LOTS OF OKOLEHAO

THERE IS A STILL NEAR KAHANA.

Collector Chamberlain Would Like To Locate It—Makia Gets Free Drink In Court.

The Kawailani okolehao case came up for hearing before Judge Estee this morning. The first witness for the defense, Peter Makia of Kahana, testified to having secured the okolehao for Captain Moses of the Kawailani, and declared that he had secured the stuff for himself at frequent intervals. There was a still in the mountains, from which he was supplied by a Jap.

Makia said that he knew okolehao when he tasted it, having used it frequently at Kahana. Attorney Ashford objected to his tasting the samples in court, but was overruled. Makia began to pour under instructions from United States Attorney Breckens to take as much as he wanted and then say what it was. "Don't take much," said the judge, and Ashford demanded that the drinks be small ones, as he wanted to cross-examine the witness.

Makia barely tasted the first bottle, and pronounced it the real thing. Then he took a fair swallow out of the second bottle and said that it also was okolehao. He had delivered it to the captain of the Kawailani, making him a present of a case of okolehao. Makia's attorney, however, said that he didn't know where it was made and couldn't say whether it had been made in the United States or not.

Collector Chamberlain identified the bottles and told of his having seized them on board the Kawailani. He said the stuff was 38 proof. He was given a chance by District Attorney Breckens to explain how it was that the bottles had been about half emptied. "We took some out for testing, analysis and so forth," said Chamberlain.

"More and so forth" than anything else, I suppose," remarked the judge. Chamberlain, however, said that he had not tasted the contents. He had an excellent reason, for a large cockroach was poured out of the bottle the first thing. After that the liquor was not popular. Gauger Webster tested the liquor in court, and reported its strength as given by Chamberlain.

During the examination of Makia's efforts were made to get some information as to the location of the Kahana still. Makia said that it was "in the mountains," and he had seen some of the machinery. He didn't know just where it was.

WELL KNOWN CASE BEGUN.

The hearing of the charge of seduction against Antonio Perry was begun this afternoon before Judge Wilcox. This case has attracted considerable attention and has been pending for some time past.

TOWES WAS LECTURED.

A. Towes, a hack driver, violated rule number 3 of the carriage ordinance. Officer S. Macy caused his arrest last Saturday night. This morning Towes was in the police court for trial. He declared that he had not intentionally violated the rule at all, but had inquired of Mr. Macy, when the latter told him to move on, where he should go. Instead of Macy giving him the desired information the officer had him arrested. Towes was indignant that he had been searched at the police station and put into a cell with a Chinese. Judge Wilcox lectured Towes severely and told him that it was because of his irascible temper that he had gotten into trouble again. The defendant was dismissed with the reprimand.

WILL RUN SATURDAY

RAPID TRANSIT TO THE WAIKIKI ROAD.

Very Quick Work in Laying Tracks. Plans for Many Others Extensions of The System.

Work on the Rapid Transit extension along King street is progressing faster than ever now, and it is stated that cars will be running on the new tracks by the end of this week. This will connect the Rapid Transit's present system with the Waikiki road.

Next Monday the suit of the Hawaiian Tramways Company, asking for an injunction to restrain the Rapid Transit Company from continuing to lay tracks on King street, comes up before Estee, but it is quite likely that all the work will be completed before the case is decided and it will be too late for an injunction. The tracks are down now beyond Thomas square, and the material for completing the road is on the ground almost that far. When the gangs of men ceased work on Saturday night ground had been broken for the laying of the roadbed to within a couple of blocks of the Waikiki turn. Large gangs were put on the road again this morning, and the Rapid Transit Company seems likely to establish a record for quick road-building.

The Rapid Transit directors have under consideration plans for building twenty or twenty-five miles more road yet. The system will eventually cover all districts, if the present plans are carried out and the directors are confident that they will go ahead, unimpeded by the efforts of Pain to stop their work.

It is proposed to reach the waterfront with electric cars, and to extend the system up Nuuanu to connect with the Pacific Heights road. Other extensions will be up the Punchbowl district, towards Kakaako and to Kaimuki. Property owners of Kaimuki are already trying to raise a bonus to induce the company to lay tracks there and as soon as the way is clear the road will probably be extended along Beretania street.

In the meantime Pain is fighting at every possible point. He has an appeal taken to the United States Supreme Court and has just begun another suit which will be taken to the same final tribunal. It is stated that he will have half a dozen appeals to that court before he is through, so that the litigation promises to last year. So far the tram company has achieved only one considerable success. That was the suit of the Sun Kwong Mau Company, by which the building of a road across the McCully tract was stopped and the Rapid Transit Company was prevented from reaching Waikiki. That case is now in the Supreme Court of Hawaii, on appeal, but the electric cars may soon be able to reach Waikiki on the widened Waikiki road, making the McCully tract line unnecessary.

ENDS ANNUAL TERM

SUPREME COURT WILL ADJOURN SOON.

First Term Under the Act of the Last Legislature—New Plans Work Well.

Chief Justice Frear announced this morning that the Supreme Court would adjourn in two or three days. The court has two motions to hear and two criminal cases, and will probably adjourn by Thursday, leaving quite a number of cases for the next term. The term about to close began last October, being the first under the act of the last legislature, which provides for one term per year, beginning in October and such other terms as may be considered necessary. The act was introduced in the House of Representatives by Robertson.

This morning the case of J. A. Magoon vs. C. Lai Young, appealed by the plaintiff, was argued, Thomas I. Dillon appearing for Magoon, and Lyle Dicksey for the defendant. Robertson and Fitch had motions to present, the latter's motion being in the case of Becky Fance, a motion to dismiss the appeal on terms. Both will be heard this afternoon.

The Supreme Court will probably hold a special term between now and October, as there is a good deal of business on the calendar. Since last October, the work has been more rapidly done than ever before, the court having held several sessions of a week or more, with adjournments during which decisions were handed down. It has been found that this plan works better than the old plan of set terms, fixed by statute. If no special term is called the next term will begin in October. The court still has a number of cases, submitted at previous sessions, under consideration.

HARD LOCK STORIES

ANSWERS TO SUMMONS FOR CONTEMPT.

M. G. Silva Reduced to $35 a Month Salary—Achi Cannot Pay a Mortgage.

Two hard times stories were given in affidavits addressed to the first circuit court this morning by parties summoned to answer for contempt in failing to carry out orders of the court. M. G. Silva said that he couldn't raise $250 and $60 a month for his divorced wife, and W. C. Achi said that money was so tight he had been unable to pay off a mortgage of $1,000 which he was ordered to pay over two months ago. In both cases continuances were allowed.

Silva declared that times were so hard that he had been reduced to a job as grocery clerk at $35 a month. At one time he had a business with which he was well able to support his family, but lately it was all the household could do to get along on $35 a month when all lived together. Now that the divorce proceedings have broken up the home Silva says it costs him $35 a month to live alone. He declared that he has no personal property and no real property on which he can raise any money, except at a great sacrifice. There is one sale of property he might have made. Mrs. Silva refused to release her dower rights, and the sale went through. Under these circumstances Silva says he cannot pay the fee of $250 ordered for Thompson and Farley, and cannot pay Mrs. Silva $60 a month. The case was continued to tomorrow.

W. C. Achi was summoned by Magoon in behalf of C. B. Maille, for failure to pay off a mortgage of $3,000 which the court ordered him to pay on or before April 23. Magoon filed an affidavit to the effect that he had made many demands upon Achi but that the cash had not been paid. Achi says in reply that he hopes to get the money but that on account of the "stringency in the money market" he has been unable to do so. "He does not intend to disobey the order of Achi but that the cash and Mr. Magoon knows it," says the affidavit.

