THE LINDSAYS.

An International Rally of the Clans.

A Curious Consolidation of an Ancient Family Attempted By Its Present Heads—Interesting History of a Noble Race.

Lindsay is not an uncommon name in the United States, a country many of the most eminent and successful of which are the descendants of Scottish forbears. Indeed, there are Lindsays by the hundreds and the thousands in most of the large cities of North America, and to them an appeal has gone forth from the chiefs of the illustrious Highland house of Lindsay to signalize the present year—the sixtieth of the reign of Queen Victoria of Scotland—by the reconstitution of the once famous clan of Lindsay. The appeal is in the shape of a circular, bearing the signatures of the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, of his son, the Master of Lindsay, commonly known as Lord Balcarres, of the Earl of Lindsay, of Sir Coutts Lindsay and of the gallant Lord Wantage, and has been addressed to all the known as well as to such bearers of the name of Lindsay as happen to have retained their associations with Scotland. The circular invites all Lindsays to place themselves in communication with the chiefs, whose signatures appear at the foot of the document, at the same time imparting any information which they may possess concerning their lineage and ancestor's ancestry, the idea being that most of them are either descendants of the medieval Lairds of Lindsay, or else of the retainers of the latter. For with the Highland clans in the Middle Ages the followers and dependants of a chief, especially those born on his lands, were wont to assume not only his tartan, his badge and his war cry, but also his very name. Retainers no matter of what degree,

NO MATTER WHETHER THEY SAT

above or below the salt, were regarded as members of the family of the laird as his children. Indeed the word "clan" is the Gaelic translation for "children" of a common parent. And on the understanding that most of the Lindsays in various parts of the world derive their origin, if not from the noble family of Lindsay itself, at any rate from some of its old-time retainers, it is proposed to organize them once more into a clan, banded together no longer for warfare on the southron, but for mutual help and assistance—in one word into a sort of benefit society, each member of which would have a right to wear the Lindsay tartan and the Lindsay badge, and to feel that if in America he was not without kinsfolk in the grand old "land of cakes."

Perhaps it may be of assistance to those of the

who have no records of their ancestry, and who are consequently in doubt as to their relationship to the Lairds of Lindsay to know that the members of the noble house of that ilk have from the days of the Norman conquest been distinguished for their sandy hair—some people

Sharkey Will Defeat Maher.

"There can be no doubt," says a prominent sportsman, "that Sharkey will defeat Maher when they meet at the end of this month." If this prophecy comes out correct the Sailor's victory can be attributed to the fact that he "rubs" his inner man down with the fine brand of O. P. S. whiskey now imported here by J. H. Lovejoy & Co., and cools off on pure Seattle beer, which wholesome beverages are now being served at the Anchor Saloon.

JUST BEFORE BEDTIME

Nervous folks and those who suffer with sleeplessness will find a glass or two of Rainier Beer invaluable. It quiets the nerves and insures refreshing sleep. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

George Hawkins at the Royal Saloon is in training. George says that he will scale any church wall in a few days and say his prayers and get out again quicker than the men of any foreign man-of-war. George whispers that the reason of his prowess is due to the fine Pabst Beer served by him at the "Royal," and which is called for by everyone who wants to jump a fence or scale a wall.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

It is very evident that Mr. Dole's special commissioner, W. N. Armstrong, has read THE INDEPENDENT to some advantage when he reaches the conclusion that our planters have been sowing the wind in the matter of labor and are now reaping the whirlwind, in that their labor system stands in the way of some of their plans. But the blow aimed loses some of its force when we call to mind that Mr. Armstrong is a disgruntled labor commissioner.

But when Mr. Armstrong goes so far as to say that the motto of our planters has been "After us the deluge," he is unkind, to say the least. There is a deal of human nature in our sugar planters, and for this reason they have employed Chinese and Japanese laborers as the best available and the cheapest labor, particularly the cheapest. The less cost the greater the dividend, and this has been the summum bonum at which the most of them have aimed. They have not had the deluge in mind any more than Noah's neighbors had. They have lived in a Fool's Paradise perhaps, but they have had no thought of getting out and leaving the other fellow to reap what their folly has sown.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The insulting action of the curator of the B. P. Bishop Museum, on the occasion of the parade of the forces from the U. S. ships of war on the grounds of the Kamehameha Schools towards Mesdames Meyer, Nakuina, Hitchcock and Mutch, is in keeping with the treatment that Hawaiians of pure or mixed blood may expect in case Hawaii is annexed to the United States.

Our newly made American Jingo goes must not be too hasty in throwing down the gauntlet to "Old England" for the S. F. Call says: "It is said that at the present time there are either building or completing for the British navy fourteen new battle-ships, eight first-class and nine second-class cruisers, two sloops, four gunboats, fifty-two torpedo-boat destroyers and eight light-draught steamers for special service. Any power, therefore, that aspires to take Britannia's place as ruler of the sea will have to fight for it."

