Little Appetite and no Energy.

These are symptoms that effect a large number of people. Below we give the testimonial of Mrs. A. Morgan, of East Brisbane, Queensland, who does not hesitate to tell you of just the remedy that cured her.

EXPLOITING THE LABRADOR

No More Opium Found Than the Bulletin Reported.

Chester Doyle Graphically Describes the Search—Opium Thrown Overboard
Could Not Be Found.

The tug arrived here Saturday with the Customs officials and the cook of the schooner Labrador. The officers had with them ten coal oil tins containing about 500 half pound tins of opium. This is all that was found and all that the Customs people expected to find. Statements published in other papers that 1300 tins had been found were incorrect.

At the time of the sailing of the tug the schooner had not yet been got off the beach. A plank from her bow bearing the name Labrador was cut out and brought down so as to identify the vessel.

Alex. Lyle, shipwright, who went with the expedition was seen by a BULLETIN reporter on returning. He confirmed the report that the foremast of the Labrador was torn out in the attempt to pull the vessel off the beach. The schooner is lying broadside on, her planking being chafed nearly through on one side, and that on the other side will soon be as bad if the schooner is not floated. Mr. Lyle said she could have been got off on this trip if tackle had been taken along on the tug.

"The vessel had been painted a dark white color," Mr. Lyle said, "but the name showed through the fresh coat. We cut the name part out of the bulwarks and brought it to Honolulu for evidence."

"The tug left Makena between 8 and 9 o'clock last night, and called at Lahaina to load Sheriff Baldwin. We got into Honolulu at 7:30 this morning. Pilot Macaulay returned in the tug."

Chester Doyle, the Japanese interpreter, told the story of his connection with the capture in detail. Among other things he said:

"Marshal Brown wrote me by special messenger on the 6th inst. his letter being delivered to me at 7 o'clock, Lahai, at 10 p. m. on the 7th. The message informed me of the capture of the Labrador, her captain and crew, and instructed me to join Sheriff Baldwin and Port Surveyor Stratemyer."

"I wanted to get over in daylight. Unfortunately all the natives at Kahalepau, the beach settlement, were engaged for the well-boring work about starting there. At length, I found a native who liked money well enough to offer me passage in a small canoe for a big price."

"I reached Lahaina at 7:30 a. m. on the 8th, only to find that the tug had left with the customs authorities, also the Japanese cook of the Labrador, Sheriff Baldwin and his private interpreter, Adachi."

"I was informed that the cook had confessed the whereabouts of the opium. The tug returned at 11 p. m. of the 9th. According to Mr. Stratemyer, the Japanese had taken them off on a wild goose chase. They had cruised about the islands of Molokai, Lanai, Maui and Kahoolawe, but the cook was unable to remember the place.

"I took the Jap in hand and after about two hours hard work got him to make me a sketch of the place. From his statement of the position of the cliffs, and the mountains in the distance, I was positive of the location, as I am personally acquainted with the coasts of Lanai and Kahoolawe."

"After I had conferred with Messrs. Stratemyer and Baldwin, they agreed to give the Jap one more chance, though they took no stock in his story. By this time the tug, after so much cruising about had run out of coal, water and provisions. We managed to get 30 sacks of coal from the plantation people through the kindness of Captain Ailborn the manager, and more from the steamer Kaula at Lahaina, and sailed for the south western point of Kahoolawe. Going around the reef which extends out about two miles we anchor in a small bay which we afterward named 'Labrador Bay'—in 5 fathoms of water."

"Here was a white beach, and the general appearance was the same as the Japanese had given me the night before. After putting a boat over the side Mr. Stratemyer, Baldwin, the Jap and myself went on shore. The place evidently had been used at one time or the other for the shipping of sheep, for lying about were numerous carcasses of dead sheep. It is situated on the extreme southern end of the island in a small bay. The land rises gradually from the beach."

"About 300 feet from the water's edge the Jap walked up to where there was a pile of rocks about 8 or 10 feet high, and under a smaller rock at the base of the large pile was the long looked for opium buried well sealed up in kerosene oil tins, ten in number, and each tin containing 50 pounds of opium. The deposit had been made in the sand about two feet from the surface."

"The Jap had told me the whole affair from the time of his first going on board the Labrador at Victoria, the subsequent painting of the schooner from black to white by the captain, and the carrying of the vessel's name with white paint three days after she had left Victoria, together with other details which I am sorry I can't give you now, but all of which will come out in evidence when the cases come up for trial."

