HOW THE BRITONS TAKE IT

Accept the Defeat by Boers With Splendid Stoicism.

Dark View Held of White's Ability to Hold Out - Associated Press Correspondent Review Situation in London.

London, Nov. 4.—Though the events of the week have aroused the spirit of the British nation to the utmost, and though its military esutcheon has been more stained than it ever was before, there seems to be ahead a still more crucial ordeal, that of suspense.

Whatever may be the justice or otherwise of the criticisms passed on General White, it is palpable that he had no longer possesses the confidence of the public. He may be fully able to withstand the attacks of the superior Boer force, and may be ready at any moment to execute a masterly retreat, but as long as he is cut off from communication with the outside world there will exist terrible anxiety regarding the welfare of the 7000 or 8000 men of his command.

The most optimistic believe that a fortnight is the minimum in which reinforcements of any potentiality can be pushed to Ladysmith, and then it may be too late. It is this interim, embittered by the vivid memory of recent disaster, which will try the temper of the British nation, which, as a whole, can be said to have embarked in the war with stupendous overconfidence, and which has now awakened to the realization of the fact that if General White's force is annihilated it will cause an indefinite prolongation of hostilities.

As a matter of fact, granting that General White possesses the qualities of fair generalship, there are many reasons to believe he will be able to hold out until reinforced, even if completely surrounded. It is presumed he has employed the week in strengthening his position with earthworks and trenches, which, when manned by such fighters as the Gordons and Irish Fusiliers, can not be taken without a terrible struggle.

The weeklies exhibit no little self-satisfaction at the British patriotism and stoicism, as evidenced by the reception of the news of the Ladysmith disaster. The public utterances of public men fully justify this feeling, and the same can be said of the majority of the more serious published comments. But, beneath this splendid stoicism, there has prevailed in all classes a feeling of intense chagrin and amazement, such as has not stirred Great Britain in a century, and it has frequently been coupled with the bitterest abuse of General White, the man held responsible for the unparalleled surrender of such a British force to such an enemy.

Loving Cup For Schley.

Atlanta, Nov. 4.—Rear Admiral Schley received an enthusiastic welcome to Atlanta today. After a short reception at the hotel, the admiral and party were escorted to the state capitol, where they were welcomed by Governor Candler, Senators, Congressmen, Judges of the Supreme Court and others. Later, they proceeded to Piedmont Park, where a long military parade, consisting of regulars and volunteers, was reviewed. Twelve thousand people crowded the Auditorium this afternoon to witness the presentation of a loving cup to Schley from the citizens of Atlanta.

Had An Arm Broken.

A German employe had his arm broken while at his work near the post-office this morning. He was holding one of the large steel chisels used for drilling when another laborer accidentally struck his arm with one of the large hammers. Although the skin was hardly broken, there was a very bad fracture of the bones of the arm. The injury was attended to by Dr. Howard at the Government Dispensary.

Five Shots Fired.

Five revolver shots were fired in the vicinity of President Dole's house on Emma street last night. Quite a commotion was created by the incident.

CARE FOR NEW POSSESSIONS

Proposition to Create an Insular Affairs Committee.

To be Separated from the Committees on Territories—Tawney Suggested as Chairman—Western Men Requested.

Those who are looking for good committee places in the next House will be interested in the agitation on certain quarters for a committee on insular affairs, says the Washington Post of Oct. 25. It is claimed that such a committee, which shall have charge of all matters pertaining to Hawaii, Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines, has been decided upon by those who will have control of the House organization.

Representative Tawney, of Minnesota, who has been in Washington for two or three days and left suddenly Monday evening on receipt of a telegram that several members of his party were ill with diphtheria, made it plain to some of his friends while here that he coveted the chairmanship of such a committee. Mr. Tawney was very active in the canvass for Gen. Henderson, and is supposed to be unusually well informed about the latter's Congressional plans. He has been a member of the House Committee on Ways and Means for four years. When the Dingley tariff bill was drawn he framed the lumber schedule. Of all the members of the House probably none was more enthusiastic for the annexation of Hawaii. He made a set speech in behalf of annexation, and was one of the moving spirits for consideration of the annexation resolutions in the House. Mr. Tawney has been one of the ardent advocates for giving more places in the House organization to Western men, and is in thorough sympathy with a policy of developing the islands in the Orient for the purpose of affording the Western States greater commercial advantages.

