Judge Dole Sworn.

Judge S B Dole was formally
sworn in this morning as successor to the late Judge Estee of the Federal court. Chief Justice Frear,
of the Territorial Supreme court,
administered the oath. At the time
the court room was filled to overflowing, a full hundred late arrivals being unable to squeeze in. The new Judge addressed the Bar and his remarks were responded to by several attorneys present, the principal address being delivered by Judge Hartwell. A committee was subsequently appointed to bring in resolutions in regard to the death
of Judge Estee.

In respect to business before the court Judge Dole has ruled that any old matters may be proceeded with at this term provided such is agreesable to the respective litigants.

Mrs. Bingham Dead.

The wife of Rev Hiram Bingham,
one of the earliest missionaries to the Gilbert Islands, died last night
after an illness extending over a period of ten years. She was born in Massachusetts and was in her seventieth year. Her husband and one son, Hiram Bingham, Jr, an instructor in Harvard college, survive
her. The funeral will take place from the late residence at 3 o'clock
this afternoon. Rev W M Kincaid officiating. Interment will be in Nuuanu cemetery.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

A question for the Problem Club: "President McKinley annexed us to a war in the Philippines that has cost nearly $300,000,000 and will likely keep up for 300 years—how much will Mr. Roosevelt's racket in Panama cost and how long will it last?"

Our dicker bird has been talking again and has it that there will be something real lively doing when the Grand Jury finishes its work on the election ballots. Some of the men connected with the last election may land where they will not "try it" again, according to our information.

We presume that the Republican candidates who made capital of the fact in the recent campaign that the Republican party had given the people the county act will now come forward and admit that the law was something like the negro's pound of cheese—"most a half a pound of holes."

One thing can be said to the credit of Judge Dole: He never sought the office, the duties of which he assumed this morning. The appointment was made by the President independent of any effort on his part. Contrasted with his case, however, is that of Governor Carter, who has been working in and out of season for three years for the commission he hopes to get. In the one instance the office sought the man; in the other the man sought the office.

The Advertiser, organ of the crowd that claimed in the recent election to have given the people the county bill, now hopes that the entire law can be knocked out by the courts. Its reason for this change of front is based upon the fact that it failed to elect L. A. Andrews and others of its pets in the other islands. It so happens, however, that the courts are still in the business of respecting the will of the majority, despite the Advertiser and its grab-all crew.

The death of William H. Cornwell at Waikapu this morning removes from Honolulu and Maui one of their most respected and useful citizens. For many years Mr. Cornwell has held a prominent position in the business, political and social affairs of the Islands, and his friends were legion. The news of his death will pain everyone in Honolulu whose fortune it was to know Mr. Cornwell, and those who knew him only by reputation will feel that the community has sustained an irreparable loss.

Because the Colombian troops have not yet appeared over the ridge, no one need imagine that things are quiet and the goose is hanging high at Bogota. As sure as the sun continues to rise for a few days, there will be something popping at Panama. Time is not being wasted for nothing. Colombia will either go to war, with South America behind her, and the sympathy of Europe or she will have on her hands one of the most deadly revolutions in her history. The former is most apt to happen.

A larger proportion of the citizens of Hawaii speak the English language than in Louisiana. For hundreds of miles in that State about all the English one can wring out of the Creole population is the question: "Do you come from America?" Hawaii's percentage of illiteracy is so far below that of Louisiana as to render comparison preposterous. The only reasonable objection to the admission of Hawaii as a State is its distance from the mainland, and that objection has been largely removed by the cable and the inauguration of rapid steamship service.

The Pacific Coast States seem still to be unaware of the danger they are in from Japanese immigration. For the first six months of 1903 over 14,000 Japanese were landed in Honolulu, and it is to be supposed that the final figures for the year will show 30,000 or more. With many of these Honolulu is merely a way station, it being already overcrowded with Japs, and they have as their ultimate destination the better fields of Washington, Oregon and California. If the people of those States are wise they will immediately start an agitation in Congress for an exclusion act similar to that in force against China. Better to do it now than to find themselves forced to do it when the country is flooded with the Mikado's subjects, which will come, if the present flow is allowed to go on, in a very few years.

There was something touching in the inauguration of former Governor Dole into the office of Federal judge this morning. At his left hand was the chair left vacant by that great and good man, Judge Estee, a man of the people and one whose life was given for the people, irrespective of race or station, draped in the colors of mourning. About it seemed to hover the spirit of the departed jurist, whom everybody respected and loved. It was a kind of mockery, that scene; and it terminated none too soon for the hearts of many people present in the court room.

