier was obliged to remain in a certain fort pretending to be dead, as he would have been shot had he moved even a little, when a Russian officer, accompanied by two men, approached the Japanese wounded and held him up. The pretended dead now abandoned the hope of escape and opened his eyes upon the Russian officer. The latter, however, was not antagonistic at all, but took out some table sugar and gave it to the Japanese wounded together with water from his own water bottle. The Russian officer then ordered him to leave at once.

From the same source is reported that a Japanese and Russian who were wounded and who found themselves lying close by after the recent fight on a certain fort, dressed each other's wounds and then said good bye, leaving each for his respective position.

Marshal Yamagata, Chief of the Tokyo General Staff Office, issued the following instructions to Marshal Oyama, Commander-in-Chief of the Manchurian Armies, under date of Sept. 16th:

"The Imperial declaration of war is said to be as conspicuous in the eye of the world's public as the sun and the moon, irrespective of differences in race, religion or customs of the various countries. The principal object of the war is to maintain the safety of the Empire and to preserve peace in the Orient in order to let all avail themselves of civilization for the sake of humanity, thereby enhancing the interests of all the Powers. Accordingly, you are requested to treat all foreign war witnesses hospitably and frankly as far as the military law of strategy allows, and also to avoid misconception in expressing the just purposes of the Empire."

According to investigations made by a certain Japanese, there are 20,000 Russian combatants and non-combatants at Port Arthur together with 30,000 general inhabitants, including Chinese.

There are rumors afloat that three of the Russian warships at Port Arthur escaped from the harbor under cover of the darkness at midnight on the 7th inst and have since been missing. A Takeshiki despatch denies this.

The commission from Mr. Igarashi's hardware firm in Kyushu has arrived at Chemulpo, and commenced operations on Saturday for the raising of the captured warship Koreetz, which the firm bought from the government as she lies.

Part of the Russian method of communication between Port Arthur and Chefoo was recently discovered by a Japanese picket ship. To send a secret note from Port Arthur the Russians had wrapped it in oil paper and sealing it hermetically in a tin, attached the tin to the bottom of a junk destined for Chefoo, so that even if the Japanese inspected the junk, the note would escape, as the inspection would not be likely to extend to the keel. Since the discovery of this trick every junk to and from Port Arthur has been inspected more closely than ever. It is a question, however, whether communication with Port Arthur can be prevented.

The total number of Russian prisoners so far quartered at Matsuyama, Marugame and Himeji is 2,420—80 officers and 2,340 men. There are also a number at the Sasebo naval hospital and in addition those in Manchuria to the above figures the total will be much swollen. The prisoners in Japan are daily awarded allowance for board at the rate of 60 sen an officer and 30 sen a man. They are also monthly receiving more money for their clothing at the following rate:

Generals, 25.00 yen; field officers, 10.00 yen; officers below the field rank, 6.00 yen; cadets, 5.00 yen; noncommissioned officers, 1.00 yen; privates, .50 yen.

According to intelligence from Dalny, visitors to that port will first have their attention attracted by a large fleet of Chinese junks. These vessels are all prizes taken by the Japanese navy, including 26 sailing vessels which were only recently seized on the way from Wei-hai-wei to Port Arthur, having on board considerable varieties of supplies for the Russians. As they were about to leave Wei-hai-wei, the Japanese navy was cleverly informed from a certain place to that effect, and steps were at once taken to capture them. A Japanese torpedo flotilla, awaiting the would-be smugglers, fired a blank cartridge and pressed them towards the naval base where they were seized. The Chinese houses at Dalny are all displaying the Japanese national flag in token of their sympathy with the Japanese. There is a terrible account as to the recent Russian retreat from Dalny. When the Japanese approached the town the Russians were so much disturbed that some of them left old and infant members of their families, who starved to death three days later. Various arrangements in port are now completed and offer more facilities to transports than in any Japan ports. For example, if any transport moor along the pier her cargo can be directly entrained and sent to the front before the whole is discharged. The occupation of this important port is a great boon for the Japanese forces. The Russian booms constructed in Tallienwan Bay have already been completely raised and sent to Sasebo by a transport together with over 20 anchors attached to these obstacles.

The China Times says: Alarm is felt regarding the Vicomte du Cuverville, French naval attaché at St. Petersburg, and Captain von Gilgenheim, of the German army, who are said to have left Pigeon Bay in a junk on the 17th of August, and have not been heard of since. They intended to make Shanhanquan. It will be remembered that Captain von Gilgenheim's senior colleague, Maj. Hoepmann, who left on the 18th, arrived at Chefoo, and in due course came on to Tientsin and reported to the German Minister at Peking. In view of the length of times that has elapsed since the two gallant officers were heard of, the worst apprehensions are beginning to be felt. The Commander-in-Chief of the German Asiatic squadron has offered a reward up to ten thousand marks for any information regarding the whereabouts of Lieutenant Gilgenheim.

