CONFIDENCE.

The letter signed "X." in Saturday's issue, we believe, truly expresses the overwhelming sentiment of the whole community. If our readers knew the writer they would regret that he had not appended his real name to such an utterance as this, "I consider it my duty and I hope all well-intending citizens will agree with me to give a hearty support to the new Ministry," for the gentleman who indited it would undoubtedly in this hearty expression of confidence in the new Ministry bear a wholesome influence over many people, who, not having been actively in the recent movement, are disposed to criticize methods too closely to the depreciation of results. It is only what might be expected that there should be numberless conflicting opinions as to matters of detail in the case of such a radical change so suddenly brought about as the late political transformation. Yet there seems to be a unanimous belief among all sections and classes that the nation has entered upon an era of an incalculable improvement in government. The Ministry has already begun to administer affairs with a fidelity to public interests and an evident purpose of making the best use of the means at their disposal for the common good. Their appointments to office have thus far been admirable, while the glimpses that have been gained of their policy in different branches commend them to the esteem of practical people. It is evident to all observers that the policy that has been characterized as "fuss and feathers," "gaud and glitter," etc., has come to an end, and that henceforth there is to be an administration of affairs looking mainly to internal improvement and development of the resources of the country. This is the policy that will not only command the support and promote the contentment of all classes at home, but will compel the admiration and respect of the outside world. Indeed, it was the skillfully concocted pretensions to such a policy sent forth under the previous administration, which deceived people of other countries into according praise to this Kingdom which it did not deserve. But now that we are in a fair way to obtain the reality of a sound and progressive administration, we may look with confidence to having tangible results to point to in the near future, which will have more effect in making valuable political and financial connections abroad than shiploads of Foreign Office despatches filled with glittering phrases and loaded with false professions of a liberal and broad minded internal policy. Capital will under the changed circumstances seek investment here, rather than have to be sought hat in hand with exorbitant commissions and discounts. Throughout the islands themselves there will be an end put to robbing the districts of money levied off them for local roads and applied to other purposes of an extravagant administration as heretofore. This of itself will be no small item in producing a revival of confidence and content at home, while the money raised for roads honestly applied thereto will make good communications between different parts of the islands, greatly facilitating internal development. With these anticipations well grounded, it is, in the words of our correspondent—and a magnanimous declaration from him if his personality was known—"the duty of all well-intending citizens to give a hearty support to the new Ministry." And one of the first items in the sum of that duty is to give the Ministry a Legislature that will endorse the course entered upon and provide ways, and means for the prosecution of an enlightened, liberal, practical, and progressive policy throughout the ensuing period. To this end the immediate attention and the untiring endeavor of every man having an interest in the nation's welfare is now summoned.

LOCAL NEWS.

No runaways or breakdowns for two whole days!

A Portuguese beggar was plying his importunities about town yesterday.

A certain disease causes the death of large numbers of rats in Chinatown consumption.

The credit system in Honolulu is so extensive that they even keep a "slate" at the Station House.

There will be no meeting of the Y. M. C. A. book-keeping class this evening.

All the walls of the Y. M. C. A. building, up and down stairs, are being caulked by an expert horse painter.

A full rigged ship was reported off Barber's Point about three o'clock yesterday afternoon, but she afterward stood off to sea.

The steamer Mokolii will lay up a few weeks to receive new boiler and a general overhauling.

Capt. Clark of the steamer Lehua reports very dry weather at Hakalua, Pahoa and Lahaina, the cane crops being seriously affected by the long drought.

Mr. de Freitas, whose card will be found in this paper, has been engaged to translate the Y. M. C. A. constitution and by-laws into the Portuguese language.

A Portuguese, while walking rapidly along Nuuanu street, stepped on the skin of some fruit thrown there by some careless person, receiving a heavy fall, severely bruising his hip.

Arrivals at the Eagle House: J. L. Purvis, Kohala; R. Fennell, Kona; C. Campbell, city; A. G. Ferraro, Hilo; August Haneberg, Kauai.

Two specimens of the kaku fish, that looks like a dwarf eel with a long bill, were speared by one of the Amelia's crew yesterday. His messmate using a hook and line sat an hour in vain waiting for a bite.

An unusually good programme is anticipated for the Blue Ribbon entertainment next Saturday night. Some well-known and clever citizens, who have lately adopted the insignia of abstinence, are expected to appear on the platform.

