Landlords Must Watch Step Of Their Tenants

Where Property Owners Have Knowledge of Prohibition Law Violation Lien May Attach to Premises

Efforts at prohibition law enforcement turned in a new direction yesterday when officials took steps to have the landlords of premises occupied by individuals who have been arrested on charges of violating the prohibition law order the tenants to vacate, the attempt being to put such alleged law violators out of business.

Under the prohibition law there is a provision to the effect that wherever the owner of premises has knowledge that his premises are being used for purposes in violation of the prohibition law such premises may be subject to the placing of a lien and the enforcement of such lien to the amount of any and all fines and costs that may be assessed against the offender and not paid by him. The intention is to call to the attention of property owners the fact of arrests made on their premises of alleged violators of the prohibition law thus giving to such owners "the knowledge" required by the law in order to make premises subject to lien.

In cases where liquor is sold on leased premises used as stores, hotels, restaurants or even as private dwelling houses except for liquor sales, it is thought, owners will pay considerably more attention to what is going on in the premises than they have in the past. Should fines of $500 be imposed in two charges and a lien therefor placed on the property of the landlord, the $1000 would make a big hole in his income for the year.

Few landlords have read the prohibition law carefully enough to know of the way its provisions may react against them and the officials feel that with an interest aroused on the part of landlords in their own protection they may put out of business men whom they have thus far been unable to suppress.

Most Powerful Of All Hydro-Electric Plants Completing

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—(Associated Press Mail)—Pit One, said to be the most powerful hydro-electric plant in America, situated in the Pit River district of Shasta county, will be in operation next September, according to officials of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, owners of the project.

The output of Pit One, which is the first of five similar plants to be built by the company, will be 930,000 horsepower, officials say. This horsepower will be transmitted to the San Francisco Bay region at a force of 220,000 volts. Its daily total of energy will be 350,000 kilowatts, or sufficient it is estimated, to drive 700 ten-car passenger trains at a speed of 45 miles per hour.

A tunnel bored two miles through the mountain back of Pit One will receive the entire flow of Fall River a branch of the Pit. From the tunnel portal to the power house, in two penstock lines, each ten feet in diameter, the water drops 454 feet. Here two turbines, harnessed to a pair of generators, will make the "juice."

To bring the electricity to San Francisco, a distance of 250 miles, the company is erecting a tower line at a cost of $7,000,000. These towers, eight to a mile, are mammoth steel structures imbedded in concrete and support six cables, each of which is an inch in diameter.

Substations at Vacaville, Berkeley, Newark and South San Francisco, and the lower voltage line plants between these stations, will cost an additional $5,000,000.

The entire five projects, numbered consecutively Pit One, Pit Two, Three Four and Five, will be completed by 1925, it is expected.

Higashiguchi Must Face Third Charge Of Handling Booze

After his third arrest on Maui on charges of prohibition law violations T. Higashiguchi has been notified to vacate at least one of the premises he leases by the owners of such premises. The owners were told of the law which permits under certain circumstances the imposition of a lien for fines and costs imposed against a lessee who violates the prohibition law.

T. Higashiguchi, with a record of once having been convicted in Honolulu for violating the prohibition law and with two arrests on similar charges on Maui, was arrested for the third time on this island on Saturday evening by Prohibition law Enforcement Officer Crabbe and County Officer Hookini Enos at the Eagle Cafe in Kahului.

Officer Crabbe in an interview with this paper gave out the following story.

He had, he said, just finished looking through three of the Wailuku hostleries and found everything running "Slick as a whistle," when he met Police officer Hookini Enos. Crabbe asked Enos if Higashiguchi was going straight and had stopped his traffic in bootleg liquor. Enos replied that he thought not and at Crabbe's instigation the two left Wailuku in Crabbe's automobile to investigate Higashiguchi's establishment, the Eagle Cafe, at Kahului.

From past experience Officer Crabbe knew that should Higashiguchi see the officers approaching he would make an attempt to destroy any liquor held in the cafe and he gave Enos instructions to jump from the car as Crabbe drove past the place and run into the kitchen immediately. He Crabbe, would follow when he brought the car to a stop. The plan worked very nicely for a moment. Coming close to the cafe Crabbe darkened his lights and stopped the motor intending to coast noiselessly to the cafe door. As Enos jumped from the machine Higashiguchi saw the officers approaching him and Enos dashed into the kitchen where he spoke loudly in Japanese. Enos was the faster however, and as attendant was about to throw a bottle of liquor through a window the officer seized it from him.

The case was set yesterday to come up with the other cases against Higashiguchi today.

Problem Of Saving Lies Of Mothers Tackled By Gotham

NEW YORK, July 9.—(Associated Press Mail)—The high rate among women of the United States during childbirth and the ignorance of the proper methods of nursing and care of the mother have led the Maternity Center Association of New York to publish 12 talks for mothers stressing the vital importance of complete maternity care. More than a million of the pamphlets will be distributed nationally.

The association asserts that more women between the ages of 15 and 45 die from causes incident to maternity than from any other cause except tuberculosis. Dr. Haven Emerson, of the association's advisory board estimates that only one woman out of 17 in the United States receives the benefit of modern medical and nursing science at childbirth. The result, it is said, is that more than 20,000 women lose their lives during childbirth each year, more than 100,000 babies are born dead and more than 100,000 die under the age of one month.

The association hopes to convince expectant mothers that prenatal care is needed, and lead them to present their cases to local nursing and public health organizations and receive personal advice and direction.

Kilauea Returns To Kahului Run

Much Dissatisfaction Expressed Against Inter-Island For Recent Treatment of Maui Traveling Public

With the British steamer Valdura pulled off the reef outside of Honolulu Harbor the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company restored the Kilauea to her run yesterday and she made her voyage from Honolulu to Kahului last night and proceeded on to Hana and Mahukona this morning.

Outspoken complaint and expressions of discontent have been heard from all classes of persons in Maui at the treatment accorded to the island by the Inter-Island Company. It is openly charged that the company without right took one of its passenger and freight steamers off its regular run and schedule without substituting another vessel for it and without having obtained permission from the federal authorities under which the company claims its jurisdiction lies, referring to the taking off of the Kilauea a week ago last Friday. At that time it is said the company sent word to Maui that the Kilauea was laid off for the trip for "necessary machinery repairs," while actually she was being used in efforts to pull the British freighter off the reef.

Following the abandoned trip the Claudine was substituted and next the most unsatisfactory Mikahala while the Kilauea continued to engage in salvage efforts.

From several sources have been heard the proposal that concerted efforts should be made to place the company under jurisdiction of the territorial utilities board where complaints could be made without the delay of communicating with the mainland and as a result of which there would be some one to investigate at once who would be conversant with island conditions.

Chillingworth Much Surprised At Changes He Finds On Maui

Charles F. Chillingworth, president of the territorial senate, Charley as he was known in his school days and early manhood when studying law in his father's office here and is still to his old friends, came over from Honolulu Saturday morning and returned last night. It was his first visit to Maui in nine years and he was much interested in noting the changes which were so many that he seemed surprised. Sunday afternoon, as was to be expected from a fan who has "never got over it," he was at the ball game at the Fair Grounds in Kahului.

Senator Chillingworth was especially interested at the changes and growth of Wailuku where he used to play ball. What was then a ball ground and surrounding fields, makai of Central Avenue and Waiehe of the road to Kahului he saw thoroughly built up with residences. He was greatly interested in the Fair Grounds which he, as a legislator, has assisted in making possible.

Touching on politics Chillingworth said that there was no chance of his entering the lists for delegate to congress, that he could not afford to take the position even if he were elected to it. He was not even certain that he would run for Senator again, he said, as he might go away, but he indicated he will be a candidate if he stays.

As to the race for delegate, the Senator, said it was a matter of much doubt as to which of the three avowed candidates would get the Republican nomination. It would be no walk away for John Wise, he said and he added that there were many who felt Wise could not get a clear majority over the other two in the City and County of Honolulu. Wise seemed to be relying upon a large Maui vote, he thought.

