

WHO INVESTIGATED CARTER?

Was There a Hatter Spying On Him?

WHAT THE NEW YORK SUN SAYS

The New York Sun's account of the resignation of Governor Carter contains a statement that "it is known that a quiet investigation" of Carter's administration has been going on lately. The Sun, on the day that it published the cabled news from Honolulu that the resignation had been sent, had a dispatch from its own Washington correspondent and some of its own New York matter on the subject, in which was the following:

"Judge Carter, who was a personal friend of President Roosevelt, has been unpopular in Hawaii for some time, but his resignation is a surprise. Hawaiians in New York said last night that it is not likely he resigned of his own initiative. He has always seemed to enjoy the entire confidence of President Roosevelt, who gave him practically unlimited power of making appointments. Nevertheless it is known that a quiet investigation of his official acts has been going on lately."

The Sun's review of the situation, after a brief biography of Carter, has the following:

"From the first he met much opposition, mainly among Americans not native to the islands, who said that he governed on the plans of the old monarchy. It was his custom, they charged, to require all his appointees to write out their resignations and hand the mover to him as soon as they took office. His appointment of Judge Hartwell, a relative by marriage, to the Supreme bench, added to his unpopularity."

"The situation in Hawaii is very complex and tangled. The three elements—native Kanaka, missionary and immigrant American—are continually at cross purposes. Resident Americans from the mainland have always declared that no native of the islands, whether white or Kanaka, can govern successfully, owing to the tangle of relationships brought about by the close intermarriages of the prominent families."

Among those, at present residents of Hawaii, who are talked of as possible candidates are Supreme Justice Dole, Henry E. Highton and W. R. Castle, Governor Dole, who was somewhat unpopular at the time of his retirement, has grown in favor since. Highton and Castle are attorneys in Honolulu."

"The Sun's Washington correspondent says that Carter's administration has been entirely acceptable to the President and to the Interior Department."

"STANDARDIZED" PORTABLE HOUSES

ARE BEING ERECTED FOR WIRELESS PLANT AT THE NAVAL STATION.

In addition to the wireless mast that is being erected at the Naval station, two novel houses are being put together at the station. They are what is known as "standardized" portable houses. They arrived here by the naval transport Lawton some time ago. The houses were built on the mainland according to a special model especially intended to be located in remote places where the construction of houses would be difficult.

One of the houses consists of an operating room, three bedrooms, a kitchen and dining room. The other structure is the power house and will contain a 20-horse-power gas engine. These houses are also equipped with furniture and various household effects. The erection of the house is being accomplished practically without hammer or nail, the various sections being so arranged as to be bolted together.

It is not unlikely that should some other site be selected, they would be again taken apart and transferred to the new site.

Watching The Russians At Manila

(Associated Press Cable to The Star).

MANILA, P. I., July 7.—The Russian sailors interested here with the squadron of Admiral Enquist, are very sullen out of sympathy for the Black Sea mutineers. The monitor Monadnock as a precautionary measure, was anchored in the vicinity of the Russian squadron in Manila Bay, for the purpose of preventing any attempt on the part of the Russian sailors to escape from this place with the Russian ships.

Bombardment Denied

THEODOSIA, July 7.—The report of this place having been bombarded by the battleship Potemkin, is denied. The mutineers on the battleship seized coal from a British ship and then departed from this city, evading the Russian fleet which was coming in pursuit.

TAFT IN 'FRISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—Secretary of War Taft inspected the harbor fortifications of San Francisco Bay and in the afternoon went to Berkeley and addressed the University faculty and students.

TO GET SETTLERS

PLANTERS' ASSOCIATION PROMPTLY COMES TO THE ASSISTANCE OF THE BOARD OF IMMIGRATION IN THE EFFORT TO SECURE A SUPPLY OF LABORERS OR IMMIGRANTS FROM EUROPE AND OFFERS A SUBSTANTIAL SUBSCRIPTION.

The Planters' Association held a meeting yesterday on receipt of a letter from Chairman Atkinson of the Board of Immigration, and promptly decided to assist the board in securing immigrants from Europe, offering a contribution of $2,000 for an agent of the board. The following reply was received by the board this morning:

"Mr. A. L. C. Atkinson, Superintendent of the Board of Immigration, City."

"Dear Sir: Your letter of July 3, addressed to Mr. F. M. Swanzey, President of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, was considered by the Trustees of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association at a meeting held this morning."

"We are pleased to note that the Board of Immigration plans to send a representative to the Eastern States as suggested by Commissioner Sargent and outlined in your letter."

"The Treasurer of the association is authorized to contribute to your Board the sum of $2,000 for the purpose outlined in your letter, and have appointed a special committee to ascertain their requirements for American and European labor and the inducements that can be offered for such labor. This committee will take up the matter at once and will supply you the information requested as soon as it is obtained. The gathering together of the information will probably take time and it may be some weeks before the matter will be placed in your hands. Yours truly,

"WILLIAM O. SMITH,
Secretary Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, by E. D. M."

"This was an answer to the following letter sent by Atkinson after the last meeting of the board:

"P. M. Swanzey, Esq., President H. S. P. A., Honolulu."

"Dear Sir: The Board of Immigration of the Territory of Hawaii, recently created by act of Legislature, has organized and is now ready for work. I am instructed to request from you the following information:

THE TAFT PARTY

Stanley Dollar May Be Worse Up Against It

SOME PEOPLE ARE OF THE OPINION THAT SHE HAS LAID HERSELF LIABLE TO FINES THAT WILL AGGREGATE BETWEEN $50,000 AND $60,000—KEPT PROSPECTIVE JAPANESE PASSENGERS ON BOARD WHEN SHE HAD NO PASSENGER LICENSE.

People who have been looking into the Federal statutes governing shipping are inclined to think that if a purely technical point were to be raised against the S. S. Stanley Dollar, that vessel would be liable to fines which would aggregate between $50,000 and $60,000.