The signing of the Japanese-Korean agreement at Seoul in August 22nd virtually concluded the establishment of a Japanese suzerainty over Korea, a climax which was logically inevitable, and which it may be hoped will work well for the two countries specially concerned, as also for the rest of the Powers. The terms of agreement, as given publicly, merely provide for the appointment of (1) one Japanese financial adviser; (2) one foreign "foreign affairs" adviser to the Korean Government, and (3) that the Korean Government must consult the Japanese Government "in concluding treaties and conventions with foreign powers and in dealing with other important diplomatic affairs, such as the grant of concessions to or contracts with foreigners." The agreement is reported to have excited little comment abroad, its conclusion being apparently looked upon as a natural sequel of events.

CHARLEY'S AUNT

"Charley's Aunt" was again produced at the Opera house on Saturday evening. The cast was the same as on Wednesday and the acting was up to the same high standard. The production is in every respect a great credit to all concerned and entitles Allan Dunn, under whose direction it was staged, to high praise. A mandolin solo by Ernest Kaal is one of the features of the performance which aroused a storm of applause. It is safe to say that a large proportion of those in the audience last Thursday night and on Saturday, did not know that such music could be produced with a mandolin as Kaal gave. He showed wonderful skill and certainly deserved the tribute which the audience gave. The performance is to be repeated this week for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A.

New York seems to have gone the rest of the world one better again in the way of hotels with the new Hotel Astor on Longacre square. It has been built by William Waldorf Astor, and has every luxury that money can produce. The many rooms are furnished in the most expensive manner, and some of the public rooms are novel. The billiard-room is done in Pompeian style the main dining-room is made to look like an Italian garden, and there are Japanese yachting, American Indian, hunting college and many other kinds of rooms.

The understanding is that no band which serenades Vice Presidential nominee Davis during the campaign shall play "Old Folks at Home."

Rheumatism is a stubborn disease to fight but Chamberlain's Pain Balm has cured it many times and will do so whenever opportunity offers. This remedy is a general family liniment and not only does it quickly relieve rheumatic pains but it also cures lame back, stiff neck, soreness of the muscles and stiffness of the joints. It is antiseptic and when applied to cuts, bruises, burns or scalds, heals such wounds without maturation and in less time than by any other treatment, and, unless the injury is very severe, will not leave a scar. Cecil Brown's Discoveries

Cecil Brown, after an effort to gain the support of the local Republican party, has discovered that it is a corrupt and undesirable political machine. After trying his best to get the support of the organization, and failing to do so, he has found out that it represents "small party politics." Here is indeed a remarkable change in convictions. Three weeks ago Cecil Brown went before the men representing this machine and asked their votes. Three weeks ago he was trying to run for the Senate, with the Republican party as his own machine. Three weeks ago he thought that the best way to be elected was to have the nomination of this machine. Three weeks ago he stood ready to take the platform with the Republican nominees and ask the voters to support the Republican ticket. What has happened to change his views? How has Cecil Brown been brought to think that the Republican party, instead of being a worthy organization in whose ranks he would willingly enlist himself, is "small party politics," is controlled by the Executive, and is deserving of a popular protest? Has the Republican party changed methods of leadership? Has it brought forward any new doctrine? Has the Executive done anything different from what he was doing three weeks ago? The answer to these questions must be, No. What then has changed Cecil Brown's opinions from those of a man seeking Republican support to a leader of a necessary protest against the party's methods? The answer is as clear as the Democratic motive in encouraging Cecil Brown's faithless political tactics. The Republican party refused to nominate Cecil Brown. All his explanations cannot disguise the plain fact that this is his reason. And a personal failure to secure a nomination is the poorest reason for bolting a party that can possibly influence a disgruntled politician. Vague attacks upon the executive may serve to cloud the issue before an audience of Democrats, but many of them know, and all Republicans know, that the Republican party which Cecil Brown today denounces is the same party, with the same leaders, the same policies, the same methods, as the Republican party which three weeks ago he asked to nominate him and offered to work for.

The Democratic thunder which Cecil Brown has taken to echoing is, oddly enough, giving the Territory a local issue which is singularly like the only one many Democrats are able to find on the Mainland, where despairing of finding an issue of any other kind, the opposition leaders are trying to make one out of Roosevelt's personality and a part of the issue they raise is that he is assuming unconstitutional powers which endanger the rights of Congress and ultimately the liberties of the people. If in our smaller local field the Democrats wish to make Governor Carter the issue, it is an issue which should be accepted with glee by the Republicans. It draws the parties up once more on the old familiar lines, where the Republican chorus of "We point with pride" drowns a Democratic wail of "We view with alarm." In one year of administration, Governor Carter has done enough to straighten out the tangled skeins of a long transition period of internecine bitterness and resulting difficulties of administration, to make a creditable record for an entire term. To the business men and taxpayers, it can be said that Governor Carter has given them an honest and cheap administration. To the Hawaiians it can be said that he has done more to help them to take their proper part in the government of the islands than has been done by any other one man since annexation. The keynote of every address he has made, in every village and town he has visited, has been that the people themselves must awaken and must learn to be the government. He has consulted Hawaiians in public affairs as they have never been consulted before. He has set public works in motion on a scale larger than ever before and, undertaking the disagreeable and unpopular task of a wholesale reduction in government expenses, carried it out at once with a thoroughness which satisfied local banks of the government's stability and a fairness which satisfied a legislature quite ready to become hostile and which left nothing but empty generalities for its critics.