Touching vaccination we clip the following from an American journal: "There is more decided and united opposition to compulsory vaccination abroad than in this country. So adverse is public sentiment in portions of England that prosecutions under the act of 1867 have been entirely abandoned. In recognition of this sentiment the editors of the Encyclopedia Britannica employed the eminent pathologist, Dr. Creighton, to make a thorough investigation of the subject. Starting out with a strong bias in its favor, he ended with a strong conviction that vaccination was devoid of scientific foundation, being merely a medical delusion. Many eminent physicians entertain the similar convictions."

THE INDEPENDENT gives a pointer to the judicial controller of "drunks and disorderlies" for of course he loves a precedent to aid him in his numerous decisions. A drunk was haled up before a New York magistrate, and in his defense stated that he had "obeyed the teachings of the Bible." On being asked for the black and white of the dictum cited he read from the 6th and 7th verses of Proverbs xxxi. as follows: "Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts. Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more." The magistrate listened and uttered the one word "Discharged." The Deputy Attorney-General was not present to "stand by."

Referring editorially to the defeat of the arbitration treaty in the Senate, the Buffalo (N. Y.) Commercial says: "The rejection of the arbitration treaty to the United States yesterday closes an episode that does the republic no credit, and that lends additional weight to the prevailing belief in the degeneracy of the Senate. This treaty was framed at the instance, chiefly, of the United States. Congress almost unanimously approved the scheme when it was brought forward a few years ago, and it was pressed upon the present British ministry. President McKinley desired its consummation as earnestly as his predecessor. The intelligence and good citizenship of the country welcomed it with enthusiasm. Public opinion was almost solidly behind it. And yet a minority in the Senate, openly or secretly hostile, by delaying action and appealing to prejudice and other motives, has succeeded, after radically amending the treaty, in rejecting it altogether by four votes. It is a mortifying as well as an impotent conclusion of a movement that promised to glorify the last years of the nineteenth century.

CORRESPONDENCE.

U. S. FLAGSHIP PHILADELPHIA,
HONOLULU, May 19, 1897.

ED. THE INDEPENDENT—

Some time ago, in response to a published challenge of the Marion's crew to pull a 12-oared cutter race, we accepted same and have a crew who will gladly pull against them for either love or money. It has since been learned that they are not using a regulation oar but one which is 30 percent lighter than those furnished by the Government. This is contrary to all rules which have governed races in the Navy and, we believe, in all races, the challenged party have the privilege of naming any condition and that is, that the regulation ash oar be used in the race. This is a trivial condition and one which the Marion's crews could easily comply with, providing their racing ardor is as enthusiastic as it was when they issued their sweeping challenge.

Whose Is It?

Our genial fellow citizen, Frank McIntyre found an infant yesterday in his yard, covered with mango juice. Frank blushed and delivered the youngster to a friendly neighbor who kindly took charge of him.

Frank did all in his power to be pleasant to the mango-smearing baby and he talked many languages to the admiration of surrounding friends. Finally he gave it up, however, (and blushed some more) when in response to his grammatical question: "Bist Du ein Deutcher," there was heard the answer "Nit! Papa." Franky will leave for Washington by an air ship tomorrow.

Gone to Rest.

Frank Spencer, an old resident died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fanny Bickerton, after a short illness.

The deceased was born in England, 77 years ago, and when of age he emigrated to Australia and lived in Tasmania for a number of years. In 1850 he left the Colonies with his wife and children in a vessel bound for Victoria B. C. The vessel was wrecked off Honolulu and Mr. Spencer and his family were saved under some difficulty.

The deceased remained here instead of pursuing his course towards the North. He opened a store on Hotel-street in the premises known as the Spencer House and which is now the property of his daughter. His business flourished and in the sixties he moved to Waimea, Hawaii, where he established a cattle and sheep business, conducted by him until his death.

Frank Spencer was married to Miss Daniels of Maui, who with three children survives him and reside at Waimea. By his first wife the deceased had three children, George, Ashford and Fanny, of whom the two first named have passed away before their father.

The deceased was a man of great business shrewdness and of a very jovial nature. The anecdotes connected with the life of the old man would fill a volume. He was extremely popular among the Hawaiians and the foreigners who were permitted to enjoy his company.

The remains will be interred in the family vault at Waimea.

Confirmations on Kauai

The Right Rev. Bishop of Panopolis returned to Honolulu from Kauai yesterday morning. The Bishop has visited Kauai twice during the past five weeks and has held confirmations in all the districts of the island. The result is as follows:

In Eleele, 163; Koloa, 68; Hanamaulu, 146; Kilauea, 78; Kealia, 52; and Hanalei, 22, making a total of 529, a highly gratifying result to the Church.

The Bishop will leave for Molokai on the 28th inst. with the Board of Health on a visit to the Leper Settlement.

MONEY makes the mare go, is a well known saying. We have something that will make the sorriest old nag ever hitched to a wagon go at a regular racing gait and for very little money at that. Our CARRIAGE WHIPS can be had in almost any quality and price, from $1 to $3.50. We have still a good stock of CART AND BUGGY HARNESS to suit the purse of anybody we sell a first-class harness for $16 and the "there are others" better in quality, at $25, $30 and $35.

Young men like to take their best girl out for a drive, and the beautiful moonlight nights we are just now enjoying, invite amorous swains to go a mooning with their lady loves.