The vessel has no license to carry passengers and this is the reason for her being held up so long in this port, but in spite of her not having any license, she has been housing Japanese passengers or boarders of whatever else they can be called since June 28. The vessel arrived in Honolulu June 27 from Yokohama, the intention being to take 600 Japanese passengers to the mainland. The Japs went aboard of her the following morning but during the day the troubles of the vessel began and some of the Japanese left her in order to save wharfage fees and to prevent the remainder of the Japanese from leaving the vessel she hauled away from the wharf into the stream. According to the statements of the owner of the craft between 500 and 600 Japs were on her when she went into the stream.

It is now held by some that in taking the Japanese aboard and keeping them there when she had no right to take passengers even though the craft merely went into the stream, a technical violation of the law was committed. The fine for each passenger is $100 so when the passengers are numbered by the hundred, it will be readily seen what a costly proposition the mistake might be. However the matter is purely a technical one and so far as is now known, the authorities do not intend to press the charge against the vessel, but there are some who are of the opinion that the vessel has laid herself liable to a seemingly countless number of fines.

NO APPEALS FROM PROPERTY TAXES

BOOKS ARE OPEN FOR PUBLIC INSPECTION BUT THERE HAVE BEEN NO OBJECTIONS SO FAR.

Although the books in the assessor's office have been open for inspection since the first of the month, there have not yet been any appeals from the amount of property tax assessed on the different citizens. Property taxes for the year 1905 will become due in September and will be in default after November 15. The books are now open for inspection by the public and will remain so until a week from Saturday, July 15. Appeals may be filed up to Thursday, July 20, when they will be considered by the appeal board.

In order to have the fiscal year end June 30, a change will be made in the collecting of taxes next year for the first six months' tax will become due and payable May 15 and after that the full year from July 1 to June 30 will be collected.

KAMAAINA DIES ON THE COAST

MRS. KEOMAILANE KENWAY PASSES AWAY AT WRIGHT'S STATION, CALIFORNIA AGED 76.

News of the death of Mrs. Mary Ann Keomailane Kenway, an old kamaaina of Hawaii, in California, was received by yesterday's mail. The deceased died at Wright's station, Santa Clara county, at the home of her oldest daughter, Mrs. M. M. Wilson. The deceased was born in Honolulu and was 76 years of age at the time of her death. She leaves ten grandchildren and ten great grandchildren and has a number of relatives in Hawaii, among them being Alfred Kenway and Mrs. C. F. Bush of Honolulu.

Mrs. Kenway left Honolulu when a child of 12, for China on board a vessel with Captain and Mrs. J. O. Carter, father and mother of J. O. Carter of today. She returned to Hawaii later and in 1888 left Hilo for California and has resided there since then.

ADMIRAL WHITING REACHES AGE FOR RETIREMENT. WASHINGTON, July 7.—Rear Admiral William Henry Whiting will retire on Saturday.

Rear Admiral William Henry Whiting was born in New York City but was appointed to the naval academy from Wisconsin in 1860. He served on the Hartford in the West Gulf Squadron, 1863-5, and received honorable mention from Admiral Farragut in general orders for gallant conduct at the burning of the blockade runner under the guns of Fort Morgan on the night of July 5, 1864; was given honorable mention by the captain of the Hartford at the battle of Mobile Bay; was at the surrender of Fort Gaines; hauled down the Confederate flag and hoisted the United States flag; was at the surrender of Fort Morgan; served on the Kearsarge after the war; successively commanded the Saratoga, Kearsarge, Alliance and Monadnock. In 1899 Admiral (then Captain) Whiting was on duty at the Norfolk Navy Yard. In 1902-3 he commanded the Honolulu naval station. He married one of the Misses Afong in 1897. From Honolulu he went to take command of the Yerba Buena training station in San Francisco bay. Rear-Admiral Whiting was in Honolulu recently on his way to sit in a court martial at Manila. While here he fell from a street car and received a serious scalp wound that necessitated his return to the States.

FRENCH SUBMARINE CREW LOCKED IN LIVING TOMB.

PARIS, July 7.—The submarine torpedo boat Farfadet has gone down in Tunis harbor. The twelve men of her crew are imprisoned in her, but are still alive.

Ever since David Bushnell, in 1771, constructed the first practical submarine boat inventors and naval experts have been pressing all their energies toward the perfection of this type of war machine. Although at the present time submarine navigation may be said to have reached a highly developed state it is still far from perfection as the frequent occurrence of horrible disasters plainly shows. As far back as 1864 the U. S. S. Housatonic was blown up by the Confederates submarine David, which was sunk with her crew of nine men, by the explosion of her own torpedo. Some months ago the periscope, which is the eye of the submarine, of the British "A 1" was struck by a steamer and the submarine went to the bottom. When the craft was raised some days later her crew was found, suffocated in their living tomb. The face of the dead commander was pressed against the glass window of the coming tower as if looking for the help that never came. Another British submarine went down in a similar manner soon after and just a month ago "A 8" foundered in Portsmouth harbor after three explosions. Fourteen men went down in her. On account of these numerous disasters it has become difficult to get men to man the submarines in time of peace, though in time of war doubtless there would be many volunteers. The United States Submarines Grampus and Pike, now at San Francisco, have had difficulty in getting crews.

ANTI-GRIPPE TABLETS.

There is no guess work about this remarkable cold cure. They cure colds, grippe and dengue quicker than any other known remedy.

Another important thing to know about them is, they are safe to take; they will not cause ringing in the ears or nervousness.

During the siege of dengue there was an immense sale for them as far as we know no one had the dengue if they took Anti-Grippe Tablets at the first symptom. In one house where there were twenty-four people only one had dengue. He didn't take the tablets, the others did and broke the disease up at the very start. Anti-Grippe Tablets have a sale in many parts of the world. Read this

The Usury Scandal
There has been a great deal come to light within the last few weeks regarding the pay and what becomes of it, of an apparently large class of Territorial employees. Most of it is in one way or another discreditable to the employees. They are shown to be weak, improvident, and under the searchlight of what County Treasurer Trent disclosed last night, some of them at least, dishonest. These qualities cannot any of them improve the quality of service they render the public, and according to Treasurer Trent, they have added actual expense to the public in the matter of clerk hire to look after garnishment and assignment of warrants.

