STRAIGHT CABLE TALK. HIGHEST OF ALL IN LEAVENING POWER.—LATEST U. S. GOV'T REPORT

PROPOSITION MADE BY THE GOVERNMENT BY COL. SPAULDING. Twenty Year Contract—$40,000 Annual Subsidy—Other Corporations Barred—Strong Sympathies.

A definite cable proposition is being considered by the Cabinet this afternoon. It will likely be laid before the Senate tomorrow. Col. Z. S. Spaulding, with Lorrin A. Thurston as his attorney is negotiating with the Government.

Both gentlemen declined to talk today for publication. The attorney said he could not do so without the consent of his client. The principal did not want any publicity given the transaction until it was consummated.

Col. Spaulding has in his possession a contract with the Cable Construction Company, of London, and is the representative of a strong English syndicate. He himself is very wealthy. This company has laid twelve lines, including at least one across the Atlantic. It sometimes operates plants after placing them.

The proposition to the government is, as near as THE STAR can learn, that it give a subsidy of $40,000 a year, to pay a franchise that will exclude any other corporation and enter into a 20-year contract. The $40,000 is for a line from Honolulu to the United States.

For $10,000 more the company will construct the main cable by cable. The government is to have back quite a sum of its money, probably an amount equal to the bonus, in use of the wire. Rates are not fixed.

The company keeps the line in repair and pays a penalty when communication is interrupted. It is to begin work by October, 1896, and have the line in operation by April 1st, 1898. It is understood a company will be formed by the cable as a guarantee.

It is expected that every phase of the business will be carefully and fully considered before a contract is made. UNDERWRITERS. They Discuss the Low Grade Oil Matter.

There was a large attendance at the special meeting of the Board of Underwriters in the Chamber of Commerce this morning. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the Act before the Legislature relating to the admission of low grade oil for fuel purposes.

THE STORY OF FRANCIS CLUDDE. By STANLEY J. WEYMAN.

Continued. "There are fools everywhere," the old man sneered. "When my lord Harford refused your father's suit, Ferdinand began to be a little better-to be a little better."

It was years since I had seen my father, and I could not stand forth loyally and fight as his father's son.

"You see now, my friend," he said at last, almost gently, "that you may be a good deal more than a young man."

"With your leave I will give you my answer tomorrow," he said, and he turned away from me.

"Very good," he replied, with apparent confidence. "But he would not be so easily won."

He pointed to the little door opening on the staircase, and he said, "I will see you there."

But I had not time to say more than "I will be there," for he had already turned away.

Such Fortifications Keep the Besiegers Out. But they do not keep the food from the city.

In this age of the world a "walled city" is a possession of two advantages. The first is that it is a refuge for the population.

Then, too, Paris is becoming ambitious. She is not content with her position as a city of the world.

Since the siege of 1870-1 the Parisians have left nothing undone to place the city in the best possible condition for the defense of hostiles.