We have a dandy looking DOG CART that is just the thing for a drive around the park; it is easy riding, comfortable, with plenty of room for two. It is the only one of its kind in Honolulu, and as we are not in the carriage business, we do not intend to get any more, so you do not run the risk of having the same style as everybody else. Will be sold very cheap.

By the last Australia we received a lot of BRASS STIRRUPS, light and neat looking, and besides carry a full assortment of CARRIAGE SPONGES, CHAMOIS SKINS, LAP ROBES, BITS, BUCKLES, Etc.

A JAPANESE RECEPTION.

The Naniwa Gives Welcome to Their Guests.

The reception given by the Command and officers of the Japanese war vessel Naniwa, last evening, was most successful in regard to the attendance of the elite of Honolulu and was a most enjoyable occasion for many others. The vessel was, not alone most tastefully but elaborately, dressed, with the representation of chrysanthemum and cherry flowers, aside from the effect produced by electric colored lights. Boats from the war steamer as well as those from the Flagship Philadelphia, conveyed guests to the receiving ship.

Once on board the guest could not help but listen to the strains of the band under Prof. Herr Berger's leadership, and which furnished the motive power to many a tune in the mazes of the waltz.

The officers of the vessel from Commander Kurooka down, including the local representatives Minister Resident Shimamura and aids were most assiduous in their attentions and did all in their power to please the many guests on board, and that they were welcome and that they succeeded may be adduced from the fact that they all left with pleasant memories and with a hope that the Naniwa would soon receive again.

Board of Health.

President Smith presided at yesterday's meeting of the Board. In reference to examinations of cattle for tuberculosis, Dr. Shaw and Monarrat reported 33 tuberculin tests at Kapahulu Dairy above Kapiolani Paak and 11 cows slaughtered. The Dairy was now being put in a perfectly sanitary condition; three cattle had been tested at Mr. Fred Waterhouse's, Nuuanu Valley, two passed satisfactorily but one has to be retested; at E. W. Jordan's 15 were tested and two have to be retested, the balance being healthy.

Executive Officer Reynolds reported that the total of the cost of the quarantine of the passengers by the S. S. Kinai Maru amounted to $5,848.48. The ship had given a bottemy bond for $8,000 which would have to be collected in Japan. In the meantime as people wanted their money, and the Quarantine appropriation was not sufficient enough to pay the bills, it was decided to ask the Council of State to make a special appropriation to cover the amount to be refunded when the amount was collected from the Steam Ship Company.

WATERFRONT WHISPERINGS

Breezy Notes Blown Across the Waves.

The Hawaiian bark R. P. Rithet is discharging heavy pieces of Ewa Mill machinery at the Railroad wharf. The steamers Iwalani and James Makee arrived yesterday morning with 5061 bags of sugar for the Rithet. Captain Thompson will have his vessel loaded by Saturday next.

The big ship Susquehanna is taking in sugar at a rapid rate at the Oceanic wharf. Irwin & Co. will have her ready to sail for New York close on the William H. Macy, now loading in the stream.

The following are the latest San Francisco sailings: Andrew Welch for Honolulu, May 7th; brig Lurline, for Kahului, May 7th; brig J. D. Spreckels for Mahukona, May 11th; bktns. S. G. Wilder and schr. Aloha for Honolulu May 9.

The steamer Amrapoora will be moved to the Pacific Mail wharf to discharge her general cargo, when through discharging lumber at Allen & Robinson's dock. The steamer will leave here in ballast for the Sound.

Chinese draymen are busy as fleas carting away lumber from the Oceanic dock. The lumber is that brought by the Rosalie, which vessel is being quietly picked to pieces near the cattle pen.

It is reported that Captain Nissen and Bob Andrews will enter into the stevedore business at this port if there is any show of an opening.

Tennis.

Yesterday's winners in the doubles were Babbit and French, Cunha and Roth, Dickey and Adams, Waterhouse and Coney, Woods and Wodehouse, Wilder and Norton, Hyde and Godfrey, Carter and Waterhouse.

To-day's games will be played as follows:

ON THE P. T. C. COURTS.

- 4 p. m.—Babbit and French (Punahou) vs. Roth and Cunha (P. T. C. Jun.)
- Dickey and Adams (P. T. C.) vs. J. Waterhouse and Carter (P. T. C.)
- 5 p. m.—Norton and G. P. Wilder (P. T. C.) vs. H. Waterhouse and Coney (P. T. C.)

ON THE BERETANIA COURTS.

- 5 p. m.—Hyde and Godfrey (P. T. C.) vs. Woods and Wodehouse (B. T. C.)

The ladies' Singles open to-morrow afternoon at the P. T. C. courts with Mrs. Hugh Gunn and Miss Saddle Carter. The finals in doubles will be played on Saturday afternoon.

The Sun.

Mr. C. B. Reynolds has a most interesting and very rare treasure for bibliophiliasts in the possession of the London Sun of Thursday evening, June 28, 1838, containing a full description of Queen Victoria's coronation and a beautiful medallion portrait of Her Majesty, which in those days must have been esteemed as a rare work of art. Much against its desire THE INDEPENDENT has actually returned the paper, which has been carefully preserved, to its fortunate owner.

Cute Tradesmen.