It is probably true that the proportion of public employees who belong to the class which is just now brought into prominence in connection with charges of usury, with petitions in bankruptcy, with garnishments and assignment of warrants, is not as large as it seems. No doubt the larger proportion of public employees live within their means, and render good service to the public. It would therefore be unjust to these to put all in the same class. But certainly the whole body of public employees have been brought into disrepute, by the weakness or worse, of some of them, and it is time that the Territorial authorities took up the matter of cure, as the County authorities have very wisely taken up the matter of prevention.

It is no credit to the Territory that garnishments and assignments of salary warrants are so numerous and on such a wholesale scale as to require the services of extra clerks to look after them. It is no credit to the service that public employees have not drawn their own salaries for months. It is no credit to the service that public employees are filing petitions in bankruptcy avowedly to escape the clutches of the money lenders. It is no credit to the service that the Attorney General's Department finds a condition of affairs which justifies it in giving its departmental services to free employees from the entanglements of usury. Above all, it is not creditable to the service that employees get friends to bring collusive garnishment proceedings against their salaries months in advance, for the purpose of defeating or delaying the claims of creditors.

There is something radically wrong in all this, and it calls for prompt and adequate treatment and handling at the hands of the heads of departments.

There are no doubt occasional circumstances where a series of misfortunes seem to overwhelm leaving the usurer the only recourse. But even in these cases, a reputation for honesty and fair dealing would have made such recourse unnecessary. For the usurer, after all, only exacts what the business demands, and though he exacts much, it is because in the business he has to insure himself against all the casualties of death or dismissal from position, besides those of weakness, duplicity, dishonesty, and delay, and these not alone in the individual with whom he is dealing, but in the class. For as in every business, the losses incurred through the bad risks have to be made up by the profits accruing through the good.

But aside from the occasional cases of misfortune, weakness and improvidence are the broad gate and the wide way that lead to the usurer. Weakness and improvidence are not recommendations to public, or any other employment. No man can serve two masters, and when a public employee is found to be serving the usurers, except in the very exceptional cases, he ought to be dismissed from the public service. It would not take long before such a policy vigorously enforced, would put an end to the business of the usurer among public employees.

In the next place, though this would require action on the part of the legislature, neither the Territorial nor the County government should be liable as garnishee. That the Territorial government has allowed itself to become liable makes it an exception among governments. It is the almost universal rule that governments of no kind, state, county, municipal or federal, are liable as garnishees. No federal employee in this Territory can have his salary garnisheed, and no public outcry of any abuses growing out of this fact has been made, while the federal service has certainly escaped the scandals of the usurer which the Territorial service has experienced. It is true this would prevent the just creditor from getting his dues by means of garnishment. But if the debtor is honest, and able to pay, garnishment will not be necessary, and if he is not honest, Treasurer Trent has shown how he can, and how many of them do, defeat the claims of the just creditor.

But the scandal has grown to such proportions, apparently, in every branch of the Territorial service, that it is high time heads of departments, for their own credit and reputation, put an end to it. The County government is very wise in seeking to prevent any such scandal in its own service.

The Mutiny Of The Nore
For the present state of affairs in the Russian navy, with the crew of at least one battleship in open mutiny and many others so anxious to rise and overthrow their officers that those officers dare not put to sea with them, there would seem to be but one historical event which can be considered as a parallel. This was the rising known in British history as the "Mutiny of the Nore," an event which concerned not merely one ship but practically a whole fleet. The Nore, as everyone knows, is the broad estuary of the Thames and on the fleet guarding the Nore lay the prime duty of protecting the English capital from an invading fleet. What then must the horror of the sleek and wealthy citizens of London have been when they learned that on May 20, 1797, the fleet had mutinied! Such however was the case. Led by an able seaman named Richard Parker the men laid a respectful petition for better treatment before the admiral and had been rebuffed with a promise of condign punishment for their presumption. The fire that had been smouldering then burst into flame and at seven bells in the dog watch the men of the whole fleet rose. Barricades were built across the decks and these were defended by guns slewed round from the port-holes and trained aft. Terms were offered the officers by the mutineers and were haughtily refused for these were the days when an officer was considered as of entirely different clay from the common seaman and to parley with a sailor at all was not to be thought of. But these were also the days of the press-gang, and abominable as was the press-gang, it had the effect of bringing aboard the ships many men of vastly superior intelligence. Such a man Parker, the ring-leader, appears to have been. He had calculated the effect that the mutiny would have on London and the suggestion that a fleet from Portsmouth should be sent to destroy the mutinous ships at the Nore could not be tolerated for the simple reason that a conflict would so cripple the British navy that the country would have been left open to an invasion by the French.

There were conferences and the terms asked by the men were to a large extent met and on June 13 the mutineers surrendered. Parker and two or three others were hanged at the yardarm of their vessels on June 30 after trial by court martial and other leaders were "flogged through the fleet," a process which consisted of their being taken aboard each vessel in succession and whipped, but these men were martyrs to the cause of human liberty and undoubtedly more for British supremacy at sea than was for many a long year recognized.

News traveled slowly in those days and the Briton was never a quick thinker, but when it was brought home that the man on whom the people depended for safety were half-starved by thieving commissaries, that they were robbed of their small pay, that they were flogged for the most trivial offences and generally treated as brutes, the national conscience began to awaken and the era of reform set in. It was no easy matter to reform the old state of affairs, but much was accomplished even in the following eight years which preceded Trafalgar.

The parallel with the Russian conditions today is almost exact, insofar as it concerns the treatment of the men. The Russian captains have the purchase of supplies for their vessels and anything that they can "knock down" by the purchase of inferior or inadequate goods in considered a legitimate perquisite. The Russian sailors are treated worse than dogs by officers accustomed to look on the lower classes as serfs and not as human beings. They are kicked, beaten or starved without trial or hearing—is it wonderful that the example of the Nore has been followed in the Black Sea?

That the fate of the Russian mutineers will as surely resemble that of the leaders of the Nore mutiny seems certain, indeed it seems certain that it will be more general and infinitely more severe but—and here the great question arises—will Russia take heed of the warning as England did over a hundred years ago? Will she institute the necessary reforms now or must the great Slav race have to struggle through more darkened years of mutiny and rebellion before the light dawns?
There is a standing reminder of the Mutiny of the Nore even now aboard British ships. Seven bells is never sounded in the dog watch. The bells in the first dog watch, from four to six in the afternoon are sounded as Chicago is boasting that during one week in June there were only two suicides. The average weekly number for the past ten years has been seven and a half.