No Republican claims that conditions are ideal in our Territory, either in administration or in politics, and it might be noted that they are far from ideal all over America. But the reforms of the past year have been so tremendous that Democracy invites defeat when it attempts to make an issue of Carter. Business men will hesitate before they allow the complaints of Carter's political enemies to make them lose sight of what his administration has saved them, and Hawaiians will turn away from the orator who tells them to administer a rebuke to the only business man in public affairs who has accomplished anything in a practical way to give them their deserved large share of power in the government. In their search for a missile to throw at the Republicans, the Democracy picked up a boomerang. If Carter is to be the issue, Republicans will point to what has been done, and to a business administration, running smoothly, carrying on public business well, cheaper than ever before, and not only keeping within its income for the first time since annexation, but paying off the debts of the past. If this be coercion, machine politics and encroachment of the executive, let us have some more.

We Have Slums Of Our Own

As a result of a wanton crime, Honolulu is undergoing one of her periodical "round-ups" of vagrants and other worthless idlers, and soon there will be a lot more of them in jail for terms of varying length, up to a year. This happens whenever there is a murder, or when burglaries or hold-ups become frequent, or when any crime or crimes so attract public attention as to arouse strong sentiment, but as a matter of fact, so far is it from being of any benefit, that it probably indirectly tends to increase crime rather than otherwise, unless rigorously kept up.

Sudden spurts of public indignation which result in lynchings, or spasmodic bursts of energy and severity on the part of the police and courts do not tend to prevent crimes. The three Porto Ricans who met the late S. E. Damon on a lonely road, one of them being the one who stabbed him to death, had all served terms in jail with absolutely no effect on them except to make them certain to serve some more terms. The same is true of those who are now being rounded up and landed in prison, not for any offenses of their own, in fact, but for the one charged to Jose Miranda. In their case there is added to the natural criminality of their natures, a sense of the law's injustice which is one of the strongest promoters of crime. A brutal crime committed by A is certainly no reason for sending B to jail for a year as a vagrant, yet that is precisely what we are doing. Honolulu is not an exception in this regard, for it is the custom in most other places to follow a crime that attracts public attention by a general severe campaign against all other possible offenders. Honolulu is confronted by a permanent criminal population, which is probably best handled by a consistent, rigid enforcement of the vagrancy laws all the time, even if it keeps many worthies in jail all their lives. Some of our religious workers would probably be amazed at what the city has to offer in the way of dark corners which smell of nothing but drink and crime and disease. We have imported a lot of the scum of the earth and they are not likely to leave us. Honolulu is no longer the pleasant thiefless city in which locks were unneeded on doors and even in the best districts it is no longer a city in which ladies may walk unescorted by night. As for the other districts, it may be said that we have some tolerable slums of our own.

Cecil Brown is still a Republican. He is also a Democrat.

It was a remarkable political blunder for a man of Cecil Brown's intelligence, calling himself an independent Republican, to enlist under the Democratic campaign committee. He has lost what chance he had of personally carrying with him a few Republican voters.

No consistent Republican can give a good reason for not voting for the party's straight ticket for the Senate. No excuse exists for any scratching and this is a case where scratching only endangers all three nominees.

The following remarks by W. A. Kinney are good Republican sentiment: "A citizen's party such as is often suggested nowadays simply means an alliance of the white race against the native race with all the evil results and bad blood of a race struggle. The Hawaiian people, after 30 years of friendly and fraternal relations with the white race, deserve no such fate, and whatever may happen, (however slow the Hawaiians or some of them may be to fully appreciate their privileges as American citizens, and to use those privileges understandingly and well, the white race, particularly those of that race born and bred in Hawaii, cannot and will not subscribe to any program involving the setting aside of the Hawaiian. He must go hand in hand with us until in a complete fusion of blood the posterity of both races shall forget, for all practical purposes, that any such dividing line once existed." The Republican party has always had more Hawaiians among its leaders than the Democrats, and it has today a larger proportion of Hawaiian candidates. This is in line with the party's history and national policy. If ever a race line is drawn here it will not be by the Republicans, nor by the whites of any party. The only signs of it so far have been that it would be drawn by Hawaiians. They would commit a grave error in doing so. There is no record of a Republican caucus or meeting of any kind whatsoever without Hawaiians taking part and it is hoped there never will be. But there have been cases in which Hawaiians having the power have excluded whites, a policy which we do not believe will be maintained.

Trying To Get Jurors To Try Jose Miranda

THE CASE OF THE ALLEGED MURDERER OF S. E. DAMON IS BEGUN BEFORE JUDGE GEAR—EXAMINATIONS OF JURORS IS BEGUN AND THE AVAILABLE LIST IS EXHAUSTED—MORE SUMMONED FOR TOMORROW.