Clear Field For Jarrett Not Sure

Dr. Raymond Objects to What He Considers Efforts of Central Committee to Further Individual Interests

"Bill" Jarrett may not have the clear field for the democratic nomination for delegate to congress that his friends have been expecting for him. Dr. J. H. Raymond is not now a candidate for the nomination but that does not signify that he may not have entered the field before the closing of nominations for the primaries. This morning his reply to the query as to whether or not he would be a candidate for the nomination this year was decidedly non-committal.

"If my nomination papers shall be filed before the date for the closing of nominations for the primary, then it will be known whether or not I am a candidate," says Dr. Raymond. "I have nothing against 'Bill' Jarrett," Raymond continued. "I am sorry he was not named for High Sheriff but the fact that he was not does not constitute him necessarily as the party's choice for delegate. One thing I do object to and that is the central committee taking a stand for any candidate before the primary election and I want to say that the central committee has no right to dictate who shall and who shall not run for the nomination. If McCandless wants to come out, he has the right to do so. If I decide to make the race, that is my privilege and the central committee has no right to attempt to curtail the rights and privileges of any Democrat."

Dr. Raymond made it clear that he has nothing against L. L. McCandless, and said his personal relations with McCandless were and always had been friendly though he might not have agreed with him on matters of political expediency. He also made it clear his feelings toward Jarrett did not enter into the matter and were thoroughly friendly. The point he sought to make was that the democratic central committee should keep hands off of the matter of candidates until the voters at the primary polls.

Second Suit Brought Against Crabbe For Trespass in Case

Suit for $6000 damages for trespass in the case has been filed by Manuel Castro against John Ornelas and Edward C. S. Crabbe, through Attorney Eugene Murphy. This is the second suit of the kind brought against Prohibition Enforcement Officer Crabbe for having entered premises in search of evidence of prohibition law violation without the preliminary of a search warrant. The complaint was filed in the circuit court yesterday, shortly before noon.

In his complaint Castro alleges that the defendants visited his premises on July 14, in his absence and made a search of the premises lasting about half an hour.

Crabbe says that he did visit and search the place but that he was given permission by Mrs. Castro to look about after he had told her that he was told they had wine unlawfully. No wine was found, he admits.

The case appears to be practically in line with one read by Judge Mosman in his recent decision in a Wailuku raid case. In the decision cited permission to enter was given the officer by the wife of the owner of the premises and the court held that the permission given by the wife was no waiver of the constitutional rights of the husband.

Sales Of Patents Of Germans Defended

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)
WASHINGTON, July 24—Senator Underwood, defending the Chemical Foundation and its president Francis Garvan, from the alien property custodian who is being sued by the government for the return of German chemical patents, denied fraud and said German interests were supporting the administrations course in hopes of restitution of property and damages for its use. Underwood declared the sales of rights of German chemical patents for $250,000 was devised before Garvan became alien property custodian, and added the price was adequate when the governments right to use the patents was considered.

Dire Disaster Threatens Unless Strike Settled

Leaders Of Industry In Announcement Say Shut Downs, Unemployment, Food and Fuel Rationing and Other Troubles Are Close At Hand; Harding In Close Touch

CHICAGO July 25—Seriousness of the coal and rail strikes was brought home to the public today through the announcements of leaders in several industries that unless speedy settlements be reached the result will be the closing of many plants, throwing out of employment of thousands, rationing of food and fuel supplies and the crippling of public utilities.

It is asserted that the steel plants will have to close if present freight transportation conditions shall continue until August. Railroad Commissioner Trumbower of Wisconsin said that if the coal and rail strikes continue two weeks more the railroad transportation in his state will be paralyzed. A number of grocery firms are limiting sales of sugar to ten pounds to a purchaser. Twenty three more trains in the Chicago Territory have been cancelled. Some sections of North Dakota have been placed on a tri-weekly train service. Disorders are reported from several parts of the country.

Pessimism Reflected
NEW YORK, July 25—The National Industrial Conference Board reports a pessimistic condition of business because of the railroad, coal and textile strikes. It says 2,000,000 workers are idle as direct result of the strikes, $150,000,000 in wages have been lost since July 1 and the present daily loss is $8,000,000.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Washington Position
WASHINGTON, July 25—The President's advisors contend that his authority is unquestioned to take decisive action as to the coal and rail strikes and that no recourse to congress is necessary. Two courses are open: to request the strikers to return to work under federal operation and at their former wages with seniority rights restored and the other for federal troops to operate them.

White House Statement
A White House statement this morning says that the Railroad Labor Board is the only agency left through which the government can and will deal with the railroad strike situation. President Harding is keeping in close touch with affairs. Another statement from the White House is that the immediate policy of the government in the coal strike is to be a continuation of its efforts to furnish protection for men willing to work in the mines and to endeavor to facilitate the distribution of the dwindling fuel supply.

Guard The Home From Inroads Immorality Convention Purpose

LONDON, July 20—(Associated Press Mail)—The movement in England to protect the family from the inroads of the "passionate affinity" and the "canker of free love" will find expression next October in an international conference which will seek to reestablish the family and the home as the sole basis of national welfare. A Simultaneous appeal will be made to churches in the United States and Britain for the pursuance of this ideal. Eminent public men, doctors and religious leaders are joining in a great movement for the destruction of conditions which they say are eating away the moral fibre of England.

Edward Shortt, Home Secretary; H. A. L. Fisher, Minister of Education; Lord Robert Cecil, member of Parliament; the Archbishop of Wales; Sir R. Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts; Sir James Crichton-Browne, the famous medical authority; Lady Rhonda, the well-known social reformer, and Rev. F. B. Meyer, the Chief Rabbi, are among the leaders.

"The old moral landmarks are becoming submerged," says Sir James Marchmont, General Secretary of the Congress. "The most obvious symptom of the decay of moral responsibility is seen in the widespread irregularity of sex-relations. The whole idea of restraint and temperance is rejected. A still graver danger is that the responsibilities of parenthood are being evaded. Social morality has scarcely entered into the minds of the multitude. The high standard of woman's influence in the home, the nurture of child life, and the tone of society are being lowered. In the novel and drama sex relations are being discussed with an abandonment of reserve which is morally pernicious."

Rally In Eighth Beats Wacs; Tony Caswell Threatens Haiku

Mandarins Fall On Moniz With Two Out and Shatter Hopes of Wacs in Gruelling Game

When manager George Cummings let August Moniz stay perched on the slab after the seventh canto, George said goodbye to what looked like a Wacs victory over the cosmopolitan mandarins. Not that Moniz wasn't there with plenty of stuff, but after those seven gruelling innings with rather erratic support from his team mates, August showed signs of being all in.

Wacs Lead Off

Wells Cummings started the Wacs at run getting. In the first frame after the Chinese had been let down easily, Haake walked Bill Cummings and Asam two straight. Cockett hit to the infield forcing Jimmie at second and Cummings was called out at the plate by Leandro on a rather shaky decision. Wells Cummings doubled through second and Cockett romped home with the first tally. Frank Bal found Haake for a terrific drive over third base that should have been an easy double but Alcong made a blind stab in the air and the ball found his glove.

Mandarins Tie

Business of playing ball went along then as peaceful as the Soviet convention at the Hague until the fifth when an overthrow of a bag proved costly to the Wacs. Alcong opened activities with a Texas leaguer over Wells' head that was good for a single. Ah Tau sacrificed him along to the half way mark inside stuff looked good to Silva and he repeated, safely beating the throw to first. Waiwaiole threw over third in an attempt to hook Alcong and the mandarin third baseman headed for home.

Moniz put the Wacs in the lead again in their half when he reached second on Shims' error and was scored on a sacrifice by Asam.

Bon Swa Wacs

It was all over in the eighth and after two were down. Enos doubled to center, Wadsworth tripled to left scoring Enos. Alcong doubled to center, scoring Wadsworth. Moniz then walloped Ah Tau with a pitched ball and passed him to first. Silva bunt safe and Alcong registered. Shim expired Moniz to Waiwaiole.

Chinese followers got a scare handed to them on the ninth but the rally was short lived. After Waiwaiole had fanned, Ray Freitas tripled and scored on Rego's sacrifice. Moniz singled and the grandstand arose to its feet. Then came Bill Cummings but the second baseman succumbed to Haake's curves and Moniz died at first.

Haiku Closes Gap In Pennant Race

Eighteen hits aided by six errors on the part of the Pauwela nine gave Haiku an easy victory to the tune of 14 to 8 in the second game of the East Maui League played at Paia Sunday afternoon.

