Reelfoot Lake.

Mississippi river shooting is varied with trips to the sunken lands, which begin near Hickman, Ky., and extend south several hundred miles on both sides of the river. This territory was covered with a dense forest of large trees before the land was submerged by the earthquake of 1811. On the Tennessee side Reelfoot lake, eighty miles long, was formed. Reelfoot lake is only three miles from the an Upper Slough Landing and the same distance at Tiptonville, Tenn. The dense forest is still standing. The limbs and bark have rotted and dropped off years ago, leaving the bleached trunks standing like marble columns in water sixty feet deep, so close together that it is difficult to move a skiff among them. Some have rotted off at the water level, and others are hollow, making good blinds. The flight of wild fowl on Reelfoot lake is beyond the comprehension of the average sportsman. There are ducks, geese, cormorants, called water turkeys; cranes, water hens and snipe. They all keep up a chatter which makes the sunken forest ring. From the tops of the trees eagles, hawks and owls contribute piercing screeches to the continuous din.—Outing.

Tree Tomato as a Fruit.

Mrs. T. B. Shepherd, an eminent florist, and who resides in Ventura, says that when the value of the tree tomato as a fruit is once fully appreciated acres of it will be planted. It bears from seed the second season, and a young plant set out in the spring grows six feet and comes into bearing by Christmas. The foliage is large and handsome, the branches spreading. The fruit is pendant in clusters below the foliage, is the size of a large egg and of a beautiful orange salmon color when ripe. It has a decided sub-acid taste, slightly resembling the tomato. It is delicious raw, served with sugar and cream, or cooked as sauce, and for jelly or jams is very fine. It will keep for weeks, as it does not bruise, on account of its very tough skin and the solid nature of the fruit covering the seeds which are like those of the tomato. It is a showy plant for house and conservatory, and a most beautiful plant in the garden. It is a native of South America, and is known as the "poor man's fruit."—Riverside Enterprise.

A Hard Hearted People.

Filial piety finds no place in Tibetan character. It is no uncommon thing for a son to turn his father, when too old for work, out of doors and to leave him to perish in the cold. The superstition that the souls of the dead can, if they will, haunt the living drives their hardened natures to gain by the exercise of cruelty the promise of the dying that they will not return to earth. As death approaches the dying person is asked, "Will you come back or will you not?" If he replies that he will, they pull a leather bag over his head and smother him; if he says he will not, he is allowed to die in peace.—Edinburgh Review.

Bottom of a Sea Falling Out.

Scientists tell us that, counting from the sea level, the lowest body of water on the globe is the Caspian sea. For centuries its surface has been gradually settling down until now it is eighty-five feet lower than that of its near neighbor, the Black sea, which also lies far below the level of the oceans. The common conclusion all along has been that the Caspian was simply losing its waters by evaporation, but recent investigation shows that this is not the case. Soundings made and compared with records of soundings made over 100 years ago reveal the astounding fact that there is even a greater depth of water now than then. This leaves but one hypothesis that would seem at all tenable—that the bottom of the sea is actually sinking. There is much speculation in scientific circles as to what will be the final outcome.

Christmas Declared Illegal.

Although it may seem incredible, it is a fact that not so many years ago Christmas was considered a superstitious festival and was stopped being held by the strong hand of the law. Holly and mistletoe were destroyed and were called "the plants of the evil one." Cakes and wines were considered impious by the superstitious.

When Oliver Cromwell was protector, he ordered all the most important towns in England not to observe Christmas, as he considered it to be a hurtful custom.

Yet a stricter law he commanded to be kept so that people might forget Christmas. That was that all the markets were to be held on Dec. 25.

Naturally this created a great stir among the country folk, and they determined thenceforth to refuse to obey his strict and extraordinary law, which he tried to enforce, but all to no purpose.

A Baseball Game.

Four wide ones in the third and Hogan paraded!

Dooley tilted the pellet to the outermost port precinct for a hassock and invested second citadel through Groogin's insane heave.

Jones' agile mitt engulfed Smith's tower to left garden, but failed to ferry it in before Hogan's extremities soiled the rubber.