The stock ranch of the Pawaa Dairy, Mr. P. Macdonald, manager, has proved a decided success. The stock is mostly all thoroughbred Holstein. The improvement of stock on these Islands is of considerable importance and those exerting themselves in that direction deserve merit.

The overhanging tree tops along the "bus" route to Waikiki prove a continual danger to passengers riding on top. Probably no action will be taken by the property owners regarding this nuisance until somebody will lose their eyes or get knocked off, and then a suit for damages would be in order.

A fish about five feet long was caught from on board the C. R. Bishop during one of her late trips. It had teeth greatly resembling the shark's. What proves of interest is the fact that none of the natives who saw it remembered seeing one before. An old native fisherman now informs with age recognized it as a "Kaku."

One of the officers of the U. S. S. Adams combines with his regular position the functions of an "intelligence officer." When off duty in the former he is alive to the latter vocation, collecting information covering a wide range of subjects for transmission to Washington. Among other matters of interest here, he is making a thorough report on the Queen's Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon a Portuguese man was found lying helpless on the sidewalk at the corner of Fort and Queen streets. He was thought to have been prostrated by sudden illness, and the police took him to the Station on a stretcher. Mr. Crabbe, the keeper, telephoned for a doctor but afterward countermanded the order, having diagnosed the case himself and pronounced it simply drunkenness. The subject was given accommodation below.

Band Concert.

The following programme will be played this Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at Emma Square:

- Overture—Rubezahl... Polka—Love and Truth... Ballet Music—Astorgs... Reminiscence of Genoa... Medley—Roverie... Waltz—Vivona Bonbons... Dance—Aborigines... March—Queen Kapiolani... God Save the Queen, Star Spangled Banner and Hawaii Pono.

MILITARY MATTERS.

The Court Martial.

The court-martial of the Honolulu Rifles, adjourned from Friday evening, met at the armory at 7:30 p. m. Saturday evening. Major Hebbard acting for the prosecution. Sergeant Godfrey conducted his own defense. The evidence showed that the regiment was called out by orders from headquarters, that the defendant had received notice, but did not respond on any occasion during the late political troubles. Most of the time was taken up discussing technical objections raised by the defense, all of which were overruled by the Court. The Court adjourned just before midnight until Monday evening.

The decision of the Court must be made within three weeks after the appointment. All cases that have thus far been heard offered excuses of greater or less sufficiency which will be duly considered by the Court. Sergeant Godfrey's line of defense has not yet been entered upon.

In regard to Godfrey's case, the court-martial adjourned last Friday evening as a matter of accommodation, not because of his protest as stated previously.

Out of over two hundred members of the Honolulu Rifles, only four neglected to obey orders.

A general recruit drill of the Rifles, without arms, is ordered for to-night, at the Armory at half-past seven. Officers and non-commissioned officers are requested to take notice.

Police Court.

Two cases for drunkenness paid the inevitable $6.

The case of malicious injury against Akana, for interfering with water rights, was continued to the 18th inst.

In the case of larceny of beer against Manu, Albert Bray and Kamahana, a nolle prosequi was requested and granted in favor of Kamahana and he was discharged. The testimony shows that the beer, from which the defendants had stolen a quantity, belonged to H. Macfarlane, and, although in bond, by consent was stored in Gribbaum's cellars on Kaahumanu street. During the time since it was landed on the wharf and the 11th inst. sixty-eight cases have disappeared, supposed to have been stolen from the cellar, the doors being insecure. The prisoners were sentenced to twenty days imprisonment at hard labor and costs of $3.15 against Bray, and $1.15 against Manu. Chun Lung was charged with selling opium contrary to law, and case continued to the 20th inst.

A Hard Experience.

It is not often that a true story of adventure, full of peril and almost miraculous escape experienced amongst these Islands, can be given. A short time ago a man named Martin concluded to go into the trading business, between the Islands. He bought a small sail boat for that purpose, and taking on board a ton of salt and a small quantity of rice, a week ago last Friday, started on his journey, bound for Kipahulu, Maui. After being out a few days he lost his bearings and floated about five days. On the last day a severe gale sprung up, whirling, dashing and throwing him and his devoted boat, and his rice and his salt, here and there, until he and his belongings were driven into the breakers that roar on the weather side of Molokai. Through the bravery and expertness of the native swimmers he was saved, but his boat was totally destroyed. He returned to Honolulu last Saturday on board the Mokolii.

Piping Up a Church Fund.