Should a committee on insular affairs be appointed it would be one of the most important in the coming Congress. The argument is made against the Committee on Territories that it has enough to do with matters pertaining to Arizona, New Mexico and Alaska, and further, the more enthusiastic believers in the future of the Philippines prefer to have a committee that will not be dominated by an Eastern man.

The failure of Chairman Knox to report the bill for the organization of a Territory in Hawaii at the last session of Congress is charged against him, although he has declared that his action was guided by Speaker Reed. In this connection it is noticeable that only a few days ago Chairman Knox made a speech in Massachusetts, coming out very squarely for the retention of the islands in the East. The prospect that the Republicans will have great difficulty in mustering a majority in the House for any radical action affecting the new possessions will probably influence that party toward having a strong committee likely to agree with the administration's policy. If the Democrats maintain their full party strength a disaffection of seven or eight votes on the Republican side will prevent the passage of any measure. There are several Republicans in the House who are inclined to Mr. Reed's way of thinking about the Philippines, and their views may prove to be far more troublesome in the enactment of legislation than the views of Senators Hoar, Hale and Mason in the Senate, where there will be a more comfortable majority.

WITH MINIATURE YACHTS.

Ka Hui Moku Lilihi o Hawaii (Miniature Yacht Club of Hawaii), held its annual regatta in celebration of the birthday of the late King Kalakaua this forenoon. There were nine boats in the race, the result being as follows: Kaleikau, first; Lady L. (property of Prince Cupid Kalaniana'ole) second; Ekela, third; Lino, fourth; Mahuka, fifth and Kaaui, sixth. The first prize is a silver cup and $20. The second $15, third $10 and fourth $5. A luau in celebration of the day will be given at the home of the late Queen Dowager Kapolani tonight.

RATES TO THE EAST CUT.

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—The Southern Pacific Railway Company has announced a new special schedule of passenger rates, available only to parties of 10 or more. The new tariff is intended for returning miners from Alaska and the Klondike, and cuts have been made to keep this business out of the hands of the ticket brokers. The rate to Chicago has been cut from $52.50 to $45, and to Missouri river points from $40 to $36. Proportionate reductions are made to intermediate points.

E. J. G. BRYANT HAS DISAPPEARED

Last Seen by Guy Kelly on Inter-Island Wharf—Was Bound for Kilauea in Steamer James Makee.

E. J. G. Bryant, the head bookkeeper at Kilauea plantation on Kauai under Manager George R. Ewart and a man most highly respected on all sides, has disappeared and, although search on all sides has been made for him, not a trace has yet been discovered of his whereabouts. In consequence of this his wife is most terribly affected and his relatives are all in a quandary. Mrs. Ward, mother of Mrs. Bryant, was seen at her home on Punchbowl street by a Bulletin reporter at noon today and very kindly gave the whole story of her son-in-law's disappearance in the following way: "Edmund came down from Kauai during the latter part of last month and, as usual, came right here to stay. He was busy with his own affairs but we saw a great deal of him in the evenings and he was just the same as always—good natured and seemingly free from trouble.

"Early in the afternoon of October 30 Edmund said good bye to me and, taking his shawl bag, started for the street he saw Dr. Wayson and stopped to speak with him for short time. Then he jumped into his hack to go to the steamer.

"He went to the ticket office and bought a ticket for Kilauea, Kauai, his destination. Then he spoke to Purser Guy Kelley who asked him if he intended returning home. To this he replied in the affirmative. "This is all the knowledge we have so far been able to glean and was the last seen of him by any one of his acquaintances.

"When he left the house Edmund turned to me and said: 'Mother tell Lola that I have to hurry back to Kilauea in order to be there on time to pay off the hands. Otherwise I would remain over until tomorrow and meet her when she returns in the Moana.

"I saw McCullum step up to Jones at the moment the latter was flourishing a revolver and warn him that he would have to stop the disturbance at once. The fellow used some vile language and then struck out into the middle of the street, again flourishing his revolver. McCullum cried out three times to the negro to halt, but the fellow kept on his way. It was then that the guardsman raised his rifle and fired with the above result.

"The negro kept on going, but soon fell, announcing that he was shot. Police officers were soon on the scene. McCullum was placed under arrest but was released after an investigation by Deputy Marshal Chillingworth which showed the guardsman clearly in the right. He had been sent out to do his duty and he did it. The wounded man was sent to the hospital where he is doing very well. Jones has an unsavory reputation aboard the transport Pennsylvania. It is alleged that he flourished his revolver on that vessel one day, and came near being thrown overboard for his pains.