Achi asked for further time, and the court gave him another week in which to raise the cash.

In the case of Lina Bailey vs. H. S. Bailey, Judge Gray ordered the payment of a contested fee of $25 for J. M. Vivas but refused alimony.

Judge Gray has made an order in the estate of J. McColligan, for the payment of $400 to Francis Della McColligan.

The report of C. R. Homenway, as master in the estate of George S. Houghtaling, insane, has been approved and a fee of $50 ordered paid to the master.

Portado has filed a petition to be allowed to practice law, asking that a time be set for his examination as to his qualifications.

The final accounts in the estate of Eva C. Spencer have been approved.

MICARTHY RESIGNS

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN ALSO STEPS OUT.

Says the Position Interferes with Business—Committee to Name Successor Is Not Completely Organized.

Col. C. J. McCarthy has determined to resign as chairman of the Democratic Territorial Central committee. McCarthy says that he is still a Democrat and will continue to work for the interests of the party, but that the position of chairman involves so much extra work that he cannot afford to keep it. As Kennedy has just resigned from the chairmanship of the Republican committee, this leaves both committees without a chairman.

The resignation of McCarthy's resignation may be delayed by reason of the fact that a number of members of the Territorial committee are away from this island, and it may be necessary to wait until they are heard from. On Hawaii the Democratic party has never been completely organized, though Palmer Wood was named as a member of the central committee.

Without any organization, however, the Hawaii set a considerable vote for Prince David, the Democratic candidate for Congress and several Democrats were sent to the legislature from Hawaii. The reason for the lack of organization was largely the fact that, as the campaign for the election of the territorial committee was being conducted from Honolulu, the formation of a territorial committee instead was authorized to carry on the work. The following is the list of members of the Territorial committee: Gabu, C. J. McCarthy, W. C. Wilder, J. M. Camara, S. K. Kaloa, C. B. Dwight, C. J. Campbell, Maui, J. L. Coke, John Richardson, T. H. Hayselden, Kanaal, W. J. Sheldon, J. M. Sims. At the convention held October 8, 1900, the representatives from Hawaii asked permission to name their members later. This permission was granted but it is not known whether they were ever named or not.

Of these members of the committee, not all are still members. J. M. Sims has left for Manila, and C. B. Dwight, who was road supervisor, was compelled to resign on account of serious ill health. W. C. Wilder is dead. This leaves but little of the Central committee, and there appears to be no committee existing that can receive and act upon McCarthy's resignation.

JAPANESE PUDD'N

HEAD WILSON

THUMB MARKS AND A CHRYSANTHEMUM LOVE AFFAIR.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT ALLEGED BY HUNISUI.

Taken Into Custody By Compatriots and Released When His Signature Was Attested in a Mark Twain.

Evidently Pudd'n Head Wilson has been translated into the Japanese tongue, but if this unexpected circulation has not been given to Mark Twain's work, then some studious Japanese boy has been using the work as a text book with which to learn English.

This morning Kondo, Agimura, R. Nakamoto and Matsufu were before Judge Wilcox to answer to charges of having falsely imprisoned Hunisui, another Little Brown Man. The case was quite interesting, not so much for the testimony that it brought forth as from the possible testimony that might be developed during the hearing. Hunisui testified that he was at the house of Nakamoto on the night of June 5. Nakamoto's sister had been advised by Nakamoto's sister to remain at Honolulu. Mdnisui said that he had, but Nakamoto and the other Japanese were not satisfied and said that the only way to prove that the witness had not told them a lie, was to interview the woman. Kondo invited Hunisui into the barber shop and the door was closed. After the return of the brother from the interview with the woman, it was learned that the woman had declared she intended going back to Japan.

Hunisui claimed that he tried repeatedly to get out but that the crowd threatened to "do him up" with bottles and hurt him. In fact, Matsufu had pulled his mustache, a fact which the witness seemed to remember with resentment.

Finally a paper which resembled a "Paper Justice," as Hunisui called it, was produced and the witness was ordered to sign this paper. The idea of signing the paper seemed to be that the witness would not be given his liberty unless he affixed his signature. Hunisui refused to sign but his life was threatened and finally, with a pistol aimed to pull Hunisui's mustache, the witness, weakened and signed.

Then the Pudd'n Wilson business was introduced. In order that the paper should be properly attested, the witness was required to stamp his thumb mark on the paper by the signature. After Hunisui had complied with this order, Matsufu demanded that another impression be taken as the first mark was not clear. This was done and Hunisui was then told that he would have to go out and get his own thumb mark. He was released but instead of getting his witness, hurried to report the matter to the police.

The testimony of the prosecuting witness was unsubstantiated however and the prosecution entered a nolle prosequi in each case after Hunisui had finished his testimony.

THE HEALANI BENEFIT.

A Host of Good Things Promised for June 28.

Preparations for the Healanu entertainment are in full swing rehearsal of some of the sketches to be produced having been already commenced. All of these have a distinctly local flavor and two of them "The Weather Man" and "The Great War" are entirely written with Honolulu surroundings and characters.

The first part will consist of an imaginary skit at the Healanu boat-house, the stage being set to represent an affair of that kind, while songs will be rendered by the pick of the town who have generously volunteered to come forward and help along the benefit for the club who hope to pay the draft due on their new shell in which they will row this year's races. The Myrtles have promised to help with a will and there seems little doubt of the affair becoming an unqualified success.

Among other numbers will be a musical act in which unexpected talent will develop and draw sweet strains out of musical glasses. Dan Renear and McDuffie will repeat the Weady-Agnew boxing match with variations and a prominent sportsman will referee. It is stated that there will be no need of police protection for the combat. Levetie Lockwell, W. D. Adams and Allen Dunn will appear in a travesty written for the occasion and a representation of the celebrated "Pretty Maiden sextette" will be given by six of the harmonizers of the Healanu joiners. All the members of the club will join in choruses.

STRUCK A HEAVY GALE

The German bark Anderschwan, which arrived yesterday for a long passage from Hamburg, struck a very heavy weather off Cape Horn. Her foremast, mizzen lower topsail, royal staysail, flying jib, fore lower topsail and topmast braces were suddenly carried away in a gale. For six days the seas were breaking over the boat and it was impossible for the cook to prepare any food during that period. The Anderschwan has a patent appliance in the shape of some machinery to brace the yards. This machinery has been put in several of the masts and by means of it, the three lower yards can be braced by two sailors without any trouble. It is a wonderful labor saving machine and proved a complete success.

ECLIPSE WAS SOLD

BROUGHT ONLY $7,000 AT SALE LAST WEEK.

Archie Young Secured the Boat—Will Operate Her—Something of Old Hawaiian Navigation Company.

The sale of the gasoline schooner Eclipse was consummated last Saturday for the sum of $7,000. Archie Young paid this amount which was slightly less than the upset price.

The sale was to have been a public auction and was conducted by Morgan at the Fremont wharf. The upset price was named at $7,200. Various shipping interests were represented and a representative from the Board of Health was also on hand. Nobody seemed desirous however of bidding as high as the upset price, so it was announced that the sale would be held on Tuesday the present week. Archie Young then announced that he would pay $7,000 for the boat, and this offer was accepted and the deal consummated, by which the Eclipse passed out of the control of the Hawaiian Navigation Company.

It has not been positively decided what will be done with the boat. One report is that she will be kept on the Hawaii and Maui run, and another report is that she is to be put on a Kauai run. Mr. Young will probably decide in a few days what disposition will be made of her.

The passing of the Hawaiian Navigation Company removes quite an interesting organization from the inter-island marine. In fact, the history of the company is very unusual from the fact that the earnings always were up to estimates yet the company gradually went to the wall.

