AN EXPERIENCE MEETING.

"What is it I hear about your pa being turned out of prayer meeting Wednesday night?" asked the grocer of the bad boy, as he came over after some cantaloupes for breakfast and pugged a couple to see if they were ripe.

"He wasn't turned out of the prayer meeting at all. The people all went away, and pa and ma was the last ones out of the church. But pa and ma was mad, and don't you forget it."

"Well, what seemed to be the trouble Has your pa become a backslider?"

"Oh, no, his flag is still there. But something seems to go wrong. You see, when we got ready to go to prayer meeting last night, pa told me to go up stairs and get him a handkerchief, and to drop a little 'fumery on it, and put it in the tail pocket of his black coat. I did it, but I guess I got hold of the wrong bottle that said 'Jamaica Rum,' and I put on a big lot. Just afore I put the handkerchief in pa's pocket I noticed a pack of cards on the stand that pa used to play hi-lo-jack with ma evenings when he was so sick he couldn't go down town, before he got 'ligion, and I wrapped the handkerchief around the pack of cards, and put them in his pocket. I don't know what made me do it, and pa don't either, I guess, 'cause he told ma this morning that I was possessed of a devil. I must go home with these watermelons or they won't keep."

"But hold on," says the grocery man, as he gave the boy a few raisins with worms in, that he couldn't sell, to keep him, "what about the prayer meeting?"

"O, like to forgot. Well, pa and ma went to prayer meeting, and ma came along afterwards with a deakin that is mashed on her, I guess, 'cause he says she's to be pitted for having to go through life yoked to such an old prize ox as pa. I heard him tell ma that, when he was helping her put on her rubber water privilege to go home in the rain the night of the sociable, and she looked at him just as she does at me when she want me to go down to the hair foundry after he: switch, and said, 'O, you dear brother,' and all the way home he kept her water privilege on by putting his arm on the small of her back. Ma asked pa if he didn't think the deakin was real kind,' but that was afore he got 'ligion. We sat in a pew, at the prayer meeting, next to ma and the deakin, and there was lots of pious folks all around. After the preacher had gone to bat, an old lady had her innings aprayin,' and the singers had got out on the first base, pa was on peck and the preacher said they would like to hear from the recent convert, who was trying to walk in the straight and narrow way, but found it so hard, owing to the many crosses he had to bear. Pa knowed that it was him that had to go to bat, and he got up and said, 'he felt it was good to be there.' He said at times everything looked dark to him, and he feared he should faller by the wayside, but by a firm resolve he kept his eyes sot on the future, and if he was tempted to do wrong he said get thee behind me, satan, and stuck in his toenails for a pull to the right. He said he was thankful to the brothers and sister, particularly the sisters, for all they

THE COINAGE QUESTION.

A great deal has been said for and against the proposed new coinage. It has been described by its advocates as a scheme by which the Government can make money, and by its opponents, as a scheme for flattering the personal vanity of His Majesty—with the second phase of these arguments we have nothing to do. We propose to treat the subject purely in a business way and from a business point of view.

First however, we must premise that the man, who advocates a scheme by which a Government is to make money out of its subjects, has forgotten what a Government is. A Government only exists for the mutual convenience of its component parts, and these parts, who are styled subjects, have agreed on some form of carrying on business, which is called Government. Practically, in every country, the Government is the people. They assess themselves in taxes and pay them, so as to carry on the machinery of Government. Without these taxes being paid the Government could not go on.

For no Government has a revenue undervalued from its people. If the Government needs more money it has to raise more taxes, but for it to make money out of its people is simply equivalent to taxing those people for the same purpose. It is like a man's taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another.

And it is impossible for a Government to make money out of a coinage worth less than its face value. For they have to receive that coinage back in payment of all taxes and Government dues and what they may gain normally in the coinage they lose three or four times over when they collect the taxes and duties. It is a well-known axiom in the financial world, that coins always find their exact level. Make an edict to-morrow that the half dollar shall be called a dollar, and immediately the price of an article which was half-a-dollar will be raised in the same proportion. Money is never worth more than what it will buy.

NOTES AND QUERIES. BUSINESS LICENSES.