A MAJOR CALLED.

Major Parker of the 39th Infantry, aboard the Olympia called in at the Deputy Marshal's office and asked as to the behavior of his men in town. He was told that he would be glad of any suggestions that the Deputy Marshal might offer for the preservation of law and order as far as the soldiers are concerned. This kindly call was greatly appreciated by both Marshal Brown and Deputy Marshal Chillingworth, who now feel disposed to assist the officials of the transports in every way possible. Heretofore there have been no such calls at the police station from the higher officers of various commands.

Associated Charities.

At a meeting of the Associated Charities yesterday afternoon the financial statement showed $470 received by donation to the funds during the month.

Mrs. Hyde has donated some of the most valuable books in the library of the late Rev. C. M. Hyde as a nucleus for a library has been formed. The report of the manager showed the association in a very good condition both financially and otherwise.

Band Concert This Afternoon.

The Tugus band from the Tugus Soldiers' Home at Tugus, Maine, is with the troops on board the Pennsylvania. This organization is one of the best known in the State of Maine and Eastern New England. A concert will be given this afternoon at the Hotel grounds from 4 to 5.

remain over until tomorrow and meet her when she returns in the Moana. "Tell her also to take the next steamer to Koloa and get little Walter. As soon as I have learned of her arrival I will go over in a carriage and fetch her home." "Edmund had in all about $1000 in his satchel. Every cent of this was his own. Besides that, he has money here in the house, and more in the bank. Edmund had not yet drawn all his pay from the plantations. "My daughter returned from the States, whither she had gone on account of her health. In the Moana that arrived October 31. When the steamer came back from Kauai it was found that Edmund had not gone aboard the James Makee at all and that the people at the plantation were very much alarmed because he had always been most punctual in the fulfillment of his duties and no word had been sent as to his illness here in the city.

"My daughter was naturally very much alarmed but remained in town trying to get some tidings of her husband. None came and she finally decided to go to Koloa to get little Walter, leaving in the W. G. Hall last Tuesday. We expect her back in the city in a little while.

"Edmund had no debts whatever and there is no reason in the world why he should seek to leave the country. I do not think that this theory can be considered for a moment.

"Has there been any foul play? Well, I do not like to say. Edmund had a lot of money and he has disappeared. That is all I know.

"We have notified Marshal Brown about the matter and he is very kindly doing all in his power to get some clue to the whereabouts of Edmund or, if there has been foul play, to ferret out the perpetrator."

IL TROVATORE TONIGHT

The rapidity with which the Lyrics change their style of opera from grand to romantic and then to comic and back again, is really surprising. It can certainly be taken as an evidence of the excellence of the organization as a band of genuine artists and singers.

Tonight Il Trovatore, a grand opera, will be produced with Miss Nellie Andrews as Leonora, Maude Leekley as Azucena, A. J. Parmelee as Marico and Smith Rockwell as Count De Luna. The music is classical and superb. The many melodies of the opera will live as long as music has a place in human hearts. Saturday night the rollicking, funny La Belle Helene will be in order. This is one of Offenbach's greatest productions decidedly chic, catchy and melodious. There will be quite a number of well pleasing introductions, including the White Fawn march in gold and silver costume, also the champion world famous cake walker, Geo. Best, who will execute a few nimble pas seul in the latest society fad. Topical songs by Henderson and Kunkel, and several charming solos by Miss Stanton. From present appearances the S. R. O. song will go up early in the evening.

YALE'S BIG CENTER, CUNHA

"Sonny" Keeping His Name Up for Athletic Versatility.

Reduces Weight 50 Pounds on Suggestion—Coach Complains Only That He is Too Good Natured.

With an illustration as big and striking as Cunha himself the New York Sunday World publishes the following account of "Sonny" Cunha's athletic doings at Yale: When a Yale football or baseball team lines up for a game nowadays the spectators watch first of all for Albert Richard Cunha.

This young athlete attracts more attention than all the other players put together. From Boston to San Francisco his prowess extends in football. In baseball it stretches still further. It goes 2000 miles across the Pacific to his old home in Hawaii. Cunha is the first native of Uncle Sam's mid-ocean colonial possessions to find a place on an American college athletic team, but the Yale athletic managers think that if there are any more like him in Hawaii they will pay all expenses to have them imported.