The battleship Potemkin mutiny does not look like an impromptu affair. The man chosen as commander is apparently preserving discipline and is evidently able to handle the vessel. She is one of the world's best battleships, being, as stated some days ago almost a sister ship of the Ohio. Never before has such a fighting machine been in the hands of mutineers.

The faith in Carter's success in persuading Roosevelt to accept his resignation is diminishing every day.
A few more libels and legal entanglements and Stanley Dollar might as well board a mail steamer and leave his vessel here for the lawyers.

Counts of Honolulu take the place in Italy of the "large Hawaiian plantation owners" in the United States.

The report that Carter was to succeed the late John Hay has been knocked out by the appointment of Root.

The czar saved one fleet from the Japs, but it begins to look as if he would be better off without it.

It is pretty rough on Count Montresor of Honolulu and Verona but he might as well be told the truth at once. His title to the Countship of Honolulu has hopelessly lapsed so far as the Montresor family is concerned, and it is now borne by Prince Bert Peterson in addition to other honors.

DEPARTMENT HEADS FURNISHING BONDS

ACTING GOVERNOR ATKINSON CALLING FOR BONDS AS REQUIRED BY THE NEW LAW.

Bonds for Territorial officials are being taken by Acting Governor Atkinson, in accordance with the new law which requires such bonds. The law was passed in the last session of the legislature, and provides that the governor of the Territory shall settle the amount of the bonds, provided that no bond for a head of a department shall be for less than ten thousand dollars, and no bond shall exceed the greatest amount of money an official giving bond shall have had in his possession at one time during the year previous to the date of the bond.

Under these provisions the acting governor fixed the bonds of Surveyor Wall and Attorney General Andrews at $10,000, and each produced a bond of the Pacific Surety Company for that sum. Bond for $15,000 were furnished as asked for by President Pinkham of the Board of Health and Superintendent of Public Instruction Davis.

The bonds as furnished have been submitted by the acting governor Attorney General Andrews, for his approval of the form thereof.

The bond of Superintendent of Public Works Holloway was fixed at $25,000, but Holloway had a kick to make, on the ground that he never has more than six or seven thousand dollars of public money in his hands at once. The amount of Pratt's bond and Campbell's bond are also unsettled as yet.

The law allows the governor to require bonds of other Territorial officers and under this provision a number of subordinates in the departments are being required to furnish bonds. Those who have already filed bonds are Secretary Rodgers of the Board of Education, $5,000 and Miss Daisy Smith of the Education office, $2,000.

SETTLES MANY EJECTMENT SUITS

JUDGE LINDSAY GIVES A VERY IMPORTANT DECISION IN MAUI LAND CASE.

Judge Lindsay this morning gave a decision which if it is sustained will finally settle a number of ejectment suits. He granted a non-suit in the case of W. R. Kaleoekokei vs. the Wailuku Sugar Company, a case which has been on trial for about three weeks, before a jury. The plaintiff closed yesterday afternoon, and argument was had over a motion to direct a verdict for defendant. The motion was granted this morning. The land involved is a part of Wailuku Plantation and is worth about $50,000.

The title was claimed by plaintiff, as in a number of pending cases in Honolulu and elsewhere, through C. Kananui, who died in 1875, leaving no child, wife, brother, sister, father or mother. Under these circumstances it was claimed that his estate reverted to his grandparents, two of whom were living, and it is by descent from his grandparents through various families that all sorts of claims have been made. Many of them have been successful and the estates have been turned over and settled long ago, but if the decision now given is correct these awards were error.

Judge Lindsay's decision is based on the fact that the law of Hawaii, the statute of 1859, as it stood at the time of Kananui's death, did not make grand parents heirs in case their grand children left no nearer heirs. The laws remained in such shape until 1877, when it was changed to its present form, under which it is admitted that the Kananui claimants would have good cases. C. W. Ashford appeared for plaintiff and noted an appeal. Kinney, McClanahan and Cooper are attorneys for defendants.

DISMISS BOYCOTT SUIT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—J. D. Spreckels Brothers & Company yesterday dismissed their suit against the Riggers and Stevedores' Union to enjoin them against boycotting. The suit was dismissed because the Union disavowed the action of individuals and ordered them to return to work.

No Count Of Honolulu In Hawaiian Records

SEARCH OF THE RECORDS OF THE REGISTRAR'S OFFICE WHERE THOMAS BROWN WAS REGISTRAR FOR MANY, MANY YEARS, FAILS TO DISCLOSE ANY RECORD THAT WOULD THROW LIGHT ON THE STRANGE INQUIRY FROM VERONA.

The gentleman of Verona who calls himself D. Montessor and who claims to be Count of Honolulu in succession to his father "Governor General" Maccarri Montessor, has puzzled the Honolulu officials with the letter which he sent to Acting Governor Atkinson. It seems strange that for all these years there has been a "Count of Honolulu" residing in Honolulu and nobody here knew nothing about it, but such is the fact, that is, that nobody knew anything about it. Not only that, but the very name of Maccarri Montessor does not appear on any of the public records here, so far as a search through all but the police records showed this morning.

According to the communication from the present "Count of Honolulu" now in Verona, his documents bear the signature of one Thomas Brown and it is interesting to note that Thomas Brown was once registrar of conveyances in Honolulu. His signature was found attached to hundreds of records in the Registry Office and with the offer of finding a grant of any description to Maccarri Montessor, a Star representative went through the records from 1845 to 1888 to day. The name did not appear at all.

"The whole business is easily understood by any one who remembers Mo-

BROUGHT TROOPS FOR HONOLULU

TRANSPORT LOGAN ARRIVED THIS MORNING AHEAD OF TIME WITH INFANTRY COMPANIES.

There was quite a surprise this morning when the transport Logan from San Francisco, made her appearance. She was not expected until tomorrow morning and when a transport was sighted, the first thought was that the vessel was the Sherman from the Orient. The Logan left San Francisco June 29 and came down in record time, her run being in about 6 days and 17 1/2 hours. The voyage was uneventful the weather being fine throughout the entire run.

