TUESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1886.

HAWAIIAN DECLINE.

There is nothing more lamentable in the present status of the native Hawaiian people, than the fact that they are being pushed into the background in the real life of the nation. Strange races from opposite ends of the earth, imported into the country for contract laborers, partly at the expense of Hawaiians, are taking up land and cultivating it, learning trades and making a good living by them, opening trading shops and acquiring a competence therein, securing the best positions in operating the country's commercial fleet, and so forth. The natives are steadily moving down and out in all these branches of industry, and trade, even the very humblest. It is only recently that a large shipping concern sent to the South Seas for sailors to replace the natives in working its vessels. Meanwhile the natives go sliding down to absolute wretchedness and ultimate extinction, amusing themselves on the descent by playing at soldiers. There are exceptions to this sad picture, at least enough to show that the exhibition might be the reverse, so far, at all events, as the Hawaiian's relations to the Portuguese, Chinese and Japanese are concerned.

Native Hawaiians of influence and foreigners who profess a kindly interest in the native race should take this state of affairs seriously and practically to heart. It is not too late, it is to be hoped, for the initiation of a movement for the betterment of the material condition of Hawaiians. A Hawaiian Industrial Association should be formed with as little delay as possible. There are many industries connected with agricultural development which the native would be master of from the start. Fruits, the cultivation of which he understands or would readily learn, have foreign markets open to them, in both fresh and preserved states, all the time. What is wanted is organization, with possibly a moderate investment of capital, for forthwith starting fruit farms and preserving factories all over the Kingdom, with native Hawaiians to work both. The association could also exert its influence in having young Hawaiians, whenever out of school, put to learn trades. It would also find a noble work in promoting the establishment of a system of industrial education in the Government schools.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Portuguese ladies are worthy of all praise for moving to wipe out the stigma of mendicancy from their colony. We bespeak the countenance and sympathy of the community for the "Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Association."

When foreign residents get tired of being treated as intruders only tolerated for the tax-bearing wealth they produce, probably the first people they will get even with are the abandoned class of foreigners—the white kanakas—who have chiefly instigated the race prejudice now paramount among the ruling party of Hawaiians.

With present facilities of communication between Honolulu and Kapiolani Park, the latter is too far away for holding a public show of any kind.

Therefore the public will commend the intention of the Agricultural Society's exhibition committee to obtain, if possible, a more convenient site for the stock show than the park. In this purpose the committee ought to have the benefit of suggestions or offers from outsiders who may be in a position to help in either of these ways.

The Advertiser notes a sudden and marked rise in the price of silver, and argues therefrom that it is gold and not silver which varies in value from day to day. While our contemporary fails to make this clear, it is welcome to its hopes of an international arrangement for putting silver on an equal footing with gold. Until that is done, however, it would be great folly for a country like Hawaii to have anything for a currency standard but the metal required to pay its debts abroad and its customs duties at home, which is gold.

The HERALD has attained a large circulation, chiefly among the best classes of Honolulu society. It is eagerly read by hundreds daily in all the respectable places of resort. One leading restaurant keeper has had to order four copies to satisfy the demand for the paper at his tables. Readers will see that the HERALD's influence is coming to be recognized by business men, in the steady growth of its advertising patronage. Merchants and mechanics will find it to their interest to get our advertising rates for any space required.

A very simple form of municipal government for Honolulu would doubtless be a vast improvement on the present condition of things civic. In discussing the matter practically the reformed systems lately adopted in Nashville and Memphis, Tennessee, mentioned in the HERALD the other day, should be kept in view. The necessary addition to taxation would be as nothing to the almost certain benefits from the change, provided city taxpayers were not compelled to pay as much as ever to the general Government, besides what the civic establishment would cost them.

Flesh is Grass.

Mrs. Simpson Hendricks, the landlady, had just remarked that all flesh is grass, when Dumley, who is even with his board, and therefore inclined to be captious, fat called upon to correct her.

"Some flesh may be grass, madam," he said, struggling with his knife and fork, "but it occurs to me that this particular piece of f-flesh cuts more like b-baled hay."—Harper's Bazar.

Officers of the Hawaiian Rifle Association for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Dr. Bredie; Vice-President, C. H. Nicoll; Secy.-Treasurer, J. H. Fisher; Range Committee, Pratt, Unger and E. Hingley; Finance Committee, C. W. Ashford, F. Terrill and Rothwell. The semi-annual contest will be on New Year's Day, competitors to be divided into three classes.

