Charges Conspiracy And False Method To Wrong a Baby

Parker, Low, Wundenberg, Magoon and Lightfoot Said To Be Plotting Thelma's Loss--Mother Makes Grave Charges.

Elizabeth Knight, mother of Annie Thelma K. Parker, minor, against whose guardian, A. W. Carter, are pending proceedings instituted by J. S. Low as next friends, for removal, file today a petition, by her attorney, J. J. Dunne, charging Samuel Parker, E. P. Low, Fred Wundenberg, J. A. Magoon and J. Lightfoot with being conspirators to get control of the child's interests in the Parker ranch, for their own ends.

The petition asks the staying of all other proceedings in the Parker matter until the status of J. S. Low as alleged next friend to the minor has been investigated, and asks the appointment of a master for the purpose of examination.

This and other petitions and motions in the Parker ranch tangle, after hearing some argument this morning, Judge Gear put over until tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Knight's petition, by J. J. Dunne, is very lengthy and includes many serious allegations.

Elizabeth Jane Knight, mother of Annie Parker, minor, moves that the authority of J. S. Low, as pretended next friend of her daughter to conduct this suit for removal of A. W. Carter as guardian of the estate of her daughter, be rescinded and that the suit be dismissed, and that until disposition has been made of this motion all other proceedings herein be stayed.

Some of the grounds upon which this motion is based are as follows:

That Low has personal and property interests which are hostile to Annie T. K. Parker.

That Low is a mere intermeddler, not a bona fide next friend; that he is proceeding for the purpose of aiding and co-operating with Samuel Parker, E. P. Low and F. Wundenberg in an attempt on their part to obtain management of the estate of Annie Parker in conjunction with the management of the estate of Samuel Parker, and to secure for the Hamakua Ditch Co., of which J. S. Low is a stockholder and an officer, and of which Sam'l Parker is the chief promoter, for as small a consideration as possible, a right of way over land owned by the minor at Paauhau, and to promote a sale of the fee of said interest of said minor to the Paauhau plantation upon terms to suit the plantation, irrespective of the minor's interests.

That J. S. Low is a party in conspiracy with Sam'l Parker, E. P. Low, Wundenberg, J. A. Magoon and J. Lightfoot to make fraudulent and illegal use of the estate of Annie T. K. Parker for their own ends and to promote such ends by instituting proceedings for the removal of A. W. Carter, the minor's guardian, not because he is unfit but because he is an obstacle to the accomplishment of their plans.

That petitioner, as the minor's mother, is her natural guardian and protector.

That Annie T. K. Parker is the only daughter of petitioner and one John P. Parker (John P. Parker the third), late of Waimea, Hawaii, and is now 10 years of age.

That petitioner was married to F. S. Knight in San Francisco on October 15, 1900.

That for sometime subsequent to the death of John P. Parker the third, petitioner was not aware that her daughter was entitled to any share in the Parker ranch.

That Samuel Parker from the date of the death of petitioner's first husband up to the time petitioner was advised that her daughter had large property rights under the will of John P. Parker the second, never informed petitioner of any such rights, but gave petitioner to understand that neither she nor her daughter had acquired any property rights through her first husband.

That Samuel Parker contested the

WAILUKU DISCUSSES THE COUNTY IDEA

Answers Questions Propounded By County Commission.

REPUBLICAN CLUB MAKES ENDORSEMENTS

Wailuku, July 30.—The Wailuku Republican Precinct club held another meeting on last Wednesday evening to discuss more fully the county act. After the meeting had been called to order W. J. Coelho introduced the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That this meeting endorse the Presidential nominees of the Republican National Convention held at Chicago.

"Resolved, That the meeting heartily endorse the administration of Governor Carter and Secretary of Territory A. L. C. Atkinson.

"Resolved, That it be the sense of this meeting that our delegates to the Territorial Convention be and hereby are instructed to vote for Prince Kuhio Kalaniana'ole for Delegate to Congress."

The resolutions evoked considerable discussion but they were heartily endorsed by the chairman, Judge Kepoikali, who made an able talk showing why they should be adopted; that to fail to do so would show lack of faith in our leaders. S. B. Harry made a motion to adopt the resolutions. This was carried.

After hearing reports from various committees on local matters, the main business of the evening was introduced. The questions asked by T. McCants Stewart in a letter to D. H. Case were fully and ably discussed.

1. "Under the Organic Act can a County Board of Supervisors be elected by the voter? No.
2. "If the Organic Act prohibit election, shall a county act be drawn for the election of Supervisors by the voters, and be submitted to Congress for ratification? No.
3. "Shall a county act be drawn carrying with it the Governor's right to appoint and Congress be requested to amend the Organic Act so that others may elect County Boards? Yes."
4. "Shall we base our county system permanently on the right of the Governor to appoint all county boards? No.
5. "Shall the county act provide for county control of education, health, roads, bridges and wharves? Yes.

The chairman introduced W. F. Crockett as the first speaker. He was followed by D. H. Case, Judge Kepoikali and others. It was the consensus of opinion that the Organic Act is a misfit; that the best that can be done under the circumstances is to frame a county act broad enough to conform with the Organic Act; to give the Governor limited power, and to reduce the Board of Supervisors to three.

The Wailuku Improvement Association held its monthly meeting on Thursday, July 28, Judge McKay acting as chairman.

The first committee to report was that appointed to look into the matter of a public dumping ground; the selection of a site was left to Judge Kepoikali. It was decided that the committee

SABBATH LAW IS BROUGHT UP AGAIN

For the first time in several years the Sabbath law figured in the Police Court this morning. The defendants were Pak Ling, a Chinese, and K. Kurihara, and just plain Kurihara, both Japanese. They were charged under Section 317 of the Penal Laws of 1897, which provides against the performing of any manual labor on Sunday other than work of necessity or mercy.

The three defendants were arrested yesterday morning by Captain Harry Flint of the waterfront police. They were taking watermelons from the sloop Kailani, which runs between Honolulu and Waiau in Pearl Harbor. They were placing the watermelons in their wagons when they were arrested.

Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth stated to the court that the Orientals were in the habit of discharging watermelons from the schooners on Sunday mornings. As the schooners generally come in Saturday evening they might just as well take their watermelons on Saturday as on Sunday. Discharging watermelons, the Deputy held, was not work of either necessity or mercy.

Judge Lindsay wanted to know if watermelons were not what could be termed perishable goods, but the Deputy Sheriff held that they were not.

The first of the defendants called pleaded guilty. Judge Lindsay discharged him with a slight reprimand.

The two Kuriharas were called next. They pleaded guilty with much alacrity and were also discharged.

The Sunday law has quite a history in the Police Court. The last case under this law came up under the late Judge Wilcox's regime. It was at the time when the white barbers in the city decided that they would close their shops on Sunday. The Japanese barbers declined to follow their fellow-workers' example and finally some of them were arrested for violating the Sabbath law.

Attorney Francis M. Brooks, who appeared for the defendants and made an exceedingly able argument against the law, which he claimed was unconstitutional. He referred to the numerous instances where plantations worked their men non Sundays and asked how it was that they could do so without being bothered.