Just now Cunha is the height of attraction as center of the Yale varsity football eleven. When he reported for practice he tipped the beam at 300 pounds flat. The coaches told him that this was fifty pounds too fat, and he answered: "Oh, well, then I'll work off fifty pounds."

Cunha has already reduced his weight to 251 pounds, and says that he will have it down even as low as 240 before the football season closes. Last year Cunha played center for the Yale freshman eleven. He was not eligible for the varsity because he was a law student. Members of this department are not allowed to play on a varsity team during their first year.

This year Cunha will develop into a full-fledged varsity player. He caught for the freshman baseball nine last season, and will the coming year fill the same position on the varsity. During the past summer he has been catching on a nine on the Pacific slope. Bill Reid, captain and catcher of the Harvard nine, was a rival, but Cunha had no trouble in relegating Reid to another position. Cunha's career has been one of athletic triumphs extending over two hemispheres. In his public school days in Hawaii he was the champion sprint runner of Honolulu. Even yet, and in spite of his bulk, he is one of the fastest sprinters on the Yale football eleven. Cunha was sent to San Francisco to study, and was there for two years. He played center rush and caught for St. Joseph College, near San Francisco.

Cunha is versatile as a social leader, singer, dancer and composer. He has written a number of popular songs, the proceeds of which have gone a long way toward paying his expenses through college. He is an expert mandolin player, and is a member of the Yale Glee Club. He has one of the best voices in the university.

Cunha is 5 feet 11 inches in height. His chest girth is forty-nine inches and he has a chest expansion of eight inches. He is twenty-two years old. All his athletic clothes are tailor made. In his football games Cunha has a habit of disconcerting his opposing center by humming rag time composition of his own. The Yale coaches complain that he is not aggressive enough. Head Coach Jim Rodgers says: "Cunha is too good natured to make a hustling football player. He wants to tell his opposing center a story or sing a duet with him."

Dangerous Hole.

There is a dangerous hole in the bridge on Ala Moana near John Eua's residence, Walkiki, that should be attended to as soon as possible. Several horses have barely escaped broken legs from this place.

Discipline in the 39th Infantry.

The 39th Infantry now in town, although very young, being hardly a month old, is one of the best disciplined regiments that has ever stopped here. The men, with hardly an exception, are well behaved and it is worthy of note that not one of the 39th was engaged in any disturbance last night. The action of the guard in shooting the colored sergeant, who was of the 25th Regiment, was clearly in his line of duty. The ultimate result of such discipline and such rapid judgment will be beneficial to Honolulu as one such object lesson to disorderly soldiers is worth a hundred lectures delivered by superior officers on "How to Behave."

Native Truant.

A native boy, about eight years old, was arrested yesterday by the truant officer for this district. On being questioned this morning by Judge Wilcox the officer answered that the boy had never been in a school and that he had not seen his parents about the little fellow. Thereupon the truant officer received a good sound lecturing to the effect that the parents, being taxpayers, should have been told about the matter.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Frightful Occurrence on Punchbowl Slopes This Forenoon.

Young Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Mueller the Victim—Played With Fire On the Stove.

Gertrude Marthe Mueller, daughter of G. Mueller, the German locksmith, aged one and one-half years, was burned to death at her home on Punchbowl slopes at about 8 o'clock this morning. The sad occurrence came about in this way: Mrs. Mueller had been busy with her cooking in the kitchen. Finding it necessary to go out for bread, the mother put little Gertrude and her older sister in the parlor together and bade them remain there.

The children found their way to the kitchen and when the mother returned the older one was crying aloud that something terrible had happened. Mrs. Mueller rushed to the kitchen and there found little Gertrude writhing on the floor with her clothes ablaze. The mother jumped into a tub of water and then snatching her child from the floor, held her to her dripping clothes, thus extinguishing the flames. Unfortunately it was too late. Dr. Herbert was called and, although he eased the poor little one's pains, he told the distracted mother that there was absolutely no hope. The child's burns were fatal. At about 9:30 o'clock little Gertrude breathed her last.

It seems that the little girl went into the kitchen and, opening the stove door, began to play with the fire. The flames caught her flimsy clothes which were soon afire.

DEMOCRATS IGNORE SILVER.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—The Chronicle, tomorrow, will say: "The first number of the Democratic National Bulletin, the weekly publication of the Democratic National Committee, will appear today, under the auspices of its new editor, Sam B. Cook. It will be chiefly remarkable for its failure to discuss the silver question, except in one or two unimportant paragraphs, which were inserted to justify columns.