Capt. Backus of the barkentine Mary Winkelman was assaulted yesterday afternoon by two sailors discharged from his vessel, who handled him rather roughly. The captain applied at the American Consulate for a warrant for their arrest, but as the men were paid off he had to go to the city police authorities for the writ. Last night one of the men, named Peterson, was arrested for the offense.

Billiard Match.

Messrs. Morris and McCleery will play a billiard match of 120 points, eight-inch ball line, for $500 a side, in the Hawaiian Hotel billiard rooms, on Friday and Monday evenings next, 600 points to be played each evening. There will have been an interval since the last previous match, sufficient to give some zest to this one with lovers of the game. The division of the match between two nights is wise, as 1200 points ball line would involve much too long a match for the spectators.

Moonlight Concerts.

There will be a moonlight concert this Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Emma Square. The following is the programme:
Overture—All in Mark... Pedrotti
Waltz—Courtball... Fahrbach
Selection—Barber of Seville... Rossini
March—Fifty Years Ago... Berger
Lullaby
Finale—Victor Paganini... Peril
Waltz—Gayarone... Millosker
Gavotte—Welcome... Kluss
Polka—Military... Waldteufel

SPRECKELS vs. MACFARLANE.

Application for Foreclosure of Mortgage Discontinued.

This is the return day appointed for the writs of foreclosure of mortgage issued to the attorneys of John D. Spreckels & Bros. against Geo. W. Macfarlane on Saturday, November 20th last, the amount of mortgage with accrued interest being $47,377.77. Yesterday, however, Messrs. F. M. Hatch and J. T. Dare, attorneys for the plaintiffs, filed in the Clerk's office of the Supreme Court a discontinuance of the application for foreclosure, for the reason that the property in question—the well-known residence and grounds at Waikiki—had been made over to the mortgagees. Col. Macfarlane determined on giving up the property immediately on being served with the writs in the case, just prior to his departure for England.

Distribution of Trees.

There is to be a distribution of trees from the Government Nursery to the public on Thursday and Friday of this week. Applications for orders should be made at Mr. A. Jaeger's office tomorrow, 8th inst. Following is a list of plants: Grape vines—Isabella, blue and white Muscat, and a variety raised from seed, reputedly invulnerable to phylloxera; red guava, noted for abundance of fruit and cleanliness; Avocado pear (Alligator), lime, Sapota pear, Japanese plum, logwood, silver wattle, Gnatstard cedar, Anato (Alaca), golden shower (Cathartocarpus), pomegranate, North American locust acacia, Morieton Bay pine (Araucaria Cunninghamii), bunya bunya (Araucaria Bidwillii), cinnamon, 35 varieties sugar cane, cuttings from the true arrowroot plant. For many reasons it has become necessary to establish the rule of distributing plants periodically only. The public will always be duly notified beforehand. Persons desirous of availing themselves of this opportunity should do so in the manner above stated, also those who have friends on the other islands desirous of planting.

Police Court.

Eight Chinese brought up on remand yesterday for gaming were discharged after hearing of further evidence.

The drunk list comprised John Pauoahu, Keliwaiwaiole and John Anderson, each forfeiting $6 bail.

John Brown had $7 to pay for assault and battery on Kaimi.

Two cases were remanded.

On the civil side, several cases were settled out of Court. Hearing was had further of an action on a disputed bill by the Hawaiian Carriage Manufacturing Co. against Bruce & Butler, shipwrights, amounting to $123. The dispute was over eight ship knees fixed, the charge being $60 and the defendants considering $40 enough. Case continued for judgment to 9th inst. Kinney & Peterson for plaintiff; W. R. Castle for defendant.

Oahu College Musicals.

Below is a condensed programme of the musicale to be given friends and patrons of Oahu College at Punahou this evening: Piano solo, Nellie Waterhouse; do., Marion Dole; song, Levi Lyman; duet for piano and violin, Mrs. Hanford and Mr. Yarnley; song, Jennie Grieve; piano solo, Minnie Brown; chorus, Punahou Glee Club; piano solo, Emily Halstead; song, Mrs. Hanford, with violin obligato by Mr. Yarnley; piano solo, May Dillingham; vocal duet, Mrs. Hanford and Mr. Van Slyke; piano solo, Hattie Dickson; chorus, Punahou Glee Club. No formal invitations have been issued for this treat, but friends and patrons of the Punahou schools will all be welcome.

