PROGRESS.

The Life of the Land is Established in Righteousness.

HONOLULU, MAR. 30 1894.

SHAME!

Thurston's Bastard Hawaii

The Advertiser get very hostile because the Bulletin quoted a private letter in which the Hawaiian Exhibit at the Midwinter Fair was severely criticized. The Bulletin is able to do its own fighting—and generally comes out on top—but we consider it our duty to say a few words about the miserable affair which perhaps was intended as an advertisement for Hawaii and has turned out to be the worst advertisement against Hawaii that any of our enemies could desire. The HOLOMUA gave lots of space and lots of ink to show the people here that the Hawaiian Exhibit would be a financial fizzle. Mr. T. W. Hobron who is the agent, if not the promoter of the company that conducts the Hawaiian Exhibit had a grievance and a libel suit against the editor of this paper and we consequently refrained from saying so much about the matter as we really ought to have done in honor to truth and justice. We did not desire that our criticism of the scandalous affair should look as instigated by personal feelings or spite against Mr. Hobron.

Now the Fair has gone on and it has proven as a whole a miserable failure. Next to the Egyptian fiasco—which was closed in bankruptcy, nothing has approached the "Hawaiian Village" in its attempt of becoming an unmitigated swindle. We do not listen to hearsay or to prejudiced evidence. We have inquired from different people who have visited the Fair; people of different political ideas, people some of who worship Thurston and Hobron and some who don't, but the answer from all is that the Hawaiian Exhibit is a blot on the fair name of our Island Home, a scandal to the men and women who call this country their own and a disgrace to the men who for their selfish ends exhibited Hawaii as a "mudhole inhabited by stomach-dancing strumpets." The grand feature of the Hawaiian Exhibit is the hula. That dance is forbidden here through the laws passed by the fathers of Thurston and company. The vileness of it has been used as a cause for the late revolution, although everybody knows that Queen Liliuokalani never tolerated a hula inside the Palace or inside her private residences. The boat-house hulals of Kala-kauna, about which we hear so much, were respectable in comparison with those exhibited by Lerrin A. Thurston, the Hawaiian Minister to Washington at the Midwinter Fair.

The very worst specimens of Hawaiian womanhood have been selected to do this performance condemned so often by our immaculate missionary rulers. Women who have spent most of their time in the police-cells in Honolulu on charges of drunk and disorderly conduct, have been chosen by Mr. Thurston to represent "life in Hawaii." Women who made a speciality of dancing nude before the others and waiters of any tramp steamer touching Honolulu are called forward and presented before an American public as representing Hawaii nei. And by whom? By that great and good patriot who draws $6,000 a year—and travelling expenses—for the purpose of misrepresenting Hawaii and may be marrying his cashier. A mudhole with about ten gallons of water in it and a canoe is labelled as "Waikiki." Bamboo sticks represent cocconut trees and banana stalks and sugarcane. The Exhibit is a disgrace. And, worse than all, the unfortunate women who were induced by Mr. Thurston to go there for the purpose of helping him to boom his cyclone-ma are treated by the agent of that Christian (?) gentleman like cattle. They are housed badly, fed badly and clothed badly. One of them is in the large throes of agony from pneumonia while the hula girls never expect to return here alive. Arrested and put into jail has been the only relief that these unfortunate women have had. They dance every twenty minutes, and even on SUNDAYS does the virtuous ambassador of Hawaii force these miserable prostitutes to show publicly the disgrace of Hawaii. But, Agent Hobron grades the vileness of these women. He stated that only a MILD HULA would be allowed.

Great Scott! What villainy! The dance of which we are ashamed, the dance taboed by the church people of Hawaii, the dance that our missionary boys close their eyes to (and look at through their fingers) is graded by Mr. Thurston and his crowd! A mild hula! Forsooth! we are not virtuous nor do we nourish any special ambition to get rheumatism by putting any part of our body on a damp but heavenly rainbow, but we would be utterly and totally ashamed if we even had lent our name or our countenance to the disgraceful affair the "Hawaiian Village at the Midwinter Fair."