About noon last Saturday the business people and others were astonished if not alarmed at hearing a shrill and ear piercing whistle coming from the direction of Mrs. Lack's store on Fort street. Rushing to the place a solitary individual, one of our representative mechanics, was found sitting on a convenient object, oblivious to all surrounding things, wasting his lung powers on that melodious and heart improving article, a tin flute. After rendering several pathetic ballads and gaining the sympathy of the unsophisticated audience, which was filled with wonder, for his most mighty and strenuous efforts, the performer's hat was passed around, collecting a goodly sum, which he stated would be paid into the building fund of the Kaumakapili Church. After performing this piece of practical christian work he resumed his business and his cheery voice was soon heard ordering his men to "lay on more mortar."

Judging from the number of hand painted eyes presented by the "Happy Jacks," they must be whooping it up. One of the boys in mounting his horse put the wrong foot in the right stirrup. When mounted he wondered how the darned animal changed ends so quickly. His companion would insist upon thinking that the reins were tiller ropes, which delusion caused many collisions with fences.

By last Saturday, there were ten descriptions reported at the Station House by the Consuls; nine American Jacks and one English tar. Mostly all have been apprehended. Ten dollars reward is the amount offered for their capture.

Kauai Notes.

While Honolulu was in the throes of "revolution," Kauai was in anxious, patient expectation. Speculations, guesses and discussions of what the results might be, were numerous. The arrival, at Nawiliwili, of the Mikahala on the morning of the 7th and of the Mary Foster on the 10th, the one bringing news of a new Ministry and the other of a new Constitution, were events on which the local historian of the future may dilate with more hearty satisfaction than on the appearance of Captain Cook's Resolution and Discovery at Waimea, more than a hundred years ago. Both 1778 and 1887 will doubtless be cited as great eras in Hawaiian history. But as 1778 eclipses 1492 in American chronology and the Revolution settlement overshadows the Roman conquest on the long roll of great events in the growth of Great Britain, so 1887 may be expected to stand out more conspicuously in Hawaiian story than 1778.

It is needless to say that the turn in the tide of affairs was viewed, on this island, with unmixed satisfaction. Even the gigantic representative of Hanalei, whose massive physical eloquence, last year, made the rafters ring betimes in Aliiolani Hale, was heard to express approval of the change. And it is difficult to see where there can be any reasonable ground of objection. The "revolution" cannot be considered a party victory, but rather a national triumph. Judiciously conservative and broadly liberal, the new Constitution has the essential principle of Magna Charta, the unwritten British Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, harmoniously summarized in its eighty-two articles. Honolulu may well be proud of her constitutional lawyers as well as of her Cromwell who improved upon the hero of Naseby.

Blue Ribbon League.

The entertainment of the Blue Ribbon League at the Y. M. C. A. met with the usual success. Following was the programme: Mr. T. R. Walker, song; Miss May Dillingham, recitation; Miss Maggie Hopper, piano solo; Mr. J. F. Brown, reading; Miss Jennie Grieve, song; address, Rev. H. H. Gowen.

Miss Dillingham's recitation was most amusing and well sustained; and Mr. Brown's reading of "The Tramp" kept up a continual ripple of laughter, and the musical portion of the programme well deserved the encores demanded. Mr. Gowen delivered his address in his usual crisp and witty style. The remarks were chiefly on the reasons put forth by non-abstainers for their practices, even quoting passages from the Bible to support their position. If there were any opponents in the hall, his remarks certainly set them to thinking.

Marksmanship.

Since the great revolution, eager has been the desire of the surviving conquering heroes to enter the shooting arena and show the world what terrible execution they would have wrought if compelled to shoot. The organization of the Foundry boys is an instance, and still another is springing into existence, composed of the fire laddies of Pacific Hose Company. They have forty names already on their list and are confident that at least one hundred out of one hundred and ten members will join them. Within a week the association will be organized. A party of about twelve went out target practicing near Diamond Head, yesterday. The scores were excellent for beginners, with new rifles. In fact the shooting compared favorably with that of many old organized associations.

A Goodly Occasion.

To the Editor of the Herald: Sir, Perhaps one of the most enjoyable evenings I have ever spent in Honolulu was last Thursday, at the house of Rev. H. H. Gowen, where a few personal friends met, as is their custom each week, for mutual improvement. Mr. Gowen is going through a series of conversations in Church History. He brought us up to the year 363, giving us a very minute account of all the incidents relating to the church and its history. I am sure there are a great many who would like to come if they only knew what a treat there was in store for them.