SIDE LIGHTS.

Smoke the "Wedge," to be found at C. J. McCarthy's.

B. F. Ehlers & Co. make a beautiful display of holiday goods in their windows and other conspicuous parts of their store. There are colored pottery vases in very pretty designs, being statuettes holding the receptacle for flowers. Plush goods, in dressing cases, work boxes, frames, albums, portfolios, writing desks, etc., are tastefully arranged on show stands. Besides all these fancy articles the firm has its usual splendid showing of dress, millinery and dry goods. Ladies will meet a feast for their eyes and value for their pin money at this store.

Mr. Geo Kim, besides his usual heavy stock of dry goods and millinery, replenished by every steamer, has by the Mariposa received a splendid assortment of new Chinese goods, specially for the holiday trade. Read his announcement in to-day's HERALD, and then you do not know half what is to be found at this favorite mart, but must call and inspect for yourself.

The Best Tonic.

Mr. Henry Billings, Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used your Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky for medicinal purposes. As a tonic I consider it superior to the hundreds of concoctions which are now flooding the land as simulated liquors."
"As a true tonic, effective invigorator and genuine appetizer, Duffy's Malt Whisky is unexcelled."

Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Association.

From the good news given by O Luso Hawaiian, there seems to be every prospect that the Portuguese begging is at an end. There is no doubt that up to the present time the Portuguese immigrants, the poorest, and when destitute or infirm, the most helpless class of our cosmopolitan community, have been a heavy burden on the charities of the public generally and of the different charitable institutions here, especially. It will consequently be learned with a sentiment of relief and gratefulness that the ladies of the Portuguese colony, with the help of others interested in the welfare of those poor people, and devoted to charitable purposes, have just started a meritorious association, the "Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Society," with the scope of helping the orphans, widows and all sick, maimed or destitute members of that nationality who will be found worthy of such help.

These ladies, who have very properly elected Mrs. A. de Souza Canavaro, wife of the Portuguese Consul, as their president, cannot be too highly praised, and whilst they will soon receive the benedictions of their poor proteges, they are already shown the most flattering sympathies by ladies and gentlemen of all nationalities and religions, who promise every kind of assistance so that the association may become promptly as helpful as it deserves.

In the near future a fair might be organized to give the association a good start, and there is no doubt, in view of the exceptional scope the Portuguese ladies wish to realize, that this generous community will not begrudge its aid to these kind ladies, who devote their time and efforts for supplying the Portuguese with a charitable institution, which alone amongst all the foreign elements here they do not possess. Nor will the planters themselves refuse to assist by collecting donations from their Portuguese workers.

Important Discovery for Owners of Oil Paintings.

An important discovery has been made by Mr. W. C. King. Recently the oil portrait of the late Mr. Wyllie, Minister of Foreign Affairs, was taken down from where it had long hung, in the Legislative Assembly chamber, and was going to the collection in the Palace for the Jubilee. While the picture was being washed, great flakes of paint came off the face, leaving unsightly blotches. It was taken to King Bros. art store to ascertain the cause of the peeling off, and the junior partner found that behind every blotch there had been the clay house of wasps. It seems that the substance had drawn the oil through the canvas, leaving nothing but a film of varnish and coloring matter, which it took but slight friction to detach. From this discovery the owners of oil paintings will see the importance of having the backs of them protected against the yellow jackets.

The principal English and American clergymen in Paris, and many well known French Protestant divines, have signed a joint protest denying the truth of the statements alleged to be published in America, regarding the manner of conducting young ladies' schools there. They declare that the statements are libelous, and assert that their schools are as pure and as healthy in tone as any in England or America, and that their own daughters are educated in them.

An article in the Warsaw Gazette has caused a sensation in Vienna. The writer warns Poland that in cringing to Austro-Hungary she leans upon a decaying empire, whose miserable collapse is drawing near, and that the empire will soon be partitioned, as was Poland, amid the exultations of one-half of the people, who are now living in grumbling discontent under the Hapsburg scepter.