Donovan jabbed a solitaire to left pasture, stabbing Dooley, but met his death purloining a bag. Huggins made three frantic lunges at the leather, but Guff's saffron muff let him amble down the trail to the initial roost.

Duffy's steaming grasser to right meadow incinerated Guff's fingers. Doyle dunked safely to larboard, but Brown's swift return of the globe contributed to Huggin's demise at the plate.—Kansas City Independent.

Pigeon's Milk Not a Joke.

The joke about pigeon's milk has a foundation in fact. After the incubation of the young has been completed, the crops of the parent bird become thicker and secrete a sort of curd, with which the young are fed. This description of nourishment is necessary for them, for if the young pigeons are deprived of it during the first week or two after hatching they are sure to die.

Raleigh and the Potato.

It was Sir Walter Raleigh who brought potatoes into Ireland at the same time he brought the other American product, tobacco. Sir Walter Raleigh was busily engaged in oppressing the people about Cork, so naturally, when he planted the potato on his estate at Youghal, near Cork, the people were suspicious of it despite its palatableness. Corbett cursed the root as being the ruin of Ireland, declaring it a device of Satan ingeniously brought into their midst to tempt and eventually to weaken them. Sir Walter ate quantities of potatoes before he could assure the people of their harmlessness. Now, with commendable gratitude, the tourist is shown the very spot in the garden where Sir Walter planted the potato root. Close by it is another historical bit of ground. There, it is claimed, Sir Walter rested under the shade of a tree smoking his first pipe of tobacco when his servant deluged him with a pail of water under the impression he was on fire.—What to Eat.

Lahaina, Maui T. H.

The fact that so few Hawaiian boys are fitted for an examination for admittance to Annapolis gives rise to some curious ethnological reflections. After the war, schools for negro children were opened in the South, and some of these boys and girls developed abnormal aptitude for studies up to a certain point, above which they could not reach. The brains of their ancestors had not been developed by the thousand years of education which had given the Anglo Saxon boy and girl the capacity to grasp a higher education. Now there is no doubt but that the same truth applies relatively to Hawaiian boys and girls, who can easily be educated up to a certain point, beyond which neither they nor their teachers can be blamed for their failure to reach. No race which has emerged from the savage or semi-civilized state within the last century can hope to educate its children up to the standard of children who have inherited ten centuries of aptitude. This does not mean that Hawaiian boys and girls are not bright and brainy, for as a matter of fact they are. But it does mean that a composite industrial education is what they most need until the race has had time to inherit capacity for new thoughts and ideas above their present mental grasp.

The appropriation of $50,000 for the St. Louis World's Fair, and $15,000 additional for advertising the resources and attractions of Hawaii is one of the best speculative investments which could have been made by the legislature, although it is to be regretted that the members could not have seen clearly their way to grant a larger sum. But that sum wisely expended will mean more than some imagine, because with annexation has come a keen though kindly curiosity from Maine to California, to know more about the Islands. A comprehensive response to this feeling of inquiry at the St. Louis Exposition will have the certain effect of attracting a crowd of tourists to the Islands who will in the next few years return to us ten times tenfold what we have expended for Exhibition and advertising purposes.

Maui citizens have forwarded a petition to the legislature, asking that a reasonable subsidy be granted to the Wireless Telegraph Co. to enable them to establish a successful system on the Islands. But $1,000 per month, as proposed by the bill seems rather large. $500 would employ five competent men, whose services as operators would help materially to build up the business of the company. Incompetent and unreliable operators have been the bane of the company in a large measure, so far, and it is believed that if sufficient salaries are paid to secure first class operators, the business of wireless telegraphy will build itself up within the next two years, if at all.

On of the most important and essential items in the appropriation bill, so far as Maui is concerned, is the $50,000 named to connect East Maui and central Maui by a wagon road. What the Central Pacific was to California, and what the Panama Canal would be to the Islands is relatively what a good road all the way from Paia to Hana would mean to Maui. East Maui can never be developed without a good wagon road, the completion of which will certainly mean that successful small farming and minor industries on east Maui will receive a stimulus which will many times over pay for the construction of a good wagon road opening up that section.