"The articles which it will contain will deal altogether with trusts and imperialism, and it is understood to be Mr. Cook's policy to limit the discussion of public questions in the Bulletin to these two issues and matter affecting the national administration, so long as he performs the duties of editor.

"The significant thing about the omission of silver articles from the Bulletin is that Mr. Cook is supposed to be acting under orders from the chiefs of the national committee. He said yesterday, in speaking of his work as editor: 'I will endeavor, in preparing matter for publication in the Bulletin, to represent faithfully the ideas of a majority of the members of the national committee. The object of the Bulletin will be to disseminate ideas on current questions that are likely to be features of the next national campaign.'"

SALARY OF AGASSIZ.

Alexander Agassiz, of Harvard University, has never received any salary for his services to the Museum of Comparative Zoology. Between 1871 and 1897 he expended $750,000 of his private means without making any request to the college for even partial reimbursement. He is now on the Southern Pacific Ocean making deep sea explorations for the university collections.

SALICYLIC ACID.

Salicylic acid is an organic acid. It has powerful antiseptic qualities, prevents the souring of beer, also the development of bacteria contained in fluids. Applied externally it will remove corns and warts. TAKEN INWARDLY salicylic acid rapidly lowers the bodily temperature, reduces the pulse rate, blood pressure, and rapidity of respiration; some people being peculiarly susceptible to its action.

The Board of Health has condemned all beers containing salicylic acid. Among those proved to be free from this adulterant was the OLYMPIA BEER, sold by Larry Dee of the Hoffman Saloon.

Bishop Potter's Arraignment of Divorce

Bishop Potter in his notable arraignment of divorce said:

The whole subject has gained a new aspect from events to which I need not more particularly refer here, which have undoubtedly awakened in all sober-minded Christian people a profound sense of alarm; and the consensus of opinion among them as to the necessity of legislation which shall prohibit the remarriage of divorced persons, under any circumstances whatever, has greatly widened and deepened.

I am by no means sure that such a conclusion is not the wisest that we may reach at present.

These last (the institutions and obligations of marriage), have come to be so lightly regarded that now, at length, the least thoughtful among us are beginning to realize the vicious tendencies in some forty of fifty different commonwealths of our composite and contradictory legislation, and to recognize that the facility with which the marriage relation may be taken on and put off is a menace to the foundations of society and the jest of the civilized world.

It would be well that the Church should meet such a situation with a stern front, and with legislation which, so far as she is concerned, will make divorce increasingly difficult, if not impossible. But she must do a great deal more than that. It will be quite in vain unless we see to it that those reasonable precautions of forethought, inquiry, publicity and of intelligent understanding which once obtained have preceded it. These were wise precautions of our fathers, times, but that spirit of individualism which, in the case of the authority of the Church, would brook none of these things has swept them away, and a man and woman—a boy and girl, indeed, to all intents and purposes—may walk into the study of a priest in this diocese and be married out of hand without any license from the State or warning from the Church, or any other preliminary, in fact, than such as consists—must I say it?—in the sometimes very indifferent discretion of the minister. Believe me, no canon of marriage which does not reach back a good way in a precautionary discretion will be here of any substantial avail, and if we are aiming, as I hope we may be, to set a higher standard here, I hope it may be wide enough at its base to include aspects of this whole subject which in our current discussions of it are largely overlooked.

FOOTBALL SCORES.

Philadelphia, Nov. 4.—As had been anticipated, the university of Pennsylvania football team was defeated by the Harvard eleven in a score of 16 to 0, on Franklin Field this afternoon. Harvard deserved the victory, because she played the better game. At no time during the contest did Pennsylvania have a chance to win, and the crimson goal line was never even for a moment menaced by the players of the red and blue.

SHARKEY OUTGENERATED.
New York, Nov. 4.—George Siler, who acted as referee in last night's bout, said today:

"Sharkey put up a great fight, but he was outgeneraled by Jeffries, who fought a clean-cut battle and outpointed Sharkey throughout with the exception of a few rounds. Sharkey at times was aggressive and led often, but many of his blows which may have appeared to land on Jeffries went wide of the mark. Sharkey, in his desire to win, resorted to questionable tactics. It was the greatest heavy-weight fight I have ever seen, and I think it will be a lifetime before another such battle takes place."

CHOYNSKI KNOCKED OUT CAREY.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1899.