Judge Wilcox entertained the same views as Brooks regarding the unconstitutionality of the law. He made some very pointed remarks regarding the Sunday work on the plantations and finally discharged the defendants with the dictum that until the plantations were brought to task for their

HECTOR FULLER, HERO.

Hector Fuller, war correspondent for the Indianapolis News, was a passenger in the Doric on his way home from the Orient. Mr. Fuller is the newspaper man who made the startling entrance into Port Arthur, remained there a few days as a prisoner, and later was expelled from the city by General Stoessel. Fuller admits that he has developed a strong prejudice against the Japanese owing to the attitude of that country toward correspondents, but believes also from what he has seen that the Japanese cannot win. He considers Port Arthur practically impregnable.

H. A. C.'s and Mailes 2-1 and 9-3 Beats Puns and Kams

The Mailes won a glorious victory over the Kamehamehas on Saturday and the Punahou came close to beating the Honolulu, but didn't. Nine to three! That's what the Mailes did, while the H. A. C.'s defeated the Puns 2 to 1. This latter business took eleven innings to transact; both teams played brilliantly in spots. Soares' hit gave the H. A. C.'s the game in the last inning. The Mailes didn't do a thing to Reuter but bat him out of the box, Richards taking his place without changing the luck. Wren, in the Mailes' box, exhibits great improvement. An old Maile player, Fred Wright, showed himself on the field for the first time this year, playing on third.

By Saturday's victory the Mailes occupy third place with the Elks, as witness the following standing of the teams: Team. P. W. L. Pct. H. A. C. 11 8 3 .647 3-11 Kamehameha .. 11 7 4 .526 4-11 Elks .. 11 5 6 .455 6-11 Maile Ilma .. 11 5 6 .454 6-11 Punahou .. 12 3 9 .250

PUNAHOU VS. H. A. C.

Game called at 1:45 p. m. First Inning—Punahou to bat; Woods out on grounder, second to first; Steere meets similar fate. Lishman connects on shot into right and thieves the deuce-bag, slipping to the trap-spot on a whizzer that dodges the man with the mask. Castle strikes out. H. A. C. to bat: En Sue fires into left for a pair of sacks and Pat Gleason does the vicarious act by the short to first route. Louis singles En Sue across the rubber and snatches second. Fred Kiley dies by the pitcher's hand and Joy is retired by third to first.

Second Inning—Desha goes to the near-bag on a sphere deceased. Ahrens slaps to second who winds up the career of Desha there. Ahrens burles the twice-mat, Tucker leaves the field by the high air line to center and Williams surrenders to pitcher's magic arm. H. A. C. to bat: Short to first makes Soares pau. A Williams lifts a daisy into short's fore-paw. J. Fernandez base hits, but E. Ditto expires, east to west.

Third Inning—Mon on second holds a hot one off McCarriston's club. Handsome Woods groundsers, second to once. Steere is handed his pedestal on a spherical quartet but Lishman skies to the lad at short. H. A. C. to bat: En Sue gets secure on Woods' slight mistake. Pat Gleason endeavors to punt but pop flies to McCarriston; McCarriston retires En Sue by a rapid chuck to first base. Louis flies out to Woods.

Fourth Inning—Punahou's pitcher goes out on third's sting to first, Desha fails to live up to pitcher's science and Ahrens is disposed of by second's pass to first. H. A. C. to bat: Kiley finds the catapult in the box too many for him and Barney Joy singles. Soares knocks to pitcher who executes Jarney Boy at second, clear case of forcing. Williams base hits and J. Fernandez does likewise, filling the bases, but E. Fernandez succumbs by pitcher to No. 1.

Fifth Inning—Tucker's fate is settled between pitcher and first and Williams wings one into second's flippers. McCarriston slits ether unoccupied by balls and quits to the tune of Joy's quiet grin. H. A. C. to bat: Old Reliable Tuck sticks to En Sue's heaven-scraper and the hardy Desha wraps his fingers round a pair of ozone splitters from the respective pop-pounders of Pat Gleason and Louis the Hard-Hitter.

Sixth Inning—Pedestrian Woods heel-and-toes it to first corner, moving up on bully base hit by Eugene Steere. Lishman swipes to En Sue, who touches third, retiring Woods, who is forced, and then delivers it to first, where Lishman dies. Castle out, third to first. H. A. C. to bat: Pitcher puts Kiley out at first. Joy plants a fierce phenomenon in right which bears fruit to the extent of three bags; on the throw-in a lovely left-handed catch is made by Steere. "Good boy, Steere!" yells a masculine rooster. "Beautiful, for a has-been!" screams a feminine fan. "Who says Steere's a has-been?" roars a mere man. Soares flies out to Desha, who throws home and Joy is sandwiched between third and home and is put out of business.

Seventh Inning—Desha strikes out and Ahrens followeth in his feet-prints. Tucker is extinguished between pitcher and first. H. A. C. to bat: A. Williams tosses a welkin-ringer into Tucker's mitts and J. Fernandez is retired, catcher to first. E. Ditto goes to the bench by reason of a magnificent running-in catch by Tucker.

Eighth Inning—Williams is permitted to stroll and then sneaks second. McCarriston rips the wind in its upper currents and nestles in right's hands, a pretty catch. Woods base hits, Steere knocks to first, who hastens to throw home, but catcher drops the shot and Williams has arrived in safety; Woods bravely tries for the thrice-cushion but is lost; Steere registers at third on a wayward globule. Lishman steers a cloud-teaser into shortstop's itching palms. That the record may be fulfilled, let it be writ that Woods deserved third in this swift round of strenuous pleasure, for verily was his pathway unkindly blocked by short's getting in the way. Let it be hoped that an accident or a bad dose of rattling caused the incident; there certainly could have been no intention of dirty play. H. A. C. to bat: En Sue balloons to left and is out. Gleason strikes out. Louis is out from short to first.

Castle is put out by short to first. Desha drops one into short's forward feelers. Ahrens foul flies out to Kiley. H. A. C. to bat: Kiley despatches a cherub to center. Joy base hits. Soares penetrates foul air with an ambitious kite that lodges with the man behind the bat. A. Williams starts a bird of a ball which 't'her Williams grabs.

Tenth Inning—One! Two! Three!—Messrs. Tucker, Williams and McCarriston strike out. H. A. C. to the bat: J. Fernandez gets safe on error by Tucker, who lets slip a fly—something unusual for Tucker. E. Fernandez foul flies out to Steere, who executes a splendid catch. J. Fernandez attempts second, but Steere throws swiftly and in time to retire the man, magnificent double play, much to the delight of the grandstand. En Sue base hits. Gleason puts the ball a little inside to third, arriving on first. Louis goes out by second to first.

Eleventh Inning—Woods cracks to Louis, who overthrows the primary and Woods travels to next. Steere sacrifices, second to first, and Woods is on third. Lishman is out to short by the sky line and Castle finishes, second to first. H. A. C. to bat: Fred Kiley lets Ahrens in right hug a high one. Joy base hits for the seventh time (4). Soares fathers the conquering count by smashing into right and making three-straight, bringing Joy home and still greater joy to his team, to the tune of wild and jumping enthusiasm on the part of the merry mob.