"I was satisfied there was no more opium there, the opium was discovered at 12:30 p. m. on the 9th inst. We took the opium on board and steamed for Makena where Captain McCaulay, the pilot of Honolulu, and a gang of men were trying to get the schooner off the rocks. At Makena we worked until the weather became so rough that it was impossible to use the tug so close to land, and there knocked off about 6 p. m."

"The steamer Noan was sighted passing down channel bound for Honolulu, and, knowing the anxiety that Marshal Brown would have for our success, I had the captain of the tug start out. We intercepted the Noan, and I sent letters to Brown and Collector General McStocker, acquainting them of all the facts."

Mr. Doyle here told of the unsuccessful efforts of Messrs. Macaulay and Lyle, with a gang of ten natives, to float the Labrador. The wire cable of the tug parted repeatedly. Mr. Doyle went on to say:

"We brought the ship's chronometers, etc., down with us, and on the whole I am mighty glad to get back to Honolulu and civilization. I missed the boys in blue, but hope to see the next lot. From newspaper accounts you must have given them a grand send-off."

"Makena! If you have never

EMIL BERGER'S SAD DEATH

Accidentally Shot With His Own Gun While Out Hunting.

It Happens in Waianae Mountains—The Body Carried Two Miles by Comrades
A Large Funeral.

The sad news of the sudden death of Emil Berger received Saturday afternoon caused a gloom to fall on his many friends about town, who had seen him alive and well in the morning of the fateful day. A party of thirteen young men, one of whom was Berger, started for the Waianae mountains on a goat-hunting expedition Saturday morning. After arriving at the grounds the party divided itself into three companies the better to surround and drive the game. Poor Berger was with a party of five who went to climb the ridge. When almost at the top the boys decided to stop a minute and rest, but Emil continued on to the top and sat down to wait for the rest.

He was about fifty yards in advance and called to them that he was on top. He was seen sitting on a rock. Suddenly a shot rang out and Berger was seen to stand up and then topple over, his hat falling toward his companions. One of the boys rushed to the spot and found the poor boy lying on his face. An examination showed that he had been shot. The bullet had entered his left eye and extending upward had shattered the skull and caused almost instant death. It would seem that in resting he had placed the gun between his legs, and it probably slipped and the hammer striking on the rock discharged the cartridge. He was still breathing when they reached him but expired almost instantly afterward.

The party were about two miles from the train, and it was an awful task bringing the body to the station. An effort was made to stop the excursion train from Waianae. It stopped at the signal but was so crowded it could not accommodate the party. The news was telephoned to town and a special train with Dr. Cooper and Mr. William Graham aboard was dispatched to bring in the party. The train arrived at Honolulu about 9 o'clock and met at the station by the bereaved father and a party of friends. The coroner's jury impaneled to it on the case met at 10 o'clock this morning and brought in the following verdict:

That Emil B. Berger came to his death at Waianae, Island of Oahu, Republic of Hawaii on the 11th of June, A. D. 1898, by a bullet accidentally discharged from a gun held in his own hands.

The jury was composed of the following: Chas. Murray, William Nott, A. F. Clarke, Louis Reynolds, Sam Kubey, H. W. Levy.

THE FUNERAL.

Emil Berger's funeral took place from St. Andrew's cathedral at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Royal makes the food pure, wholesome and delicious.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The body was brought from Captain Berger's house in Miller street, where a great many people had visited the afflicted father during the forenoon, adding offerings of flowers to their heartfelt condolences. Before the opening of the services the cathedral was crowded, many people having to stand in the aisles. It was a highly representative assembly, including as it did members of the personnel of the Executive, the Legislature and diplomatic and consular corps, clergymen, merchants, professional men, ladies prominent in society and, especially, a large turnout of the local young man's friends and acquaintances near his own age.

Rev. Alex. Mackintosh was the officiating clergyman and, from the opening words at the entrance of the body to the close of the office, evinced the deep feeling of personal sympathy. The choir of the Second Congregation under the leadership of P. of Yarnley, with Mr. Wray Taylor playing the organ, sang two hymns selected by the bereaved father: "Just as I am," and "Days and moments quickly flying."