To Captain D. H. Ward, formerly master of the schooner Rosamond, is due the credit of organizing the company. Originally M. McChesney & Sons and Allan Herbert brought the Surprise down here from San Francisco at a cost of about $15,000. The boat was put into the Kanai trade, but on her first trip to Honolulu, she was loaded too deeply with sugar and found to be leaking. Considerable of her cargo was damaged, the loss to the company being about $1,700. Other people interested in the matter and the Hawaiian Navigation Company was organized, and the Eclipse, another gasoline schooner, was brought from San Francisco. Her cost has been given as high as $31,000. She was put on the run to Maui and Kohala and Kona ports. She did very well, but had a collision with the schooner, her cargo was contributed to turn what should have been a profit into an actual deficit. The company was organized during the early part of 1900. Last year the Surprise was wrecked off Koloa, Kauai, and this left the company with but one vessel.

Captain Ward was highly impressed with the practicality of the character of craft. He figured that with reasonable regularity and celerity, the boats could be made to pay. Leaks appeared so frequently, that nobody seemed able to explain how it was, so much of the company's supposed profits were being eaten up. Numerous acrimonious meetings of stockholders were held, but no action that was taken seemed to have any beneficial effect. Captain Ward offered to take the Eclipse over to the Philippines when he was through here in March. He thought her well fitted for a profitable trade there, and he stood ready to guarantee a profit to her owners. But the controlling stockholders refused to let her go, and the history of the management was continued to the last chapter. In March the vessel would have been let out on a paying charter. In June after three more months of a losing career it is sold to pay the debts of the company.

Finally the Eclipse was turned over to the American Shipping Company, but after being operated by that organization for a few months, it was decided to sell the boat and clear up the indebtedness of the old company. No announcement has, as yet, been made regarding the matter of who shall be master of the boat. It is hoped that Captain Townsend, her master under the old company, will be continued in command of her, as he is one of the best of the inter-island captains.

GOOD FOR PAPA ITA

KILAUEA IS OFFERING SOME HOT ROCKS.

A Good Deal More Heat Than There Was In February But No Marked Changes Otherwise.

The conditions at Kilauea are thus succinctly stated: The volcanic conditions in Hawaii have not changed radically from those existing in February last.

Whether there has been any action at the summit crater is undetermined. Manager Waldron of the Volcano House states that he has seen neither fire nor smoke from that quarter; but a number of others, including E. O. Baldwin, the civil engineer, state that they saw smoke issuing from the top of Mauna Loa as late as June 12.

At Kilauea the outer crater is unchanged, except that the hot cracks on the side toward the Volcano House and extending north and south some 400 feet are hotter than they were on February 11. The rocks are a rosy red to within six inches of the surface, and a stick inserted into a crack bursts into flames in a few seconds. The indications are strong, judging from past experience that a lake will form at this point.

The chief scene of present activity is in the main central pit of Halemauama which was formed by the subsidence of a great lake late in 1894. This is still between 800 and 1000 feet deep, and approximately a quarter of a mile long, but gives evidence of a great contraction within its walls since February last. The flat floor of recently formed black lava then visible at the extreme bottom has disappeared. The debris slopes from the perpendicular walls to the center of the pit have radically changed their shape, and look as though they had been violently churned up. There are frequent slides and falls of rock from the walls and slopes of the pit, which echo up through the smoke with a sharp metallic sound, producing a weird, uncanny sound which makes one unconsciously move back from the edge of the pit.

There is an immense volume of smoke and sulphur vapor pouring out from the extreme bottom of the pit and from two spots about a third of the way from the bottom. This smoke column was plainly visible from off the Hamakua coast, 70 miles away, and could be seen as easily a hundred miles. There is molten lava visible in the pit, but it is fluctuating in quantity, about two-thirds of the way to the bottom, by reason of the great quantity of smoke, visible only intermittently. When it first appeared it ran down to the bottom of the pit in a magnificent cascade some 300 feet high, forming a lake. This has entirely disappeared under the falling walls and debris slopes, and only the molten lava on the side of the pit was visible.

The normal condition of Halemauama is the filling of a pit, the building of a cone over it, the formation of one or more lakes about the base of the cone or over the space previously occupied by a lake, followed inevitably by a collapse of the whole structure, forming a new pit. Since 1883 this has happened four times. The last collapse occurred in 1894. The filling process delayed longer than usual, has low begun, and the normal production of lakes, blowholes, flows and falls from the pit walls may be expected until the pit is once more full and overflowing.

A JAPANESE MORGAN

BARON SHIBUSAWA'S ALLEGED MISSION.

Said To Be Going To Discuss With J. P. Morgan a Combination of Pacific Ocean Steamship Lines.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Baron Etchii Shibusawa, multi-millionaire, the leading business man of the Japanese Empire and a peer of the realm, whose arrival in San Francisco was announced yesterday, says that he is traveling for pleasure, but there is every reason to believe that his presence in this city and in the United States presages an immense deal by which the carrying trade of the Pacific ocean is to be consolidated in just such manner as has that of the Atlantic.

Baron Shibusawa is on his way to meet Pierpont Morgan. That in itself is significant in view of the fact that a Washington dispatch of two weeks ago stated definitely that negotiations were afoot for the "Morganization" of the Pacific, but when it is remembered that the baron is accompanied by a full and extremely capable staff of secretaries, business men, engineers and interpreters; that he practically controls the destiny of the biggest Japanese shipping concern, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha (Japanese Imperial Mail) which has a large fleet of splendid steamers; that he is heavily interested in at least two other Japanese lines; that he controls the Ishikawajima Shipbuilding and Dock Company, the Hakodate dock; that he owns railroads and banks in the Empire of the Rising Sun as well as in the Hermit Kingdom of Korea, his visit to Pierpont Morgan takes on a complexion suggestive of big things.

Whether the baron understands English or not is uncertain, but at any rate he prefers to converse to newspaper men with the aid of an interpreter. "The baron says," replied the interpreter to a query as to the possibility of a combine of Japanese shipping interests with those of the Morgan syndicate, "the baron says that the Japanese subsidy laws would, he thinks, prevent Japanese ships from entering a sword cut."

"But the British subsidy laws are very strict, still the White Star, Cunard and other lines have gone over; the German laws are more strict, yet the Hamburg-American and the North German-Lloyd have entered the Atlantic combine. Are the Japanese laws more rigid than those of Great Britain or Germany?" was asked.

The baron's eyes were twinkling long before the question had been translated to him. "The baron says that he is pleased now that he is going to have the opportunity of studying the effect of the British and German shipping subsidy laws," replied the impulsive interpreter.

PRISONERS ESCAPE.

HILO, June 12.—The Hilo Road Board has found it difficult recently to secure competent guards for prisoners working for it. On May 31, two Porto Ricans, both wearing chains, managed to elude the vigilance of the guard, and cutting their chains got away. A few days later they were heard from in Keauau, and Officer Yobara and a native policeman were sent out to look for them.

Since the Hakalau mill was abandoned the prisoners formerly confined there have been kept in Hilo jail and assigned to such work as was necessary.

It is an established rule in the jail that when a prisoner escapes the luna over him is discharged. When the Porto Ricans got away the luna lost his job and was succeeded by another, who was on duty less than a day when Koko made his escape.

The police in Puna had information last Sunday that Francisco Lopez was in the vicinity of Kapoho. Several robberies had been committed and it was thought he was the guilty man.

A GIANTIC SWINDLE.

Swindling can be made into an art. The man who deals three card monte, the confidence operator, the green goods man, the confidence rogue, and dozens of such petty rascals are but mere bunglers. There is no real art in their work. Forgery, perhaps, when conducted on a large scale, sometimes rises above the general dead level, and there was some genius in the parson who some years ago managed to acquire quite a sum by extracting gold from sea water. But he was split upon by his accomplice. But these and many other schemes for getting money without working pale into insignificance before the gigantic swindle which has been carried on in Paris for the last twenty years, from which Madame Humbert and her confederates reaped $10,000,000 and cut the grandest kind of a spurge in the society of the capital.