A FRIEND OF MUTUAL IMPROVEMENT.

Those Kauai Remains.

A party of ladies spending a vacation at the residence of Mr. W. H. Rice, Lihue, boarded the Mikahala last week and visited Kipukia, where Mr. Rice's stock ranch is situated, in quest of old relics. A number of skulls were found. The report that a battle was once fought there is not believed by the very old natives at that place. As a large number of shark's bones were strewn around, the theory explaining the large collection of skeletons, etc., is that they have been washed from their original place of burial, and carried to Kipukia by the currents, where they were washed ashore.

A large number of people visited H. B. M. S. Conquest yesterday. They were cordially received by the captain and his officers.

A STROKE OF BUSINESS.

How a Drummer Cleared Over $500 by a Newspaper Venture.

"I made a neat sum on the 4th of July, 1881, said a drummer, "by a little stroke of business which was somewhat out of my line. President Garfield had been shot two days before. I chanced to be in a lonesome corner of southern Illinois on the day of the shooting. While waiting for a train to carry me from one little town to another I heard a rumor that the president had been killed. A few moments later the train came in and the train-boy jumped out on the platform with his arms full of bits of brown paper about eight inches square. 'All about President Garfield assassinated,' he shouted.

"I rushed at him and secured one of his bits of paper, greedily paying 10 cents for it. It proved to be an extra, issued from the office of a country weekly a few miles to the north. It bore, as well as I can recollect, the following words: 'We hear a rumor that Gen. James A. Garfield, president of the United States, has been killed. No particulars have been learned. God save the country!' That was all, and yet the train boy sold 100 of the dingy squares of paper at 10 cents apiece before I had finished reading mine. Everybody purchased one and read it over and over. At the next town, where I got off the train, the scramble for papers was as great as before. This place happened to be a county-seat and it possessed a printing office. An idea struck me. I went and hired the printing office outright. Then I telegraphed for a copy of a Chicago newspaper and got it late the next day. As soon as it reached town I set the entire force of the printing office to work getting out a newspaper full of the details of the assassination.

"Before daylight of the 4th of July they had struck off 3,000 copies of the paper on the old-fashioned printing press. Before sunrise I had hired ten boys to sell the papers for me. I gave each 500 copies and sent him to some little town near by where a 'celebration' was to be held. Most of the boys sold out his stock before night, getting 10 cents for each copy. Many of the country people had not heard of the tragedy until my paper got them the news of it and scarcely any one in the county had gathered any details of the affair, so all gave their dimes with the greatest eagerness in exchange for the news. I cleared over $500 by the venture. I remember that my paper announced in the headlines, 'President Garfield will surely be dead before you read this.' That sentence acted as a wet blanket on all the country 'celebrations' for miles around."—Chicago News.

Pure Air in a Balloon.

They are now adopting a novel method in India of giving change of air to people who can not afford to go away from home. Patients are to go up in a balloon, which ascends to a certain height and is there made captive. It seems that a few days passed in this atmosphere which is quite different from that of the plains underneath, firmly traces up the most limp of invalids.

Dear Dandies and Their Flowers.

The dear dandies are taking flowers to their breasts in considerable bunches, and I shouldn't be surprised to soon see them putting ribbons and posies on their hats. How curious it is that things charming to femininity are so disgustingly foolish in men! A slim dude with a bouquet on his lapel is enough to make one sick.—Clara Bell's Letter.

The Goat and the Fawn.

A goat which had fallen off a ledge was loudly complaining of his ill-luck, when the fawn came along and observed:

"Although you met with a Fall it has saved from the Wolf lying in wait beside the Path you would have traveled."
Moral:—If we didn't have corns we might break our legs.

The Persian Hair Apparent's Humor.

Massoud Mirza (Prince Felicitous), the Persian hair apparent, is a short, stout man of 37 years. When talking to a person he generally shuts his left eye, which gives a very humorous expression to his countenance. This humorous expression is particularly noticeable when he orders a man's head to be cut off.—Detroit Free Press.

Best Way to Disinfect Clothing.

Disinfection of clothing is best accomplished by baking in a heat exceeding that of boiling water. An effectual heat is 250 degrees, which will not scorch or change the color of the fabric. This plan is strongly recommended for infected bedding.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Etymology of the Word God.

Rev. Dr. H. Morris has just read an essay to the London Philological society on the etymology of the word God. He thinks that it means "thunder," and is derived from the Sanskrit god, which means "to sound," and is allied to gora, which means "terrible."—Chicago Times.

