ROBBING SCHLEY OF HIS GLORY.

The Scheme to Gratify Sampson.

Secretary Long, Sampson and Sampson's Friends Said to be Working Together—It is Not Thought the Senate Will Allow Schley to be Robbed of His Rights.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The question of whether Sampson or Schley should receive the honors for the magnificent victory achieved by the American navy at Santiago on July 3 has sunk from controversy into mere deception on the part of the supporters of Admiral Sampson and on the part of the Admiral himself. It is rapidly becoming one of the most disgraceful spectacles ever held up before the American people, and General Eagan's in openly and deliberately calling General Miles a variegated liar rises almost into sublime manliness compared with some of the tricks being practiced by the Navy Department to uphold Sampson and degrade Schley.

This question is not one in which the Administration is taking any considerable part. President McKinley, in making promotions, must be guided by the representations of the War and Navy departments. He was so guided in promoting Sampson above Schley, and he was basely deceived. The Navy Department is responsible for this outrage. That department, with its "bureau of aristocracy," of which aristocracy Sampson is an honored member, is the power working for Sampson's unearned promotion. No other forces enter into it.

Sampson belongs to the "select," so called, in the Navy Department. His membership in that social system that controls the department was responsible for his being placed in command of the North Atlantic Squadron when the war opened. Schley does not belong to that clique. He never did belong to it; he never tried to belong to it. Strangely enough, Adml. Schley's answer to the bigoted and false charges made against him by Secretary Long has not changed that official's attitude. Long still persists, and within a few days he will send to the Senate another letter denouncing Schley and undoubtedly accusing him of disobeying orders.

Long now is furious because Schley has given the country the dispatch from Sampson, telling him to do the very thing for which the Navy Department condemns him. The publication of this dispatch shows plainly enough that there is a conspiracy in the department against Schley.

Public men here have reached the stage when they do not like to discuss this case. Facts are so misrepresented and such depths of deception are resorted to by the Navy Department in maintaining its case that the whole thing has become disgusting beyond description.

Senator Allen said in open session in the Senate to-day, that this was the most infamous favoritism he ever came across.

There is no reason for the discrimination against Schley in the department, except the reasons given. That department is controlled by those who consider themselves better than the average run of mankind. Schley has remained outside of that clique, hence it is against him. Its worst point is the petty snobbery, which is gradually growing up here in Washington among the departments. The Bulletin correspondent has reasons for believing that when the Senate finally comes to act upon these two promotions it will knock the wind out of this.

There seems now no earthly chance for Sampson's confirmation. Probably there is little present chance for Schley's confirmation. There has been some talk in the newspapers to the effect that Schley will drop out of the navy if not confirmed as Rear Admiral. This move President McKinley could not allow to be taken, and he would not if he could.

Such an act would cost more votes in 1900 than Algerism would cost, and any frank honest Republican will agree that this is plenty.

The N. Y. Nation, treating of John Morley's speech to his Scotch constituents, says: "The orator had a splendid and powerful passage in which he paid his respects to the Jingo clergy. His own reputed atheism lent just the needed edge to his rebuke of Christian apologists for war. He had for text a clerical address at a meeting of the Congregational Union, in which were all the usual mumbling clauses to the effect that we could not be for peace at any price, that there were worse things than war, that we lived in a work-a-day world not likely to adopt at once the higher laws of religious life. What a spectacle it was, cried Mr. Morley, to see good men in the exorciating dilemma of dreading to be Jingo, and yet dreading still more to be thought for peace at any price. The fighting bishops of the Middle Ages could not have seemed more out of place as holy men. Worse things than war! So there are worse things than smallpox and delirium tremens; but you do not expect your physician to console you with the reflection. It was true that we lived in a practical world; but was it not for men who believed in the higher laws to insist upon carrying them precisely into that practical world? Otherwise, you had only to imagine these clergymen in company with the Forty Thieves, and you would hear them saying, 'We are for the Ten Commandments, but still this is a work-a-day world; we cannot stand aloof from the practical business of life, and we are not for the Ten Commandments at any price.' This was what was rapidly becoming of the Decalogue, and as for Golden Rule the modern clerical version of that was, 'Always swim with the stream.' * * * The Congregational clergymen of England and the United States are very much alike in that their religion is one for Sundays and not week days. The whole article in the Nation is well worth reading, particularly by "expansionists and imperialists." We saw the Congregational clergy with the Forty Thieves in this city in 1893, when the Decalogue and the Golden Rule were made back numbers.

A Sudden Death.

William J. Maxwell died suddenly at his home in Palama this morning, the cause of death being heart failure.

The deceased, who was a part Hawaiian, was born here 54 years ago, and his father was one of the early settlers, Scotch by birth, and who for thirty years conducted a butcher establishment in the city. The deceased was one of the oldest printers here. He had received a good education, and "Billy" Maxwell could always be found at a case in the printing offices when type was set by men and not by machinery. Recently he held a position as truancy officer under the Board of Education, and even yesterday he was around feeling as hearty as ever.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon from his residence at Koiuiu. Two daughters, one son and several grandchildren survive the deceased, by whose death another "landmark" has been removed from Hawaii.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

Mr. A. L. T. Atkinson, of the Attorney-General's office, will in the future act as prosecuting officer in the District Court. Regular police business has accumulated recently and demands all the time of the Marshal and deputies. The recent boom in real estate stocks and poi and molasses justifies the further demand on the valuable time of the public prosecutor.