MAILES VS. KAMS.

Second game. Called at 3:23 p. m. Kams to bat: Sheldon kites to first in foul territory. Jones gets his bag on balls; he steals to number two without difficulty. Vanatta finds the man in the box one too much for his methods. Richards soaks it past third and Jones makes effort to arrive at the plate but is killed by a neat throw-in by left. Mailes to bat: Cusack gets safe, thanks to error by short; he thieves second. Hampton reaches the initial sack on a bluff to second who throws out Cusack at third; Hampton goes to third on passed ball. Roberts goes out to middle by the heavenly path. Hampton hops home on the hurl-in. Davis strikes out.

Second Inning—Koki does as Davis did. Reuter sees his finish, catcher's toss to first. Kealoha out, pitcher to primo. Mailes to bat: "Lucy" strikes out. "Scissors" base hits and touches second on an overdose of pitching. "Beauty" sacrifices to first. Wright gets too much of the pitcher and quits.

Third Inning—Plunkett can't stand Wren's action and mops his brow and dies. Kekuewa shuffles off through Cusack to Cogswell. Sheldon next retires by the grace of Wren, who hands it to his friend on first. Mailes to bat: Wren gets safe on a lick past second and breaks into the second story in a very dramatic manner, in about six strides. "Sandpaper" registers at No. 2 on heavy left-field knock; Wren perches on third, Hampton moves to first on error by Kealoha; bases are full. Roberts is presented with his base and Wren is pushed home, Davis slogs to right and fetches a couple of his family into the home influence. Richards commits an error in this act; Roberts jumps on the plate on a passed ball. Grady wallops to pitcher, who shies it home, but Davis lands flat on the rubber in good time, a section of a second ahead of the ball; Grady steals second. Cogswell strikes out. Ryan flies to Vanatta and Wright strikes out.

Fourth Inning—Jones out, pitcher to first. Vanatta flies to catcher. Richards hits hard toward the score-board at the end of the field and puts root on third. Koki slaps past left for second place and Richards strolls in. Reuter to bat; Koki steals third; Reuter brings Koki home on smash to first. Cogswell missing it; he steals second on passed ball. Kealoha out, short to first. Score 6 to 2. Mailes to bat: Richards is put in the box, Reuter's work not meeting with the Kams' requirements. Wren pops to short. Cusack foul skies to first. Hampton is out between first and second after getting safe on Vanatta's error.

Fifth Inning—Plunkett strikes out. Kekuewa parachutes to Davis in left. Sheldon is out, 2 to 1. Mailes to bat: Roberts walks. Davis safe-hits to second but Roberts dies at second; Davis is found asleep at first and put out by pitcher's throw. Cogswell flies to short.

Sixth Inning—Second to first is the method of Jones' demise. Vanatta foul skies to right field. Richards takes a walk. Koki strikes and is no more. Mailes to bat: Ryan walks; he steals the next. Wright suicides to first. Wren and Cusack fly to catcher and pitcher, respectively.

Seventh Inning—Reuter strikes out. Kealoha gets safe on short's error; he makes a close steal of second. Plunkett does as Reuter did. Kekuewa hits strenuously to left and reaches second, bringing home Kealoha; he steals third. Sheldon goes out, pitcher to first. Mailes to bat: Kekuewa catches Hampton's rubber-necker. Roberts negotiates two mattresses on a juicy swipe between left and center. Davis keeps up the healthy sport by smashing betwixt center and right, getting third and Roberts home. Grady cracks to right and Davis answers roll call at barracks; Grady steals second. Cogswell flies to Plunkett. Ryan base hits and Grady strains for home but is out at the plate.

Eighth Inning—Jones croaks with Wren's medicine. Vanatta is disposed of by third to first. Richards flies to Ryan. Mailes to bat: Wright safe hits to center; he steals second. Wren strikes out. Cusack swats to left and brings home Wright; Cusack didn't touch first in going to second, but the umpire failed to catch him taking a short out and he was safe. Hampton flies to third; third throws to second and catches Cusack off base, pretty double.

Ninth Inning—Koki strikes out. Reuter out, second to first. Cusack to Cogswell. Kealoha flies to left.

ards hits hard toward the score-board at the end of the field and puts root on third. Koki slaps past left for second place and Richards strolls in. Reuter to bat; Koki steals third; Reuter brings Koki home on smash to first. Cogswell missing it; he steals second on passed ball. Kealoha out, short to first. Score 6 to 2. Mailes to bat: Richards is put in the box, Reuter's work not meeting with the Kams' requirements. Wren pops to short. Cusack foul skies to first. Hampton is out between first and second after getting safe on Vanatta's error.

Fifth Inning—Plunkett strikes out. Kekuewa parachutes to Davis in left. Sheldon is out, 2 to 1. Mailes to bat: Roberts walks. Davis safe-hits to second but Roberts dies at second; Davis is found asleep at first and put out by pitcher's throw. Cogswell flies to short.

Sixth Inning—Second to first is the method of Jones' demise. Vanatta foul skies to right field. Richards takes a walk. Koki strikes and is no more. Mailes to bat: Ryan walks; he steals the next. Wright suicides to first. Wren and Cusack fly to catcher and pitcher, respectively.

INCREASE OF STEAMSHIPS.

Whether the ocean-carrying trade is experiencing a period of depression or not, the construction of larger and more numerous steamships goes steadily on. This is the record shown by a review of Lloyd's Register by a writer for the New York Commercial.

During the past two or three years of ocean traffic depression the owners of the large steamship lines have built the largest, fastest, most luxuriously appointed ships the world has ever known.

Plainly enough, the men, who control the internationally famous lines, are as fully assured as though they could see into the future that the world's over-sea trade, though halted temporarily, must again take up the march forward in gigantic strides.

And ships cannot be built in a week or a month. They cannot even be built in the time it takes a nation's export trade to swing from depression to prosperity.

A glance at a Lloyd's Register of 10 years ago reveals the remarkable expansion of the world's peaceful fleets since that time to an extent that even old shipping agents and grizzled seadogs do not appreciate, except when they recall, over a lighted pipe and three fingers of schiedam the numerical strength and characteristics of the fleets of other days.

The passing of the tramp steamer is a familiar tale and the defeat of the sailing vessel by its fiery rival is still more ancient one. These circumstances have accompanied and contributed to the building up of the steam flotilla, but the construction of the past decade, at the beginning of which the sailing vessel was already practically out of the problem, is more than the mere replacement of the old craft that failed to keep up with the procession.

On the contrary, it has practically revolutionized the shipping trade and has created an aggregate amount of cargo space and of engine power that is almost inconceivable.

To take up individually some of the most important steamship companies in the world, the North German Lloyd Co. had in 1894 a total of 71 vessels to which Lloyd's Register gives mention. The aggregate net tonnage of this fleet was 105,000 tons, or an average net tonnage to each vessel of 1,478 tons.