Sports Twirler Shows Cool Head In Pinches But Two Unearned Runs Give Haiku Victory

Tony Caswell pitched swell ball for the straight bats. Sunday afternoon and handed the invincible Rice Birds the closest shave they have had during the season. Tony might have won his game had it not been for over ambition on the part of his partner at the receiving end of his delivery who with the bases full and one down heaved wild to third in an attempt to catch Chartrand off the bag thus allowing the fast running out gardener to tally.

Reis was working in the box for Haiku and showed the best form he has displayed this year. Reis had the advantage on the game, issuing passes to but two men against Tony's three and whiffed eight to Caswell's five but the Haiku twirler did not have to work in the pinches as did Caswell.

No Runs Earned

Souza opened that round with a single to center and Chartrand was safe on Rodriguez error. Robinson singled and the bases were full. Chris forced Souza at the plate and then Scholtz heaved to third and Chartrand scored. Haole beat a bunt to first but Tony replied by catching Foster off third. Reis was an easy out, Sequeira to Rodriguez.

An error in the third gave Haiku their last tally. Chartrand walked. Robinson flew to center. Cockett fanned. Chartrand stole second and was passed to third when Sequeira muffed Scholtz's peg to second. Haole singled scoring Chartrand.

Sports Tally

In the fifth Reis hit Caswell and passed him to the first sack and he pilfered second on the first ball thrown. Maxwell then came to the fore with a single that sent Tony over the rubber. Maxwell took second in the melee around home. Rego popped up to second and Maxwell stole third. Alo spoiled things by fanning.

Tony showed the fans he has got a head on his shoulders in the eighth frame when he walked Haole with a man on second and third to get Reis. He got him, Reis fanned on three struck balls.

Lose Chance

The Sports lost their last chance through inability to hit.

Opening the eighth, Sequeira walked. Great hopes were pinned on Rego who has a knack of hitting at the opportune moment but he popped to Souza. Alo followed with a pop fly to Rolph and A. Baldwin died by the same route to Souza.

Kahului Store Drubs Paia Much To Rosey's Disgust

Mortal combat was almost entered into on the Spreckelsville diamond Sunday morning when the Kahului store baseball nine met and did battle with a similar aggregation bearing the title of Paia Store.

Kahului won, letting the Easterner's down on the short end of a 5-3 register. According to reports, Manager Rosecrans of the Paia team favored but few of the acting arbitrators decisions and voiced that sentiment often.

One Hit Game Twirled By Kula Star Moundsman

Striking out 20 batters, allowing one hit, and winning his game 17 to 3 is the record established in the East Maui circuit by Neil Blaisdell the Kula star twirler on the Paia diamond Sunday afternoon.

Blaisdell was entitled to a shutout, the Filipinos scoring their only three counters in the sixth inning without the aid of a single safe hit.

Lee opened the game on the mound for the Filipinos but was very ineffective. Eleven runs and as many safety were scored from the delivery of the son of Rizal in the first six cantos. Raphael was sent in to relieve Lee in the seventh but failed to stop the hillsmen, six runs and five hits being scored against him.

Bull Fighting Loses Casts In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 26—(Associated Press Mail)—The future of bull fighting in Mexico is not as certain as its most ardent devotees would wish as the result of a series of newspaper and other attacks against it as the national sport.

Protests that the spectacles are "barbarous and uncivilized" have been frequently expressed by contributors to local newspapers and the Council of Culture and Arts recently engaged in heated debate over their continuation. At the last session of congress a bill was introduced in the lower house asking for the abolition of bullfights but it was pigeon-holed and never came up for discussion.

Assurance is given, however, that the bill will be revived at the next session of congress opening in September with absolute certainty that it will be called up for debate.

Several clubs and societies in Mexico City have gone on record as opposed to the sport and all protestants are finding a ready champion in the newspaper El Universal whose editor, Felix F. Palavicin is unalterably against it. On the contrary, Rafael Alducin, editor of Excelsior, is one of the most enthusiastic followers of the games.

Tam and Ting Win Doubles Title In Hard Fought Sets

Eddie Tam and Young Ting are the doubles tennis champions of Maui. They won the title Saturday afternoon on the Puunene Court from Yee and Yee, taking three straight sets after losing the first two. It was a hotly contested, more hotly contested than the score in other than the first and final sets would indicate.

The first set which went to the Yee Brothers at 10-8 was a see-saw affair with each team taking the lead time and again. The second set was also won by the Yee Brothers by a score of 6-2. With no signs of discouragement, Tam and Ting tightened up and took the third set from their opponents by the score of 6-1. The fourth set opened up with a bang with Tam and Ting taking five games straight. The sixth game went to the Yee Brothers who in turn lost the seventh game, giving their victors another set at 6-1.

Although the scores were not so close as was expected, very excellent tennis was displayed throughout the third and fourth sets. With two sets apiece to each team, Tam and Ting opened up the fifth and deciding set by taking three straight games. The Yee Brothers then opened fire on their opponents by taking three games also, which evened up the score. The seventh game went to Tam and Ting and the eighth game going to the Yee Brothers, which again tied the score. The ninth game was won by Tam and Ting and the 10th and 11th went to their opponents. The score then stood at 6-5 in favor of the Yee Brothers. With the spectators filled with excitement and both teams keeping down their nerves, the 12th game went to Tam and Ting. Thus the score stood even again and it was an open victory for either team. The spectators stood alert with little less excitement as Tam and Ting took the 13th and 14th games and won set 8-6 and the match 8-10, 2-6, 6-1, 6-1 and 8-6.

Ladies Doubles

In the All-Maui Ladies Doubles Mrs. Deinet and Mrs. Hughes won from Mrs. Kunewa and Miss Young 6-3 and 6-2.

Entries are now open for both the men's and the women's all Maui singles and both tournaments are expected to be in full swing soon after August 1.

Bones Of Prehistoric Man Found Encased In Cemented Gravel

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24—(Associated Press Mail)—Amateur anthropologists and students interested in man's beginnings in North America are speculating on what may result from the Smithsonian Institution's study of the skull of the Stanford man. This human fragment, encased in cemented gravel, recently was unearthed from the bank of San Francisco creek on the western boundary of the campus at Stanford University and forwarded to the institution. Its antiquity apparently is unquestioned, but the place it will occupy in the history of man's prehistoric development remains for science to determine.

The fact that the skull was found 18 feet below the level of the surrounding plain indicates, according to Dr. Bailey Willis, professor of geology at Stanford University, that its age may be from two thousand to ten thousand years. The structure of the skull differs from that of the American Indian and has the prominent bony ridges above the eyes, which is a characteristic of the primitive man.

There have been no discoveries of human fossils of extreme antiquity on the North American continent and in scientific circles it is generally agreed that man's first appearance on the western hemisphere was long ages after he had settled himself in the Valleys of Central Europe. If that theory is accepted, the Stanford man was comparatively a modern individual although he may have antedated civilization by many centuries.

The oldest human relic yet discovered glories in the name of "Pithecanthropus erectus," otherwise the erect ape man and he belonged to an age so remote that no other trace or record of his kind ever has been found. "Pithecanthropus" flourished, as nearly as science can estimate, one million years ago. The relics consist of his skull, a thigh bone and a couple of molar teeth and they were found in Java by a Dutch surgeon in 1891 under fifty feet of strata. So far as it was possible to draw conclusions from him after a reconstruction of the fragments, was evident that he was something less than a man and something higher than an ape. He was between the two extremes and probably belonged to a species from which the human race was evolved, Java, when "Pithecanthropus" and his kind foregathered, was a part of the Asiatic mainland, in scientific opinion.

Before this oldest scrap of mankind came to light and intrigued the imagination of the scientific world, other human relics had been discovered in Central Europe, but their age was as naught compared with the man of Java. The Heilberg man whose only relic is a single bit of jawbone, was unearthed at a depth of about 80 feet in the Mauer sands near Heidelberg, Germany in 1907. His age was estimated at about 500,000 years or half that of his ancestor, Pithecanthropus.