Particular interest was attached to the arrival of the vessel as she brought the new military companies to be stationed at Camp McKinley. They are Companies L and M of the Tenth Infantry and number 121 enlisted men. The officers are Major R. V. Van Vleet, Captain Rosa L. Bush, Captain J. B. Schoeffel, Lieut. James S. Young, Jr., Lieut. J. G. Hannah, Lieut. J. B. Schuman, Lieut. H. M. Cooper and Lieut. M. M. Garrett. The companies have been stationed at the Presidio, San Francisco since 1903.

Lieut. Clarence K. Lyman the first of the cadets from the Hawaiian Islands to become an officer in the United States army, arrived on a visit to his parents.

Although the vessel sailed between mail boats, she was not given the mail, as the postal authorities evidently expected the S. S. Doric due this afternoon from San Francisco, to beat the Logan to port.

As through passengers to the Phil-expired the lease went to Jesse Makinai. The latter gave permission to the men to take fish from the pond but the Chinese claims to have secured a renewal of the lease. The arrests were made so as to bring the case into court.

"1st. What are the requirements of the plantations for labor, such as Italians from the north of Italy, or Portuguese from the Azores and Madeira Islands; that is, how many of those laborers could at the present time be assured employment on the plantations?"

"2nd. What inducements is your association prepared to offer such laborers in the way of a permanent home on the plantations?"

"3rd. What wages are you prepared to offer to them, and what other inducements can you offer, such as water, fuel and medical attendance?"

"It is the intention of this Board to send some suitable person to the eastern part of the United States and go to the mainland of Europe in order to make careful investigations as to the possibility of getting laborers from those sources. Such a person, under our Board of Immigration law, would be empowered to advertise extensively, the advantages of this Territory and the opportunities offered to intending emigrants. For that reason we should like to receive a definite reply to the above questions before sending any agent to Italy or to any other part of the mainland of Europe.

"We are, however, in favor of taking immediate action in regard to sending some one to the Eastern part of the United States to make a careful study of the situation there and to find out whether emigrants who reach the eastern ports would make suitable laborers for these islands, and also to ascertain whether there would be any practical method for transporting them.

"As you are aware, the Legislature has made no appropriation for the carrying out of the work of this board and we are obliged to depend on subscriptions. If you approve of our plan for sending some representative of this board to the eastern states, as suggested by Commissioner Sargent, then we would respectfully request from you a contribution sufficient to enable us to carry out that purpose.

"Yours respectfully,
"A. L. C. ATKINSON,
"Superintendent of the Board of Immigration."

The Board met at 11 o'clock in the executive chambers, and the correspondence was at once taken up. Commissioner Carden expressed doubts as to whether $2,000 was enough to accomplish anything in the way of bringing laborers here.

A motion was made by J. P. Cooke that the superintendent be authorized to ascertain whether E. E. Paxton will represent the commission in the United States and America as an agent to investigate the possibilities in the way of securing laborers or immigrants.

E. D. Tenney, in reply to Carden's remark as to the amount, stated that all that was necessary was to make an investigation and not to bring laborers back.

"Two thousand dollars is enough to send a man for a month or two," said Atkinson. "He must be free to use his judgment and investigate and the better the man the better the results we shall have."

Tenney suggested that if Paxton would consent to go a better man could not be secured. He thought Paxton would be able to do much better if he were a member of the board. "I propose to resign and would suggest that Mr. Paxton be appointed in my place," said Tenney.

Atkinson said that the Board regarded Tenney's judgment as very valuable, and Cooke remarked that he might have to resign soon and that Paxton might be named in his stead. "I may be fired and perhaps he will be Secretary of the Territory," said Atkinson. Atkinson said the discussion was out of order, and the expense discussion was resumed.

Tenney said that $2,000 ought to be enough, that the agent was "not going to buy anybody," and it was agreed amid laughter that there was no lobbying to be done. The motion authorizing Atkinson to act for the board in securing the services of Paxton if possible was unanimously adopted.

J. P. Cooke said that the Planters' committee was a live one and would get to work at once, though it might take some time to gather the information required from it.

The matter of an assistant secretary was brought up, and the name of C. R. Buckland was mentioned, but no definite action was taken.

TECHNICAL ARRESTS OVER POND LEASE

SIX PEOPLE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY SO THAT MATTER CAN BE SETTLED.

Six well known Hawaiians were taken into custody this morning by Detective David Kapas on complaint of Wong Kui who charges them with unlawfully taking fish from a pond in Kailua. All of the men were released by order of Sheriff Brown to appear in court. They were D. Kuphea, W. H. Kakuawai, Launahale, Abener Wiliki, J. Kapaoa and John Samoa. The arrest of the men was a technical affair and was done to determine the matter of a lease to the particular fish pond. The Chinese leased the pond and his lease expired last June. According to the terms of the lease, so it is claimed when his term of rental

THE FRICK REPORT

The report of the Frick Committee on the management of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, is the key to an understanding of the most remarkable controversy that has ever raged within a financial institution of its character. No controversy within such an institution has ever received the widespread interest and discussion that this has. The keenest interest in it has been manifested in this community. The Star will therefore publish this report in full, in convenient instalments from day to day.

VIII.

The committee, upon the receipt of these communications from Mr. Hyde, notified all of the persons named by Mr. Hyde as members of the syndicates whose operations he detailed, and invited their respective statements relative thereto. So far as responses were received they are filed herewith.

The committee also made the following requests for information from Mr. James W. Alexander:

"The committee has instructed me to inquire of you especially in regard to the allegation that Mr. James H. Hyde, first vice-president of the society, had from time to time purchased, without proper authorization, securities for his party: when this practice upon his part first came to your knowledge; and what steps, if any, you took to bring this alleged practice of Mr. Hyde to the attention of the executive committee, the finance committee, or the board of directors of the society.

The committee also especially desires to know when you were first informed of the fact that securities belonging to the society were held in the name of James H. Hyde and were utilized by him for the purpose mentioned in your letter, and what steps, if any, you took to bring this matter to the attention of the executive committee, the finance committee, or the board of directors.