In 19 years the number of vessels had practically doubled, the company owning today a total of 135 ships. But the capacity of the fleet was not merely doubled. The net tonnage rose from 105,000 tons to 261,000 tons. In other words, the average tonnage per vessel is now 1,933 net tons.

The other great German Company, the Hamburg-American, has a very similar record, different only in that the multiplication of vessels and in increase of tonnage has gone at a slightly faster pace. Ten years ago this company appeared in Lloyd's Register with 56 vessels, of an aggregate net tonnage of 95,000 tons. Today the company floats 169 vessels of an aggregate net tonnage of 325,000 tons.

The average net tonnage per ship rose from 1,696 to 1,924 tons. The English companies have not gone in for numbers as some of the continental lines have, but through their efforts the type of the big comfortable ship of enormous freight-carrying capacity, although slower speed has been developed. In proof of this assertion it need only be pointed out that the Baltic, the largest thing afloat, is owned by the White Star line, while the two new vessels building for the Cunard line will be of far greater tonnage than any vessel yet constructed.

It must be said that these will not be the type just referred to, for if the experiment of using turbine engines for large vessels is successful, the new Cunarders will also have exceptional speed.

Ten years ago the aggregate net tonnage of the Cunard fleet was about 52,000. In the latest edition of Lloyd's Register, it is as 70,400 tons, an increase of 49 per cent. In the same period of time the White Star line's net tonnage has increased from 75,000 to approximately 165,000 tons. The increase in the number of vessels has been proportionally much smaller, indicating the pronounced trend of English constructors to big ships, which, however, is shared by naval architects of all nationalities to a greater or less degree.

A decade ago the largest vessel of the North German Lloyd line, in point of net tonnage, was the Kaiser Wilhelm II, of 4,700 tons, which had only a trifle more than half the capacity of the G rosser Kurfaerst, which now leads the fleet with its 8,300 net tons.

The famous Deutschland, whose speed has made her name a household word in the United States, has a net tonnage of only 5,000-odd net tons. Similarly the largest vessel of the Hamburg-American line was then the Fuerst Bismarck, of 4,460 tons; now it is the Pennsylvania, of 8,500 net tons.

POLICE COURT DOINGS

While there were thirty-two cases on the Police Court calendar this morning they were disposed of in about half an hour. There was but small excitement.

Willie Dixon appeared before Judge Lindsay, charged with assault and battery. He was accompanied by his loving wife, who seemed exceedingly anxious to see her better half landed behind the prison bars. Willie was alleged to have chastised her.

The erring Willie did not deny that he had been guilty of committing assault and battery on his wife. He asked, however, to be allowed to explain a few mitigating circumstances. He said he had found his wife in a very loving situation with a Japanese who lived next door.

"The Japanese was sitting on the verandah and my wife stood between his knees. He had his arms around her. Then I smashed her," said Willie. Mrs. Dixon denied the allegation with great strenuousness and said that her husband was extemporizing with great freedom of imagination. Willie greatly maintained that he told the truth.

Mrs. Dixon then told a tale of woe, stating that she had lived with Dixon for five years and during that time he had "licked" her on an average of once a week. Willie admitted that he had once appeared in the Police Court for assault and battery on his wife. He said that he had been drunk on that occasion.

Judge Lindsay was in a quandary, as the whole case became pending on a question of veracity. He finally told Willie that even if his story was true he had no right to take the law in his own hands when he found her in a compromising circumstance, however great the provocation. Dixon was fined $5 and costs.

Mrs. Dixon showed evidence of much dissatisfaction at the comparatively light sentence with which her husband escaped. "I won't stay with him any longer, he licks me all the time," she said to the court.

"Well, you don't have to, you are no slave," said Judge Lindsay. "You can leave him if you want to." Mrs. Dixon turned to Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth for comfort. "I can't stand it any longer. He will follow me and lick me," she cried excitedly.

"Well, get a divorce then," said the Deputy, and turned to call the next case.

The thirteen Chinese who were arrested for taking part in the attack of a gambling house in Waiwala, appeared on charges of robbery. Attorney Wilder appeared for the prosecution and Judge A. S. Humphreys for the defense. The case was continued until Aug. 8.

Phillip Naone, charged with gross cheat in the matter of alleged swindling of Japanese passengers for the coast, had his case continued until Friday.

Seven Chinese gamblers pleaded guilty and were fined $3 and costs each. Hall Joseph was fined $15 for carrying a revolver. Three alleged vagrants had their cases nolle pro's.

Tomorrow will be a busy day for the Island steamers. The Kinau and Mauna Loa both leave at noon on their usual runs to Maui and Hawaii ports while the Claudine and the Hall leave at 5 p. m. for Maui and Kauai ports respectively. The Kanai will sail for Maui and Hamakua ports and several Island schooners will sail to various ports.

The wireless telegraph service is now better than it ever was before. Messages, since Saturday, are sent both ways between Barber's Point and Puako, Hawaii, a distance of 172 miles. A power plant with dynamo and engine has just been installed at Barber's Point which makes this improved service possible.

KOHALA NEWS NOTES

South Kohala, Hawaii, July 29.—A. W. Carter, guardian, arrived in Waimea on the night of the 28th from North Kohala, where he has been attending the court to hear the case in which Mr. Parker and others were charged by Judge Matthews with contempt. This is the contempt case which grew out of the collection of certain moneys owing to the ranch, which according to the court's ruling, should have been paid to the receiver. All the arguments have been heard, but the decision is pending. He leaves for Honolulu by the Kinau.

On the 26th inst. Amos Koid of Waimea met with an accident. He was at Kawaihae and while climbing into a freight wagon in motion he fell between the wheels, so that the wheel went over his right forearm, inflicting an incomplete fracture on the outer bone. The injury, however, is by no means a serious one.

Mrs. Eben Low and family of seven children, together with Miss Emma Wad of California are stopping at the Kawaihae View Hotel. Sam Wight, son of President C. L. Wight of the Wilder Company, is also staying at the same place.

Ernest Parker and his brother James, sons of Samuel Parker, also George Beckley, Jr., arrived by the Kinau of the 29th. They are now at their Mana home. H. Pocke is also a guest at Mana. He returns to Honolulu today by the Kinau from Kawaihae.

Miss Alice Campbell, Miss Juanita Beckley and Miss Irene Dikson are visitors at Mana. They left on the morning of the 29th for the Humuola sheep ranch by way of Waikiki, where they expect to remain for a few days. Miss Matilda Veary and Miss Jeanette Spencer are guests at the Atchery place, Kawaihae.

Mrs. James Hind of North Kohala with her family are visitors at Waimea. They are occupying the Hana kila place.

There seems to be a tendency in favor of the Democrats in the Kohala district.

A rage for baseball has broken out in the district. Groups may be seen practicing daily in Waimea and Kawaihae. A club is in process of organization and hopes to be in a position to develop a team to play games with teams of any other district.

At last the long needed repairs to the Kawaihae-Waimea road are being carried out. This road has been in a shocking state, worn down to the bed rock, extremely injurious to horses and ruinous to vehicles.