The trial of Jose Miranda, the Porto Rican ex-convict charged with the murder of S. Edward Damon on Tuesday evening last, was commenced this morning at 10 o'clock before Judge Gear sitting as trial judge at the criminal term. Little headway was made as the panel of jurors was exhausted with only two passed for cause and a special venire was issued returnable tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

The limited capacity of Judge Gear's court room was taxed to its uttermost when Jose Miranda was called from his place on the prisoners' bench to take his seat beside his appointed counsel, G. A. Davis and F. Thompson. That the prisoner is regarded as more than ordinarily desperate a character was instanced by the fact that at no time was he left out of arm's reach of either High Sheriff Brown or Detective McDuffie.

The crowd bulged in through the door and massed outside in the passage-way in eager attempt to get a view of the proceedings until the crush became so great that it invaded the jury box when the officers of the court had to shove the people back by main force. The opened windows did but little in the way of lowering the temperature and as a result the representatives of the general public presented the spectacle of a sweltering, and none too savory, mass of humanity. It was noticeable that among the crowd there were many Porto Ricans, some of them being already numbered among the professional acquaintances of the police.

Assistant Attorney General Prosser for the prosecution and George A. Davis, of counsel for the defence having announced their readiness to proceed, Clerk of the Court Sims called the roll of jurors and the difficult task of choosing a jury was commenced.

As has been recorded, but little headway was made before the panel was exhausted. The trouble seemed to be in all but one or two cases that the jurors called were either absolutely unwilling to serve or else they were altogether too willing. This as a snap judgment may be unjust but it was a view of an average observer which was plainly that of the court. With those who plainly objected to the imposition of capital punishment under any circumstances there was no bother, but it was when jurors were asked as to whether they had formed impressions or opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the accused, of such a nature that they would have to be removed by evidence, that the difficulty came in.

The difference between an "impression" and an "opinion" did not seem very firmly fixed in many minds and it was over the necessity that some jurors declared for evidence to alter their impressions or opinions that many challenges for cause were made and allowed.

Either Attorney General Andrews or Assistant Attorney General Prosser examined jurors for the prosecution but both attorneys for the defence took a hand in the work, Attorney Thompson appearing more exacting than did his senior.

Through it all the accused sat without giving a sign of interest. He did not seem as bright as on the day after his arrest and his eyes seemed dull and fishy. He was clad in the same scarce clothing that he wore before but during the proceedings he was given a seedy coat, many times too large, which hid his bare arms.

H. P. Dwyer, the first juror called, was excused, as he was not a registered voter.

The questioning of Edward Breaver, the second examined, showed that the line of questioning may disqualify many before the necessary twelve are found. He was passed by the prosecution for cause. To Attorney Davis he said that he had formed an impression as to the case but it was not a fixed opinion.

"Would you be guided by the evidence and give this man a fair and impartial trial?" asked Davis.

"I certainly would," answered the juror.

Attorney Frank Thompson took up the questioning.

"Your impression is such," he asked, "that some evidence would be required to overcome it?"

"Yes," said the juror.

"Juror excused," said Judge Gear.

James Lawelawe was excused as he had conscientious scruples as to capital punishment.

Andrew Nelson had formed such an opinion that he did not think any evidence would remove it. Damon he had known well and all his sympathies ran that way. He was excused.

Samuel E. Pierce was visibly nervous as he entered the box. He said that he might not be able to try the case as he did not want the prisoner railroaded to death simply because he killed Mr. Damon.

"No one is attempting to railroad the prisoner," said the Assistant Attorney General. "All that is wanted is to give him a fair trial. Will you do that?"

Pierce said he would and answering the other questions satisfactorily he was passed.

James Merrifield was also passed for cause as he said he had formed no opinion and would give the prisoner the benefit of a fair and impartial trial.

Juror Parmelee was excused because he had formed an opinion which if would require evidence to shake and Jurors Brown and Dillingham were allowed to go because of their conscientious scruples about inflicting the death penalty.

Three talesmen were called to fill the places in the box and of these George Lalue, a Hawaiian, got away at once on his declaration that he knew the accused was guilty because he had read it in the papers and also because he had heard people say so.

"But you would not convict a man of murder just on what you read in the papers or what you heard on the street?" said the Attorney General.

"Yes I would," replied the talesman and he was allowed to go. He went away smiling as though he thought he had done something extremely clever.

F. E. Nichols passed the ordeal satisfactorily. His answers were clear and to the point. He had no objection to offer to capital punishment when murder was clearly proved. He did not know the prisoner. He had read the papers as to the death of Damon but he had not become fixed in his opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the accused. He would try him solely on the evidence, would give him the benefit of every doubt and would respect his oath as a juror in every particular. Juror Nichols' replies came as a relief after a world of bickering.

H. P. Roth thought he could try the accused fairly and impartially but when asked by Attorney Thompson if he thought he could approach the trial with a mind equally poised after all that he had read and heard about the case, he replied that he did not think that he could or that anybody else could. The answer led to a long wrangle in which the judge took part, his honor declaring that he intended to allow the fullest examination of jurors.

Roth was finally excused when he said that though he would give the defendant a fair trial the impression that he had formed might unconsciously affect him.

Juror Fisher was excused on the ground that the late Mr. Damon was an officer of the corporation in which he was interested.