The pall bearers, all associates of the lamented youth, were: W. Soper, O. Sorenson, T. V. King, G. Angus, H. Gile, P. Lisman, W. Schmidt and Allan Jones. The Government band accompanied the body from the house to the church, and thence proceeding to Nuuanu cemetery performed sacred airs as the cortege passed into the city of the dead. A very long line of carriages was in the procession. It was one of the largest burial concourses ever seen in Honolulu.

It would be impossible to describe the floral tributes—so many, so expensive in design, so rich in variety of material as they were. The Myrtle Boat club and individual members paid last tributes of this beautiful sort to their departed member and comrade. A magnificent piece four feet in diameter was also sent by the Healan Boat Club. There was a wreath in the form of a wheel from the bicycle fraternity. A pillow inscribed "Emil" was prominent at the head of the bier. The pulpit and lectern were almost covered with emblematic compositions.

The late Emil Berger was only twenty years and eight months old, the son of Captain Henri Berger, for a quarter of a century the leader of the Hawaiian band. He was an exemplary young man, of good education, universally liked for his genial disposition. Mrs. W. M. Graham is a sister, to whom the blow is very hard. The father is overwhelmed with grief. Two brothers and the mother in California have yet to feel the appalling stroke. The community's sympathy is strong and sincere for the afflicted family.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS OUTING.

Great Day for Young Folks of the Native Protestant Churches.

The most successful picnic ever held by the united native Protestant Sunday schools was had in the great cocoanut grove of the Waianae Sugar Co. last Sunday. Two trains of 27 cars took the crowd from Honolulu, and an early train from Waianae brought the children from there and way stations.

Soon after the arrival of the last train the exercises of the day began. They were in the form of an entertainment consisting of songs, recitations and original compositions, which latter were very amusing. Remarks were made by Revs. S. L. Desha and Kapu, and W. R. Castle, which caused much merriment.

A little after one the booth where the refreshments were stored was opened and in a few minutes the great throng was making short work of the good things. After the lunch the crowd dispersed to the several trains and returned to their homes, all voting it the most pleasurable excursion ever had.

Nicely furnished rooms at the Popular House, 154 Fort street, from $1.00 per week up.

TO SEND A LOCAL STEAMER

Shippers Are Talking With Wilder Steamship Company.

Peru Seems Unlikely to Call—This Leaves
Big Crowd for Copic and Alameda.

The subject of sending one of the Wilder S. S. Co.'s boats to San Francisco has been broached to the directors of the Company by an outside party who is a heavy shipper from this port.

The Peru upon which a great many people depended has in all probability been sent home direct from Yokohama to be used as a transport. This is regarded as more than likely as she flies the American flag and is four days overdue at this port.

A great amount of mail and has accumulated and there are over one hundred passengers booked for the boat to leave on the Peru, Copic and Alameda.

If the Peru does not call it will cause many people to be disappointed in obtaining accommodation on the other boats.

President C. L. Wright said this morning that nothing had been done regarding the dispatching of either the Kinu or Claudine, but that if sufficient inducements were made the company might in certain circumstances.

It was ascertained on inquiry that the Claudine could comfortably take forty cabin passengers and carry freight to the amount of six hundred tons with coal sufficient to get her to the coast under nine days. The Kinu is a little larger and could accommodate probably fifty passengers.

When the Claudine made the trip with the Hawaiian Commissioners she did the distance in 8 days 16 hours and 36 minutes. This was not an unfavorable circumstance as the last three days of the trip were a continuous storm. The last trip the Claudine made here from the Coast she carried including her deck load over seven hundred tons of freight.

Charles Falk Moves.

Charles J. Falk, formerly agent for the Wilder Steamship Company at Makukoua has accepted a position as manager of Robert Hind's shipping interest at Honolulu. Mr. Falk and wife will leave for their new home in Kula sometime this week. Among the new developments of this work will be the construction of a new steamer.

Mr. Falk is a thoroughly up-to-date business man and that he will make a success of his new work is assured.

THE HAWAIIAN DERBY DAY

This Eleventh Proves a Successful One in All Respects.

Attendance Quite Immense—Weather All Right
—Races Were Lively and Square—
Absence of Squabbling.

The attendance at the annual meet of the Hawaiian Jockey Club on Saturday showed the interest that the public of Honolulu takes in the sport. The grandstand and clubhouse were packed, the private boxes were all occupied, the field was crowded by parties in carriages and the fence all around was occupied by dead heads. All roads led to the race course Saturday, and as early as eight o'clock the crowds began to arrive. They came on horseback, in carriages, on bicycles, cars and afoot.