This inquiry is intended to extend to each case specified by you in your letter of May 2, 1905.

The committee would likewise have you explain the process by which the society's funds were drawn from its treasury to pay for securities whose purchase had not been previously authorized, and also whether the securities of the society standing in the name of Mr. Hyde, to which you refer, were originally issued in his name or transferred to him subsequent to their purchase, and if transferred, by whom.

The committee will thank you to inform it how, under the charter and by-laws of the society, investments are authorized for the society, and what officers are the proper officers to conduct the negotiations and see that the society receives the thing which it purchases. Also, whether in the practice of the society the legal rule governing such matters has been deviated from by others than Mr. Hyde, and if so, by whom. In a recent communication received from Mr. Hyde he states that you were a member of various syndicates whose operations were conducted under the name of "James H. Hyde and Associates," and that you participated in the distribution of the profits of those syndicates to the extent named in Mr. Hyde's communication, a copy of which, in so far as it bears upon this subject, I herewith enclose you.

Very respectfully,

H. C. FRICK, chairman.

To this communication the committee received a reply from Mr. Alexander, dated the 13th of May, 1905, a copy of which is filed herewith. In this reply Mr. Alexander does not claim to have brought the irregularities of Mr. Hyde to the attention of either the finance committee, the executive committee, or the board of directors, at any time previous to the 8th of February, 1905, and then only in connection with his argument to the special committee of twelve in respect to the mutualization of the society, wherein, as he says, he referred "in general terms to the transactions above described, further details as to which were given in my letter to you of the 2d instant," meaning the 2d of May, 1905. Mr. Alexander's explanation of this failure to bring these alleged irregularities of Mr. Hyde to the attention of the proper authorities in the society is that he was not aware of them until January, 1905. In view of the grave duties and responsibilities and large powers cast upon the president of the society by its by-laws, to which the committee has referred at length in a previous portion of this report, this explanation in the committee's opinion, convicts Mr. Alexander of gross neglect of his duties to the society. Transactions of such magnitude, and so numerous, and extending over such a long period of time, and affecting so many of the society's holdings of securities in so many corporations, could not have escaped the knowledge of a president who was giving to the affairs of the society such attention as is contemplated by his acceptance of the office with the powers which it carries with it.

We will first consider the "James H. Hyde and Associates" syndicates. The syndicate known as "James H. Hyde and Associates" was not a permanent association, but changed its personnel frequently. As shown in his letter, Hyde and Associates conducted a considerable number of transactions. In nine of them the Equitable Society became the purchaser of some or all of the securities involved. In these nine transactions, securities to the par value of $9,300,000 were handled. The total profit to the syndicate in the nine operations was $204,504.33. In two of these nine transactions, the Equitable Society was a party in the syndicate, participating in the profits. The total profits of these two transactions were $49,059.41, of which the society received $18,397.28, which amount was exactly three times the amount received by the next largest participant.

Of the total profits of $204,504.33, $167,741.50 was received by eight individuals who were directors in the society and six of them members of the executive and finance committees.

In the cases of one purchase of syndicate securities the society was guaranteed to be given the benefit of any decline in prices during the life of the syndicate. In furtherance of this guarantee, the society received a rebate of $20,000, and subsequently sold the securities at a profit of $71,882. The syndicate's profit on the transaction was $11,930.55.

In one case in which the syndicate profit was $30,210.38, the society now holds the securities purchased, which at present quotations show a loss of about $60,000.

In all other cases the society has either made a profit, or could make a profit by selling the securities at the present market.

The net result to the society of the purchase of these syndicate securities has been a very considerable profit. If the society had acquired the securities by taking allotments in the original underwritings to which the Hyde syndicate was a party, it would have made larger profits.

Or if the society's directors who figured in the syndicate had acted solely for the society, the society's profit would have been $197,741.50 greater than it was.

It is elementary that a corporation is a trustee for its stockholders, the funds and other property held in the name of the corporation constituting the trust estate; and where the business conducted is that of insurance the corporation is also a trustee for the policyholders. At least this is so in the case of mutual insurance or insurance "conducted on the mutual plan." But a corporation must act through natural persons, and, therefore, those who exercise the corporate powers—the officers and directors—necessarily assume the character of trustees. Now Messrs. Alexander and Hyde are the chief executive officers as well as directors of the Equitable Society. They are also members of its executive and finance committees, which have charge of the investment of the society's funds with respect to the funds and other property of the society they are, therefore, in the highest sense fiduciaries and are governed by the principles of the law of trusts, which are not less strict—in some instances stricter—than the moral code itself. One of the most fundamental of these principles is that a trustee shall not profit at the expense of the trust estate. Another, closely connected with that just mentioned, is that a trustee shall not enter into any relation with the trust estate in which his interests and those of the estate may conflict, as, for example, the relation of buyer and seller.

In his letter to the committee dated April 27, 1905 Mr. Hyde admits that he together with Mr. James W. Alexander and the other officers named by him was a member of a syndicate, known as "James H. Hyde and Associates," which, in seven different instances, was a member of underwriting syndicates which sold the securities underwritten to the Equitable Society at an advance in prices which yielded Mr. Hyde and his associates, as participants in the underwriting syndicate, in the aggregate a profit of $155,444.98. Those sales were made almost immediately after the allotment to the Hyde syndicate of its share of the underwritten securities; in one case only three days intervened.

In this course of dealing with a corporation which they were serving in positions of the highest trust and delicacy these officials were guilty of a breach of propriety and a serious breach of trust, which, so far as the principle of the thing is concerned, is not mitigated by the fact that the society has lost nothing by the transaction, but is the gainer by reason of the subsequent increase in the market value of the securities which it purchased.

The committee has been advised by Mr. Hyde that he has deposited with the cashier of the society his check for $61,446.22, the amount of his share of the profits on the afore-mentioned transactions, with the request that the board decide whether those profits rightly belong to himself or to the society. The committee recommends that the board inform Mr. Hyde that, in its opinion, those profits were obtained in violation of the rights of the society and that therefore he is indebted to the society in an amount equal to the profits in question, and that his check for that amount will be placed to the credit of the society.