The panel having been exhausted Judge Gear ordered the calling of a special venire and the crowd melted away in more senses than one. Miranda, who was driven back to the jail in the patrol wagon in company with the woman Colon who is one of the witnesses against him, appeared to be quite gratified with the sight of the mob that waited outside to see him. He grinned once or twice but did not speak to anyone as he was driven away.

WHO WILL TAKE WOLTER'S PLACE?

DOUGHTY MAJOR DECIDED THAT HIS HEALTH WOULD NOT PERMIT HIM TO STAND PACE.

Major E. H. F. Wolter has retired from the political arena. He unexpectedly withdrew his name as a senatorial candidate on the Democratic ticket for the island of Oahu last Saturday leaving Frank Harvey alone in all the glory that accompanies that party.

The retirement of Major Wolter from the ticket was quite sudden. It was painful to the leaders, as they had looked to him for financial as well as moral support.

But the health of Major Wolter took a serious turn and his physicians announced that it was a case almost of life or death if he remained.

Unlike the late Robert W. Wilcox who gave his life many times for his country, Major Wolter decided that his party could not put his life to half as much use as the possessor could, so he decided to withdraw.

The leaders expressed regret and so did Major Wolter, but it was a case of health so he had to withdraw. It is understood that Major Wolter's last attack was largely induced by the anticipation of having to make an address at the mass meeting of Democrats at the Orpheum on Saturday night. The prospect of addressing so many of his constituents caused him quite a nervous shock that went from bad to worse, until the doctor had to be summoned.

Science proceeded to side track politics and demand that Major Wolter retire.

It is understood that steps will be taken to name a successor on the ticket. J. S. Lew of Hind, Rolph and Company, is being mentioned in that capacity.

The selection of a new senatorial candidate will be made this week. He will be from the Fourth District.

MANY NEW CITIZENS TODAY

A LARGE NUMBER OF NATURALIZATIONS OF FOREIGNERS IN THE FEDERAL COURT.

There are more American citizens in Honolulu this afternoon than there were yesterday by a long way. The corridors outside of the U. S. District Court were crowded all day by men anxious to become entitled to the protection of your Uncle Samuel and they were put through their paces in short order after proving their right to enfranchisement.

Of all the foreign kings, princes, emperors and potentates who have suffered a diminution in their subjects King Carlos has by far the greatest source of complaint.

DEMOCRATS MEET TONIGHT.

There will be a meeting of the Fifth District convention tonight to name a successor in the representative ticket, to David Kupithea who withdrew from the Democratic ranks last week.

Y. W. C. A. BENEFIT.

The Y. W. C. A. folk, who are looking for some needed funds have arranged with the players of Charley's Aint to give a third, and last performance for the benefit of the Young Women's institution tomorrow evening. Mrs. Brown and her staff have been active in selling tickets which may be exchanged at Wall Nichols and Company for regular seats.

The prices have been reduced for this occasion but there will be no let up in the quality of the performance which will be reproduced in all the elaborate detail of its first success. Prices are now set at $1 for downstairs and 75¢ for balcony seats.

WOMAN'S BOARD.

The October meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions will be held in Central Union Church on Tuesday October 4, at 2:30 p. m.

The second study in Rex Christus, "The Religions of China," will be taken up at this session under leadership of Mrs. C. W. Ashford. The study of last month proved very interesting. Reports will be given from the Missionary Gleamers and the leaders of Hawaiian and Japanese work.

This month is also the occasion for the special contribution to the Armenian orphan's fund.

The revised constitution and by-laws, submitted for consideration at the previous meeting, will be voted upon.

An interesting session is anticipated and a cordial invitation is extended to all friends and strangers interested in Christian work.

AN IMPORTANT BRIDGE

The above is a Russian bridge along the line of the Siberian railway, between Harbin and Vladivostok. It spans the Sungari river. The bridge has become an important strategic point in view of the Russian concentration in Harbin, for the railroad it supports is the only remaining communication between Vladivostok and the other Russian headquarters. Vladivostok is shut in from the sea, and one of the first Japanese moves to complete her isolation is expected to be to get possession of the railroad.

JAP IMMIGRATION IS DROPPING OFF

WAR MAY BE RESPONSIBLE FOR DECREASE IN NUMBER OF JAPANESE ARRIVING HERE.

Whether the war is responsible or the Japanese government is disciplining the employment agencies of that country, is not certain, but in any event Japanese immigration to this port has been steadily decreasing during the last two or three months. In marked contrast to this condition there has been a steady increase in the number of Koreans arriving in Honolulu from the Orient.

The decrease of the Japs has been gradual. Practically every steamer arriving here lately has shown a decrease from the preceding one. A steady increase in the number of Koreans arriving has been observed.

It is possible that the war may have caused the government to decide not to permit so many of its people to leave, as formerly, in anticipation of possible need for more recruits. On the other hand, the Jap employment agencies have not been keeping faith with the Japanese governments in the matter of sending people to the Hawaiian Islands, and then shipping them to the mainland so the government may have limited the number of people that these agencies are allowed to send from Japan.