Before the crash came Madame Humbert owned a mansion on the avenue de la Grande Armee, three chateaux in various parts of France, a hunting box, a one thousand acre vineyard, a steam yacht, carriages, horses, automobiles. In Paris she owned house investments, she was at the head of large wine business, she founded an insurance company, she owned property in Madagascar, land in the Caucasus, and 4,000 acres of vines in Tunis. She was a leader in society, and entertained nobility and even royalty. The great singers of the opera, the great actors and actresses of the capital sang and recited at her entertainments. Her picture gallery was famed for special collections of certain artists. Her husband was a deputy, her father-in-law an ex-minister of justice, and gold flowed from her coffers like water for twenty years.

And this prosperity, these estates, these chateaux, these parliamentary successes, these grand society fetes were based upon nothing, and the cash to carry on was obtained by loans from the most astute bankers and financiers in France with an extra million francs or two from London money lenders. It seems absolutely inconceivable that such a swindle could be carried on for so long a time, but the simplicity of it was probably what helped it to success, and the enormous sums involved helped to prevent an investigation.

The process invoked the law of France to assist in the swindle, whose provisions for the protection of litigants enabled Madame to carry out her scheme. Some twenty years ago Madame Humbert filed a will naming herself as sole heir to the estate of one R. H. Crawford, deceased, in the United States, and valued at $20,000,000 or 100,000,000 francs. There appeared two nephews of the mythical Crawford and produced another will to the mythical estate which divided the estate between Madame Humbert, her sister, Maria d'Aurignac and these two nephews. Upon this ground a contest was begun in court, and according to custom an order was issued directing title deeds securities and all papers involving the $20,000,000 were sealed up, and deposited in an enormous safe, also sealed by the court. In Madame Humbert's mansion.

Then the swindle began. On the strength of $2,000,000 of securities, sealed by the court, a few millions were easily obtained. Various ways by actions against one another the opening of the safe was delayed for twenty years, till the pressure became too great. Madame Humbert and her accomplices silently departed, and action was taken to break open the safe. It contained a few worthless papers and a piece of sham jewelry worth one dollar. There were no millions, and the various banks are trying to hide their losses.

All the various properties, the chateaux, the vineyards, the lands, had been mortgaged to full value. The Paris mansion had been sold, the pictures in the famed gallery were copies, the originals having been sold. The insurance company was a swindle. Never has there been such a gigantic scheme of swindling carried on with such magnificent success.

If these people have been so successful for so long a time, they must have prepared for themselves a method of retreat, and they will be hard to find, even though the police of all countries may be on the look out for them. A mind which could use the law courts to perpetuate the life of a swindle of such dimensions, must have thought out a perfectly safe avenue of escape.

There have been bank frauds, building society frauds, political frauds, but the palm for successful rascality ought to be given to Madame Humbert. But how she has misused her talents. What a splendid finished minister she might have made for Spain, Russia, Italy and other out at elbows states. She might have been Pierpont Morgan or Rockefeller and formed a billionnaire trust, and eased every one of his cash and securities.

The Board of Health is quite waking up to the subject of leprosy. After a period of quiescence it is now pushing forward a number of experiments upon the cure of leprosy. Tuatua is no longer passed by with a contemptuous smile, but is regarded seriously, and now Dr. Moore has come forward with the violet ray. The articles written upon the apathy of the medical section of the Board with regard to plans for curing leprosy seem to have had a wholesome effect.

Hawaii ought to be proud of her erst-while representative in Boston, Gorham D. Gilman is now an octogenarian. Mr. Gilman seems as active-minded as ever in spite of his eighty years.

Honolulu gets two good days' racing in June. There is no finer sport than horse racing. The races this season seem to have been admirably conducted and the sport has been thoroughly clean and satisfactory.

W. O. Smith read a thoughtful paper upon Municipal Government before the Research Club on Saturday. There ought to be considerable discussion of this during the ensuing six months or so. News upon this subject are certainly varied, and some are very crude.

The extreme closeness of the southerly weather is felt very much, especially by invalids. It is weather in which it is almost impossible to regain strength. There is no complaint about any heat wave in the temperate zone, indeed the month of May was phenomenally cold, and June did not open with great heat.

We talk of the enormous losses in the Boer war, yet the number of actual deaths in battle on the British side was a little over 20,000 in two years and eight months. The volcano of Pelee wiped out over 30,000 people in less than a minute. The forces of nature are far more destructive than the puny forces of man.

With the prospects of a diminution in the beet crop and the abolition of bounty, the prospects of cane sugar look up wonderfully. The Brussels conference was regarded at the time it took place as a victory to the cane growers, and the prospects of that victory are being realized more and more. The year 1903 will show a very different sugar market to what we see today.

The precinct clubs did not turn out very fully. In some cases there was no notification by the chairman, and no preparation for the accommodation of the members. There will have to be a good deal of personal work to bring the outside voters out of their homes. The interest will grow. Among our population political preparation a long time before hand is something new, but they must adopt American methods or get left.

The crop of 11,200 tons, which has been turned out by the Kapaa-Kealia plantation is 1000 tons above the estimate, and the owners must be very well satisfied with their season's work. It is much better to have an underestimated crop than an overestimated crop. The overestimated crops of last year sent some excellent investments down on the share list. Some managers might take a leaf out of George Fairchild's book.

Leviager Weedon and the merchants seem to have disagreed. The latter were under the impression that the lecturer and lantern slide man had an ample stock of material. As the lecturer wanted money for slides before he started on his tour which was to bring a golden harvest to our shores from the various Sunday schools, the merchants and the slide collector did not agree, and it might be just as well if the expedition should be called off.

The crew of the Dirigo was composed entirely of Hawaiians. The captain and the waterfront men consider it is the finest crew that has sailed out of the harbor for many a long day. The Hawaiian is a thoroughly good sailor, and in the whaling days was much sought after by the blubber hunting skippers. Hawaiians stood the cold up North as well, and even better than other nationalities. The practice of taking Hawaiian crews for the deep water ships will doubtless increase.

The illustrated papers are giving sketches of the West Indian ports. The towns are somewhat similar to what Honolulu was some thirty odd years ago. The scenery is extremely like that of Oahu and Kauai, but not like the island of Hawaii. There is a very curious painting extant by J. M. W. Turner, the great artist, of the eruption of Mt. Soufriere, St. Vincent, in 1812. Turner painted the picture from a sketch and notes furnished by an eye witness. In that eruption several sugar plantations were completely destroyed.

All that can be made out of the Kilauea news is that there is a great deal of smoke rolling up from the pit of Halemaumau, and that there is a spot of molten lava glowing in the depths. If this spot rises it will form a lake of lava such as we were accustomed to see in the sixties, seventies and eighties. The rocks are rolling down the pit sides, as they did shortly after the disappearance of the lava in the early nineties. There seems prospect of activity in the near future and a return to the display of the last century. If such becomes permanent or moderately permanent we shall have a regular tourist trade to see the wonder. It is foolish however to exaggerate conditions for they bring inevitable disappointment and eventually a turn in the tourist tide.

The Chinese merchants have brought pretty heavy charges against Consul Yang Wei Pin. If the result of Mr. Stackable's investigation should result in proving that Yang is connected with an opium ring, his career here will be brought to a summary close. The majority of his countrymen have very little love for the Chinese consul, and blame him for the imprisonment of their relations in China. They have consequently watched the acts of the consul very closely and have sent the result of their investigations to Secretary Hay. Of course there may be nothing in the charges, but that they should be brought by Chinese shows the bitterness between the progressive and the unprogressive Chinese. Of the latter the consul is a strong supporter.