The Chinese caterers are very cute in dealing with the men-of-war messes and purveyors. They down the white and native compradors, or "bumboaters," by giving 6 eggs more for a dollar; and 25 cents worth of vegetables for ten cents in order to catch the more profitable grocery and "private" trade. With the exception of the liquor dealers and a few others the main profits now from our naval visitors go to the Chinese and Japanese. It was not so a few years ago.

"No," said Mudge, firmly, "I would never marry a newspaper man."

"But why?"

"Why, gracious; you can never scold them for coming home late."

call it caroty, just in the same way that the Douglases of Scotland, of Germany, of Scandinavia and of Austria are all noted for the swartheness of their complexion and the raven hue of their capillary adornments, whence the name of "Black Douglas." And it may encourage the Lindsays on this side of the Atlantic, moreover, to learn that there are no unpleasant sayings or proverbs connected with their ancestral name. Thus when poor Sir William Gordon Cumming was brauded by means of

followed by the baccarat trial, as a card cheat—there are many who believe him to have been innocently condemned—the old Gaelic saying was recalled according to which "while there's a leaf in the wood, there'll be treachery in the Cummings." In the same way, every bearer of the name of McKenzie labors under the tradition to the effect that "no McKenzie is ever gracious until he is fed." To the predatory instincts of the MacFarland's tribute is borne by the proverb, "while there is a forest in Kintale, MacFarland will never be without cattle in his fold." Every true-blooded MacLeod should have deflected extremities in order to live up to the nickname of which their clan was once so proud, namely, "the MacLeods of the bandy legs." In the same way

THE CAMPBELLS ARE NOTED

for their "crooked mouths," and for their "black mouths," and it is added, "there never was a Campbell without guile." A few other classifications of clan character are the "dirty Dalrymples," the "windy Murrys," the "idiot McQueens," the "slow Mackintoshes," while the MacCullums are renowned north of Castle Stirling as the descendants of the sixty fools." The MacGregors feel themselves under a certain amount of obligation to live up to tradition that "there was ne'er a boor of the MacGregors," while if the McNabs are famed for the virtue of the women it is because of the old proverb according to which "there was ne'er a hussy of the MacNabs." The only classification that I can find with regard to the name of Lindsay is the occasional reference to the "light Lindsays." But whether this has regard to the hue of their hair or to the flightiness of their conduct I am unable to say.

The Lindsays are one of the grandest houses in the history of Scotland, and there are few names that are to be found so frequently and figuring so prominently on every page of the glorious annals of Queen Victoria's northern kingdom. It is claimed that they are of Scandinavian, rather than of Gaelic, origin, and that they are descended from the same stock as the Dukes of Normandy, who, after the battle of Hastings in 1066, became kings of England. They were for a long time the feudal lords of the now so glorified Hamiltons, and frequently intermarried with while among the foreign sovereign houses who include Lairs of Lindsay and of Bruce among their ancestors, is the royal dynasty of Bourbon and the imperial house of Hapsburg. So great was the grandeur of the Lords of Lindsay in the fifteenth century that when the chief, the fifth Earl of Crawford, Lord High Admiral and Lord High Judiciary of Scotland, was created Duke of Montrose by King James, he refrained from assuming the title, considering it to be beneath his dignity, an example which was followed by his immediate successors, although his descendants of the present day claim the dukedom in question, which nearly 200 years later was conferred on the head of the House of Graham.

Of course there is no great Scotch house the annals of which are not

and that of Lindsay is no exception to the rule. For John, the sixth

Earl of Crawford, helped his sister-in-law to murder her husband, his only brother, while the oldest son of the eighth Earl, who is known in Scottish history as "the Wicked Master" of Lindsay, assassinated his father, and was, in consequence thereof, and in accordance with the law of Scotland, debarred from the succession to the estates and dignities. These passed to a distant cousin, the ninth Earl, a gentleman in every sense of the word, for, with the consent of the crown, he reconveyed the earldom and the estates to the Wicked Master's only son, whom he brought up and educated, and who succeeded him as tenth Earl, his own son receiving from the crown, as a reward for this piece of generosity, the title of Lord Edzell. THE LINDSAYS.

An International Rally of the Clans.

A Curious Consolidation of an Ancient Family Attempted By Its Present Heads—Interesting History of a Noble Race.

Lindsay is not an uncommon name in the United States, a country many of the most eminent and successful of which are the descendants of Scottish forbears. Indeed, there are Lindsays by the hundreds and the thousands in most of the large cities of North America, and to them an appeal has gone forth from the chiefs of the illustrious Highland house of Lindsay to signalize the present year—the sixtieth of the reign of Queen Victoria of Scotland—by the reconstitution of the once famous clan of Lindsay. The appeal is in the shape of a circular, bearing the signatures of the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, of his son, the Master of Lindsay, commonly known as Lord Balcarres, of the Earl of Lindsay, of Sir Coutts Lindsay and of the gallant Lord Wantage, and has been addressed to all the known as well as to such bearers of the name of Lindsay as happen to have retained their associations with Scotland. The circular invites all Lindsays to place themselves in communication with the chiefs, whose signatures appear at the foot of the document, at the same time imparting any information which they may possess concerning their lineage and ancestor's ancestry, the idea being that most of them are either descendants of the medieval Lairds of Lindsay, or else of the retainers of the latter. For with the Highland clans in the Middle Ages the followers and dependants of a chief, especially those born on his lands, were wont to assume not only his tartan, his badge and his war cry, but also his very name. Retainers no matter of what degree,