The Piltown man, whose remains consist of skull fragments, was turned up in a gravel bed at Piltown,

Sussex, England, in 1911. Great as was his antiquity, science fixed his time on earth as about 250,000 years ago. In 1856 a skull cap and other parts of a human skeleton came to light near Dusseldorf, Germany. His age was figured at about 100,000 years and he became known in anthropology as the Neanderthal man. The great ages of these fossils dwarf almost into insignificance anything that might be expected of the Stanford man, but students nevertheless believe that a reasonable antiquity can be established for this latest find in the link of the human chain.

Every Tire Is Signed

Two men sign every Miller Tire—the maker and the inspector. Both are penalized if a tire comes back.

Under this method, defects have become extremely rare. Not a tire came back for adjustment to many Miller dealers last year.

Over 1,000 tires yearly are worn out in Miller factory tests.

All the best rival tires are constantly compared with the Miller, with these results:

Millers now excel all rivals, both in average and in uniform mileage.

Miller treads outwear rival treads by 25 per cent on the average.

Miller Cords average 15,000 miles—Miller Fabrics from 8,000 to 9,000 miles—in rear-wheel tests under extreme conditions.

You will gain a new idea of modern tires when you test a new-type Miller. Get one now and watch it. The super-service of the Miller Tire is now everywhere discussed.

County Committees Are Retained In Party Organization

County committees are not abolished by the amended rules of the party adopted at the biennial convention in Honolulu last week. The duties of such committees are more clearly defined and their jurisdiction is strictly differentiated from the Territorial Central Committee. County campaigns and elections are left practically under full control of the county committees while the main control of the party is in the central committee which has practically sole control in regard to territorial matters.

The more important revisions of the rules affecting precinct clubs and the territorial and county committees follow:

Section 17 of Article 1 of the rules and regulations of the Republican party has been amended to read as follows: "Each precinct club shall meet biennially, in the same year as the general elections at 7:30 p. m. on the first Thursday in June, or upon the call of the territorial central committee, or its executive committee, or the county committee, and shall make nominations for the officers of the club and delegates to the territorial convention, and on the second Saturday following said first Thursday in June they shall by ballot elect officers for the ensuing two years and delegates to the territorial convention as hereinbelow provided. Nominations shall be open from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. and shall be filed in writing with the chairman of the meeting. The chairman shall announce to the meeting immediately upon the filing of any nominations, the name of the nominee and the office for which he is nominated; and this announcement shall be prima facie evidence as to the validity of the nomination. Provided, however, that such nomination shall not entitle the person so nominated to be a candidate if he shall later be found ineligible to hold the office for which he was nominated."

"Each precinct club shall meet on the first Thursday at 7:30 p. m. of the third month next preceding the date set for the general county election to make nominations for members of the county committees to be voted for on the 2nd Saturday following said first Thursday as hereinbelow provided. Nominations shall be open from 7:30 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. and shall be filed in writing with the chairman of the committee. The chairman shall announce to the committee immediately upon the filing of any nominations the name of the nominee and the office for which he is nominated; and this announcement shall be prima facie evidence as to the validity of the nomination; provided, however, that such nomination shall not entitle the person so nominated to be a candidate if he shall later be found ineligible to hold the office for which he was nominated."

Duties Are Set Forth Section 3 of Article 2 has been amended to read as follows: "The county committee shall be charged with the general care and supervision of the party within its county. It shall take such measures as it may deem expedient to secure the organization and maintenance of a precinct club in every precinct, and to secure the cooperation of Republican voters with party workers, and shall have general charge of all campaigns within its county, subject, however, to the control of the territorial central committee. If any precinct club shall fail to nominate and elect a member of the committee, or in case of a vacancy, said committee shall appoint a member by nomination of the executive committee of such precinct club, who shall serve for the remainder of the term."

Section 12 of Article 5 has been amended to read as follows: "The territorial central committee shall meet on the first Monday of each and every month at Republican territorial headquarters, Honolulu, at 7:30 p. m., or at such other times and places as the committee may direct. Called meetings shall be held, upon two weeks' notice by the secretary to the various members, when directed so to do by the chairman or the executive committee of the territorial committee, or by written request of five members of the committee."

Section 7 of Article 9, relating to appeals, has been amended to read as follows: "An appeal in writing may be taken from any action of a precinct club, or its executive committee, to the executive committee of the territorial central committee on territorial matters, and to the county committee on county matters, as the case may be. In the event of an appeal, the records of such appeal, or a certified copy thereof, shall be sent to the appellate body by the appellee's secretary. In case of dispute the decision of the executive committee of the territorial central committee shall be final on the question whether the matter is territorial or county."

The committee added a new section to Article 9 which states that no fractional vote shall be permitted in any territorial convention.

English As Mother Tongue Of Foreign Stock Shows Decrease

(Special to Maui News) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 30—The Department of Commerce announces that according to the census of 1920, the number of persons included in the foreign white stock of the United States whose mother tongue was reported as English or Celtic (including) Irish, Scotch, Welsh, and Manx, practically all of whom were English speaking) decreased from 9,970,861 in 1910 to 9,729,365 in 1920, the rate of decrease being 2.4 per cent, and the number of white persons of German mother tongue declined during the same period from 3,546,492 to 3,164,109, a decrease of 10.8 per cent; while for all other important linguistic stocks increases are shown, some of them at very high rates. In particular, the group reporting Italian as the mother tongue increased from 2,131,393 to 3,365,864, or at the rate of 57.6 per cent; the Polish increased from 1,684,198 to 2,436,895, or at the rate of 44.7 per cent; the "Yiddish and Hebrew" from 1,664,142 to 2,043,613, or at the rate of 22.8 per cent; while the number of persons reporting the Russian language as their mother tongue grew from 91,341 to 731,949, the rate of increase being more than 700 per cent.

Terms Defined By "foreign white stock" is meant the total foreign-born white population plus the native white population having one or both parents foreign born. The term "mother tongue" refers to the language of customary speech in the homes of the immigrants before coming to this country. Foreign-born persons are classified according to their own mother tongue, while natives of foreign or mixed parentage are classified parents.

In 1910 the "English and Celtic" group formed 30.8 per cent of the total foreign white stock; in 1920, only 26.7 per cent. In 1910 persons of German mother tongue constituted 26.8 per cent of the total foreign white stock; in 1920, only 22.4 per cent. During the same period the Swedish group showed a decline from 4.3 per cent to 4.1 per cent, the Norwegian, from 3 per cent to 2.8 per cent and the French from 4.0 to 3.5 per cent. Practically all the other mother tongues, including all the important ones, showed increases.

English Still Leads Named in the order of their numerical importance, the leading mother tongues represented in the foreign white stock of the United States in 1920 are as follows: English and Celtic, 9,729,365; German 3,164,109; Italian, 3,365,864; Polish, 2,436,895; Yiddish and Hebrew, 2,043,613; Swedish, 1,485,962; French, 1,290,110; Norwegian, 1,020,788. These eight mother tongues represented 29,555,896 or 81.1 per cent, of the 36,398,958 persons constituting the foreign white stock of the United States as enumerated in 1920.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE SCHOOLS

Attempts to bribe examiners in the tests for basic licenses to teach in foreign language schools will have a tendency to add further to the sentiment for elimination of such institutions. It is true that of all those who took the examination only two, so far as known, were so fool hardy as to attempt to resort to corrupt practices but the public ever pays more attention to the going astray of one person than to the fact that a thousand toil along the path of rectitude. If a minister of gospel or a pillar or a church goes wrong there is much to do made of it and the fact that overwhelming majority go straight receives no comment. So all foreign language school teachers will share to a greater or less extent the snitching that comes with the befouling of their profession by would be bribe givers.

As a matter of fact the foreign language school teachers are probably no better and no worse than men of their nationalities in other walks of life. The offenders in Honolulu either have not grasped American ideals or they are "too sophisticated" according to an optimistic or pessimistic point of view. Attempted bribery, bribe giving and bribe taking, are, most unfortunately, offenses from which the American social system is by no means free but an American would know better than to attempt to corrupt school heads or school teachers. It is crass ignorance that the two foreigners showed.

However, the point that stands out clearly is that opponents of foreign language schools will use the incidents told of in the news from Honolulu further to strengthen their already strong arguments. Recently a strong effort was made to insert an outspoken statement on the subject in the Republican platform. The issue was not settled but was compromised by the last legislature. It may be expected to come up again at the next legislative session.