The Kawaihae school building is being rapidly put up and will soon be finished. The contractor is Peter Davis. The Puka school was finished some time ago by George T. Bell.

What these schools now need is capable, certificated teachers, and these are plentiful enough.

On the 27th inst. on their way to North Kohala to attend the court, Mr. Maguire's men from Huihul succeeded in making an extraordinary catch. A big fish called the A-u had become imprisoned in shallow water between Kiholo and Puako and was an easy victim to the travelers. They were on horseback and being able to get quite close managed to lasso it with their lariats. They noosed it by the head and tail and with some difficulty dragged it ashore and conveyed it to the Puako plantation. Here Mr. Vredborg undertook the handling of the carcass. It was found to be 12 feet long and weighed 211 pounds. This is the first time in Hawaiian history that we have heard of a fish being lassoed. Natives look upon the occurrence as a favorable omen to the district.

BRIGHT LIGHT TO WINDWARD. Superintendent of Public Instruction Atkinson, not without some manifestation of pleasure, reported this morning that the Boys Industrial School at Waialea, windward Oahu, celebrated on Saturday last the inauguration in that progressive institution of electric lights and fans operated by its own plant.

Detective McDuffie has located six more watches, which were stolen by John Kaue, the bogus Board of Health inspector. McDuffie found them in the possession of a Japanese Jeweler.

OLD FELLOWS GIVE HOUSE WARMING

The Odd Fellows' formal dedication of the new I. O. O. F. building last evening was only the beginning of appropriate ceremonies marking the completion of an epochal undertaking by the Excelsior Lodge of one of Honolulu's most powerful orders. This afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock the magnificent new building with its three roomy upper stories attired in gala decoration will be thrown open to the public. The Government band will be stationed in the upper story during the afternoon. This lofty story with its open lanai facing the mountains is the most comfortable spot in the city. The lodge rooms below are filled with visitors this afternoon. The tireless reception committees are greeting the guests of the order and attendants serve refreshments.

It may well be called an epochal event in the history of staunch old Excelsior.

Excelsior Lodge was the first lodge of a civic organization to be founded west of the Rocky Mountains. It was established on December 10, 1846. Only one charter member is living, Gorham A. Gilman, now living in Massachusetts.

Tonight, the younger set will hold away in the new building. There will be dancing on the upper floor and on the second floor. Two orchestras will furnish music for the dancers. The third floor will be used for refreshments and as a reception room. The preparations are complete for one of the pleasantest social occasions of the year.

RECORD OF CRIME SHOWN IN WORK OF COURT

Over a score of criminal cases, continued from the last term of Circuit court, await trial at the new term in September, when Judge Gear will preside. These do not include numerous cases concerning which no individual order was made when the April term came to a close. Probably three dozen criminal cases will appear on the September calendar when all are reckoned.

Attorney General Andrews recently handed to the Governor the last year's record of work in the Territorial prosecution department. While this report is not made public by the officials concerned, the Governor embodying much of the facts therein in his report to the secretary of the Interior, upon which he is now working, many interesting facts can be drawn from a perusal of the term's criminal record. Below appears a list of cases before Judge De Witt during the term just passed.

Out of 22 cases there were 17 persons sentenced, 4 pleading guilty and 13 being proved guilty by the Territory; nolle prosequi were entered in 24 cases; there were 5 verdicts of not guilty; 21 cases were continued; 2 were stricken from the calendar; 9 were dismissed; 3 indictments were quashed and 1 pie in bar was sustained.

WILCOX SALE BRINGS TOTAL OF $35,052

A larger gathering of real estate and business men than has been seen for long time attended Morgan's auction sale of the property of the estate of the late Judge W. L. Wilcox at noon today. The bidding was brisk throughout and as a rule very good prices were obtained.

The first lot, an improved lot on Tantalus, was sold to S. M. Ballou for $2,500. This established a good price for choice Tantalus property.

A Waikiki beach lot, 221-1-10 feet on beach and 170 feet deep, was secured by A. S. Wilcox for $6,500.

The Wilcox beach residence at Waikiki, with about 100 feet on the beach and a fine dwelling house, was sold to J. N. Wilcox for $5,900.

A warehouse site with buildings on Queen street, near Aieka, was also secured by G. N. Wilcox for $4,200.

Two lots at Pearl City were bid in at $310 by Mr. McLeilan for the Hawaiian Land & Improvement Company. A lot of 49 60-1-10 acres at Kahana, Koolau, was bought by Miss Mary Foster for $225, and also two shares of but land at the same place for $200 each.

ART DEALER FINDS HILO LIKE BOSTON

Hilo, July 29.—J. H. Kahn of Honolulu, dealer in pictures and other works of art, was arrested last Monday by Sheriff Andrews, charged with being a common nuisance in that he did "exhibit" for public sale certain obscene pictures tending to corrupt the morals of youth and other persons. Mr. Kahn arrived by the last Kinau with a stock of pictures, engravings, etchings, etc., which he had on exhibition in the auction rooms of F. E. Ray in the Baldwin block. Some of them appear to have shocked the sensitive nature of the sheriff, who ordered the arrest of the offending Mr. Kahn. Carl S. Smith was the principal witness for the prosecution. He testified to having seen on exhibition an assortment of cheap pictures, portraying a display of hosiery and trim ankles, which he regarded as very vulgar. It also developed that some of the pictures were of the nude, which the prosecution claimed were obscene and calculated to corrupt the morals of the youth. Mr. Kahn's defense was the pictures themselves, which he maintained were works of art, and which he had been selling throughout the Territory without being molested heretofore by the police or anybody. He was fined $25 and costs by District Magistrate Hapai. The case has been appealed.—Tribune.

President Hadley of Yale tells of being requested to lecture in a city some distance away not long ago. His train was late in arriving at the place and he was earnestly concentrating his mind on the address he had prepared. Jumping into a cab he handed the driver $2 and shouted, "Drive fast." The horse started off with a plunge and kept up his rapid gait for half an hour, going up one street and down another. Finally the professor stuck his head out of the window and asked: "Are we nearly there, cabby?" "Damned, mister," was the astonishing reply. "Where did you want to go?"

CHARGES CONSPIRACY (Continued from Page 1.) appointment of petitioner's father as guardian of her daughter, but without success.

That Samuel Parker has taken no steps to care for Annie T. K. Parker, minor, petitioner having initiated all steps in her behalf.

That from her knowledge of Samuel Parker petitioner has always favored the management and control of her daughter's property rights by those unconnected with Samuel Parker, for petitioner had personal knowledge of the extravagance of Samuel Parker and of his inability to manage his own property affairs in a discreet and prudent manner.

Petitioner had heard of suggestions coming from Samuel Parker casting doubt upon the title of petitioner's daughter.

That petitioner asked for and approved the appointment of A. W. Carter as guardian of the minor.