We hear that all those whose business licenses had expired before the 1st of October, and who failed to renew them before that date, are to be prosecuted. Why should the law be enforced so suddenly and without warning when it has remained so long in abeyance? If it was time to enforce it, why not give notice of the intention? We have heard that the matter was not started till some people went to pay their licenses that had expired, and then the law woke up.

STREET OBSTRUCTIONS.

Is there any body who has authority to compel people to remove obstructions, such as steps, &c., from the sidewalks? If there is, he will find enough to do in getting that part of Nuuanu street, nanka of Bere-tania street level. Several complaints have reached us from time to time from people who have fallen over these steps at night. There is also a stable there, into and out of which horses are being led constantly, and no light is shown. If these things were speedily attended to, it would go far to show that the Government were sincere in their desire to further improvement.

THE BAND.

We hear that the public are to be deprived of listening to the Band at the Hotel on Monday evenings.

Why is this thus? Are there too many harmless amusements in Honolulu that we should be deprived of this one.

POLICE COURT.

Yesterday's list was a long one, there being 35 cases including 3 deserters from bond service. Of the remaining cases 28 were brought up for drunkenness or cases, such as assault and battery, disturbing the quiet of the night, which are the results of drunkenness. Of these 28 no less than 22 were natives, the others being 2 South Sea Islanders and 4 foreigners.

On Sunday it was reported at the Police Station that a South Sea Islander had been murdered over at Koolau. An officer was sent to investigate and when he got there it was found that he had been drunk and fallen over a canyon and injured himself. He told the officer who had supplied him and others with liquor, and by going a little further the officer was enabled not only to arrest the distiller, John Ailama, but also to capture the still and some okotchaos. The case will be tried at Koolaupoko to-day.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The bark Iolani will leave for Manila, at 8 o'clock this morning. The steamer Madras leaves for Portland at 8 o'clock this morning.

WEST MAUI.

Land went at high rates at the auction sale of Thursday last. The kalo lands were bought by or for natives, I understand, and all suitable cane land is to be added to the plantation. Complaints are rife of the scarcity of beef in Lahaina.

CONCERT AT LAHAINA.

About the middle of the week, it was announced in Lahaina that H. R. H. Princess Kamakucha, with the assistance of others whose services she could command, would give a concert for the benefit of Waince Church before her departure. Accordingly an exceptionally large audience assembled on Friday evening, in the brilliantly lighted and tastefully decorated church. Banana trees, cocoanut fronds, ki-leaves, ferns and flowers united to intensify the tropical appearance of the interior, while the large Hawaiian flag draping the pulpit fittingly portrayed the nationality and loyalty of those who had come together to enjoy the honor which the Princess saw fit to bestow upon the people of Lahaina. Besides the Princess and her party, the Alaska Minstrels (the Alaska having arrived Thursday) and a chorus from Lahainaluna Seminary, led by Mr. John Maipine-pine, a graduate of last year, added greatly to the enjoyment of those present. The programme, consisting of songs in variety extending from the ancient Hawaiian to the popular songs of the day, including some southern plantation melodies, was carried out without interruption and to manifest satisfaction of the audience. The singing of "Call me back again" by the Princess and her chorus was encored, and other performances by the same singers would have been had not Her Highness intimated a wish that they should not be. Among the notables in the audience were Governor Dominis, Minister Daggett and Capt. Belknap. The affair will be quite memorable in the "annals of a quiet neighborhood."

KOHALA NOTES.

On Monday and Tuesday of last week the rain fell in copious showers all through the Eastern portion of this district, whereat everybody rejoices. It is not only the planter who feels encouraged when crops look well, for unless that individual makes money nobody else will get any. A large crop of cane implies a general circulation of money among all classes. The rains, however, have not extended much above the cultivated lands, and as a consequence the sources of streams have not been supplied and gulches remain dry. Thus on Tuesday when the rain was falling plentifully over the cane fields, it was as dry as powder up in the woods.

We hear that the Tax Collector appointed for this District has not qualified, and that a new man will take his place. It is about time that official commenced business. There is no necessity for going out of the District in making the appointment, for there are suitable persons resident here for the position.

Complaints are still rife about the ignorance—if nothing worse—of our Police Magistrate. He has the reputation of being a very well-meaning man; but it often happens that very dull and stupid people mean well. That is no consolation for those who are compelled to suffer from their blunders.