Mistress and maid. "Where have you been, Jane?" "I've been to a meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society, ma'am." "Well, and what did the lady say to you?" "Please, ma'am, she said I wasn't to give you a warning, as I meant to. She said I was to look upon you as my thorn—and bear it."

The Bullet Safe.

Omaha Lady.—The paper says W. H. Montague of Boston, who owned the bullet that killed Gen. Warren at Bunker Hill, has just died.

Boston Lady.—"Mercy on us? Couldn't the doctors save him?" "It seems not."

"Oh! such a loss! How shall we ever—but what a goose I am! Of course the bullet is still safe."—Omaha World.

A Good Scheme.

Brown did you go for a vacation this summer?

Smith—Oh, yes.

Brown—How did you manage your business affairs?

Smith—I took my advertisements out of the papers until I returned, so there wasn't any business to manage. Great scheme, eh?

HAWAIIAN DECLINE.

There is nothing more lamentable in the present status of the native Hawaiian people, than the fact that they are being pushed into the background in the real life of the nation. Strange races from opposite ends of the earth, imported into the country for contract laborers, partly at the expense of Hawaiians, are taking up land and cultivating it, learning trades and making a good living by them, opening trading shops and acquiring a competence therein, securing the best positions in operating the country's commercial fleet, and so forth. The natives are steadily moving down and out in all these branches of industry, and trade, even the very humblest. It is only recently that a large shipping concern sent to the South Seas for sailors to replace the natives in working its vessels. Meanwhile the natives going down to absolute wretchedness and ultimate extinction, amusing themselves on the descent by playing at soldiers. There are exceptions to this sad picture, at least enough to show that the exhibition might be the reverse, so far, at all events, as the Hawaiian's relations to the Portuguese, Chinese and Japanese are concerned.

Native Hawaiians of influence and foreigners who profess a kindly interest in the native race should take this state of affairs seriously and practically to heart. It is not too late, it is to be hoped, for the initiation of a movement for the betterment of the material condition of Hawaiians. A Hawaiian Industrial Association should be formed with as little delay as possible. There are many industries connected with agricultural development which the native would be master of from the start. Fruits, the cultivation of which he understands or would readily learn, have foreign markets open to them, in both fresh and preserved states, all the time. What is wanted is organization, with possibly a moderate investment of capital, for forthwith starting fruit farms and preserving factories all over the Kingdom, with native Hawaiians to work both. The association could also exert its influence in having young Hawaiians, whenever out of school, put to learn trades. It would also find a noble work in promoting the establishment of a system of industrial education in the Government schools.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Portuguese ladies are worthy of all praise for moving to wipe out the stigma of mendicancy from their colony. We bespeak the countenance and sympathy of the community for the "Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Association."

When foreign residents get tired of being treated as intruders only tolerated for the tax-bearing wealth they produce, probably the first people they will get even with are the abandoned class of foreigners—the white kanakas—who have chiefly instigated the race prejudice now paramount among the ruling party of Hawaiians.

With present facilities of communication between Honolulu and Kapoian Park, the latter is too far away for holding a public show of any kind.

Therefore the public will commend the intention of the Agricultural Society's exhibition committee to obtain, if possible, a more convenient site for the stock show than the park. In this purpose the committee ought to have the benefit of suggestions or offers from outsiders who may be in a position to help in either of these ways.

The Advertiser notes a sudden and marked rise in the price of silver, and argues therefrom that it is gold and not silver which varies in value from day to day. While our contemporary fails to make this clear, it is welcome to its hopes of an international arrangement for putting silver on an equal footing with gold. Until that is done, however, it would be great folly for a country like Hawaii to have anything for a currency standard but the metal required to pay its debts abroad and its customs duties at home, which is gold.

The HERALD has attained a large circulation, chiefly among the best classes of Honolulu society. It is eagerly read by hundreds daily in all the respectable places of resort. One leading restaurant keeper has had to order four copies to satisfy the demand for the paper at his tables. Readers will see that the HERALD's influence is coming to be recognized by business men, in the steady growth of its advertising patronage. Merchants and mechanics will find it to their interest to get our advertising rates for any space required.

A very simple form of municipal government for Honolulu would doubtless be a vast improvement on the present condition of things civic. In discussing the matter practically the reformed systems lately adopted in Nashville and Memphis, Tennessee, mentioned in the HERALD the other day, should be kept in view. The necessary addition to taxation would be as nothing to the almost certain benefits from the change, provided city taxpayers were not compelled to pay as much as ever to the general Government, besides what the civic establishment would cost them.