The Bishop of Honolulu, the Rt. Rev. Alfred Willis, will conduct the religious exercises at the funeral of Princess Kaiulani, using the Church of England Ritual.—P. C. A.

This is the first time that the official organ has mentioned the head of the Anglican Church in Hawaii with the courtesy due to his exalted office. Were both Thurston and Armstrong present when the paragraph was written?

There are only a few of the old printers left who used to attend the "cases" in the days gone by. "Billy" Maxwell, whose funeral takes place to-morrow, was one of the oldest and most expert. Older in the trade of the survivors than Jim Auld, who, for several years has deserted his case, and the senior of all is Kamio, who set type for the missionaries in the early days, and was paid in "kaliko" and not in coin. Times have been when Kamio did the press-work of printing offices and wasn't paid at all.

Even the oldest compositors in the Islands would hardly try to inflict the machine language on a long suffering subscribing public not familiar with the Slav language, published in an afternoon paper yesterday:

HONOKAA, March 3.—Mrs. J. Olson, residing near Honokaa, was run over by a bullock cart about 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning, and received injuries from which she died three hours later.

The deceased was on horseback riding in the direction of her daughter's residence near Kukuibale. In turning a sharp curve in the road she met the bullock team and her horse took fright, rearing and throwing her to the ground. Before the bullock team could be stopped the wheels of the cart mowed up the body, inflicting serious injuries.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Dry Crowd.

Ed. THE INDEPENDENT:— Say, mister editor, what kind of a deal did you give us the other day when you in your "valuable" columns advised people to take a trip to Waiialua on Mr. Dillingham's train? Me and a party of friends were induced to take the run last Sunday simply to see whether you were telling too much truth contrary to the habits of your interesting paper which ought to be in mourning every day in the week.

You said that the trip was "bootiful" and when you go down the line refreshments are numerous, so we left the "booze" in town and travelled as missionary first-class tourists.

We succeeded in getting to the Waiialua station without running off the track and without getting any refreshments excepting third class water, labeled ice-water, and tasting as if it had just been tapped from the Kihei well.

The Waiialua station is about one mile from the Hotel, which is to be conducted by Col. Iaukea, and the Hotel is not there yet. At least there were no refreshments to be had. Every man, woman and child met in the "coming" district and asked for direction for a refreshment stand answered, "Go to Ah Kui." So we did, and when we finally reached the Chinese store we found the doors shut and on the verandah half a dozen plantation men with their tongues hanging out from their mouths, and not one of them knowing where the back entrance was. Not even a policeman was around.

If Waiialua is going to be run on the strictly temperance line, I beg to withdraw my patronage of the "road" and Piehu's hotel and remain, truly yours, TAIBETTY CAARLIE.

Requiem.

Hush be, now, your very breath,
None but mournful tones to-day;
For, young and fair, in sleep of death—
So soon, to be taken away!
Is our Princess of Hawaii
Dear Alii of Hawaii.

Pour down thy tears, O, sky,
Dressed in the darkest hues;
The quiet, steady thud of rain
Fits well the bitter news,—
For, young and fair, in sleep of death—
Too soon, to be taken away!
Lies our Princess of Hawaii
Dear Alii of Hawaii.

Spread now thy pall, O Heavens
above,
And cover over all this land;
The sweet girl-princess of our love
Hath joined the Celestial band;
For, young and fair, in sleep of death—
Too soon, to be taken away!
Lies the Princess of Hawaii,
Dear Alii of Hawaii.

She sped from sight, out in the night,
Seeing that Heavenly shore;
Led by angels into the light—
Earthly home needing no more!
Now, happy dweller in the sky,
Kaiulani of Hawaii,
Good Alii of Hawaii.

LIFE IN SANTIAGO.

The Arrival of Archbishop Chapelle Stirs the Clerical Party.

SANTIAGO, DE CUBA, Feb. 25.—The proposal to amalgamate and reorganize the old Circle Espano and the Anglo-American Club has at last been carried into effect. The new club is called the Cosmopolitan Club. The membership is composed of thirty Americans, twenty Englishmen, thirty-three Spaniards, twenty-two Cubans and a few other nationalities.

The arrival of Archbishop Chapelle of New Orleans, the papal delegate appointed to place the Catholic Church of Cuba on a new basis, created quite a stir among the clerical party. It appears that the object of the Archbishop is, if possible, to place the church on a self-supporting basis.

It is openly asserted among Cubans that the Archbishop has a very poor opinion of the clergy in this province, so far as he has seen them. He considers their morals lax, their habits indolent.

Honolulu, Feb. 22, 1899.