From the outset of the agitation against foreign language schools there has been one and only one basic solution of the difficulty and there is a steadily growing recognition of the futility of other means to check the evils that are complained of. The solution is the introduction of an optional course in Japanese in the government public schools with American born and American trained Japanese as the teachers. If it is good for the children of Japanese to know that language then children of American parentage and American born children of parents of other nationalities should be accorded the same advantage. From the geographical location of these islands and from the large proportion of Japanese resident here, the Japanese language will long be commercially important to residents of the islands. On the face of the proposal it would seem to entail a considerable expense but such expenditure would be in the nature of a saving in the end.

It might even be possible to attach a very small tuition fee for those who desire such optional course which would make it in part even if not entirely self sustaining. Under such a plan the department of public instruction would know exactly what was being taught to the pupils and there could no longer be charged that instruction in the Japanese tongue had a tendency to delay Americanization and retard the assimilation of the Nipponese in Hawaii.

COUNTY COMMITTEE RETAINED.

Nothing drastic was done by the Republican Committee in its revision of the rules of the party relative to the territorial and county committees and the precinct clubs and their powers and jurisdiction. The county organizations are retained with a member of such committee from each precinct, the territorial committee is supreme in all territorial affairs but is not to interfere in campaigns and elections for county offices.

It appears that a breaking down of the county committee in Honolulu was responsible for the proposal to eliminate county committees which was abandoned in committee for the wiser and better plan of building up the county organizations to fulfill the purposes for which they were intended. As a matter of fact such breaking down of the Honolulu Committee probably came, to a large extent, from the tendency of the territorial committee to confuse or combine county affairs with territorial since Honolulu is the capital. There has always been a tendency in Honolulu to look upon the territorial offices as Honolulu offices to be filled by residents of the city and county of Honolulu.

Such a view is borne out from the published interview with A. L. Castle in a Honolulu paper where he said that the Maui and Kauai county committees were functioning well but that in Honolulu it was necessary to revivify the county body.

As this paper said when the proposal was broached about two weeks ago, the county committees are an essential part of a party organization, and in each precinct there must be some one person at least who shall be responsible for the organization there. Such is the view that prevailed with the rules committee at the convention.

CURRENT ASSESSMENTS FAVORED

Unpleasant, disagreeable and often costly experiences are sometimes necessary in order to convince where clear and lucid arguments have failed and so it comes that the taxation plank in the Republican platform is interpreted by Governor Farrington to mean, among other things that "current assessments ultimately shall be the basis for current taxes."

Before the last session of the legislature committees from the County of Maui and the Maui Chamber of Commerce outlined a list of desirable legislative changes and one of the most important suggestions made was for the basing of current taxes upon a current assessment, not upon the valuation of the preceding year. The bill was introduced but it failed of passage and then came the lesson that has to be learned.

THE OPTIMISTIC PESSIMIST

As yet no poet has arisen to sing the praises of the new "oken" bucket that hung near the still.

Cheer up! The Inter-Island Company has not yet chartered any one of the Maalaea Bay sampans to substitute on the Honolulu-Kahului run for the Kilauea.

Those in Honolulu who still complain as to the brevity of bathing costumes appear to spend a considerable part of their time rubbering to see them.

If it were not for woman, man would be in a sorry plight. He would have no excuses to make for his own short comings. Still he would not have to make so many excuses but for lovely woman. The fair sex is the one best and constant alibi man has to offer even to herself.

He or she who offers the excuse "I didn't think" is in reality confessing to another fault and merely aggravating the offense charged.

Underlying humanity is like a beautiful spring of crystal water. Not until it flows through a discoloring environment is its clarity beclouded.

It is pure self conceit that leads a man to expect that the girl who likes to go about before marriage will care for nothing but to sit and watch him read after the honey moon has waned.

Some persons are able to treat their troubles like naughty children, put them to bed and go on about their business. Others nurse their troubles as if they were sick children.

If the jazz is dead as some folk insist it has not yet awakened to the fact.

The man who is sure he is always right should try umpiring a ball game once in a while to learn what others think about it.

Sammy Good is reported from Los Angeles to have his wife for a sparring partner. No news in that; lots of folk find their chief recreation in sparring with their wives.

The old plan and the one which now prevails works finely when business and industry are constantly on the up-grade but breaks down as soon as a reaction sets in. During pre-war and war times for a number of years past there was an increase in assessed valuations year after year and no difficulties in the way of meeting governmental expenses from taxes were encountered. Then—away went the sugar market and like the rest of the world Hawaii encountered decreasing values, reduced incomes from business enterprises. The arguments that had been advanced on Maui were exemplified forthwith. This county has been able to get along as well as it has done only because of two special taxes that were permitted, the special school building tax and the special tax for the support of sanitarium and hospitals. Other counties, especially Hawaii County were not so fortunate.

Revision of tax methods is necessary and the plank in the platform is a proper one. Such revision should be a sweeping one and should provide that a county may determine for itself its own needs, raise such funds by fixing the rate for itself, and that the territorial needs should be met in addition to those of the county, briefly that county needs shall not ever and always be subordinated to those of the territory.

The proposal to include a plank for reapportionment in the Republican platform, surely emanating from Honolulu, came to a sudden end when it was said that if included the legislative candidates from Maui and other counties than Honolulu would have to run as independents.

It was not to be expected that the County of Hawaii would consent to a platform plank which would declare against county officials holding legislative seats. A glance over the Big Island political roster shows why the plank failed of inclusion.

Pele has not left Halemaumau after all. She was just taking a summer vacation and is returning to her home and setting the house to rights preparing for a real housewarming for which invitations may be expected to issue soon.

Those who think that prices have not come down since the war as they should have are recommended to the "What you can get for $1" page in this issue of this paper. They will have their pessimism disabused. Such a page, also, is a convincing answer to those who say that newspaper advertisements are not generally read. Maui News ventures to say that more than 90 percent of its readers will find the new feature advertising page full of interest. It is proposed to make the page a once a month feature of this paper.

Much complaint is being heard because of the Inter-Island Steam Navigation taking the Kilauea off the Honolulu-Kahului run without a substitute for one trip and with most unsatisfactory substitutes since. The public considers the company a "utility corporation" not a salvage and wrecking company which carries on transportation as a secondary consideration.

The Stanford Crimsons will not be over for games with Maui. The fans will survive and just as a suggestion to the baseball league officials it might be as well to lay off spending money for outside attractions until after the Fifth Annual Maui County Fair. The greater part of the receipts from games with visiting teams goes away from Maui.

WITH SAFETY

The outstanding feature of the market for bonds during recent months has been the heavy buying for permanent investment.

Notwithstanding that this demand has resulted in a substantial advance in prices for bonds in general, the present outlook indicates a gradual trend toward the level which prevailed some years ago, particularly as applied to issues of the better grade, which still yield a liberal return.

It is doubtful if it will be possible for several years to purchase bonds at prices which will yield the return now possible.

Gandhi At War With Medical Science And Modern Civilization

AHMEDABAD, India, June 5.—(Associated Press Mail)—Mahatma Gandhi, in prison here for sedition, declares his loss of liberty cannot materially effect the progress of India nationalism, and urges his friends to carry on the work in which he had so large a part. He has no complaint to make regarding his treatment by prison officials.

Gandhi remains loyal to the principle of Swadeshi, which he defines as "that spirit in us which restricts us to the use and service of our immediate surroundings, to the exclusion of the more remote." In religion he would follow only the forms of worship used by his ancestors; in politics, he would make use only of indigenous institutions; in economic life, he would use only things produced by his immediate neighbors, and would serve only those industries which are native to his own country. He is at enmity with modern civilization.

Airs His Views

Writing to a friend in India, Gandhi explains his beliefs and aims in these words:

"There is no impossible barrier between East and West. There is no such thing as Western or European civilization, but there is a modern civilization which is purely material. The people of Europe, before they were touched by modern civilization, had much in common with the people of the East.

"It is not the British people who are ruling India, but it is modern civilization, through its railways, telegraphs, telephones, and almost every invention which has been claimed to be a triumph of civilization. Bombay, Calcutta and the other chief cities of India are the real plague spots.