War is hell, but Honolulu will suffer no harm from an object lesson that occasions arise outside the firing line when a soldier justified in shooting straight,

According to all accounts of deliberations on Samoan affairs, the Peace Commission has retired into innocuous desuetude. The Commission's usefulness can be set down as ending with the forceful demonstration of the fact that peaceful administration of Samoa under the tripartite agreement is an impossibility.

With all due respect to the missionaries, we have to disagree that they have overcome all the evils of the contract labor system in Hawaii, as suggested by Rev. Mr. Emerson. This is a reminder of the American days when clergymen questioned the advisability of giving the workmen of the country the personal freedom which they now enjoy.

The decision of the administration to recommend the enactment of a resolution declaring the intention of the United States to retain the Philippines means that the flights of anti expansion oratory and long winded discussions will be scheduled early in the Congressional session. What Hawaii has to hope for is that the "retention" majority will be large enough to secure prompt action.

It is an open question whether placing Hawaii in the hands of a new Congressional committee on insular affairs will be an unalloyed benefit to the interests of these islands. If the move is made with the idea of creating territorial specialties with the result that Hawaii will be bunched with the possessions of conquest, our people will certainly raise objections. On the other hand should it foreshadow greater prominence of our affairs, more complete discussion and better representation, Hawaii will certainly be pleased to accept a place in the Insular committee.

While spheres of influence and open doors in China are an ever fruitful source of international correspondence, it is not surprising that Russia and France should renew their interest in the subject while Great Britain has troubles on her hands. The American firm reassertion that the nation seeks no influence in China other than secured through the open door serves to put a quietus on the European tendency to embarrass the British. The opportunity to pay the British debt for services rendered in the Spanish war has come earlier than was anticipated, nor is the American sympathy for Great Britain expressed solely in the refusal to take a part in the Britons difficulties with the Boers.

When Minister Lansing gets settled down to the affairs of his office, the question relative to the surplus is bound to come to him forcibly from the public. A contemporary has intimated that a liberal policy on Mr. Lansing's part will be viewed as a reversal of the conservative attitude taken by Minister Damon. We are inclined to believe that even Mr. Damon will favor loosening the public purse strings under present conditions. When Damon declared his policy, he had a surplus of about $750,000, and practically declared that he did not consider this too large to guard the country against losses sustained by changes in commercial relations with the United States. We do not believe Mr. Damon under present conditions would continue his previous ultra conservative course.

Would Make Our Religion Real

Dr. Minot J. Savage preached recently in the Church of the Messiah, Park avenue and Thirty-fourth street, New York city. The preacher said he wanted to make religion as real to his hearers as their bank accounts, their games of golf, their theaters. He said if he did not believe religion to be far more real than any of the things named he would neither ask his people to go to church again nor would he himself do so. He said in part:

I believe that if it is the people who are not attending church as much as they used to, it is because the Church has ceased to represent to them something vital, something which they can believe, something that they can love, something that they can worship, something which seems to them worthy of their manhood and womanhood. And if this be the case, instead of this supposed decay of religion being a sign of the decadence of human nature, it means an uplift and advance of human nature. It is no disgrace for a man to outgrow a partial and unworthy view of things, no matter how much it may have been revered in the past, provided he goes on to the acceptance and admiration of something that is better and finer.

People no longer believe that God is an irresponsible despot; they no longer believe He is going to send to eternal pain any honest man, or any dishonest man, for that matter; they can no longer hold such a conception of the Divine.

CHURCHES LOSING THEIR HOLD.
It is any wonder, then, if the statement is true, that the churches that hold to and still advocate these ideas are losing their hold—not on the masses, perhaps, not on the ignorant, not on the people who can be frightened, but on the people who think and who are brave and who dare—that it is from the very best classes of the community? It would seem strange to me if these churches did not lose their hold of this class of people.

But right here is the danger. I said a few moments ago that the Church and its advocates, its priests, its ministers, have been for a long time accustomed to associate certain rights and ceremonies and certain theological ideas with religion in such a way as to make an impression upon people that they and religion were one. And there are thousands of people who do not think and study enough, absorbed perhaps in their worldly affairs so that they cannot, to observe that this is an error.

Religion is a relation in which man stands to God, that is a relation which he can never escape, a relation which he must always try to better.

I want to believe, if I may rationally, that there is some purpose in the universe, and that my life is a part of some purpose.