The demand still continues for the celebrated

IMPROVED BLUE FLAME OIL STOVES

and we have just received a large shipment of these justly famous stoves in three sizes, which we offer at the following prices:

$16. $22.50. $25

These stoves are absolutely non-explosive and free from odor. So clean are they that a meal can be cooked in the parlor and the stove wheeled out, and no one know that cooking had been going on. They are very economical also and are just the thing for small families and light house-keeping. Since we introduced them many improvements have been made to this new lot and they are now perfect.

We have also left a very few of the

which we desire to close out, and in order to do so quickly we have reduced the price to $45.

This figure will be appreciated by those who know the value of them. As it is very low and the price will soon dispose of them.

[Thoughts on the belief of the Hawaiians that it generally rains in conjunction with other elements at the time of the death of a High Chief or Chiefess.]

Nuuanu clouds wept;
When from fullness of years,
Our good chieftain slept,
She poured down her tears.

Then thunder rolled wheels,
In the clouds o'er the hearse,
And drowned with loud peals
The parson's last verse.

Nuuanu now weeps,
Full of tears to the Brine,
For the Princess who sleeps,
Is the last of her line.

Though her sweet voice is hushed,
Still lingers her fame,
Who never once blushed,
At the sound of her name.

At Aieahau.

A large number of the friends of the late Alii went to Aieahau yesterday in spite of the inclement weather, taking floral offerings and volunteering their services at the last sad vigil and wherever they could be of use.

The young ladies who have been in constant attendance on the Princess during her illness have virtually succumbed to the strain put on them and are in need of absolute rest. All preparations for the last sad rites are being quietly made without unnecessarily disturbing the heart-broken father. To-morrow the remains of Hawaii's Princess will lie in state at Aieahau, and on Saturday morning the body will be brought to Kawaiahao Church, where the Hawaiians will be given the last chance to gaze upon the beloved features of the chiefess who was the hope of her house and her race.

The funeral will take place from the church on Sunday afternoon, and will be under the auspices of the Government. The remains will be deposited in the Royal Mausoleum next to those of Princess Likelike, the mother of Kaiulani.

PACIFIC HEIGHTS

situated on the magnificent hillside between Nuuanu and Pauoa Valleys and commanding a superb marine and scenic view stretching from Diamond Head over Punchbowl to the Waianae range of Mountains.

A broad winding boulevard giving access to the property is now in course of construction and choice lots of sufficient area for magnificent homesteads will soon be available.

On the Nuuanu side of the hill is a Pali protecting it from the high winds and heavy showers of Nuuanu Valley, ensuring a salubrious climate.

The Elevation of the Property is from 150 to 750 feet above sea level.

Applications will be numbered and filed, and choice will be allotted according to the number of applications.

☞ Only $1000 for a lot 100x200 feet.
☞ Terms Easy.

POISONED AT A CHURCH SOCIAL

Fifty Persons Narrowly Escape Death at Sebastopol.

SANEA ROSA, Feb. 25.—As a result of eating refreshments served at a church social, more than fifty persons living in the town of Sebastopol a few miles west of this city, were badly poisoned last night. Only the most determined efforts upon the part of every physician in the place prevented a large death list being the result of the unfortunate affair. As it is, more than a dozen well known residents of the pretty little village are still lying in a precarious condition.

The social was given by the Epworth Leagues of the Methodist and Congregational churches in a little chapel located on a pleasant hill. A large number of people were present, and at the conclusion of the program refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served.

Shortly after midnight Dr. Miller was summoned to attend a very sick patient, and a few moments later Drs. Benepe and Hardin were also called upon in similar cases, and from then on until morning the medicine men were kept going as fast as they could drive. Some patients did not experience trouble until this morning, and as many of the sufferers were not out of danger until this afternoon, the physicians of the place more than had their hands full.

In conversation with Dr. Benepe this evening the Bulletin correspondent learned that that gentleman had not been in bed for twenty-four hours.

As yet it has been impossible to determine whether any poison or foreign substance was in the ice cream, coffee or cake. A number of those taken sick did not eat the ice cream at all, and the same result was noted among those who partook of ice cream, but did not touch the coffee. The entire affair has caused the most intense excitement among the people of Sebastopol and the Gold Ridge country.

A CABLE TO THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Senate Committee Agrees to Incorporate Provisions for It in the Sundry Civil Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Senate Committee on Appropriations to-day agreed to incorporate a provision in the sundry civil appropriation bill providing for the construction of a submarine cable connecting the United States with the Hawaiian Islands. The amendment adopted is the one introduced by Senator Butler, and it provides for the laying of the cable by the United States and for its subsequent ownership by the Government, the Navy Department to perform the service and the cable when completed to be operated by the Post-office Department.

Senator Butler's original proposition provided for the extension of the cable to the Philippine Islands, but the committee decided not to make provision for this extension because of the uncertainty of the tenure of the United States in the last named islands.

Senator Butler made a statement before the committee showing that the cable could be laid to Honolulu for $6,942,000.

Duke of Orleans Has Abandoned Hope.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—A cable to the Sun from London says: A Central news dispatch from Brussels says the Duke of Orleans started this evening for Turin, where he will remain for some time, going thence to the Riviera before returning to England with the Duchess. The dispatch says that the Duke has abandoned all hope of an immediate movement in France to overthrow the republic.