The day was completely favorable, being cloudy with a cool breeze blowing. The management may well feel proud of the way everything went off, the only thing to be criticized being the poor facilities for announcing the decisions of the judges and the time. The races were good, the absence of squabbling over decisions was a great relief.

In W. G. Irwin's box among others were Mrs. W. G. Irwin, Mrs. A. J. Fuller, Miss Fuller, Mrs. Gerrit P. Wilder, Mrs. Gunn, Mrs. Harold M. Sewall, Miss Ashe, M. S. Walbridge, Mrs. Ballou, Miss Juliet King, Mrs. J. S. Walker, Mr. Carter, Miss Parker, Misses Kitchin, Mrs. Miss, Mrs. May Damon and Miss Belle Walker.

The Wilder box contained a large party including Mrs. G. K. Wilder, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. W. A. Wall, Miss Morrison, Mrs. Runyon, Mrs. Runyon, Miss Jane Allen, Miss Albie Wall, Miss Lottie Rowan.

The other private boxes also had parties.

The races began at 9:30, and proceeded as related below.

Union Feed Co.'s Cup. Running race; half mile dash. Free for all. Purse $150 added. To be won twice.

After two starts the horses got off in a bunch excepting Fashion, who was left at the post. It was a foregone conclusion that Venus would win, and she did so handsomely, J. R. getting second and Sans Souci third. Time 49½.

Hawaiian Jockey Club Purse Five-eighths mile dash for Hawaiian bred. Purse $200.

This race was exciting from the drop of the flag to the tap of the bell. On the second start the horses got away all together with Royalist on the outside. The positions of the horses did not change, except coming into the homestretch Magnet's jockey swung wide and kept time to the running with his whip. It gave if not why not more room, and out from a cloud of dust the four horses came thundering down the homestretch nose and nose. They finished about even, Royalist and Magnet a shade to the good. The judge called it a dead heat, but afterward decided it Royalist's race and declared all bets off. Time 1:3½.

Kapiolani Park Purse. Trotting and Pacing to harness. Mile heats. Best 2 in 3; 2:30 class. Purse $200.

Watermelon Joe was liked by the talent in this event and was a good second to Directress, who won in 2:30½. She was given the race on the first heat, as at the finish the driver of Watermelon Joe failed to weigh out. Gerster was not in the race from the 3-4 pole.

Irwin Cup. One mile dash; for Hawaiian bred horses; to be won twice by members of the Jockey Club. $150 added.

Antidote got off away in the lead with Magnet second and Confederate in third place. It was a very poor start. They finish in the order that they started, in fact their positions in the procession did not change all the way around. Time 1:49½.

A protest was filed by the jockey of Magnet, claiming that Antidote had cut in on his horse. Judges disallowed the protest and Antidote took the money.

Waikiki Challenge Cup. Three-fourths mile dash; free for all.

MONDAY, JUNE 13, 1898.

A slight change has been made in the staff of this paper whereby the editorial management passes into new hands.

This knocking out of ocean steamship schedule for an indefinite period suggests the advisability of a local steamer controlled by local capital.

With Kamehameha day just closed, another lot of transports on the way and the Fourth of July in sight, the horrors of celebration bid fair to rest more heavily on the Honolulu public than the horrors of war.

Again the Hawaiian Jockey Club has gone an record as furnishing the Honolulu public with an excellent day's sport.

The fifth annual report of the Hawaiian Historical Society just published is replete with valuable and interesting data.

ENTERTAINMENT FUNDS.

It is hardly possible that the Committee of 100 will receive the hearty cooperation of the country members of the legislature in the scheme to appropriate $10,000 for the entertainment of the American troops.

On the other hand the reception given and the receptions in contemplation furnish a good paying advertisement for the country at large.

If legislators consider the government treasury in flush condition, there can be no better way of expanding a portion of the national income for the public good. If however, this slashing of salaries has been brought about by good and sufficient reasons, our legislators had best keep a tight hold on their cash box.

THE HAWAIIAN.

Mr. Mesick Retains Editorship and Transfers His Interests.

For the advantages of a concentration of business interests, the proprietorship of THE HAWAIIAN has been transferred from Gear & Mesick to the Bulletin Publishing Company.

Besides being editor of THE HAWAIIAN, Mr. Mesick will have the superintendency of the entire mechanical business of the Bulletin Publishing Company.