And then at the end, when I dream again, as I did the other night, or when that dream becomes real, and I am looking with the eyes of expectancy out into the mist, conscious that I am dying, I want to believe if I can that there is a purpose even in that—that there is a life, infinite and eternal, in the universe, whose child I am, and that I can look into this mist, expectant of a face to meet and welcome and cheer me.

I do not say yet that this is a demonstrated truth. So I believe it to be; but if you leave the signification and meaning and heart and purpose and power of religion out of life, leave God out of life, then this great hope will fall, and we shall dread desolate earth, struggling against calamities as we may, with little hope, with no cheer, and feeling that life is something presented to us by a mysterious Power, but hardly worth the keeping.

Have there been any suggestions that even tend toward making religion seem a real thing? If there have been I do not ask you to come and hear me preach; I do not ask you to join this church unless these things accord with your intellectual convictions and the promptings of your heart; but I think I have a right to ask you not to think of religion as a temporary place of human thought; that it is passing away. I think I have a right to ask you to consider carefully before you let any and all other phases and interests of human life absorb your attention, so there is no place in it for religion. I think I have a right to ask you to find some place where you can work with your fellows in building up a grander, nobler, deeper, higher Church that is to be built on the ruins of the shaken theologies of the present time.

Hawaiian Ministers in Washington

The Washington Post gives the following interviews with the Hawaiian Ministers who included Washington in their itinerary:

Rev. James Kauhane, of Honolulu, a venerable statesman among the Kanakas, and for thirty-six years a member of the local legislative body, was one of the picturesque figures in the lobby of the Riggs House last evening. He has a patriarchal manner, and his hair and beard are almost white, while his skin is quite as dark as that of an African. Although identified with the missionary work of the islands since the early sixties, and widely respected as a conservative man and as a legislator, he does not look like a clergyman. For twenty-four years he served in the lower house of the Hawaiian Legislature, and for twelve years he sat in the local Senate, serving a portion of the time as its presiding officer. He speaks but little English. In the party with him are Rev. O. P. Emerson, a son of a missionary who came from New Hampshire; Rev. E. S. Timoteo, like Mr. Kauhane, a native Hawaiian; Rev. S. L. Desha, and Rev. J. M. Ezera. All are identified with the Hawaiian Evangelical Association, of which Mr. Emerson is secretary. They have been in Boston and are returning to Hawaii.

"Contract labor, about which so much has been said in this country, remarked Mr. Emerson, "is probably the best thing for Hawaii. The contract laborers are well treated. Our missionaries look out for them very carefully, and we know that the condition of the Asiatics who are brought to the islands is far better than in any other sugar producing country. The employers do not beat or kick their laborers, although naturally there are mean men among these employers, who sometimes annoy the Asiatics. The wages paid are fairly satisfactory, and on the whole there is little ground for complaint. Most of the troubles are on account of quarrels among the laborers themselves."

Mr. Emerson reports that there is a noticeable revival in missionary work in the islands. "We have received large endowments within the past year, and at present the situation, both from the missionary and from the political standpoint, is quite gratifying to us."

Mr. Kauhane, speaking through Mr. Emerson as an interpreter, said that his people had generally received the Americans with some distrust, but he thought that developments of the last few months had largely increased their confidence. "We are anxious," continued Mr. Kauhane, "to know what our future government will be. We hope that it will be a form of government in which our people will have some voice." The party will remain in Washington for several days.

ANGLICAN CHURCH SYNOD. At the meeting of the Diocesan Synod held last night, the following resolution for the establishment of an endowment fund for the Bishopric of Honolulu was adopted: Whereas, this Diocesan Synod has expressed, in a resolution touching the transfer of the See, its sense that "the interests of the Church in Hawaii ought to be duly and sufficiently safeguarded and its integrity maintained," and for the maintenance of that integrity the Church in Hawaii ought to be contributing to the utmost of its power; Resolved, That a committee be appointed under the presidency of the Bishop to raise an endowment fund for the Bishopric of Honolulu, towards which there is already in the hands of the S. P. O. the sum of £1,777.17.5; such committee to have power to add to such endowment. The following is another resolution placed on record: Resolved, That this Synod should instruct the standing committee to consult with representatives of the organization of St. Clements with a view to bringing it into such a position as shall entitle it to representation in the Synod of the Anglican Church in Hawaii. The following were appointed as members of the Board of Missions: Bishop Willis (ex-officio), Revs. E. J. H. Van Deerlin, A. Mackintosh and V. H. Kiteat, Commander Pond, U. S. N., and Messrs. Henry Smith and L. Aseu. The Synod will meet again this evening for the completion of its work.