Billiard Match.

Messrs. Morris and McCleery will play a billiard match of 120 points, eight-inch ball line, for $500 a side, in the Hawaiian Hotel billiard rooms, on Friday and Monday evenings next, 600 points to be played each evening. The division of the match between two nights is wise, as 1200 points ball line would involve much too long a match for the spectators.

SPRECKELS vs. MACFARLANE.

Application for Foreclosure of Mortgage Discontinued.

This is the return day appointed for the writs of foreclosure of mortgage issued to the attorneys of John D. Spreckels & Bros. against Geo. W. Macfarlane on Saturday, November 20th last, the amount of mortgage with accrued interest being $47,377.77. Yesterday, however, Messrs. F. M. Hatch and J. T. Dare, attorneys for the plaintiffs, filed in the Clerk's office of the Supreme Court a discontinuance of the application for foreclosure, for the reason that the property in question—the well-known residence and grounds at Waikiki—had been made over to the mortgagees. Col. Macfarlane determined on giving up the property immediately on being served with the writs in the case, just prior to his departure for England.

Distribution of Trees.

There is to be a distribution of trees from the Government Nursery to the public on Thursday and Friday of this week. Applications for orders should be made at Mr. A. Jaeger's office tomorrow, 8th inst. For many reasons it has become necessary to establish the rule of distributing plants periodically only. The public will always be duly notified beforehand. Persons desirous of availing themselves of this opportunity should do so in the manner above stated, also those who have friends on the other islands desirous of planting.

Police Court.

Eight Chinese brought up on remand yesterday for gaming were discharged after hearing of further evidence.

The drunk list comprised John Pauoahu, Keliwaiwale and John Anderson, each forfeiting $5 bail.

John Brown had $7 to pay for assault and battery on Kaimi.

Two cases were remanded.

On the civil side, several cases were settled out of Court. Hearing was had further of an action on a disputed bill by the Hawaiian Carriage Manufacturing Co. against Bruce & Butler, shipwrights, amounting to $123. The dispute was over eight ship knees fixed, the charge being $60 and the defendants considering $40 enough. Case continued for judgment to 9th inst. Kinney & Peterson for plaintiff; W. R. Castle for defendant.

SIDE LIGHTS.

Smoke the "Wedge," to be found at C. J. McCarthy's.

B. F. Ehlers & Co. make a beautiful display of holiday goods in their windows and other conspicuous parts of their store. There are colored pottery vases in very pretty designs, being statuettes holding the receptacle for flowers. Plush goods, in dressing cases, work boxes, frames, albums, portfolios, writing desks, etc., are tastefully arranged on show stands. Besides all these fancy articles the firm has its usual splendid showing of dress, millinery and dry goods. Ladies will meet a feast for their eyes and value for their pin money at this store.

Mr. Geo Kim, besides his usual heavy stock of dry goods and millinery, replenished by every steamer, has by the Mariposa received a splendid assortment of new Chinese goods, specially for the holiday trade. Read his announcement in to-day's HERALD, and then you do not know half what is to be found at this favorite mart, but must call and inspect for yourself.

The Best Tonic.

Mr. Henry Billings, Washington, D. C., writes: "I have used your Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky for medicinal purposes. As a tonic I consider it superior to the hundreds of concoctions which are now flooding the land as stimulant liquors."

"As a true tonic, effective invigorator and genuine appetizer, Duffy's Malt Whisky is unexcelled."

Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Association.

From the good news given by O Lusa Hawaiian, there seems to be every prospect that the Portuguese begging is at an end. There is no doubt that up to the present time the Portuguese immigrants, the poorest, and when destitute or infirm, the most helpless class of our cosmopolitan community, have been a heavy burden on the charities of the public generally and of the different charitable institutions here, especially. It will consequently be learned with a sentiment of relief and gratefulness that the ladies of the Portuguese colony, with the help of others interested in the welfare of those poor people, and devoted to charitable purposes, have just started a meritorious association, the "Portuguese Ladies' Benevolent Society," with the scope of helping the orphans, widows and all sick, maimed or destitute members of that nationality who will be found worthy of such help.