Carrying Out Great Peter's Project.

A favorite project with Peter the Great seems likely to be carried out at last, the Russian authorities having resolved to commence work this year on a canal between the White sea and the Baltic sea.—Arkansas Traveler.

A New Use for Newspapers.

Several of the hotels in Paris publish their bills of fare in the newspapers, and one can always read at early hours in 'The Figaro' what the proprietors of the Grand hotel intend to set before their guests in the evening.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A Balloon Operated by Steam.

A German inventor is building, at a cost of $125,000, a balloon 500 feet in length, to be operated by steam. He is very sanguine of its success, and has been offered $150,000 for his patent.—The Current.

A Fish in a Flower Bed.

In a garden at Caledonia, N. Y., a bed of flowers has been laid out, twenty-two feet long, to represent a huge trout. The gills, fins and eyes are represented by different colored flowers.—Chicago Times.

The rooms that John Brown occupied at Windsor Castle have been kept strictly closed since the death of that faithful servant.—Philadelphia Call.

According to a New York medical journal one-half of the adult men in America living in our cities are bald-headed.

I never yet squeezed a favor out of the world by abusing it, but I have secured a few by petting it.—Jud Lafagan.

It is reported that a deposit of genuine meerschaum has been found on the beach near Yaquina, Ore.

The Equitable Column.

THE EQUITABLE
Life Assurance Society

OF THE UNITED STATES.

Total Assets, Dec. 31, '86, $75,510,472.76.

Total Liabilities, including legal Reserve on all existing policies (4 per cent Standard) $59,154,597.000

Total Undivided Surplus over Four per cent Reserve, -- $16,355,875.76

Of which the proportion contributed (as computed) by Policies in general class, is $ 5,728,761.76
Of which the proportion contributed (as computed) by Policies in Tontine class, is 10,627,114.00

Upon the New York State Standard of 4 1/2 per cent interest, the Surplus is as computed, $20,495,175.76.

New Assurance written in 1886, $111,540,203

Total Outstanding Assurance, $411,779,098

Increase of Premium Income, $2,810,475.40
Increase of Surplus (Four per cent basis), -- $2,409,636.63
Increase of Assets, -- $8,957,085.26

In actual Surplus (namely the excess of accumulated funds over liabilities); in Premium Income; in the amount of Assurance in force on its books, the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States exceeds every other life assurance company, and may be justly regarded as the largest and strongest life assurance organization in the World.

EXAMPLE

Of Policy No. 67,389. Life. Issued Jan. 22, 1872, on the life of W. H. C. Date of expiration Jan. 22, 1887.
Amount of Policy, $10,000. Tontine Period, 15 years. Age 55. Annual Premium, $543.10.

Total premiums paid in 15 years, -- $8,146.50

1. CASH VALUE, Consisting of Reserve, $3,856.30 and Surplus, 4,199.80 $8,056.10

2. PAID-UP VALUE. If the policy-holder select this settlement, as the paid-up value is larger than the original amount of assurance, a satisfactory certificate of good health must be furnished, or the excess must be drawn on a cash basis.

3. CASH SURPLUS, $5,199.80

Under this settlement, the policy holder withdraws the surplus in cash, and retains the original policy, continuing the payment of premiums, less annual dividends.

Three other options are available under the Policy.

The policies with 10-year Tontine periods do not show results as satisfactory as those above given. Policies with 20-year periods, on the other hand, will show much larger results than those with 15-year periods; but for purposes of illustration the 15-year policies—those of the intermediate period—are given as fair illustrations.

The longer period of accumulation which the 20-year policies enjoy renders them the most desirable for those who, seeking absolute protection at the lowest "Life" rate, desire also the largest returns in case they live:

Hence the Best Free Tontine "Ordinary Life" Policy is One with a TWENTY-YEAR TONTINE PERIOD

The Free Tontine Policy of the Equitable Life Assurance Society is unrestricted after one year, incontestable after two years, and is then PAYABLE in the event of death, immediately upon the receipt of satisfactory proofs of death.

It guarantees a full share of the surplus earned, and being issued by a Society holding a Larger Surplus than any other Assurance Company,

May be expected to show larger profits than the policies of any other company.

In addition to the advantages above cited, the Equitable now guarantees a full return of all premiums paid as well as the face of the Policy in case of death during the Tontine period.