GERMAN BARK ARRIVES.

The German bark Alderschwann arrived Sunday afternoon from Hamburg after a long passage of 163 days. The vessel was delayed principally by head winds and repeated calms. Three days after leaving Hamburg, she had to put back on account of the serious illness of Captain Giercke. After a week's delay in that port, she resumed her voyage with Captain Erdman as master. The bark was off Molokai June 6, but head winds kept her out of sight of Oahu. She sighted Oahu June 13, but could not get very close to this port, so Sunday morning, Captain Olson of the tug Fearless made a long trip out to sea and brought the bark in yesterday afternoon. The Alderschwann docked at the Irmgard wharf and will begin discharging cement and general cargo for this port, today.

THE PHILIPPINE BILL

CIVIL GOVERNMENT PROVIDED FOR FILIPINOS.

A Mint is to be Established in Manila. A 416 Grain Silver Dollar is Authorized—Bill of Rights.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The Philippine government bill, as passed by the Senate today, approves the action of the President in creating the Philippine Commission and the offices of Civil Governor and Vice-Governor of the islands, and authorizes the Governor and Vice-Governor to exercise the powers of government as directed by Executive orders. Future appointments of the Governor or Vice-Governor shall be made by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The "Bill of Rights" of the United States Constitution is applied to the Philippine islands, with the exception of the right to bear arms and the right to a trial by jury. The Supreme Court and other courts of the islands shall exercise jurisdiction as heretofore provided by the Philippine Commission, and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall be appointed by the President and the Senate, the others by the Civil Governor and the Commission.

The action of the President of the United States in levying and collecting taxes is approved.

All the inhabitants of the Philippine islands are deemed to be citizens of the United States.

When the insurrection in the islands shall have been subdued a careful census of the islands shall be taken, and after such census the Governor of the islands shall make a full report to the President and make recommendations as to future government.

Meantime the Philippine Commission is authorized to establish municipal and provincial government, so far and as fast as the communities are capable and fit for the same. The Philippine Commission being authorized to determine the qualifications for the election. The President is authorized to regulate the commercial intercourse with the archipelago in the interest of the general welfare.

The government of the Philippines is authorized to provide for the needs of commerce by improving harbors and navigable rivers, providing warehouses, lighthouses, signal stations, etc. All land in the Philippines is placed under the control of the Philippine Commission for the benefit of the inhabitants of the islands, except such as may be ceded for the use of the United States.

The government of the Philippines shall make rules and regulations for the disposition of the public lands, but the regulations shall not go into effect until approved by the President and Congress, provided that a single homestead shall not exceed forty acres, and also provided that no such land shall be leased, let or conveyed to any person until a law regulating the disposition of the public lands shall be enacted.

No corporation shall be authorized to engage in agriculture unless provision shall have been made therefor.

The bill provides in length how claims both agricultural and mineral shall be located, and the Philippine Commission is authorized to establish a mining bureau.

The government of the Philippine islands is authorized to acquire and convey title to real and personal property and to acquire real estate for public uses by the right of eminent domain, and the Philippine Commission is authorized to acquire the friar lands and is empowered to issue bonds to pay for them. These lands once acquired shall be a part of the domain of the United States and may be disposed of as such.

Upon the Supreme Court of the United States is conferred the right to review the decisions of the Supreme court of the Philippines.

Municipalities are authorized to issue bonds for municipal improvements with the consent of the President and Congress. The entire indebtedness of any municipality shall not exceed 5 per cent of the assessed valuation of property. It is provided that the bonds shall be sold at a discount and shall be free from any taxation. A sinking fund for the payment of the bonds and interest thereon must be provided by the municipality issuing them. The city of Manila is authorized to an amount not exceeding $1,000,000, to pay for a sewer system and water supply system.

The government of the Philippines is authorized to grant franchises and concessions, including the right of eminent domain, for the construction of works of public utility, provided that no private property shall be taken without just compensation; that no franchise shall be granted to any corporation that shall not be subject to review by Congress, and that all lands granted shall revert, at the expiration of the concession, to the government by which they were made.

No corporation shall be authorized to conduct the business of buying and selling real estate and the amount of real estate which shall be held by any corporation shall be determined by Congress.

A mint is to be established in Manila and coins authorized may be coined at the mint, the coinage laws of the United States being extended to the islands. The Philippine government is authorized to coin a silver dollar containing 416 grains of standard silver, to be a coin of the Philippine islands, the denomination of the coin to be expressed in English, Filipino and Chinese characters. Silver brought to the Manila mint shall be coined for the benefit of the depositor, the mint charging one cent for each dollar coined. The same coin may be made at the mint in San Francisco upon the request of the Philippine government, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, provided that such deposits at San Francisco mint shall be coined to silver produced in the United States. Subsidiary coins of silver also may be coined at the Manila mint under restriction similar to those regulating the coinage of the dollar. The dollar shall be legal tender in the Philippines for public and private debts, except where otherwise stipulated. Silver certificates may be issued for deposits of Philippine dollars in sums of twenty dollars or more. Other minor subsidiary coins are provided for.

The bill also continues the division of insular affairs of the War Department, the chief of which shall have the rank of a Colonel of the United States army.

WAYS OF BULLETS

QUEER ANTIQUES OF MISSILES AFTER FIRING.

Ordnance Officers Hold Interesting Discussion On the Effect of Bullets in Warfare.

When Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance, was before the Philippine commission there was a very interesting discussion concerning the effect of bullets when striking different substances. Gen. Crozier showed there was a marked difference in the effect of the bullets fired by the American troops in the Philippines upon different occasions.

"It is characteristic of the modern bullet when fired with high velocity," said Gen. Crozier, "that when it strikes in a semi-liquid mass it is likely to produce an effect very much like an explosion. For instance, soon after the adoption of the present service rifle in the United States army an escaping prisoner at Chicago was shot in the head by a sentinel, and the top of his head was blown off. Sometimes similar effects are produced by striking in the bowels or other soft portions of the body. In the case of which I allude, of course, the range was very close.

"An instance occurred in Porto Rico of exactly an opposite kind in the accidental shooting of an officer at very close range," continued Gen. Crozier. "He was fired at by a sentinel. The bullet passed through the bowels, ranging downward, as he was dropping to his knees when struck. The officer was well within a week and yet the man at Chicago had his head blown off, almost at close range. Those actions are difficult to account for. Not only does the bullet produce these curious effects in the soft portions of the body, but they are observed in the firmer portions of the body. I myself, in the Philippines, examined a Filipino who had been shot at thirty yards immediately after shot. The bullet entered the left side below the shoulder and passed out of the right side at the neck. Where the ball entered the hole was very small, while where it passed out it left a gash four inches long. It could only have been accounted for by something like a liquid mass having been forced out. The gash was longer than the longest dimension of the bullet."

These peculiar characteristics of the bullet used in the Philippines called forth an experience of Senator Dietrich. "I was up the 'Big Horn Basin,'" he said, "on a hunting trip. I saw a jack rabbit sitting on the mound which was thrown up around his hole. As he saw me he settled down into the hole, and I fired at him. I presume he was about 300 yards away. The bullet struck the earthen mound, the jack rabbit flew up into the air, dropped to the ground and remained motionless. An examination showed that the rabbit was dead and yet the bullet had not struck him—he had simply been killed by concussion."

Senator Carmack laughingly remarked that he did not believe the story at all. "Your prowess as a hunter is well established," added Senator Beveridge as he nodded to Dietrich, "when you can kill game without hitting it."