above or below the salt, were regarded as members of the family of the laird as his children. Indeed the word "clan" is the Gaelic translation for "children" of a common parent. And on the understanding that most of the Lindsays in various parts of the world derive their origin, if not from the noble family of Lindsay itself, at any rate from some of its old-time retainers, it is proposed to organize them once more into a clan, banded together no longer for warfare on the southron, but for mutual help and assistance—in one word into a sort of benefit society, each member of which would have a right to wear the Lindsay tartan and the Lindsay badge, and to feel that if in America he was not without kinsfolk in the grand old "land of cakes."

Perhaps it may be of assistance to those of the

who have no records of their ancestry, and who are consequently in doubt as to their relationship to the Lairds of Lindsay to know that the members of the noble house of that ilk have from the days of the Norman conquest been distinguished for their sandy hair—some people

Sharkey Will Defeat Maher.

"There can be no doubt," says a prominent sportsman, "that Sharkey will defeat Maher when they meet at the end of this month." If this prophecy comes out correct the Sailor's victory can be attributed to the fact that he "rubs" his inner man down with the fine brand of O. P. S. whiskey now imported here by J. H. Lovejoy & Co., and cools off on pure Seattle beer, which wholesome beverages are now being served at the Anchor Saloon.

JUST BEFORE BEDTIME

Nervous folks and those who suffer with sleeplessness will find a glass or two of Rainier Beer invaluable. It quiets the nerves and insures refreshing sleep. On tap or in bottles at the Criterion.

George Hawkins at the Royal Saloon is in training. George says that he will scale any church wall in a few days and say his prayers and get out again quicker than the men of any foreign man-of-war. George whispers that the reason of his prowess is due to the fine Pabst Beer served by him at the "Royal," and which is called for by everyone who wants to jump a fence or scale a wall.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND.

It is very evident that Mr. Dole's special commissioner, W. N. Armstrong, has read THE INDEPENDENT to some advantage when he reaches the conclusion that our planters have been sowing the wind in the matter of labor and are now reaping the whirlwind, in that their labor system stands in the way of some of their plans. But the blow aimed loses some of its force when we call to mind that Mr. Armstrong is a disgruntled labor commissioner.

But when Mr. Armstrong goes so far as to say that the motto of our planters has been "After us the deluge," he is unkind, to say the least. There is a deal of human nature in our sugar planters, and for this reason they have employed Chinese and Japanese laborers as the best available and the cheapest labor, particularly the cheapest. The less cost the greater the dividend, and this has been the summum bonum at which the most of them have aimed. They have not had the deluge in mind any more than Noah's neighbors had. They have lived in a Fool's Paradise perhaps, but they have had no thought of getting out and leaving the other fellow to reap what their folly has sown.

TOPICS OF THE DAY.

The insulting action of the curator of the B. P. Bishop Museum, on the occasion of the parade of the forces from the U. S. ships of war on the grounds of the Kamehameha Schools towards Mesdames Meyer, Nakuina, Hitchcock and Mutch, is in keeping with the treatment that Hawaiians of pure or mixed blood may expect in case Hawaii is annexed to the United States.

Our newly made American Jingoism must not be too hasty in throwing down the gauntlet to "Old England" for the S. F. Call says: "It is said that at the present time there are either building or completing for the British navy fourteen new battle-ships, eight first-class and nine second-class cruisers, two sloops, four gunboats, fifty-two torpedo-boat destroyers and eight light-draught steamers for special service. Any power, therefore, that aspires to take Britannia's place as ruler of the sea will have to fight for it."

Touching vaccination we clip the following from an American journal: "There is more decided and united opposition to compulsory vaccination abroad than in this country. So adverse is public sentiment in portions of England that prosecutions under the act of 1867 have been entirely abandoned. In recognition of this sentiment the editors of the Encyclopedia Britannica employed the eminent pathologist, Dr. Creighton, to make a thorough investigation of the subject. Starting out with a strong bias in its favor, he ended with a strong conviction that vaccination was devoid of scientific foundation, being merely a medical delusion. Many eminent physicians entertain the similar convictions."

THE INDEPENDENT gives a pointer to the judicial controller of "drunks and disorderlies" for of course he loves a precedent to aid him in his numerous decisions. A drunk was haled up before a New York magistrate, and in his defense stated that he had "obeyed the teachings of the Bible." On being asked for the black and white of the dictum cited he read from the 6th and 7th verses of Proverbs xxxi. as follows: "Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine unto those that be of heavy hearts. Let him drink and forget his poverty, and remember his misery no more." The magistrate listened and uttered the one word "Discharged." The Deputy Attorney-General was not present to "stand by."