"If British rule were replaced tomorrow by Indian rule based on modern methods, India would be no better, except that she would be able then to retain some of the money that is drained away to England; but then India would become only a second or fifth nation of Europe or America. East and West can only really meet when the West has thrown overboard modern civilization, almost in its entirety. They can also seemingly meet when the East has also adopted modern civilization, but that meeting would be an armed truce.

Medicine Black Magic

"Medical science is the concentrated essence of black magic. Quackery is infinitely preferable to what passes for high medical skill. Hospitals are the instruments that the devil has been using for his own purpose, in order to keep his old on his kingdom. They perpetuate vice, misery, degradation and real slavery. If there were no hospitals for venereal diseases, or even for consumptives, we should have less consumption, and less sexual vice among us.

India should wear no machine-made clothing, whether it comes out of European mills or Indian mills.

"India's salvation consists in unlearning what she has learned during the past 50 years. The railways, telegraphs, hospitals, lawyers, doctors and such like have all to go, and the so-called upper classes have to learn to live religiously and deliberately the simple peasant life, knowing it to be a life giving true happiness.

"There was true wisdom in the sages of old having so regulated society as to limit the material condition of the people; the rude plow of perhaps 5,000 years ago is the plow of the husbandman today. Therein lies salvation. People live long under such conditions, in comparative peace much greater than Europe has enjoyed after having taken up modern activity.

Philippine Medical College Coming Up Class A. Standard

MANILA, P. I., June 20.—(Associated Press Mail)—Bringing the college of medicine and surgery of the University of the Philippines up to the recognized standard of class "A" colleges of this sort in the United States by revision of the college curriculum, and the establishment of a central nursing school that will double the number of trained nurses graduated annually in the Philippines, are two of the important measures regarding public health and the control of disease that have come about from the work of Dr. Victor G. Heiser, Far Eastern representative of the Rockefeller Foundation, since his arrival here three months ago.

Dr. Heiser summarized what has been done in a report to Governor General Wood and the director of health. He invited attention to the fact that the health activities of the Philippines are not centralized under one department secretary, as he believes they should be and he therefore recommends that the legislation to do this, which failed of passage in the last legislature, be brought up again.

The International Health Board has furnished the services of Dr. Charles N. Leach to the Philippine government for health work, of Dr. W. S. Carter as assistant dean of the college of medicine and surgery and professor of physiology, of Miss Alice Fitzgerald as consultant in nursing and of D. W. Tiedeman as sanitary engineer in charge of field studies in malaria which have been undertaken in the province of Laguna.

About 4,000 of the 5,000 lepers on Cullion Island are receiving modern treatment and arrangements have been made to bring all the non-leper children to Manila where they will be cared for in a suitable institution.

Dr. Heiser said a study of the typhoid epidemic has been made and possible sources of infection pointed out, with the result that the epidemic is becoming less severe. He said typhoid is a particular menace to the Philippines, as intestinal borne diseases are very difficult to eradicate in this tropical climate.

The Daily Fun Hour

King in the Castle

Once upon a time there was a King of Denmark—perhaps the father of the real Hamlet—and this King was put in prison in a castle, and placed on starvation diet by his political opponents. He escaped often, but was recaptured each time and placed in another dungeon. At last he was rescued by a strong party of his friends, and his enemies were imprisoned. To this historical source may be traced the old Danish game, King in the Castle.

A circle drawn on the ground is the King's Castle. One player is counted out to be King. He remains in the circle. The other players, the Foeman, come near to taunt him. They sing in chorus, all the time approaching as near as they dare:

To the castle of the King we go; Ha-ha-ha! Ha-ha-ha!

Is His Majesty at home? He's safe in prison eating crow; Ha-ha-ha! Ha-ha-ha!

Abroad he dare not roam! The King tries to tag any one of his opponents, but, according to the rule of the game, he is not permitted to put more than one foot out of his castle while he is attempting to tag a Foeman. Any Foeman captured (tagged) by the King becomes King and goes into the prison-castle, while the former King joins the army of Foeman. If the King does not tag a Foeman after a certain time, all pelt him with paper balls, singing:

King in the Castle, Foeman all free, King in the Castle, couldn't catch me.

Spoon Bread

One cup of cornmeal—either white or yellow, one cup of sweet milk, two cups of boiling water, one or two eggs, butter size of a walnut, one teaspoonful of salt. Put the meal in a saucepan and pour the boiling water on it. Add the salt and butter while cooking. Cook this for five minutes and stir constantly. Remove from stove and add (stirring the mixture) the milk and the eggs (which should have been well beaten.) Bake in moderate oven for thirty minutes. Use shallow pans.

The addition of rice—about two tablespoons—will greatly improve this bread.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

The House of Magic

By DADDY

Copyright 1921, by Public Ledger Co.

Jack and Janet come upon a house of bark where dwells an Indian Medicine Man, who holds under enchantment an Indian maiden and young chief whom he has turned into a fawn and a wolf. The evil Medicine Man plans to have the wolf kill the fawn.

CHAPTER V The Magic Pot

WHIRRING SNAKE, the Indian Medicine Man, looked in triumph at the Indian maiden and the young chief whom he had turned into a timid fawn and a fierce wolf.

"Ah ha! I shall call the Indian tribe to a great feast," chanted Whirring Snake in his evil song. I shall feed with magic food, and thus gain their hearts. They will make me their chief when the wolf has devoured the fawn."

He gnashed his teeth and vainly tried to leap toward the Medicine Man

The wolf, who was Chief Swift Wolf under enchantment—snarled savagely. He gnashed his teeth and vainly tried to leap toward the Medicine Man.

Whirring Snake laughed at the wolf's frantic efforts to get loose. He walked to the door of the house of bark and raised his voice in a loud call.

"Ho-ya! Ho-ya! Come all ye hungry Indians to my feast!" he cried. "Come, hold braves, come ye squaws, come ye papooses! I will feed ye well with my magic food!"

The Indian came flocking at the call Jack and Janet could see them through the open door. They were wild Indians, wrapped in blankets and with feathers sticking in their braided hair. They gathered around the house of bark in a large circle. At the order of the Medicine Man they built great fires on which to roast the magic food he was to provide.

"Ah ha! Now who will help me in my magic?" cried Whirring Snake. "I need a dozen sparrows and six fat mice and two big rats!"

At that strange request the Indian boys ran about excitedly, hunting for sparrows and mice and rats. Soon they came with a dozen sparrows, six fat mice and two big rats.

The Medicine Man took the sparrows, the mice and the rats into the house of bark and closed the door so none outside might see what he did.

He spit a sparrow on the end of a spear and plunged it into his magic pot. At the same time he muttered queer words, "Hullabaloo, magic stew, do, do, what I want you to do." He drew the spear out and on the end where the sparrow had been was a large turkey, ready to be broiled and eaten. He placed the turkey aside and took up another sparrow. This, too, he changed into a turkey, and so on with all the others until he had a dozen fine turkeys.

Then the Medicine Man put a mouse on the spear and plunged it into the pot. Instantly the mouse grew so large it overflowed the pot. The Medicine Man had to use all his strength to lift it out. It had been changed into a fat pig, ready to be broiled and eaten. And so it went with the other five mice. All became pigs.

When the Medicine Man came to the rats, he cut each into four pieces with his sharp tomahawk. When he plunged these into the magic pot they turned into quarters of beef, ready to be broiled and eaten.

"Here is your feast!" cried the Medicine Man, opening the door of the house of bark and beginning to hand out the turkey, pigs and quarters of beef. The Indians whooped with joy, and dragged the magic food to the fires to finish cooking it.

When the last quarter of beef had been dragged away, the Medicine Man closed the door and turned to Jack and Janet. "Ah ha! Now I am going to turn you into young bears," he muttered. "After Chief Swift Wolf has devoured the lovely Spotted Fawn and been slain for his hide, we will have a bear hunt, and that will be the last of you."

That was bad news, but Jack was ready for it. He had thought of a plan to save himself and Janet and the enchanted Indian maiden and young chief as well.

(What Jack's plan was and how it works will be told Friday.)

