of the large, influential church of Kawaihau. The coral stone building had reached in its erection...

When Richard Armstrong was called to the important post in government of Minister of Public Instruction...

During these years her public-spirited soul, with its keen love for nature and passion for cultivating trees and flowers...

At that time the old, crumbling stone walls were repaired [the present stone walls are a later erection of Hon. Charles Ka'iama...

None but an eye witness who watched her unremitting labors day by day for months can have a conception of the work she performed in this "arboretum" campaign.

The last year has been one of severe discipline to her. While participating with keen intellectual enjoyment in the summer convention at Ocean Grove, Cal., she met with an accident stepping into a carriage.

Her funeral was attended on July 24th in the church which she had joined in San Francisco, First Congregational, and among the numerous floral offerings lay-laid by friends were tributes from the Chinese scholars she had taught in the Mission Sunday school there...

One of her very latest remarks was when about to be lifted to relieve her weariness, "won't some one lift me into the arms of God."

NEWS AND NOTES. Several prominent citizens of Huntington, W. Va., signed a notice warning a widow to leave town. Instead of complying with their request, she has brought suit against each of the signers for $5,000 damages, amounting in all to $100,000.

A New Orleans colored man who swallowed a silver dollar was taken to the hospital. The coin stuck in the man's gullet. After considerable work the surgeons managed to extract the coin, which the moment it was brought to light the darky made a grab for.

In the town of Kallies, Pomerania, a great potato country, the entire population of between 3000 and 4000 shut up their houses, leaving the keys with the mayor, and scatter all over Pomerania to the potato harvest, leaving the mayor and bell ringer alone in charge of the town.

A Cleveland (Ohio) thief entered a boarding-house in broad daylight, arrayed himself in the best suit of one of the boarders, and leisurely walked out of the room, when he was detected and arrested. When searched, three watches and chains were found in the pockets of his "borrowed" clothes.

The discovery of about seventy skeletons in a dilapidated house in Chicago caused great excitement until it was found that the place was the workshop of a professional skeleton bleacher and wiper, and the skeletons, numbering about seventy, were his stock in trade. He promised to remove the objectionable merchandise.

The game of billiards was invented in 1560 by a pawnbroker by the name of William Kew, in London, who was in the habit of taking down every night the three balls which hung before his shop, and pushing them about with his wooden yard-measure on his counter. Hence the name billiards, which is a corruption of Bill's yard.

Jules Verne published his first novel when he was 35 years old. Since then he has written an average of two books a year, and is now the author of sixty volumes of more or less fascinating interest. Writing a book with Verne is a work of prodigious toil. Before putting a single line to paper he mentally prepares all his material, makes his maps, lays out his routes and reflects upon his work for months. Then when the story has been written he corrects it at least ten times before giving the final proofs to the printer.