Referring editorially to the defeat of the arbitration treaty in the Senate, the Buffalo (N. Y.) Commercial says: "The rejection of the arbitration treaty to the United States yesterday closes an episode that does the republic no credit, and that lends additional weight to the prevailing belief in the degeneracy of the Senate. This treaty was framed at the instance, chiefly, of the United States. Congress almost unanimously approved the scheme when it was brought forward a few years ago, and it was pressed upon the present British ministry. President McKinley desired its consummation as earnestly as his predecessor. The intelligence and good citizenship of the country welcomed it with enthusiasm. Public opinion was almost solidly behind it. And yet a minority in the Senate, openly or secretly hostile, by delaying action and appealing to prejudice and other motives, has succeeded, after radically amending the treaty, in rejecting it altogether by four votes. It is a mortifying as well as an impotent conclusion of a movement that promised to glorify the last years of the nineteenth century.

CORRESPONDENCE.

U. S. FLAGSHIP PHILADELPHIA,
HONOLULU, May 19, 1897.)

ED. THE INDEPENDENT--

Some time ago, in response to a published challenge of the Marion's crew to pull a 12-oared cutter race, we accepted same and have a crew who will gladly pull against them for either love or money. It has since been learned that they are not using a regulation oar but one which is 30 percent lighter than those furnished by the Government. This is contrary to all rules which have governed races in the Navy and, we believe, in all races, the challenged party have the privilege of naming any condition and that is, that the regulation ash oar be used in the race. This is a trivial condition and one which the Marion's crews could easily comply with, providing their racing ardor is as enthusiastic as it was when they issued their sweeping challenge.

Whose Is It?

Our genial fellow citizen, Frank McIntyre found an infant yesterday in his yard, covered with mango juice. Frank blushed and delivered the youngster to a friendly neighbor who kindly took charge of him.

Frank did all in his power to be pleasant to the mango-smearing baby and he talked many languages to the admiration of surrounding friends. Finally he gave it up, however, (and blushed some more) when in response to his grammatical question: "Bist Du ein Deuteher," there was heard the answer "Nit! Papa." Franky will leave for Washington by an air ship tomorrow.

Gone to Rest.

Frank Spencer, an old resident died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fanny Bickerton, after a short illness.

The deceased was born in England, 77 years ago, and when of age he emigrated to Australia and lived in Tasmania for a number of years. In 1850 he left the Colonies with his wife and children in a vessel bound for Victoria B. C. The vessel was wrecked off Honolulu and Mr. Spencer and his family were saved under some difficulty.

The deceased remained here instead of pursuing his course towards the North. He opened a store on Hotel street in the premises known as the Spencer House and which is now the property of his daughter. His business flourished and in the sixties he moved to Waimea, Hawaii, where he established a cattle and sheep business, conducted by him until his death.

Frank Spencer was married to Miss Daniels of Maui, who with three children survives him and reside at Waimea. By his first wife the deceased had three children, George, Ashford and Fanny, of whom the two first named have passed away before their father.

The deceased was a man of great business shrewdness and of a very jovial nature. The anecdotes connected with the life of the old man would fill a volume. He was extremely popular among the Hawaiians and the foreigners who were permitted to enjoy his company.

The remains will be interred in the family vault at Waimea.

Confirmations on Kauai

The Right Rev. Bishop of Paunopolis returned to Honolulu from Kauai yesterday morning. The Bishop has visited Kauai twice during the past five weeks and has held confirmations in all the districts of the island. The result is as follows:

In Eleele, 163; Koloa, 68; Hanamaulu, 146; Kilauea, 78; Kealia, 52; and Hanalei, 22, making a total of 529, a highly gratifying result to the Church.

The Bishop will leave for Molokai on the 28th inst. with the Board of Health on a visit to the Leper Settlement.

Honolulu, May 13, 1897.

MONEY makes the mare go, is a well known saying. We have something that will make the sorriest old nag ever hitched to a wagon go at a regular racing gait and for very little money at that. Our CARRIAGE WHIPS can be had in almost any quality and price, from $1 to $3.50. We have still a good stock of CART AND BUGGY HARNESS to suit the purse of anybody we sell a first-class harness for $16 and the "there are others" better in quality, at $25, $30 and $35.

Young men like to take their best girl out for a drive, and the beautiful moonlight nights we are just now enjoying, invite amorous swains to go a mooning with their lady loves.

We have a dandy looking DOG CART that is just the thing for a drive around the park; it is easy riding, comfortable, with plenty of room for two. It is the only one of its kind in Honolulu, and as we are not in the carriage business, we do not intend to get any more, so you do not run the risk of having the same style as everybody else. Will be sold very cheap.

By the last Australia we received a lot of BRASS STIRRUPS, light and neat looking, and besides carry a full assortment of CARRIAGE SPONGES, CHAMOIS SKINS, LAP ROBES, BITS, BUCKLES, ETC.

The Commissioners of Education should meet this afternoon.

The Island steamers brought in 18,691 bags of sugar yesterday.

Robert Swan Springour is now the Manager ad interim of the Hagey Institute.

J. W. Luning has replaced F. M. Swanzy on the Executive Committee of the Amusement Company.

A man working on the Likelike wharf this morning was run over by a dray. He was badly hurt and bruised but not very severely injured.

Swell Shirt Waists, very latest in Leather Belts and the new Kid Gloves can be found at N. S. Sachs.