Judging from the text of the bill licensing hackmen, it now begins to seem that Representative Keliioi was right, and that the NEWS and Speaker Beckley were in the wrong. It is true that Japanese and Chinese are killing the business of legitimate hackmen, and if the matter can be corrected by legislation, it would be well, but the present bill seems liable to do more harm than good, and if Representative Keliioi had not been shut off by the previous question in the House, he would probably have shown up certain features of the bill which are eminently objectionable.

The legislators have worked hard this session, and have accomplished about all so far that should be expected of them, all things being considered. It is quite evident however that they will need more time to properly finish their work, and under the circumstances, Governor Dole should if necessary extend the session, in order that many important measures now pending should be passed. Of course he wisely refused to call an extra session two years ago, but conditions are quite different now, and time should be given the present legislature to finish its work properly.

The struggle for race supremacy between the whites and the negroes of the South is fast coming toward a more serious phase than ever before. After the war, the negroes were ignorant, as a mass, and the whites found no trouble in terrorizing them into subjection. But the negroes have steadily been arming themselves with the most effective weapon possible, that of education and intellectual advancement, and are now about ready to wage war in the pulpit from the rostrum and in the press, and the real danger of balanced power is not far off.

The county government bill has become the law, and it is up to the people of Maui to decide whether it will prove a blessing or a curse to us. Properly administered, it will prove a blessing, but wrongly administered it will prove a grievous curse. There is but one thing to be done, and that is for the intelligent classes of the Island to stand together as one man, irrespective of race or politics and name honest and upright men for our county officers. This can be done, and the NEWS has faith to believe that it will be done.

LOCALS

For a good, high grade cigar, drop into the Maui Hotel.

Now is about the right time to subscribe for the Maui News.

Trade winds have set in for the season and are coming fresh and strong.

The Ladies Guild of Wailuku will meet with Mrs. Robertson, Friday, May 1, at 2:30, P. M.

Attorney Case has opened his office in the building formerly occupied by the late George Hons, as a law office.

Do not forget that Dr. George S. Aiken is agent for the best gasoline lamp on Maui, and you should ring him up, if you want one.

Pilot Bob English's "Galilee" and a "Kaupu" will probably try another whirl tomorrow morning, wind and weather permitting.

The Ilimas and Wailukus cross bats tomorrow afternoon at Wells Park in a game which promises to be exciting from start to finish.

First Class, merchantable lumber for sale on the beach, at $22.00 and up, per M., spot cash. Apply to CYRUS T. GREEN.

There will be a reception given to Bishop Retarick at the Alexander House next Friday evening, May 1st, at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

The Honolulu Photo Supply Co. have sent over an elegant line of Island views for sale, samples of which are displayed in the office of the Maui Hotel.

Don't order your job work from Honolulu or Hilo, until you give your local job house a chance to bid for your patronage. Stand by your home industries.

The present spell of warm weather will doubtless remind the ladies that the Hamakua Store carries a specially selected line of Ladies' Summer Dress Goods.

The Bismark Stables Co. are making good their claims to the best teams and rigs in the business, and John Ferreira is proving himself a popular and capable manager.

Quite a number of travelling men for Honolulu and San Francisco business houses, and also a number of transient visitors have made business lively at Wailuku this week.

Notices have been sent out to the members of the Maui Athletic Association announcing the regular meeting on Monday May 4, at which there will be an election of officers for the ensuing year.

In order to set the Honolulu papers right on the national debt of Great Britain, the News begs to state authoritatively that the exact amount is eight hundred thousand million pounds and six pence.

The Honolulu Baseball League has been organized with five teams, the Punahou, Honolulu, Elks, Kamehamehas and Maile Ilimas. The season will open May 16 and close September 19, with two games every Saturday.

Manager Carley of the Maui Telephone Co. is personally supervising repairs on the Lahaina and Olowalu end of the line, and the people of Maui have cause to congratulate themselves on the excellence of our local telephone system.

You can save money, time and trouble by ordering through me all American and foreign newspapers and magazines at lowest prices. All orders will receive prompt attention. ARTHUR WAAL, Lahaina, Maui.