These ladies, who have very properly elected Mrs. A. de Souza Canavarro, wife of the Portuguese Consul, as their president, cannot be too highly praised, and whilst they will soon receive the benedictions of their poor proteges, they are already shown the most flattering sympathies by ladies and gentlemen of all nationalities and religions, who promise every kind of assistance so that the association may become promptly as helpful as it deserves.

In the near future a fair might be organized to give the association a good start, and there is no doubt, in view of the exceptional scope the Portuguese ladies wish to realize, that this generous community will not begrudge its aid to these kind ladies, who devote their time and efforts for supplying the Portuguese with a charitable institution, which alone amongst all the foreign elements here they do not possess. Nor will the planters themselves refuse to assist by collecting donations from their Portuguese workers.

Important Discovery for Owners of Oil Paintings.

An important discovery has been made by Mr. W. C. King. Recently the oil portrait of the late Mr. Wyllie, Minister of Foreign Affairs, was taken down from where it had long hung in the Legislative Assembly chamber, and was going to the collection in the Palace for the Jubilee. While the picture was being washed, great flakes of paint came off the face, leaving unsightly blotches. It was taken to King Bros.' art store to ascertain the cause of the peeling off, and the junior partner found that behind every blotch there had been the clay house of wasps. It seems that the substance had drawn the oil through the canvas, leaving nothing but a film of varnish and coloring matter, which it took but slight friction to detach. From this discovery the owners of oil paintings will see the importance of having the backs of them protected against the yellow jackets.

The principal English and American clergymen in Paris, and many well known French Protestant divines, have signed a joint protest denying the truth of the statements alleged to be published in America, regarding the manner of conducting young ladies' schools there. They declare that the statements are libelous, and assert that their schools are as pure and as healthy in tone as any in England or America, and that their own daughters are educated in them.

An article in the Warsaw Gazette has caused a sensation in Vienna. The writer warns Poland that in cringing to Austro-Hungary she leans upon a decaying empire, whose miserable collapse is drawing near, and that the empire will soon be partitioned, as was Poland, amid the exultations of one-half of the people, who are now living in grumbling discontent under the Hapsburg scepter.

Mistress and maid. "Where have you been, Jane?" "I've been to a meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society, ma'am." "Well, and what did the lady say to you?" "Please, ma'am, she said I wasn't to give you a warning, as I meant to. She said I was to look upon you as my thorn—and bear it."

A GREAT HIGHWAY.

THE NATIONAL ROAD LAID OUT NEARLY SEVENTY YEARS AGO.

Interesting Reminiscences in Connection with the Once Popular Thoroughfare. Historic Associations—Noted Passengers Over the Road.

How few know anything of the "national road!" It has been so eclipsed by railways that many well-informed people don't know that such a structure was ever built.

A way back in 1818 there arose serious apprehension that the growth of the west would cause disaffected politicians to want a different capital—"a western union"—and during Monroe's administration congress, under the advocacy of Henry Clay, "Tom" Benton, Gen. Lewis Cass, Thomas Ewing and Andrew Stewart, made appropriations from the national treasury, and the work was vigorously executed. Beginning at Cumberland mountain, it extended across Pennsylvania, Virginia, Ohio and Indiana westward. The design was to connect the national capital with St. Louis.

The road bed was reduced to a grade of five degrees, was made thirty-five feet wide, and macadamized. The under part was chiefly of stone, placed on edge, as is now the case in cities, and covered with pieces that would go through an inch and a half ring. The national road was free to all. It was maintained by the general government for a dozen years, but in 1830, "through deference to Gen. Jackson's idea of state sovereignty," it was turned over to the states through which it was built.

A POPULAR THOROUGHFARE.

Much interesting reminiscence might be given of this great thoroughfare and its wars. In 1837, when war was threatened between this country and France, there was such suspicion of sympathy between the French in Louisiana and the enemy that a quick mail route was established via this road, and the Mississippi river contracts were let with the requirement of speed to average ten miles per hour. The entire highway was laid off into sections, three boys and nine horses being required for sixty-three miles, and the time given for the trip was six hours and eighteen minutes.

Whether legal or not, the national road was a popular thoroughfare. There was soon as high as 150 "great Conestoga six-horse teams" per day. That is the same number as the railroad trains that pass over the Pennsylvania railroad now daily to and from Jersey City. There were four or five four-horse mail and passenger coaches each way daily.