A STATESMAN.

Some Facts About Senator Gray.

Among the men who attracted attention in the Democratic National Conventions of 1880 and 1884 was George Gray of Delaware. He went to Cincinnati and Chicago as the advocate of his friend, Senator Bayard. He was then Attorney-general of his State. Little was known of him outside of Delaware and the neighboring States, for he is a man who permits his character to speak for him, and does not seek opportunities to address an audience or to enlarge the number of his acquaintances. When he had addressed the first Democratic convention in behalf of the nomination of Mr. Bayard, it was agreed by all who heard him that the orator and the speech were worthy of the occasion and the subject; so that, when the second occasion came, at Chicago, Mr. Gray's nominating speech was looked forward to as sure to be one of the agreeable episodes of the convention. In these two conventions there was presented to the Democratic party one of those promising opportunities upon which the party in its modern mood has so persistently turned its back. The Massachusetts Democrats, coming out of their bondage to the worst elements of their party, through the trials and tribulations of Butlerism, were turning their faces to the rising sun. Men like Leverett, Saltonstall, and Francis Bird, old Democrats with young hopes and aspirations and quick consciences, were clearing the way for the new men who have made the name of Democrat of deeper and better import in the old Bay State. When Massachusetts was called in the convention of 1880, Mr. Saltonstall, speaking the voice of the majority of his delegation, seconded Mr. Gray's nomination of Mr. Bayard. If the southern men in that convention had been as free from fears and doubts as they might have been, Mr. Bayard would have been nominated, and the Democratic party would have saved the fatal Hancock experiment.

Senator Gray, like Senator Bayard, has for years been one of the forces for good in the Democratic party, one of the leaders who has attracted to the party the independent voters who have made its victories possible, because they have hoped to make the party represent the principles of economic and administrative reform, to which the Republican party was either actually opposed, or in behalf of which its advocacy was cold and menial. There was a time, some 15 years ago, when Mr. Bayard was the one public man who seemed to unite the Democratic party with the independent voters who had grown dissatisfied with the practices and tendencies of the Republican party. It was generally supposed that he stood alone in his State, and therefore the appearance of a man of such evident character as Attorney-General Gray was somewhat of a surprise. Delaware had persisted in sending ordinary men as colleagues to Mr. Bayard in the Senate and as its Representatives in the popular branch of Congress, so that it had been accepted as a fact that Mr. Bayard was the only considerable public man of the State, at least in the Democratic party. The truth is, however, that faction politics had more to do with this state of things than the merits of individuals, for Delaware in those days, being firmly under the command of the Democrats, was divided between the Bayard and Saulsbury factions, with the balance slightly in favor of the latter. Mr. Gray's first office was by appointment of the governor. The first elective office he held was the Senatorship.

The Senator's father, Andrew C. Gray, was one of the distinguished lawyers of Delaware, and stood on even terms with James A. Bayard and Secretary Clayton. George Gray was born at New Castle, on May 4th, 1840. He was graduated at Princeton College in 1859. After graduation he studied law with his father and at Harvard College, and was admitted to the bar in 1863. For 16 years he practiced his profession with distinguished success, and was regarded not only as one of the first lawyers of his State, but as one of the soundest lawyers of the section of the country in which he dwelt. His first appearance in national politics was in 1876, when he attended the national convention at St. Louis which nominated Mr. Tilden. In 1879 he was appointed Attorney-General of the State by Governor Hall, and was reappointed by Governor Stockley in 1889. It was while holding this office that his worth became generally known through the part which he took in moving the nomination of Mr. Bayard, as has been already narrated.

It was fitting in every way, when Mr. Bayard was appointed Secretary of State by Mr. Cleveland at the beginning of his first term, in 1885, that Mr. Gray should be named as his successor. In mind and in character he was certainly the equal of the Democratic leader who preceded him.