HOME MISSION RALLY.

Notable Gathering of Various Nationalities in Church Last Night.

The Hawaiian Board of Home Missions held a rally at Central Union church last night, which was very interesting and well attended.

After the opening exercises Mr. Frank Damon spoke of the missionary work being carried on among the Chinese.

After an address by Rev. Mr. Okumura, interpreted by Rev. O. H. Gulick, the boys of the Japan school recited from the scriptures and the boys sang the hymn, "I'll Be There."

Rev. A. V. Soares of the Portuguese mission addressed the congregation. Some of the pupils of Kawaihae Seminary recited a scripture lesson and sang "Great is the Lord."

Rev. D. P. Birnie spoke in behalf of the Palama chapel. He said it was the youngest child of the Board and gave great promise.

For Further Education.

Within the next month or two the following young men will leave Honolulu to enter schools of California and the East.

St. Andrew's Fair.

Princess Kaulani will preside at the flower table at the fancy sale and fair of St. Andrew's Cathedral ladies next Saturday afternoon and evening.

EVENING WITH DANTE.

His First Appearance in City of Honolulu To-morrow Evening.

Dante, the Wizard, will appear at the Opera House to-morrow night for the first time in Honolulu.

Many of the best papers in the United States state that Dante is the superior of the late Hermann. The young wizard is easy, graceful and entertaining.

Dante, is a great master of India's conjuring mysticisms and works his spells with such finish, ease and grace, that one sits quite content to be so deliciously deceived.

There are a number of novelties all new and equally astonishing. The entertainment is one that can be unhesitatingly commended to the public.

Last week we drew your attention to the good qualities of the Aermotor Steel Windmill but did not mention the fact that although the Aermotor will pump more water than any other mill, even with a poor Pump, still even it will not do its best work unless attached to a good pump.

We keep in stock to go with our 16ft. geared mills the

which will furnish from 8000 to 10,000 gals. per hour.

For our smaller mills we have a pump which is manufactured by the

and is just the thing for those who want a pump that is cheap and, at the same time, the best of its kind.

SENATE RESUMES BUSINESS

Some Questions for the Minister of Finance to Answer.

Finance Committee Makes a Long Report on the Books, Affairs and Perquisites of the Marshal's Office.

President Wilder was warmly greeted on making his appearance in the Senate this morning after an illness of nearly a week.

After the usual preliminaries Senator Schmidt submitted on behalf of the Finance Committee an extended report on the books and affairs of the Marshal's office, which occupied the clerk nearly an hour in the reading. The report of the expert employed by the committee is embodied in the main report and makes seventeen pages of typewriting. The report was ordered filed and in the mean time the Senate will consider what to do with it.

Senator Brown submitted the following questions to the Minister of Finance:

1st. What rules, if any, have the Board of Equalization adopted for the purpose of making and arriving at an equal assessment levy of taxes in the different taxation divisions of the Republic?

2nd. In what manner and upon what basis does the Board arrive at the value of property to be taxed in each division?

3d. What are the rules and methods adopted by such Board in arriving at the value of property required to be returned under Section 68 of Act 51 of the Laws of 1896, relating to internal taxes.

4th. In arriving at such valuation either under Sections 67 or 68 of said Act, does the Board take into consideration the relative value of all the property to be taxed in the tax division, or does it take the value in each individual case and without reference to all the taxable in the division?

The Finance Committee through Senator Schmidt presented an advance report on the Finance office.

Just Like Gold Coin.

For more than fifty years has PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER stood the test against all remedies prepared to eradicate pain, and today stands at the head of the list among the medicines that are so essential to keep at hand in the home.

It is not a new fangle remedy nor do the proprietors lay claim to any wonderful revelation of the ingredients that enter into the manufacture of this ever popular remedy.

It is perfectly harmless, you need have no fear of becoming habitually inclined to its use.

For Colic, Cramps, Dysentery, Colds, and all painful affections, a few doses will certainly give relief. You cannot afford to be without a bottle in the house.

Your forefathers used it and found it beneficial.

Why experiment with some remedy that is new and its effect on the system unknown?

It has many rivals but no equal.
The new 35c. size contains over double the quantity of the 25c. size.

Dewey's Discipline.

"I was with Commodore Dewey when he was the executive officer of the Colorado," said a financier, "and I remember one incident which shows the manner of man he is. We had a fine crew, some of them as powerful men as I ever saw. Four or five of them went ashore one day and came back fighting drunk.