Presidents frequented this highway, and on such occasions men were posted at hilltops by the roadway to wave their red bandanas as a signal of approach for the distinguished travelers. The people would assemble and render both vocal and instrumental music.

Much of the national road is still in good condition, and its many historic associations are enhanced by modern progress. While the old cast iron posts yet remain to tell of distances to places, etc., telegraph wires are abundant, and there is a combination of things ancient and modern which give to travelers by the old road much of rare interest.

Of noted passengers over this road there are recorded the names of James Monroe, Andrew Jackson, William Henry Harrison, John Tyler, Dick Johnson (vice-president under Tyler), James K. Polk, Santa Anna and the Marquis de Lafayette.

CHAT WITH POLK'S WIDOW.

James K. Polk! How the name stands out in the list! To be assured about the stories told on the subject I called on the venerable Mrs. Polk. At my greeting she said she was feeble, but had never in the several years it had been my fortune to know her appeared quite so bright, so graceful and so elegant.

"Ah, yes, I have often been over the great national road," as it was called, and it revives many pleasant reminiscences. Friends used to ask me if I were not fatigued in making those trips, but I would tell them that in those days I knew not the sensation of being tired. Why, we didn't travel in the ordinary stage coaches of that day. True, we did travel in public carriages, but gentlemen could make arrangements to travel exclusively, and would stop over at night. Mr. Polk was fourteen years successively in congress, and we often journeyed that way; not always. We went to Washington twice in our private carriage. Our route would be down the Cumberland to the Ohio, and up that to Wheeling, and thence across by the national road to Cumberland, Md. The cars ran from thence to Baltimore. When Mr. Polk was elected president we went that way and changed cars at the Relay house, the junction of that road and the one leading from Baltimore to Washington. There was a great crowd there and he made a speech. What magnificent scenery on that thoroughfare across the Allegheny mountains! I had an experience on our journey that often gave amusement to our friends. Our team ran away, and we might have been much more unfortunate, but one of our horses fell and the driver checked the others. But the carriage was upset. Dr. Linn, a senator from Missouri, was especially attentive to me. Mr. Polk and others had emerged from the carriage, and Dr. Linn proposed to help me, and he asked me to put my foot on his hand. I did so, and he helped me gracefully in that way. He was a courtly gentleman.—Nashville American.

Transfusion of Blood.
A lawyer, it seems, has come to the aid of the medical fraternity, judging from the report of what are described as successful experiments carried on before professors of the Michigan State university medical department, with an instrument for the transfusion of blood directly from one animal or person into another. A correspondent declares that it bids fair to overcome the only heretofore existing obstacle to the success of this operation—the clotting of blood, and dangers following from injection of such clots. In the experiments, a sick sheep was placed at one end of the instrument and a healthy one at the other, and a very visible change for the better was the result in the sick one. The other was then allowed to bleed as long as blood would flow, and was remediated by blood taken from a calf. The inventor is said to have been a successful lawyer, whom ill health compelled to abandon his profession.—Boston Transcript.

Love Making in a Picketian Sense.
One peculiarity of the Mexicans is neglected to mention. If they meet a pretty woman on the street, although an entire stranger, they will say to her: "You are so sweet! so pretty! I love you!" No offense is meant, and the lady is not expected to notice it. Such a compliment was paid a pretty Boston girl in Mexico city, and she astonished her plain-spoken admirer by taking her parcel to him.—New Orleans Picayune.

Marat's Bath.
The bath in which the infamous Marat was when Charlotte Corday rid the world of him has been sold by a priest of the diocese of Vannes to a Paris waxworks showman. The price was $1,000, which will be devoted to the use of a religious school.—Boston Transcript.

Tramps in Dakota.
Tramps in Dakota are not too lazy to do the "crow act." That is, they act as scavengers in the wheat fields, taking turns at standing on a platform high above the wheat, and occasionally yelling or throwing a stone at the birds. They are paid very little besides what they eat.—New York Sun.

At the bench hotel beware of the waiter with whiskers. A really good waiter never finds leisure to grow whiskers.—Somerville Journal.

The new law in New York prohibiting the employment of children in factories will force 50,000 children out of employment.

Advice on the subject is plenty, yet the surest way to obtain a paid-up dividend in life is to "keep digging."—Jud Lafagan.

SHERIDAN'S HOME AND MOTHER.