PAYMENT OF CAMPBELL ESTATE MONEY PREMATURE

Judge Gear this morning signed an order in the matter of the estate of James Campbell, deceased, in accordance with his decision of June 12, 1903, and later decisions, on accounts filed by executors and executrix, disapproving the following payments by executors and ordering that the amounts be surcharged: Mrs. Parker, $53,274.65; Princess Kawananakoa, $35,926.31; Alice Campbell, $10,910.01.

In this regard Judge Gear had the following to say in the decision of June, 1903: "It seems to me clear that Mrs. Parker is entitled to the third of the net income from the realty from the time of her husband's death, but I think that the payment of the money to her was premature. She is to be paid by the trustees and not by the executors. If the payment of this sum of $53,274.65 is approved it would follow that it has never been distributed under the will, it must be first finally distributed to the trustees and then paid by them to Mrs. Parker."

The court orders that commissions amounting to $32,721.52, but charged as $32,671.52, and as due accountants as trustees, are allowed to them as executors but not as trustees.

W. F. Crockett asked for more time for the Fish Market Committee, but reported that a building 40x60, with two stalls, a five-foot passage-way, concrete floor, would cost $1500; that Market street is the most central location; that a possible cooperation with cattle and vegetable men might be obtained there by combining the sales of meats, vegetables and fish under one roof, where inspection by the Board of Health or its deputies would guarantee healthfulness and cleanliness. Judge McKay reported for the Cemetery Committee.

W. J. Coelho was appointed a committee of one to look after tree planting with the power to call upon such persons as may be necessary to carry out his plans.

Max Eckhart was appointed a committee of one to look into the expense of placing the town clock in running order.

The executive committee of the Improvement Association held a meeting at the court house on Friday evening, July 29, for the purpose of considering the message from Acting Governor Atkinson on the matter of Federal improvements for Maui, Judge McKay acted as chairman and after the meeting was called to order Judge A. N. Kopolani offered a resolution, the object of which is to ask the Federal Government for an appropriation for the building of a Federal building in Wailuku to be used as a postoffice and for such other Federal purposes as may in the near future be established on Maui. After some considerable discussion by C. D. Lufkin and others the resolution was carried. This was followed by a well-worded and logical argument by R. W. Filler, in which he clearly showed the great need of Maui in the matter of a survey, light-houses, and a breakwater at Kahului. Mr. Filler so completely carried the audience that his plans were adopted by a unanimous vote and a committee of the following persons were appointed to draft resolutions: R. W. Filler, chairman; W. G. Cott, C. D. Lufkin, H. M. Coke, Capt. Nicholson, W. F. Crockett, Judge A. N. Kopolani.

DORIC ARRIVES FROM THE ORIENT

The O. & O. steamship Doric arrived from the Orient Saturday evening and was docked at about 9 o'clock. The Doric left Yokohama July 21. Her officers report that on that day all sailing vessels under Japanese charter were enjoined from leaving Yokohama on account of the reported proximity of the Vladivostok fleet. The Korea was sighted July 25.

Among the passengers for this port was Rev. J. P. Erdman, who was formerly connected with the Central Union Church. He has been doing missionary work in China.

Among the through passengers for this port was Hector Fuller, the war correspondent of the Indianapolis News, who made the sensational entry into Port Arthur and secured exclusive information regarding the situation at that highly interesting place.

In her steerage for this port the steamship brought 9 Chinese, 90 Koreans and 136 Japanese. She had 323 tons of cargo for Honolulu.

The Doric left for San Francisco yesterday at noon.

WAIKIKI PHOTOGRAPHED.

Arthur Rice of Rice & Perkins took a panoramic photograph of Waikiki beach from the Royal Annex to Diamond Head yesterday afternoon. The surf was running high and the beach was lined with spectators watching the bathers. The picture was taken at the request of the Hawaii Promotion Committee and it is hoped it will turn out one of Rice's best. The patient photographer with the assistance of Japanese towed a large derrick several rods out into the surf and from its apex took in the beach with his camera.

Story Of Guns In Parker Ranch Affair

[Special to The Bulletin.]
Waimea, South Kohala, July 28.—It may be remembered as reported in the Bulletin that an attorney, after his first visit to the ranch, when the present trouble commenced, told the story of the use of firearms by Mr. Carter's adherents. It has lately come to light, however, that the only firearms displayed or used were those carried by his client, and his client's party.
The only gun belonging to the other side was an old one that had been lying six months or more in the ranch office. Elben Low certainly carried a gun, which he fired off in the air in a melodramatic way two or three times, both at Kawaihae and Waimea; whether to encourage his followers or to strike terror into his opponents is not known. Sam Leslie, of the Honolulu police force, picked up a gun in the Hamakua paddock—owner not known—which may be had on application at the police station, Honolulu. So far as is known, it has never been claimed and not likely to be for obvious reasons.

CHAPTER XV.

Three days after the sinking of the Juno, the Mellish, which had escaped in the dark without pursuit from the feet, after witnessing the successful termination of the action between the two sloops of war, was heading about northwest by west for Massachusetts bay and Boston, with single reefs in her topsails and close hauled on the starboard tack. Seymour's orders had left him sufficient discretion as to his destination, but Boston being the nearest harbor held by the Americans, he had deemed it best to try to make that port rather than incur further risk of capture by making the longer voyage to Philadelphia.

The weather had turned cloudy and cold; there was a decided touch of winter in the air. The men were muffled up in their pea jackets, and the little squad of prisoners, tramping up and down, taking exercise and air under a strong guard, looked decidedly uncomfortable, not to say disgusted, with the situation.
It had been a matter of some difficulty to disarm the prisoners, especially the soldiers, and to feed and properly exercise them; but the end had been successfully arrived at through the prudence and ability of Seymour, who was well aided by Talbot and Wilton, and who profited much by many valuable suggestions born of the long experience of the old boatswain.

On this particular afternoon, about ten days before Christmas, the young captain, now confident of carrying his prize into the harbor, felt very much relieved and elated by his apparent command of the situation. He knew what a godsend the ship's cargo, which he and Talbot had ascertained to be even more valuable than had been represented, would be to the American army. It might be said without exaggeration that the success of the great cause depended upon the fortune of that one little ship under his command. Talbot had properly classified and inventoried the cargo according to orders and was prepared to make immediate distribution of it upon the arrival in port. Both of the young men were as happy as larks, and even the thought of their captured friends did not disquiet them as it might under less fortunate circumstances, for among the captives on the Mellish was a Colonel Seaton of the highlanders, whom they trusted to be able to exchange for Colonel Wilton, and they did not doubt in that case that Katharine would return with her father.

While indulging themselves in these rosy dreams, natural to young men in the elation of spirit consequent upon the events of their short and exciting cruise—the capture and successful escape of the transport, the apparent assurance of bringing her in, and the daring and brilliant night action which they had witnessed—they had neither of them ventured to touch upon the subject uppermost in each heart—the love each bore for Katharine—and the subject still remained a sealed book between them. The cruise was not yet over, however, and fate had in store for them several more exciting occurrences to be faced. Seymour, often accompanied by Talbot, and Wilton, always accompanied by Bentley, kept watch and watch on the brief cruise of the transport. Shortly after midday of the third day, about three bells in the afternoon watch, or half after 1 o'clock, Seymour, whose watch below it was, was called from the cabin by old Bentley, who informed him that a suspicious sail had been seen hull down to the northeast, and Wilton had desired that his commanding officer be informed of it. Seizing a glass and springing to his feet, he hastened on deck.