From his first entrance upon his duties, as Senator, Mr. Gray has been recognized as a leader. By temperament he is a peace-maker, but he is a peace-maker who does not compromise his principles as he understands them. He has been a consistent and able defender of the President, and in the debates in which Mr. Cleveland was attacked he displayed an ability and acumen which have not been overmatched by any of the President's enemies and critics. There are two classes of Senators on the Democratic side of the chamber who constitute what is known as the administration group; and one is respected, while the other is not. Whether justly, or not some Senators are accused of adopting and defending the policy of the White House from selfish motives. But no one says this, or thinks it, of Senator Gray, unless it be some malicious person who cannot believe that any profession of friendship for the President can be sincere. Senator Gray did not become Mr. Cleveland's friend because the latter was President, or because he was the friend and successor of the Secretary of the State. He was and is an administration Senator because he believes in the political principles which triumphed in Mr. Cleveland's election. He is a tariff-reformer, a sound-money man, and he is a friend of civil service reform. He knows that Mr. Cleveland is doing his utmost to advance those causes, and to bring the Democratic party up to the high standard which has always been his own, and as it was Mr. Bayard's. He is a party man of the right kind, and supports the leader of his party because he feels that it is right, and that it is for the good of the country that his party's principles should prevail. While he is the friend and even the partisan of the President, he has the regard and respect of the President's antagonists and enemies in his own party and of the Republican Senators.

NOTICE

FROM THE

Hui Aloha Aina

TO THE

HAWAIIAN PEOPLE

Whereas, the Provisional Government proposes to call a Constitutional Convention for the purpose of preparing a new Constitution for the Hawaiian Islands, allowing only 18 delegates to be elected to sit with the now elected members of the present Executive and Advisory Councils, which body consists of nineteen members which would constitute a majority of the proposed convention, and therefore able to defeat any wishes of the Hawaiian People. And whereas it is further proposed to allow all foreigners who were in the country on or before January 1st, '94, the right of franchise, and, whereas, each delegate and each voter will be obliged to take an oath derogatory to the dignity, traditions and autonomy of the Hawaiian Nation which is a clear violation of their Constitutional rights. Therefore, be it resolved that we earnestly recommend all members of the "Hui Aloha Aina" and all Hawaiian sympathizers to refrain from participating in the coming election for delegates to the proposed convention. And all members of the "Hui Aloha Aina" are especially cautioned against taking any of the following oaths or taking any part whatever in the aforementioned elections, or joining any of the clubs started to prepare the same, and from joining in any acts whatever affecting the Hawaiian Nation or people's appeal now under consideration before the Executive and Legislative authority of the American Nation.

Hawaiian Hardware Company.

March 14, 1894.

The fact that but less than one hundred patents have been issued by the Hawaiian Government does not speak volumes for the inventive ability of the residents of this country. Nor are all the patents to Hawaiians, many of them, perhaps a majority, are merely to people in the United States who wish to protect their interests all over the world.

We have had a patent issued for the Jones Locked Fence, because we saw that it was a good thing, and the people who build fences believed it the best thing they had ever seen. Certain parties had in contemplation the manufacture of the articles used in the Locked Fence, and we did not think that an imitation article would be half as good as the original, hence, the patent on Hawaii.

We have been selling the Jones Locked Fence for a year and its popularity is growing every day. As an evidence of what the Fence is thought of by a gentleman who is thoroughly well posted in cattle and fences we publish the following letter:

"Kapapala Ranch,

Kau, Hawaii, March 10, 1894.

E. R. Hendry, Esq.,

Manager Hawaiian Hardware Co., Honolulu.