LOCAL AND GENERAL ITEMS.

SALMON by the barrel is very high priced, we hear.

"TRIAL by Jury" cantata will, we learn, be produced in the first week in December, under the conductorship of Prof. Berger.

Rumors are again being circulated that there will be a change in the Ministry. It is said that it has been definitely decided that His Ex. S. K. Kaai is to resign.

MR. CRUZAN'S sermon on Amusements on Sunday night was highly appreciated. His views seem in this respect to be extremely liberal and anti-puritanical.

We heard that a Hawaiian had slipped on the curbstone in Maunakea street and dislocated his thigh, we were unable to learn further particulars.

THE Auction Sale of the Lease of Government land Pohakaa, at Kaili, Oahu, advertised for Nov. 3d, has been postponed by the Minister of the Interior until Friday the 10th inst.

Up to date 100 drivers licenses been issued under the new law. It is supposed that there are at least 200 express-drivers in Honolulu to say nothing of the drivers of drays, ox-carts, &c.

THE monthly meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions will be held to-day at half-past two, in the Ladies' parlor of Fort street Church. A full attendance is requested, as these are matters of importance to be brought before the society.

YESTERDAY evening, by Royal command, the Band went out to Mr. Wideman's residence and played in honor of Mr. Stephen Spencer who, it will be remembered, was in the same office with His Majesty at one time.

Messrs. Hackfeld & Co. have placed two fine tall bronze vases on stands in their warehouse. They are splendid specimens of Japanese art on a gigantic scale, and are well worth purchasing by those who own large houses.

THE following articles are now at the Police Station, waiting for their owners to claim them: A velvet smoking cap, ready to be worked on, with material for embroidering, picked up in Bethel street, Sunday night; a silver glove or button fastener picked up in Nuuanu street; two shawls, one picked up on the 3rd, and the other on the 18th of October.

LONDON GOSSIP.

(BY BLANCK.) Special for the Daily Bulletin.

The new magazine to be published by Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., and to bear the name of Longmans' Magazine, is definitely fixed to appear on November 1. It will not be devoted to any particular school of thought, whether political, social, or religious, and fiction will form a prominent feature. Among the writers in the first and second numbers will be J. A. Froude, Justin McCarthy, M.P., Mrs. Oliphant, and James Payn. The new serial will no doubt be a great success.

The book of travel which Mr. Stanley will set about preparing as soon as he arrives in London will probably be the most interesting he has ever written, and for this reason, among others, that he has kept the secret of it absolutely to himself. It is plain also that the right of property in the Congo region, which Mr. Stanley has been exploring, will become a vexed international region, as France, Belgium, England, and probably the United States also, are already laying claim to it.

The Daily Bulletin.

TUESDAY, NOV. 7, 1882.

had done to make his burden light, and hoped to meet them all in—

"When pa got down as far as that he sort of broke down. I suppose he was going to say heaven, though after a few minutes they all thought he wanted to meet them in a saloon. When his eyes began to leak, pa put his hand in his tail pocket for his handkerchief and got hold of it, and gave it a jerk, and out came the handkerchief and the cards. Well, if he had shuffled them and ma had cut them, and he had dealt six hands they couldn't have been dealt any better. They flew into everybody's lap. The deakin that was with ma got the jack of spades, three aces and a deuce, and ma got some nine spots and a king of hearts, and ma nearly fainted, cause she didn't get better hand I s'pose. The preacher got a pair of deuces and a queen of hearts, and he looked up to ma as though it was a misdeal, and an old woman who sat across the aisle, she only got two cards, but that was enough. Pa didn't see what he had done at first, 'cause he had the handkerchief over his eyes, but when he smelled the rum on it he took it away, and then he saw everybody discarding, and he thought he had struck a poker game, and he looked around as though he was mad 'cause they didn't deal him a hand. The minister adjourned the prayer meeting and whispered to pa, and everybody went out holding their noses on account of pa's fumery and when pa came home he asked ma what he should do to be saved. Ma said she didn't know. The deakin told her pa seemed to be wedded to idols. Pa said the deakin better run his own idols, and pa would run his. I don't know how it is going to turn out, but pa says he is goin' to stick to the church."—Milwaukee Sun.