HOW IT WAS SECURED

DETAILS OF CONSUMMATION OF PEACE.

First Proposals Came From Boers But Was Rejected by British Who in Turn Offered Terms.

LONDON, June 2.—A parliamentary debate tonight gives the correspondence preceding the peace agreement. From this it appears that General Schalk Burger, Acting President of the Transvaal, informed Lord Kitchener March 12th that he was prepared to make peace proposals. A month later the Boer delegates submitted propositions for a peace agreement. On May 17th General Schalk Burger and Mr. Steyn informed Lord Kitchener that the burghers assembled at Vereeniging had empowered a commission to negotiate peace terms, subject to ratification at Vereeniging.

Lord Milner, Lord Kitchener and the Boer commission met May 19th. The latter offered to surrender the independence of the republic as regards foreign relations; to surrender part of their territory and retain self-government under British supervision. These proposals were forthwith rejected. The Boer commission then offered to surrender to the British the independence of the republic as regards foreign relations; to surrender part of their territory and retain self-government under British supervision. These proposals were forthwith rejected. The Boer commission then offered to surrender to the British the independence of the republic as regards foreign relations; to surrender part of their territory and retain self-government under British supervision. These proposals were forthwith rejected.

The last message of Lord Milner to Chamberlain, June 1st after the signing of the peace agreement, mentions that Steyn's name was omitted from the signatures because he was too ill to come to Pretoria, adding that he had already taken his parole.

General de Wet signed for the Orange Free State delegates, because Steyn nominated him "Acting President" on retiring from the conference.

Next month delegates from the local branch of the union will be sent to the annual meeting this year to be held at Lahaina.

In accordance with this resolution, no report is made of the subject matter of Mr. Soares' essay nor the comments concerning it in the animated discussion that followed.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

NEW YORK, May 31.—One was instantly killed and four other persons were hurt at Grassmere, Staten Island, today, where automobile speed tests were being made under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America, to break the world's record for a mile. The machine was nearing the finish line after its trial over the course, when the driver seemed to lose control of it, and it dashed into the crowd of spectators. All the injured were cared for at an emergency tent, and afterward removed to a hospital. Before the accident a sixty horse-power machine entered by E. E. Britton and A. J. Levy in class five, gasoline automobiles over 2000 pounds, made the mile in 55 1-5 seconds. The course was over a boulevard that extends from Grassmere to Newdrop, and about 5000 people gathered along the route. There were forty-nine entries, divided into eight classes.

MERCHANTS FAIR RACES.

In the event of horse races being arranged for the Merchant's Fair, to be held in conjunction with the agricultural fair, the events are likely to consist of gentlemen's driving races and pony races. The Hilo and Kaula string of horses will not be brought down after the Hilo racing. There is a probability of Waialea J. getting an exhibition mile.

BOYD GOES TO HILO.

Land Commissioner E. S. Boyd will leave for Hilo on the Kaima tomorrow. He goes to investigate the Puna homesteads and public lands in Kona and Kauai, in connection with a number of matters which are before the executive council.

MAKAWAO POLITICS.

MAKAWAO, Maui, June 14.—There has been little in the way of politics in this part of Maui as yet. No Republican precinct club meetings were held here last night, the Republicans preferring to nominate and elect their officers at one meeting, as the members have to travel such distances to attend the meetings.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
It will prove a good friend when you have a fresh cold, bringing immediate relief. You will find it equally true in old colds, bronchitis, whooping-cough, asthma.
And you will declare it "the best friend in the world" if you will use it for an irritable throat or weak lungs. It acts as a strong tonic, clearing up the throat, giving tone to the relaxed tissues, and greatly strengthening the lungs.
There are many substitutes and imitations. Beware of them! Be sure you get Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Races run and trotted under rules of the California Jockey Club and the National Trotting Association.

11 Five eighths' mile dash. Free for all. Purse $100. Rejected, b. h. a., by Sobrante—dam unknown, 121 lbs., C. McLellan. Del Vista, s. m. 5, by Imp. Del Mar—Playful, 119 lbs., W. G. Walker. Mollie Connors, s. m. 4, by Friar Tuck—Clara L., 117 lbs., R. Ballentine. Mollie Connors was made favorite at odds and started with a big lead. Del Vista ran her off her feet however and won, hands down, by three lengths. Time, 1:03 4-5.

12 Trotting and Pacing. 2:14 class. Best two in three. Weight limit 150 lbs. Purse $200. Cyclone, blk. g. a., breeding unknown, J. C. Quinn. Abdine, b. h. a., by Wilkes Dale—Woodnut, W. H. Smith. Wayboy, s. h. a., by Strathway—dam unknown, W. H. Cunningham. Cyclone developed a broken blood vessel in his preliminary warming up and was kept in his stall for the rest of the day. He would not start the most money. Abdine refused to perform satisfactorily and Wayboy took both heats in 2:38 1-2 and 2:23.

13 Hawaiian Jockey Club cup, first time contested for, 1 1/4 mile dash. Free for all. Cup to be won twice by same owner or stable. Purse $150. General Cronje, b. h., Imp. Martenhurst—Songstress, 124 lbs., G. S. McKenzie. Weller, s. a. a., by Netherelerster—Lizette Pickwick, 127 lbs., Prince David. Samuel Parker's Vidl entered to fill and withdrawn. Weller again was refractory at the start. The two kept on even terms until the half where the stallion opened up daylight. The hard track before the stretch bumped him severely and Piggott on Cronje, riding gamely and well, closed up the gap losing from Weller by a short head. Time 2:42. McAuiliffe reported Weller lame in the paddock.

14 California Feed Company's cup. Trotting and Pacing Hawaiian bred. Best two in three heats. Weight limit 150 lbs. Purse $150. Boswell Jr., s. h. a., by Boswell—dam unknown, Lihue Ranch. Boswell Jr. from the Lihue Ranch, Kauai, showed all his old gameness and some of his speed, winning the two first heats, and the race without a challenge from the favorite, Leahl, or the others. Time 2:34 1-2 and 2:39. Edith R. and Madeline were announced distanced, although there was no flag out, but were allowed to start in the second heat. Boswell Jr.'s age is variously stated at from 19 to 22 years.

15 Three quarters of a mile dash. Free for all. Purse $100. Del Vista, s. m. 5, by Imp. Del Mar—Playful, 119 lbs., W. G. Walker. Carter Harrison, b. g. a., by Imp. Watercross—Lucille Murphy, 121 lbs., J. O'Rourke. Mollie Connors, s. m. 4, by Imp. Friar Tuck—Clara L., 117 lbs., R. Ballentine. Carter Harrison, withdrawn. Mollie Connors again received considerable support but failed to connect. Del Vista winning by all she pleased in 1:16.

16 Trotting and Pacing. 2:24 class. Best two in three heats. Purse $200. Weight limit 150 lbs. Cyclone, blk. h. a., breeding unknown, J. C. Quinn. Directress, s. m. a., by Director—Elmo, William Norton, Edna G., b. m. a., by California Nutwood—standard mare by Guy Wilkes, John Callan. Los Angeles, b. g. a., breeding unknown, M. H. Drummond. Sambo, b. z. a., breeding unknown, John Ouderkirk. Oak Grove, b. g. a., by Dexter Prince—Odette, D. H. Lewis. Sambo was made favorite against the field for even money, his owner backing him quietly but extensively to win. There was nothing in the race but Sambo, Edna G. seeming disinclined to work and Los Angeles lacking the speed. Directress as usual was refractory. Time of heats 2:21 1-2, 2:21.