The celebrated Elele newspaper case was brought to a close yesterday afternoon in the Circuit Court. Judge Carter will probably render a decision to-morrow.

Swords certainly are inconvenient appendages with which to clamber down a ship's side after a festive occasion. Our sympathies are extended to our military friend.

The luncheon for the benefit of the Kapiolani Maternity Home will come off without fail on Saturday, June 5th. All are expected to be present and assist this worthy institution.

The members of the Young Hawaiian Institute invite their friends to pay them a visit this evening at their musical social at their rooms in Foster Block, Nuuanu street.

If you want to enjoy a good safe canoe surf ride, Col. James Sherwood can accommodate you at any hour at Long Branch Baths. Step on to the cars, and step off at his entrance for an hour's delight.

The Circuit Court has ordered Carlos A. Long to pay $100 as attorney's fee and $20 a month as alimony pending the divorce suit of Irene Long vs. Carlos Long. Paul Neumann for plaintiff, A. Rosa for defendant.

H. B. M. S. Penguin is expected to arrive at this port during the week. The Wild Swan will probably leave for Esquimault to-morrow morning. A report that the Amphion was to touch at Honolulu appears to be without foundation.

Look out for Kerr's change of advertisement to-morrow. He is getting ready to dispose of his marvelous selections of dress material imported especially for the forthcoming celebrations.

British residents interested in the Diamond Jubilee celebration are requested to meet at the Arlington Hotel this evening to receive the reports of the general committees and for other business. The meeting will be called to order at 8 o'clock.

At the meeting of British residents to be held at the Arlington this evening, a report will be received from the Committee appointed to draw up an address to Queen Victoria. The Finance and Executive Committees will also report progress.

Another runaway has occurred. Two peayune Orientals, who ought to have been attached to this "mummer's" apron strings or safely tied to a kindergarten toy, were driving a break and the horse calmly ran away. He was eventually stopped by two Portuguese boys.

Ed. C. Holstein has compiled the most popular Hawaiian songs in a book titled, "Ka Buke Mele o na Himeni Hawaii." The work has been gotten up in a very neat manner and the young gifted editor deserves credit for his work. The little volume is published by the Hawaiian News Co., and being sold at an easy rate will be in demand by Hawaiians as well as by foreigners.

Wray Taylor has a curious collection of the seed pods of the golden showers at his office in the Government Building. They are reserved for tourists, and imagination can transform them into Tinker's favorite sausages, policemen's clubs or boomerangs, and the voracious traveler can frame in connection with them idiosyncratic and mythological fables about them to his heart's content.

A JAPANESE RECEPTION.

The Naniwa Gives Welcome to Their Guests.

The reception given by the Command and officers of the Japanese war vessel Naniwa, last evening, was most successful in regard to the attendance of the elite of Honolulu and was a most enjoyable occasion for many others. The vessel was, not alone most tastefully but elaborately, dressed, with the representation of chrysanthemum and cherry flowers, aside from the effect produced by electric colored lights. Boats from the war steamer as well as those from the Flagship Philadelphia, conveyed guests to the receiving ship.

Once on board the guest could not help but listen to the strains of the band under Prof. Herr Berger's leadership, and which furnished the motive power to many a tune in the mazes of the waltz.

The officers of the vessel from Commander Kurooka down, including the local representatives Minister Resident Shimamura and aids were most assiduous in their attentions and did all in their power to please the many guests on board, and that they were welcome and that they succeeded may be adduced from the fact that they all left with pleasant memories and with a hope that the Naniwa would soon receive again.

Board of Health.

President Smith presided at yesterday's meeting of the Board. In reference to examinations of cattle for tuberculosis, Dr. Shaw and Monsarrat reported 33 tuberculin tests at Kapahulu Dairy above Kapiolani Park and 11 cows slaughtered. The Dairy was now being put in a perfectly sanitary condition; three cattle had been tested at Mr. Fred Waterhouse's, Nuuanu Valley, two passed satisfactorily but one has to be retested; at E. W. Jordan's 15 were tested and two have to be retested, the balance being healthy.

Executive Officer Reynolds reported that the total of the cost of the quarantine of the passengers by the S. S. Kinai Maru amounted to $5,848.48. The ship had given a bottomry bond for $8,000 which would have to be collected in Japan. In the meantime as people wanted their money, and the Quarantine appropriation was not sufficient enough to pay the bills, it was decided to ask the Council of State to make a special appropriation to cover the amount to be refunded when the amount was collected from the Steam Ship Company.

WATERFRONT WHISPERS

Breezy Notes Blown Across the Waves.

The Hawaiian bark R. P. Rithet is discharging heavy pieces of Ewa Mill machinery at the Railroad wharf. The steamers Iwalau and James Makee arrived yesterday morning with 5061 bags of sugar for the Rithet. Captain Thompson will have his vessel loaded by Saturday next.

The big ship Susquehanna is taking in sugar at a rapid rate at the Oceanic wharf. Irwin & Co. will have her ready to sail for New York close on the William H. Macy, now loading in the stream.

The following are the latest San Francisco sailings: Andrew Welch for Honolulu, May 7th; brig Lurline, for Kahului, May 7th; brig J. D. Spreckels for Mahukona, May 11th; bktn. S. G. Wilder and schr. Aloha for Honolulu May 9.