Business in Korea is said to be in a very bad condition and this fact together with the dominance of the Japanese in the Hermit Kingdom, is probably causing the natives to emigrate to the Hawaiian Islands.

Kruger will take place next December.
The Boers here are desirous that the ex-President shall be interred on De-

This commemoration has been associated for years with Mr. Kruger's ad-where the Boers in 1880 swore, while adding stones to the pile, to fight for independence, Mr. Kruger throwing on

THE OTHER SIDE

THE ROASTS OF THE JAPANESE WHICH ARE NOW BEING WRIT-TEN BY CORRESPONDENTS WHO DO NOT ADMIRE THEM—
CHARGES THAT THEY ARE OVERBEARING AND UNTRUTHFUL AND PREDICTION OF TROUBLE WITH THEM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 9.—With the progress of the campaign in Manchuria there is evident a marked change of feeling toward the respectable combatants not only among the general public but in official circles, both civil and military. Japanese victories are no longer viewed with satisfaction or Japanese characteristics regarded as matters for eulogy.

At the beginning of the war sympathy here was almost universally with the Japanese. There had been great irritation over the failure of the Russians to evacuate Manchuria not so much on account of any special interest of the United States in Manchuria itself but because it was felt that the Russians had deceived and tricked us and had failed to carry out promises freely made.

Japan, too, was regarded as an under dog, as a small nation which had been deliberately goaded into a fight against tremendous odds and without any reasonable hope of ultimate victory. Besides, Japan had been in a way a protegee of America, which had introduced it to the fellowship of nations, and many Japanese officers had been educated in our schools and colleges.
Under these circumstances, even the decidedly Oriental trick by which the Russian navy was crippled before the regular declaration of war was only mildly deprecated.

Army and navy officers who have recently returned from the Philippines and the China station report that at present the Japanese have not a friend in the East among mercantile, military or naval men of white extraction.
Their success has made them insufferably overbearing and insolent. They implicitly believe that their army and navy are invincible and give their views publicly in a manner which is galling. Their total disregard of the truth, their apparent inability to conceive that there is anything sacred about a promise or agreement, and the barbarism which is so clearly apparent through their veneer of politeness and civilization has irritated and alienated all who have come in contact with them. The disillusion of the pro-Japanese correspondents who flocked to Tokio early in the year is an old story.

In Manila and the Philippines generally the steady success of the Japanese are viewed with disfavor and some concern. It was well understood that the Japanese supplied munitions of war to the insurgents on very favorable terms, and that there was more than mere commercialism behind the aid given the Filipinos. It is believed that a number of Japanese officers under leaves of absence served with Aguinaldo's forces.

That Japan resents our occupation of the Philippines is well known. A naval officer tells a story which shows the attitude of the Japanese on this matter in a strong light. While several Japanese ships were in the harbor of Manila before the outbreak of the present war a number of our officers were invited to a dinner on board the Japanese flagship. To the astonishment of the American officers the younger Japanese officers discussed quite freely our position at Manila. They showed a remarkable knowledge of the fortifications, and the disposition of our troops; they had exact data as to the length of time it would take a fleet of ours to reach those waters and gleefully declared that there was not a gun on the island that they could not silence in fifteen minutes, and that we could not assemble a fleet large enough to prevent them from landing 200,000 men on Luzon within two weeks after the order to mobilize was given. They also announced that Japan would never wait for a formal declaration of war to strike an enemy.

Among Southern men, especially, sympathy is now entirely with the Russians. As a former Confederate Colonel stated the other night in a hotel corridor:
"We Southerners don't like to see a colored man licking a white man."
And this feeling seems to have entirely supplanted the former sympathy with the small man fighting the big one.

It is realized now also that so far as resources available at the point of contact were concerned Russia was at a disadvantage at the beginning of the war and has continued in that condition. The splendid defence of Port Arthur and Kuropatkin's desperate efforts from Tashchiao to Liaoyang to hold back a far superior Japanese army have appealed to our soldiers.

Among military men there is a general feeling that the Japanese soldier is "uncanny." The average white man does not care to die and does not welcome an opportunity to advance to certain death. He is ready to take all necessary chances in the pursuit of glory, or through patriotism, and is willing to go wherever he is told to. But the ancestor worshipping Japanese, who regards himself as but a link in a long chain, who is content to die at any time if he is sure that a certain number of joss sticks will be burned in his memory by his descendants or successors, and who fears his officers more than any possible enemy, has introduced a new factor into the war game. He is not acting according to the rules which govern the sport.

Soldiers such as the men on transports who refused to surrender when lying helpless under the guns of armored cruisers and who are compelled under pressure of public opinion to commit suicide rather than yield even when resistance is hopeless are not the kind of soldiers that modern armies have been accustomed to meet. Reports from the East picture the Japanese rank and file as inspired with a willingness to die that might almost be termed anxiety. The Arab followers of the early caliphs and the original Ottoman levies were inspired by this spirit, but the only recent examples of the kind have been the dervishes who, armed with knives and spears, dashed themselves to pieces against the blazing British squares in Egypt.