17 Honolulu Brewing Company's Cup. A new trophy. 1 mile, handicap. Free for all. Purse $100. Nullah, s. by Imp. Aintree—Lady Augusta, G. S. McKenzie. Weller, s. s. a., by Netherelerster—Lizette Pickwick, Prince David. Carter Harrison, b. h. a., by Imp. Watercross—Lucille Murphy, J. O'Rourke. Nullah 104 lbs., Weller 126 lbs., Carter Harrison 129 lbs., changed to Weller 122, Carter Harrison 116, by executive committee. No race. Weller was withdrawn on a veterinary's certificate of lameness and McKenzie took out Nullah, the weights of the other entries having been changed from handicapper's figures without consulting him. Carter Harrison galloped round to regain entrance money. The cup was offered to Carter Harrison if he could break the record mile of 1:42 4-5 and Amarino's colt was made ready to run him in on the last quarter. Carter Harrison needed a companion for the round trip to bring out his speed however and the idea was abandoned.

18 Lemp Stake. Untrained horses driven by amateurs. One mile, one heat. First prize, $50 cup and barrel of Lemp beer added. Second, third and fourth prizes, barrels of Lemp beer. Fifth prize, barrel of Lemp beer to be opened and distributed in the paddock. Sixth, $5 driving whip given by G. Schumann. Luster, driven by D. H. Davis, owner G. P. Kluegel; 1. Wisteria, W. S. Bellina, owner F. J. Turk; 2. Nettie H., driven and owned by W. A. Allen; 3. Grandfather, driven and owned by C. H. Bellina; 4. Faro Bank, driven by Dr. W. T. Monsarrat, owned P. McDonald; 5. Hoopa, driven and owned by R. Rycroft; 6. Telephone, C. Holt, owner W. Holt; 7. Tom Ryder, driven and owned by Frank Vila; 8. Billy, V. Richardson, owner H. Armitage; 9. Walter P. Prince Cupid, owner Prince David; 10. Walter P. was entered for the fun of the race not competing for prizes. Tom Ryder was favorite and sailed ahead at the start. Luster kept on his feet for the first time in his track experience, caught the old horse at the three-eighths post and won in 2:31. Nettie H., starting a dozen lengths behind, responded gamely to her owner and driver's efforts and came along to third with a big burst of speed. The mare could and should have had the race on even terms. Local horsemen have generally expressed their appreciation of McKenzie and owners from the other islands in bringing their strings to Honolulu, thus making the running races possible and all the racing more interesting.

SMOKED PIPES OF PEACE.

English residents celebrated the ratification of peace in South Africa by making patriotic speeches and singing patriotic songs, Saturday evening at a smoking concert held in San Antonio hall under the auspices of the Sons of St. George. J. Catton was chairman, the other speakers being R. A. Jordan, Judge Stanley and Attorney General E. P. Dole. The national beverage, beer, flowed freely and an interesting program was given in song and story by various Britishers. The pipe of peace was much in evidence during the evening.

WORK DONE BY LORD KITCHENER

WHAT BALFOUR SAID OF HIS SERVICES IN THE COMMONS.

WHAT THE COMMONS THOUGHT AND DID.

A Stirring Eulogy Of The Man Who Brought The Boer War To A Successful Close.

LONDON, June 5.—In accordance with King Edward's message to the House of Commons yesterday, the Government leader, A. J. Balfour, in the house this afternoon, asked for a vote of £50,000 to Lord Kitchener. As a remarkable coincidence, Parliament on June 4th, three years ago, voted its thanks and £30,000 to the same General for his services in Egypt.

Balfour, in supporting the motion, referred to Lord Kitchener's rapid promotion. He said it had been given to few public servants to compass so much work for their country in so short a time as Lord Kitchener, who was Commander in Chief in South Africa and was Commander in Chief designate of India. He found the army in South Africa in a state of disorganization consequent on the ill-success that attended the British army at the early stage of the campaign, and he executed his duty with admirable energy and skill.

But it was not until Lord Roberts left that the claims of Lord Kitchener to the gratitude of his countrymen reached their present magnitude. Lord Kitchener had to meet with unique difficulties. He had erected no fewer than 4000 miles of blockhouses, and in the conduct of the campaign had fertile mind, resourcefulness, boundless courage, energy and resolution, and to these qualities Great Britain owed the termination of the war. Few English Generals had contended with greater difficulties, and few had emerged from them in a more triumphant and brilliant way. Balfour concluded with formally moving the vote of £50,000.

The Liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, who seconded the motion, paid a warm tribute to Lord Kitchener as a soldier and statesman.

John Dillon, Irish Nationalist, led the opposition in behalf of the Nationalists. Dillon said he and his friends absolutely opposed the policy of the war in South Africa, and the conduct of the campaign, which involved wholesale devastation of the country, the burning of farms and sacrifice of life.

Henry Labouchere, advanced Liberal, also opposed the vote. William Redmond, Irish Nationalist, caused a scene of great disorder by remarking that Lord Kitchener would go down to history as a General who had "made war on women and children." This remark called for loud cries of "withdraw" and appeals to the chairman to call Redmond to order. The chairman said the expression used was not disorderly, but a majority of the House refused to listen any further to Redmond, and interrupted him with all kinds of shouts.

Redmond said he desired to repeat that Lord Kitchener was responsible for the death of 15,000 children, and that he had warred on women and children. That was his absolute conviction, and he refused to withdraw the words. The country was living in an atmosphere of hypocrisy. When a man spoke the truth he was gagged.

Redmond's remarks were almost unheeded owing to the uproar caused by the cheers of the Irish Nationalists and the protests of the members of other parties. The chairman replied to Redmond's appeal for a fair hearing that it was impossible to control the House, to which his speech appeared distasteful.

After a quarter of an hour spent by Redmond in an endeavor to get a hearing, the closure was moved and adopted, and the grant to Lord Kitchener was carried by 380 to 44 votes. The minority consisted of Irish Nationalists and two or three Radicals.

When Balfour arose to move a vote of thanks to the officers and men of the army of South Africa, the uproar was renewed by the Irish-Nationalists as a protest against the treatment of Redmond. The speaker of the House of Commons, William Court Gully, thereupon asked them to desist, in the interest of freedom of debate, to which John Redmond retorted that it was exactly in the interest of such freedom that the Irish-Nationalists protested.

Balfour was then allowed to proceed. He said there was no exact parallel for the motion. Never before had Great Britain sent so vast an army beyond the seas, never before had she fought such a great campaign without allies, and she never had been so aided by her volunteer and colonial troops, whose valor and humanity he praised.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman seconded the motion. Balfour's motion, which included an expression of condolence with the bereaved, was adopted by 382 to 42 votes. In the House of Lords the Premier, the Marquis of Salisbury, warmly eulogized the colonial troops, and a vote of thanks was adopted.

SUCCESSFUL VAUDEVILLE. Sutton-Cogill Combination Takes Public Fancy.

The Sutton-Cogill Company opened to a crowded house on Saturday evening and soon put themselves in rapport with their audience.

The whole program was presented in clean, artistic fashion the various turns readily catching on. Harry Cogill was forced by hilarious listeners to unwind several turns of his song repertoire and made a big hit with "Khaki." He has a happy individuality as a comedian and is decidedly a feature of the show. Dave Gaston, in impersonation and dances of the Dan Leno order, was close behind him in popularity and laugh producing, finishing his turn with an artistic exhibition of Hungarian dancing.

The "Gaiety Girls" proved a clever and bright little sketch that brings many laughs with its absurdities. "The Booking Agent" furnished an opportunity to Cogill and Maie Arlea for funny stories, burlesque work and graceful dancing that was made the most of by the team. The ladies of the company are young and pretty with graceful figures that materially enhance their various turns. Rose Aquinaldo made a decided hit with a very graceful exhibition, entwining dainty limbs and body in positions eminently the reverse of natural. Alina Sarina posed most effectively while balancing herself on a rope and performing on the trapeze. Aimee Tasma, named apparently for Tasmania, introduced a novelty in an aerial wheel and executed what is technically termed a "split" on the high wire with apparent ease and enjoyment.