"Three of them were men who would singly have been more than a match in strength for John L. Sullivan. The order was given to put them in irons and it was found impossible to carry out the order, for the men were dangerous. Dewey was notified of the situation. He was writing a letter in his room at the time.

"He went to the place where these giants were and told them to come out and submit to the irons. They did not stir. Then Dewey said quietly to an orderly: "Bring me my revolvers." And when he had his pistols he again called upon the men to come out, and they did not move. Then he said: "I am going to count three, if you are not out here with your hands held up on the third count you won't come out of that place alive."

"He counted one, then he cocked the revolvers, and he counted two. We all expected to hear the report, for we knew that Dewey meant what he said. The men knew it too. They stepped out just in time to save their lives and they had been partially sobered by their fright and the moral effect of Dewey's glance.

"One of them said afterward that when he saw Dewey's eyes he knew that he would be a dead jackey in a moment or he would have to yield, and when the irons were put upon him he was as sober as he ever was in his life. Dewey went back to his room and finished the letter he was writing."— [Philadelphia Press.

Hard Fate on the Elen.

On board the tug Elen, which arrived from Maui Saturday from the opium search off Maui, much discomfort was reported during the six days she was absent from her port. She was well enough provisioned, having taken on stores when leaving here and also at Lihoua. But what with 25 persons on board part of the time, and nearly all the time from 10 to 14 people, there was small accommodation. Chief Engineer Farnsworth bunked just at the smoke-tack and still lives. Down below it was hot as an oven and impossible to sleep. It is suggested that the Government fit out the tug properly in case she is to be used for such cruises in the future.

Newspaper Man Baffled.

The shipping news of the Vancouver News-Advertiser has the following:

The steamer Teas, was in port yesterday from the North. Her principal passenger were Commissioner Eva Booth and the officers of the Salvation Army, who accompanied the Klondike pioneer corps to Skagway. She brought word of the finding of the body of Dueson Graham, the Victorian who was drowned not long ago in the river at Wrangell, and the information that the steamer Elder, now homeward bound, will deliver to the authorities on the Sound the largest cargo of whiskey that perhaps has ever passed down, it being the total of all seizures made in the North during the successive raids of the past few months. B. Collyer, the representative of the San Francisco Examiner, was also on board the Teas. He, as is well known, met with several accidents while trying to push in to Dawson with the special "war edition" of the Examiner. He ultimately became snow blind, and in that condition was found by the North West Mounted Police. He is responsible for the story that the poet, Joaquin Miller, is at Lake Tagish writing verse on the scenes and surroundings of the Klondike trail.

EXPLOITING THE LABRADOR.

been there, take my advice and don't go. Go to Manila or Cuba, but don't go to Makena. There is absolutely nothing to eat in the place—one Chinese store and restaurant combined, one native house, several pig styes, a landing warehouse and withal fleas as large as hen's eggs, with bones in them. All the Chinamen has to eat for you is canned stuff which he must have bought at auction some years ago when the town had a boom.

"The white men I pitied. They worked hard to get the boat off, and without any accommodations and bad food they deserve great consideration. Fortunately when the Kinau came Captain Clarke generously gave us a large piece of ice and five gallons of good Honolulu drinking water. The Makena water was so brackish one could hardly wash in it.

"Mr. Strattmeyer had natives dive down and try to recover some 500 pounds of opium which the captain and mate threw overboard when they were first boarded by the police boat at Makena. From the description given by the Jap we were able to locate the supposed place in the bay, but unfortunately the water is too deep and has a very bad bottom, and we were unable to find any indications of the jettisoned dope.

DASTARDLY STABBING.

Capt. Parker's Horse Killed by Some Unknown Friday Night.

Saturday morning when Capt. Robert Parker went to the stable in the rear of his residence he found his bay saddle horse dead in the stall. Some flead had taken a knife and ripped the poor beast's belly open in three places. A buck-skin bug-y-horse had been stabbed several times with a pitchfork but not seriously injured as it had broken away.

The culprit has not been run to earth.

Mother and Son.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of rheumatism and neuralgia when I could find no relief from anything else. My son also suffered for years from neuralgia and boils, but since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla he has had no symptoms of these diseases." Mrs. Annie McGowan, 8 North 10th Street, Temple, Texas.