Like the dervishes, too, it is reported that the Japanese wounded are as dangerous to approach as rattlesnakes. Lying disabled on the field they stab and shoot any one who comes near them unless he bears the red cross, which marks the non-combatant.

While giving the Japanese navy full credit for its efficiency and pluck, the Japs have never been popular with our sailors. It is recognized that Nippon's navy is the most homogeneous fighting force of the kind in the world. Largely manned by the Satsuma men and officered almost entirely by descendants of the nobles and samurai of that fierce clan, many of the rank and file have a personal loyalty to their superiors apart from the obedience due to rank and station. Japan has probably a larger seafaring population than any other nation. For centuries its fishermen have been bred to the sea—they are hereditary sailors. The officers are well educated under Western methods—skilful, devoted to their profession and stern adherents of the "Bushido" code.

The officers and men of Japan's navy have evinced the contempt for death characteristics of Orientals and also a dashing spirit of emulation more akin to that of white men. Whole ships' crews have volunteered for desperate enterprises, but as a rule extreme caution has marked the naval operations.
Japan cannot renew her navy, has no reserve ships and the loss of a vessel would be irreparable. Neither at Chemulpo, in the Korean Straits, nor before Port Arthur have the Japanese tried to get close to their opponents.
The battle following the last sortie of the Russians was fought at not less than five miles. If Togo had followed the Farragut and Nelson tactics he could without doubt have sunk or captured the entire Russian squadron.
But he would not risk his ships and the Russians escaped.

But, though the Japanese navy fights on more orthodox lines than the army, and while its efficiency is admitted, the sailors of Nippon are unpopular with every navy in the world, even that of England. Their manners are "cocky" and offensive and display the contempt of the self-sufficient barbarian for ideas and customs different from his own.

Even the Japanese butlers, valets and stewards have been affected by Japan's victories. Many have become unbearable to their masters and mistresses and have been discharged in self-defence.
There are several places where friction between Japan and the United States might arise. The Philippine and Sandwich Islands are the most dangerous. It will be remembered that Japan once sent a cruiser to Honolulu to back up complaints of ill treatment of her subjects. In the salmon fishing country there has been much trouble with the Japanese.

In the navy it is generally believed that we will have to meet Japan's fleets on the Pacific before the century is old.—New York World.

DEMOCRATS AT A LOVE FEAST

Cecil Brown is welcomed with open arms—Kinney sends regards to Carter.

The reading of a long address by W. A. Kinney and the appearance of Cecil Brown were the main features of Saturday night's ratification meeting at the Orpheum. Kinney acted as chairman and with him on the platform were Curtis P. Lauka, Frank Harvey, the candidates for the House from the Fourth and Fifth districts and C. A. Galbraith.

The chairman had reduced his speech to writing. It began with a denial of the allegation that he was in politics for his personal interest but claimed that the time was ripe for every intelligent man to take an interest in the political situation. The situation of the Democratic party he described thus:

"What does the Democratic party propose to do; what does it stand for? In the first place it stands for no abridgement of the franchise and no setting aside of the Hawaiian and its against any legislation looking to that end. It stands for a free, untrammelled vote and a fair count in the elections, first, last and all the time. It proposes at all times, to resist intimidation and coercion of citizens and office holders. It proposes to resist domination by the Executive of the Judiciary or any branch of it, and it demands a searching Legislative inquiry, this coming session of the Legislature, into the methods and means used by the present Executive of this Territory whereby men, against their conviction and better judgement, are led and forced to support it; and having thus recovered the ground lost to the citizens of this Territory by Home Rule incompetence, the Democratic party proposes to promote and support Legislative measures in keeping with and in promotion of the principles of the Democratic party."

"Much of the inefficiency of the Home Rule party and its inability to stand against the aggression of the Republican party is due to the fact that it has no recognition or support on the mainland. This is not true of the Democratic party. Hawaii is represented in the National Committee of the Democratic party. Its official representatives in this Territory have the ear of the Democratic leaders on the mainland, and the Democrats of this Territory propose to use this right of fellowship in Congress and out of it, to resist and combat any attempt to infringe upon the fundamental rights of the people of this Territory. What has been done to the Home Rule party with impunity cannot be done to the Democratic party of this Territory. Already the open stand of the Democratic party against the Republican Executive has done much to clear the political atmosphere. Open criticism of the Republican Executive was about smothered when the Democratic party took the field and openly declared against it. The Democratic party proposes to criticize the Executive with perfect freedom whenever and wherever they think the public interests require it, and the Territory is better off for that fact."

The speaker occupied some considerable time in attacking the Governor on his policy of having every magistrate appointed file with him an undated resignation, characterizing this as a gross invasion of the right of the Supreme Court. Turning to the case of Cecil Brown, Kinney welcomed him as fighting the same fight that Democrats were fighting against the government by an arbitrary executive. He admitted that there were some good men on the Republican ticket but held them to be hopelessly handicapped on the issue raised by the Democrats.