Dear Sir:

I have just completed some three miles of the "Jones Lock Fence" and must say that I am very much pleased with it, in fact it is the fence for a ranch. I had about a mile to construct over "pahoehoe" where it was nearly impossible to get a post down, and found in this case, especially, the "Jones fence" was a great saving of labor. There are places in this Fence where the posts are at least 75 feet apart and the space between filled in with stags. There is no sag to it, and it is as springy as a wire mattress. I am confident that it will turn any ordinary stock. I have some two and a half miles more to construct over a country where wild cattle are very plentiful, and as soon as it has undergone the test there, will write you further. If it will turn the stock on this part of the land, and I feel confident it will, you can rest assured that it will turn most anything, except a Lava flow.

Very Truly Yours,

J. MONSARRAT."

This should convince the most skeptical; if there are people who still doubt, let them come to our store and inspect a sample.

The barkentine Planter and S. G. Wilder sailed yesterday for the Coast with a total of 3,966, 925 lbs. sugar, valued at about $100,000.

Mr. Howard Hitchcock's paintings of the Volcano of Kilauea, now on exhibition in the windows of the Pacific Hardware Co., attract considerable attention.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Turner were invited in the sanctity of their home last evening by a band of merry-makers who made things hum 'till past the hour when churchyards yawn.

A "sensible cocktail" now and then, will not hurt the most temperate man. It smooths the wrinkles of care away and is an excellent tonic for every day. Call and get one every evening. At Major Wolter's Pacific Saloon.

The Star's story of the volcano, as written by Mr. Leigh H. Irvine, is regarded as an excellent stroke of enterprise and most truly characteristic of the paper.

The Pacific Athletic club made a successful entrance into public notice last evening. Manager Washington the sparring instructor will be found to be capable and accommodating.

A Pointer.

Times are going to be hard. They are hard now. By that expression we mean that the wage-earners are not in a position to spend their money as freely as formerly done here. The employment strangers who have no alibi for this country and who consider Hawaii as a milching cow out of whom the most benefit should be taken, do not help our merchants or dealers along. Whatever might be said against the Royalists employees, the fact remains that they spent their money here. The treasury-suckers, under the p.g. suit down their share of the tax-payers money and spend it somewhere else. Under this circumstances it is worthy of notice that one merchant at least imports and sells goods at such a figure that can be met by nearly everybody. MR. CHAS GIRDLEE whose offices are on K ahumanu Street, may not be anxious to sell his goods at retail, but the call of his friends and the demands of his patrons have been so, that he has thrown open his stock in any quantities and qualities to suit the public. The dress goods opened by Mr. Charles Girdler have not been equalled here. The figures at which he sells them are surprising to this town. If anybody wants his wife or daughter or, shall we say, girl, well-dressed, the chances are there—but they won't be there for many days to come. Who is to wear that "Rainbow" suit

SQUARE SPORT.

Doings at the Pacific Athletic Club.

The Pacific Athletic club is one of the latest associations which has come forth into the arena of local organizations and it made its bow to its friends, and some invited guests, last evening under the auspices of Mr. J. G. Spencer as manager and G. Walter Washington as sparring instructor. As a matter of course there were several exhibitions of the many art between amateurs who are members of the club and which proved interesting. The first of these was a three round contest between Maidenfield and "Shorty" in which, notwithstanding disparity in size "Shorty" came off with "honors easy." A three round contest between David Koi and Bill Reis was well contested and Koi got a decision. Professor Washington now shaped up in front of an equally lofty opponent in David Kala one of his pupils and a lively exhibition of the attack and defense tactics in pugilistic war were given for two rounds. The event of the evening was the boxing contest between Jackson of Hawaii and Lancaster of Sacramento for the bantam-championship of the islands. In this Mr. Knight very acceptably filled the position of master-of-ceremonies. The kids shaped up well for the first round, Jackson starting the ball immediately. Lancaster, contrary to all expectations, seemed a "doughill" and after making a walking match through four rounds he quietly "quit," refusing to leave his corner for the fifth round. The medal, the badge of the bantam-champion, appropriately inscribed, was pinned upon the palpitating bosom of the victorious Jackson, who bowed his acknowledgments. The entertainment ended about 10:30 and those present left with a hope that the Pacific athletic club would soon be one of the fixtures in club circles.