With Maui's Girl Scouts

"Pokuelani Camp, Kailua, July 9, 1922.
 "Dear Miss Seibert:
 "I am going to tell you about the track meet we had on July 8th. There were two groups. One was group One and the other group Two. We had the 50 yard dash. Many girls entered and Anna Furtado got the first prize, Dorothy Cup Choy the second and Kanayo Fujimura the third.
 "Then we had the baseball distance throw and Kanayo got the first prize, Violet Tam Wong second and Olga Freudenberg got third. In the standing broad jump Dorothy got first, Kikuyo Matsumoto second and Anna Furtado third. There was a knot relay won by group one who got ten points. Next we played a game of baseball and group one got the game. The score was 5-2. We had a girl signal and tried to see what group would get the sentence. We were given 75 points to guess the sentence but nobody got it.
 "After all the sports we had a swimming meet. We had to swim 50 yards. Four girls entered and Anna Furtado got the first prize, Irmgard Farden came second and Olga Freudenberg third. We dived and Irmgard Farden got ten points and Anna Furtado nine. We had a life saving exhibition by Mrs. Deibert and Miss Johnstone.
 "When we added up the score the group one got 34 points and group two got 31 points.
 "I will close.
 "From your little Scout,
 "ANNA FURTADO."
 July 12, 1922.
 "It was raining up here yesterday and we knew that it was going to be clear today, so Miss Seibert asked us if we wanted to go on a hike on the ditch trail. It was agreed to go for the hike. But Miss Seibert and Mrs. Deibert said they couldn't go with us. They were going to Mr. Pogue's home to telephone. So we all determined to go to, for Mrs. Walsh wanted to telephone to Mr. Walsh. We stayed there about half an hour.

 "When they got through using the telephone, Mrs. Pogue came out and invited all of us into her home to write our names in her book and we did so. Miss Seibert then called us and said that it was time to leave.
 "Then we started for our trip. On our way some of the girls picked guavas, berries, ferns and lilkois. We went by the reservoir and saw some cows in it. The reservoir had no water but little ditches. Some of the girls were very much afraid of the cows.
 "We went quite a little ways from the ditch and we all sat down on the grass to rest. After that Mrs. Walsh thought we could go a little ways up. We went until at least we came to a gulch where there were ginger, wild taro and bananas. The girls did not stop to get them but started to walk a little way further.
 "Miss Walsh and Miss Tilly sat down where we started to rest the first time. Two of the girls saw some lilkois on the other side of the gulch and called all of us to go and have some of them. Gussie couldn't walk very far for she had a pain in her back but when she heard Eva Enamoto calling the girls to get some lilkois she stood up and went to.
 "Dorothy Cup Choy wrote her name on the bank of the road. She also went up there to get some when she got through writing. We sat there while the girls were picking lilkois and Gussie had her dress full of them. She didn't know how she could come down. Mrs. Walsh told her to slide and she did.
 "We started for home and down the gulch there were some wild taro and bananas. Gussie tried to take some home but couldn't because she didn't have any knife and did not dare to pull it down. At last we came to the dairy house. We all went in and saw some little puppies in the room. We played with them for a little while and started for our homeward journey. We met Miss Seibert going to Mr. Pogue's home to telephone. When we reached our tents Mrs. Deibert asked if we had a lovely time. Then some of the girls went down to the pool to swim.
 "We all had a long trip but a wonderful experience. After the swim we came back and dressed for lunch. Eva and I were the kitchen squad and cleaned up every thing and went to bed for our rest hour.
 "By,
 "RACHAEL L. AKEE."
 "Lahaina, July 9, 1922.
 "Dear Miss Seibert:
 "I have been so very busy during the past few days since I returned from Kailua, that I didn't have an opportunity to relate to you of our homeward trip.
 "You may be interested to know that most of the girls are working out in the cannery and I am included in the group. The working delayed my writing to you, as we all went to work on Wednesday morning. Today is Sunday, so I am at home.
 "I will now tell you of our homeward trip. The truck traveled at a moderate speed after we left camp. On the way we met two pineapple trucks and the boys gave us some pineapples. Nearing Pauwela the girls were nervous because it was quite late and thought we were going to miss the train, so the chauffeur made the car speed up a little. We were all in doubt whether we'll make the train or not. When we reached the depot, it was exactly 8:45 a. m., Miss Seong inquired of the railroad agent if the train had left and the railroad agent replied that the train was a little late returning from Haiku. That tickled our hearts and was a great relief to us. Soon after, there was laughing, singing and talking on the train and we reached Wailuku about 9:15. I really don't know the definite time.
 "At the depot Miss Ruth Whitehead awaited us. She had made arrangements with Mr. Childs for the use of the Gymnasium and took us up to the gym and there we swam in the tank and after swimming played volley-ball. After the playing and swimming we had lunch at Mr. Childs which Miss Whitehead and Mrs. Childs prepared for us. We had salad, sandwiches, bananas and lemonade. We ate to our heart's content. They were really very kind to us during our stop at Wailuku and we thank them for their kindness to us.
 "We left Wailuku about 1:05 and reached Lahaina about 2:30.
 "We miss Kailua a great deal and are always talking about it, especially the pool and the hike to Keanae.

 "I must close now. The girls are all sending their best regards to the girls at camp and hope that all of them are enjoying themselves as we had.
 "Yours truly,
 "EMALINE CHAN WA.
 "Sec. of Star of Bethlehem Troop."
 "Baldwin Hall, Maunaloa.
 "My dear Miss Vincent:
 "We reached home safely this morning before inspection and had a lovely trip coming home. One part of our way in the truck, we bounced like rubber balls, because the road was so rough. The girls on the back bench sank right down on the floor of the truck because they bounced so much that the bench broke at the middle and then the driver had to throw the broken one away and take a good one from the front and put it in place of the broken one.
 "On our way home in the truck, we met many trucks loaded with pineapples going to the Pauwela. The drivers of the trucks pitched to us many delicious pineapples. We were so glad for everyone of us love pineapples.

 "We were afraid that we could not catch the train this morning, because the truck was going so slow, but we reached the station just in time for the train.
 "We certainly miss the girls and the councillors. I am homesick for Kailua. I wish I could stay there for a long time.
 "Think of the nice time we had there!
 "I hope you all are having a fine time there as we have had or perhaps a better time.
 "I wish to thank you very much for your kindness of helping me this morning.
 "With best wishes and Aloha nui loa to all,
 "Sincerely yours,
 "FOONG KYAN LEW."

be made from Makawao on the 26th of August returning to this side on about the 2nd of September. Each scout who will be chosen from his troop will be expected to bring the following articles. A strong durable pair of shoes (not new) two pair of socks or stockings, change of underwear, pair swimming trunks, towel, soap, tooth brush and paste, canteen, shelter half, poncho, wara, blanket, tinplate cup, knife, fork and spoon. Each district will be expected to raise the necessary sum for the expenses of the trip which will be $5.00 per scout.

(By W. H. Hutton Executive)

With the Alert Boy Scouts of Maui

of scouts will qualify along these lines.
 Scoutmaster Davis is a great Story Teller and it is a fine sight to see the scouts laid out on the floor of the troop house drinking in the great yarns that he spins. This is a gift that many of the scoutmasters could copy to good advantage. There is nothing that the scouts like so much as a well told story.
 Try it on your bunch.
 Kipahulu is a lucky bunch. During the stay of the Executive at the home of the Fassoths he attended at least three hikes and swimming feasts. Practically every day after the scouts come in from the fields they meet at the store and Joe goes with them to the swimming hole. And believe me it is some swimming hole at that. It may be dry over there but they certainly have no trouble in locating a good hole for a swim. On Sunday morning the bunch met on the volley ball field and Martin Fassoth took some dandy pictures of pyramids. It was a revelation to the Executive to see these huskies doing three high. Joe is a wizard at putting up this kind of stuff. The Executive has sent a number of photos of this work to the American Boy and also to Boys Life for publication.
 Kipahulu is doing fine work for their scouts and the whole Fassoth family are deeply interested in their boys.
 Hana is still on the map as far as scouting is concerned. It would be impossible to find a cleaner smarter set of boys any where on Maui than are meeting here. They are meeting under the direction of Mr. Wm. Haia their troop Committeeman who is holding them together until a scoutmaster is appointed. The Executive had an interview with a number of people while at Hana and they will all see to it that the troop is kept up to the highest mark. Deputy sheriff Wm. Kaluakini is the new member of the troop committee serving with Wm. Haia and Clarence Dyson. This makes a strong committee and the troop is sure to make good with these men over them.