Very encouraging letters are received from Honolulu horsemen, who are a unit in favor of coming to Maui on the Fourth, and satisfactory assurances have been received that all of the best horses on the Islands will here on that day, insuring a grand meet.

With the county bill signed, naming Wailuku as the county seat, with a new courthouse and schoolhouse in sight, with an appropriation for fire protection, and a road up Iao Valley, Wailuku begins to feel like she is getting some of the things that are rightfully coming to her.

Over twenty Hawaiian employees of the K. R. R. Co. had their wages garnished by the tax collector last Saturday, they having refused to pay their taxes. That went do, boys, you are American citizens who will want to vote when the time comes so pungle up without any more kicking.

15 to 8.

The above figures represent the difference between the Ilimas of Kahului and the Lahainas in their initial game.

The result was a genuine surprise to those who were not well acquainted with personnel of the Kahului team. As was stated in last week's News, there are individual players in the Ilima nine who are superior to anything the Lahainas can boast, as was proven in Sunday's game. It was feared by some that the Ilimas would fall short in team practice, but as a matter of fact they played like a machine once they got under headway. The Lahainas of course played well together, but they lacked the keying up which will be needed to place them among the winners. They can play a better game than they put up last Sunday, and they will need some practice work before they butt up against the Stars or Wailukus.

The Ilimas have one advantage over the Lahainas and that is in their relative size and strength. The Lahainas looked like little boys alongside their brawny antagonists, still the Lahainas are lithe, muscular little fellows, and once they get into training, they will hold their own on the Wailuku diamond.

The battery of the Lahainas was Espinda in the pitcher's box and Nihau behind the bat, although Searle pitched the last half of the game. Both pitchers did first-class work, and Nihau proved himself a good paw, although rather slow with return balls. Ned Krueger pitched for the Ilimas, and the fact that he is a post graduate pitcher of the Stars tells the whole story. Wescott caught for the Ilimas, and did some good work, although he let a few expensive ones get away from him. Before the season is over though, he will become a fancy article. Lloyd as a short-stop is a daisy.

Neither team distinguished itself at the bat, because each team had to face first-class pitching. The field work of the Lahainas averaged better than that of the Ilimas, owing doubtless to their last year's team work. The Ilimas however did some fine individual field work, notably a running catch of a fly ball by Medeiros, which was worth framing and hanging up in the parlor, over the piano. Being the maiden game of each team for the season, some raw work was expected, but it did not materialize. Both teams, as a matter of fact, worked like veterans, and if they improve as they may be expected to do, some high class ball may be expected before the end of the league season.

Following is the score by innings:
 Ilimas..... 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
 Lahainas..... 3 0 1 3 0 4 0 2 2—15
 Tomorrow's game will be the first measuring of bats between the Ilimas and Wailukus, both husky teams and so evenly balanced that nobody can guess. The Ilimas have some men who are better than anything the Wailukus possess, but the average strength of the Wailukus is more evenly distributed, and the Wailukus have the additional advantage of prior team practice. It will probably be anybody's game up to the ninth inning, if both teams show up their full strength.

LAHAINA LINES.

Canon William Ault of Wailuku came over for a brief visit on Friday, April 17.

Count Zedtwitz is convalescing from the dengue fever.

Guests at the Hotel, and others, occasionally test their skill at target shooting on the beach.

More bath houses are much needed at Lahaina beach.

Mrs. Sarah Decoto, Miss N. A. Holden and others enjoyed the festivities at the ball, given by the K. of P. Lodge in Wailuku.

Richard Kaluakui, infant son of the teacher at Kaaanapali, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hose, died after a short illness on Saturday afternoon. A large number of friends attended the funeral on Sunday afternoon. The little white casket was adorned with choice floral tributes.

Several Hawaiians have passed away during the last two or three weeks.

Miss Hadley entertained Miss Ellis on Saturday and Sunday. Miss Ellis is an active worker on the staff of the Los Angeles Public Library.

There is a new sign at the office of the Tax Collector.

Off for Fanning Island.