A House Near the Hoeking Valley Where He Goes Once a Year.

The little cottage is on the verge of the Hoeking valley, facing the fair vale of Muskogum. The Sheridan home is not pretentious. It is a story and a half cottage, which nestles in the midst of tall cedars and forest oaks. There is a wide yard and a long walk of native stones which leads to the door. There was a delicious coolness under the trees and a delightful view. No one was in sight, and we sat on the porch in the old-fashioned rockers, which invite company. The door was open and disclosed a hall which was neatly furnished. The rooms on each side were rather richly dressed for a country cottage, and the walls with pictures of the son at almost every stage of life. Mementoes of his experience when he was fighting the Indians in Oregon and more of his experience in the rebellion were plenty and suggestive. An old lady in a black silk dress and black lace cap came out and warmly welcomed us. "A gentleman who wants to see the mother of Gen. Sheridan," was the manner of my introduction. The old lady shook my hand with a warmth, which would have done credit to a woman of 35, and then she joined us on the porch for a chat. For a woman of 87 she is remarkably strong and clear in conversation. In her face, which is not at all emaciated, can be traced a resemblance to her famous son. Of course the talk turned to him, and with a laugh of pride and joy she said:

"I have been feeling quite well to-day, since we had a telegram from Phillie that he is coming to-morrow."

"But he comes every year?"

"Oh, yes," and again the old lady laughed and smiled as she said:

"He was here a year ago and stayed over night. I didn't know he was coming, and was up to see a neighbor about some business. When I started home I met him on the road. He came running up to me and said: 'Why, mother, where have you been! I was afraid something had happened to you.'"

"He was a good boy and healthy, was he not, Mrs. Sheridan?" asked Capt. Greiner.

"Yes, indeed. He was never sick. He never had time to be sick. He was an active lad, and so fond of horses. I know when he lived in town Phillie was always about the stage horses when they would come in. He would watch till they were unhitched, and then watch his chance to take them to water. One day his father caught him and gave him a good whipping. It was the hardest whipping the lad ever got, and I felt very badly about it. I told father it was hardly right, but he said it would do Phil good, and I guess it did. He was hurt once by a wild colic which threw him up Dean's one day. He was badly hurt, indeed, but a breaking out saved his life. That was when he was home from West Point."

"Where was he when the war commenced?"

"In Oregon. I didn't see him for a long time then."

"But you heard from him often?"

"O, yes; and when the mail would come I would go out in the yard, afraid to see the letters or papers lest I should hear that some of my boys were killed or hurt."

"But the news from them was always good?"

"Yes, indeed," and the old lady laughed with pride as she remembered the tidings of those momentous days which made her "Phillie" the leader of the American armies. Talking of him, she apologized the least bit for being so fond: "You can excuse an old mother for being so proud of her son. He has always been good to me."—Cor. Cincinnati Times-Star.

A Field Long Neglected.
Every country physician should have a knowledge of veterinary science, and be willing to prescribe for sick horses and cattle, as well as for their owners. Attention to the diseases of the lower animals is, no doubt, of less consequence than curing the maladies of human beings, but I do not see why it should be regarded as a matter of inferior dignity to find remedies for the diseases of the animal creation. No scientific man considers it beneath him to inquire into the causes of the potato rot, or the blight of the wheat crop. The preservation of the health of domestic animals is, even apart from consideration of humanity in the relief of suffering to the beasts themselves, an exceedingly important thing in a pecuniary point of view. And besides this, the study of the best means for preserving the health of the lower animals often develops facts and principles of no slight value in reference to the health of the human system. Some of the most serious diseases to which man is subject are found amazingly near the same form in horses, and need essentially the same treatment.—Ben: Perley Poore in American Cultivator.

What's in a Name?
A woman was recently arrested in New York with the remarkable name of Scholastique Bigot, which translated means "Scientifically Orthodox Zealot," and is a curious name for French parents, even if they were Bigots themselves, to bestow on a little girl. The Buffalo Commercial, commenting on the peculiar appellation, says: Why will parents curse a child with such ridiculous names? We recall to memory a first-class business man who was hampered with the name of Thaddeus Constantine Sobieski Aurelius. We will spare him the mortification of a complete identification. Parents who thus impose upon their children ought to be liable for damages when the latter grow to man's and woman's estate.—Chicago Times.