Cecil Brown took the platform as soon as he was called on and speaking in Hawaiian said:

"I am not here tonight to discuss with you the merits of the Democratic or Republican parties, but I am here tonight as a protest against the Governor in his interference in politics and his small party politics, and also to try to show to you how he is trying to control all the officers of the government, by interfering in the legislative and executive, as well as the judicial departments of this Territory. "In all these arrangements of the Governor, he having the right to appoint all District Magistrates, and his co-opting the Republican convention in its nomination of the legislative ticket, what have you before you? Do you think that the laws and powers are to be concentrated in his hands?"

"He has called me a traitor, as reported in a paper of recent date. It seems that I am called not a man, and a man. Why is such abuse heaped upon me? It is because I have taken the independent stand of not being led around with a ring in my nose. You all know me from childhood up, and have seen me many times in the advancement of affairs respecting these islands, in the legislature, in the session of the Senate just passed, and gentlemen, it is up to you to say whether I will return to the Senate on November 8, or not."

Continuing in English, he made a vigorous attack on Governor Carter and said that he hoped that his hearers would vote for him as whether he was elected or not, every vote was a protest against Carter.

Among the other speakers were C. W. Ashford, H. T. Moore, L. R. Medeiros, Frank Harvey, Joe Aea, W. K. Aya and Curtis Lauka.

RESULTS OF BALL GAMES

MAILES DEFEATED THE ELKS AND THE KAMEHAMEHAS WERE TOWN HEROES FOR PUNAHOU.

There were two good games of ball played on Saturday afternoon. The Mailes beating the Elks by 7 to 4 and the Kamehamehas putting it over the Punaheles by 7 to 2. The Mailes won their game all the way through, the Elks getting two of their four runs in the last two innings. The Kams got a good pinch on their game in the fifth when they ran up five runs.

In the winter league series yesterday the Atlas beat the Makiki by 6 to 3 in a ten innings game and the Iron Works did as they liked with the Pacifics, winning out by 14 to 1.

In the smaller games the May & Co. team beat Lewis & Co. by 26 to 14 and the Neveer Sweats defeated the Tar Flats by 20 to 12.

REPUBLICANS AT AALA PARK

Sam Allen presided at an enthusiastic gathering of Republicans held at Aala park on Saturday night. Solomon Mahelona was among the speakers and he devoted himself to attacking the papers which had declared him to be unfit to take a place in the House. He counselled all present to vote the straight ticket and return to power those who would support the administration.

Mrs. Kekaha and Mrs. Maphaulua made eloquent addresses in Hawaiian and Solomon Kalelopu spoke of the excellent work Prince Kuhio had done in Washington. Senatorial Candidates Dowsett and Lane met with the heartiest applause and other speakers were Kalakauhi, Kamakou, Oscar Cox, Charles Broad, Koehelele and Mahapua.

WAS NOT DROWNED. An investigation by the police today disclosed the fact that Kama was not drowned off the bell buoy but managed to swim safely ashore last night.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

HILO, September 29.—Two Japanese who were occupying their time last Saturday breaking a horse on crowded Front street found the time made by the horse rather slow, so they secured a supply of high life and used it rather freely on the animal. Somewhere near Downers the horse got a little too much and started to run. At the corner of Front and Church the wheel of the brake struck a rock and one of the men was thrown into the air. He landed on his face and besides losing his bottle of high life dropped a half dozen front teeth. The other fellow was thrown from the brake in front of Wood's store and escaped with small damage. When it became known that the men had used the chemical the sheriff ordered their arrest and they were afterward released on cash bail. Mrs. Hayes narrowly escaped an accident at the time. She was in her carriage at the foot of Front street when the runaway horse dashed up the street. Her horse took fright and ran up Church street but was soon caught. Had the horse not run

TWENTY YEARS FOR HAYASHIDA

PRACTICALLY LIFE SENTENCE PASSED UPON THE JAPANESE FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER IN THE FIRST DEGREE—THE COURT SAYS THE FACTS MIGHT EASILY HAVE JUSTIFIED A VERDICT CALLING FOR THE DEATH PENALTY.

Hayashida, the Japanese who was convicted on Friday night of manslaughter in the first degree, on the charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of his compatriot Sato at Wailua on May 29th, was this morning sentenced by Judge Gear to twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor, the extreme penalty permitted by the law.

Attorney J. W. Cathcart, who put up a splendid defence in a well-nigh hopeless case, made a last appeal for clemency on the ground that Hayashida was now approaching middle age, that he had a wife and child dependent on him and that if he were given a long sentence he would come out an old man no good either to himself, his family or the community.

Assistant Attorney General Prosser pressed for the heaviest sentence. After briefly reviewing the facts of the crime as disclosed by the evidence Judge Gear stated that in his opinion the jury would have been fully justified in bringing in a verdict of murder in the first degree, the penalty for which would have been death. The prisoner, he said, owed his entire thanks to his counsel for the able defence provided.

"The court being human has human pity for you," continued Judge Gear, "but I can see no reason for the exercise of further clemency than that shown you by the jury and the sentence of the court is that you be imprisoned at hard labor for the term of twenty years at hard labor, the maximum penalty of the law."

Hayashida gave no sign as the sentence was translated to him and he was taken away to commence the long period of expiation for his crime.