The steamer Amrapoora will be moved to the Pacific Mail wharf to discharge her general cargo, when through discharging lumber at Allen & Robinson's dock. The steamer will leave here in ballast for the Sound.

Chinese draymen are busy as fleas carting away lumber from the Oceanic dock. The lumber is that brought by the Rosalie, which vessel is being quietly picked to pieces near the cattle pen.

It is reported that Captain Nissen and Bob Andrews will enter into the stevedore business at this port if there is any show of an opening.

The Sun.

Mr. C. B. Reynolds has a most interesting and very rare treasure for bibliophiles in the possession of the London Sun of Thursday evening, June 28, 1838, containing a full description of Queen Victoria's coronation and a beautiful medallion portrait of Her Majesty, which in those days must have been esteemed as a rare work of art. Much against its desire THE INDEPENDENT has actually returned the paper, which has been carefully preserved, to its fortunate owner.

Cute Tradesmen.

The Chinese caterers are very cute in dealing with the men-of-war messes and purveyors. They down the white and native compradors, or "bumboaters," by giving 6 eggs more for a dollar; and 25 cents worth of vegetables for ten cents in order to catch the more profitable grocery and "private" trade. With the exception of the liquor dealers and a few others the main profits now from our naval visitors go to the Chinese and Japanese. It was not so a few years ago.

"No," said Madge, firmly, "I would never marry a newspaper man."
"But why?"
"Why, gracious; you can never scold them for coming home late."

call it carroty, just in the same way that the Douglases of Scotland, of Germany, of Scandinavia and of Austria are all noted for the swartheness of their complexion and the raven hue of their capillary adornments, whence the name of "Black Douglas." And it may encourage the Lindsays on this side of the Atlantic, moreover, to learn that there are no unpleasant sayings or proverbs connected with their ancestral name. Thus when poor Sir William Gordon Cumming was branded by means of

followed by the baccarat trial, as a card cheat—there are many who believe him to have been innocently condemned—the old Gaelic saying was recalled according to which "while there's a leaf in the wood, there'll be treachery in the Cummings." In the same way, every bearer of the name of McKenzie labors under the tradition to the effect that "no McKenzie is ever gracious until he is fed." To the predatory instincts of the MacFarland's tribute is borne by the proverb, "while there is a forest in Kintale, MacFarland will never be without cattle in his fold." Every true blooded MacLeod should have deflected extremities in order to live up to the nickname of which their clan was once so proud, namely, "the MacLeods of the bandy legs." In the same way

for their "crooked mouths," and for their "black mouths," and it is added, "there never was a Campbell without guile." A few other classifications of clan character are the "dirty Dalrymples," the "windy Murrays," the "idiot McQueens," the "slow Mackintoshes," while the MacCullums are renowned north of Castle Stirling as the descendants of the sixty fools." The MacGregors feel themselves under a certain amount of obligation to live up to tradition that "there was ne'er a boor of the MacGregors," while if the McNabs are famed for the virtue of the women it is because of the old proverb according to which "there was ne'er a hussy of the MacNabs." The only classification that I can find with regard to the name of Lindsay is the occasional reference to the "light Lindsays." But whether this has regard to the hue of their hair or to the flightiness of their conduct I am unable to say.

The Lindsays are one of the grandest houses in the history of Scotland, and there are few names that are to be found so frequently and figuring so prominently on every page of the glorious annals of Queen Victoria's northern kingdom. It is claimed that they are of Scandinavian, rather than of Gaelic, origin, and that they are descended from the same stock as the Dukes of Normandy, who, after the battle of Hastings in 1066, became kings of England. They were for a long time the feudal lords of the now so glorified Hamiltons, and frequently intermarried with while among the foreign sovereign houses who include Lairds of Lindsay and of Bruce among their ancestors, is the royal dynasty of Bourbon and the imperial house of Hapsburg. So great was the grandeur of the Lords of Lindsay in the fifteenth century that when the chief, the fifth Earl of Crawford, Lord High Admiral and Lord High Judiciary of Scotland, was created Duke of Montrose by King James, he refrained from assuming the title, considering it to be beneath his dignity, an example which was followed by his immediate successors, although his descendants of the present day claim the dukedom in question, which nearly 200 years later was conferred on the head of the House of Graham.

THE ROYAL HOUSE OF STUART,

Of course there is no great Scotch house the annals of which are not

and that of Lindsay is no exception to the rule. For John, the sixth

Earl of Crawford, helped his sister-in-law to murder her husband, his only brother, while the oldest son of the eighth Earl, who is known in Scottish history as "the Wicked Master" of Lindsay, assassinated his father, and was, in consequence thereof, and in accordance with the law of Scotland, debarred from the succession to the estates and dignities. These passed to a distant cousin, the ninth Earl, a gentleman in every sense of the word, for, with the consent of the crown, he reconveyed the earldom and the estates to the Wicked Master's only son, whom he brought up and educated, and who succeeded him as tenth Earl, his own son receiving from the crown, as a reward for this piece of generosity, the title of Lord Edzell. (To be continued.)