Mr. Fred Ganzell and Mr. J. H. Barr, the two carpenters who built Pieper's large, new hotel at Paia, afterwards went to Fanning Island to erect some buildings for the cable station there, and returned recently. Last Saturday they came over to Maui to catch the Galilee which left for Fanning Islands yesterday where they have a contract to erect other buildings for the cable company.

Mr. Barr kindly accorded the News an interesting interview concerning Fanning Islands. "The island" said Mr. Barr, "is about 15 miles in length and averages about 3 miles in width. In the center of the island is a large lagoon which closely conforms in shape with that of the island, being two miles wide and over 12 miles in length, the land of the island consisting of a narrow strip about half a mile in width entirely surrounding the lagoon. This lagoon which has three outlets to the open sea, simply swarms with fish all the year round and at certain seasons is literally covered with wild duck and other water fowls. Formerly there were large deposits of guano on the island, and traces of old railroad tracks and roads still exist, which were used in the guano trade. The vegetation of the island consists principally of coconut trees, with a few other varieties, including the Pride of India tree, common on Maui. Bananas and small fruits do not flourish, owing to the pure sand soil. "King" Gregg, who owns the island lives on the southern end of it, where there is a reasonably good harbor, and is extensively engaged in the coconut industry. He employs from two to three hundred Gilbert Islanders as laborers, paying them $3.00 per month, under contract with their chief.

"There are fifteen or twenty white persons at the cable station, including two families and a station physician."

A Pretty Boat Race.

Casual visitors at Kahului last Sunday morning were treated to an exciting boat race the contestants being the new whale boat Galilee recently purchased by Pilot Robert English, and the Kaupu, a boat of similar build and size, belonging to the K. R. R. Co. The Galilee is a New Bedford boat, and the Kaupu is a San Francisco boat. Pilot English captained the former and Capt. Peterson, of the "Leslie Baldwin," the latter, the Galilee carrying one-third more spread of canvas than the Kaupu.

The Kaupu took the lead by a few rods at the start which she gallantly maintained out around the brig "Galilee," and out to the flag buoy which she rounded beautifully. The Galilee made an apparently awkward fluke at the flag buoy, giving the Kaupu a hundred yards lead. From the flag buoy, both boats ran outside of all the buoys, swinging in to the new wharf, where it became necessary to tack and run up the wind to the brig Galilee, where another tack put them on the home stretch. At the last tack, the Kaupu dipped a barrel of brine and fluttered like a bird before she could turn and get under way. The Galilee made the tack in splendid style and took a good lead which she held, winning hands down in 14 min. 53 sec. over a 3 mile course.

Last Night's Mass Meeting.

Pursuant to posted notices, there was a largely attended mass meeting held at Wailuku Court House last night. Dr. J. H. Raymond opened the meeting by stating that its objects were two-fold, first to discuss the matter of subsidy for the wireless telegraph company, and second, to give some expression on the matter of condemning land at Kahului for a public wharf. The doctor spoke briefly but eloquently in the affirmative of both propositions, and then suggested that the meeting proceed to organize. G. B. Robertson was elected chairman, D. H. Case, secretary and John Richardson, interpreter. Judge Kalua spoke warmly in favor of a subsidy for the wireless telegraph company and moved that proper resolutions, signed by a committee of twenty-five to be appointed by the chair, be forwarded to the legislature. The motion was heartily seconded, and carried unanimously.

A further resolution was offered by Judge Kalua that a committee of five be appointed to draft and forward a set of resolutions to the legislature requesting an appropriation of $50,000 for a wharf at Kahului, and that in case the legislature cannot see their way to make the appropriation they will memorialize the government of the United States to condemn and purchase a public wharf at Kahului, and that our delegate to congress be requested to interest himself in securing action by the government. This motion also carried unanimously, and the chair appointed as such committee, Judge J. W. Kalua, Judge W. A. McKay, P. E. Lamar, Jas. N. K. Keola and W. H. Cornwell, Jr. After the adoption of a resolution offered by Dr. J. H. Raymond to the effect that the meeting endorse the position which the Superintendent of Public Works has taken with reference to establishing a permanent wharf at McGregor's Landing, instead of Maunaea Bay, the meeting adjourned.