The committee finds as a fact that the syndicate operations were conducted as described in Mr. Hyde's letter of April 27 for the benefit of the persons and in the proportions, therein named, and that said persons received the respective amounts retailed by Mr. Hyde, and that such of them who were directors and members of the executive committee at the time the purchases of said securities were authorized, are likewise indebted to the society in such amounts with interest.

Since reaching the conclusions stated above the committee has received from Mr. James H. Hyde a letter of May 11, 1905 (attached to this report), in which he argues, from his view of the facts and the law as he is advised, that he and his associates in the syndicate known as "James H. Hyde and Associates," were safely within the law and proprieties in conducting the syndicate operations above referred to, which communication the committee has carefully examined and fully considered and finds nothing therein to warrant it in changing the opinion expressed above.

In order to justly condemn such transactions it is not necessary, that it should be shown that the securities so purchased were undesirable investments; or that the transactions were unfair to the society, nor that the directors who made the purchases were actuated by unworthy motives, as experience proves that real motives often elude the most searching investigation. Unqualified fidelity of an officer to his trust is required; and to secure this the law will not permit him to occupy a situation in which he may be tempted by his private interest to sacrifice his principal.

Of the nine members of the executive committee which purchased securities for the society, six (including the president and vice-president in every case) were members of the "Hyde and Associates" syndicate in one or more of the transactions detailed where the society purchased securities at an advance from the banking houses which allotted a share of the underwriting and a share of the profit to the Hyde syndicate.

Mr. Hyde in defence of the practice, says:

"It is the custom of the banking house to divide up the risk by securing

NO ASSIGNING SALARIES

COUNTY SUPERVISORS' RESOLUTION DECLARING THAT ASSIGNMENTS SHALL NOT BE RESPECTED—WILL KEEP A WATCH ON GARNISHEES—CHAIRMAN SMITH IS DEELEGATED TO TAKE THE GOVERNOR'S PLACE IN LOOKING AFTER THE BAND.

The Oahu Board of Supervisors last night showed their approval of a resolution introduced by Supervisor Moore, to instruct the Treasurer not to honor any assignments of warrants for salaries, but to pay County employes' salaries only to the persons who earned them. The resolution also calls upon the auditor to notify the Board immediately when any employe is garnisheed. In explaining the purpose of the resolution, which was one he had asked for, Treasurer Trent exposed a new scheme which has been worked by Territorial employes.

Trent declared that in some cases Territorial employes had secured friends to garnishee the auditor months ahead, on some fake debt, in order to forestall creditors who had a right to garnishee, thus escaping the payment of their just debts. He said that whenever a County employe was garnisheed, the matter should be investigated, as the supervisors probably would not want an employe who would work such a scheme. The assignments of warrants and garnishees were so numerous in the Territorial department that extra clerk hire was necessary to handle them.

The resolution appeared to have the support of all the Board, but it was referred to County Attorney Douthitt for an opinion as to its legality.

Chairman George W. Smith was delegated to look after the band, in the same way that the governor of the Territory has always looked after it. Col. Jones explained to the Board that the matter has been left largely in Captain Berger's hands, Berger consulting with the executive and reporting to him. He thought some one member of the Board, who could always be found, should be the man to handle the matter. On motion of Lucas, the chairman was delegated.

A resolution was carried appropriating the sum of $937.50, to be paid to the various County officials and the members of the Board, to reimburse them for the expenses incurred in securing their bonds.

An opinion was received from County Attorney Douthitt, stating that the lease of the supervisors' quarters, which had been referred to him, was legal in form. He said that the Board had power to authorize its chairman to sign the lease, and gave a form of signature which had been agreed upon between himself and counsel for the lessor. Lucas moved that the chair be authorized to sign as stated. Adams amended to provide that the clerk should also sign, and there was some discussion, during which Lucas said that the power to make the lease was with the Board, according to the county act, and that the County clerk had nothing to do with it. It was argued that the clerk's name could not do any harm, however, and the amendment carried with Lucas and Moore voting no.

A resolution by Moore was adopted, authorizing the treasurer to deposit county funds in any of the four local banks.

A report was received from Sam Johnson, showing income from the garbage service for the last quarter of $1,728.25 and from the excavator service $1,208.65. A copy was ordered sent to the auditor.

Lucas called attention to the great need of improvement of Queen street at the water front, and C. L. Wight addressed the Board on the subject, saying that the street carried practically all the business of the city and was in a fearfully bad condition. He thought its improvement more important than outside work that was going on. Lucas suggested immediate steps to permanently improve the street, and said there was a building in the way which ought to be advertised for sale and torn down. Adams said the Board didn't know who owned the building and Lucas replied that it was an obstruction of a public County highway and should be removed anyhow. Nothing could be done, said Adams, until the ownership of the building was known, and a motion by Lucas was carried to appoint a committee to find out at once from the Superintendent of Public Works who owned the building. Lucas and Archer were named by the chair. This was all the action taken, though there was considerable general discussion about street work.

Chairman Smith brought up the matter of a County seal and Archer, Moore and Paele were appointed to find out about the seal ordered from Wichman by the last Board of Supervisors.

The Board spent the last hour of its meeting in going over proposed rules of procedure.

EVENING CONCERT BY MOONLIGHT

The Honolulu Symphony Society, whose periodical entertainments are always eagerly looked forward to, will give a concert on the evening of the 15th inst. at the Waikiki residence of Jas. B. Castle.

The concert will occur at the full of the moon and promises to be an exceptionally enjoyable affair for there are fewer more beautiful seaside residences than that of Mr. Castle and efforts are being made to present a program which shall eclipse all its predecessors in point of attractiveness.

The Symphony Society is a cosmopolitan organization of musicians, banded together out of sheer love of music and not for financial consideration. Its officers are as follows:

President C. Hedemann; vice-president B. L. Marx; treasurer, J. Bayer; secretary, W. H. M. Nolet; directors, Judge P. L. Weaver, O. Hillefeld; librarian, Carl Mett; musical committee, George F. Davies, H. F. Wichman, J. H. Stockton.