"Well, Mr. Wilton," he said to that young officer, proud of his responsibilities, "you keep a good lookout. Where away is the sail reported?"

"Broad off the weather bow, sir, due north of us. You can't see her from the deck yet," replied Wilton, flushing with pride at the compliment.

Seymour sprang into the main rigging and rapidly ascended to the cross-trees, glass in hand. There he speedily made out the topgallant sails of a large ship, having the wind on the quarter apparently and slowly coming into view. He subjected her to a long and careful scrutiny, during which the heads of her topsails rose, confirming his first idea that she was a ship of war and, if so, without doubt one of the enemy. She was coming down steadily, and if the two vessels continued on their present courses they would pass each other within gunshot distance in a few hours, a thing not to be permitted under any circumstances if it could be avoided. He continued his inspection a moment longer and then, closing the glass, descended to the deck with all speed by sliding down the back stay.

"Forward, there!" he shouted. "Call the other watch, and be quick about it! Philip, step below and ask Mr. Talbot to come on deck at once. Bentley, that seems to be a frigate or a heavy sloop going free. She will be down on us in a few hours if we don't change our course. Take a look at her, man," he said, handing him the glass, "and let me know what you think of her."

While the men were coming on deck Bentley leaped into the mizen rigging and ran up the shrouds with an agility surprising in one of his gigantic figure and advanced age. After a rapid survey he came down swiftly. "It's an English frigate and not a doubt of it, sir, and rising very fast."

"I thought so. Man the weather braces! Up with the helm! Behr a hand now, my hearties! Now, then, all together! Brace in!" He himself set a good example to the short crew, who hastened to obey his rapid commands, by assisting the two seamen stationed aft to haul in the spanker, in which labor he was speedily joined by Talbot, who had come on deck. Young Wilton and Bentley lent the same assistance forward, and in an astonishingly brief time, considering her small crew, the Mellish, like the stranger, was going free with the wind on her quarter, her best point of sailing, her course now making a wide obtuse angle with that of the approaching ship.

"Now, then, men, lay aloft and shake the reefs out of the topsails. Stand by to loose the fore and main topgallant sails as well."

"Why, what's wrong, Seymour?" said Talbot in surprise. "I rather expected we should be in Massachusetts bay this evening, and here we are heading south again. Isn't that Cape Cod—that blue haze yonder? Why are we leaving it? What's the matter?"

"Take the glass, man; there, aft on the starboard quarter, a sail! You should be able to see her from the deck now. Can you make her out?"

"Yes, by heaven, it's a ship, and a large one, too! What is it, thin kyou, Seymour?"

"An English ship, of course—a frigate; we have no ships like that in these waters or in our navy either—more's the pity."

"Whew! This looks bad for us."

"Well, we're not caught yet by a long sight, Talbot. A good many leagues will have to be sailed before we are overhauled, and there's many a ship 'twixt the cup and the lip, you know; that old stale maxim is truer on the sea than any place else, and truer in a chase too. A thousand things may help us or hinder her. See, we are going better now that the reefs are out and the topgallant sails set, but it's a fearful strain on our spars. They look new; pray God they be good ones," he continued, gazing over the side at the masses of green water tossed aside from the bows and sweeping aft under the counter in great swirls.
The spars and rigging of the Mellish were indeed fearfully tested, the masts buckling and bending like a strained bow. The wind was freshening every moment, and there was the promise of a gale in the lowering sky of the gray afternoon. The ship felt the increased pressure from the additional sail which had been made, and her speed had materially increased, though she rolled and pitched frightfully, wallowing through the water and smashing into the waves with her broad, fat bows and making rather heavy weather of it. In spite of all this, however, the chase gained slowly upon them until she was now visible to the naked eye from the decks of the Mellish. Seymour, full of anxiety, tried every expedient that his thorough seamanship and long experience could dictate to accelerate the speed of his ship—rather a sluggish vessel at best and now, heavily laden, slower than ever. The stream anchors were cut away and then one of the bows, also; all the boats save one, the smallest, were scuttled and cast adrift; purchases were got on all the sheets and halyards and the sails hauled flat as boards and kept well wetted down. Some of the water tanks were pumped out to alter the trim and lighten her, the bulwarks and rails were partly cut away, and as a final resort the maintop mast studding sail was set; but the boom broke at the iron, and the whole thing went adrift in a few moments. Talbot, anxious to do something, suggested the novel expedient of breaking out a fieldpiece from the fore hold and mounting it on the quarter deck to use as a stern chaser. This had been done, but the frigate was, yet too far away for it to be of any service.

In spite of all these efforts they were being overhauled slowly, but Seymour still held on and did not despair. There was one chance of escape. Right before them, not a half league away, lay a long shoal known as George's shoal, extending several leagues across the path of the two ships. Through the middle of this dangerous shoal there existed a channel, narrow and tortuous, but still practicable for ships of a certain size. He was familiar with its windings, as was Bentley, as they both had examined it carefully in the previous summer with a view to just such a contingency as now occurred. The Mellish was a large and clumsy ship, heavily laden and drawing much water; but he felt confident that he could take her through the pass. At any rate, the attempt was worth making, and if he did fail it would be better to wreck her, he thought, than allow her to be recaptured. The English captain either knew or did not know of the shoal and the channel. If he knew it, he would have to make a long detour, for in no case would the depth of water in the pass permit a heavy ship, as was the pursuing vessel, to follow them, and, aided by the darkness rapidly closing down, the Mellish would be enabled to escape.

If the English captain were a new man on the station and unacquainted with the existence of the shoal, as was most likely—well, then he was apt to lose his ship and all on board of her if he chased too far and too hard. The problem resolved itself into this: If the Mellish could maintain her distance from the pursuer until it was necessary to come by the wind for a short tack and still have sufficient space and time left to enable her to run up to the mouth of the channel without being sunk or forced to strike by the batteries of the frigate, they might escape; if not—God help them!—thought Seymour desperately; for in that event he resolved to run the vessel on the rocky edge of the shoal at the pass' mouth and sink her.

They were rapidly drawing down upon the shoal at the point from which they must come by the wind, on the starboard tack. Some faraway lights on Cape Cod had just been lighted, which enabled Seymour to get his bearing exactly. He had talked the situation over quietly with Bentley, and they had not yet lost hope of escaping. The men had worked hard and faithfully, carrying out the various orders and lightening ship, and now, having done all, some few were ying about the deck resting, while the remainder hung over the rails gazing at their pursuer. One of the men, the sea philosopher Thompson of the Ranger's crew, finally went aft to the quarter deck to old Bentley, who was privileged to stand there under the circumstances, and asked if he might have a look through the glass for a moment at the frigate.