Troop 6. Makawao. "Bronco Busters".
 "July 18, 1922. Our meeting was called to order as usual by Scoutmaster Langa at 7:30 p. m. Then he taught some of the scouts the principals of making a buzzer for the Merit Badge test.
 "While the scoutmaster was in structing the scouts Pop was telling the rest of the troop about his trip to Hana. We took up the matter of electing a new treasurer on account of the present one being absent so often. Akira Masueda was elected. We then talked about collection of dues and the uses to which same could be put. He stated that Kahului Troop No. 9 had a lot of money in their treasury and that they were going to use the money for a two weeks camp at Kailua and a walking trip to Hana. We then pledged allegiance to the Flag and meeting closed at 9 p. m.

Troop Doings
 Things are very quiet so far as meetings are concerned at present as many of the scouts are away from home either working on the plantations or at the canneries. Kipahulu, Haiku, Makawao, Kahului and Wailuku and Makawao are still holding meetings however and the attendance the small is full of interest.
 Last Tuesday night the Executive made a visit to both Hamakua and Makawao and found the meetings were well attended. Tests and Merit Badges tests are being studied up and before the school term opens up there will be no doubt that a number WICKE—GARDNER From San Francisco there have come brief accounts of the marriage of Ernest B. Wicke and Miss Louise Gardner, the ceremony having occurred on July 7. The wedding is described as a very pretty church affair celebrated in the Seventh Avenue Congregational Church, Rev. A. Craig Bowditch, formerly of Makawao Church officiating. The bride, who was formerly a San Francisco girl, was attended by Miss Isabel Dalton as bridesmaid, while Mr. Wicke was served by Mr. David Brown as best man. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Will J. Cooper, formerly editor of Maui News. The party was preceded down the aisle by little Bettie Marx, a small cousin of the bride, who strewed roses in the bride's path. The bride wore a simple white gown with veil and orange blossoms and carried a beautiful bouquet of orchids and bride's roses. The pretty ceremony was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends of the bride, who later attended a reception and supper in the parlors of the church. While this was in progress, the bride and groom left on a honeymoon in the Yosemite Valley. The bride was formerly stenographer in the business office of Alexander House Settlement and has been very popular socially in Central and East Maui and since the inception of Girl Scouts work has assisted actively with a troop. The groom is cashier of Kahului Railroad, socially popular and just before leaving showed the best pitching ability for the American-Chinese team in All Maui league.

Dr. Wu Ting Fang In Last Hours Talks Of Chinese Situation

(The following interview with Wu Ting-fang was given a few days before his death, which was recently announced by cable). CANTON, South China, June 4—(By an Associated Press Staff Correspondent—by Mail) The former Chinese minister at Washington, Wu Ting-fang, received today the correspondent of the Associated Press and set forth the reasons why he believed the powers should recognize South China. He presented the cause of the Chinese republic in this regard during a long interview in which he explained also the vital differences between sun Yat Sen and Chen Chung-ming, and dwelt upon China's financial difficulties. Dr. Wu, who is now the civil governor of Kwangtung province under the Southern government, received the correspondent in his Canton office. He answered every question asked him with great care, and was interested in seeing that his answer was correctly transcribed. "For nearly fifty years South China has been practically independent, and for about two years we have been existing as the Republic of China," Dr. Wu said. "During all this time we have been running our government without assistance from the outside world, and the outside world is not going to help us until we gain some form of recognition. "How are we going to build up a modern government without being able to contract loans and without being able to make treaties in other words, without recognition by the other governments in the world? We are so handicapped that we are almost powerless, and if we continue to sit and wait, we will be waiting until doomsday. We must force the powers to recognize us. As soon as they do this civil war will stop, and the people of Kwangtung and South China will set up a model government. "At present we are in reality a defacto government," Dr. Wu continued. "For months this government has been functioning perfectly. During all this time we have been dealing with other governments, although unofficially. I am addressed as Governor by the foreign officials of other governments in this part of China. We are constantly dealing, unofficially, with consular and other officials of foreign countries as though we were a permanent government. After the overthrow of the Manch Dynasty the newly established government existed for only 13 months before it was recognized. Much longer than this have we been proving ourselves able to run a stable government, but due to the continuous counter efforts of the Peking government, we are still unrecognized. "Our government represents not a few thousands of people, but many millions. Other governments in the world which have not existed as long as ours, and which do not represent nearly so many people, have been recognized by the powers. I might also add that most of the overseas Chinese favor the Southern government. But because of propaganda not favorable to our case the foreign powers pay little attention to us. So you see we are forced to fight for our existence."

Prohibitionists To Consult Chemists

NEW YORK, July 10—(Special Correspondence)—Dr. Martin H. Itner of New York, chairman of the Industrial Alcohol Committee of the American Chemical Society has announced that Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon League has assured him that the league will not attempt any new restrictions with out first consulting the A. C. S. Alcohol Committee. Dr. Itner's statement follows: "The Industrial Alcohol Committee believes in a literal interpretation of the 18th Amendment, also that no authority is conferred thereby to prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation, importation, or exportation of intoxicating liquors for other than beverage purposes. "For over one hundred years the authority of congress to regulate intoxicating liquors for whatever purpose has been undisputed and I doubt that there is a court in the land that would question this authority. This has been shown by the acceptance of the right to impose internal revenue taxes on liquors and to provide the machinery to regulate such articles. "Pure alcohol and many alcohol containing liquors even though intended exclusively for pharmaceutical or industrial purposes are nevertheless potentially beverages and no one can logically expect the Government to relinquish its heretofore undisputed authority to regulate the manufacture, distribution, etc., of those up to the actual moment when they may pass the lips as a beverage. "The main thing that the Committee on Industrial Alcohol is interested in, and a thing that we are vitally interested in, is that there shall be no prohibition of an alcohol either pure

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From Maui News of July 26, 1902.) Makama Ranch has sent a fine agricultural exhibit to the Fair in Honolulu. The exhibit was forwarded on the last Claudine. The Waikapu defeated Lahaina on the Wells Park Diamond Sunday, 14 to 4. The West Maui boys fielded better but were weak at the bat. The Maui Athletic Association has accepted the challenge that came from Charley Chillingworth and has sent a team to the capital city to play the H. A. C. nine. A most delightful dance was given aboard the American Ship Henry Villard in Kahului harbor Monday night. Dan Quill has resigned his position as road overseer. Manager C. B. Wells of the Wailuku Sugar Company has sailed for the mainland to put his boys in school. There is considerable feeling on Maui in reference to the unjust methods of imposing taxes on realty and on cultivated lands in particular. Where two parcels of land are side by side and one is cultivated and the other left idle the piece that shows the thrift of its owner is taxed at least 50 percent more than the idle tract. Buguan Island Small But Very Important

MANILA, P. I., June 25—(Associated Press Mail)—The return to the Philippine government of the little island of Buguan, sometimes known as Turtle Island, by the British North Borneo Company and the revival of the coast guard service are recommended by Vicente Alsanese, collector of customs, in a report to the secretary of the department of finance, as necessary steps toward prevention of smuggling of opium and aliens into the Philippines. Buguan Island was ceded to the United States by Spain in the treaty of Paris, but on account of its close proximity to British North Borneo it was left temporarily under that government for purposes of administration. It is understood the question of returning Buguan Island to the jurisdiction of the Philippine government long ago was taken up with the British government through Washington. Collector Alsanese in his report says: "The revival of the coast guard service which was established in 1901 and discontinued in 1918, is of the utmost importance in that it will provide the service with adequate means to protect the customs revenues, the assistance of vessels in distress, the enforcement of the navigation and immigration laws, and the suppression of illegal traffic in firearms and ammunition and of prohibited merchandise. "The return to the Philippine government by the British North Borneo Company of the island of Buguan which is one mile in length by half a mile in width is highly desirable. The use of this island which is only about ten miles from Sandakan, capital of British North Borneo, as a vantage point and a base of operation of customs cutters and launches for the suppression of illegal traffic of opium indulged in by the Moros, as well as the clandestine entrance of undesirable aliens into the southern islands in violation of the immigration laws, is paramount."