Delia Ross and Lena Harvey entertained skillfully with songs and dances while Altro the tramp juggled with the laws of gravity and various commonplace objects in a fashion that won for him an instantaneous hit. He also developed musical abilities in exhibiting the latest musical monotony, extracting tones by milking some innocuous looking strips of wood suspended from a wooden frame. All in all, the entertainment was highly successful and enjoyable and the combination should secure good houses for the balance of their short season.

LOOKED INTO PELEE

PERILOUS TRIP OF KENNAN THE EXPLORER.

Spent Twelve Days Amid the Convulsions of Nature To Get a View of the Devastating Crater.

FORT DE FRANCE (Martinique), July 3, 1 p. m.—George Kennan, accompanied by Messrs. Jaccaci and Varian, arrived at 11 o'clock this morning, after an absence of twelve days.

Professor Heilprin, Mr. Kennan and Mr. Varian have ascended Mont Pelee. They stood on the very edge of the crater and looked down on the incandescent mass within. The ascent was made last Sunday, and it was the second time Professor Heilprin climbed the mountain.

Kennan said: "Five of us started for the crater of the volcano last Sunday and three of us reached our object. We crossed Lake Palmiste, which is now a desolate, bowdlered and huge jagged rocks of trachyte, rhyolite and andesite. We then climbed on up and reached the edge of the crater. We found it to be a huge chasm or crevasse, with perpendicular walls. We could not see down into the crater more than 150 feet. It was like looking into a white hot furnace. The chasm opens out toward St. Pierre, and the enormous columns of steam cut off the view in that direction. There were hundreds of fumaroles all about us. What was thought to be a cone of cinders in the crater was learned in reality to be a huge pile of gigantic rocks piled up one upon the other. There were crusts of sulphur everywhere, but we saw no ashes or cinders in or near the crater. The whole vast bed of the old crater of Lake Palmiste is emitting steam through thousands of crevasses.

"The ascent to Lake Palmiste is up a long and sharp incline, covered with these ashes. These had been soaked with the rain and as we proceeded there were terrifying gorges full of volcanic debris on each side of us. Every footstep dislodged ashes and out footing was most insecure. There were clouds of smoke, through which the sunlight swept at intervals. The ascent was the most terrifying experience of my life, yet Professor Heilprin, the previous day, had sat enveloped in darkness on the tip of what was once Lake Palmiste and had descended in a thunderstorm of volcanic clouds and almost complete darkness.

"The itinerary of our party," continued Mr. Kennan, "was as follows: May 23 we went to Vive plantation, the home of the Hermonde Clerc. Vive is on the River Capote, into which flows the River Fallaise from the new crater. Vive is in the new volcanic area and our position there was very dangerous. "May 24th.—Went to Basse Pointe by way of Morne Rouge. Our party was the first to make this trip. We followed the old road to the point where the volcanic tornado had swept. From there we followed down the track of the tornado. The spectacle here was appalling. There were numberless bodies on every side.

"On the night of the 26th occurred the great explosion of the volcano. All that day Mont Pelee had been vomiting masses of yellow mud-colored vapor. We now know that this was a serious explosion. We heard fearful detonations during the 26th, and huge columns of black smoke, alive with lightning-like and terrifying flashes, rose from the crater. One column which rose to the height of a mile and a half was lit up like fire by the fierce reflection from the incandescent matter within the crater. The population of Vive plantation became panic-stricken at the eruption and went to Aiea, two miles further away. Mr. Jaccaci and I returned to Vive.

Another enormous explosion occurred on the morning of the 28th, and Vive was declared to be untenable. We all abandoned the plantation and, taking furniture and provisions, went to Aiea, which from that date was our base. The 30th we tried to ascend to the crater from this side along the Cale Basse divide.

"From the crest of the divide we had a wonderful view into Fallaise valley, which was a tremendous seething gorge of terrible volcanic activity. We were driven back by a severe thunderstorm.

W. R. CASTLE, JR., Secretary and Treasurer.

"On the 31st we returned to Aiea, and at 6:30 o'clock in the evening Professor Heilprin and Mr. Ledbetter came down from their splendid attempt to reach the rim of the crater. Professor Heilprin said he and Mr. Ledbetter had been enveloped in volcanic clouds and a thunderstorm and they, therefore, did not reach the actual edge of the crater itself.

"On Sunday, June 1st, the five members of our party, Professor Heilprin, Mr. Ledbetter, Mr. Jaccaci, Mr. Varian and myself, started to make the ascent. Mr. Jaccaci came down with mountain fever and Mr. Ledbetter became exhausted. They did not reach the crater."

Mont Pelee is quiet today, but great volumes of steam are issuing from the volcano. The lower mud craters, however, are still pouring forth torrents.

PRINCE OF MONACO.

PARIS, June 2.—A dispatch received this afternoon from Monaco confirms the report published by the Petit Journal this morning, that at the instance of the Prince of Monaco, the courts of the principality decreed the judicial separation of the Prince and Princess of Monaco, who formerly was Alice, Dowager Duchess of Richelieu, a daughter of Michael Heine, a banker of New Orleans, La.

Prince Albert of Monaco is a descendant of a long line of noble ancestors, which goes back to the founding of the house of Grimaldi in mediæval times. In addition to his questionable fame as a ruler of a principality chiefly noted as a Mecca for gamblers, Prince Albert has gained considerable reputation as a student of hydrography. Princess Alice is his second wife, his first being Lady Mary Victoria Douglas Hamilton, who was separated from him by the Pope in 1889, and soon afterward married the Count de Festetics. The Princess was Miss Alice Heine, daughter of an immensely wealthy banker of New Orleans, and was the widow of the Duc de Richelieu when she married the Prince. Her name has been frequently connected with that of a poor musician named De Lara, whom, it has been said, she would marry when freed from the Prince of Monaco.

ISLAND SHIPPING NEWS.

The ship Henry Villard hauled into Kahului last Friday and began discharging coal. The schooner James Rolph arrived at Eleese on Saturday to load sugar for San Francisco.

SATURDAY'S BASEBALL.

Unsatisfactory baseball was played by all four of the competing teams on the Kahala campus on Saturday afternoon. The Artillery in particular, first fell to pieces and then gave a childish display of temper and carelessness that sent many of the crowd away before the game was over. The Customs won the first game from the Panahou Athletic Club with a score of 13-7 and the H. A. C's piled up 26 to 4 against the men from Camp McKinley. The regular umpire, Lieutenant Newton was on duty and unable to officiate, Lieutenant Jones taking his place.

BASKET BALL.

The women of the university of Nebraska have conducted a basket ball tournament open to the women's teams of the state. A candelabra was the prize.

CHOLERA MORBUS A DANGEROUS DISEASE.

In many instances attacks of cholera morbus terminate fatally before medicine can be procured or a physician summoned. The safe way is to keep at hand a reliable medicine for use in such cases. For this purpose there is nothing so sure as Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. W. E. Bosworth, of LaFayette, Ala., U. S. A., says: "In June, 1900, I had a serious attack of cholera morbus and one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy gave me relief in fifteen minutes." For sale by all druggists. Benson, Smith & Co., general agents.

BALDNESS is the result of a diseased scalp. Nine times out of ten it is dandruff. At first the hair falls very little, but gradually continues until one spot is bald, then follows baldness.

PACHECO'S DANDRUFF KILLER applied at the beginning would have saved the hair, by cleansing the scalp, removing the dandruff, keeping the scalp in a healthy state, and the hair firm at the roots, a few days' use will prove its virtue.