FOR PRINCE CUPID AND COUNTY LAW

Hawaii Precincts Pass Resolutions Directing Delegations.

REPUBLICANS WON'T LISTEN TO DEFEAT OF DELEGATE

RESULTS OF MEETINGS HELD ON THE BIG ISLAND—A UNANIMOUS DEMAND FOR COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

Hilo, Hawaii, July 29.—Almost with one accord the precinct clubs of the First District passed resolutions endorsing Delegate Kuhio and instructing their delegates to secure a plank in the platform favoring county government. The feeling seemed to be unanimous that Kalaniana'ole was deserving of this compliment, and some of the Republican clubs went so far as to instruct Territorial delegates to support the Prince for renomination. The impression seems to prevail that county government will be the issue of the campaign and to forestall the Democrats and the renegade Home Rule party, the various precinct clubs declared in favor of the passage of a County Act without delay by the next Legislature. There was no opposition apparent in any of the clubs passing the resolutions, as the movement was favored by the Young Men's Republican Club in the various precincts and their work showed the results of organization. Besides passing resolutions where adopted, the principal business of the meetings in the several precincts was the nomination of delegates to the Territorial and District Conventions. The District Convention for East Hawaii under the call of the District Committee, will be held at Fremont's Hall, Hilo, on Friday, August 12th. With the exception of the First, Second, Third and Fourth Precincts each of the precincts are entitled to one delegate to the Territorial and one delegate each to the District Convention. Owing to the lateness of the call, Honolulu and Kuluhaele failed to make nominations, but expect to do so this evening at the adjourned meetings of their respective clubs. The primaries are set for Saturday, August 6th, between the hours of 2 and 8 o'clock p. m. at the voting place in each precinct.

S. L. Desha, Geo. N. Day, Charles Akau, M. J. Gouvea, H. Kendall, M. G. Santos and S. C. Shaw; District (5), W. H. Beers, F. Bruggell, J. P. Hale, Wm. Harbottle, John Kal, Jr., H. K. Kendall, R. A. Lyman, Jr., D. W. Marsh, Manuel Pacheco, J. K. Pauhaup, Philip Peck, I. E. Ray, J. U. Smith, Charles Siemen, Wm. Todd, Jos. Vierra. Fifth Precinct: Territorial, J. T. Moir; District (1), J. V. Jakins and Ahina. Sixth, Hakalaia: Territorial, H. V. Patton; District, D. Mackintosh. Seventh, Lanipohoho: Territorial, W. G. Walker; District, Jas. Mattoon. The Eighth (Kuluhaele), Ninth (Honolulu) and Tenth (Kuluhaele) precincts will hold their meetings tonight when delegates will be nominated. Waikeka, Olaia, Puna and several other precinct clubs have already passed similar resolutions and indications are that the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Precinct Clubs will take like action. From reports received from Kohala and the other side of the island, the voters there are beginning to favor the establishment of one county for the island of Hawaii.

Senator Palmer P. Woods, of Kohala, who has been in Hilo for the past ten days, said to a Tribune representative: "I'm not in politics now and propose to devote my attention to my own private affairs. Politics is an expensive luxury for me, which I cannot afford. Of course, I shall serve out my term in the Senate and while there endeavor to represent the wishes of my constituents. I am a Democrat and naturally am not in a position to know what the wishes of the Republicans in Kohala may be. Personally, I am in favor of a single county for this island and am inclined to believe that when the time comes, the people of Kohala, Kona and Kau will be in favor of one county for the entire island. There are many reasons why we should not have more than one county. From a standpoint of economy, it ought to commend itself, and the supervisors could be selected from the various districts to make the board representative enough. So far as residents of Kohala are concerned, I do not see an even stand-off to make a trip to Hilo by the Kinau as to travel horseback to Kailua. With the extension of the Hilo Railroad and the completion of the new volcano road through Kau, the trip to Hilo via the Volcano House is very much simplified. However, I am only giving you my views on the subject, and this matter is thoroughly canvassed, I could not speak for the voters generally on the other side of the island. I understand that some of the members of the County Act Commission which is now framing a county law are favorably inclined to the formation of Hawaii into one county." The Kohala Republican Club nominated the following for delegates: Territorial (3), E. A. Fraser, H. L. Holstein, Jno. Hind, E. E. O'Neil, G. P. Tulloch, E. D. Quinn; District (3), A. K. Eldredge, E. A. Fraser, H. L. Holstein, Jno. Hind, Wm. Merserberg, H. K. Molale, E. E. O'Neil, C. H. Puaa and E. D. Quinn.—Tribune.

Vacation Pleasures At Homes On Molokai

Kaiake, Molokai, July 29.—Apart from the additional installment of hunters who follow their own devices in the mountain cabins, we have quite a company of health and pleasure seekers around Kaiake, who are often seen on the roads. Besides excursions into the gulches, and family picnics, the social events of the week include an unconventional evening at Kualapuu on Saturday, the 23rd inst., when games, including trials in magnetism, were engaged in. Then an impromptu dance, piano music being supplied by Mesdames Munro and Kianear, coffee and cake, followed by a well-packed buggy ride, accompanied by chorussing, for the distant guests, while the house party returned to the piano and spent an enjoyable hour in musical reminiscences. There were present Mrs. G. C. Munro and family, Mrs. G. J. Waller and family, Mrs. Kinnear, Miss Edith Crossette, Miss E. Sobey, Messrs. G. C. and J. Munro. On Thursday, the 28th, Mrs. G. J. Waller gathered the neighbors at Kaiake. The large room was cleared for dancing, which was carried on with great spirit, nearly every one joining in the old-time country dance. On this occasion lively music was produced from violin, W. A. Meyer; guitar, Miss K. Meyer; ukulele, Miss C. Meyer; mandolin, Clarence Lucas; Mrs. W. C. Meyer and Mrs. Munro sometimes relieving the guitar and violin players. Besides Mrs. Waller's house party including Miss Edith Crossette, there were present Mrs. G. C. Munro, Mrs. W. C. It was explained that this was the system in vogue on Maui, Oahu and the other islands.

Killipio and Daniel Kaloha. Second, Olaia: Territorial, F. J. Gray; District (3), Peter Dorland, Thos. E. Cook, Frank Rosa and G. D. Supt. Third, Waikeka: Territorial (2), Jas. D. visions have appeared in the District Court before today.

Judge Lindsay is known to entertain much the same views regarding the Sunday law and it is doubtful that convictions under it will be frequent. It is manifestly unfair to arrest a couple of poor Chinese and Japanese who take a few materlions from a schooner when at the same time the island steamers work Sunday on the Kau and Hamakua coasts and other places, and the big plantations have hundreds upon hundreds of men working in the fields without the slightest effort being made to put a stop to these evident transgressions of the same law.

In reprimanding the defendants this morning Judge Lindsay took the case more in a moral than in a strictly legal light. Seeing his chance to do some good missionary work the Court surprised and delighted those present by a display of ecclesiastical wisdom. He admonished the Orientals to procure books containing the Fourth Commandment, which they should study and commit to memory, and to go home and sin no more.