TROOPS BEING FORWARDED. London, Nov. 4.—A special dispatch from Cape Town, dated November 2, says the Boers occupied Colesburg, Cape Colony, Wednesday, meeting with no resistance from the local police, who yielded to superior force. The sailing of the transports for South Africa loaded with troops is now an event of daily occurrence, but the departure of the steamer Kildon Castle from Southampton last evening merits notice, as she is the largest troopship in the world, and has more than 3000 souls on board, with their kits and weapons, balloons, bridge pontoons, machine guns, ammunition wagons and hundreds of tons of other military necessities. The vessel was launched on the Clyde in August last. She takes 29 officers and 827 men of the First regiment, 29 officers and 961 men of the Second Northumberland Fusiliers, and 33 officers and 425 men of various other regiments and branches of the service and a mascot goat presented to the Welsh regiment by her Majesty, the Queen.

TROOP TRAIN DITCHED. Salt Lake, Nov. 4.—A special to the Tribune from Evanston, Wyo., says: At about 4 o'clock this morning a section of the train carrying the Forty-second United States Infantry, which section carried seven coaches full of soldiers, en route for the Philippines, was ditched at a point about one and a half miles east of Castle Rock. Of the entire train the engine alone remained on the track. The tender first left the rails, and was followed by all the coaches. The accident occurred on a dug way, the bank being on the left side and forming the outer circle of a curve. Against this bank the entire train was jammed. According to the best information obtainable at this distance, the train was running down the Wasatch hill, with a double-header. The grade being very heavy at that point, the road engine was applying the air brakes, allowing the helper engine to run slack, causing the coupling pin to jump out between them. It is reported one of the soldiers was seriously injured and others badly bruised.

PUERTO RICANS PROTEST. Washington, Nov. 4.—A number of Puerto Rican merchants have lodged with the Secretary of War a protest against the action of the department in promulgating without notice an order placing pork, flour, bacon and codfish on the free list when imported into Puerto Rico. The order was issued on the 25th, to take effect at once, and it is claimed the effect has been well nigh to ruin a number of merchants who had recently put in heavy fall stocks. They paid the current duty thereon, under an understanding conveyed through the American authorities in Puerto Rico that there would be no change in the tariff pending the action of the United States Congress. It is desired that the department authorize a refund of duty on the articles imported prior to the promulgation of the order.

The Marshal of such other officer as he may designate will make the requisition, and all supplies will be subject to his inspection and approval. The contractor will be required to furnish suitable bond for the faithful performance of his contract. All tenders must be distinctly marked "Tenders for Supplies, Oahu Prison." LUDLOW MAY RETIRE.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Brigadier General Ludlow, governor of the city of Havana, cabled today to the War Department that he would leave for Washington today.

The coming of General Ludlow at this time is said to involve more than usual interest. At the Adjutant General's office, it is stated that the trip is for family reasons, and will be of brief duration. But in other reliable quarters it is believed General Ludlow comes at the request of the higher officials here, and that the conferences he will hold with the President and Secretary Root are likely to have considerable bearing on the question of appointing a civil governor for Cuba or a successor to General Brooke, as military governor.

CHICAGO BOER SYMPATHIZERS.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—A pro-Boer mass meeting, under the auspices of the Holland Society, which was temporarily abandoned two weeks ago, is being arranged now for Monday evening, November 13, at Central music hall.
 Within the next week a call will be issued to the American public by the society, asking contributions for the widows and orphans of the Boers who have given their lives in defense of their country.

FOSTER TALKS OF BOUNDARY.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The summary of this Government's case on the Alaska boundary, read last night before the American Geographical Society, by ex-Secretary Foster, reviews the history of the negotiations between Russia and Great Britain, and shows that the British only sought to prevent the extension of the Russian claims eastward of the Rocky mountains. The British government was then prepared to accept a boundary line 100 miles from the coast of the mainland.

Great Britain afterward succeeded in reducing this strip to a width of 10 marine leagues. Russia permitted a 10-year license to fish and hunt in the estuaries, but declined to make it permanent. That license was terminated at the end of the period, and Mr. Foster says is itself inconsistent with any interpretation of the treaty other than the complete sovereignty of Russia over not only the strip of mainland, but all the bays and inlets.