The society's conductor, J. H. Stockton, has a musical career of many years and has filled numerous important positions in connection with his art. He was formerly director of the famous Wanderers' band, of Johannesburg, South Africa.

OPERATION AVOIDED

EXPERIENCE OF MISS MERKLEY

She Was Told That an Operation Was Inevitable. How She Escaped It

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, the very thought of the knife and the operating table strikes terror to her heart, and our hospitals are full of women coming for ovarian or womb operations.

There are cases where an operation is the only resource, but when one considers the great number of cases of ovarian and womb trouble cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after physicians have advised operations, no woman should submit to one without first trying the Vegetable Compound and writing Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice, which is free.

Miss Margret Merkle of 275 Third Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness shooting pains through the pelvic organs, bearing down pains and cramps compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said I had ovarian trouble and ulceration and advised an operation. To this I strongly objected and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The ulceration quickly healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared and I am once more strong, vigorous and well."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women. If the monthly periods are very painful, or too frequent and excessive—if you have pain or swelling low down in the left side, bearing down pains, leucorrhoea, don't neglect yourself: try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

a large number of underwriters of the risk, each underwriter in effect guaranteeing the sale to a limited extent, and, in compensation for the risk which he assumes, receiving a proportion of the profits which will come to the banking house in case the sale is successful.

The connection between this guarantee of the sale, which implies finding a customer, the assumption of the risk of finding a customer, the profits received as compensation for that risk, and the fact that the society was the customer is too obvious for further comment.

KONA SUGAR COMPANY AGAIN

Another Supreme Court injunction has been secured in the Kona Sugar Company litigation, this time to prevent a proceeding by which C. J. Hutchins, trustee, was to secure possession of the mill. The matter was to have come before Judge Matthewsman of Kona yesterday, in the form of an application for a writ of possession, but a writ of prohibition, preventing any action in the matter was secured by C. W. Ashford from the Supreme court and the matter will have to await the next session. The writ was issued by Associate Justice Wilder and made returnable October 2.

THE SUPERVISORS.

The County Board of Supervisors will meet again on Tuesday evening next at 7:30 subject in the meantime to the call of the chair.

A REAL ESTATE DEAL.

An important transfer of real estate was registered today, the transaction being between James L. McLean and Lemuel C. Ables. The property concerned is at Makiki, the corner of Wilder avenue and Keeaumoku street. It measures 178.89 on Wilder by 309.63 on Keeaumoku. The price paid for the property by Ables was $7,600.

WANT PHOTOGRAPHIC AID.

The Hawaiian Promotion Committee is seeking the aid of the best known amateur photographers in the islands with the view of getting out an entirely new folder. The first edition of the folder, one of 250,000 has been exhausted and the new one of probably 100,000 copies will be in hand shortly. As many of the gems of Hawaiian scenery have been photographed by amateurs and not by professionals a circular has been sent out asking for co-operation in getting unique views.

THEY WILL ALL DRESS IN WHITE

A most momentous matter was settled this morning at the meeting of the ladies committee for the reception of the Taft party. The burning question was that of how the ladies should dress, so naturally it was not one to be decided upon lightly. After considerable discussion it was decided that white would be the only wear for the members of the committee. Of course the matter of the cut of the gowns were not discussed. That will be left to the play of individual good taste. It was also decided in a general talk over the decorations that the Hawaiian yellow shall be the predominating shade used. This morning's meeting was held at the Hawaiian hotel.

HALSTEAD HOUSE SOLD

Halstead & Company have sold the Norman Halstead residence to Mrs. Robert Rycroft. The residence is considered a very fine piece of property on the makai side of Wilder avenue near Punahou street. The sale price is said to be $7,900. Norman Halstead and his family are now living in Kentucky.

THE BOLTON HEARING.

United States Commissioner Mating this afternoon had a hearing of the case of Mrs. W. R. Bolton, wife of the Camp McKinley soldier who is held for having counterfeit money in his possession. It was charged that Mrs. Bolton had received the coin from her husband.

THE LOAN APPROPRIATIONS.

"There is nothing new to add about the disposition of the loan appropriations," said Supt. Holloway of the Public Works department yesterday afternoon "the principal work to be proceeded with is that of the new Alakea street dock and that is going ahead. The other matters will proceed as already programmed."

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION.

The Merchants' Association will hold a meeting next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to take up taxidermy matters. It is said that serious consultations are made of increases of assessments, but as stated elsewhere in this issue, there have been no appeals taken from any of the assessors' valuations.

SHE GETS NO CLEARANCE

STANLEY DOLLAR MUST PRODUCE CERTIFICATE PERMITTING HER TO CARRY PASSENGERS.

According to indications today the S. S. Stanley Dollar has no more chance of getting a clearance as a passenger vessel, than a snow ball has of living in a hot stove. The Collector was directed from Washington some days ago to issue a clearance to the vessel if in his opinion she had complied with the law in the matter of life-saving appliances, but subsequently the Collector was advised that the matter of clearances was up to him.

This placed a different aspect on the matter as it put greater responsibility on him, and showed that the department did not care to assume any responsibility in the matter. The Collector did not feel warranted in doing so either. The result is that no clearance will be granted to the Stanley Dollar unless she has a certificate of inspection from the inspectors of hulls and boilers permitting her to carry passengers. She holds no such certificate and there is nobody in this place authorized to make such inspection. Unless she has such certificate the Collector will not issue any clearance to the vessel, provided she carries passengers. If application is made to him for a clearance for her as a freight carrier, then there will be no delay whatever in granting the document.

LIGHTHOUSE FOR MIDWAY STATION

STRUCTURE SIMILAR TO THAT AT LAUPAHOEHOE WILL BE ERECTED SHORTLY.

Captain Niblack, the lighthouse inspector, has been authorized by the Lighthouse Board to erect a lighthouse at Midway. The house will be similar to the lighthouse recently installed at Laupahoehoe, Hawaii. The height of the Midway light will be 35 feet. Lieutenant Slattery, the engineering officer of the lighthouse service, will have charge of the construction of the new lighthouse. The house will be built at Honolulu and then be taken apart and shipped to Midway where it will be erected. The lamp and various parts of the light arrived by the transport Logan today.