The Independent should not try to tell what it doesn't know about American political methods. It hasn't the space.—Advertiser.

When the Advertiser runs out of material for argument, it resorts to ugly and senseless flings. The Independent knows this much of American political methods: The majority is supposed to rule. When a man is cleanly and clearly defeated he is supposed to step aside, and it is considered unfair and an insult to a majority of voters for any party to saddle such a person upon a community in an appointive office.

It does not seem to us to be a square deal for the United States navy to supply foreign war vessels at this port with coal. We have coal dealers here in that business, and it is unfair for the Government to butt in and take their legitimate trade from them. It is all right for the United States to extend such courtesies to outside vessels at coaling stations in foreign countries (in Cuba, for instance) but this is a Territory, American citizens are doing the business here and they are entitled to all the trade of the sort indicated that is going. Uncle Sam is carrying his Happy Hooligan qualities just far enough to cut local coal dealers out of dollars to which they are entitled.

The death of Colonel W. H. Cornwell this morning leaves the Democratic party without a national committeeman in the Islands. The rules of the party give the chairman of the National Committee the authority to fill vacancies in such cases, commissions to hold good until the succeeding convention. Inasmuch as work for the next campaign must shortly begin, this vacancy should be filled at once. The proper way to do it is by action and recommendation by the Territorial Central Committee. At the beginning we wish to suggest the naming of a native Hawaiian for the office. The Democratic party must cater in a large measure to the Hawaiian vote, and the presence of a competent and popular Hawaiian at the head of the party would influence more than anything else that vote. There are a number of competent Hawaiians in the party that could probably be induced to give their time and attention to the important work of this office.

Wm. H. Cornwell Dies at Waikapu.

William H Cornwell, statesman, business man and social favorite, died suddenly at Waikapu, Maui, at 6:15 o'clock this morning of heart disease.

He had been ill only two hours. The news was conveyed in a wireless telegram from his son to relatives here.

The remains will be brought to Honolulu by the Mauna Lea Friday morning, after which arrangements for the funeral will be made.

The death of Mr Cornwell came as a great surprise to his friends in Honolulu, as it was never suspected that he was ill in any way. Telegraphic details are of course meager, but it seems from the advices that the illness came only about 4 o'clock.

Mr Cornwell was born in Brooklyn, N Y, sixty-one years ago on May 30 last, but came to the Islands when quite young. During his life he became associated with many business enterprises, owning and managing, among other things, Waikapu ranch on Maui. He was a member of the Legislature under the Monarchy and was a Cabinet minister shortly before the overthrow. For many years he was one of the principal promoters of horse racing in the Islands, owning many of the best horses and doing much toward making the sport all that it should be. At the time of his death Mr Cornwell was National Committeeman of the Democratic party for the Hawaiian Islands.

Deceased leaves a widow and three children, two daughters and a son. Besides these he leaves two sisters, Mrs Kate Vida and Mrs M C Widdifield.

Queen Reaches Frisco.

San Francisco, Nov 10—Former Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii accompanied by Myra Heleluhe, John D Aimoku and James K Aea, was a passenger on the steamship Sonoma, which arrived yesterday, and is registered at the California. She is bound for Washington to push her claim for reimbursement for crown lands, of which she has been deprived by the Government.

In discussing her mission one of her companions stated last evening that Liliuokalani has great hope of getting favorable action from Congress, basing much of it on the fact that when her claim was up for consideration before there was a large proportion of the national legislators kindly disposed toward it and many who did not take a decided stand in the matter have lately assured her of their support.

Sustains Cooper.

The Supreme Court yesterday filed a decision sustaining Superintendent Cooper in his contention that the provision in the County Act for a board of control is illegal. The opinion is written by Chief Justice Frear, and is approved by the other members of the court. Following is the syllabus of the decision:

An act entitled "An Act providing for the organization and government of counties and districts, and the management and control of public works and institutions therein," is invalid as to so much thereof as purports to create a Territorial Board of Public Institutions and to transfer to it matters theretofore belonging to the Territorial Superintendent of Public Works, and with which the counties were to have nothing to do,—in violation of Sec. 45 of the Organic Act, which provides "that each law shall embrace but one subject, which shall be expressed in its title."

Died.

CORNWELL—At Waikapu, Maui, November 18, 1903, William H Cornwell, a native of Brooklyn, N Y, aged 61.
